Quarry queries

To avoid compulsory acquisition or use other legislative powers, the Wattle Range Council paid at least $400,000 above what it believed was market value for a quarry according to details released from a confidential meeting held last year.

The details, released by council this month, show that council recently purchased 'Burcharde's quarry', near Tantanoola, for $1.3m following negotiations with the owners which began in June last year.

The quarry has been used by council for decades to source material for the construction and maintenance of council roads and council has paid a fee to the owners of the land through a licensing agreement.

According to the information released, in June last year council initially made an offer of $1m based on an outsourced formal valuation which placed the market value between $560,000 and $900,000.

This offer was rejected by the owners.

The council report said: "At the June meeting the owners were given a verbal offer of $1m for the quarry, which they [the owners] rejected.

"That offer was subsequently increased to $1.2m which was also rejected."

The report said the owners indicated that they believed the quarry was worth closer to $1.5m and that they would be putting it on the open market.

Council then submitted a formal offer of $1.2m.

That offer was verbally rejected by the real estate agent representing the owners of the quarry.

In July, councillors were informed of the rejected offer and advised: "given the substantial difference in council's valuation and the asking price for the quarry, advice was then sought from council's lawyers to determine whether there were other ways available to council to secure long-term access to the limestone at the quarry."

The report said that council could continue to negotiate with the owners to acquire the quarry on normal commercial terms, it could compulsorily acquire the quarry at market value plus compensation costs, exercise council's rights under the Local Government Act to enter and extract limestone from the quarry regardless of who owns the land, or use its rights under the Mining Act to enter and continue to extract limestone from the quarry regardless of who owns the land.

All options were discussed with the owners and their lawyer, according to council.

Following the meeting, the owners reconfirmed their sale price of $1.5m and asked that this be put back to council.

A follow up meeting was held with the owners, their lawyer and their real estate agent, in August last year to discuss the drafting of a proposed new quarry agreement and the owners were advised that council did not want to pursue a new quarry agreement and that council's preference was to roll over the previous agreement under the automatic extension clauses contained within it.

Horses form unique guard

By Caroline Hammat

In a first for Millicent, Naracoorte's Troop of the 3rd Light Horse Regiment joined the Anzac Day march and formed a catafalque party at the Cross of Sacrifice.

For the horses and their riders it was also a unique experience as they had never performed as a catafalque party before.

Tim Goodes, one of the four riders, said: "It's a possibility that it's a first in Australia but we can't be sure of that."

ED closed

Due to three positive Covid-19 cases in Penola's co-located aged care facility at Penola War Memorial Hospital, the emergency department (ED) was temporarily closed from last Tuesday.

A spokesperson for SA Health said the situation would be regularly reviewed with a view to re-opening the ED as soon as possible.

The spokesperson said patients requiring emergency care would be diverted to their nearest hospital, either Naracoorte, Millicent, Bordertown or Mount Gambier.

"As always, the health and safety of our patients, staff and aged care residents is our number one priority and we continue to provide care to our aged care residents as we support residents who have tested positive to Covid-19," the spokesperson said.

Visitors to the aged care facility will be limited to one nominated visitor, who will be required to wear full personal protective equipment during visits.

LETTERS TO EDITOR

As a now annual visitor to the Penola area for vintage, can I first say how pleasing it was to find The Pennant once again on sale. I think losing the paper would have made many recall the song line "you don't know what you've got till it's gone".

Well done on providing local news and views, and also keeping an eye on those who have stewardship over civic decisions and finances.

While it may at times be uncomfortable, it is vital that the press shine a light into dark corners for all to see.

On a happier note - congratulations to all who took part in the Anzac Service in Penola on Monday. A good mix of fine bag-piping, bugling, speeches and singing from the choir. I am sure those who have served looked on, or down, with approval.

Labor picks Braes

By Charlotte Varcoe

Former Wattle Range Council mayor Mark Braes will be contesting the Federal election as the Labor candidate for the seat of Barker.

Following an unsuccessful tilt at the State seat of MacKillop in March, Mr Braes said he was eager to give the Federal election his best shot.

The Millicent mediator is one of nine candidates for the seat of Barker, six of whom hail from the Limestone Coast.

Speaking with The South Eastern Times, Mr Braes said he was taken aback as to how many candidates had put their hand up for the region leading up to the election.

"I didn't have a specific expectation on how many would run," Mr Braes said.

"It is good that people are putting themselves forward and it is good for society that people are willing to step forward and express their views no matter what they are, so long as they are in a respectful manner."

He said it was important people were willing to run for the seat despite campaigning being difficult at times.

Running fresh from the State election, Mr Braes said it was rewarding to give it his all but was also very tiring.

"It is a big commitment to run," he said.

"I am looking to tour the Barker electorate and was recently in the Riverland but am looking to travel to Murray Bridge and the Barossa Valley as well as other regions."

Speaking on his chances of winning the election, Mr Braes said it was not front of mind for him at the moment as he would focus on running his campaign.

"I take the view that if I believe in something then I am happy to take the risk and put myself forward," he said.

"I am all about participating and in a national election the front of mind issues are similar in all areas and all we can do as candidates is inform ourselves about the issues

Decision making in local government

The democratic model of representatives in local government has a framework of regular, free, and competitive elections.

Community members make known their needs and priorities.

This is formulated with transparent strategic and financial future planning and in our case has a foundation of community input and planning of each community's priorities.

Furthermore, it must be understood that many decisions are made solely by elected members of Council after being provided with and briefed about information that communities may not have access to.

Within all Local Government entities councillors are elected to formulate strategies, make key decisions, and prioritise expenditure choices through sound economic decisions and formal policy and budgetary processes.

It is within this area that elected members who are the decision makers for the community will democratically vote on decisions.

Making strong, decisive business decisions based on a strong foundation of knowledge is essential.

All local Government entities must ensure they deliver strong and informed decision making.

Procrastination, avoiding decisions, and emotional decisions breaks down the relationship between council members and the community.

In today's world, communities demand strong decision making and clear community direction.

Once decisions have been made by the elected members within the council chamber, they will direct the chief executive officer to implement the decisions made.

It must be clearly understood that the chief executive officer and his team do not decide what projects and allocation of funding will be decided upon; recommendations and information is provided to the elected members for their decisions.

The chief executive officer will decide how it will be executed once he has the direction from the elected members.

If for some reason a project cannot be executed, he will take it back to the elected members.

As elected members we clearly understand this process and do not influence the delivery of the project, unless requested to do so.

Many projects are complex and require large amounts of research, have design complexities and legal requirements that are beyond the expertise of many elected members.

We all must recognise and understand the separation of responsibilities between elected members and Council staff employed by the chief executive officer.

McBride Shadow Secretary

Member for MacKillop Nick McBride has been given the position of Shadow Parliamentary Secretary for Regional Engagement.

"I am hoping my position is able to give [the Liberal Party room] my strong understanding of what regions need," Mr McBride said.

"The fact I am more connected to the regions after the election allows me to be a strong advocate and give good, strong direction for the regions."

Mr McBride said since he was appointed to the position he had received congratulations from members of the community.

"The Liberal Party likes to do our best and I will just keep on doing what I can do in the meantime," he said.

"I do work the regions well, particularly in the MacKillop electorate and understand the issues and concerns."

Mr McBride said he would continue to advocate for better hospital and health services, roads and infrastructure.

Political position: Member for MacKillop Nick McBride has secured the position of the Shadow Parliamentary Secretary for Regional Development.

"We also need to make sure education infrastructure is up to speed and the regional population is good with housing to support it," he said.

The first sitting of the new State Parliament will begin on Tuesday.

Progress on Tant building

The Tantanoola Progress Association (TPA) has been successful in securing more than $13,000 in grants to begin the restoration and upgrade of the State heritage listed Tantanoola Railway buildings.

Receiving a grant of $11,176 under Round 7 of the Government's Stronger Communities Program, and $1,990 from a Wattle Range Council community financial assistance grant, the funds will be used to help preserve the railway history of the town.

Chairperson of the Tantanoola Progress Association Sue Lines said: "Stage one of the project is the station as it's a bit easier than tackling the goods shed which will need scaffolding for roof repairs.

"The station itself needs painting but also has broken windows; there are issues with birds and some of the weatherboards will need replacing as do the doors, but we have been told they were removed several years ago so they didn't get stolen or damaged further.

"We are not actually sure where they are (the doors), I don't think it will take long for them to surface once we put the call out for them."

According to the SA Heritage Places database the Tantanoola Railway Station is one of the oldest remaining railway buildings in the South East.

The station and corrugated iron barrel-vaulted goods shed were built in 1880 and became unattended 100 years later in May 1980.

"After the station is repaired we will move on to the goods shed.

"The quotes at the moment are about $80,000 for both buildings but we think that will continue to grow, as you're dealing with old buildings.

"The railway station is the central part (of town) and the topic of conversation with local; hopefully it will create some enthusiasm and movement in the town, with our next progress association meeting on the 2nd of May open to anyone to attend."

Federal Member for Barker Tony Pasin said in a statement: "Community organisations are so important to the fabric of regional communities.

"The Stronger Communities Program is about strengthening those local organisations to ensure they remain vibrant and sustainable into the future.

"Community groups, like the Tantanoola Progress Association, contribute so much to our local community, making them better places to live, work and raise a family."

Mr Pasin added that applications through the Government's Stronger Communities Program are aimed at funding projects that deliver social and economic benefits to local communities.

Mayor responds to sale of service station to lower bid

Wattle Range Council mayor Des Noll said he was pleased the service station on Adelaide Road has been sold but personally has concerns about the lack of competition in the fuel market in Millicent following the sale.

Mr Noll said he was not required to vote on council's decision in relation to the service station, nor another in relation to the recent purchase by council of Burchard's Quarry, as the mayor only has a casting vote.

"A mayoral casting vote will only occur in the event of an equality of votes on the question for a decision," Mr Noll said.

"In both these decisions a casting vote was not required.

"As with all decisions of council that are made in the council chamber by the councillors they have my support as a collective council.

"My personal view is, I am of the belief that it is not in the best interests of our rate payers to be owning private businesses such as a service station, nor is it council's core business so I was pleased that a successful sale was forthcoming.

"The sale of the service station had the potential to deliver strong marketing competition in the local petroleum industry for local petrol consumers."

Last week the South Eastern Times reported three companies expressed an interest in purchasing the service station and council decided to sell it to the lower bidder for $1.1m against council officer advice.

Mr Noll said is was recommended that council accept the higher offer of $1.3m and that it was "disappointingly not accepted by council".

"As a council we must ensure we deliver the highest level of business management, for the greatest outcome for rate payers whom we represent," Mr Noll said.

Iconic bagpiper passes

Well known as an expert bagpipe player, Penola resident and district icon Jim Childs died last week at the age of 94.

His funeral will be held at Penola's Presbyterian Church tomorrow where the unmistakable sounds of bagpipes will be heard among the send off tributes for Mr Childs.

At Penola's Anzac Day ceremony on Monday, and at the Kalangadoo Remembers event the previous day, Doug Balnaves and Neil McLean played Mr Childs' favourite tune 'Hector the Hero' in tribute to their colleague who would normally be playing alongside them.

Bagpipes have been a part of the Penola ceremony for 72 years, and almost every one of those years included Mr Childs as one of the musicians mastering the Scottish instrument, making his colleagues' tribute particularly fitting and poignant in his absence.

He had also played the bagpipes at the Kalangadoo Anzac event for more than a decade.

A stalwart of the South East bagpipe community, Mr Childs was a foundation and oldest member of the Penola and District Caledonian Pipe Band which was formed in 1950.

Mr Childs had played at every Penola Anzac Day for almost 70 years and only stopped, at the age of 90, after sustaining broken ribs in a fall.

The late Jim Childs, as he was often seen, playing his beloved bagpipes.

Rock and hard place

According to council, the current agreement contains first preference rights to buy the site should the owners decide to sell which had been struck out of the new draft agreement.

"In conjunction with several other clauses, this was seen to be a strategically important clause for council to retain," according to the report.

A "robust" discussion then ensued.

The asking price of $1.5m was then re-confirmed by the owner's real estate agent based on its independent valuation.

Council disputed the valuation claiming it was "flawed".

This value was challenged given a neighbouring parcel of land recently sold for less per acre than council's previous offer of $1.2m for the 120-acre property.

The report said: "the owners were then advised that council did not have to acquire the land to continue to extract material from the site, that we had a clearly established precedence for extracting material for decades and that they would need to declare to any other potential buyer that council had ongoing rights under the Local Government Act should the property be sold".

The report advised councillors that the owners were advised that it did not make sense for council to buy both the land and the material that sat below it, which they do not own, at a combined price of $1.5m when the significantly cheaper option was to continue to extract it under the current arrangements.

The report said that, at the conclusion of the meeting, the owner's lawyer requested that council formally consider a counter offer of $1.3m for the purchase of the land which is valid until the close of business, September 3.

"If council does not accept the counter offer by this date, the property will be listed for sale by open tender and negotiations would commence on the preparation of a new quarry agreement," according to the report.

On August 31, councillors voted to pay $1.3m for the property at a special confidential meeting.

This was accepted by the owners.

Mayor Des Noll told The South Eastern Times this week that the Tantanoola quarry purchase was based on a sound business case and will provide the council with some of the best quality road building material within the Limestone Coast.

"A life span of some 30 years, and a strong financial return at the end of life," Mr Noll said.

"The quarry resource purchase will save council a significant amount of money over the duration of its operational life."

The South Eastern Times makes no suggestion of any wrong doing by the vendors of the property.

Emergency services kept the Princes Highway blocked after two trucks collided last Thursday.

Truck crash near town

Last Thursday afternoon, police and emergency services responded to a crash involving a light truck and B-double on the Princes Highway near Hatherleigh.

The light truck, with driver and passenger, ended up on its side and the B-double, with driver, rolled onto its roof.

There were no serious injuries but the three people involved were taken to Millicent hospital for treatment.

The Princes Highway was blocked in both directions for several hours with traffic being diverted.

Police continue to investigate the crash and would like to speak with anyone who saw the southbound light truck or northbound B-double prior to the crash.

Anyone with information is urged to call 131 444.

Tourism officer at Millicent Visitor Information Centre, Lucy Chant, with one of the museum's side saddles and the new how to ride banner ordered for the Women on Horseback exhibition which opens this weekend at the Millicent Museum.

Horseback tales

By Caroline Hammat

Telling the stories of women's perseverance and strength is central to the latest exhibition in Millicent opening this weekend.

Women on Horseback, curated by members of the Millicent National Trust Museum, is an exhibition that draws largely from the museum's existing collection.

A casual chat last year between Millicent National Trust Museum Secretary Chris Parmenter and Adelaide based horse drawn vehicle restorer Peter Foster raised the issue of how male directed some of the museum displays can seem.

This led to discussion about how to promote women's roles in regional and rural South Australia and the idea of the Women on Horseback display was born.

Mr Parmenter explained: "When women first came to South Australia they came with husbands but then they left for the gold rush, some came back then left again for the Crimean War, the Boer War and both World Wars.

"These women who often had no idea (of horsemanship) then had to learn to ride astride."

The exhibition will be held in the David Harris room at the Millicent Visitor Information Centre (MVIC) and is a snapshot of the Land Army, Daisy Bates (an Aboriginal welfare worker, anthropologist and author) and side-saddle use.

"Daisy Bates wrote a chapter in her book 'The passing of the Aborigines' about droving a herd of cattle through the outback while riding side saddle and what it was like being a woman on a horse during that time," Mr Parmenter said.

"Side saddle use comes with a unique set of circumstances; as it's difficult to mount the horse without assistance this led to women crocheting a band from the wrist to their crop, because if you dropped it you couldn't get off the horse to pick it up."

Mr Parmenter explained how the Women's Land Army involved unskilled women from Adelaide being sent to farms where they learned to milk cows, handle stock and how to look after and ride horses while men were away during the Second World War.

"We sent huge amounts of horses overseas for the war and of course the women were the ones who had to train them and break them before they were sent to the front lines," said Mr Parmenter.

The Millicent Museum secured $2,649 in funding as part of the Federal Government's Culture, Heritage and Arts Regional Tourism (CHART) grants program and a Wattle Range Council Community Financial Assistance Grant of $2,000 to assist with the exhibition.

Funds have been used to purchase new mannequins, secure display cubes and information banners all of which are able to be used again in the museum.

"In particular the mannequins are perfect for our costume collection as the clothes fit, modern mannequins are usually too broad across the shoulders (for some of the clothing items) so for the first time we will be able to use the mannequins to display some vintage 1920's and 1930's costumes."

MVIC tourism officer, Lucy Chant previewed of one of the new banners and is looking forward to finding out more about women on horseback adding: "I'm not sure how I would manage riding side-saddle, it looks a little difficult."

Mayoral letter to be opened

A letter from the past will be opened next week in Millicent.

A time capsule constructed and filled for Millicent's 125th celebrations was opened for the town's 150th and found to have preserved the contents perfectly.

Among the items was a letter written by the Mayor at the time, Jim Van Schaik, to the current mayor.

This envelope will be opened at 10.30am next Tuesday at the library by Mayor Des Noll in the presence of the late Jim Van Schaik's wife Mary.

The time capsule is due to be resealed at the end of May and opened again in 2045.

Entries to be included in the time capsule need to be delivered to the Millicent Library by May 13.

A town going batty

By Kathy Fennell

A colony of fruit bats have moved into Penola and settled into Arthur Street near St Mary's Anglican Church.

Although their name indicates that they are fruit eaters, the species also eat nectar, pollen, leaves and sap.

Residents have said they have never seen the bats in Penola before.

Three weeks ago vehicle owners could not work out what the lumps of brown material were on their car bonnets and roofs.

St Mary's Anglican Church priest, Father Lyndon Sulzberger said: "They make a disgusting mess and their droppings are extremely hard to clean off my car."

"I leave my car outside close to the tree and sometimes it is covered from top to bottom."

"It won't come off in a carwash so you have to physically scrub it off."

The bats only come out at night and are noisy when they gather.

Another resident, Jill Fiebiger, who often parks her vehicle in Arthur Street, also has the same problem with the bats.

"You just about need a razor blade to scrape the droppings of the car and its sets like cement once it dries out," she said.

"I am led to believe that they wont go away until all the fruit and nuts in the trees have been eaten."

"They have been here a few weeks now and there is still quite a bit of fruit on the trees, so who knows how long it will be until they disappear," she said.

According to SA Health, bats pose a serious danger to human health.

"Australian bat lyssavirus is a rabies like virus transmitted from bats to humans and infection with the virus is invariably fatal," according to SA Health.

"There have been three cases in Australia

Penola residents Jill Fiebiger and Father Lyndon Sulzberger with some of the droppings and mess left by the bats.

since 1996, all of which were fatal - the last case occurred in Queensland in 2013."

The virus is spread commonly through a bite or scratch, but also through exposure to bat saliva through the eyes, nose or mouth.

If treatment is delayed until after the onset of the symptoms, there is no known cure and the condition is fatal.

SA Health advises that if scratched, bitten or come into contact with bat saliva clean the area with soap and water for at least five minutes, apply antiseptic such as povidone-iodine and contact a doctor or hospital emergency department.

Film maker at festival

The Penola Coonawarra Arts Festival this year will include a film producer and screen writer to the popular Literary Brunch to speak about their work.

To be held on Sunday, May 14 at Coonawarra's newly renovated Otte- lia restaurant and cellar door, producer Nick Batzias, with director and screen- writer Justin Kurzel, will explore their award-winning Australian film Nitram (Martin spelt backwards).

The controversial film tells the story of notorious convicted murderer Martin Bryant in the lead up to the Port Arthur massacre in Tasmania in 1996.

Nick and Justin will be accompanied by their friend, author Jock Serong - a previous Literary Brunch guest and Festival supporter - to talk about his latest book 'The Burning Island'.

Brunch and two complimentary drinks are included in the ticket price.

The Penola Coonawarra Arts Festival will be held over the weekend of May 12 to 15.

Call for life saving help

The SA Ambulance Service (SAAS) volunteer team at Penola is looking for new members.

As part of a new community recruitment drive, volunteers across Penola have been speaking about the benefits of becoming a SAAS volunteer which they say is easier than you think and provides the opportunity to make a difference in the region while gaining life-long skills that can be used in everyday life.

For the past 18 years Mandy Gartner has volunteered with the Penola station.

Outside of volunteering Mandy works as a Health Support Officer and lives on a farm which runs sheep and has some vineyards.

Mandy said she values the Penola community and after living there her entire life, wanted to give back to the community that had provided her a great place to grow up in.

“I have had many positive experiences with SAAS but none better than when you provide a patient with the treatment and care they require so they get the best outcome for their situation,” she said.

“To give a patient the reassurance they need, and they then turn to you and smile, is what makes this job very much worth it.”

Whether you work full-time, are a student or retired, volunteering with SAAS can help broaden skill sets, meet like-minded community members and make new friends.

“Through volunteering in Penola I have met new people and developed many friendships, both within the team and out in the community,” Mandy said.

“You gain a new family when volunteering, it’s called the ‘Green family’ and there is so much respect for one another.”

With flexible rosters that can work around your lifestyle, you don’t always need to be at the ambulance station when on-call.

Mandy tells us that most of her shifts are at night to accommodate her schedule.

“The great thing about volunteering is that you can do it around your normal job and just be on shift when you’re available.

“When I am on shift I am generally at home so I just wait for my pager to alert me and then I drive to the station to respond to the call out, it works really easily.”

SAAS will provide the necessary training totally free of charge, and at the end of your training you’ll not only walk away with a nationally accredited qualification, but further develop other skills.

“Through volunteering I have not only learnt essential lifesaving skills, I have stepped out of my comfort zone, dealt with conflict resolution and developed critical thinking and interpersonal skills,” Mandy said.

There’s no better time to answer the call and take control in an emergency, to help save the lives of others.

Call Regional Team Leader, Velicea Doman on 0419 037 602 or the Volunteer Support Unit on 1300 175 584 (Monday to Friday, 8.30am to 4.30pm).

Or apply through the SAAS website: www.saasvolunteer.sa.gov.au or email SAASvolunteer@sa.gov.au

A Co-Opera's premiere one act performance

A Co-Opera premiere performance of the one act comic opera 'Gianni Schicchi' by Giacomo Puccini will be held on May 12 at the Rymill Hall as part of the Penola Coonawarra Arts Festival. Gianni Schicchi was composed in 1917-18 and is a libretto based on an incident mentioned in Dante's Divine Comedy.

Gianni Schicchi is the third and final part of Puccini's Il trittico and includes the well-loved aria 'O mio babbino caro'.

This one act opera will be supported by some opera favourites for a full night of entertainment.

Formed in 1990, Co-Opera is Australia's oldest regional touring opera company and has brought opera to every Penola Coonawarra Arts Festival since 1994.

This project was made possible by the Australian Government's Regional Arts Fund which supports the arts in regional and remote Australia.

The Co-opera is one of more than 50 events being held during the Penola Coonawarra Arts Festival from May 12 to 15.

More information can be found at www.artsfestival.com.au

As part of the Penola Coonawarra Arts Festival, co-opera will return to the Rymill Hall on May 12. This photo by Benedetta Rusconi was taken at the 2021 Co-opera.

Tribute among the gums

While the orange hue of sunrise spread across the sky last Sunday, the dawn of a beautiful spring day was heralded not only by the song of kookaburras and magpies echoing across the Kalangadoo landscape, bejewelled with majestic red gums, but also by the unmistakable sounds of bagpipes and bugle for the Kalangadoo Remembers event.

Always held on the Sunday before Anzac Day, Kalangadoo Remembers is the district's Anzac event and this year attracted a gathering of about 80 people.

They were led on a march along the path to the Kalangadoo Cemetery, where the ceremony is held, by bagpipers Neil McLean and Doug Balnaves whom later played the tune 'Hector the Hero' in tribute to their colleague Jim Childs who had led the march for more than a decade, and passed away last week at the age of 94.

During the event, Master of Ceremonies, retired Royal Australia Air Force Flight Sergeant Peter Burford delivered a speech about Second World War nurse, Vivian Bullwinkel who, 80 years ago, was the only survivor of a massacre at the hands of Japanese soldiers on Banka Island, off Sumatra.

With the Japanese advancing on Singapore, Vivian was one of 65 Australian nurses evacuated aboard the SS Vyner Brooke only to have the ship sunk by Japanese aircraft and 22 nurses made it ashore on Banka Island where they were joined by about 100 British soldiers.

Captured by Japanese soldiers, the men and women were split up and each group was massacred with the nurses told to wade into the sea where they were machine-gunned from behind.

Although struck by a bullet, Vivian was not fatally wounded and pretended to be dead in the water until the Japanese were gone.

She and a wounded British soldier, who had also survived the massacre, hid for 12 days until Vivian surrendered to the Japanese with the hope this move would save the soldier's life.

However, he died soon after they were taken into captivity where Vivian remained for three and half years.

At Kalangadoo Remembers, Mr Burford also spoke about the year being the 80th anniversary of the formation of the Australian Women's Land Army (AWLA).

Mr Burford said the AWLA involved about 3000 ladies from the age of 16 working throughout Australia in jobs that were normally undertaken by the men who had gone to fight in the Second World War.

"They did a magnificent job," Mr Burford said.

Bagpipers Doug Balnaves and Neil McLean led the crowd of about 80 people for the Kalangadoo Remembers event at the Kalangadoo cemetery last Sunday.

By working on farms, the AWLA ensured that food supplies were maintained, not only for Australia and its troops but also for British forces.

"It is said that they 'kept the Poms in action'," Mr Burford said. Federal Member for Barker, Tony Pasin spoke at Kalangadoo Remembers in an impromptu moment moved to do so by Mr Burford's speech about nurse Bullwinkel.

Mr Pasin said nurse Bullwinkel had been born in the Barker electorate at Kapunda and he paid tribute to her bravery.

"She spent 12 or 14 days hiding after the massacre and despite what she had been through convinced the wounded soldier she was with to surrender," said Mr Pasin.

"She decided that the life of that individual was worth risking her life again.

"For the next three years while in captivity she hid an important piece of evidence, being her nurses uniform with the bullet holes in it, because her captors did not realise she had been a Banka Massacre survivor.

"That uniform led to convictions later ... it is on display in the Australian War Memorial."

Mr Pasin also said it should be noted that at the same time Australia recognises Anzac Day, Australia was playing a part in the Ukraine/Russian conflict.

"Australian Bushmaster vehicles are traversing Ukraine at the moment," he said, "let's hope this madness in Europe ends quickly."

Son's tribute for a father

When Michael Fitzpatrick placed a wreath on the steps of Penola's Soldiers Memorial during the town's Anzac Day ceremony this week, a sigh of remembrance was heard in the crowd for the father he was paying tribute to who passed away 12 months ago this week at the age of 98.

A resident of the Penola district, John (Jack) Fitzpatrick had served in the Royal Air Force during the Second World War as an engineer in England with 88 Squadron supporting flying missions over Europe.

After D Day, with the German Luftwaffe forces largely defeated, the squadron moved to France and with 2nd Tactical Air Force, Jack was part of the support crews for the flying forces which assisted the Allied armies in pushing the Germans out of France.

"He kept the aircraft in the air," a proud Michael said.

After the war, Jack was a merchant mariner and travelled to many countries around the world and had particularly liked Australia and Rhodesia.

"When my parents decided to emigrate, Dad flipped a coin as to where they were going to live - Australia won," said Michael.

"They became 10 Pound Poms," referring to the slang term for the program that encouraged skilled migration to Australia with the government paying the 10 pound migration processing fee.

Arriving in Australia in 1960, Jack worked as an engineer at the Port Augusta power station, and later for Chrysler at Tonsley Park.

The Fitzpatricks came to Penola in 1973 when Jack purchased a small farm in the area.

Jack spent the final years of his life in the care of staff at Pinchunga hostel, then Jarvis ward of the Penola War Memorial Hospital.

Michael said the level of care given to his father "went above and beyond the call of duty".

John 'Jack' Fitzpatrick: December 28, 1922 - April 27, 2021. Picture: SUPPLIED

On Anzac Day, Michael proudly wore Jack's war medals.

But they were not the only medals on Michael's chest as his family war service history goes back to his grand father (also John Fitzpatrick) who, at the age of 15, served with the English navy and was part of an allied force sent to quell the Chinese Boxer Rebellion in 1900.

When the First World War broke out, John served in the Royal Navy aboard the HMS Marksman and survived one of the largest naval battles in history being the Battle of Jutland in which 14 British and 11 German ships were sunk with almost 10,000 casualties.

After the war, John went to sea as a merchant mariner and was declared missing when the Second World War broke out as he was in a foreign port at the time but he found his way back to safety in England.

Michael's military history also includes his grandfather on his mother's side, George Hilton Shaw, who served in the British artillery and survived the bloody World War One battlefields of the Somme on the Western Front in France and Belgium.

Blue retires from duty

Retired blue heeler Sergeant Ridgeleigh Blue the Third cut a striking figure as he marched with owner Priscilla Treloar in Millicent's Anzac Day march.

Priscilla wore her grandfather's military badges, honouring Maxwell Baker who served in the 2/7th during the Second World War and 'Blue' wore his official service uniform. 'Blue' spent nine years with the Australian Defence Force as an Army mascot for the 6th Battalion Royal Australian Regiment (6RAR) until his official retirement in November 2019.

Ms Treloar applied to care for 'Blue' in his retirement and he has been a member of her family since December 2019.

"He was a bit of a grumpy old sergeant when he first came to stay but he has since softened, he loves the beach, has a weakness for soft toys and now sleeps with the cats," Ms Treloar said.

However, some habits die hard and 'Blue' still patrols the property every morning and is always alert for unusual sounds. Ms Treloar said she makes sure members of Blue's regiment are kept updated on his retirement antics through his own Instagram page.

'Kalangadoo has that real community feel'

By Kathy Gandolfi

Susan Hickey moved from the south coast of New South Wales in search of a quieter, more community based environment - she discovered Kalangadoo.

In February she became a resident of the small town and has immersed herself into the community so quickly that she was one of its main speakers at Kalangadoo's annual Anzac ceremony on Sunday.

Addressing a crowd of about 80 locals, she spoke well and confidently on the subject of the bombing of Darwin which occurred 80 years ago on February 19, 1942, being the first attack on the Australian mainland.

Her confidence was well founded having been a resident of Darwin, serving in the Army Reserve, for 19 years from 1979 to 1998, and having a family history of service.

She proudly wore her own two service medals and those of her great grandfather, Warrant Officer Robert Edwin Hurst, who was gassed while serving on the Western Front with the British Army's Kings Royal Rifle Corps in the First World War.

While he survived the war, he was discharged in 1917 due to his injuries and died not long after his return home from the effects of being gassed.

Susan's father also served in the British Army, just missing out on the Second World War due to being too young, but serving in Egypt with the Military Police from 1946 to 1948 before emigrating to Australia.

Born and university educated in Wollongong, New South Wales, Ms Hickey moved in 1979 to work as a geologist with the Northern Territory Geological Survey which undertook geological surveys and mapping used for mineral exploration.

While in Darwin she enlisted with the Army Reserve and served with the North West Mobile Force (NORFORCE) and 7th Intelligence Company.

Due to her mix of science and military background, Susan transferred to the Regular Army to assist in the development of an Environmental Impact Statement and subsequent Management Plans for the Bradshaw Station, near Timber Creek, which the Federal Government had purchased as a manoeuvre and field firing training area for 1 Brigade.

She went on to serve 28 years with the Australian Army - 20 years with the Army Reserve and eight in the Regular Army - rising to the level of Major and earning a Prince of Wales Award and Chief of Army Commendation.

Susan fitted in nicely to the Kalangadoo Remembers service on Sunday, telling those in attendance about the 250 Australian and allied service personnel, merchant mariners and civilians who were killed on February 19, 1942, when 240 Japanese aircraft bombed the northern city; a precursors to many other raids conducted for almost two years across northern Australia.

After the ceremony, Wattle Range Mayor Des Noll and others came to speak with her and welcome her as a new resident.

Susan told them she had wanted to retire away from the crowds where she could indulge in her favourite pastime of gardening and that her research had led her to the Limestone Coast where she purchased her Kalangadoo house after seeing it online.

"Kalangadoo has that real community feel," she said, "I like to get involved and I am happy to be a part of it."

Anzac Day crowds return

By Caroline Hammat

For the first time since 2019 a full Anzac Day service involving the public was held at Millicent's Cross of Sacrifice with about 300 people gathering for the Dawn Service.

The crowd listened in silence as prayers were offered by Chaplain Paul Hales and President of the Millicent Returned and Services League (RSL) sub-branch Chris Mathias reminded the gathering of current conflicts facing many armed forces around the world.

Mr Mathias urged the gathering not to judge those who had served under difficult conditions.

"War is violent and unforgiving with the human soul stretched to unbearable limits and today we must strive to understand what our service men and women have been through, how they have suffered and the help they need from all of us to cope with the trauma they have faced," Mr Mathias said.

"It is a time for reflection, a time for memories, a time for emotions, a time to give thanks for what we have achieved.

"Remember those who have served you and given their lives for you."

The service included members of Mount Gambier's 48 Army Cadet Unit forming the catafalque party and ended with the Australian and New Zealand national anthems before the public were invited to the RSL Hall for a gunfire breakfast.

The mid morning service had a slightly smaller crowd than the Dawn Service with the march leaving from The George Hotel at 10.45am led by returned servicemen.

Following were members of Naracoorte's Troop of the 3rd Light Horse Regiment (Australian Light Horse Association) and veterans in three vintage cars.

Next of kin joined the march wearing the medals of those they remember.

Member for MacKillop, Nick McBride and Wattle Range Mayor Des Noll joined the mid morning service at the Cross of Sacrifice.

In a first for Millicent, the Light Horse Regiment formed a catafalque at the base of the monument and were welcomed by Mr Mathias and Light Horse regiments of previous wars were acknowledged and remembered.

Beachport paying tribute

By Elsie Adamo

Beachport's Anzac Day service was well attended with more than 150 members of the community braving the cold to pay their respects.

The Dawn Service at the foreshore memorial included songs, bagpipes, a reading by students from Beachport Primary School, the laying of wreaths for the fallen, and finally a flyover from a Tiger Moth biplane.

Master of ceremonies for the event, Paul Benson said it was good the event was able to go ahead publicly, after the Covid-19 pandemic affected the ceremonies in 2020 and 2021.

"It went well, I am happy there was a really good turnout," Mr Benson said.

"Everyone has said they enjoyed the service."

Many people in attendance wore service medals of family members.

Wreaths were laid by Ben Treloar on behalf of MP Nick McBride, Sharon Cox, SA Police Sergeant Robert Swift, Marg Grieves, Di Roach, and representatives from the South Australian Ambulance Service, Country Fire Service, Beachport Surf Lifesaving Club and Beachport Lions club.

Master of ceremonies for the event Paul Benson said he was happy the service was well attended by the community.

Jeff and Shaya Borkent rugged up to brace the cold early morning.

Beachport Veteran Bob Wakelin paid his respects.

Janet Bellinger started off the service by playing the bagpipes.

Garry Smith poured some port to keep the community warm following the service.

Those in attendance stand for the flag ceremony.

Margie Bowman said she was happy the event was back on after a two-year break due to the pandemic.

Pam Hales and Glenys Boyanton had a catch-up after the Anzac Day Lions Club breakfast.

Kath, Jenny and Terry Bishop said they enjoyed the service.

Roger Smith was manning the Lions Club barbecue to feed the community after the service.

Dianne Roach and Mike Coonan said they were happy there was such a good turnout for the event.

Beachport's Anzac Day wreaths were laid by community groups and families of soldiers.

The service was finished with a flypast of a Tiger Moth plane over Rivoli Bay.

Penola service for Anzac

About 200 people attended the Anzac Day ceremony at Penola's soldiers memorial in perfect spring weather.

The memorial itself had been troubled by iron bacteria in the weeks leading up to the event due to a change in water used through the park's sprinkler system causing the memorial to turn yellow.

However, President of the Coonawarra/Penola Returned and Services League (RSL), Peter DeGaris, who was Master of Ceremonies for the Anzac Day service, told the crowd that the Wattle Range Council had addressed the issue quickly and he thanked the Council for doing so in time for the service.

The memorial had a catafalque party of four almost life size cut out figures of local past service personnel looking over the memorial during the service, including Allen Early Carmichael who served in Korea, Robert Struan Marcus who was killed during World War One, David John Steen who was killed at Vietnam, and nurse Mary Catherine Mules who served during the Second World War.

Father Lyndon Sulzberger of Penola's St Mary's Anglican Church conducted the service and led the prayers during which he said it was "so important to remember, it is because of their sacrifice that we can live in peace".

"There will always be a need for a country to defend itself but how much better would it be if we could live in peace," he said.

His strong singing voice led the crowd in hymns and prayers before about 20 wreaths were laid by representatives of community groups and family members of former service personnel.

The Mary MacKillop Memorial School Choir sang 'It's a Long Road to Tipperary' before the traditional Ode of Remembrance was read and the Last Post and Reveille was sounded by bugler Evan Markwick whom Mr DeGaris thanked for coming from Adelaide, as he has for some years, to undertake the task.

Mr DeGaris also thanked keyboard player, Brian 'Prof' Lynn whom he said had played the "organ" on Anzac Day for 54 years.

Mr Lynn is the son of Penola's oldest World War Two veteran, 95 year old Roen Lynn who had hoped to attend the service but was prevented from doing so due to covid restrictions in place at Pinchunga aged care facility.

At the conclusion of the ceremony, veterans, members of the RSL and other invited guests formed up to march from the memorial to the Penola RSL Hall to enjoy a breakfast which was restricted in numbers due to covid concerns.

President of the Coonawarra/Penola Returned and Services League, Peter DeGaris was Master of Ceremonies for the Penola Anzac Day service.

Riddoch Ward councillor, Dean Burrows represented Wattle Range Council.

Father Lyndon Sulzberger, of Penola's Anglican Church, delivered the service and led the prayers.

Representing SA Police, Brevet Sergeant Leo Price and Constable Many Singh from Penola Police.

Vietnam veteran and Vice President of the Coonawarra/Penola Returned and Services League, Neville Dixon.

Representing McKay's Children Centre was Gaynor Hetherington and her daughter Janelle.

Representing Mary MacKillop Memorial School were Charlie Pearce and Amelia Gruetzner.

Penny Vaughan represented Penola Primary School.

Representing the Penola Scout Group, Louise Stanley and Grace Kerr.

Representing SA Ambulance was Sharnna Deveroux.

Harvey Virtanen and Orion McKay represented Nangwarry Primary School.

Penola High School representatives Logan Burr and Georgia Winter.

Representing Sorby Adams ward were Wattle Range councillors Dale Price and Deb Agnew who flanked Mayor Des Noll in laying a wreath, watched by Frank Ousey, right.

Former RAAF Flight Sergeant Peter Burford was Master of Ceremonies for Kalangadoo Remembers, delivered a speech on Second World War nurse Vivian Bullwinkel and read a Vietnam war poem, Long Hai Day.

Elaine Ousey and Raelene Burford laid a wreath in remembrance of the Diggers of Kalangadoo.

Representing Kalangadoo Primary School were Megan Edwards and Mathew Thomas.

State Member of Parliament for MacKillop, Nick McBride was joined by Federal Member Tony Pasin in laying wreaths on Sunday.

Presidents of their RSL sub-branches, Chris Mathias of Millicent, Peter DeGaris of Coonawarra/Penola, and Bob Sandow of Mount Gambier laid wreaths at Kalangadoo. Behind them are two of the event organisers Frank Ousey and Peter Burford.

Kalangadoo remembers

Peter Savage read out the names of Kalangadoo men who had been killed at war including William Joseph Bott, Percy Robert Ellison, Alexander Carmichael Gibb and Reginald Stow Kentish from the First World War. Second World War fallen were George Clifford Beavis, Eric Green, Bryan James Hemmings and Walter Reginald Millard.

Alison Newman led the singing of the national anthem.

Bugler Trish Bruggeman played at the Kalangadoo Remembers event.

In memory of the Australian Women's Land Army, Victoria Burford and Bev Ousey laid a wreath.

Jane Fetherstonhaugh assisted Joan Auld to lay a wreath.

Greg Moore laid a wreath on behalf of the Kalangadoo Lions Club.

Leanne Young read the Anzac Requiem.

Mother's Day 2022

Walking to help others

The long running Millicent Walks 2 Fight Cancer Mother's Day walk, held annually by the Millicent Cancer Support (MCSG), is set to go ahead on Sunday, May 8, with none of the restrictions that were needed at the event last year.

To proceed with the 2021 walk the group needed a Covid safe plan which included checking in and wearing masks at the sign in station; all such restrictions have been lifted for the fundraiser walk this year.

Despite the restrictions last year it was a successful day with MCSG President, Lisa McCourt saying: "Everyone was so glad to get out last year and it was a beautiful day."

"We had around 150 participants; with the raffle and extra donations we raised approximately $2000. It's a great fundraiser for the group."

"Hopefully this year the sun comes out again and it's just as well supported."

The Millicent Walks 2 Fight Cancer route begins at Jubilee Park, North Terrace, and participants can begin the walk anytime between 9.30am - 10.30am after signing in.

Cancer support walk: The group are happy that no Covid restrictions apply to this year's walk.

It is $10 per adult and a gold coin donation for children to undertake the 2km or 4km route, with participants asked to wear a touch of pink if possible.

"Everyone is affected by cancer in some way, so it's a good way to come together and raise awareness and funds, particularly as a family as lots of families do the walk together," said Ms McCourt.

Walk for mother's day: President of the Millicent Cancer Support Group, Lisa McCourt, is hoping for nice weather and plenty of community support for the group's annual fundraiser walk.

YOUR WEEKLY TV GUIDE

The little things: Jimmy Rees delves into the world of miniature models in doco Tiny Oz.

WHAT'S
BOX?

PICK OF THE WEEK

TINY OZ
ABC TV, Tuesday, 8.30pm

This delightful local series has married Australian history with the captivating world of miniature models. So far we've seen teeny-tiny replicas of long-forgotten moments in Sydney and Broome, and this final instalment explores a scandalous, momentous moment in Adelaide's story. Featuring former children's entertainer-turned-host Jimmy Rees – who is responsible for supplying much-needed laughs through the pandemic with his comedic videos – and effervescent artist JoAnne Bouzianis-Sellick, it's a playful and creative trip through history. Tonight, a model of the first hot air balloon flight to take place in Adelaide is created with stunning details.

RAMSAY'S 24 HOURS TO HELL AND BACK
Seven, Thursday, 10pm

Gordon Ramsay (pictured) may always be known as the fiery celebrity chef fond of expletives, but he seems to have mellowed slightly with age. This rescue-and-renovation series is more about getting results for struggling restaurants than encouraging an all-out verbal spat that threatens to reduce the participants to tears. Tonight, New Jersey's Blend On Main gets the exhaustive Ramsay treatment. The end result is outstanding, but in the words of its chef Lou Smith: "I wouldn't do it again though."

LIFE
ABC TV, Sunday, 9.25pm

"Sometimes life happens, and you just have to deal with it," declares 70-year-old Gail (Alison Steadman, pictured, Gavin & Stacey) in this moving series. And while such a sentiment might seem a tad twee, every frame in this drama from Doctor Foster creator Mark Bartlett is infused with searingly relatable, yet surprising and poignant moments. Last week's premiere set the stage for the characters, and now their stories begin to unfurl. While Gail's faithfulness to Henry is tested, Andy (Calvin Demba) is at a crossroads with his and Hannah's (Melissa Johns) baby.

COBRA
SBS, Wednesday, 9.30pm

There's nothing like a spot of disaster to get pulses racing. In this slick, overblown British series' premiere, Europe is plunged into darkness after a solar storm, complete with planes falling from the sky. It's the stuff of nightmares, but it's impossible to turn away, thanks in part to a strong performance by Robert Carlyle (pictured, Trainspotting) as the embattled prime minister who must activate the ominous-sounding COBRA: a bandwagon of Britain's leading experts, crisis contingency planners and most senior politicians.

Toyota's hybrid expansion

By Derek Ogden, Marque Motoring

With stratospheric fuel prices, the Toyota Kluger has opened its hybrid powertrain account with the latest generation becoming the eighth Toyota to make use of the petrol/electric fuel saver.

There are nine variants of the big seven-seater in a mix of two and all-wheel drive.

The GX is front drive only, while the GXL and Grande offer front and all-wheel drive and hybrid versions.

The Grande hybrid takes up the flagship role.

Prices open at $47,650, plus on road costs, for the GX 2WD petrol, GXAWD petrol follows up at $51,650, while the Grande AWD hybrid tops out the new Kluger at $75,400.

Standard equipment across the range includes smart entry and start, manual front and rear dual-zone air conditioning, rain sensing wipers and automatic lights, and five USB ports.

The Kluger Grande adds a panoramic moonroof, hands-free operating power tailgate, front seat ventilation, head-up display, a 360-degree all-round view monitor, leather-accented seats and an 11-speaker JBL audio system.

The new Kluger is covered by Toyota Warranty Advantage, which offers five years unlimited kilometre coverage extending to seven years on engine and driveline, with capped-price servicing for the first five years/75,000 km and each 12-month/15,000 km service costing $250.

In looks the new Kluger errs on the wagon wing of the modern SUV – no crossover coupe-like curves here – square(ish) lines dominate the seven seater's dimensions.

The latter, larger than the previous model in all respects, plus flared wheel arches, all add up to a robust appearance as befitting a seven-seater.

Front on the SUV follows suit with large upper and lower trapezoidal grilles split by the front bumper.

Slimline LED light clusters with integrated daytime running lights are situated above deep recessed LED fog lamps integrated into the flared front end.

An extended and flatter underbody and spats in front of the wheels contribute to improved aerodynamics.

The Grande rolls on 20-inch wheels with a polished chrome appearance.

The Kluger carries on Toyota's foray into the land of petrol/electric hybrids.

There's little lacking inside the cabin, with soft touch materials, the latest design features, while the larger exterior allows for increased space and versatility for seven occupants.

Touches of luxury are supplied by Leather-accented seats, memory power driver seat, ventilated front seats, electrochromatic rear view mirror, premium soft instrument panel, plus rear door sunshades and ambient lighting.

While far from Lilliputian, at 8 inches the information screen is far from 'Grand' – on the small side for an SUV of this size and calibre.

With Apple CarPlay and Android Auto, the flagship 'flies' with digital radio, where available, satellite navigation, and an 11-speaker JBL sound system of superior quality.

The new hybrid system combines a 2.5-litre four-cylinder Atkinson cycle petrol engine with three electric motors (two up front and one at the rear) which generates a maximum combined output of 184 kW that drives through an advanced electric AWD system.

Delivering a claimed combined cycle fuel consumption as low as 5.6 litres per 100 kilometres with combined CO2 emissions of just 128 g/km, on test, the Kluger hybrid nudged 6 litres per 100 kilometres in a mix of town and country driving, all on bitumen.

Hybrid AWD models are also fitted with a Trail mode switch for more demanding off-road performance that is able to adjust throttle control, shift schedule, drive force distribution and brake control to deliver optimal traction for the conditions.

A recipient of the latest in Toyota Safety Sense driver assistance, the new Kluger features a pre-collision safety system with pedestrian and daytime cyclist detection, emergency steering assist and intersection turn assist on every model.

Added to this are active cruise control – with curve speed reduction function – lane trace assist, blind spot monitor, reversing camera and seven airbags, creating a very comprehensive safety package.

A head-up display keeps Grande driving eyes on the road, while the large body slots into tight parking spaces with the help of the car's panoramic view monitor.

The hybrid system delivers a combined maximum power of 184 kW through a smooth electric continuously variable transmission (e-CVT) that offers driver selectable Normal, Eco and Sport modes.

The e-Four AWD system allows up to 100 per cent of drive to be sent through the front wheels or up to 80 per cent through the rear, depending on conditions, with a Trail mode for more challenging off-road environments.

For enhanced off-road performance in varied conditions, the AWD Kluger also features a multi-terrain select system with Mud and Sand and Rock and Dirt modes that in the Grande can also be disconnected to improve fuel economy.

Access into the second and third row two-seat bench is made easy with the fold down levers for both rows located on the outer shoulder of the seats, which, for the third-row seats, also automatically folds the head rests in one action.

The rear hatch offers easy access into the expanded luggage space with power operation for GXL variants and a 'kick sensor' for the Grande version that allows the hatch to be opened and closed hands-free.

The new Kluger Grande hybrid is a spacious seven-seater with quality materials and fittings.

Comfort does not extend to the third row of seats for those not of small stature.

Any lack of performance in the powertrain is made up for in smooth running and fuel economy.

Price hike for Isuzu ute

By Ewan Kennedy, Marque Motoring

Due to various market driven factors, Isuzu UTE Australia (IUA) will introduce a price adjustment for the 2022 D-MAX and MU-X range; with the RRP increasing by $1,000 to $1,600, dependent on model variant.

From April 1 2022, drive-away pricing on the D-MAX SX Single Cab Chassis 1.9-Litre Manual 4x2, D-MAX X-TERRAIN 4x4, and MU-X LS-T 4x4 have increased by $2,000.

All confirmed orders logged with an authorised Isuzu UTE Dealer are automatically covered by a price protection guarantee if the vehicle was ordered, signed and dated before the 31st March 2022.

Some of the factors included increasing production related costs, international and domestic transport and logistics costs.

Isuzu UTE Australia's director of sales and marketing Koichiro Yoshida said the constantly-shifting global situation affecting production, transport and logistics costs has driven the need to increase pricing for the 22MY D-MAX and the MU-X range.

"This decision was not taken lightly with all options deeply considered," Mr Yoshida said.

"Regardless of an order status – whether it be in transit or planned for production – Isuzu UTE Australia guarantees the price protection on all confirmed orders taken before the end of March.

"We are eternally grateful for everyone's patience and understanding as we navigate this unprecedented time of supply shortages, and we are working closely with our global production team to secure the maximum number of vehicles for our local Australian customers."

In their respective classes, both the D-MAX and MU-X have earned a reputation for standardising the latest in features and safety technology.

"IUA remains committed to delivering our vehicles completed, without compromise and without taking any shortcuts; a commitment to our customers who have expectations which we will always strive to meet and exceed, Mr Yoshida added.

Due to the various driven market factors affecting the company, Isuzu Australia has adjusted the pricing for the D-MAX and MU-X range of vehicles.

Good field in close touch

A strong field graced the Millicent Bowls Club greens last week for a 2-4-2 competition. Despite pavers being laid under the shelter between A and B greens, 28 players took part in the competition. The winning pair was Carl Schapel, with night bowler Steve Skeer with a score of 32+19. Peter Dunicliff and Aaron Emonson also won 12 ends to finish with a score of 32+6. Other winning teams: Malcolm Wright/Terry Barnes 32+3, Ian Ross/Robert Radley 31+10; Lorraine Hyland/Eddie Hann 31+10, Orr Grosvenor/Rod Gibbs 31+8 and Tim Grosvenor/Kym Stewart 30+5.

Runners-up, Aaron Emonson and Peter Dunicliff.

Winners, Carl Schapel and Steve Skeer.

Memorial comp proves a top day for clay shooters

Lake Bonney Sporting Clays held its Colin Whitehead Memorial shoot recently, with a strong field of 68 shooters vying for honours. The 50-handicap event was a run over two five-stand compact courses, with the Whitehead family sponsoring prizes, which included Easter eggs and vouchers to the Grand Hotel. There were three 25/25 perfect rounds shot, by Mick Banning, Trevor Gould and Greg Kessegian. Mick Banning took out AA Grade, from Dane Hastings and Tom Weir. First in A Grade went to Doug Cowland, with Trevor Gould second and Jamo in third. Plum Werchon won B Grade by one target, from Herb Whitehead and Duncan Munro. In C Grade, Peter Ellery claimed the win but a count-back was needed to award Daniel Badman second and Jacob Willison third. The Veterans grade was won by Kevin Dyson ahead of Gary Dangerfield and Bill Morrison, while Greg Kessegian had no competition in the Seniors category. Bernie Peters took first in the Ladies grade by one target from Rachael Withers and Sam Freeman. Darci Bell claimed the Sub-Juniors, ending with the highest score of the day with her handicap. Second went to Liam Millard, just two targets behind Bell, with Tyler Collins rounding out the top three. Fourth and fifth went to Harry Bell and Shak VonStanke respectively.

Sub Junior fifth placed Shak VonStanke, winner Darci Bell, fourth placed Harry Bell and runner-up Liam Millard.

Mozzies were too strong

Mount Burr 58 d Kongorong 26

Mount Burr hosted Kongorong in Round 3 of Mid South East netball and cruised to a comfortable victory.

The game started with a few turnovers that went Kongorong's way and a two-goal lead resulted before Mount Burr had scored and settled into the game.

As the quarter progressed, Mount Burr defenders in Simone Westerman (WD), Madi Hagget (GD) and Olivia Dean (GK) caused turnovers and made the most of missed goal scoring opportunities, with scores tied at 15-all at the first break.

The Mozzies began the second term with a little more intent, with strong defensive pressure denying the Kongorong goalies scoring opportunities and converting themselves to add scoreboard pressure.

Ebony Clark was the focal point in the circle, while Laura Schultz (C) and Meg Fennell (WA) drove strongly and fed Clark with accuracy.

Kongorong shooter Tilah Buckingham worked hard for possession to give her team the ability to score, while Rach Perry worked tirelessly to move the ball down court for Kongorong.

However, Schultz and Westerman continued to make it difficult for the attack line to use the circle edge to feed their goalies, which allowed Haggett and Dean to turn the ball over and drive it strongly into attack.

By the main break the Mozzies pressure resulted in an 18-goal lead to blow the game apart. From there it was a tough task for Kongorong, with changes made to try to wrestle the game back.

Megan Bowering (GS), Zara Vonstanke (WA) and Kelsey Widdison (GD) came on from the bench, while Perry went to wing defence.

Bowering made an immediate impact with greater movement and desire for the ball, allowing Kongorong many more scoring shots for the quarter.

Haggett and Dean continued to take intercepts and mop up rebounds, while Fennell's work rate and passing to the goalies was a highlight for Mount Burr in attack.

Kongorong lifted, while Mount Burr looked somewhat unsettled, making uncharacteristic unforced errors.

Kongorong demonstrated greater patience coming out of defence but Mount Burr continued to edge away through the outstanding presence of Clark in the goal circle, who shot 13 of the 15 goals for the quarter.

The lead had opened up to 25 goals by the final break, with the Mozzies home.

However, Kongorong did not give up, with more changes to try to stem the tide in the final term.

Perry returned to centre, Buckingham to goal defence and Widdison to wing defence.

The game slowed in pace and intercepts were taken by both teams in the warm conditions.

Buckingham's move to goal defence paid off, giving Kongorong more chance to move the ball into attack.

However, Mount Burr's dominance in defence though Haggett and Dean limited any scoring opportunities.

The end result saw a deserved victory to the Mozzies and a tough day out for Kongorong.

Mount Burr centre Laura Schultz takes possession and looks for an opportunity.

Dominant: Murphies on top from the opening move

Glencoe 85 d Nangwarry 24

There was no respite for Nangwarry when they hosted Glencoe in Round 3 of Mid South East netball on Saturday.

While the Saints were up and about due to the opening of their clubrooms to the public, it made no difference on the court as Glencoe simply ran rampant.

Glencoe came out strong in the opening quarter and capitalised on every opportunity.

Jenna Paproth and Chantelle Cocks moved well and converted all turnovers.

Nangwarry started to settle, with Hayley Burner and Kylie Heaver creating space and moving the ball around the circle well, while Cassie Dinnison and Tahlia Wilson both positioned well and scored every opportunity they had.

Sarah Edwards took some very well-timed intercepts, which allowed Donna Jaeschke and Ashlea Edwards to bring the ball down with ease.

Shannon Higgins and Tahlia Puckeridge continued to work hard to stop the dominance of Paproth and Cocks but with Cocks' height and strong holding they found it hard to stop. Glencoe went to the first break with a 15-goal advantage.

Nangwarry made a few changes at quarter time, with Higgins back to goal keeper, Burner to goal defence, Puckeridge to wing defence and Ebony Lawson to centre.

These changes seemed to help the Saints stop the run of Glencoe but the visitors continued their strong performance.

Burner and Higgins combined well in defence to make it tough for Glencoe's shooters and their feeders to get the ball inside.

Donna Edwards had a strong presence for Glencoe and enjoyed a good tussle with Lawson.

Kylie Heaver and Ashlea Edwards both worked hard for their teams to provide drive in and out of attack.

The Glencoe goalies in Paproth and Cocks continued their accuracy, while Sarah Edwards and Chloe Pfitzner worked hard in the circle and were too strong for Dinnison and Wilson.

However, Tahlia Wilson held well and managed to convert a few needed goals for Nangwarry.

With a 27-goal advantage at the main break, Glencoe came out firing and lifted a notch, working the ball down the court well.

Higgins and Burner continued to work hard and take intercepts that were converted well by Dinnison and Wilson.

Jaeschke ran well through the centre for Glencoe to create space, while Sarah Edwards continued to take some strong intercepts.

By the final term the contest was well beyond the Saints but they continued to swing changes in the hope of slowing the Murphies' progress.

However, Glencoe continued with their dominance, with Paproth and Cocks working hard to convert every opportunity.

In the end, despite all the Saints' efforts, Glencoe's experience shone through with a comfortable victory.

Best players for Glencoe were Cocks and Ashlea Edwards, while Burner and Higgins were best for Nangwarry.

Magpies at near top form

Kalangadoo 47 d Port MacDonnell 28

Kalangadoo hosted Port MacDonnell in Round 3 of Mid South East netball, with the home side too strong on the day.

In sunny conditions, Port MacDonnell started the match strong, with the defensive combination of Alana Winter and Megan Hein causing some early turnovers, to help the Demons score the first three unanswered goals.

However, the Magpies stepped up their intensity, quickly settled into the match and went to the first break with a four-goal advantage. Both teams remained unchanged during the second quarter.

Centre Liza Mutch worked hard for Port MacDonnell, feeding her goalies Kirby Carrison and Brooke Williams accurately.

Cody Manning and Kalangadoo's Jamie Ryan had a tight contest, with Ryan making Manning earn every possession.

Kalangadoo's goalies Maddy Bonnano and Kori Collins began to find space and made the most of scoring opportunities to increase Kalangadoo's advantage by 11 at the main break. The third quarter saw Kalangadoo step up the defence even further.

The defensive circle combination of Lauren Kain and Georgia Gentile made an impact on the game, creating intercepts and making it hard for the Port MacDonnell goalies to get many opportunities.

Mid-way through the third quarter an injury to Port MacDonnell's Kirby Carrison saw Toni Gilmore enter the match at goal shooter.

Kalangadoo again stepped up the defensive pressure which forced some wayward passing by Port MacDonnell and restricted them to four goals for the quarter.

In the final term Port MacDonnell switched Hein into goal attack and Carrison re-entered the game at goal keeper.

The Demon's defensive mid-court of Mutch and Kristy Sneath increased their close checking defence and forced Kalangadoo to work hard for every possession.

Bonnano finished the game strong, shooting at 100 per cent for the quarter and Kalangadoo finished the game with a convincing victory.

Best players for Kalangadoo were Collins and Kain, while best for Port MacDonnell were Mutch and Kristy Sneath.

Tight battle in seaside game

Robe 45 d Hatherleigh 39

Round 3 of Mid South East netball went down to the wire at Robe, with the home side claiming a six-goal victory.

The two sides came out firing after the pre-match ceremony to commemorate Anzac Day, with much of the first quarter going goal-for-goal.

Robe took a few shots to find their feet in goals in the breezy conditions but once Tori Gluyas got her eye in, she was hard to stop.

Hatherleigh's goalies Maddie Redman and Abby Wight struggled with their accuracy and Robe went to the quarter-time break with a three-goal lead.

No changes were made at quarter time and the arm wrestle continued, with Robe's Annie Hunter and Tegan Telfer having a great battle through the centre.

Accuracy came to the fore, with both sides scoring 11 goals.

While Robe remained unchanged after the break, Hatherleigh made some changes, with Demi Vanderhorst coming on at goal attack and Chelsea Galpin at goal defence, while Redman and Lara MacGregor headed to the bench.

Robe took advantage of the changes and came out firing, getting lots of touches and chasing down any loose balls.

Ellen Ramke and Alannah Campbell were making it hard for Hatherleigh's goalies, with Ramke picking off passes into the circle and making the most of any rebound opportunity.

Hatherleigh goalie Abby Wight came off during the quarter with a shoulder injury and Redman returned but the Roosters were too strong, with Sarah Laurie shooting at 100 per cent accuracy for the quarter.

The last quarter saw Hatherleigh make numerous changes, with Robe once again making no changes.

Redman was on fire for the visitors, shooting 13 of their 17 goals for the quarter and only missing one goal.

The Roosters seemed to take their foot off the pedal and Hatherleigh came home strong and threatened to take the lead but in the last five minutes Robe lifted and kept Hatherleigh at bay to record a well-deserved victory.

Robe's Annie Hunter was named best on court and was awarded the Anzac Medal.

Best players for Robe were Hunter and Ramke, while Erin Watson and Tegan Telfer for named best for Hatherleigh.

Magpies soar to victory

By Trevor Jackson

Kalangadoo 18.18 (126) d Port MacDonnell 5.5 (35)

The long-awaited Mid South East football grand final rematch turned into a bit of a fizz-er on Saturday, as Kalangadoo ran away with a big win over Port MacDonnell.

The Magpies stamped their authority on the contest right around the ground, with Michael Krieger again a big focal point up forward.

Krieger finished the day with five goals, while Brett Lindner (3), Patrick Davies (2) and Sam McManus (2) ensured the win.

As a result the Magpies sit just a small per-centage margin out of top spot, trailing Hatherleigh at the pointy end of the ladder.

Magpies coach Kevin Stark it was simply “another good win”.

However, the victory was more impressive considering the outs due to Covid and other scenarios.

Stark accepted the Demons had their own issues with player numbers but the skill of the Magpies showed through in the end.

In fact, Kalangadoo kicked seven straight majors in the opening term to set the scene and Port MacDonnell was forced to play catch-up football all day.

“I thought the first half was hard going,” Stark said.

“They zoned off on us really well and I think we played into their hands in that first half, then we changed things up a bit and got going.”

One focus was on keeping Tim Sullivan quiet up forward, with the spearhead Demon a huge focal point.

He was kept to just two goals throughout the game but Stark was quick to point out the whole back six stood tall.

“We had six out but it really showed where our depth was at,” Stark said.

“The six blokes we had to bring up played really well and that meant down back we had an exceptionally strong back six.

“I think if you keep some one like him to a couple of goals you are very happy.”

Likewise up forward it was the magpies who were on top, due in no small part to the smarts and skills of Krieger.

“Michael Krieger was really good again but our whole forward six worked well together,” Stark said.

“Everyone adapted well to the changes - some of the forwards play a borderline sacrificial role to help other forwards which is really pleasing.”

Kalangadoo’s Tye McManus looks to break clear of his Port MacDonnell opponent during Saturday’s big victory over the reigning premiers.

Names such as Josh L Rocca, Sam McMa-nus and Tye McManus also helped guide the Magpies to another strong victory, with plenty of run out of the back half to push forward.

Stark said La Rocca in particular played a vital role.

“It was big having Mitch Lowe out, who provides so much run and skill off the half back line,” Stark said.

“So does Josh but I guess it put a bit more pressure on him to take it to another level.

“He is just very good at breaking the line and is unbelievably quick and hard totackle.

“He had a cracking game.

“I thought he played well last year and I think with a full season with everyone in the team, he has gone to another level.”

Strong first win for the season for the Burr at home

By Trevor Jackson

Mount Burr 19.20 (134) d Kongorong 13.6 (84)

Mount Burr chalked up its first win of the 2022 Mid South East football season, with a strong victory over Kongorong.

It was even more impressive considering the Mozzies had to come from behind, after trailing up to the half-time break.

The Hawks were out of the blocks fast, with six straight majors in the opening term, while inaccuracy in front of goals cost the Mozzies, as they kicked three majors and seven minor scores.

That trend continued somewhat in the second quarter, with Kongorong add four majors and one minor, while Mount Burr put on three goals and six behinds to trail by 12 points at the long break.

However, the Mozzies turned the tide in the third term, with another five goals, while limiting Kongorong to two and take a six-point advantage to the final break.

From there it was all Mount Burr, with an eight-goal final term to seal the deal.

Jack Gregory lit up the scoreboard with nine majors, Hamish Smith added four, Will Bowering three and Nathan Muhovics two.

For Mount Burr coach Reece Duncan it was simply good to return to the winner’s list, especially after such a tough opening half.

“We did it the hard way,” he said.

In a tight contest at the Mount Burr oval, the Mozzies lifted n the second half to record a hard-fought victory over Kongorong.

“Kongorong came out firing and ready to go and they definitely put it to us.

“But credit to our guys we were able to finish the way we did.

“We were going goal-for-goal for a while and it was a hard-fought contest but I was happy with how our guys finished the game off in the last quarter.”

With the Mozzies still behind at the long break, it was a matter of doing the basics and trying to gain control of the contest.

“I just reminded the guys simple football means getting it, moving it forward and not trying to over complicate it,” Duncan said.

“The guys took it on, went out and went back to the basics.

“It was just a slight adjustment and it worked wonders.”

Duncan said he was pleased with the efforts of forwards Gregory and Smith, with Tom Fennell out injured.

“We lost Tom Fennell in the game against Glencoe so it has been a bit of a tweak up forward,” he said.

“Hamish and Jack worked well together so I am looking forward to see how they go for the season.”

As for the importance of the win, Duncan said it was huge.

“I put it to the guys it was a win-at-all-costs game,” he said.

“We didn’t play too well against Hatherleigh, then against Glencoe we just didn’t play the way we wanted to again.

“We went into that one looking for a win but weren’t able to capitalise on it.

“We needed to get one on the board.

“Saturday we had 21 contributors, no pas-sengers and that’s the way you get a win.

“We are knocking on the door, we are right there and it is only a matter of when we can crack it open.

“Saturday wasn’t everything, it was good to get the win, but there is still more to do.”

Mateship wins big clash

By Trevor Jackson

Hatherleigh 16.13 (109) d Robe 10.5 (65)

All eyes were on Robe on Saturday as the Roosters hosted Hatherleigh in Round 3 of Mid South East football.

Players and spectators were treated to the usual Anzac Day formalities, with Light Horsemen on the ground, the national anthems of Australia and New Zealand performed, along with the Ode and the last post.

Unfortunately for the home side, the Eagles claimed a big win, to remain with a tentative grip on the top position on the ladder.

While Hatherleigh held a comfortable lead at each break, the Roosters certainly pushed hard but could not close the margin.

The Eagles led by 20 points at the first break, then extended that each quarter.

By the final break the margin had blown out to 41 points and Hatherleigh was home.

Jake Wight was again impressive in front of goals with five majors to his name, while coach Jake Dowdy kicked four, Louis Brown three and Patrick Chay two.

Dowdy suggested it was a ripper result, after previously struggling to gain the points up at Robe.

Along with the Anzac theme of the day, there was certainly no shortage of pressure.

"It was a big day, all about mateship, looking after each other and backing each other up," Dowdy said.

"That is really how we want to play our footy this year and I think we have been doing that, so it suits our game style."

That mateship was called upon early in the contest, with the Rosstes standing up well on their home deck in the opening half.

Dowdy said he addressed the players at the long break reinforce the game plan and it all went forward from there.

"I just said to keep plugging away at it," he said.

"We know Robe is a good team and are always pretty physical, they always hang in there and we knew they would throw a bit back at us.

"I just said to keep playing our game style and it would break open for us.

"I think it did in the end.

"They still put up a fight so it was a good four quarters of football."

Dowdy said Telfer was a worthy recipient of the Anzac medal for best on ground, with his work off the half back impressive, along with many others.

"Jed Telfer was unreal off half back," he said.

"I don't know what it is about him but he just doesn't get tackled.

"He is really strong in the hips and core.

"Jase Faulkner, one of the older fellows in the team, had a good day in the middle.

"He put his head over the footy and won it out for us.

"Darcy Bateman was pretty good at half forward, taking good contested marks.

"I just thought the whole team played well."

Dowdy said the rivalry between the two sides was building well, with the team approach more important than ever.

"We know our best football can be pretty handy but on the weekend the way we played as a team was the most impressive part," he said.

"We had a lot of forward entries and there was no selfishness.

"Everyone was looking for their team mates and all the team oriented stuff is coming together, which is why we are where we are at."

Murphies hold off Saints in tough-as-boots contest

By Trevor Jackson

Glencoe 12.12 (84) d Nangwarry 10.9 (69)

It was a big day for the Nangwarry Football Club on Saturday, with the new clubrooms finally open to the public.

However, on the ground the Saints could not break their long-running losing streak, although they pushed Glencoe all the way.

It was certainly a danger game for the Murphies, with seven players missing due to a wedding.

As it panned out Nangwarry led by five points at the first break and looked up to the challenge.

The Murphies turned it around in the second term to take a tentative three-point advantage to the main break but it was the third quarter which separated the two sides, as Glencoe came out firing and added another five goals to open the margin.

The Saints could only find two goals and trailed by 23 points at the final break.

While Nangwarry outscored Glencoe in the final term, it was too little, too late and the Murphies celebrated a well-earned victory.

Tory Weaver kicked three goals for the victors, while Isaac Mulraney, Dane Paproth and Dylan Pfitzner contributed three each.

Winning coach Tom Edwards said it was a tough day at the office but would have been an entertaining game to watch from the sidelines.

"We were happy to get the win in the end," he said.

"We knew it would be tough, they were opening their new club and had a bit to play for.

"One of our boys got married on the weekend so we had about seven blokes miss out.

"I was happy the boys were able to work hard and guts it out."

Edwards said he was pleased with the players who came up from the Reserves to fill the vacant positions.

He said it showed good depth.

But it was the spread of goal kickers which helped gain the points, with seven individual scorers.

Glencoe's Dylan Pfitzner releases a hand ball under plenty of pressure during Saturday's hitout with Nangwarry.

"With the couple we had out we had to move Henry Smith from full forward up the ground a bit, so it was good our forwards could get a couple of goals each," Edwards said.

"It was pleasing to spread the load a bit and make sure we get goals from every avenue possible, not just the key forwards."

After the tough opening term, Edwards said it was a matter of getting the game back on their terms.

He said it was a matter of simply being first to the ball and winning the contest.

The third term certainly broke the game open, which Edwards said was testament to the players resolve.

"We put it on them at half time there was a brand of footy we wanted to play," he said.

"Two weeks in a row I have been really happy with the boys' responses after a couple of breaks to get the game back on our terms and get the win."

Edwards said players such as Patrick Mitchell and Dylan Pfitzner were important in the whole equation, helping to quell the efforts of the Nangwarry forwards.

"Patrick and Dylan play that general role across half back and help the other boys out with matchups," he said.

"The take a lot of intercept marks and really set us up from half back.

"It was pleasing to see them play well and stand up when it was needed."

First win in the balance

By Trevor Jackson

Kongorong v Nangwarry

Could this be the week Nangwarry breaks its Mid South East football long losing streak?

Neither side has tasted victory this season, with both pushing hard and almost securing the points.

Nangwarry opened the season with a strong performance against Tantanoola, taking the game deep but were unable to secure the win.

The Saints then struggled against the powerhouse Hatherleigh but bounced back last round against Glencoe.

Again they almost pulled off the win but fell just short.

It has been a similar scenario for the Hawks, who started with a bang in Round 1 against reigning premiers Port MacDonnell but also fell just short.

Round 2 saw a big defeat at the hands of Kalangadoo, then last round they pushed Mount Burr to the limit, leading for the first half before a big third quarter from the Mozzies opened the game up.

The Saints have certainly recruited well again this year and seem to be on the brink of that breakthrough victory.

Despite having to travel to Kongorong, Nangwarry will break its drought this weekend in Round 4 and celebrate long and hard.

Nangwarry will look to the likes of Jake McKeon to move the ball forward with pace against Tantanoola this weekend, with the hope of breaking its long-running winning drought.

Mount Burr will look to the likes of Jack Gregory to provide run and goals in the hope to knock over the reigning premiers Port MacDonnell on Saturday.

Mozzies to strike

By Trevor Jackson

Mount Burr v Port MacDonnell

Round 4 of Mid South East football sees a change of venue for the Mount Burr v Port MacDonnell clash, due to poor grass coverage on the renovated Demons ground.

That puts the Mozzies in the hot seat to claim a win over the reigning premiers.

Mount Burr chalked up its first win in Round 3, with a strong result over Kongorong.

It was an impressive result considering the Hawks looked to have the game in hand and led by 12 points at the main break.

However, the Mozzies stepped up the pace in the third term to gain the lead and they pushed on from there.

In contrast, the Demons suffered at the hands of Kalangadoo in the grand final rematch. Both sides have claimed just one win each this season and would be keen to remain in the winner's circle.

Port MacDonnell struggled to find a clear passage to the forward 50 last week and will need some run out of defence and through the middle to set up the likes of Tim Sullivan.

Sullivan was kept to just two goals last week as the Demons could only muster five major scores for the game.

The Mozzies have faced their own issues up forward, with Tom Fennell injured in Round 2 a tweak up forward which paid dividends last week.

Jack Gregory and Hamish Smith lit up the scoreboard with 13 majors between them and provided a real focal point. Coming off that big win and on their home deck again, Mount Burr should claim the points in this one after an early stoush.

One tough game to call

By Trevor Jackson

Glencoe v Robe

Glencoe hosts Robe in Round 4 of Mid South East football this weekend, in a tough game to call.

The Murphies have suffered just one loss this season - against last year's runners-up Kalangadoo in the opening round - and sit in third position after three games played.

The remaining two games have been tough battles, with Mount Burr and Nangwarry both pushing the Murphies for the majority of their games.

Robe has a 1/1 win/loss ratio after its two games this year and would likely think they have the measure of Glencoe.

Last round the Roosters were impressive against Hatherleigh for the first half, until the Eagles broke the game open in the third term.

It showed real intent, despite the loss, with plenty of talent to take it up to Robe this week.

This match should certainly be an intriguing contest and will provide plenty of entertainment from the sidelines.

On their home deck Glencoe should do enough to claim the points in a game which could well go either way.

Tigers facing a tough team to defeat

By Trevor Jackson

Hatherleigh v Tantanoola

It will be a tough Round 4 of Mid South East football for Tantanoola when they face what is fast becoming the benchmark side in the competition in Hatherleigh.

The Eagles have taken all before them this season so far, despite a couple of early-game scares.

In the opening round Mount Burr came out firing but the Eagles were on top and claimed a convincing victory.

In Round 2 they made short work of Nangwarry, while another tough hitout ensued at Robe for the Anzac clash.

Again Hatherleigh claimed a comfortable victory and sit top of the ladder.

Tantanoola comes off a bye, with players refreshed and ready to go.

The Tigers have claimed one win this season, against Nangwarry in the opening round.

That was a heart-in-mouth result, with the Saints right in the contest until the final minutes of the game.

In Round 2 they pushed Robe all the way, succumbing in the end by just 16 points.

Hatherleigh has simply been untouchable so far this season.

Robe is the only team to really threaten

Hatherleigh has set the benchmark in the Mid South East football season and will continue its winning run against Tantanoola on Saturday.

the Eagles and in the Anzac clash last round, were in the contest up to the long break.

The Eagles held a comfortable lead at half time but broke the game open from there.

With coach Jake Dowdy off the half forward line and a strong focal point deep in the attacking 50 in the form of Jake Wight - plus many others keen to kick a goal - Hatherleigh appears on track for a tilt at post-season glory in 2022.

While the Tigers might be rested and ready for Round 4, they will not come close to the Eagles, who should romp away with this one.

Tight game looms

Hatherleigh v Tantanoola

Tantanoola will be well rested after two weeks off and be ready to come out firing against Hatherleigh in Round 4 of Mid South East netball.

Hatherleigh will need to put their best defenders on the court against Tigers Emma Gould and Jami Walker, who combine well together in the circle.

Hatherleigh is still struggling to settle its line-up, while Tantanoola's side has remained mostly unchanged since 2021.

The Eagles are still working on goal combinations and any of the following could line up in the circle - Maddie Redman, Demi Vanderhorst and Abby Wight.

Lara MacGregor has been given the opportunity to lead Hatherleigh's defensive end and has relished the challenge.

Kate Bromley and Tayla Rowe will combine well together in the defensive circle for the Tigers.

Erin Watson lined up at wing defence last week and will ensure Casey Walker earns every possession.

In another close game the result could go either way.

Glencoe v Robe

Glencoe hosts the Robe in what is set to be the match of the round, with both teams coming off wins.

There are great match-ups all across the court, in particular the mid-court battle between Donna Jaeschke and Annie Hunter, along with the goal-circle clash between Tori Gluyas and Sarah Edwards.

Mid-court turnovers will be the deciding factor as all four goalies are accurate and neither of the defensive ends will give an inch.

Jenna Paproth and Chantelle Cocks are a formidable goalie combination and their experience may prove too much for Robe's Ellen Ramke and Alannah Jennings.

After a tough four quarters Robe should come out on top.

Kongorong v Nangwarry

With both sides looking to put their first win on the board Kongorong will host Nangwarry at home.

Saints Hayley Burner and Shannon Higgins will put the pressure on for Kongorong's goalies Tilah Buckingham and Megan Bowering.

The strong drive from Burner out of defence will help Nangwarry bring the ball down the court, with Kylie Heaver feeding into the goalies.

Riley Buckingham's pressure in and around the goal will create difficulties for Nangwarry's mid-court.

In a tight contest either team has the ability and potential to gain the points.

Tantanoola will look to the likes of Jami Walker to help claim the points in a tough clash with Hatherleigh on Saturday.

Mount Burr v Port MacDonnell

Mount Burr will look to boost its percentage this week against Port MacDonnell at home due to a fixture change.

Despite their young age, Madi Hagget and Olivia Dean have shown maturity in the defensive end for the Mozzies.

Megan Hein and Alana Winter will have to curb the influence of Ebony Clark in the circle while also limiting Zoe Brown's options to shoot.

Laura Schultz' drive down the court and ability to feed to her goalies is an asset to the Mozzies.

Mount Burr will claim the points and cement their position in the top four.

Fiona Jackman will notch up her 200th game for Hatherleigh on Saturday.

Big day ahead for Jackman

A major milestone beckons for Hatherleigh netballer Fiona Jackman who will notch up 200 senior games for the club this Saturday in the B Reserve against Tantanoola.

Jackman is known as a fierce and determined defender who always gives her all and whenever you hear a loud voice coming from the court, you know that would be her.

She started her senior netball in 1996 and then had a few years off to have children, then joined the Millicent association while her children were young.

She returned to Hatherleigh in 2010 playing in the B grade and then the B Reserve, winning best and fairest and runner-up best and fairest in the B Reserve several times.

Jackman has been part of the club's committee on numerous occasions and her most memorable moment is having made and playing with friends that she started with and is still playing with today.

Maddie Redman notches up her 200th game for Eagles

Maddie Redman reach a significant milestone on the weekend as she notched up her 200th Mid South East netball game with Hatherleigh.

The A Grade player and A Reserve coach started her netball career as a junior back in 2000 and has flourished into an exciting, talented and fearless defender in the Eagles' line up.

Redman has played her whole career at Hatherleigh and won numerous individual accolades as a junior and a senior.

She has also represented Mid South East Association in Country Championships and been named in the team of the year on multiple occasions.

As a junior it was not uncommon to see Redman in the senior ranks on the same day and sitting bench for another grade when required.

She commenced her senior netball full time in 2007 and took a break from the sport in 2014 to have her son Kolton, then in 2016, Spencer.

This year Redman has ventured into the other end of the court to a shooting position but still does her best work at the defensive end.

Off the court she has been part of the Hatherleigh committee, always putting her hand up to umpire and is known as a true dedicated club person and player.

A spectacle under lights

By James Murphy

Mclaughlin Park will host a spectacle under lights this Saturday night when Millicent hosts North Gambier in Round 4 of Western Border football.

It will be the first night game for the season and should be a competitive match-up as both teams have shown good form in the early stages of the year.

The Saints ride the high of a win over West Gambier last week, but will be eager to dial in their sights in front of goal after they finished with 27 behinds in the breezy match against the Roos.

North comes off a disappointing Anzac Day loss to South Gambier on Monday and will want to redeem itself this week.

The Tigers put in a solid opening half and appeared on top of the Demons, but were out-gunned after the long break to fall short by 11 points.

They will need to capitalise on every opportunity when they go up against the reigning premiers on their home deck.

Both teams have no shortage of firepower

Dylan Bromley will play a vital role in Millicent's Round 4 meeting with North Gambier - whether he is played in the forward line or in defence.

and show diversity in the forward line.

For the Saints Dylan Bromley has made an impact in the forward 50 the last couple of weeks, while has also shown he is reliable in the back line.

Youngster Josh Werchon carries hot form into the match, as does Eli Redman, who was Millicent's best last week.

Dylan Tincknell is ever reliable in the backline and will no doubt have the job of shutting down one of North's powerhouse forwards.

The Tigers boast the likes of Sam Stafford and Justin McConnell up front, while Nicholas Moretti and Jake Schutz have also made an impact on the scoreboard in the opening rounds.

Stafford was best-on-ground for North on Monday and scored a team-high three goals, while Dale Bachman, Schutz and Hamish Telford were also in fine form.

Nick McInerney is always dangerous through the midfield, while down back the Tigers rely on the experience of the likes of Tim McInerney and Sam Egan, who have both been solid early in the season

The match looms as a close contest which-ever way you look at it and the result will likely determine which team will slot into second spot on the ladder under South.

The game is scheduled to kick off at 5pm.

Saints hold on in a top tier thriller

It was a match which lived up to its star billing as Millicent and West Gambier went toe to toe in a top-of-the-table Western Border netball clash on Saturday.

In the end, it was the Saints who prevailed by three goals in an arm wrestle contest.

West was without star shooter Sarah Ritter, who was at the 2022 National Netball Championships as part of the silver medal winning South Australian line-up.

Her sister Jade was also absent, while for Millicent Lisa Duldig was still sidelined and Demi Verbenia was out as well.

Those personnel issues saw a couple of debutantes take to the court, including Millicent mid-courter Lillie Paul.

West had the better of the early going with its fast ball movement and the pairing of Lisa McGregor and Claire Hunter combined well to apply scoreboard pressure.

The Saints did settle as Paige Nitschke took control of the attacking end of the court and by the first change it was Millicent by one.

West held the momentum and at half time led by three goals.

Finding a way to goal was proving tough for the Saints but they did just enough to stay in touch.

Millicent's defence stepped up in the second half as Georgia Clarke tightened up on McGregor, Portia McRae started to win some ball and Paul also started to make it harder for Horrigan to find the circle's edge.

At the other end of the court Daisy Tunkin started to use her speed to good effect and Tabatha Sanderson stayed closer to home and had her best shooting quarter in terms of accuracy with 10 from 12. As the two teams headed into the final break, it was West by two, setting up a tense final quarter.

This time it was Millicent which came out the better and it worked its way to a five-goal lead.

West was not done and mounted a strong challenge but in the end time beat the Roos and the Saints held on for a 51-48 goal win to remain undefeated at the top of the ladder.

For the Saints, Sanderson was a strong target and Paige Nitschke slipped into the goal attack role seamlessly.

Paul had some good moments, especially at critical times in the final quarter where she created turnovers.

Clarke had the tough task of controlling McGregor and had a strong second half, as well as being a key link player, while McRae anchored the defence well and was rarely out-rebounded, as well as taking a couple of pivotal interceptions.

This week the Saints host North Gambier, with the Tigers coming off of a disappointing loss to South Gambier.

Millicent will be favoured for the win, but North can never be ruled out of a fight, especially against a top team.

For Millicent it's a breeze

In the second term the Saints hit their stride and held West scoreless while they piled on five goals and nine behinds to be up by 37 at the main break.

The wind advantage swapped hands again in the third term and the Roos applied plenty of pressure around the ball, reeling in the margin to 28 points.

However, it was not enough to change their fate and a 5.8 return from Millicent put the game to rest.

Dylan Bromley made an impact in the forward line again on Saturday with three goals, while youngster Josh Werchon backed up a best-on-ground performance with three majors as well.

Werchon received another mention among the Saints best, but it was fellow youngster Eli Redman who earned the top honours as he created plenty of forward momentum throughout the match.

"Eli just provides a lot of run on the outside and he's clean and has good foot skills," Renzi said.

The consistent start to the season continues for Dylan Tincknell, who was a highlight in the backline again on Saturday.

Switching back to a defensive role after a year at half-forward, he has proven to be a brick wall for his opponents so far this year.

"He is just reliable, he does his job and plays on his man," Renzi said.

For West it was Will Crook who was named best-on-ground, while Tom Nieuwerkerk put in another solid performance in what is shaping up to be a consistent start to his season.

Todd Mcpartlan was another standout, while just two Roos found the big sticks on the day with Reece Cowling and Dylan Gillies both bagging two majors.

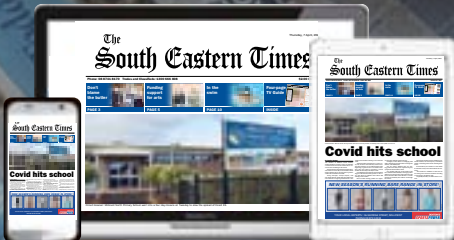

Looking ahead West will hope to bounce back against East Gambier this week, while Millicent hosts North Gambier in a night match for Round 4.

Millicent's Dylan Tincknell finds himself under pressure during the Saints' 59-point win over West Gambier on Saturday.

Bright future for Porter

By Lachlan Onions

Former Penola Football club junior, Darcy Porter has continued to thrive playing football as he recently joined the Carlton VFL side.

Porter has played football since a young age, as he started at Auskick level before he continued to play through the junior levels at Penola.

In 2019, Porter made his A Grade senior debut for the Penola Eagles, a step which kick-started his career.

His father, Tony Porter, was there to present him with his jersey.

“He (Tony) has had a massive impact on my career, his love for footy has brushed off on me,” Darcy said.

“He was my junior coach growing up, he’s always pushed me to get the best out of myself.”

The 18-year-old spent the 2021 season playing for Glenelg Under 18’s in an impressive campaign which saw him win the ER Curnow award and make the grand final.

“I never really wanted to give Glenelg a go,” Porter said.

“But I really enjoyed it and I’m glad I did.

“I’m now more open to trying new things thanks to that Glenelg experience.”

The SANFL Under 18’s season proved to be the launchpad for his career as he found himself more driven to perform at the highest level.

“I improved a lot personally in 2021 just from playing for Glenelg,” he said.

“I really liked the idea of playing footy professionally and I put my mind to it in the second half of the 2021 season.”

Porter’s efforts did not go unnoticed as Carlton Football Club soon approached him in the leadup to the 2021 AFL draft.

“They (Carlton) rang me before the draft for an interview and after the draft they offered me the position on the VFL list,” Porter said.

The former Eagle has yet to break into the VFL side and has spent his time playing district football.

However, he has improved in leaps and bounds as a footballer from just being a part of the squad during the week.

“I definitely think that I am getting stronger, smarter and fitter,” he said.

“I’m benefitting from how much more I’m putting into training compared to what I was at Glenelg or Penola.

“From an IQ standpoint, it’s really good as the staff are always filming so you know what you’re doing right or wrong.”

Training with the VFL side has proven to be a step up for Porter.

“It’s a lot more technical than what I experienced in Under 18’s,” he said.

“We watch a lot of vision and talk about what we can do better as a team and individually.”

The VFL side train three nights a week which allows players to develop and prepare themselves for the AFL.

“AFL is the main goal, that is what I’m here for,” Porter said.

“I’m not sure if being on an AFL list 12 months from now is an achievable goal, but I’d like to still be in Melbourne playing consistent footy at a high level and just improving.”

Skeer has terrible weekend at Superbike Series

By Trevor Jackson

Round 3 of the Australian Superbike Series could not have provided a worse result for Furner racer Dallas Skeer.

After a tough start to the season, Skeer hoped his new Yamaha would be up to the task in the 600cc Supersport category.

DNFs in the first two rounds put him well behind in the points standings, with the team working overtime to ensure a bike was ready for Round 3.

Skeer had tested the previously un-raced bike at McNamara Park briefly, before unveiling it at Wakefield Park on the weekend.

On the Friday all seemed good with the Yamaha, with Skeer just slightly off his best time around the circuit.

In seventh place after practice, he looked to push a bit harder to work his way up the starting grid in Saturday’s qualifying.

Unfortunately that is where the problems began.

“We hadn’t had any bike troubles and it was all running good,” Skeer said.

“We were on second qualifying and I was pushing to get some good times.

“I was doing consistent one minutes flats - my best is a 59.4 - so I knew I could go quicker.

“But halfway through the session the bike just stopped.

“I went to restart it and it was saying the temperature was too high which was a bit strange.”

Skeer said with just half a second margin between the top seven riders, he was hopeful to move up a position or two but had to sit out the remainder of the qualifying session and work on the bike for Sunday’s races.

The team discovered a temperature sensor as the issue, which they replaced from the spare bike.

All seemed back on track, with a cold and foggy morning greeting the riders on Sunday.

“Then it went from bad to worse,” Skeer said.

“It was foggy and dewy and we were first up.

“The track was dry but I forgot the paint and the ripple strips were still wet.

“I was going slow to make sure the bike was good but on my first lap I hit a white line upright, spun around and it threw me off.”

Skeer walked away a bit sore from the high-side crash.

“It was only a small crash,” he said.

“The bike was fixable but I was a bit sore.

“I watched someone do the exact same thing two laps later and in the warm-up someone hit the same thing.

“It was just one of those stupid mistakes which could have been avoided.”

Again the team went to work in earnest

Dallas Skeer pushes his Yamaha back to the pits after electronic gremlins put paid to any result in Round 3 of the Australian Supersport championships on the weekend. Pictures: RUSSELL COLVIN to ensure they made the grid for the opening race.

Parts were cannibalised from the spare bike and all looked good when the green light lit up for the start of the first race.

However, again fate played its hand.

“I took off for the first lap, the front wheel lifted and I was heading off the track,” Skeer said.

“I had to back off and steer it back and lost a few places.

“Then I went around the outside of a few bikes and had a gut feeling I shouldn’t, in case I get taken out.

“Someone high-sided right in front of me, I almost hit them and the race was red flagged.

“I turned the bike off and waited for the race to restart but then it wouldn’t start for the race.”

After using the spare bike for parts, Skeer had no choice but to sit the weekend’s races out, a bitter pill to swallow after so much work on the new Yamahas for the 2022 season.

Now it is back to square one, with the team set to work on the bikes over the next few months to ensure they are right to go before being raced.

That means possibly missing a couple of rounds and maybe even the SA road racing series.

“We will look to get the bikes sorted and prepared now,” Skeer said.

“We haven’t had time to have two fully-prepared bikes this year.

“We rushed to make sure these bikes were built, so we will completely go through the bikes and make sure they are fully up and running before we hit the track again.”

But rather than give up on the year completely, Skeer has plans to ensure he will again be on the pace as soon as possible.

“We have had the worst start to a season in my career,” he said.

“We will treat the year as a big test now and get ready to go next year.

“I’m not letting it get to me - we don’t give up that easy.

“We will make sure we get the bikes prepared right and not have any more DNFs.”

Dallas Skeer shows his frustration after electronic gremlins cut his weekend short.

Dallas Skeer and his father Michael discuss tactics during the weekend’s ASBK round.

For Millicent it's a breeze

By James Murphy

In a day which did not favour straight kicking, Millicent marched its way to a comfortable 59-point win over West Gambier in Round 3 of Western Border football.

Played at the home of the Saints, a strong breeze played havoc on accuracy, with a total of 37 behinds scored for the game.

Of those, 27 came from Millicent, while it found the big sticks on 11 occasions for an eventual 93-34 result.

The Saints started the match against the breeze and finished the first quarter down by two points after scoring eight behinds to West's 1.4. However, stand-in coach Tom Renzi remained pleased with the effort put in which created plenty of scoring opportunities.

"We had a bit of a plan of attack while we were kicking into the breeze," he said.

"We actually stuck to our plan which was great.

"Obviously we didn't capitalise but in all seriousness I felt like we played reasonably good footy, it just didn't show on the scoreboard."
