Men's Shed expanding for veterans

Millicent Men's Shed has recently secured $25,000 through the Federal Government's Veteran and Community Program that will see their long planned extension through to lock up stage. The total cost of the project is $40,000 with the Men's Shed contributing the additional $15,000 required from its existing funds.

Secretary of the Men's Shed, Chris Mathias said the group drew up a formal partnership with the Returned and Services League (RSL) Millicent Sub-branch last year, to provide an outlet for welfare support for military veterans in the region.

Membership of the Men's Shed has more than doubled this year according to its secretary Chris Mathias who is looking forward to a long awaited extension coming to fruition after securing a $25,000 grant.

Radio examined

By Elsie Adamo

Millicent community radio station 5THE FM is being investigated by the Australian Communications and Media Authority (ACMA), the South Eastern Times can reveal.

ACMA is the governing body that regulates media services in Australia, ensuring all broadcasters follow legislative and licencing requirements.

It has confirmed an investigation into 5THE FM began in April, prompted by a complaint received about the station.

While the investigation is being undertaken, the authority could not comment on the nature of the complaint or what regulations may have been breached.

Community radio stations in Australia are subject to the Broadcasting Services Act 1992, which outlines rules for community radio stations such as not making a profit, being run by an incorporated body or charity and encouraging members of the community to participate in the station.

Sales trajectory - Gemmah Cook has recently joined Valerie Jones at Millicent Real Estate and is currently undertaking the real estate salesperson course.

House prices doubling in 12 months

Millicent has had the largest real estate growth across regional South Australia in a 12 month period according to the 2022 March quarter figures recently released by the Real Estate Institute of South Australia (REISA).

In the figures, Millicent was named as having an increase of more than 50 per cent.

The statement, released earlier this month by REISA, claims the South Australian regional property market has recorded another strong year of growth with a new record median price across regional South Australia.

REISA interim chief executive officer, Cain Cooke said results continued to demonstrate outstanding growth in the South Australian regional real estate market in posting a 10.17 per cent median house price increase from the previous quarter and a 15.30 per cent increase from the same quarter last year.

"The volume of sales across regional South Australia demonstrated a cooling of the real estate market with a decrease of 14.85 per cent from the previous quarter," Mr Cooke said.

"Sales were up 1.7 per cent from the same quarter last year.

"Towns which have seen the largest growth over a 12 month period were Millicent, Berri and Mount Gambier with increases of 56.67 per cent, 36.47 per cent and 28.81 per cent respectively."

Millicent Real Estate owner Valerie Jones agreed and said: "Sales have been really good and prices have definitely gone up 50 to 60 per cent in the last 12 months, not all of them, but most houses.

"Listings are difficult to get right now because they are selling so quick, we are still getting listings but they have gone from sitting on the market for months to selling within weeks."

Tragedy memorial

By Kathy Fennell

It was a poignant occasion in Penola on Thursday when the families of four men killed in a tragic vehicle accident six years ago on the outskirts of the town gathered with other Penola community members to unveil a bench seat in their memory.

Christopher Sylvester, Steven Whitehead, Reece Wilkinson and Nick Roser lost their lives on their way to work on November 19, 2016.

Steven Sylvester, father of Christopher said: "On behalf of my family I would like to sincerely thank the Penola community for what they have done for us.

"Snow Merrett has been in touch with us the whole time, keeping us up to date on what was happening.

"We heard rumours that the tree was going to be cut down and we didn't want that to happen.

"If the tree went then we would have no reason to come here," Mr Sylvester said.

"We greatly appreciate the seat and special thanks to the Penola Men's Shed for building it with the assistance of the Wattle Range Council," he said.

Mr Wilkinson said: "It has been really, really wonderful the support we have had from the Penola community.

"We now have somewhere to come and reflect our memories.

"Snow Merrett (from Merrett Logging in Penola) has been absolutely fantastic in organising everything.

"We also thank the South East Car Club for their support in helping out with the car runs," he said.

SE Street Machine car club President Jim Coombe, secretary Merve Heemskerk and Snow Merrett with members of the Penola Men's Shed.

Unfortunately members of the Whitehead and Roser families were unable to attend.

The whole idea was instigated by Snow Merrett's grandson Cameron who suggested a 'put out your hard hat' day with Snow suggesting a car run.

Merrett (Snow) said: "We organised the car run within seven days and the event attracted 172 cars."

Members of the South East Street Machines Club were also heavily involved.

Club secretary, Merve Heemskerk said:

"$36000 was raised from the first car run and this money was distributed between the four families of the men that were killed to assist with funeral expenses.

"This amount came from car entry fees, sponsorship and donations."

A memorial run was held a bit later and the money from this, which was much smaller, was donated to the Emergency Services in Penola," he said.

The car club also donated $250 to the Penola Men's Shed which went towards the making of the bench seat.

Crayfish festival’s blues

By Elsie Adamo

The future of the Beachport Crayfish Festival is in doubt after communications broke down between the Wattle Range Council and volunteers from the event’s organising committee.

The event, held on March 5, was regarded as a success by both the committee and council, selling 1982 tickets and making an expected profit of $9000.

It was the first time the event had taken place and was a council project organised in partnership with the committee which was made up of Beachport residents and council staff.

Soon after the event, problems arose between the Beachport residents and council staff about additional council costs appearing in the festival budget, what funds will be made available for the next event, and slow payment of invoices by council.

A meeting took place this month between residents and council staff about the situation.

Following the meeting, all Beachport community residents involved in the committee indicated they would be unwilling to work under the auspice of the Wattle Range Council on any future Crayfish Festival, leaving the future of the project in limbo.

Heather Burdon, an organising committee member, said she and other members had significant experience in planning community events.

The committee claims that additional engineering costs of about $10,000 were added into the budget after the event to cover council staffing costs that had not appeared earlier.

Ms Burdon said if the committee had known about the costs associated with council outdoor staff, alternative arrangements could have been made.

“There was transparency all the way through until the event was over, but to date, we continue to be left in the dark concerning the final financial outcome,” Ms Burdon said.

“It is so disappointing for the committee because we worked so hard and were always fully involved in all aspects of the festival, including the finances.”

Committee members estimated they spent around 500 hours each helping organise and run the event.

The committee was involved in the planning and running of the event and working to the budget, but ultimate responsibility for the event and finances sat with council.

Ms Burdon said the committee had been concerned about reputational damage following a long delay by council in paying businesses and entertainers for services provided during the event.

“It was not until we jumped up and down two months later when people were ringing us asking why they had not been paid, they [council staff] decided to devote some time to finalising the festival,” she said.

“A lot of us run small businesses and mak-

No More - Volunteers Mike Coonan, Di Roach and Pamela Stratford and Heather Burdon said they would not be willing to work with the council for a future event.

ing those involved in the hospitality industry, who have been doing it tough, wait for extended periods to be paid is just not acceptable or the way we operate.”

Development services director for the council Emma Clay worked with the committee directly along with other staff to help coordinate the event.

Ms Clay claims that the costs had been budgeted for.

“Council budgeted $15,000 for this festival and obtained an additional $5,000 grant,” she said.

“The costs that we incurred, there was actually council funds budgeted for that.”

Ms Clay rejected the idea council staff had not been transparent during the planning.

“It was always a partnership and that is why we were so transparent with the budget because we wanted them to be involved and we wanted them to have some decision making,” she said.

“It is disappointing, we want to be strengthening these relationships.”

Ms Clay said the partnership had been successful until after the event.

“If there are certain community or committee members that do not want to be involved at the next event, we will have to reconsider the model the event is run in,” Ms Clay said.

Council chief executive officer Ben Gower said he was very grateful for the support the group had provided, but stood by the additional engineering costs.

“All of those costs were expended in setting up, supporting on the day and packing up the event; they are absolutely justified,” he said.

Mr Gower said staff had been unaware of the problem with the unpaid bills until the meeting.

“I gave a personal commitment to follow through on every single invoice,” he said.

In a council meeting in April, a motion was passed to consider a $5,000 budget allocation for the 2023 festival, a significant drop from the $15,000 provided to the 2022 event.

An official decision on the future of the event and any funding will be decided by the Wattle Range Council during budget deliberations.

“It is not cancelled at this stage, but it is also not programmed for next year,” Mr Gower said.

Ms Burdon said she cannot see how the event could be held without community support.

“People have already booked in for accommodation to attend next year’s event,” she said.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

The South Eastern Times article (‘Static over radio’ May 12) which raises concerns about 5THEFM’s community access, volunteer numbers, programming, management and governance, fails to acknowledge the considerable market and social change and challenges confronting local media and all community volunteer organisations over the last three decades.

Community radio stations, because of their ‘niche-skill’ nature, particularly struggle with recruiting, training, and maintaining volunteers prepared to guarantee studio and administrative commitments.

All community radio stations throughout the South East and beyond have experienced such threats to their viability.

In this context of parlous numbers and stress, optimum collaborative decision making isn’t always achieved.

The understandable organisational response is to either knuckle-down and persevere with diminishing resources while seeking scarce volunteers and funds; or alternatively, review viability and explore possible options.

Manager Sheryl Lowe has contributed enormously to 5THEFM for many years.

In the absence of sufficient local volunteers she has more recently sought production and programme assistance from skilled radio enthusiasts beyond Millicent.

The last few Covid years, has especially been a constraint to accessibility and volunteer availability.

As an aging 5THEFM volunteer making a limited weekly programme contribution, I suggest that discussion about the station be realistic and solution focussed rather than canvassing old resentment and encouraging current accusations.

A lead page article constructed by local print media featuring a council mayor without declaring conflict of interests is not a good look for all parties.

Radio investigation started

Information has not been made publicly available on the progress of the investigation.

Based on previous cases, investigations by ACMA take several months to complete, averaging around six to seven months.

If breaches are found ACMA can take action, such as issuing an informal or formal warning, an infringement notice, giving remedial direction or even applying to the Federal Court for civil penalty orders or injunctions.

The action taken by ACMA depends on the seriousness of the breach, and how widespread or harmful the behaviour was.

Concerns about 5THE FM were publicly aired last week by Wattle Range Council Mayor Des Noll, who told the South Eastern Times that the organisation suffers from a lack of transparency and community engagement.

“I am very concerned about the radio station’s direction into the future,” Mr Noll said.

“There appears to be no governance structure or board of management in place that gives the radio station structure, and management transparency.

“The radio station is an important community asset, I do not believe it is currently delivering its full potential as the community and the radio station’s licence would expect.”

It is not known if these specific concerns are being investigated by ACMA.

The South Australian Consumer and Business Services (CBS) monitors the compliance of incorporated bodies in the State.

A CBS spokesperson was unable to “confirm or deny” if there is any investigation in relation to 5THE FM.

5THE FM was contacted for comment about the ACMA investigation, but no response was received by The South Eastern Times.

Junior innovation classes

By Caroline Hammat

Young Innovators Masterclass this Sunday is ideally aimed at year 7 students as part of a newly launched Innovation Festival presented by The Limestone Coast and Green Triangle Innovation Collective (LCGTIC).

Facilitated by Millicent High School tech studies teacher and international education consultant, Feresh Pizarro, the afternoon session promises to be full of rich ideas offering tools and strategies for young people to use in their daily life.

Ms Pizarro wants to create a memorable hands on experience and said: “For me education is trying to connect students to the real world that they are going to have to face.

“The Young Innovators Masterclass will give students the ability to identify real problems that they would like to try to solve and then they can create solutions.

“Once the solution has been identified, prototypes will be created out of cardboard, glue or sticks or drawn up as a plan and used to pitch the idea to the rest of the room.

“I’m going to give the students fake money and they are going to be investors.

“They can be creative and innovative and the skills they take from the masterclass can help them with their studies and everyday life.

“Things like embracing failure, being persistent, creative and critical thinking, that’s my hope.”

The Young Innovators Masterclass is open to 10-13 year old students and will be held at the Millicent Library this Sunday from 11.30am to 2pm. Tickets are $5 (+ booking fee) and available online at <https://events.humanitix.com/young-innovators-event>.

Teachers and educators interested in entrepreneurial education are encouraged to contact Feresh Pizarro at Millicent High School to attend the session.

Youthful innovation: Feresh Pizarro with the Millicent High School’s laser cutter and recent work undertaken by students for a local new business.

Ms Pizarro stressed the focus is not on money and is about giving the students the ability to identify what problems are worth solving.

“There are too many bad ideas out there that are making money and contributing to the problem instead of being a solution.”

Teachers are encouraged to attend if they are interested in seeing entrepreneurial education practice strategies in action.

“If teachers are interested in entrepreneurial education I’m more than happy to chat, that’s what I’ve been doing for the last two years, upskilling professional development for teachers to know how to apply this in every single one of their classrooms.

“It doesn’t matter what subject it is because entrepreneurial education is about value creation for students and how students create value for others and themselves.”

Originally joining LCGTIC as a small business owner looking for connections Ms Pizarro soon noticed there was a need to represent young people in the area.

“There are all these events happening for everyone and there was nothing for young people and that is where we need to start,” Ms Pizarro said.

“I feel like I can leave them feeling empowered to not just wait until they are adults to do something.

“They can be creative and innovative and the skills they take from the masterclass can help them with their studies and everyday life.

“Things like embracing failure, being persistent, creative and critical thinking, that’s my hope.”

The Young Innovators Masterclass is open to 10-13 year old students and will be held at the Millicent Library this Sunday from 11.30am to 2pm. Tickets are $5 (+ booking fee) and available online at <https://events.humanitix.com/young-innovators-event>.

Family connection to Kalangadoo farmers market

By Kathy Fennell

A family connection initiated the Kalangadoo Farmers market and its venue.

It all began when Kalangadoo resident Sandra Young purchased the former Kalangadoo Uniting Church and hall in 2010.

She had a special connection to the buildings as her late husband, Forrest, was a lay preacher at the church, and Sandra herself was a Sunday school teacher, until the church closed down in 2007.

“After my husband passed away in 2009, I wanted to buy some property,” Sandra said.

“It (the property) was advertised at what I had to spend, however when the owners knew it was me they dropped the price by $20,000.

“This allowed me a bit left over to upgrade the toilets and the electricity,” she said.

“Then I had to decide what I wanted to do with the buildings.

Kalangadoo Farmers Market President Alex Guenther and market founder Sandra Young.

“My first thought was to convert them into bed and breakfast accommodation, however that just seemed a bit too hard,” Sandra said.

Mrs Young had a love for farmers markets and had already visited the Adelaide Central Market and markets at Willunga and Angaston.

She wanted to make it something the community could be involved in so she called a public meeting to gauge the interest in Kalangadoo and district, and the establishment of the Kalangadoo market went from there.

When Mrs Young was doing her research she was advised that a market should open weekly and must have a membership to make it work.

The market officially opened 11 years ago and has been going strong ever since, only closing four times apart from when Covid-19 caused restrictions.

Every Saturday the market offers a range of produce, candles, preserves and jams, cakes, pies and pasties, honey, plants, fruit and vegetables, crafts and knick-knacks.

Market President, Alex Guenther, who has held the role for seven years, said: “We have a wonderful market with people, including regulars, attending from far and wide.

“We also sell on commission where people can drop in their goods for sale and we take a small fee for the service,” he said.

A popular attraction is the sausage sizzle which is run by a small band of people each week.

In the church hall there is a small cafe where tea, coffee and homemade cake can be purchased and patrons can sit and have a chat.

Mr Guenther said: “We are always looking for volunteers, as many hands make light work.”

Covid cases at Boneham

Six residents of Millicent's Boneham Aged Care Services (BACS) have returned Covid-19 positive results in the last week.

On Tuesday this week, chief executive officer of BACS Michael Filsell issued a statement on social media advising that: "At this point all residents are only mildly symptomatic and one has been transported to hospital for reasons unrelated to Covid-19".

Mr Filsell issued a statement last Friday when the first case, a resident of the Wyndemere wing, returned a Covid-19 positive result from a Rapid Antigen Test (RAT).

The statement said Wyndemere wing residents and their family members were notified by telephone and the wing was immediately placed into isolation with residents isolating in their rooms while urgent PCR testing was implemented.

Pathology services arrived on site the same day to undertake PCR tests of all residents across the facility.

By last Sunday Mr Filsell announced through an updated social media post that two more residents had returned positive tests.

The two positive tests from the Plover and Manor wing led to the facility being placed on the highest level restrictions.

On Tuesday, Mr Filsell announced another three residents had tested positive in the Manor, Plover and Kintore Wing.

Mr Filsell told the South Eastern Times that continued testing was being undertaken to ensure the facility is aware of any further infections in the facility.

"Restrictions are likely to escalate but the situation is ongoing and rapidly changing with visitation protocols constantly under review," Mr Filsell said. "It's a very fluid situation, things may change so always check with the site or our Facebook page for latest updates."

All visitors to the site must wear an N95 mask and undertake a RAT test before entering and family members with concerns are asked to contact BACS for more information

At the time of print deadline on Tuesday, staff from BACS were providing daily updates to families of residents in the impacted wings and a carpark meeting had been organised to allow families to discuss issues directly with Mr Filsell.

Stolen sedan set on fire

Police are investigating the theft of a car which was found on fire near Mount Burr on Sunday morning.

At 4am on Sunday, the Mount Burr Country Fire Service brigade was called to extinguish the car which had been set alight on the Overland Track near the intersection with the Mount Burr/Penola Road at Gran Gran.

SA Police report that the Ford Falcon sedan had been stolen from a Tantanoola address sometime between 6pm on Saturday and 12.01am on Sunday.

Police report that no one was in the car or with the car at the time of it being found on fire, and the car was completely destroyed.

Police said investigations are continuing and anyone with information about the theft of the car or the subsequent fire, is asked to call Crime Stoppers on 1800 333 000.

Men's Shed numbers grow

"Currently, 32 per cent of the Men's Shed's members are veterans, a number of whom have been referred to the Shed by the RSL committee," Mr Mathias said.

"This relationship has been of great value in providing a facility which welcomes veterans and offers them companionship and some purpose in life through the undertakings of the Shed.

"To provide more activities for all its members, the Shed is expanding to encompass a metal workshop to compliment the current woodwork workshop."

Mr Mathias said the extension to the shed should be finished in early August as the contract to build the shed has already been given out and work is expected to start within weeks.

He also said the Shed's membership has more than doubled this year with ages ranging from 29 to 93 years old.

"At the end of last year we had 33 members and now we are up to 48 at the moment," Mr Mathias said.

The growth in membership includes men from the Limestone Coast Model Railway Group.

The group had been searching for somewhere affordable to set up permanent model railway tracks and approached Mr Mathias.

"They asked if I knew of anywhere and I said we are expanding and moving everything out of the current storage shed, so we offered them our storage shed; they had a look around it and said it was absolutely ideal."

Mr Mathias said the group has been offered associate membership with half of them making the decision to sign up for full Men's Shed membership.

CFS cadets get together

Being a cadet for the Country Fire Service (CFS) is a dream come true for Brodie Henderson.

The 15 year old has been a keen cadet with the Penola brigade for more than a year, after a long wait to become old enough to join.

With family in the brigade, it was inevitable that Brodie too would want to get on a truck.

“When we were living in Victoria, I was begging them to get a cadets program started at my local brigade,” he said.

“I’ve been around fire trucks for the last ten years, and now I am a cadet.

“I love to do it, so I am happy to get out and do it every week.”

He loves every part of the cadet program, saying he loved to do it all.

Brodie joined more than 60 Limestone Coast cadets on Sunday at a cadets day held at Naracoorte where they held a friendly competition between the groups.

Cadets tried out a number of drills, including a burn-over drill, hose skills, trust exercises and team-building activities.

Region 5 Cadet Liaison officer Claire Simcock said it had been almost 25 years since the region had held a cadets day.

“It brings all the cadets together to learn teamwork, get to know cadets from other areas, and teach them that it’s not all about their little brigade,” she said.

“If they go on to be seniors they’ll get to work with all sorts of people not just the ones they are used to.

“It’s about having some fun and teaching some new drills and getting them together - we mixed up the teams so they are working with different people they haven’t met and hopefully they make some friends out of it.

“We are really excited to have more than 60 cadets show up to this, when two years ago, we didn’t really have a regional cadet program like this.”

Cadets: Brodie Henderson of the Penola CFS Brigade cadets.

She was hopeful that the event was the first of many for the cadets, including a championship later in the year.

For Brodie, the burn-over activity was the best part of the day, along with meeting new people.

“I got along with the other people I was in the group with,” he said.

“I was nervous at the start to be with other people I didn’t know, but I enjoyed it.”

Firey women workshop coming to Furner

By Caroline Hammat

Women are being encouraged to sign up for a two day workshop in Furner hosted by the Country Fire Service on May 29 and June 5.

The Firey Women workshops have been running for more than 10 years around the State and the Limestone Coast but this is the first time it will be held in Furner.

In an inclusive setting, women will learn the skills needed to protect their families and livelihoods in case of bushfire.

Through providing information and practical skills, the workshop's aim is to assist women in empowering and protecting themselves, their family and their community.

Being prepared emotionally, knowing how to operate fire pumps and equipment, and preparing a bushfire survival plan, are some of the topics covered.

Course facilitator, Megan Hurrell, a CFS Regional Community Engagement officer, told the South Eastern Times: “It is really important to have a plan in place and know what you going to do, whether you’re going to leave or relocate early or you’re going to stay at home and actively defend your property.

“While the fire danger season is finished now and we are going into winter, this is a really good time to do this course.

“It gives a lot of time to actually think about what you want to do and put those preparations in place, rather than rushing as it gets warmer leading into summer.

“You can prepare the plans, discuss them with your family and make the preparations with plenty of time, so it is a less stressful situation.”

Previous Lucindale course participant Sally said: “I was reluctant to do the course, but I am so very glad I did.

“A great kick start coming into the next fire season.

“I feel empowered and equipped to write and prepare an adequate first bushfire plan.”

The workshop is open to all women, even those who live outside bushfire prone areas as people still regularly travel through high risk areas.

With embers able to travel 20kms in front of a fire-front Ms Hurrell stressed it is important to know where to go, what to do and what your family members are doing.

The Firey Women workshop is held over two Sundays with attendance required at both sessions.

Registrations are essential by contacting Megan Hurrell on 0429 411 374 or cfsregion5commengage@sa.gov.au. au.fsregion5commengage@sa.gov.au.

A taste of victory for Raidis

Coonawarra’s Raidis Estate has tasted success, winning Best Tasting Experience in Gourmet Traveller WINE’s 2022 Cellar Door awards.

The winery is well-known for good food and live music, and co-owner Emma Raidis said good customer service was key to their success.

“For us, we just concentrate on making sure everyone has a good time,” she said.

“We don’t do anything crazy, but we do really make sure everyone feels welcome and warm at our place and making sure everyone has a good time.

“There is a huge focus on events - we have lots of live music and food, and make it family friendly.

“I wouldn’t say what we do, although we do get praised for it a lot, is rocket science, but what it really comes down to is making sure everyone who walks in the door feels welcome and included.”

It is the second time the winery has been awarded for great service.

Raidis was not the only winery in the region to succeed in the awards with Bellwether Wines winning Star Cellar Door, Wynns Coonawarra Estate winning Best Large Cellar Door and Ottelia winning Cellar Door with Best Food.

Incentive for apprentices

MED Electrical in Penola is the recipient of support with $5000 payments to new apprentices from the Federal government.

Caleb Lythgo and Fergus Calderwood are the latest two employees who have benefited from the scheme.

Tony Pasin, Member for Barker, was in Penola recently to acknowledge the two $5000 recipients to employees at MED Electrical.

Mr Marcus Devereaux, owner of MED Electrical said: "The scheme has not personally benefited me, however I wanted to employ some guys anyway.

"It is impossible to get qualified staff in the South East at present, so I went down the line of putting on apprentices.

"Hopefully they stick around and qualify in four years time."

Mr Devereaux said that the apprentice scheme helps out on smaller jobs.

"When apprentices can carry out smaller jobs it reduces the charges that I have to make to clients.

"I don't charge clients full tote odds if an apprentice carries out the work," he said.

MED Electrical has also had other forms of government assistance in past years.

"The subsidy is an added bonus but I feel there could be another way where apprentices could benefit a bit more," he said.

"Apprentices get a fairly low wage and there should be more incentive."

"My number one priority is to employ locals," he said.

"If we can employ locals then the local community supports my business."

Mr Devereaux said: "I try to source my apprentices from local schools but this is extremely hard as there are so many other work opportunities out there.

"I started off on my own in 2014 and the business has grown immensely since then," he said.

"We are kept very busy as there is always something someone wants done.

"I am looking forward to continuing supporting the Penola community and employing more locals," he said.

"Youth employment has reached its lowest level in more than 13 years and there are a record 220,000 Australians in trade apprenticeships," Mr Pasin said.

Entrepreneural study to tour the region

Workshops in change and leadership begin this weekend in the Limestone Coast as a way to identify and develop innovation and entrepreneurial activity.

The Innovation Festival is a series of 12 online and inhouse workshops presented by The Limestone Coast and Green Triangle Innovation Collective (LCGTIC) spread over a week starting May 22.

The LCGTIC developed out of research and a report in 2021 supported by South Australian Government's Department for Innovation and Skills and Flinders University recommending a collective approach to innovation and entrepreneurial development in the Limestone Coast region.

The purpose of the collective is to focus and expand resources, to identify, develop, and grow innovation and entrepreneurial activity and economic diversification.

The festival is structured to benefit business owners and other individuals looking to further skillsets, wanting advice on making the first move or upcoming trends or for personal learning opportunities.

LCGTIC member Faresh Pizarro, an international educational consultant, Millicent High School educator and small business owner has recently moved to the area with her family and built a new home.

Keen to do something within the community Ms Pizarro was quick to be involved in the LCGTIC when approached, recognising the region is rich with resources and wanting to connect people with opportunities they may not be aware of.

"We want to get things moving in the area, to celebrate businesses, motivate people to come to the area and also build the brand for the Limestone Coast."

Ms Pizarro is hosting the Millicent Young Innovators Masterclass event being held in Millicent and as a tech studies teacher is passionate about finding and teaching real world applications for her students.

"For me education is trying to connect students to the real world that they are going to have to face and tech gives a lot of opportunity to connect with industry that's what's really exciting for me."

Other Innovation Festival events being held in the Wattle Range Council region are a free 'Look and Learn' tour focussing on innovative approaches in primary industry at Roundwood Solutions facilitated by Millicent Business Community Association Chair, Lee Morgan on May 24.

The tour will be followed by presentations given by local businesses Total Result Agricultural Consulting and Soil Food Web held at the Tantanoola Hotel.

Showcase SA is hosting the Business Accelerator event at Coonawarra which offers opportunities for business owners to learn tangible skills to take their business to the next level and be informed of emerging opportunities.

Taking place on May 25 participants get to enjoy local produce over lunch during the professional development opportunity.

Festival workshops are taking place in Millicent, Mount Gambier, Tantanoola, Penola and online.

Workshops vary in cost with half being free to register; for a full program of events and registration details search online for Regional Innovation Festival 2022.

Roadwork on route to Beachport

Roadworks on about 2.5kms of the Southern Ports Highway between Millicent and Beachport began on Monday.

A spokesperson for the Department for Infrastructure and Transport (DIT) said the work involved laying 30mm of new asphalt over the top of the existing roadway. The works are expected to be complete on June 3, weather permitting. An electronic advisory board was erected near the Saleyards Road intersection in Millicent to provide advance notice to road users of the works.

"Please plan ahead, allow extra travel time and take extra care when workers are on site," the DIT spokesperson asked of drivers.

"Observe speed limits, lane restrictions and traffic controllers when travelling through the area.

"The Department appreciates motorists' patience while these important works are carried out."

Beachport jetty work to start in August

Upgrades of the Beachport Jetty are expected to start in August.

The Department for Infrastructure and Transport (DIT) has confirmed that the project is in its final procurement process stages and, if all goes to plan, will start sometime in August. The $4.5 million project to ensure the long-term structural integrity of the jetty was originally planned to start in early 2022, before being pushed back. A representative from DIT has confirmed that upgrades are still expected to be completed by the end of 2022 at this stage.

The end of the jetty is expected to be closed while upgrades are ongoing, with sections of the shore end closed intermittently with notice. Once procurement details are finalised, updates on working hours and closures will be announced.

The upgrades will include refurbishment of the Beachport jetty along with adding safety ladders.

Market goes into hiatus

The Millicent Market this Saturday will be the last for awhile.

With Millicent's weather starting to cool, and winter sports beginning to impact stall holder and market attendance numbers, Wattle Range Council has decided to put the monthly Millicent community market into hibernation for a few months.

Market organisers will instead focus their time and effort on the Geltwood Market Day planned for October 16.

The community market this Saturday starts at 9am and ends at 1pm in the rotunda parklands and will feature stalls, live performances and children's activities.

Close shave for a cause

By Caroline Hammat

Kalangadoo resident, Peta Rogers, put her head on the auction block Saturday night by offering the responsibility of shaving her hair off to the highest bidder.

Ms Rogers is raising funds for the Leukaemia Foundation, a charity close to her heart, and this is the second time in 13 years she has lopped off her locks for the World's Greatest Shave (originally named Shave for a Cure).

The head shave was the final item up for auction held at the Kalangadoo Clubrooms and was won by Peta's husband Nick who paid $680 for the privilege.

Ms Rogers explained her support for the foundation: "My son Jack was diagnosed at the age of two with leukaemia.

"To be told that your two year old has leukaemia and you need to live in Adelaide for six to eight months was quite scary.

"Back then we didn't have any family in Adelaide and I didn't have any close friends that lived in Adelaide to stay with.

"But the nurses put us in contact with the Leukaemia Foundation and they were just magnificent, they gave us a fully furnished unit free of charge, it didn't cost us anything to stay there.

"Everyday they contacted me, they knew Jack's dad worked on a cray boat and it was right in the middle of the fishing season so he couldn't leave to come up.

"We also had my daughter Halle, who was 8 months old at the time and stayed home with her dad while I went to Adelaide with Jack for eight months.

"The Leukaemia Foundation were fantastic, they would ring me or pop in every day for a coffee, just to check up on us and just to see how we were."

Losing locks: Nick Rogers, Halle Marino who helped tidy up Nick's hairdressing efforts, and Peta Rogers with her new look for winter.

Before Saturday night Ms Rogers had raised about $3,500; with a goal of $6,000 to $7,000 in mind, the Kalangadoo community threw their support behind Ms Rogers and surpassed expectations. Bidding well over market value for most auction items, $5,000 was raised on the night with auctioneers Ben Gregory and David Creek encouraging people to dig deep.

Hairy situation: Nick Rogers with clippers in hand prepares to shave his wife Peta's head.

The successful auction pushed the total fundraising effort to $10,188 at last count with Ms Rogers thanking the Kalangadoo community and all who supported her fundraising efforts.

Like many things in the tech world, cyber security has too many acronyms, too many buzzwords and far too many moving parts to keep on top of when trying to run a business.

There are many factors to consider for what is appropriate and realistic.

A balance between best practice and practicality must be considered, while ensuring that your data and systems remain secure and reliable. Enabling two-factor authentication alone is not enough to cover the many different ways that accounts and systems can be compromised.

There are many aspects to cyber security and the old days of an up-to-date computer with antivirus installed is a drop in the ocean compared to the new level of security required. This is where TDRS comes in.

We specialize in managing every aspect of your business's IT from the internet connection to the endpoint security.

We provide a single point of contact for all your cyber security and IT needs, making it simpler to ensure you are covered.

FIGHTER PILOT: THE REAL TOP GUN SBS Viceland, Thursday, 8.30pm

For some unique people, their everyday job involves flying hi-tech planes, worth hundreds of millions of dollars, so they can protect their country from the air, if the need arises. For the recruits on this fly-on-the-wall British documentary, that's their reality. Premiering tonight, the often-humorous three-part series follows a group of fighter pilot recruits as they work to be selected to fly the RAF's new F35 Lightning jet, which can avoid radar, hover and land vertically.

BIG FAT QUIZ OF EVERYTHING SBS, Saturday, 8.30pm

The whole world is ripe for picking in this hilarious pub-style quiz show. This special event happens annually, with wicked stand-up comedian Jimmy Carr (8 Out of 10 Cats) as the excellent question master. He is joined by a panel of comedians competing to see who knows the most about... well, everything. Fans will be rapt to see the poker-faced Richard Ayoade returning, along with Rob Beckett, Rosie Jones, Roisin Conaty, Mawaan Rizwan (pictured) and Joanne McNally, to answer questions such as what do Mark Zuckerberg, Adolf Hitler and Wallis Simpson have in common?

CELEBRITY APPRENTICE AUSTRALIA Nine, Sunday, 7pm

From actor Vince Colosimo to singer-songwriter Amy Shark, actress Jodi Gordon, swimmer Bronte Campbell (pictured) and comedian and author Jean Kittson, this season is overflowing with compelling personalities, notwithstanding CEO Lord Alan Sugar. But new adviser, businessman Nick Bell, will also get people talking. With a mega-watt smile, a $274 million-dollar fortune and a penchant for aerial gymnastics in his spare time, the 41-year-old isn't cut from the same cloth as the rest of us.

PICK OF THE WEEK

YOU CAN'T ASK THAT ABC TV, Wednesday, 9pm

There's an impressive list of diverse people who have appeared in this eye-opening, award-winning series, from adult virgins to the terminally ill, ice users, swingers, nudists and ex-politicians, but perhaps none as controversial as bogans. Many people proudly declare themselves to be one, while others shudder at the thought of being part of the mullet-loving, flannel-wearing crew. From trackie daks to burnouts and a pervasive drinking culture, what exactly does it mean to be a bogan? Tune in for this funny yet introspective exploration and meet the outspoken participants, including 61-year-old Lynne (pictured), who has rocked a mullet since she was 10 – despite regular pleas from her children to cut it off.

Bigger is better: Ford's large Everest is an impressive vehicle inside and out.

Room for many: The interior of the Everest features a larger interface and a more spacious glovebox.

New 2022 Ford Everest

By Ewan Kennedy, Marque Motoring

Ford has updated the Everest for 2022 with further improvements to safety and comfort. The modern interior design and inclusion of the SYNC 4A enabled 10.1-inch and 12-inch centre screens along with the fully digital instrument cluster. The addition of helpful features like a reach and height-adjustable steering wheel and improvements to SYNC will make living with the 2022 Everest a more enjoyable and stress-free experience. Ford Everest will feature two different engines depending on the model.

In a first for the series, the 2022 Everest will feature a 3.0L V6 Turbo Diesel engine with 184kW of power and 600Nm of torque. It is plenty of grunt to make the new Everest an excellent vehicle for towing. Producing 154kW and 500Nm, the 2.0-litre Bi-Turbo Diesel provide balance of pulling power and fuel economy. Both engines will drive through Ford's 10-speed automatic transmission. Everest is offered with two drivetrain options - 4x2 RWD is available on Ambiente and Trend. The 4x4 variants across the range feature an advanced full-time four-wheel drive system that uses an electronically controlled on-demand two-speed electromechanical transfer case with selectable drive modes. Everest's e-Shifter has optimised performance for different surfaces, road conditions and vehicle usage. On-road drive modes Normal: Designed for comfort, fuel efficiency and drivability. Eco: Maximises fuel economy by delivering progressive power and early gear shifts, together with more economical cruise control tuning and tailored climate control strategies.

Tow/Haul: For use while towing or carrying heavy loads. Optimises gear shift timing to maintain best power delivery and engine braking and reduce shift busyness. Slippery: For more confident driving on slippery or uneven surfaces. Off-road drive modes Sand: For use in soft sand and deep snow conditions, optimising power delivery and transmission shifts (4x4 Trend, Sport & Platinum variants only). Mud/Ruts: For maximum grip off-road during launch and maintaining vehicle momentum (4x4 Trend, Sport & Platinum variants only).

Kia Sorento coming with new hybrid drive options

By Ewan Kennedy, Marque Motoring

Kia Australia has confirmed the Hybrid GT-Line four-wheel-drive (4WD) and all-wheel-drive (AWD) has joined its Sorento range. This will make it the only vehicle available in Australia to offer naturally aspirated petrol, diesel, HEV (hybrid electric vehicle) and PHEV (Plug-in Hybrid). Kia chief operating officer Damien Meredith said the Sorento already provided one of the most versatile, practical and spacious large SUVs on the market and now, in an industry first, it also offers Australian buyers the most diverse powertrain line-up to choose from within a model range. "The addition of PHEV and HEV options to the popular Sorento range is another example of Kia's progress in vehicle electrification," Mr Meredith said. "Along with the recently launched and award winning EV6 and the next-generation Niro range of electric vehicles arriving in the very near future, Kia Australia is offering a variety of choices in its contribution to a greener future." The Sorento Parallel Hybrid System comprises a 1.6-litre turbo petrol engine producing 132kW of power and torque 265N. An electric motor producing 44kW and 264Nm of torque is mounted between the petrol engine and the six-speed automatic transmission. Energy storage is managed by a high voltage 1kWh Lithium-Ion polymer battery lo-

Convenience at a touch: The new Kia Sorento shows everything in the interior is within an arm's reach. cated under the vehicle floor. Official combined fuel consumption is 5.3L/100km in the front-wheel drive model and 5.8L/100km in the 4WD. Kia Sorento hybrid is sold in GT-line specification. It has a customisable 12.3-inch Driver Digital Cluster providing the status of the hybrid charging system. The Blind-spot View Monitor uses the side cameras so that when you indicate left or right, the cluster will show the view of the road in the blind spot. The 10.25-inch Audio Visual Navigation unit displays charging station locations and information.

New addition: KIA Sorento Hybrid GT-LINE is high, wide and handsome.

The screen can be split in two for easy access to different apps, vehicle information and multimedia content and allows the control of the 12-speaker BOSE premium surround system, which is compatible with wired Android Auto and Apple CarPlay.

Hatherleigh’s big victory

By Trevor Jackson

Hatherleigh 16.18 (114) d Glencoe 7.5 (47)

While Hatherleigh slipped to second position on the Mid South East football ladder after the weekend’s round of games, it was not due to a poor performance on the field.

Kalangadoo used a huge percentage-boosting win over Nangwarry to claim top spot after the Round 6 fixtures, while the Eagles claimed a big win of their own against Glencoe.

The writing was on the wall from the opening term, where the visiting Eagles banged on five majors and a couple of minors, while the Murphies could only manage one goal.

There was a clear scoring end but not how it appeared.

According to Hatherleigh coach Jake Dowdy it seemed the scoring came into the wind.

Either way, goals were hard to come by in the second term, as the Eagles kicked just one major score and eight behinds in the second term in the tough conditions, while the Murphies added just two behinds to their tally.

The third term was again all Hatherleigh, as the Eagles stretched the margin out to 60 points at the final break to stamp their authority on the contest.

Then to add insult to injury, Glencoe kicked four goals in the final term but the Eagles added a further five to their coffers to run out easy victors.

At the attacking end of the ground the Eagles’ forwards enjoyed their day out.

Dowdy, Brad Mitchell, Jack Skeer and Max Telfer all kicked three goals, while Jordan Galpin and Zach Jones added two each.

It could have been much more had the swirling breeze not added difficulty to set shots.

Hatherleigh coach Jake Dowdy has his Eagles soaring, with another big win chalked up on the weekend. Picture: FILE

“I think Jack Skeer had eight shots at goal, I had eight shots, I think Brad Mitchell had about five or six,” Dowdy said.

“In the swirly conditions it was hard kicking them.

“We all got a bit frustrated, as you do, but it is what it is.”

A big focus for Dowdy this year has been to mix it up in the attacking 50, which appears to be taking shape.

“We have a fair few goal scorers which is a good sign,” he said.

“You can’t just rely on one bloke all year or it is too easy for opposition to shut down.”

Hatherleigh was certainly in control for the majority of the contest.

Glencoe looked to close down the Eagles’ forward forays, with little effect in the end.

“Most games, teams will play two or three blokes behind the play,” Dowdy said.

“We started with Jack Skeer one-out in the square and at one stage Glencoe had three blokes behind the play.

“Then we went a bit more traditional with three blokes down there, so we had a big focus on not blazing away, hitting targets, lower your eyes and if there is a shorter option use it.”

One area the Eagles have struggled with this season has been a good start.

Several games have seen the side challenged early in the contest but Dowdy said that was all coming together now.

“Apart from the weekend, against Robe was the only other game we started pretty well,” he said.

“Against Tantanoola we started slow, so this week we wanted to start well.

“Kicking into the wind from the start we knew we had to work hard, run and carry.

“We did that pretty well and scored a bit more fluently, so we were pretty happy to get a good start.”

While the Eagles now sit in second position on the ladder, Dowdy is not concerned.

He said it was more about the side’s game plan coming together as the season builds, with a big focus on an upcoming clash in a few weeks.

“I don’t think it is too much about percentage but more just trying to get our game going,” Dowdy said.

“Then when we do play Kalangadoo we will be at our best.”

Magpies cruise home with strong win over Saints

By Trevor Jackson

Kalangadoo 36.16 (232) d Nangwarry 5.5 (35)

It was a day out for Michael Krieger on Saturday - and more importantly his Kalangadoo team mates - as the Magpies put on a clinic on their home deck against Nangwarry.

The Mid South East football Round 6 clash was simply a one-sided contest, as the Magpies ran rampant and the Saints were simply never in the contest.

Krieger was the recipient up forward for the Magpies, as he led with confidence and nailed 10 major scores as a result.

He was joined by a long list of team mates finding the big sticks in a game which showed the strength and desire of Kalangadoo to claim a premiership flag in 2022.

The opening term set the scene as the home side hit the ground running and banged on 9.5 (59), while the Saints could only manage three goals and a minor score.

Unfortunately as the game rolled on the Magpies pushed hard, despite being slowed up somewhat in the second term due to the prevailing wind.

The Saints kicked two behinds in the second quarter but nothing more until the last term where they added two majors and two minor scores.

Meanwhile it was the Magpies’ day and despite holding a 54-point half-time lead, they pushed on in the third term to decimate the Saints, adding a further 12 goals.

If that was not enough, the final stanza, even into the wind, was still all about the Magpies, as they ran the game out and added a further 13 goals.

With plenty of options up forward, Kalangadoo was able to draw on a long list of goal kickers, 11 in total, with Krieger topping the list with his 10 majors.

While Krieger would have been a major focus for the Saints to stop, the Magpies had plenty of other options.

Patrick Davies popped up with six goals, while Ben Gregory added a further four.

Lachy Jones and Tye McManus added three each, while other multiples went to Matthew Davies, Alex Lyon, Emayah Young and Jamil Jones with two each.

Andrew Hyland and Luke Thomson managed two goals each for the Saints but a clear lack of delivery hampered their efforts.

The win pushed the Magpies to the top of the ladder by a large percentage margin over Hatherleigh.

Coach Kevin Stark said one major focus this season was about a four-quarter effort, which clearly panned out on Saturday, along with sharing the load up forward.

Again the game went to script, with Stark more than happy with the overall effort considering the pressure applied by the Saints.

“Every time we went inside 50 we wanted to be unpredictable and mix it up,” he said.

“I think with Michael Krieger, he probably would have had a few more goals for the season if delivery had been better.

“We are starting to get better and now blokes like him who are very good come into the play a lot more.”

Despite Pat Davies and Ben Gregory almost playing second fiddle to Krieger, 10 goals between them was certainly welcome by Stark.

“Blokes like Ben Gregory, he plays his role where he can be higher up the ground which takes him away from the goal,” he said.

“His work rate is really good and he gets back into scoring position.

“He is great through the middle of the ground as well and is a phenomenal player.”

Tye McManus is another player who had a standout day, along with Mitch Lowe, with the pair named in the best players for good reason.

“Trying to pick the best players is unbelievably hard,” Stark said.

“A lot of the time it is your repeat offenders, such as Mitch Lowe and Tye McManus.

“Tye is quite impressive to watch, how elusive he is and Mitch, you would think he is a lot older, the way he plays and carries himself but he is just a kid really.”

The core group provides a tough challenge for any side to counter, with Stark keen to spread the load even wider.

“I don’t want to have a situation where we have a big win and the best six is obvious,” he said.

“The most pleasing thing for me is how even the contributions are across the board and the players’ willingness to play a different role for the team if it is for the good of the team.”

The six best players on Saturday included Davies, McManus, Lachy Jones, Lowe, Krieger and Gregory, a core group any coach would be happy to take on.

But Stark was quick to point out it is a predominantly local side, apart from himself.

“It makes a big difference they know each other well,” he said.

“Pat came back this year but he is a local and knows all the boys.

“They are all friends, local boys and have played a lot of footy together.

“They have grown up together, have all been around the club for a long time and it makes it an easy group to work with.”

Good win for Roosters

By Trevor Jackson

Robe 12.5 (77) d Port MacDonnell 10.13 (73)
Port MacDonnell would be ruing missed opportunities in front of goal as they went down to a tough Robe side in Round 6 of Mid South East football on Saturday.

It was the closest game of the round and could have gone either way.

The Demons had a bit to play for, with their first home game of the year after renovations to the ground pre-season had taken longer than hoped.

With more scoring opportunities overall, the Demons were right in the contest but the Roosters were more productive in front of goals, with just five behinds at the end of the day to Port MacDonnell's 13.

The four-point final margin kept fans on the edge of their seats right to the final siren, as fortunes fluctuated on the stiff coastal breeze.

Robe's Jasper Barritt looks to kick forward under plenty of pressure from Port MacDonnell's Fraser Lynch.

The Demons held a slender five-point lead at the first break, kicking with some advantage from the strong breeze.

Kevin Thomson was in good touch early, showing his class with a goal from the boundary which he drifted in on the breeze and the Demons were up and about, looking every bit a challenger.

However, the Roosters turned their fortunes around on the breeze in the second quarter to take an eight-point lead to the long break but again the wind played its part in the third term.

The home side put on another three majors while holding the visitors to just one and re-claimed the lead as a result.

A seven-point advantage was always going to be tough to defend in the conditions but the Demons looked up to the task.

The tall timber of Will MacDonald and Tim Sullivan were having an effect but the Roosters were not about to give up the chance to claim a win over the reigning premiers and further consolidate their position towards the pointy end of the ladder.

In the end it was a matter of perseverance and the Roosters continued to fight the game out until the final siren, with the four-point victory a welcome return for effort on a tough day for football.

In front of goals Thomson led with five majors, while Tim Sullivan was the only other Demon with multiple goals, with two to his name.

For the victors Kaden Woodward stood up with three goals, while Fred Batzias, Joel Bryant and Jack Kelly kicked two each.

Robe was well served by coach Thomas Wachtel, along with Woodward, Kelly, Jasper Barritt and Bryant.

Port MacDonnell's best included Mark Smith with his usual tough brand of football, along with Kyall McClean, MacDonald, Sullivan, Ben O'Dine and Jake Schleter.

Tant Tigers play smart game to take win from Hawks

By Trevor Jackson

Tantanoola 11.9 (75) d Kongorong 8.10 (58)
A late flurry from Kongorong was not enough to overcome Tantanoola in Round 6 of Mid South East football on Saturday.

While just 17 points separated the two sides at the final siren, the Tigers were in control for much of the game.

An opening-term barrage set the Tigers up for the win, with four goals and five behinds to Kongorong's one major.

The 23-point advantage was needed, as the the Hawks came back hard in the second term but at the long break still trailed by 11 points.

Fortunes fluctuated on the breeze and Tantanoola took advantage in the third quarter to stretch the margin to 34 points.

Again the margin was needed as the home side tried to use the wind to its advantage on the run home.

Despite holding the Tigers scoreless in the final stanza, the Hawks could not reel in the margin and went down by 17 points in a hard slog.

The difference in the end was the ability of the Tigers to find their spearhead forwards in good position, as Jack Dawe and Brandon Pitts kicked three majors each.

Tigers coach Jak Ryan said he expected a tough contest, with the strong breeze set to have an impact on the final outcome.

As it panned out, the contest was spirited, with both sides playing a tough brand of football.

Two yellow cards were handed out, including one to Ryan but he said the way his players reacted showed plenty of resolve.

"When I went off for 15 minutes, the way the boys lifted that extra bit to make sure we didn't seem like we were one man down was great," he said.

"Coming into the last quarter with points in the basket, we just wanted to play smart.

"I felt like we were in control but it was hard kicking into the wind."

One plan which Ryan said made the difference in the end was playing that smart brand of football, rather than blazing away with long kicks on the breeze.

"With such a strong breeze, you can get into that mindset of kicking a goal from 60 or blaze away from 70 out," he said.

"I said the boys, let's beat them with the knowledge we have of lowering the eyes and hitting that small target.

"I think that got us over the line."

In the scheme of the season, it was an important win for Tantanoola to keep in touch with the top four.

The Tigers sit in fifth place, equal on points with Port MacDonnell.

With the Tigers well in contention to crack the top four, a big test will come this weekend against the fourth-placed Port MacDonnell.

Again Ryan is not taking anything for granted and relishes the challenge ahead.

"Port Mac will be a good challenge for us," he said.

"We have played a couple of teams where we want to draw the line in the sand with and they are one of those teams.

"They have some handy footballers that we have to look out for and they are not going to come easy."

Eagles’ close game

Hatherleigh 43 d Glencoe 39

The contest went down to the wire as Hatherleigh and Glencoe fought out a classic game for Round 6 of Mid South East netball on Saturday.

Glencoe started the game strongly and netted four goals before Hatherleigh was able to hit the board.

However, the momentum turned quickly, with Hatherleigh's Demi Vanderhorst getting her hands on plenty of ball, enabling re-entry into the Eagles' goal circle.

The Murphies entered the first break trailing by three goals, then with a new-look goal circle of Jenna Paproth and Laura Edwards, utilised the front space to reduce the impact of Vanderhorst.

Tegan Telfer found her feet for the Eagles, with plenty of easy access to the circle edge.

As a result Hatherleigh increased its lead to five at half time.

The Eagles came out of the main break with a point to prove and the space game of Vanderhorst and Lara McGregor forced Glencoe into error, helping Hatherleigh to a 10-goal lead midway through the quarter.

However, a strong rebound from Chloe Pfitzner ignited a run on effect of intercept ball for the Glencoe defenders, which kep the margin to six at the final break.

The Murphies contested every pass in a scrappy final term, while Maddie Redman stepped up for the Eagles, holding strongly and scoring the entirety of their 20 second-half goals.

Sarah Edwards took some timely floating intercepts in the centre third but the lockdown pressure of the Hatherleigh defence made it hard for the Murphies to convert.

The Eagles shooters had some late under-the-post shots to make the task a bit tougher for Glencoe.

Tegan Telfer played her usual high-octane game as the Eagles accounted for Glencoe in a tight contest.

Despite winning the term by two goals, time ran out for the Murphies, as the Eagles claimed a four-goal win.

Best players for Hatherleigh were Vanderhorst and Erin Watson, with Laura Edwards and Paproth best for Glencoe.

Magpies dominate

Kalangadoo 63 d Nangwarry 24

Kalangadoo set up its big win over Nangwarry with a relentless first term in Round 6 of Mid South East netball on Saturday.

The strong defensive combination of Reanna Wetherall, Lauren Kain and Shanen Pulkkinen working hard in the circle to provide plenty of scoring opportunities for the Magpies, as they went into the first break with a 13-5 lead.

The pressure continued after the break, with the Kalangadoo goalie combination of Kori Collins and Abbey Duncan combining well to find space, despite a strong effort from Nangwarry's Carly Ploenges and Hayley Vanderhorst.

Nangwarry's Hayley Burner worked hard to feed her goalies Ange Pratt and Tahlia Wilson accurately.

However, Kalangadoo extended its advantage and went to the main break up 29-12.

Wilson relished her move to goal attack after the break, where she found space and rewarded her team's hard work accurately.

However, Collins used her speed to advantage and made life tough for Nangwarry's defensive combination of Tahlia Puckridge and Carly Ploenges.

The final quarter saw Kalangadoo increase the intensity, with wing attack Sophie Wrightson finding space and driving to the goal circle.

The Magpies ran the game out to claim a dominant victory.

Best players for the Magpies were Collins and Kain, with Ploenges and Burner best for the Saints.

Demons stand up in tough conditions

Port MacDonnell 27 d Robe 25

Port MacDonnell used its first home game of the 2022 Mid South East netball season to good effect, claiming a nail-biting two goal win over Robe on Saturday.

With the wind blowing hard for the Round 6 clash, both sides settled and the top-of-the-table Robe came out firing with some early turnovers to apply the pressure.

In the absence of the Demon's Liza Mutch, Brooke Williams took to the centre and had a good tussle with Robe's Annie Hunter.

The windy conditions troubled the Demons' goalies Kirby Carrison and Toni Gilmore, but solid rebounding allowed the them to maintain possession.

Robe's Lucy Perkins showed precise passing into the circle which supported goalies Sarah Laurie and Tori Gluyas, with the fast and smooth transition across the court seeing the visitors ahead by two goals at the first break.

The second term saw the Demons' new defensive combination of Alana Winter and Belinda O'Dine work tirelessly to limit Robe's opportunities in the circle.

Despite Robe's defence taking advantage of all rebound opportunities, Gilmore's shooting accuracy and support from playing coach Narelle Lewis in the ring was up to the challenge and Port MacDonnell gained crucial turnovers which resulted in a five-goal lead at half time.

The beginning of the second half saw the Demons' new recruit Katelin Liebelt takeover from Jess Lynch in the wing defence position and she impressed in her first game for the Bay.

Robe's Gluyas moved back to goal shooter and gave Halle Carter the goal attack bib.

The two combined well, with Gluyas doing most of the shooting but the Demon's defence did not make it easy.

Gilmore was apprehensive to shoot in the tough conditions, which resulted in a few easy turnovers for the Roosters.

However, when the experienced goalie was in position to shoot, she did not miss many opportunities.

In the last five minutes of the quarter, Robe defender Georgia Perkins left the court

Toni Gilmore works hard for Port MacDonnell in the Demons win over Robe.

In fact, Robe's defence was so tough it kept the Demons to just one goal for the quarter.

Despite that pressure, the Roosters failed to take advantage of possession and suffered their first loss of the season.

Best players for the victors were Williams and Gilmore, while Perkins and Ellen Ramke were best for Robe.

injured which put coach Kim Austin into the goal keeper position and the Demons took advantage of the change, with a few easy shots to take a six-goal lead to the final break.

Robe was hungry for turnovers in the final quarter, fighting to keep top spot on the ladder, but Winter was not concerned and kept Gluyas scoreless for the quarter.

Tigers win over Hawks

Tantanoola 51 d Kongorong 28

Tantanoola showed its class in tough conditions for Round 6 of Mid South East netball at Kongorong.

Despite the wind blowing hard and rain descending, the Tigers claimed a comfortable victory.

The first quarter saw both the Tigers and the Hawks go hard at the ball and took time to settle.

Kongorong's Evie Sealey was on from the first whistle and worked hard with the front cut to make the most of the ball under the post.

The Tigers settled earlier than the young Hawks, with the attack of Tantanoola getting a good look at the ball, taking a three-goal lead to the first break.

The wind backed off in the second quarter and the defensive lineups for both teams lifted.

Tantanoola's Bella Poulish and Kongorong's Riley Buckingham battled hard in the circle, both influential for their respective sides.

The Tigers shooters had a dominant quarter, with Poulish shooting 10 from 13 for the quarter, fed well by Casey Walker and Madi Kelly.

Tantanoola pushed its lead out by 11 at half time and the Hawks had plenty to do in the third quarter to keep in touch.

Kate Wright worked overtime at wing attack for the Hawks in both offence and defence while Kate Bromley applied pressure and led Tantanoola's defensive line to give her team a lift.

Emma Gould was strong at goal attack, while Walker found another gear in the third term, as the Tigers outscored the Hawks 18-9.

Both sides fought hard in the final term but in the end the Tigers did enough to claim a comfortable victory.

Best for the victors were Poulish and Gould, while Wright and Sealey were best for Kongorong.

Magpies travel to seaside

By Trevor Jackson

Robe v Kalangadoo

Round 7 of Mid South East football throws up some interesting contests but none more so than the Robe v Kalangadoo clash.

The top placed Magpies have taken all be-fore them this season but the Roosters will certainly put their dominance to the test.

Robe has lost just the one game this sea-son - against second-placed Hatherleigh - and would consider themselves a chance against Kalangadoo.

A lot will need to fall the Roosters’ way but the home-ground advantage is one piece of the puzzle already in place.

It is always a long trip up to Robe but that should not bother the Magpies.

It appears Kalangadoo’s game plan is com-ing together well, with an undefeated start to the season and not a close game to be seen.

Against the reigning premiers Port Mac-Donnell the Magpies were dominant, as they have been in all games.

The options up forward provide a real headache for opposing teams looking to slow their scoring opportunities.

While last week’s huge win over Nangwarry was expected, it was the long list of goal kick-ers which made it all-but impossible for the Saints to defend.

Spearhead forward Michael Krieger kicked 10 goals, Patrick Davies added another six and Ben Gregory was also in on the act with four.

The list continued, with so many options up forward, opposing sides simply can not cover all the bases, even with extra players dropped back.

There are simply too many options for the Magpies to utilise and through the middle the strength of Tye McManus, Lachy Jones and so many others move the ball forward with ac-curacy.

Unfortunately for Robe it will simply be too big a task to achieve a win against the Ka-langadoo juggernaut.

Kalangadoo will win this one convincingly as they race towards a premiership flag.

Hatherleigh v Kongorong

Kongorong faces a tough test when the Hawks travel to Hatherleigh to take on the Eagles.

Hatherleigh is yet to face defeat in 2022, with the closest game for the Eagles against Robe back in Round 3.

While the Eagles have been slow out of the blocks at times, last week they showed real in-tent, with a strong opening term against Glen-coe.

They pushed on and won that one convinc-ingly.

In contrast, the Hawks have won just the one game, against Nangwarry in Round 4.

However, they pushed Port MacDonnell in the opening round, then caused Tantanoola a few headaches in the wild weather last week.

Unfortunately there will be little to cheer about for the Hawks as the Eagles continue to fine tune their game.

Hatherleigh should claim a comfortable win on the way to a date with Kalangadoo in the coming weeks.

Nangwarry v Mount Burr

Another chance presents this week for Nang-warry to claim its first win for many years, with Mount Burr under real pressure to avoid the dubious honour of handing the Saints such a victory.

The Saints have struggled this season but have given several sides a real scare.

They went down in a tough contest at Tantanoola, came close against Glencoe and pushed Port MacDonnell to the limit.

That first win is quite elusive but it could come this week.

Mount Burr has had mixed fortunes this season, with just the one win against Kon-gorong in Round 3.

However, the mozzies have also been around the mark, with a tough loss to Glen-coe and an even tougher 12-point loss to Port MacDonnell.

Despite the trip across to Nangwarry, the Mozzies will have enough in the tank to take care of business and leave the Saints to wait a bit longer for their first win.

Tantanoola v Port MacDonnell

In one of the bigger matches of the round, Tantanoola hosts reigning premier Port Mac-Donnell in what should be a cracking contest.

The Demons sit fourth on the ladder and need to continue to rack up the wins to remain in contention for another tilt at the flag.

The Tigers are just behind in fifth spot, by percentage points only and would love noth-ing more than to leap-frog the Demons and move up into the four.

Both sides have some gun players, with Port MacDonnell boasting a couple of talls in Will MacDonald and Tim Sullivan, while Kevin Thomson slots in well, with all three able to play anywhere on the ground.

The Tigers enjoyed a top performance from Troy and Jordan Hatt last round, with jack Dawe and Brandon Pitts topping the score-board with three majors each.

Dawe has worked well through the middle with coach Jak Ryan this season, with each game seemingly consolidating the mid-field.

It is a tough call to tip against the reign-ing premiers but the Tigers should get the job done at home and throw another contender into the mix.

Challenging round

Robe v Kalangadoo

The action will heat up at Robe on Saturday as the Roosters host Kalangadoo in the Mid South East netball match of the round.

The Magpies will be tough to beat, with the strength of Abbey Duncan combined with youngster Kori Collins in the goal circle, which will give the Roosters' defence no time to relax.

However, at the other end of the court, Kalangadoo's defenders Reanna Wetherall, Shannen Pulkinen and Lauren Kain will have to work hard to keep the ball from Robe's accurate goalies Sarah Laurie and Tori Gluyas.

The match up of Sophie Wrightson and Ellen Ramke on the wing will be one to watch, with both fighting for every ball.

However, the experience of Kalangadoo may prove to be too much for the young Roosters team at the end of the game.

Nangwarry v Mount Burr

Mount Burr approaches its Round 7 clash fresh off the bye and will use that to advantage when they head to Nangwarry.

For the Saints, Hayley Burner will work hard to feed her goalies Ange Pratt ad Tahlia Wilson with accuracy.

Mozzies Olivia Dean and Madi Haggett will fight to create every possible opportunity for a turnover in the defensive circle, while the Saints' defensive combination of Tahlia Puckridge and Carly Ploenges will have to keep the pressure on Mount Burr's goalies, Ebony Clark and Zoe Brown.

Match of the round: Kalangadoo's Jayde Peacock and her fellow Magpies will clash with Robe in the Mid South East netball match of the round.

Clark's accuracy within the goal circle will prove beneficial for the Mozzies and Mount Burr will finish the day with the points.

Tantanoola v Port MacDonnell

Port MacDonnell will travel to Tantanoola in what could prove to be a close game.

Tigers Casey Walker and Madi Kelly will feed accurately into Emma Gould and Jami Walker in the circle, with the potential for youngster Bella Poulish to also step into goals.

However, the combination of Alana Winter and Belinda O'Dine in the defensive circle will put the pressure on the Tantanoola goalies.

The experience of Toni Gilmore and her accuracy in the goal circle, paired with Narelle Lewis on the ring will leave minimal opportunities for the Tigers' defenders.

This game has the potential to end with either team coming out on top after a tough battle down the court.

Hatherleigh v Kongorong

Hatherleigh would be happy with its win against Glencoe last week and will come out riding that high against Kongorong when the whistle blows on Saturday.

Demi Vanderhorst and Lara MacGregor's combination in the defensive circle for Hatherleigh will have hands to every ball, making it tough for the Hawks' goalies.

Riley Buckingham, Sarah Lucas and Emily Lightbody all have the potential to play in defence for Kongorong and force errors for Hatherleigh's goalies.

Maddie Redman had an incredibly accurate game in Round 6 and will hope to repeat that this week.

Kate Wright and Chelsea Galpin's battle on the wing will be impressive, with both fighting for any loose balls.

After a tough game, the home side will come away with the points.

Milestone for Eagles veteran

Hatherleigh netballer Demi Vanderhorst has reached a major milestone, notching up 100 senior games for the club.

Vanderhorst began playing netball in the little juniors at Hatherleigh in 2007, then progressed to competition netball in 2010 in Under 13's.

She went onto the win her first premiership in Under 13 grade in 2010.

She won numerous club best and fairest awards, a league best and fairest and represented SE Regional Netball Academy in 2011, 2012, 2013 and Country Champs 17 and Under in 2014 and 2015.

Vanderhorst was awarded her Certificate of Umpiring Appreciation in 2014 and continues to lend her hand umpiring and coached the 13 and Unders to a premiership in 2020.

She had a few years off to have her children Violet, Jayce and Freddy.

Vanderhorst and her husband Dylan both currently play for Hatherleigh, with Demi in the A Grade netball side and Dylan in the Reserves football.

Demi Vanderhorst reached a major milestone when she racked up her 100th senior game for Hatherleigh.

Hunt Club navigates Murphy's country

The Penola Hunt Club travelled to the Murphy's property on Sunday, which is about 30km south of Lucindale.

The day began with a working bee as members cleaned up the course to ensure the jumps were safe for the hunt.

The landowners had also created new jumps during the week for the Hunt Club to take on.

After lunch, the club's master, Jenna Bignell, welcomed everyone before she set off for the hunt.

The Club's 15 horses and riders followed closely behind.

Riders faced mixed weather throughout the day as they hunted through both rain and sunshine on Sunday.

The field took on almost every jump on the property before they dismounted and gathered around the fire to end the hunt.

The Penola Hunt Club field gathered under the trees at the Murphy's property.

Saints take on Victorians

By James Murphy

A home game against Casterton Sandford looms for Millicent this Saturday and the Saints will carry confidence into the match.

They now occupy the top of the ladder after a solid win over South Gambier last round.

It was an impressive feat for an undermanned Millicent, which had half a dozen players out due to Covid along with a few injuries.

However, the side will be under no illusions when it hosts the Cats, as meetings between the sides have been traditionally hard fought regardless of the points difference.

Millicent coach Clint Gallio looks forward to the match as his Saints continue to work towards a premierships defence.

"It is always a tough game," he said.

"No matter the score and whether you are winning or losing, it is always a tough and physical game.

"They bring good pressure and heat around the footy."

Back in Round 2 Millicent made short work of the Victorians and finished the day at Island Park with a 68-point triumph.

On that day Josh Werchon and Dylan Bromley were standouts for the Saints and they both carry hot form into the round.

Kalan Shanks has also been impressive - along with Millicent's entire back six - and the Cats will need to work hard to find avenues into goal.

Ricky Killey was kept quiet by West Gambier last week and he will be eager to bounce back with a bag, while youngster Adam McKinnon has also been reliable in front of goal again this season.

The return of Matt Killey was welcomed against the Roos and he brings some life through the midfield.

However, Millicent has no shortage of talent in all areas of the ground and with the odds stacked against the Cats, the Saints should power to another win in front of a home crowd.

Back at home: Millicent's Dylan Bromley will look to carry his solid form into Saturday's home game against Casterton Sandford.

The services of Foster were missed by the home team, while by the end of the match both teams had suffered further losses.

Late in the fourth quarter South's Jake Tentye was stretchered off the field with a suspected knee injury, while Millicent's Thomas Hutchesson made a short-lived return to the park.

Hutchesson had been absent since he injured his hamstring in Round 2 and looked lively in the opening quarter with a goal to boot.

However, his reappearance was cut short.

"Unfortunately it looks like he might have re-injured it on Saturday," Gallio said.

"We are not sure how bad it is yet."

Looking ahead the Saints will carry confidence into this week's home game against Casterton Sandford.

Player shortages no problem for Saints

Millicent 50 d South Gambier 38

Millicent entered its Round 6 Western Border netball clash with South Gambier without its first-choice goalie combination of Tabatha Sanderson and Demi Verbena.

However, with replacements the calibre of South Australian 17 and Under goal shooter Annelise Janssen and Paige Nitschke - who often fills a shooting role for the Saints - South still needed to be at its best to compete.

The opening quarter was a tight affair with Millicent enjoying a three-goal lead.

Despite some second quarter inaccuracy, the Saints extended the margin, mostly thanks to the defensive efforts of Portia McRae, Hannah Nitschke and Georgia Clarke.

They restricted the Demons to only 10 scoring opportunities, compared to the Saints' 25.

South upped the ante in the third as Alyssa Duncan not only found more space but finished accurately with seven from eight.

However, with Millicent again finding its radar to net 15 from 18 as a combination, the lead extended to 14 at the final change.

A perfect 10 from 10 from Lara Munro and an improved defensive effort from the home side allowed South to win the final quarter but it was too little, too late and the Demons went down by 12.

South made too many unforced errors, while the relentless pressure from the Saints also forced mistakes which they were able to capitalise on.

South goal keeper Grace Edwards had a strong four-quarter performance in her battle with Janssen, while Munro and Duncan had their moments when the Millicent defence allowed.

In the end, Millicent was able to control the contest, as well as giving Lauren Van Eeden another taste of top grade action, while Kayleigh Taylor was also injected into the mid court in a testament to the Saints' depth.

This weekend the Saints will host Casterton Sandford in a clash which can only be expected to go the way of the home team.

The Cats have shown improvement in recent weeks with a fuller roster but a 32-goal loss to West Gambier last round proved they still have a ways to go to compete with the leading clubs.

Little club performs big

Millicent Gymnastic Club continues to mix it with the best, with a recent honour to coach Fiona McDonald.

McDonald received the Positive Coaching Award at the Gymnastics SA Awards Night in April, against all SA coaches for 2021.

The club was also a finalist in the Medium Club of the Year.

More recently in the 2022 State Championships, McDonald judged the Rings for levels 1 and 2 in the Men's Artistic Gymnastics (MAG).

The club had its first MAG gymnast compete for 11 years at State Championships and nine years at Country Championships.

With a plan to get the MAG program up and running again, the committee decided to offer gymnast Parker Dowley a scholarship for the program due to his dedication in the Parkour class for 2021.

Dowley is also a junior coach at the young age of 12.

He competed in his first competition at the MAG level 3, after starting his training in the competition squad just this year.

Dowley started off on vault and received a 9 club straight away, less than one mark away from a perfect score.

His highest score on vault was 9.25/10, which equated to eighth place from 29 gymnasts.

McDonald then judged MAG level 5 and 6 on Pommel, Vault and High Bar in session 3.

The next competition for MAG and WAG members in June, Isobel Thompson will compete at level 4 and McDonald at level 8 compete in the WAG stream at Port Lincoln.

Country Championships follow in July, where the majority of the Millicent competition squad will compete.

Other competitions will take place in Victoria and South Australia.

New members are welcome at the club, with no experience necessary.

For further information contact the Millicent Gymnastic Club by email at millgymclub@gmail.com

Saints make a statement

By James Murphy

Millicent 11.13 (79) d South Gambier 7.5 (47)
The Saints marched into Blue Lake Sports Park on Saturday understaffed and unsure what its clash against undefeated South Gambier would hold.

Yet after four quarters of heated football a statement was made and Millicent emerged victorious by 32 points to claim top spot on the ladder.

The Saints had six players unavailable due to Covid along with a few niggling injuries, which forced them to field an even younger team than usual.

It is difficult to believe that is possible, with last round's team made up of 17 players 21 and Under.

However, once again the young brigade stood tall beyond its years and brought an intensity which could not be matched by the Demons on the day.

Kobe Gibson had his second taste of A Grade action at only 14 years old and proved valuable, while once again Millicent's best players were made up of youth.

South was not without its own absences, with Brett O'Neil and Hamish Stevens still yet to return, while Brodie Foster bowed out of the match early with minor hamstring issues.

In previous weeks Millicent had struggled with slow starts and when South posted the first two goals it looked like it could be the case again.

However, the Saints surged and at quarter time held a seven-point lead.

They posted another two unanswered goals in the second term and at half time had a handy 20-point buffer.

South came out firing after the main break but failed to gain control in the game.

Some inaccuracy from the Saints kept the Demons within reach at three-quarter time but Millicent was able to put the match to rest in the fourth.

A couple of Jacob Carger goals topped off by Dylan Bromley's third major for the day iced the game.

After an intense battle, Gallio was pleased to come away with the win, especially under the circumstances.

"It was one of those games where you never know what is going to pan out," he said.

"It was pretty pleasing in the end."

He was also glad to overcome the sluggish starts which had become a trend from Millicent in recent rounds.

"The last couple of weeks our starts haven't been great," he said.

"We didn't really change anything, we just talked about the benefit of a good start and how we do that.

"We just tried to get some energy up in the warm up and get a good feeling going."

That seemed to have the desired result on Saturday and the Saints were able to bring their trademark intensity into the match from the get-go. With impressive performances around the ground, Gallio was most impressed by his backline.

"We had some good pressure up the ground from our forwards and mids, but I thought our back six were excellent," he said.

"Young Kalan Shanks played another ripper game and I thought Zac McGuinness was super on Brayden Kain and limited his impact."

Shanks earned the best-on-ground honours for the second time this season, while Josh Werchon also featured prominently.

Dylan Bromley was a key target up forward and while he missed out on a mention in the best, his reliable hands were pivotal inside 50.

Kade Varcoe was consistent again and received a mention, while Kade and Frazer Bradley were also solid.

For South it was young-gun Liam Delaney who impressed and he earned the best-on-ground honours for the Demons.

Alex Harkness was also impressive, while Jack Casey stood tall in the ruck against Finn Grimes.

Goals were shared around by the Demons with seven individual goal scorers.
