Artist's flair

By Tyler Redway

Millicent metalworker Toni Greenwood has proven art is sometimes not all about natural-born talent but also about learning.

Six years ago, Ms Greenwood had no prior experience in the art of metal work, until she decided to ask for welding tips from her husband which created a deep passion for her.

While speaking to The South Eastern Times, she mentioned she had not studied art previously and said it was purely a hobby she enjoyed to "keep things interesting".

"I get bored if I have to do the same thing over and over and by doing so much variety it really keeps things fresh and new," Ms Greenwood said.

Ms Greenwood began by making horse jumps for her daughter's riding practice, progressively moving to more difficult garden art and other decorative pieces.

Ukraine support

By Caroline Hammat

Millicent's Sit and Stitch craft group is part of a global community of keen quilters supporting displaced and homeless Ukrainians through their quilting skills.

During a recent craft session, a member mentioned a social media post from German quilter, Claudia Pfeill, asking for donations of 8.5 inch material blocks for a project called Piece for Peace.

Ms Pfeill offered to piece the blocks together to create finished quilts for citizens fleeing the war in Ukraine, requesting 100 per cent cotton blocks using any design or technique in yellow and blue to reflect the Ukrainian flag.

Across the world quilters have picked up the call and are making the blocks and posting to Germany, with Ms Pfeill needing to reach out to local quilters to help put together the large number of blocks she is receiving.

The local Sit and Stitch group decided they would like to be involved with group member Wendy Frankling saying: "It makes us a part of the global community of quilters and gives us a way to help.

Easter is a great time to catch up with friends and family but it is also a dangerous time on our roads.

Like other holiday periods, police are taking measures to patrol our roads.

Some people might argue that these road safety operations are just revenue raising exercises.

Roads are dangerous and some people do not care about their behaviour and how their actions may result in a catastrophic result.

Drink and drug diving, speeding and inattention are just some of the major causes of fatalities.

Police are on our roads to enforce the law - it's as simple as that.

The easiest way to avoid detection and massive fines is to not break the law.

Driving safely benefits all of us.

Please this Easter, drive to the road rules thinking about the people you love and others in the community.

We wish all of our readers a happy Easter break.

Temporary withdrawal

Concerns were shared in the Millicent community last week when the ANZ bank branch was unexpectedly closed during normal opening hours.

ANZ District Manager Andrew Ferrer told The South Eastern Times: "Like many businesses, due to the ongoing impact of Covid, we have had to temporarily alter the operating hours of some of our branches.

"Last week our Millicent branch was temporarily affected, but has resumed normal operating hours, 9:30am until 1:30pm weekdays, for those customers needing to access branch-only services.

"We apologise for the inconvenience this might have caused our customers and hope they understand the circumstances."

Access to the ATM, phone and internet banking were unaffected by the closure and up to date operating hours are available on the ANZ website.

Mayor of Wattle Range, Des Noll and wife Shari met with Aussie Camino trekkers at the Kalangadoo Hotel.

Mayor joins pilgrimage

The Aussie Camino is a pilgrimage route running from Portland, Victoria, to Penola via Kalangadoo, inspired by the life and journeys of Australia's Saint Mary of the Cross MacKillop and her mentor Fr Julian Tenison Woods.

Saint Mary's life is a wonderful study of a woman who carried many crosses in her life and responded to the challenges through her faith and her courage.

People find strength and encouragement in their own lives through her example of faith, forgiveness, and kindness.

Recently I had the opportunity to meet up with a Camino pilgrimage group at the Kalangadoo Hotel, enjoying the Kalangadoo hospitality of the locals and resting up overnight.

Trekkers from all over Australia came together to experience the Aussie Camino Pilgrimage, trekking through the majestic Limestone Coast.

Many of these trekkers were visiting the Limestone Coast for the first time.

They were excited about the friendliness of the locals and the diversity of the area.

They were also inquisitive to learn about the local communities of Kalangadoo, Penola, and Coonawarra.

These trekkers were enthusiastic to return to the Limestone Coast with their families for a holiday to enjoy and explore our great corner of the world.

A topic of conversation was the Coonawarra Rail Trail and its linkage to Father Woods Tree and its readiness for trail walking as a tourist destination experience.

Based on the traditions of the Camino de Santiago de Compostela, groups are organised by tour companies and depart at various times of the year.

Des Noll, Mayor of Wattle Range Council.

The Kalangadoo Hotel is set to host ten more Aussie Camino Pilgrimage trekking tours between now and November 2022.

Kalangadoo is fast becoming a tourist destination with its rich and diverse primary production, idyllic natural landscape, and attractions such as the Kalangadoo Railway Station Museum, Kalangadoo History Walk and a weekly Farmers Market Day, all with a relaxing and welcoming community vibe.

'Full throttle in Wattle' holiday program

'Full Throttle in Wattle' is offering a range of unusual and traditional activities for local students during Wattle Range Council's autumn school holiday program.

Opening the 10 day program next Tuesday is the Rivoli Bay Jetties Junior Fishing Workshop and competition.

With the inaugural event last year attracting 96 participants it is expected to be just as popular this year.

Children need to register on the day and have the opportunity to learn how to bait hooks and cast rods before heading out to fish from either the Beachport or Southend jetties.

This year there are three age categories and a major prize for each one with participants sending photographs of their catch through email or text to competition organisers for judging.

In addition to the Rivoli Bay junior fishing competition is a photography competition where young fishers are encouraged to take photographs of anything they like while waiting for a bite with the winning photograph chosen by votes on presentation day.

Other activities on the program include apple picking in Kalangadoo, a treasure hunt in Hatherleigh and making bird hollows in Millicent.

Grape stomping and learning petanque will be on offer in Coonawarra and a non-competitive Colour Run beginning at the Coonawarra

Children looking forward to Easter

Excitement is building as Easter nears with Millicent traders expecting a busy week in the build up to Good Friday.
Dave Foster, Manager of Fosters Foodland said it had been a little slow in the build up to the long weekend “that’s pretty normal, the Easter eggs are usually a last minute purchase.”

Children across the area are no looking forward to the upcoming weekend of fun with Bella and Ruby Reilly practising their bunny hops around the Millicent Domain playground in anticipation of a visit from the Easter Bunny.

Locals showing support of Ukraine victims

“We can see the results through daily updates on social media where photos are shared of deliveries being received and completed quilts being handed to those in need.”
Fellow member, Sheila Boyle added: “We feel a bit helpless about the situation; when we saw Claudia’s post on Facebook it was something we thought we could do to help.

“Being quilters we all have bits of yellow and blue fabric in our stashes.”
Owner of Habit Patch, Karen Duncan, told The South Eastern Times that the group has collected 45 blocks so far from 11 quilters with several families donating money to cover the freight cost.

“We are finding a lot of support is coming from local people who have family connections in Ukraine.”
Any quilters wanting to contribute finished 8.5 inch blocks to the project have until April 22 to deliver to Habit Patch in George Street, Millicent.

Piece to peace: Millicent’s Sit and Stitch craft group members Karen Duncan, Wendy Frankling, Julie Graney and Sheila Boyle with some of the blue and yellow blocks received for the global project.

Class back after Covid

Millicent North Primary School re-opened on Monday after a four day circuit breaker was implemented by the Department for Education.
The circuit breaker was introduced due to escalating positive Covid 19 cases spreading throughout students and staff at the school.
Not all students have returned as some are in isolation due to testing positive to Covid 19 or being a close contact.
Most staff are back at the school and staffing levels are adequate which has allowed the re-opening to go ahead.

Welding a future in the arts scene

“My husband built a gate at the front of our property and I wanted to decorate it with horseshoes,” she said.
“He said the only way it would happen is if I did it myself so I asked him to teach me to weld and it has only built on from there.”
She added that heavier projects are rare for her because of the lack of facilities she has and the effort it takes to manoeuvre the extra weight.
“I have started doing more detailed projects but with the space I have currently, I don’t tend to focus on bigger artworks,” she said.
“I made a turtle out of copper and steel which is currently my favourite piece because of its detail.”
Ms Greenwood showcased the turtle at the Kingston Fringe recently, which she said was the first art exhibition she had participated in.
She said she also attended previous markets to sell her artwork, with some of her pieces said to have reached as far as Queensland and Tasmania.
“I have a Facebook page where I tell people to go and learn more information about who I am and what I can and cannot do,” Ms Greenwood said.
She revealed that she took her inspiration from her parents and grandparents.
“They were very hard workers,” Ms Greenwood said.
“All of them, and my father in particular, liked what they did and enjoyed sharing it with others.”
Ms Greenwood said people considering taking up the same hobby must be prepared to learn how to weld and be prepared to suffer frequent minor burns.
“Imagination is important for any artist and if welding becomes an interest and if burns do not put off others who want to do this, then it is very enjoyable,” she said.
“The welding can be learned but the ideas and the creativity has to be something which comes naturally.”
Ms Greenwood’s Facebook profile can be found at Weldz & Wood.

Jo O'Connor said there may be an opportunity to redevelop the old butter factory for tourism and accommodation.

Historic factory for sale

About 300 people attended the opening of the former Penola butter factory in 1939 but today it stands on the market, abandoned, and waiting for a possible new lease on life.

Selling agent, Jo O'Connor from PPHS, said the site offers unique opportunities.

"I would love for somebody to appreciate its history and bring it back to its former glory," Ms O'Connor said.

"There could be an opportunity for it to be turned into a hospitality and accommodation venue."

According to records provided to the Penant by the Penola History Group, a consortium of Penola and Coonawarra businessmen met at the Coonawarra Soldier's Memorial Hall in early 1938.

A company was formed called 'The Penola Dairying and Cold Storage Company' and together they raised 10,000 pounds to build the factory in Penola.

By October 1938, an Adelaide builder was contracted and building works had started.

With much fanfare, 300 people turned out for the opening of the new factory.

It expanded its range of products to include cheese as well as butter.

During the 1950's, the factory was producing 600 tons of butter a year.

Over the years, the factory changed ownership a number of times and ceased operations in the 1980's.

It was sold at auction in 1994.

The property was listed as a State Heritage Place in 1985 and any redevelopment of the site would require council approvals.

The two acre site was recently placed on the market by its current owner with an asking price of $450,000.

The agents state that the property has double frontage entrance, 100 metres wide and on one title.

"There are two separate buildings with a large court yard so if you had the dream of wanting to open a craft brewery and tasting rooms or some sort of accommodation facility, this property would be ideal," according to the sales material.

"This property is situated on approximately two acres of land which would be perfect for a market garden or for parking.

"Other features of this property include 3 phase power, 40,000 gallons of rainwater and two 10 horse power pumps."

Raising awareness about domestic and family violence

A community run/walk in Millicent tomorrow will enable participants to Run Against Violence (RAV).

Everyone is welcome to join in the event beginning at 10am from the Jubilee Park barbecues where co-founder of RAV, Kirrily Dear, will be joining in.

This will be a precursor to a RAV teams event to be held in August.

For the past five years Millicent residents have joined runners and walkers from across Australia and the world to Run Against Violence.

Teams of up to 20 join forces to travel 1300 kilometres in just 19 days to raise awareness for domestic and family violence.

Limestone Coast spokesperson, Belinda Seaman said: "Domestic violence is one of those taboo topics.

"No one likes to talk about it.

"Most of us like to think it's a minor problem affecting only a small portion of the population.

"Unfortunately that's not the case".

Kirrily Dear, co-founder of Run Against Violence, decided to take action.

She started with a solo 860km ultramarathon to raise awareness and money.

It was a huge success but she wanted more.

In conjunction with Brad Smithers she came up with the crazy theme for the 1300 marathon from Broken Hill to Sydney.

Kirrily ran almost 70kms per day for 19 days to complete the marathon.

Obviously the ordinary person could not do that so it became a team challenge for teams of 10 people to try and beat Kirrily across the virtual finish line, which meant all runners ran at home and recorded their distances online as a team.

Over the years the maximum number of team mates has risen to 20 to enable anyone to be part of the team.

"Whether you run 10 kilometres per day, or walk one kilometre a day, you can join a team," Belinda said.

At this point the event moved from a runners event to a community event.

"It encourages us to be active, to form bonds in the community and reach out to those affected by family violence.

"It also gives those in need a supportive community to reach out to," she said.

Throughout the event, RAV shares family violence stories from survivors to educate the community.

"The way RAV provides a safe place for survivors to open up and share their stories with us is humbling," Belinda said.

As well as helping those currently experiencing violence to seek help, RAV strives to break the cycle of violence.

To do this RAV has partnered with the National Association for the Prevention of Child Abuse and Neglect (NAPCAN) 'Love Bites' program, which educates teenagers on what a healthy relationship looks like.

It guides them on what to do if they find themselves, or one of their friends, in a situation that they are not comfortable with.

Further information is available from Belinda Seaman on 0439 081 092.

Belinda Seaman is planning the local Run Against Violence.

Police ask communities to drive with care this Easter

Limestone Coast police are appealing for the community to "drive to arrive" this coming Easter.

With a busy Easter period anticipated, police will again be providing a high visibility on our rural highways as well as dedicating patrols to focus on driver behaviour within townships across the Limestone Coast.

Limestone Coast Police will take part in Operation Safe Holidays Easter which is a State-wide operation running from Thursday April 14 to Monday April 18.

The operation will target the 'Fatal Five' driver behaviours that contribute most to the lives lost and serious injuries on SA roads: Distraction, drink/drug driving, speeding, failure to wear a seatbelt and dangerous driving.

"We want road users to understand that the early intervention of these behaviours could be the life or death change needed to avoid catastrophic consequences in a road user's journey," said police superintendent Campbell Hill, officer in charge of Limestone Coast local Service Area.

Easter in the Limestone Coast is a busy time of year for all emergency services, front-line and health service workers.

Police are also urging for the sensible use of recreational vehicles in and around beaches, sand dunes, national parks and on water craft to ensure all those visiting the Limestone Coast enjoy their break and return home safely.

Discovering the depths

By Caroline Hammat

Staff, committee members and volunteers at Noorla Yo-long have worked together to complete the first step toward offering caving exploration on-site through the assistance of a OneFortyOne Community Grant and the generous support of Bunnings Mount Gambier.

A new deck has been built over a hole leading into the cave system completing stage one of the project, this had been an existing safety hazard for some time and is now covered by the deck containing a safe access point to the caves.

Senior Constable Geoff Yates Noorla Yo-long facilitator said: "Through this partnership we now have a good deck where we can build a rope belaying system to drop people into the cave.

"There's about a 4.5 metre vertical tube that goes down into the 60 metre cave system with challenging pinch points."

Senior Constable Yates explained staff still need to undertake formal training and safety exercises before caving happens as a formal activity to ensure the highest quality and safety experience is on offer.

"The goal is to have caving ready for groups by the end of term four although there is still planning and logistics ahead with extra funding needed for head torches, overalls and gloves."

The caving activities will help the growth of leadership with communication and working with others an important aspect of underground exploration.

Senior Constable Yates explained the need to support our community and youth: "They've needed a lot of that recently with Covid, missing out on so many experiences, school camps haven't happened and they get extra learning outside of the classroom, it's an important way to learn and it's what we do."

Down Below: Senior Constable Geoff Yates, Activity Facilitator Blane Combarngo, Ronnie Haydon, Bunnings Activity Organiser Hannah Harvey, One Forty One External Affairs Manager Charlene Riley and Tim Valente descended into part of the Noorla Yo-long cave system.

Part of the cave system has been discovered to be a hibernating ground for a local bat species from May to November and that section will not be used during hibernation time.

Taking several months of physical labour from staff and volunteers and many months of planning the project would not have been possible without the successful $3200 from the OneFortyOne grant.

Charlene Riley, One Forty One external affairs manager said: "The viewing platform at Noorla Yo-Long looks great, glad we could support with a Community Grant."

Bunnings generosity in supplying a substantial amount of extra materials purchased with the grant money and the donation of 100 species of native plants has helped the project get to this stage.

Decking Access: Standing on the new decking that provides safe access to the Noorla Yo-long caves are staff and volunteers that worked on the project Senior Constable Geoff Yates, Keith Field, Ron Haydon, Bruce Clayson, Blane Combarngo, Lyn and Tim Valente.

Repairs for Anzac Day

By Kathy Fennell

Inscribed names on Penola's Soldiers Memorial in Penola War Memorial Park have been severely damaged by water spray from sprinklers.

The problem is believed to have occurred when the water supply in the park was connected to the town supply but then changed to a bore.

Damage to the memorial's names has occurred since this change and it is believed the damage has been caused by an iron bacteria in the water.

It has also severely discoloured the northern wall of the park's toilet block.

Coonawarra-Penola Returned and Services League (RSL) President, Peter DeGaris said he had made Wattle Range Council aware of the problem some time ago.

Council had tried to repair the damage but with an unsatisfactory result, however personnel from monumental masons in Mount Gambier worked on the lettering last Saturday to at least make it legible in readiness for Anzac Day.

"It (the monument) is desperately in need of some maintenance," Mr DeGaris said.

"It has had a bit of touch up over the years but nothing much.

"We are going to apply for a grant in the near future to carry out major repairs and bring it right up to scratch," Mr DeGaris said.

Inscribed names on the monument are from Penola's fallen soldiers who did not return from World Wars One and Two, Vietnam and the Boer War.

People gather at the monument for services on Anzac Day, Remembrance Day, Vietnam Vets Day and VP day.

Unveiled in 1927, the monument was moved to its current position in the 1930's

Sculpture for square

By Kathy Fennell

A sculpture is to be added in the Penola Town Square in the near future.

To be titled ‘Generosity of Spirit’ the sculpture will be a tribute to all the women who have shaped the Penola and Coonawarra community through their generosity of spirit and supported the generations of women who have followed them.

Dr Anne Johnson, a member of the Penola Town Square Working Group, said: “The idea was mooted some time ago but we wanted to get the practical things done in the town square first like paving, tables and chairs, entrance panels etc.

“It was a long process in deciding on the sculpture as we wanted it to be positive, uplifting and to depict a tribute to women of the Penola community,” she said.

The sculpture will be made of Corten (weathered steel which takes on a rusty appearance) which will match the entrance panels at the front of the town square.

“We had to choose a sculptor who was creative and highly regarded in working with Corten,” Dr Johnson said.

Adelaide based sculptor, Gerry McMahon met all the credentials and was awarded the commission.

The group is aiming to raise $40,000 and is looking for donations from the public to make this happen.

Partnered with the Stand Like Stone Foundation all donations of more than $2 are tax deductible.

The foundation will be handling all contributions.

At the Penola Town Square: Anne Johnson, Marg Muller, Doug Balnaves, Di Williams, Peter Muller, Cate Bell and Catherine Robinson.

Donations of between $2000 and $5000 will be acknowledged as a major benefactor with your name or your organisation’s name.

You can also pay tribute to a special woman or group with a donation of $1000.

These names will be recognised in perpetuity on a plaque near the sculpture.

“We are delighted to announce that the Penola Bendigo Community Bank has come on board as a major benefactor with a donation of $5000,” Dr Johnson said.

“This is such a great start to our fundraising.”

Further information is available from committee members Catherine Robinson on 0413 548 281, Dr Anne Johnson on 0419 770 522 or Doug Balnaves on 0428 849 679.

Choral Society joins city band for performance

After a Covid-19 induced recess, the Millicent Choral Society returned to the Millicent Civic and Arts Centre with a variety concert last Sunday.

The variety concert included the Mount Gambier City Concert Band as guest artists.

About 50 people enjoyed the singing from the choral society, and music from the concert band.

Society musical director, Michael Bleby OAM said the choir had worked hard rehearsing for the concert.

“Despite having to wear masks, we have been rehearsing since the beginning of the year, as the members of the choir have been missing their music making,” Mr Bleby said.

“The program contained a wide variety of songs ranging from contemporary compositions to old choral favourites.

“The concert band repertoire included a wide variety of pieces including several from shows and film scores.

“The concert was a success and the audience was very appreciative, despite the requirement to sing with masks,” Mr Bleby said.

“The Civic and Arts Centre, with its well appointed acoustics, is a wonderful venue in which to perform, and it was good to have it back in use for live music.”

The choral society welcome newcomers and the members practice on Monday nights in the Millicent High School music room.

Muscling up for charity

By Kathy Fennell

The Penola team of Snow and Stuart Merrett, Tony Wilson and Rhys Devlin returned home on Saturday after taking part in the annual Variety Aussie muscle car run.

The Merrett's car, a 1973 Holden Torana GTR XU1, and the Wilson team car, a 1970 Ford XW GT, participated along with 49 other cars over a distance of 1363 kilometres, averaging about 400 kilometres per day.

"Prior to the event the cars are serviced, new tyres put on and prepared to the best of our ability," Stuart said.

All 51 vehicles finished the run. This year a total of $510,000 was raised and will go towards the fund 'All Kids in Need'. The Merretts have participated in every run since 2012 and as well as South Australia have been to New South Wales, Victoria and Western Australia.

"We have always loved the run as we can get out and give the car a good work out," Snow said.

"We just love to drive and enjoy.

"It is a real hoot," Snow said.

The run this year left Adelaide and continued on to Clare, Port Augusta, Whyalla, Crystal Brook, Nurioopta, Victor Harbor, Goolwa and The Bend at Tailem Bend.

The run also included the Willunga Hill climb. Participants stayed overnight and longer along the route and had dinner and social evenings.

"The comradeship and friends we have made is absolutely fantastic," Stuart said.

Cheques were presented in several towns along the way to schools, organisations and individuals as donations.

Snow said: "Some cars had a few mishaps along the way, but with two mobile mechanics with us all problems were solved".

A presentation dinner was held at The Bend at Tailem Bend.

The Penola team of Snow Merrett, Tony Wilson, Stuart Merrett and Rhys Devlin.

Awards were made to the highest fundraiser and the most consistent.

There was also the hard luck award.

The Merrett family has been involved in cars for many years starting in speedway, so it is in their blood.

"I have grandchildren that are very very keen so it looks like I will be doing this for a few years yet," Snow said.

The Penola team has had overwhelming support and sponsorship from businesses and individuals, both local and from afar.

The next planned run is October, 2023, and the route is planned to include Bathurst and Phillip Island.

Beachport film society keeps reeling in

By Elsie Adamo

Beachport's Film Society has been going strong after 27 years of screenings.

The society shows a film monthly at the Beachport Cinema for the community, originally starting out with international films in 1995 before progressing to new releases in recent years.

The cinema is only used commercially for films over the summer school holiday period and Easter long weekend, with the film society making use of the big screen during the rest of the year.

Film society treasurer Wendy Stratford and president Pam Hales have been involved in the society for more than a combined 30 years.

"It is a fantastic community activity," Ms Hales said.

"Having that special little cinema in town is just incredible.

"Normally after the film we have a cuppa and a bit of supper and chat about the movie and have a catch-up," Ms Stratford said.

"It [supper] has been put on hold because of Covid-19, but we are hoping it will be back soon."

Over the years the society has been close to shutting down but, after a brief pause at the start of the pandemic, interest has been strong in recent years.

"We have to find enough members to keep it going," Ms Hales said.

"We only get a certain amount of money from the members, and if we do not have enough members then we do not have enough money to cover the costs of showing the movie.

"We have been pretty rock-bottom a few times, we did nearly fold at one stage, but the Council gave us a grant to keep us alive."

"Currently we are doing well with members, we have about 53," Ms Stratford said.

While you do not have to be a member to attend a screening, it is encouraged by the society that locals properly sign up to help keep it going.

"Right now, there are a lot of people travelling around so we have a lot of tourists coming in to see the films as well," Ms Hales said.

"For those people that just walk in, that money goes straight to the owners, the film society does not get anything," Ms Stratford said.

"We pay a certain amount each month to the owner to screen the films, and that is done from member's money.

"Even if you buy a membership and cannot make it to every film we screen, you are helping keep the film society alive," Ms Hales said.

Films run every month except January.

You can sign up to the society at the next screening night on April 22.

Now showing: Wendy Stratford and Pam Hales at the recent screening of 'Belfast' in the Beachport Cinema.

Kitchen kindness: Megan Brennan, Deb Patterson, Sue Smith, Lynne Hallett, Sandra Young form the Dianella team of Millicent Shares a Plate.

Cooks share with others

Cooking up a storm each week is the Millicent Shares a Plate group which is on the lookout for volunteers to assist on a regular basis.

Group volunteer, Megan Brennan, explained: “We need some extras to help out when people are away or unwell, or people who can come in at short notice when others can’t make it.

“We make an average of 50 meals a week available to anyone who needs them and we aim to have them in IGA’s fridge by 4.30 on a Thursday, the majority of the meals are usually gone by Friday lunchtime.”

A large group of volunteers already do a variety of jobs, breaking into five smaller groups of six or seven who meet on a five week rotation to cook the weekly meals.

They are hopeful more volunteers will come forward who can assist with a variety of roles including food preparation and cooking, delivery of food and collecting ingredients.

Volunteers get together about every six weeks for a meeting but there is no obligation to attend, and a barbecue fundraiser is held at the local market every few months.

Sandra Young has been with the group since it began.

“It’s a good social occasion and a worthwhile effort to help the community, and we learn lots of cooking hints,” she said.

New volunteer Sue Smith had decided to come along saying: “I want to be a part of the community and to give something back.”

Since it began in October last year the group has been on the receiving end of generous community support.

Vegetables are mostly donated from local gardens, fresh herbs from Hollafresh, Andys Bakery supplying the rolls weekly and a new barbecue donated in December anonymously by a local business.

To find out more about volunteering visit the RSL kitchen Thursday afternoon on cooking days or contact members through the Millicent Shares a Plate Facebook group.

Rob Lepley will retire from the Penola Racing Club committee after 33 years.

Racing icon calls it quits

By Kathy Fennell

Long time Penola resident Rob Lepley has decided to retire from the Penola Racing Club committee after 33 years.

“It was 1988 when I first became involved with the club,” Mr Lepley said.

“I was in charge of the scratching board, which doesn’t exist anymore.”

Lepley joined the committee in 1989, has held the position of President, and has been actively involved in just about every aspect that the committee does from cleaning up after race meetings to track management.

“I have become quite disillusioned recently with some of the stewards decisions regarding the track management and this also played a part in my decision to retire,” Lepley said.

Lepley said he has seen many changes over the 33 years.

“We have gone from a two inch water pipe running rail to aluminium and now to plastic,” he said.

“These changes are all because of safety issues.”

Things are changing all the time according to Lepley.

There has been a complete new administration block built along with a new betting ring.

These amenities have got the Penola facilities looking ship shape

Lepley has also been Penola’s delegate for Limestone Coast Racing for many years.

Another role Lepley has been involved in is as barrier attendant and relief starter at the Penola, Naracoorte, Mount Gambier, Bordertown, and Millicent racing clubs.

“I have made many long time friends in my association with racing,” Mr Lepley said.

“You can always guarantee that they will be at a race meeting somewhere so we can have a chat,” he said.

Lepley has always had a love for horses right back to when he was a young lad when he had a pony.

“Dad and a mate from Kalangadoo were into race horses and that’s what got me started,” he said.

“I still have my trainers licence after 39 years and currently have a couple of horses in work and will continue on,” he said.

Lepley said he was more than happy to help out at race meetings but didn’t want the commitment of being on the committee as it is time consuming.

“I have six grandchildren and have missed out on a couple of their birthdays because I was at the racecourse.

“I am really looking forward to spending more time with my family,” Lepley said.

Lepley said Penola is a great club to be involved with and he encouraged anyone to get involved.

Calling for entries for John Shaw Neilson art prize

Emerging and established artists are encouraged to prepare their entries for the John Shaw Neilson Acquisitive Art Prize and the Design prize, in the lead up to the popular Penola Coonawarra Arts Festival in May.

The winner of the John Shaw Neilson Acquisitive Art Prize will receive $12,000, thanks to the Balnaves Foundation, with a further Local Art Prize of $1000 contributed by passionate Festival stalwart and founding committee member Lois Hodge.

The John Shaw Neilson Acquisitive Art Prize entries must be inspired by the works of this early Penola poet.

This year marks 30 years since the inception of the Penola Coonawarra Arts Festival, coinciding with the 150th anniversary of John Shaw Neilson’s birth, and will be held over the weekend of May 12 to 15.

Also calling for entries is the 2022 Design Prize, the Catherine Martin Literary Award - a writing competition with the theme of ‘Isola-

Colourful life: Karen McKenzie with a display of her colourful artwork.

Township puzzles

By Caroline Hammat

Childhood memories of Victorian artist Karen McKenzie are finding their way into Limestone Coast people's homes and hearts through her colourful art.

Ms McKenzie has been reproducing her whimsical paintings of Limestone Coast towns, including Millicent, Mount Gambier, Robe and Kingston, as popular jigsaws puzzles.

Beachport is the latest town to have its image taped to the artist's desk with the townships of Penola and Southend planned for the near future.

Ms McKenzie left Mount Gambier in the early 1990's to follow her goal of studying art and design at Deakin University in Warrnambool but it wasn't until 10 years ago she revisited art in her quest to "get happy" after quitting her job.

Recognising the difficulty of buying souvenirs that weren't mass produced, Ms McKenzie began painting local scenes and creating resin pendants of her bright designs for regional tourist outlets but with the arrival of Covid-19 this tourism based income stream came to a halt.

"The first winter of Covid I saw local businesses adapting to help others out and this got me wondering what I could do, so I started drawing A4 colour-in pages for kids of their towns," Ms McKenzie said.

"I would upload these to my Facebook page for people to download and entertain children at home so the idea grew from there."

A work in progress: Karen McKenzie's work taped to her desk which eventually became the Millicent jigsaw puzzle.

Growing up in Mount Gambier, Ms McKenzie knows the Limestone Coast well with school holidays spent in the coastal towns of Beachport and Southend.

"Our family had a beach house at Southend for around 40 years and before that we holidayed in Beachport every year," she said.

"The Southend shack was at the top of a hill overlooking the beach; at lunch and dinner mum would raise a beach towel as a flag to let us know when to come home for meals.

"On the way to the beach for holidays we would drive past the Millicent Swimming Lake and beg mum to stop and let us swim there; it was beautiful."

It is these little memories that make their way into the colourful paintings and Ms McKenzie finds other people connecting with them in a way she hadn't seen with her artwork before.

"I like anything thing that's a bit quirky and put stuff in that makes me laugh; I like to paint smaller places that don't really have anything like this."

When visiting regional towns she remembers, Ms McKenzie takes numerous photographs for her paintings, looking for things remembered and noticing what has changed.

"The puzzles connect to where people live, grow up or holiday; they've become really popular."

Karen McKenzie Art and her Australian made puzzles will be available to view at Balnaves in Penola during the Coonawarra Festival from May 12 to 15 in the exhibition 'It's a Fine Line Between Puzzle 'n Wine'.

Funding for Anzac Day safe ceremonies

South Australian RSL sub-branches and local councils can apply for one-off grants from the State Government to support the delivery of Covid-safe Anzac Day Dawn services this year.

Funding of up to $10,000 will be retrospectively provided to eligible organisations or councils (where RSL sub-branches no longer operate). Funding may be used for expenses associated with meeting Covid-safe requirements such as hiring additional marshals, funding road closures, ticketing, seating, marquees or assistance with Covid-safe management plans.

The grant funds will be administered through the RSL SA State Branch.

In order to receive funding, eligible sub-branches and local councils must submit relevant receipts or evidence of payment of invoices to the RSL SA State Branch by Friday, May 13.

Music for a mate: Allan and Maureen Webster prepare for their latest music fundraiser in support of fellow musician, Alby Pool.

Helping out with music

The country music community is coming together in support of one of their own with a talented line-up of musicians announced for a unique one-off event in Millicent.

Music 4 a Mate is a fundraiser being held for popular New South Wales entertainer Alby Pool who has performed previously in the region and is now facing serious health issues.

Like many in the entertainment industry impacted by Covid 19, Alby saw his only source of income come to a halt during the pandemic.

This has inspired local musician Allan Webster and his wife Maureen to host an event in support of Alby during this time.

"Over the years we have received wonderful and generous support from fellow artists both local and interstate, including Alby, who have given their time and talent at many fundraisers we have held," they said.

"This show is our way of showing our love and respect for a fellow musician and friend."

Alby is well known to country music fans and has a long history in the music industry, travelling both interstate and overseas to entertain.

Until recently Alby was an integral part of the Tamworth Country Music Festival, presenting top bands and artists, and acting as support for many others.

Always one to nurture upcoming artists on the country music circuit, Alby's contribution to the industry is well known.

Music 4 a Mate has attracted a long list of entertainers who rarely, if ever, perform on the same stage.

Along with Allan Webster the line-up includes Andrew Phelan, Fiona Holliday, Ian "Bidge" Boyd, Danielle Mowbray Burford backed by Henry Czerwonka, Drew Holliday and Pete Wilson, Kevin Sporer, Out of Order trio which includes Mark Moffat, Wendy Roeters and Tracey Allen and the Mystic Blue Band.

Sandra Humphries is also coming out of retirement for a one off performance at the show.

The event will be held at the Millicent United Soccer Club on Sunday, April 24 from 11.30am.

Bookings are advised and tickets are available to purchase by phoning Maureen on 0418898248.

The bar will be open for refreshments; bring your own lunch and nibbles and enjoy what promises to be a great afternoon.

Jo Bowering lined up to purchase her sausage in bread from Millicent Lion's Club member Alan Rolfe. The Lion's club hosted the March market with members manning the fundraising barbecue.

Colin Davies purchased a freshly made pork Banh mi roll from Chiu who specialises in making fresh Vietnamese street food.

Joycelin Walker and her daughter Angela Osborne enjoyed the chance to take a seat in the shade and listen to Brenton Williams entertain the market goers.

Sun shines for market

It was perfect weather for Millicent's Community Market held in March, with 20 stallholders offering a variety of food, jewellery, art, craft, candles and fortune telling for sale, music performed by Brenton Williams in the rotunda offering the perfect entertainment.

The market was hosted by the Millicent Lions Club which held its annual Biggest Barbecue raising funds for The Australian Lions Childhood Cancer Research Foundation.

Millicent's April market day is fast approaching and will be held on Saturday April 23 between 9am-1pm with Jon Peters performing live in the Rotunda.

The market this month will be hosted by Millicent Shares a Plate which is fundraising for the group with a barbecue and sausage sizzle.

Two of about 20 stallholders on site were Kristy Ellery and Cris Allen pictured having a chat before customers started to arrive at Millicent's March monthly market.

Bella Reilly took her time looking for a treat that her mum Katherine Reilly had promised to buy for her. Bella eventually settled on a sparkling new necklace.

Millicent's Mayor and Mayoress, Des and Shari Noll, were making the most of the beautiful weather to stroll around the parklands at the markets recently.

Entertaining market guests was Brenton Williams from Mount Gambier. The popular entertainer has been playing gigs for the last 20 years and playing music for more than 40 years.

Kylie Cotton with her children Vanille and Hunter Kelly travelled from Penshurst in Victoria to sell her wares at the market and catch up with family who live in Millicent.

Vintage stomp pays off

On a mild night, a great crowd turned out to eat, drink and cheer on their team for the Annual Vintage Stomp as a part of the Coonawarra After Dark celebrations.

The event was held last Friday at DiGiorgio Family Wines in a hot contest which saw Your Podiatry take first place for the night, followed by runners-up PPHS and a kids' team in third place.

Frank DiGiorgio said it was good to see a different team which has been entered into numerous previous competitions win the Vintage Stomp.

"They are always keen to have a go, so it is great to see them take home the trophy," Mr DiGiorgio said.

"We could not have asked for a better night weather wise and the crowd made sure they enjoyed it as much as possible by carrying on the night at Brands Laira."

Food for the night was supplied by Lumberjack's Low and Slow BBQ as well as Donut King's cruising coffee and wine provided for the event.

Toyota Yaris GR Rallye

By Chris Riley, Marque Motoring

With 200kW of power, a manual change, all-wheel drive and tipping the scales at 1280kg, the Toyota Yaris GR Rallye puts away the zero to 100 km/h dash in just 5.2 seconds.

As entertaining as it might be, this little bundle of bravado does not come cheap - not at more than $50,000.

The Rallye edition, priced from $54,500 plus on-roads, introduces lightweight components and performance parts specifically designed for drivers who want to experience a higher level of performance.

The Rallye is distinguished by bespoke Frosted White crystal pearl paint and bright red brake callipers bearing the Toyota Gazoo Racing logo.

Inside, it boasts synthetic leather-accented sports front seats which feature large bolsters, red stitching and perforated Ultrasuede inserts.

A uniquely numbered GR Yaris Rallye plaque is fixed to the centre console with an additional Rallye badge on the rear hatch.

Standard kit includes dual-zone climate air, suede and leather trimmed sports seats, heated front seats, smart entry and start, and an auto-dimming rear mirror.

Drivers also receive complimentary map upgrades for 3 years.

Infotainment is provided by 8-speaker JBL audio and a 7-inch touchscreen display with Bluetooth, voice recognition, DAB+ digital radio, Apple CarPlay and Android Auto, along with one USB and 12V outlet in the front.

The Rallye edition is powered by the same 200kW/370Nm 1.6-litre single-scroll turbo-charged three-cylinder petrol engine as the GR.

Toyota reckons it's the world's most powerful, series production, three-pot, able to propel the car from rest to 100km/h in 5.2 seconds.

Power is fed to all four wheels through the clever GR-FOUR all-wheel drive system via a six-speed intelligent manual gearbox with rev-matching for up and down shifts.

Rallye features the latest Toyota Safety Sense technologies including a pre-collision safety system with autonomous emergency braking, intersection assistance, high-speed adaptive cruise control, lane trace assist and road-sign assist.

Other safety features include emergency steering assist, blind spot monitor, head-up display, reversing camera and six airbags.

While a standard Yaris gets a five-star safety rating, the GR is a significantly different vehicle and this rating does not apply.

Key upgrades include circuit-tuned GR suspension, Torsen limited-slip differentials on the front and rear axles, an ultra-light high-performance wheel-and-tyre package and improved front brake ducting to improve cooling.

The front MacPherson strut suspension from the GR Yaris has been upgraded with stiffer springs and anti-roll bars to realise the new model's full performance potential.

GR Yaris is the car they used to homologate Toyota's World Rally Championship contender.

It shares only three exterior parts with the donor car - mirrors, headlights and tail lights - which speaks volumes about the design process.

The platform for this car combines the front end of a standard Yaris with the rear of the GA-C platform used for Corolla.

With its wider stance, pumped out guards and beefy 225 series rubber, GR Yaris looks more than just tough - it looks ready to rumble.

GR-FOUR AWD is designed to optimise torque through a high-response coupling and electronically controlled multi-plate clutch located ahead of the rear differential.

Packs a punch: Toyota's Yaris GR Rallye edition with bright red brake callipers and Toyota Gazoo Racing logo hint what this little ripper is all about.

It features three driver-selectable modes -- Normal, Track and Sport -- which deliver a different distribution of torque between front and back: 60:40, 30:70 and 50:50 respectively.

Two Torsen limited-slip diffs control distribution between left and right wheels to deliver natural and direct control with enhanced stability, cornering performance and grip.

A plastic, carbon-fibre reinforced roof, aluminium bonnet, doors and tailgate, with liberal use of lightweight, high-tensile steel - underscore the performance potential.

It's also equipped with lightweight, high-strength 18-inch BBS forged alloys.

Michelin Pilot Sport 4S high-performance 225/40ZR18 tyres are standard, but our test vehicle had been fitted with Dunlop SP Sport Maxx (the tyre normally fitted to the non-Rallye model).

You won't find a spare in the back either. A puncture repair kit is supplied instead -- to save weight. It could also have something to do with the fact the battery is located under the boot floor (to make way for a larger air cleaner under the bonnet).

The driver-focused cabin is fitted with a small-diameter, leather-wrapped steering wheel with fingertip controls, leather-wrapped short-throw gear shifter and hand-brake, plus aluminium pedals.

Round analogue speedo and tachometer dials sit either side of a centre 4.2-inch driver info display that offers an array of details including turbo pressure and gear-shift indicators.

An adjustable driver's seat and tilt-and-telescopic steering column contribute to an ideal seating position.

Two rear seats feature IsoFix anchor points and are split 60/40 to expand the 141-litre luggage space to 737 litres when the seats are folded.

With a 50-litre tank, Rallye takes the good stuff, 98 RON unleaded and uses a claimed 7.6L/100km.

We clocked up 765km behind the wheel at the rate of 8.1L/100km.

Tommi Makinen and a bunch of rally types

Boasting style: The interior of the Rallye edition features synthetic leather-accented front seats with red stitching and perforated Ultrasuede inserts.

including Mr Toyoda himself reportedly had input into the setup of this car, and boy does it show.

It's an incredibly well-balanced package, with a stack of torque available across from 3000 to 4600 revs. Grip and acceleration are impressive and leaves me wondering what this car is like on dirt?

After all, that's what it's designed for. Competition grade brakes bite hard and keep on biting time and time again with no signs of fade.

The manual change is a keeper, slick, short throw and easy to use with tightly grouped pedals for heel and toe braking, as well as rev matching for the majority.

Steering is precise, direct and responsive, delivering plenty of feedback about what's going on down below.

Two large exhaust outlets deliver a neighbourhood-rousing soundtrack, but like the 86 the engine note is artificially enhanced.

We anticipated the GR would have rock hard sports suspension, something akin to a race car.

However, the ride is surprisingly supple and dare we say very liveable.

GR Yaris is a tight fit, feels plasticky in parts and there's no parking sensors of any kind.

The blind spot system in our test vehicle kept triggering for no apparent reason while the centre info panel kept warning us to avoid "excessive acceleration".

That negates the whole point, does it not? At first, we thought it might have been the outside temperature, but when it happened again on a cold, frosty Orange, NSW morning -- we had to rule that out.

It's a lot of dough for a small hatch. The GR Yaris Rallye edition packs a punch, proof positive that good things do come in small packages - especially if you like your driving fun.

Vine rootstock field day

By Kathy Fennell

A successful rootstock field day was held at Coonawarra last Tuesday at a Wynn's Coonawarra Estate vineyard.

The contingent of 25 people experienced a practical day and listened to speakers David Hansen, principal consultant from the Hansen Consulting group in Melbourne, and Nick Dry from Foundation Viticulture in the Barossa Valley.

The trial of rootstock in Coonawarra is a partnership between Vinehealth Australia, Coonawarra Vignerons and Wynn's Coonawarra Estate.

Data has been collected over the past five years.

"We wanted to wait until the vines had matured before we did this underground testing," said Suzanne McLoughlin, Technical Manager of Vinehealth Australia, who organised the field day.

"It was the first time we have actually looked underground to look at the vine roots," she said.

Nine pits were dug at different locations throughout the vineyard and each pit was viewed separately.

"We don't look underground enough," Ms McLoughlin said.

The locations showed all different types of root patterns.

Mr Hansen spoke in depth about the root system and how it works.

"The root system develops differently with different varieties and soil types," he said.

Another topic included wheel traffic throughout the vineyard.

"This can also have an impact on root patterns as after years of driving between rows can compact the soil and affect root growth," Mr Hansen said.

Mr Dry, a specialist in propagation, spoke about the importance of the right genetics, healthy and strong rootstock and soil conditions being major factors in establishing a vineyard.

Mr Hansen will complete a report on the field day and it will be available in the near future.

Ms McLoughlin said: "It was a very successful field day and it was great to have the variety of discussions on rootstock variety, soil, climate, yield and quality.

"Everyone enjoyed the opportunity to ask questions and gained a lot of beneficial information from the day."

There will be more onsite field walks planned for later in the year.

YOUR WEEKLY TV GUIDE

MURDOCH MYSTERIES 7TWO, Thursday, 8.30pm

It's punctuated with tongue-in-cheek references to science and cameos from a slew of actors, public figures and academics. Murdoch Mysteries also blends macabre, dark and topical storylines with lighthearted and quirky elements; it's no wonder this Canadian stalwart is returning for its 15th season. Tonight, the turn of the 20th century-set detective drama begins its biggest batch of cases ever with 24 episodes brimming with adventure, mystery and danger. Detective Murdoch (Yannick Bisson, pictured) may be an old hand, but his story only gets more intriguing. Tonight, he searches his ex-lover Anna (Lisa Faulkner) and their son, who are being are tailed by a crime mob.

NORFOLK ISLAND WITH RAY MARTIN SBS, Sunday, 7.30pm

A cinematic and breathtaking look at one of Australia's best-kept secrets, this visual feast of a documentary special, helmed by Ray Martin (pictured), follows a light-chasing mission for world-famous landscape photographer Ken Duncan. On an odyssey to capture the perfect shot of Norfolk Island, Duncan teams up with his friend Martin, local underwater photographer Zach Sanders and cinematographer Andy Taylor to experience the idyllic island's most incredible scenery. Along the way, they meet Norfolk's unique characters and take in the islanders' culture and customs, including Bounty Day celebrations – a day of remembrance for their ancestors.

TOMORROW TONIGHT ABC TV, Wednesday, 9pm

Life is short – that much we know. But would a longer life really be a better option? Scientists estimate the true upper limits of our longevity could rest somewhere around 150 years with life-extending technologies. Would tonight's panelists Jean Kittson, Peter Helliar, Adam Liaw and Charlie Pickering want to live that long? It's what host Annabel Crabb (pictured) asks them, along the way encouraging the candid crew to consider mortality, the ageing process and the passing of time. All manner of angles are unpacked, from the practical – how would we afford an extra 50-70 years of life? – to the creative – what skills would you learn if you had a spare decade?

PICK OF THE WEEK

THE THING ABOUT PAM Nine, Tuesday, 8.50pm

A creative retelling of a stranger-than-fiction true-crime story, this oddball limited series is narrated by US Dateline host Keith Morrison and adapted from a real-life scandal covered by the show. Russ Faria (Glenn Fleshler) called emergency services after finding his wife Betsy (Katy Mixon) on the floor of their Troy, Missouri, home in 2011. It's not long before he's the prime suspect in Betsy's murder – thanks largely to the animated testimony of her sociopathic best friend Pam (Renée Zellweger, pictured, who's buried beneath thick prosthetics and further disguised by a curious Midwestern accent). Bizarre, comedic and camp, The Thing About Pam is utterly compelling.

TWO STOREY WITH RIVOLI BAY VIEWS

LOCATED on a quarter-acre block, this two-storey home is positioned on a no-through road, easy and safe for young children to race back and forth from the beach, the general store and fish 'n' chips is only just around the corner too.

In the evening, take a seat on the upstairs balcony and watch the sun set over Rivoli Bay.

With plenty of room and cooking facilities to entertain in the shed as well as store the boat and van and all the paddle boards and beach toys, this property will be a hit with families.

On the ground level, a front and rear decked verandah are wide enough for outdoor furniture and enjoyment of the garden.

Inside, the living space has polished pine floorboards, a reverse-cycle air-conditioner and plenty of room for casual dining.

Beneath the carpeted stair case, double doors open to a storage cupboard and while on the subject of doors, the lower level rooms all have gorgeous cedar doors.

The warmth of timber features in the kitchen too with Tasmanian Oak cabinetry, tough Corian bench tops and a Miele dishwasher, the laundry is adjacent as is a formal dining room which could be utilised as a fourth bedroom or guest room, a second bathroom is also on the ground level.

Upstairs are three carpeted bedrooms, two with sea views and one with a wall length built in robe.

There is a large two way bathroom of a corner shower, vanity, claw foot cast iron bath, toilet and the convenience of a laundry chute.

The top level has a door directly onto the balcony which offers magic sea views to the west as well as views of the natural scrub to the east and south.

Most fisherman will be delighted with the 15m x 7.5m shed which doubles as a terrific entertaining space, a freestanding slow combustion wood heater, rangehood, plenty of sink space for preparation and washing up and a plumbed cray cooker.

A recently installed 6.6kW solar system is on the roof and there is a huge amount of space in front of the shed for extra parking or more shedding if desired.

In addition, there is a 3m x 3m garden shed.

The property has a generous supply of water with three tanks, a capacity of 5600 gallons each and an equipped bore.

Three-phase power is connected to the house and shed.

If you are interested in securing a coastal lifestyle in close proximity to one of the best beaches on the Limestone Coast or a great holiday residence, I recommend booking an appointment to visualise the possibility. ●

Clifford and Parsons win

The finale of the Millicent Bowls Women's Handicap Pairs 2022 season took place on April 6.

The games were each contested over 12 ends.

The first semi-final saw Del Parsons and Mary Clifford defeat Lyn Scudds and Mary Campbell to progress to the grand final.

Adriana Ross and Lorraine Hyland progressed to the grand final with a win over Jan Buhlmann and Faye Hill in the second semi-final.

Ross and Hyland started the grand final one shot up with the score 7-6.

By the fifth end, Parsons and Clifford held the lead with the score at 12-10.

Parsons and Clifford put in a strong performance to win four of the next five ends as they claimed a 26-12 victory and crowned Handicap Pairs champions for the 2022 season.

Numbers increase

Millicent Bowls Club drew 34 players on April 7, up from the previous week where there were just 14 competitors.

The day was won by one of the triples teams, as Orr Grosvenor, Garry Wilson and Iain Campbell secured the win with a score of 34+16.

The trio were followed by David Nuske and Derek Pietersma in second place with 33+12.

Other winners on the day included Arthur O'Connell and David Reichelt on 33+15.

Garth Barker and Neil Whelan with 33+12 as well as Eddie Hann and Steve Carnellor with 33+9.

Sam Scholfield and Peter Hyland finished with 32+9, while Chris Earl and Kym Stewart scored 31+4.

They were followed by Lurlene Reinders and Peter Scanlon on 31+3.

The Millicent Bowls presentation takes place on April 23 with the annual general meeting to be held on April 27.

Mixed results for South East bowlers

The South-Eastern region faced difficult competition at the 2022 MGA Country Round Robin bowls series at Lockley's Bowling Club in Adelaide.

The Lower South East team had a strong representation from all across the region with players from 11 different clubs taking part.

It was a difficult weekend for the women's team who won just one of their seven games.

Their win came against Eyre Peninsula in Round 6, with Lower South East claiming a 79-60 victory.

It was a strong performance across the competition for Heather Richards, Chris Murphy, Ann Ratsch and Di Scott, as the team claimed five rink-wins.

The men's team was competitive across the weekend and finished fifth in the eight-team competition.

Their tournament got off to a difficult start as they lost their opening three games.

However, a change in fortunes followed as they won three out of their final four games to end the series on a high.

The best performers were Brad Errock, Ian Williams, Peter Roachock and Dean Burgoyne who claimed four rink-wins across the competition.

Season ends with mixed competition

Penola Bowls Club rounded out its season with the Windara Mixed Bowls Day on Saturday.

The event attracted 17 bowlers for the popular tournament, with Rick Mitchell and Gerardine Williams claiming the honours, ahead of Sue Lamont, Jean Rogers and Lesley Clifton.

Meanwhile, the club's AGM will be held on May 2 at 7pm.

Lesley Clifton, Jean Rogers and Sue Lamont finished runner-up in Saturday's Windara Mixed Bowls Day.

Kahler and Robinson claim win

It was a quiet week for Robe Bowls Club but there was still action as Thursday social bowls took place.

It attracted a field of 20 players for two games of 12 ends.

David Robinson and Don Kahler claimed victory with 56 points.

They were closely followed by Rob Lawrie and Ian Bruce in second place with 55 points.

Pennant bowls has finished for the season, but social bowls on Thursday and Saturday afternoons has continued to take place.

Robe's closing day and annual general meeting is on May 1.

Close game for Roosters

Robe 50 d Tantanoola 45

Robe and Tantanoola continued the trend of close games in Round 2 of Mid South East netball, with the Roosters claiming the honours by just five goals.

Tantanoola won the toss and took the first centre pass, then were able to score quickly through Emma Gould.

The Roosters responded with quick ball movement through Annie Hunter and Lucy Perkins and put their first score on the board.

Robe's defence line had the Tigers under pressure, causing them to turn the ball over and the Roosters were able to convert, with Tori Gluyas a focal point in the circle.

Robe went into the first break with a four-goal lead.

After the break Tayla Rowe and Kate Bromley caused havoc for the shooters, resulting in some missed shots and Tantanoola pegged back the score line.

The Tigers had opportunity to close the score line but Alannah Jennings, Ellen Ramke and Emma Grant created turnovers for their side and the margin was just three at half time.

After the main break it was a goal-for-goal contest but it was the Roosters who stepped up a notch.

The Tigers made some crucial errors in attack which cost them some much-needed scoring opportunities and Robe was able to convert.

Going into the final break Robe had taken the lead by seven and looked set to claim the points.

However, in the final term the Tigers came out firing and the game was certainly not over.

Kristy Varcoe and Hunter played a tight match-up, with Varcoe finding space in their attack line.

Bromley and Rowe applied plenty of pressure on Robe's shooters, causing them to miss shots which created some fight for the Tiger's attackers.

Gould and Walker seemed to find space in the goal circle against Robe's tight defensive duo and the score line got back to within just a few goals.

However, the Tigers made a few errors and Robe made them pay as they finished the game with a five-goal win.

Best players for the victors were Hunter and Perkins, while Varcoe and Casey Walker were best for the Tigers.

Magpies back in the winner's circle

Kalangadoo 47 d Kongorong 25

Kalangadoo returned to some more impressive form in Round 2 of Mid South East netball, making short work of its clash against Kongorong.

The reigning premiers started strong, scoring the first three goals of the game in quick succession to put the Hawks on notice.

Emily Lightbody, Lynley Page and Kelsie Widdison worked hard in defence for Kongorong, turning the ball over with some handy intercepts and rebounds.

In attack, Meagan Bowering and Evie Sealey capitalised on the mid-court and defensive team's efforts, with some impressive circle work and accurate shooting.

In the middle, Riley Buckingham had a tough tussle with the Magpies' Jayde Peacock, both driving hard with good vision into their respective goalies.

At the first break Kongorong led by one as the Hawks looked to upset what has become the benchmark side in the competition over a long period of time.

However, Kalangadoo came out firing in the second and third quarters with great defensive pressure, making the most of opportunities presented.

For Kongorong Kate Wright, Zara von Stanke and Sam Fox worked tirelessly, combining well to move the ball with precision down the corridors.

The mid-courtters also applied tough defensive pressure, allowing Page and Lightbody to alternate between both space and one-on-one contests.

While there were good match ups in every position on the court, the Magpies showed their skill, experience and poise against the younger Hawks side, running out convincing winners in the fourth term.

Best players for Kalangadoo were Lauren Kain and Kori Collins, while Kongorong's best were Lightbody and Page.

Consistent performer

Tamika Mullan celebrated a major milestone on the weekend when she chalked up her 150th game for Kongorong Netball Club.

Mullan started her netball career at Kongorong in 2008 in Under 17's and in 2009 finished the season with the best and fairest honours.

In 2010 she stepped up into the senior grades, playing in the B Grade, clocking up 50 club games, winning runner-up best and fairest and most improved trophies.

In 2012 Mullan played B Reserve and claimed another best and fairest honour, along with the coach's trophy and a premiership.

She reached her 100th game in 2013 in the B Reserve side, with yet another best and fairest honour.

After the 2015 season Mullan took a few years off to travel and work overseas, then returned last season in the B Reserve side, winning most league votes and equal most consistent Senior.

Strong win for Eagles

Hatherleigh 56 d Nangwarry 27

Hatherleigh enjoyed the home-court advantage against Nangwarry in Round 2 of Mid South East netball.

The Saints started with the first pass but the strong defensive pressure from the Eagles saw them score the first two goals to set the scene.

Tegan Telfer returned to the Eagles' lineup and combined well with Georgia Hunter in the attacking line, both playing with speed and patience.

Nangwarry continued to work hard to create space and go to the post but Hatherleigh's defence worked overtime to turn over the ball, which saw the home side extend the lead going into the first break.

In the warm conditions both sides made changes at every break, with the combination of Demi Vanderhorst and Maddie Redman working well for the Eagles.

Nangwarry stepped up its defensive pressure which made the home side work even harder, as Hayley Burner provided the Saints with plenty of options to convert.

Half time saw the Eagles take a 22-goal lead, making the task a bit tougher for the Saints.

Nangwarry continued to work hard and show good passages of play, with Ange Pratt having a strong game as she controlled the attacking line but the home side remained in control.

The Eagles' defence was outstanding all day and did not allow any easy balls in.

The final break saw Nangwarry remain unchanged, with the home side making the most of the opportunity to bring on youngster Dakota Hateley for her first A Grade game.

The final term saw Nangwarry put out their best quarter for the game but the Eagles were far too strong and ran away with a 29-goal win.

Best players for Hatherleigh: Lara MacGregor and Vanderhorst, while best for Nangwarry were Shannon Higgins and Tahlia Wilson.

100th game clocked up for Hawk star

As an up-and-coming junior netballer, Zara Von Stanke began playing for Kongorong in 2012 in the Junior 2 team and from there has reached her 100-game milestone.

She played Junior 1 for the following three years before stepping up to the 13 and Under team for the 2016 season.

In 2017 Von Stanke played 13 and Under and was awarded most consistent junior and equal best and fairest, while also filling in for the 15 and Under side.

In 2018 and 2019 she played Under 15.

She clocked up 50 club games in 2018, then won the best and fairest and most league votes in 2019.

Last season Von Stanke played in the Under 17 and A Grade teams.

She was awarded the coach's trophy for A Grade and also coached the Junior 1 side.

Currently Von Stanke is part of the A Reserve side, known as a versatile player through the mid-court or in goals.

Zara Von Stanke clocked up her 100th game for Kongorong Netball Club on the weekend.

Mozzies win by barest of margins over Murphies

Mount Burr 47 d Glencoe 46

Mount Burr hosted what turned out to be the Mid South East netball match of the round against the visiting Glencoe.

Warm conditions added to the enjoyment for those on the sidelines as the game went down to the wire.

The Mozzies started the game as a more settled side and found Ebony Clark with ease under the post.

Strong defensive pressure from Madi Haggett and Olivia Dean saw the Mozzies take an early three-goal lead in the opening minutes but the Murphies fought back through a lift in defensive effort to close the quarter at 13 goals apiece.

Glencoe's shooters Jenna Paproth and Malinda Markiewicz were forced to work overtime to find space in a highly-contested goal circle.

Mount Burr's Laura Schultz drove strong in attack and continued to find the focal point of Clark. The second quarter continued goal-for-goal, with scores still level heading into half time.

Both teams came out hungry after the main break and Markiewicz had a dominant quarter, scoring eight of Glencoe's 11 goals.

The Murphies looked set to break away, with Edwards and Chantelle Cocks creating plenty of turnover ball but they were unable to extend their lead past a two-goal buffer.

The Mozzies settled late in the quarter and took advantage of a rattled Glencoe side to go up by one goal heading into the final break.

Glencoe came out strong in the final quarter, with the outside defensive pressure of Chloe Pfitzner and Donna Jaeschke causing a turnover off the Mozzies opening centre pass.

Unfazed, Clark continued her form shooting at 100 per cent for the quarter.

Glencoe held a two-goal lead for majority of the final quarter but some timely rebounds from Haggett and Dean kept the Mozzies right in the contest.

In fitting form, Clark sunk a long range goal just before the final whistle to get the Mozzies over the line by a single goal.

Schultz and Haggett were named best for the victors, while Markiewicz and Pfitzner were given the nod for Glencoe.

Roosters hold off Tigers

Robe 14.15 (99) d Tantanoola 13.6 (84)

Round 2 of Mid South East football provided an entertaining clash at Tantanoola as the Tigers hosted Robe for the Roosters first game of the season.

The visitors came away with the points at the end of the day but not without a fight from the home side.

After bowing out of the finals race last year against Hatherleigh in the first semi-final, Robe would have wanted to kick the season off with a bang against the Tigers, after sitting out the opening round with a bye.

However, the Tigers had other ideas and took the game up to the visitors, with just three points separating the two sides at the end of the first and second quarters.

Tantanoola led by three at the first break and held on to retain the margin at half time.

The third quarter changed the face of the contest as the Roosters began to find their feet.

By the final break Robe had turned its fortunes around and had banged on a further three major scores, while limiting the Tigers to just two.

That provided a nine-point buffer in what had become an entertaining contest.

However, the Tigers refused to go away and pushed the Roosters until the final siren.

While the home side added a further two majors to the scoresheets, the visitors also found the big sticks and added another five goals to run out 15-point victors.

Samuel Clements returned to the Roosters lineup after the 2021 season was cut short due to injury and made his presence felt, with a best-on-ground performance for his side.

Both sides enjoyed a wide spread of goal kickers, with Thomas Miller (3), Fred Batzias (2) and Jack Kelly (2) the best contributors for the victors.

Jack Dawe and Brayden Lane kicked three each for the Tigers, while Alec Roberts added two.

Dawe also continued his good start to the season with third-best for the Tigers, joining Ellis Cushion and Troy Hatt at the top of the list.

Murphies chalk up first victory of 2022 MSEFL season

By Trevor Jackson

Glencoe 13.13 (91) d Mount Burr 10.8 (68)

After a tough start to the 2022 Mid south East football season in Round 1, going down by a fair margin to Kalangadoo, Glencoe bounced back in Round 2 to record a solid 23-point win over Mount Burr.

The Murphies used their home deck to good effect, despite a tough challenge from the Mozzies.

Both were chasing their first win of the season but in the end it was a strong final term which turned the tide in the home side's favour.

Glencoe coach Tom Edwards said he was pleased with the final outcome, after a tough contest.

"We were a little disappointed after last week but the boys responded well and we were able to get a good win," he said.

"It would have been a good game to watch because it was quite a tight tussle for most of it but we managed to run away with it in the last quarter."

Edwards said his side was playing catch-up football all day, trailing by a couple of goals for much of the contest.

He said at the final break he simply spoke to his players about remaining focused and the plan unfolded perfectly.

"We just wanted to make sure we were focused on winning the ball and getting to the contest first," he said.

"We did that for the first five minutes of the last quarter, won the first couple of clearances and got a couple of early goals which was important."

Edwards said good performances by the likes of new ruckman Andy Gray and forward Alex Hentschke made a big difference to the outcome.

"Andy Gray was really dominant in the ruck all day and gave us pretty good use," he said.

"Big Alex Hentschke played really well up forward and gave us a target all day.

"He ended up kicking four goals."

Dylan Childs, Patrick Mitchell and Henry Smith kicked two goals each, with three other individual goal scorers to add to the strength up forward.

That effort continued in the backline, where some usual starters were missing due to Covid issues.

"Sam Giersch played centre half back and he was taking intercept marks everywhere," Edwards said.

"He was really solid but the whole back six held their own and tackled really well when the ball hit the ground."

Edwards described Childs as one of the best players in the league, who he said ran all day through the mid-field to help deliver the ball up forward.

His dominant performance was well complemented by Mitchell, along with Edwards himself.

Another notable performance came from youngster Isaac Mulraney, who came up from Colts this season.

"He went through the middle and had a breakout game," Edwards said.

"But we have a few other blokes and a good mix who run through there."

After the Round 1 loss, Edwards said there was plenty to work on.

Some of that came to fruition in Round 2 and Edwards said he was pleased to see the response from his players.

"The first game against Kalangadoo, they are a good side and will be good all year," he said.

"I was happy with our determination in the first game, we were winning the contest early but struggled to convert on the scoreboard."

"We probably ran out of experience and legs in the last half but we took a lot of positives out of that."

"It gave the boys a taste of where we need to be and we learnt a bit from them as well."

"The boys responded this week and I was really happy with that."

Pies display strong form

By Trevor Jackson

Kalangadoo 21.11 (137) d Kongorong 5.8 (38)
Kalangadoo continued its formidable form in 2022, with a big win over Kongorong in Round 2 of Mid South East football.

The Magpies demolished the Hawks to the tune of 100 points, despite a strong effort around the ground from Kongorong.

In the third term the Hawks took the game up to the visitors, pushing hard out of the backline to move the ball up the ground.

However, they found goals hard to come by, while the Magpies capitalised on the return of gun forward Michael Krieger.

In his first game since a late 2021 injury, Krieger banged on seven goals which, according to coach Kevin Stark, could well have been more.

"He probably spent half of the last quarter on the bench and had a rest in the third quarter, being his first game back," he said.

"He looks really good and honestly, I think if our ball use had been better it could have been 10 goals or more.

"His leading patterns were really good and he is a hard man to stop.

"A few times he had his man beaten and our delivery let him down more than anything."

However, Stark paid tribute to the Hawks who he said provided a real challenge, despite the final score.

"I thought Kongorong did pretty well, used the short kick and were willing to try to hold possession," he said.

"In the second half I think they got a bit more attacking and I thought they played really well."

Apart from Krieger's performance, in an ominous sign for the remainder of teams, Stark said while he was pleased with how his side played, there was still room for improvement.

He said there has been a focus on several options up forward, with the Magpies again proving hard to stop in attack.

"We have plenty of options going through the forward line, while the mid-fielders chip in and try to get their goal a game," Stark said.

"I think everyone is contributing well."

That was certainly the case on Saturday as Alex Lyon kicked four majors, while Patrick Davies, Lachy Jones, Tye McManus, Ben Mules all kicked two.

Depth is another area where the Magpies currently excel, which was evident on Saturday.

Several players were sidelined due to Covid protocols, which provided the chance for young players to step up.

Stark said he was pleased with how they took the game on.

"The pleasing part is we had three senior colts playing and I thought they did an unbelievable job," he said.

Alex Lyon takes a strong mark up forward during Kalangadoo's big win over Kongorong on Saturday.

"Jack O'Connor spent a lot of time down back and his run was amazing.

"A couple of runs he did through the middle of the ground were very aggressive.

"Young Jayk Norman came up for his first senior game and got a chance in the middle.

"He has a really good footy brain and a brilliant kick.

"Brad Male came in and got his chance in the ruck.

"He has a basketball background and his vertical leap is amazing.

"How those three played was probably a highlight for me.

"Our junior talent is really good and I think we are in a really good spot there."

Again, it has been an ominous start to the season for the Magpies and could continue to improve as the season pans out.

"The pleasing part is I don't think we are firing on all cylinders yet," Stark said.

"We haven't had a chance to get our full squad together - we had about five or six out on the weekend and everyone stepped up and did their job well against a Kongorong side I thought played pretty well.

"The young guys held their own in there against a good Kongorong mid-field.

"It was a good opportunity to give those young guys a chance, a sink or swim moment.

"They definitely swam."

Saints brought back to earth after strong season start

By Trevor Jackson

Hatherleigh 28.24 (192)
d Nangwarry 2.7 (19)

Hatherleigh continued its impressive start to the 2022 Mid South East football season with a huge win over Nangwarry.

The Saints were never in the contest, despite their own solid start to the season in Round 1, where they pushed Tantanoola to the final siren.

Against Hatherleigh they were out of their depth, as the Eagles hit their straps and began to pile on the goals.

Eagles coach Jake Dowdy said he approached the game expecting a good fight and by half time had only managed to kick nine goals.

However, they had managed to hold the Saints to just one major at that stage.

From there the Eagles began to find some run and began to open the margin substantially.

"Nangwarry were beating us to the footy and playing good football," Dowdy said.

"We didn't really start piling some goals on until after half time.

"We identified we needed to get better at winning the footy - we did that, got our running game going and opened up for our forward line a lot better."

In an impressive performance in front of goals, Jake Wight stood out in his first game with 11 major scores.

More impressive was how he went about his job.

"He did real well," Dowdy said.

"but he had one goal and three behinds at half time.

"He kicked 10 goals straight after half time and some of the shots he had were from some tough positions.

"He has a really good set shot."

As was the case in the opening round, Round 2 saw the Eagles with a wide spread of goalkickers.

Dowdy said it was something which was identified last season and appears to be coming to fruition.

"We identified last year we had a lot of inside 50s but didn't kick a lot of goals from that," he said.

"We have tried to shuffle around a bit and it has worked real well.

"We had three of our starting forwards out on the weekend so it is good other blokes can come in, step up and take that spot."

Dowdy identified a couple of other players who stood tall on the weekend.

"We had young Jett Faulkner play his first game," he said.

"He is not a big fellow but he attacked the ball really well.

"There were three or four efforts where he took on blokes quite big and didn't back off.

"Overall his attack on the footy was amazing.

"And Will Chay - two weeks in a row he has got plenty of it and is playing really good."

Overall Dowdy said he was pleased with how the Eagles' form is panning out after the opening two rounds.

"I think it is a good start, just what we wanted," he said.

"We have high expectations of ourselves as a group, we aim pretty high and I think we have delivered so far.

"Both games we probably started a bit slow and that is something to work on."

Tough pre-season games

By James Murphy

Millicent United men's and women's soccer players travelled to Mount Gambier on Sunday for the Limestone Coast Football Association's pre-season carnivals.

The men took to Casadio Park for a full day of soccer action, while the women's team set up at Malseed Park.

The women returned the best results for the club despite being short on numbers due to Covid and Limestone Coast Women's Football League finals.

Millicent United Soccer Club co-president Ian Lines said the women's team looked competitive and was impressed with their results.

"The girls lost two games, drew one and won one," he said.

"They did a really good job."

The win on the day came in the form of a 4-3 triumph over Naracoorte, while another even match-up resulted in a nil-all draw with Apollo.

For the men it was not meant to be on the day, as they were unable to post a win from their five games.

The closest margins were 2-0 losses to both

Blue Lake and eventual runner-up Gambier Centrals.

However, Lines said the team - himself included - were all the better for the run prior to the season's launch after Easter.

"It gave a lot of people a run to get some match fitness in them," he said.

He said the aim for the season will be to show improvement each week, while he hopes to see both the men and women have some competitive games in 2022.

Millicent take down Cats at Island Park

Renzi said he felt Millicent demonstrated a good control over the game at stages and while it was not the perfect performance, he was happy with the result.

"We want to play a certain style and brand of footy and I felt like we did that in patches, which was pleasing," he said.

After serving in the backline in Round 1, Bromley's role was reversed on Saturday and he led the Saints on the scoreboard with four majors in a performance which earned him second best for his team.

Tom Hutchesson backed his opening round efforts with another three goals and a mention in the best, while it was youngster Josh Werchon who received the best-on-ground honours for the day.

"He (Werchon) is just a really good decision maker with good foot skills and foot speed," Renzi said.

"He is able to break the lines and continues to run which is really important for us."

Millicent's youth featured strongly in the win, with the likes of Kalan Shanks, Kade Bradley and Noah Lang all performing well.

Despite their age, Renzi said they are now crucial parts of the roster and have become the foundation of the side.

"We can talk about youth, but now these blokes have played 40 or 50 games and won a flag," he said.

"We don't really see them as young boys anymore, we see them as our core group of footballers who are there to win us games as well."

The backline led by Zac McGuinness and Dylan Tincknell stood tall all day much to Renzi's satisfaction, while at the other end of the field another young-gun also impressed.

"I was also really pleased with Frazer Bradley across the forward line," Renzi said.

"I thought his repeat efforts were great."

For the Cats Billy Galpin was the stand-out, with his on-field directions a prominent part of his game again this week.

He led by example and found plenty of the ball, while also guiding his teammates with his voice.

Hamish McCrae backed up his Round 1 performance as well, while Mat Killey and Tom Foster also received a mention for their efforts.

The competition now heads into a bye for Easter, before resuming with a split Round 3 due to the North v South Anzac Day clash.

Millicent's next match will be played at home against West Gambier, while the Cats travel to East's McDonald Park.

Saints back in form with comfortable win

Millicent looked ominous in its first round outing against South Gambier and nothing changed on the weekend when the Saints' A Grade netballers easily accounted for Casterton Sandford at Island Park.

The young defensive unit of Ebany Jarrad and Caeleigh Humhpries never gave up as they looked to limit the opportunities for star shooting duo Tabatha Sanderson and Demi Verben. However, the weight of supply eventually became too much as Paige Nitschke hit the circle hard and fed the ball with precision time and time again as the Saints stormed out to an eventual 85-29 point win.

Nitschke and Verben swapped roles at the half but the scoring avalanche and precision feeding continued.

At the other end of the court Portia McRae and Hannah Nitschke made scoring difficult for the Casterton Sandford frontline.

Both sides were able to showcase some rising talent in the competition, with Ivy Lane entering the match for the Cats in the final quarter in her A Grade debut.

She finished the term with a perfect shooting performance.

For the Saints, Daisy Tunkin ran the centre and she showed she is more than comfortable at the top level, while Lauren Van Eeden made her A Grade debut for Millicent on the defensive wing.

Millicent also changed things up with Georgie Clarke moving out of wing defence to have a turn in the defensive circle.

Scarlett Jarrad continues to lead the way for the Cats and she will welcome back some of the more experienced campaigners later in the season.

Her influence on the young members of her team can only be positive as she shows great tenacity at both ends of the court.

Covid hits school

Skeer heads to Mac Park

By Trevor Jackson

McNamara Park will be a major focus for Furner motorcycle racer Dallas Skeer this weekend.

The Mount Gambier Motorcycle Club will host the Easter Cup weekend, with riders from around the country set to converge on the venue to chase the feature cup races up for grabs.

The weekend also includes the opening round of the South Australian Road Race titles, with Skeer set to compete in the Supersport 600cc category.

Originally Skeer was going to concentrate on the Australian Supersport titles in the Australian Superbike Series, plus a possible cameo at McNamara Park, but with a less-than-ideal start in the ASBK season, which included mechanical issues and accident damage in the opening two rounds, his focus has shifted slightly.

While he will still compete in the ASBK events, his chances of a podium finish are extremely remote.

However, with four rounds to run in the SA titles, his chances of victory in that series are far more positive.

His plans for this weekend revolve around a win in the main Easter Cup feature event, plus a new lap record.

While his 600cc machine is clearly smaller than the big 1000cc Superbikes, around McNamara Park it is quite nimble.

“I will do the Easter Cup feature race with the Superbikes and I hope to win that one,” Skeer said.

“Around Mac Park is like a club race really compared to the level I ride at, even though it is a state title.

“I can keep up to the Superbikes around there so I should be able to hopefully take it out.”

Skeer said the advantages around McNamara Park were not all about power.

“You can always have more power, but sometimes that is not necessarily quicker,” he said.

“There should be a couple of quick Superbikes there but my times are competitive against them.

“I don’t get to race against Superbikes anywhere else so it is good to be able to do it at Mac Park, a track I know, which also makes it a bit easier too to keep up with them.”

As for the lap record, Skeer has held it in his class since 2020, with a 1-minute, 10-second time.

Dallas Skeer will head to McNamara Park this weekend to contest the Easter Cup and Round 1 of the South Australian state series.

He hopes to change that this weekend.

“I want to get into the 1.09s,” Skeer said.

“My current record is 1.10 flat but I just can’t seem to find that extra to break into the 1.09s.

“Hopefully I can get out in front and bang out some laps, then we will put new tyres on for the feature race and go after it.”

While Skeer’s experience at the national level places him in a good position for success this weekend, he will certainly not have it all his own way.

Other riders such as Ted Collins, and former Australian champion, will compete on a Superbike to add to the challenge.

Other riders such as Tye Lynch and Declan Carbery will be tough to beat, with the latter also chasing the SA title in the Supersport category, providing plenty of competition for Skeer throughout the whole state series.

Skeer is set to return to the ASBK series in the next round at Wakefield Park Raceway near Goulburn on April 22-24.

With recent repairs completed after his recent incident in Round 2 of the series all-but complete, Skeer will have two bikes race ready when the series resumes.

With his main commitment focusing around the ASBK series, McNamara Park was simply going to be used for extra time in the seat.

However, now the chance of a state title is too much for the young racer to ignore.

“We were originally going to do the rounds at Mac Park and maybe one at Tailem Bend,” Skeer said.

“Now we are going to go for the state title because I am so far out of the points in the Australian championship.

“If I can win every race I can possibly get away with missing one round of the state titles and still win it overall, so if it does clash with ASBK we can miss a round.

“Of course our main focus is ASBK but I haven’t won the state titles in a few years, so it will be good to get another title under my belt.”

Players honoured at night-of-nights for women’s footy

The Limestone Coast Women’s Football League Under 16 competition came to a conclusion on the weekend, with Kongorong claiming the premiership honours.

The Hawks faced a tough South Gambier outfit but dominated the game to run out emphatic 44-point victors.

Best on ground for the grand final was Kongorong’s Kate Wright.

It was a fitting end to the inaugural Under 16 competition, which provided the younger players in the senior grade an opportunity to compete against others their own age.

Season presentations were held on Sunday night, with South’s Ella Guest awarded league best and fairest for the Under 16 competition.

Kongorong’s Evie Sealey and South’s Bailey Broome tied for runner-up honours, while Kongorong’s Tahlia von Stanke was leading goal kicker with eight majors.

The Seniors awards followed, with Penola’s Caroline McGrath named best and fairest with 13 votes, just one clear of runner-up, Casterton Sandford’s Scarlett Jarrad.

South’s Alice Tentye was named best Under 21 player, while best back went to Mundulla’s Kaylene Nuske.

Kybybolite’s Sophie Hentshcke led the goal kicking with 37 majors.

A Senior team of the competition was selected by three of the club coaches.

Early success on the road

By James Murphy

The long march to Island Park was worth it for the Millicent Saints on Saturday, as they claimed a 68-point win over Casterton Sandford in the second round of Western Border football.

Millicent entered the clash off a Round 1 loss to South Gambier, while the Cats had the confidence of a drought-breaking win in the season opener.

Intensity was high from the first bounce and it was the home team which hit the board first with a goal.

However, the Saints were able to fire back and an attack led by Dylan Bromley had them score five unanswered goals by quarter time.

Up by 27 points at the change, Millicent set up a lead it would hold for the rest of the afternoon.

A tighter second term ensued, with three goals from either end but the Saints had every opportunity to do more damage.

They scored 3.9 for the quarter, while a second-half return of 7.12 left the team with plenty to think about despite the convincing win.

Coach Clint Gallio was unavailable on the day and as such Tom Renzi filled the coaching role for the clash.

Millicent talent Josh Werchon goes toe-to-toe with Casterton Sandford's Matt Killey during his best-on-ground performance for the Saints.
