ADF nurses stay

Part of an Australian Defence Force (ADF) contingent assisting the Boneham Aged Care Services (BACS) through a Covid-19 induced rough patch have extended their stay by almost a week.

The extension comes amid a further two Covid-19 cases among BACS residents - bringing the total to nine cases - and up to 40 staff members being absent from work.

The ADF, through the Federal Department of Health, said in a statement: "As per our previous advice, surge workforce support from the Australian Defence Force (ADF) for Residential Aged Care Facilities (RACFs) experiencing Covid-19 outbreaks is considered by the department alongside all other available surge workforce options.

"Through the regular contact the department maintains with all RACFs in outbreak, it was determined Mary Cecelia Hart Court Hostel in Millicent, South Australia, would be best supported by an extension of the clinical ADF team, from 30 May to 5 June.

"The General Duties team completed their deployment at the facility on 25 May."

The general duties team at BACS had consisted of five personnel who provided non-clinical support, such as assistance with waste management, food service delivery, spot cleaning and companionship for residents.

The ADF's clinical teams provide qualified support, such as registered nurse responsibilities and the team at BACS is understood to consist of three nurses.

"We are incredibly grateful for the support of the armed services teams who are with us at the moment," said BACS chief executive Michael Filsell in an online statement.

"They are certainly easing some of our staffing pressures and the residents are finding all of them to be helpful, respectful, attentive and a joy to be around.

"We thank them sincerely."

Saleyards research

Saleyards are fundamental to wellbeing, networking, information sharing and service provision in rural communities, new research from the Australian Livestock Markets Association (ALMA) has found.

Released this week, the ALMA ‘Social Value of Saleyards’ report outlines how saleyards provide an environment where people across a wide range of ages and demographics feel the positive benefits of social and physical connection to community.

The research – believed to be the first of its kind in Australia – collated the views, stories and experiences of more than 250 people through interviews and online surveys as well as observations of activity at six saleyards across the country.

ALMA Executive Officer Kate McGilvray said, while previous research had measured the economic significance of saleyards, the organisation wanted to focus on what sale days mean to community members, service providers and saleyard stakeholders.

“This report highlights that saleyards are critical to the social fabric of regional communities,” Ms McGilvray said.

“A visit to a saleyard livestock sale in regional locations helps to improve social outcomes for people living in rural and regional Australia.

“Saleyards reduce social isolation, provide connection to key services otherwise not available in isolated locations, facilitate exchange of information, enable deeper and more open conversations in a safe environment, provide informal support and maintain cross-generational connection.

“Saleyards are enablers of access to important services, such a mental health professionals and general health checks, rural financial services, employment opportunities and industry education.

“One of the more surprising findings is that people even find love at saleyards with people in three states meeting, and later marrying, their life partner.”

The report also documents the serious negative impacts on social wellbeing when sales are cancelled or attendance restricted, such as recently during Covid.

“Saleyards create a place for social connection and when people have limited access to be able to attend, they experience loneliness and social isolation,” Ms McGilvray said.

“This was found to be especially important for interaction across age groups with people taking the time to sit and talk with elders, those retired or semi-retired from farming when visiting a saleyard.”

The future of the Millicent saleyards was in doubt however, the Wattle Range Council moved to spend almost $700,000 on the yards.

Overtaking lane planned

Motorists travelling between Millicent and Mount Gambier on the Princes Highway will be pleased to hear that plans are afoot for the extension of an overtaking lane near the Kangaroo Flat Road intersection and other works are also in the pipeline.

The Department for Infrastructure and Transport (DIT) recently confirmed that new orange survey pegs observed in the location heralded planned new work.

"The survey pegs at this location relate to design works for a future proposed extension of the eastbound overtaking lane near the Princes Highway intersection with Kangaroo Flat Road," a departmental spokesperson said.

"The Department is also investigating another two proposed overtaking lane extensions (one in each direction) northwest of Mount Gambier, and the proposed construction of two new overtaking lanes (one in each direction) east of Mount Gambier."

According to a department map of the proposed works, in addition to the Kangaroo Flat Road extension, the other mentioned proposed overtaking lane extensions which are in the planning stage include near the Tantanoola Caves Roadhouse, another in the Tank Caves area, and also around The Springs area.

In addition to new overtaking lanes east of Mount Gambier, the department map also shows a new overtaking lane northwest of Millicent on the highway near the intersection with Furner Road.

Also in the Millicent area there are planned upgrades for the intersections with the Princes Highway at Walkers Tin Hut Road and Furner Road.

"Subject to funding, these proposed works would form part of the $190 million Princes Highway Corridor Upgrade Program, which is jointly funded by the Australian (80 per cent) and South Australian governments (20 per cent)," the departmental spokesperson said.

According to the department's website, the money will be spent along a 700km stretch of the Princes Highway in South Australia from the Victorian border to Port Augusta.

The department spokesperson was unable to provide expected timeframes for the works to be undertaken however the department's website says: "Upgrade works between Meningie and the South Australian border are currently in the design phase with construction scheduled to commence mid 2022 with completion expected in late 2023, weather permitting."

Mr Filsell also revealed that up to 40 of BACS 140 staff members have been off work due to having Covid or being a close contact. This has left 70 per cent of its workforce increasing their workload and hours for several weeks to cover staff absences.

Mr Filsell thanked staff in his online statement: "We remain in their debt for the professional and calm manner they have dealt with this outbreak and sacrificed their personal lives for the benefit of our vulnerable residents."

"They are the true champions of this pandemic."

Meanwhile, BACS is continuing its ongoing regular PCR testing routine. In addition to seven cases previously, one resident in the Plover wing tested positive on May 24 while another positive test last weekend put the Holzgreffe wing into isolation.

All Covid positive residents continue to be asymptomatic or show mild symptoms only.

As of Tuesday morning, no further positive tests had been received via RAT tests but results of the latest PCR tests to confirm the negatives were still to be received. At the time of print visits to both Plover and Holzgreffe wings are restricted to end of life care or daily special needs support.

Visits must be arranged in advance with the Director of Care or Clinical Nurse and visitors are required to wear full personal protective equipment (PPE) when entering either wing.

Subject to negative PCR test results Plover Wing was due to come out of isolation late on Tuesday.

All other wings remain open to one nominated visitor per resident per day with an N95 mask required at all times when on site and RAT test required before entry.

Mr Filsell urged all visitors to maintain mask discipline when on-site.

"N95 masks are uncomfortable but are an excellent front line preventative for Covid transmission," he said.

"If not worn properly or taken off when in private with residents, any protection provided is negated."

BACS is also asking visitors to bring proof of their negative RAT test when they visit by either bringing the physical negative test or a photo of it on a phone. Visitors unable to provide proof will be asked to test again on-site before being allowed entry. As the situation is constantly changing, families are urged to contact BACS or refer to its Facebook page for latest updates.

Boneham Aged Care Services in Millicent are currently being assisted through a Covid-19 induced rough patch by three Australian Defence Force nurses.

Controlling Sirex wasps

By Kathy Gandolfi

Made by members of Penola's Men's Shed, 24 innocuous looking black boxes at OneFortyOne's Nangwarry depot are playing an important part in controlling a pest that devastated the region's softwood forests almost 40 years ago.

The boxes are part of a multi-pronged program aimed at controlling the potentially forest destroying Sirex Wasp which killed an estimated five million radiata pine trees in the Green Triangle area in the 1980's - a situation brought on by the 1983 Ash Wednesday bushfires which had devastated the region, burning through millions of trees and leaving many others stressed providing a perfect environment for the wasp to thrive.

That outbreak was the impetus for a concentrated control program to save the plantations - and therefore the region's timber industry as a whole - from complete devastation.

Then, whole teams of forest workers fought the war against the Sirex Wasp and, thanks to their efforts and a continued control and monitoring program, today outbreaks do not occur and just one person works on the program in the Limestone Coast and western Victoria for the region's largest forest grower, OneFortyOne.

He is Pest Control Officer, Damion McNair who welcomed the arrival of the new black boxes to his Sirex Wasp control toolkit.

"They have worked a treat," said Mr McNair of the boxes, adding that they were the first of their kind in the region and this summer was the first time they were put to use.

The boxes are used to house samples of thinnings which come from sites across the company's forest estate.

Built on legs for easy observance, the boxes have doors to enable the samples to be loaded easily and contained neatly, and gauzed openings to let in plenty of light which helps to draw out any Sirex Wasps and predator wasps that might be in the small logs.

Some of the logs come from patches of trees which are identified by annual aerial surveys as being under stress with the telltale sign of browning needles.

An on ground inspection of these patches determines if the stressed trees have been affected by Sirex Wasps or other causes such as nutrition deficiencies, lightning strikes or fungal disease.

Samples of any trees thought to be affected by Sirex - with the signs of holes bored by the wasps into the trunks, which kills the trees - are taken back to the observation boxes.

Other samples come from 'trap tree plots' within the estate that have been purposely poisoned to make the trees stressed.

As the wasps only attack live but stressed trees, these 'trap tree plots' are used to lure any wasps that may be in the area.

When the trees begin to show signs of wasp infestation, a biological control in the form of nematodes is introduced into the trees by punching holes into the trunks and using a sauce bottle to squeeze a gel containing microscopic nematodes into the holes with the aim of the nematodes infecting wasps in the tree.

Effectively rendering the wasps infertile, the nematodes prevent an increase in the wasp population.

OneFortyOne annually releases 30 million of these nematodes throughout its plantations across the region.

"We fall and inoculate the trees and work out if there are any Sirex in them, then we can bring them back to the boxes," Mr McNair said.

"Every box has a different location written on them and then we can see what emerges from them.

"If a Sirex does emerge from them we know there are Sirex in the area and we can focus on that area."

Some of the Sirex captured in the observance boxes are dissected.

"If they contain nematodes, that is a good sign - it means inoculation has worked," said Mr McNair.

Others from the sample logs will be released.

"We still want some of them around so they can carry the nematode," Mr McNair said.

OneFortyOne Pest Control Officer, Damion McNair inspects sample logs being housed in new Sirex Wasp control program boxes made by Penola's Men's Shed.

A Sirex Wasp - Originally from Europe and accidentally introduced to Australia, Sirex Wasps were first discovered in Tasmania in the 1950's and have since spread through Tasmania, Victoria, South Australia, the ACT and New South Wales. They kill radiata pines when they bore deep into the softwood to lay their eggs.

Another prong of the biological control program of the Sirex Wasp is the release of several species of 'good' wasps.

"What they basically do is where the Sirex are they will get into the tree and use the siren wasp larvae as a host for their own so they are doing our job for us," Mr McNair said.

"We can collect them and then, where we know there is Sirex, we can release them.

"They don't cause the same damage as a Sirex because they will only go into a tree where there is already a hole."

This vigilant multi-pronged control program ensures that the outbreak of the 1980's will not be repeated and the new observance boxes are a part of this.

As members of the National Sirex Coordination Committee and the Green Triangle Health Operational Group, OneFortyOne was aware of observance boxes used in other areas of Australia and was keen to adopt the same in the Limestone Coast.

While the company could have sourced the boxes from elsewhere, it was so impressed by other work undertaken by the Penola Men's Shed, such as picnic tables built for Nangwarry's football oval and swimming pool, that the Shed members were invited to build the boxes.

"One of the bosses in town saw the projects and said 'Get them to do it,'" said Mr McNair.

Previously using 44-gallon drums, into which the log samples are loaded from the top with gauze put over the top, Mr McNair said the new observance boxes were a vast improvement.

"With the drums you have to pull the wood right out to look at it or put head right down into it," Mr McNair said.

"With the new boxes, they are up on stands and you can see into them easily.

"It's a much better set up."

With some 44-gallon drums still in use, the first trial of the new observance boxes has proved so successful that Mr McNair is looking forward to the last remnants of the drums being replaced with another 24 boxes, again to be built by Penola Men's Shed, in time for next summer when Sirex Wasps are most active.

Pioneer history explored: 13 students from Newbery Park Primary School attended the March in May. Photographed at Coola Outstation, the final station of the walk, are Kaiden, Menaka Thorogood, Noah and Charli, and front Millar and Kylan.

Expedition to Canunda

By Caroline Hammat

An initiative of the Friends of Canunda and Beachport Parks has continued for 22 years and was recently attended by 153 local primary school students.

The annual March in May provided an opportunity to Limestone Coast schools for students to spend the day in Canunda National Park which plays a role in conserving coastal habitat and historical sites.

An 8.5km walk was undertaken by the students while they explored the history, culture and environment of the park.

Four educational stations were provided for students to stop at and learn about weed identification, shorebirds, indigenous culture and the history of Coola Outstation.

Newbery Park Primary School teacher Menaka Thorogood said: "We thoroughly enjoyed the day, specifically learning about the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islanders and how the land changed over the years with migration and adaptations.

"This connected to our science unit of 'changing environments'."

A fifth station at the half way mark provided snacks for students, donated by local supermarkets Foster's Foodland and Woolworths

Millicent, and staff from the Department of Environment and Water (DEW).

Although initiated by the Friends of Canunda and Beachport Parks more than 20 years ago, the day is now a collaborative event supported by the National Parks, Limestone Coast Landscape Board, Burrandies Aboriginal Corporation and Friends Of Shore Birds South East.

It was fitting that the event this year was held during National Volunteer Week as the friends group had only the week before celebrated 35 years since forming under the guidance of the late Tom Prowse to help maintain the local national parks.

The group continue to meet weekly and assist in the upkeep of Canunda, Beachport and Lake Frome parks and take direction from Glenn Jackway, senior ranger at Canunda for the National Parks and Wildlife Service (DEW).

Group member, John Nicholson told the South Eastern Times: "We help with mowing and trimming the walking trails and four wheel drive tracks; we help maintain the signs and picnic grounds by painting tables and repairing vandalism.

"We take direction from the ranger and do whatever they need help within the parks."

Sporting hero visit

By Caroline Hammat

Home town sporting hero Sarah Allan, three-time premiership player and two-time All-Australian defender for the Adelaide Crows, returned to the local district recently as part of the team's AFLW premiership cup tour.

The whirlwind visit, undertaken with teammate Anne Hatchard, included the opportunity for Ms Allan to visit her old schools and football club in the tour.

"It's rewarding to get it [the cup] out everywhere, obviously taking it home was my favourite time," Ms Allan said reflecting on the visit.

"It was really cool especially Beachport (Primary School) with the younger kids, they didn't even really know what we were doing, some were just watching their reflection in the cup of themselves, that was cute.

"It's quite crazy because I grew up with their parents, either they coached me or I played sport with them and I could see their faces in them.

"You realise whose kids they are, it's quite interesting and it was kind of special."

Meeting with an older age group at Millicent High School (MHS), the pair held a practical session with Ms Allan enjoying the opportunity to catch up with her old physical education (PE) teacher.

"It was great, Todd Watson was my PE teacher (at MHS) and now he's the principal; he was a big part of mine and my sister Jess' training," Ms Allan said.

"He used to train us in the gym before school so he was really helpful along our journey."

A visit to Hatherleigh Football Club on Thursday night proved a special night for Ms Allan who used to play junior colts for the club.

After running a session with the juniors Ms Allan stayed on for dinner at the club and enjoyed the opportunity to catch up with her old netball colleagues.

During school visits the story and journey to become an AFLW player is often told and Ms Allan acknowledged the support received from her family.

Cup tour: Sarah Allan during the cup tour at Hatherleigh Sport and Recreation Centre.

"My dad played for Centrals and got us involved at a young age; he had three girls but we all learnt how to kick a football and all played football at some point, but mum was the one organising everything," she said.

"They both drove us countless hours to Adelaide to continue our journey in football and, thinking back, a lot of the time it was mum in the backyard kicking the football with me as well; it's a team effort.

"They got us involved in a lot of sport and I think I get attributes from my mum, who was a state volleyballer, like being athletic and jumping, and dad's football ability as well."

Allan and Hatchard both work at the Adelaide Football Club as community program officers with Allan working full time in the community department promoting the sport.

Cup tour: Sarah Allan during the cup tour at Millicent High School.

"We try and get more females involved in football and any community we are a part of," she said.

"It's really busy but it's good; it was a bit different in the community department through Covid so it's great to get out and about.

"It seems the growth of it (AFLW) has just grown in the last year or so, there are so many people enjoying it.

"They (the children) grow up and see girls playing football, it's going to be their normal and there are just as many fans that are boys as girls now, it's great to see their smiles."

St Anthony's Primary School also received a visit as part of the tour after commercial partners, Millicent Toyota, gifted their visit to the school.

Also receiving unexpected visits were the workplaces of Ms Allan's parents, Sue and Keith, and Millicent Resthaven.

Show cash

By Caroline Hammat

For the second year running, the Millicent Agricultural, Horticultural and Pastoral Society (MAHPS) have been successful in receiving an Australia Post grant nominated by Postal Manager at the Millicent Post Office, Grace Keatley.

The grant for $1,000 will assist show society members to install security cameras at the main gate and administration area of the showgrounds.

Secretary of the MAHPS, Sue Vanderheul, is looking forward to the installation of the cameras telling the South Eastern Times: "When the grants came through the secretary's office we asked Barb Nitschke, who has already done a couple of grants for us, if she could apply and Grace nominated it for us.

"I wanted some security cameras because we do have RV's camping on site; I want to see who comes and goes at the gate and just a few areas around the main admin area and we hope it will also cover down toward the animal nursery.

"As far as security goes it's so we know who is onsite; we've had people sneaking in and using the amenities and we've also had a few things go missing like hoses, sprinklers and plant pots.

"I'm hoping for a minimum of three or four cameras, and when someone comes through the gate the phone is going to buzz so I can see who is coming and going at odd hours of the day and night."

Ms Keatley was happy to re-nominate the show society saying: "They can do with some upgrades and being on the committee previously I thought it would be an opportunity to help get them some new security cameras.

"It has taken a bit of time, it's a bit of a process."

Last year the show society received a $500 grant which was put toward upgrading the animal nursery area with new fake grass and upgrading of the pens.

Ms Keatley encouraged other non-profit groups to apply for the People of Post grants of up to $1,000.

"If anyone else is interested in applying for a grant next year, come and let us know a little bit of information about yourselves and what you're up to and we will get something done," she said.

Combined support: Millicent Show Society secretary Sue Vanderheul stands with grant nominator Grace Keatley and the congratulatory sign outside Millicent's post office.

Ministerial visits to the region next week

State Government Cabinet ministers will be converging on Mount Gambier next week as part of their Country Cabinet round of meetings.

According to the Labor Government, Country Cabinet was a successful program held across the State under the former Labor Government, however it was scrapped by the previous Liberal Government.

Labor promised to bring back Country Cabinet if elected at the March State election.

The Country Cabinet will feature a community forum next Wednesday, where members of the local community will be able to ask Cabinet ministers questions on issues important to them.

The Cabinet will also meet with local stakeholders and businesses while in the South East.

Premier Peter Malinauskas said: "Country Cabinet is an excellent opportunity for the Cabinet to hear from local communities across our great State about what is important to them.

"Mount Gambier is our State's second biggest city, so it makes sense to hold our first Country Cabinet in the South East.

"The Limestone Coast plays a key role in the economic and social fabric of our State with important industries including forestry, agriculture, aquaculture wine and tourism," Mr Malinauskas said.

Doors open for new laundromat

By Kathy Fennell

A new laundromat has opened in Young Street in Penola.

The Odd Socks SA laundromat is owned by Steve Kleemann and Abbey Marston-Kleemann from Mount Gambier.

Mr Kleemann said: “We saw a great opportunity to open a laundromat in Penola, and felt the town definitely needed one.”

Mr Kleemann also runs a karate class in Penola and the whole idea of a laundromat was mooted by suggestions from his class participants.

“We found a building that was suitable and it went from there,” Mr Kleemann said.

The facility is open seven days a week from 5am to 11pm and is managed by local woman, Nicole Reeves.

There are five washing machines ranging from 9kg to 18kg capacity, a pet blanket machine, and six large capacity dryers.

There is also a facility to wash large quilts and blankets.

The machines are injected with washing liquid and the correct quantity is measured for each load.

“So far we are extremely pleased with the support of the laundromat by residents,” Mr Kleemann said.

“The feedback from the public has been overwhelming.

“Clients are thrilled with the quality of the washing and drying machines and the cleanliness of the laundromat, along with the opening hours which suit everyone.”

Payment for the services can be made by cash or paywave with card.

The couple also own two other laundro-

Enquiries can be made to Mr Kleemann on 0417 812 960.

Coonawarra running race registrations

Runners are being invited to Coonawarra for the area's first Running Festival raising funds and awareness for mental health.

Being held on Saturday, November 5, the event will include a variety of running races including 5km, 10km and 21km.

According to the organisers, children are not forgotten about either, with events for them to take part in.

For the less athletically inclined, a 5km Wobbly Winery Walk is being held, with stops at cellar doors for a quick wine tasting.

All the action will be held in and around the Coonawarra Park which will have a festive atmosphere for the day including music and a variety of country healthy homemade food to purchase, coffee vans and market stalls in readiness for Christmas shopping.

Money raised on the day will be donated to Breakthrough Research Foundation to support its research and projects.

The Foundation is currently offering free mental health first aid to the local Penola/Coonawarra community.

The small Coonawarra Running Festival committee said it is important for participants to enjoy the day and have lots of fun while also being meaningful.

It is also the committee's wish for it to create awareness and dismiss the stigma of mental health.

The committee hopes it will help create more conversations about mental health care solutions in the region, leading to real world improvements.

The running of the events will travel along part of the newly built rail trail.

The committee encourages participants to get entries in early online at www.coonawarrarunningfestival.com.au

These students included Lily Hackwill (SRC Rep), Penny Vaughan (President), Brody McDonald (Vice President), Jack Lambert (Treasurer), Lea Baugh (Principal rep).

Six families attended the open tour.

At the end of the tour, families, teachers and SRC students enjoyed morning tea and an informal discussion.

Principal Mrs Copping said: “I was extremely pleased with the tour.

Heading off to the Valley

By Kathy Fennell

Long time Penola residents Ashley and Barbara Smith have decided to pull up stumps and move on to be closer to their family in Healesville, Yarra Valley, in Victoria.

Barbara moved to Penola when she was just three years of age and did her schooling from Year 1 to 11 in Penola before moving to Adelaide to complete Year 12 and then to Wattle Park Teacher's College.

After 20 years she returned to Penola and has been here for 38 years.

"My parents acquired a Soldier Settlers block on the Dergholm Road, just out of Penola, and that is where I grew up," she said.

"I loved the farm life of riding horses, making rafts with my brothers, however I always wanted to be a teacher.

"At Penola High School I found my love of books which led me to become a teacher-librarian."

Mrs Smith's first school position was in Whyalla in the 1970's.

"I had 35 students, with no school support officers around back then," she said.

"I then moved to Wolseley, near Bordertown, teaching 15 students.

"I loved this time as I could ride my horse to school and, at recess and lunchtime, the children would ride the pony around the town oval," she said.

Ashley and Barbara married in September 1972 and started their married life in Sydney as Ashley was in National Service.

In 1974 they moved to Adelaide where Mrs Smith taught 32 students at the Hope Valley Primary School and while there she went back to teacher's college to complete a Degree in Education.

During that time the couple visited Hermannsburg, a town west of Alice Springs, and were offered jobs at the Lutheran Mission where they spent four years.

They renewed their contact with their Aboriginal family in 2019, 40 years after they had left the mission.

"It was a wonderful and very special reunion," Mrs Smith said.

"My students are now parents and grandparents.

"We are regarded as their Miya (Mother) and Karta (Father)."

Last year the couple returned to Hermannsburg and did volunteer work around the Lutheran manse, church and cultural centre.

In 1979 the Smith's moved to the open cut

Ashley and Barbara Smith, with their puppy Jenna, are leaving Penola to be closer to their family in Victoria.

iron ore mining town of Newman in Western Australia where their two daughters Nareena and TJ were born.

"Living in the Pilbara with the red dust, we always took our shoes off before entering any homes," Mrs Smith said.

In Newman she taught English through TAFE to migrant women from Thailand and the Philippines.

"This was my first contact with Asian people which led to my love and interest in these people," she said.

In 1984 the couple returned to Penola where Mrs Smith was the teacher-librarian and teacher of English for 14 years at the Penola High School.

Mrs Smith also taught at Millicent High School and at Grant High School.

The couple finally decided to live in the Penola township and built their home in 2003.

After settling in town Mrs Smith was offered a teaching position on the APY Lands in the north west of SA and accepted it as she always wanted to return to the Red Centre.

When they returned to the South East, Mrs Smith taught the beautiful Karen and Congolese students at Mount Gambier High School.

The Karen families came from Thailand's refugee camps in Zambia and Tanzania.

Many of these families are still in Mount Gambier and Mrs Smith still keeps in contact with them.

"After returning to Penola High School for 18 months, I retired from teaching and began casual work Patrick's Cellar Door," Mrs Smith said.

"In 2013 I went with a missionary group to work with the Laos people, living in the mountains of Thailand.

"They were homeless after the Vietnam War, and this is when I realised that I had to return to Asia to do missionary work," she said.

"One of the highlights of my life has been the four trips that I have had to Cambodia since 2016, where I lived in villages, taught English to children and being welcomed into the Khmer families and their homes."

Both Ashley and Barbara have travelled extensively overseas visiting Europe, United Kingdom, Canada, United States of America including Hawaii and Alaska, and many South East Asian countries.

"Our family is most important to us and this is why we are leaving Penola so we can be closer to them," Mrs Smith said.

"We both will help out with looking after the grandchildren and Ashley will potter around doing odd jobs.

"I will get involved with the local history group, join the gym, be involved with the Lutheran church and participate in volunteer work.

"We will be very sad to leave this wonderful community but are looking forward to the next chapter in our life," Mrs Smith said.

Karate classes in Penola

By Kathy Fennell

A karate school is held in Penola each Monday night at the primary school gym.

The classes are for children and adults and at present more than 25 people attend.

The instructor is Steve Kleemann who is a Renshi fifth degree black belt.

His assistant instructor is Drew Hamilton who is a first degree black belt. "We teach punching and kicking, kata, practical self defense to suit every age and ability in a fun, family environment," Mr Kleemann said.

Parents also assist in classes.

Mr Kleemann said: "It really helps kids build their ability and self confidence, and they all really enjoy it.

"The feedback we have back from parents has been overwhelming and if anyone would like to come along and join in they are most welcome," he said.

Classes are held from 6pm to 7pm and Mr Kleemann can be contacted on 0417 812 960.

Cow drama of the past

From Penola Local History Centre

Penola Pennant, Thursday 29 March 1951, page 1

Silly Cows - Pandemonium in Penola last week

This is not about the cow which jumped over the moon, but about two cows which fell into John Tregenza's underground tank last Thursday morning.

Early on Thursday morning last at, to be precise, 6.50 am, was surprised to see several cows mixed up in Sid Hane's woodheap.

With the drover and his dog, plus several sleepy but willing helpers, confusion was rampant.

Finally the cows were induced to leave the wood heap and headed for Syd's back door.

Mrs Hane said: "The milk's been delivered thank you" and hastily shut the door.

It was with sighs of relief that the cows were finally ejected.

The incident was quickly forgotten but alas not for long.

Just two hours later and only a few hundred yards away these wild and silly cows had gone underground and it was only their snorkel tubes which kept them from drowning.

(Note - A snorkel tube is an attachment invented by the Germans during the last war which enabled submarines to cruise submerged on their diesel motors. The tube projects upwards and so allows the motor to be used underwater).

With a clatter and much bashing these two cows landed on the corrugated iron cover of the tank.

How were they to know it wouldn't hold a cow—no one told them, but they soon found out.

The water was fine but a bit cold.

Drover L Jones was now properly stumped.

Having driven the cows all the way from Berkins, Comaum, and with only about a mile to go they had now put this over him.

Sorry, but the history of these cows as supplied by Lance is not suitable for publication.

Frank Lowe's advice was sought—he

The cattle drover Lance (Windy) Jones.

Said Frank "Dash it all they are not for the pickling pot just yet, there's still plenty of 'good' steak on 'em - let's get them out."

So the Lands Department crane truck was called in and by this time a fair gallery of on-lookers and helpers had gathered—mostly feminine.

After all it's not every day a couple of cows fall into a tank.

Following much bother a rope was finally got round one cow just behind its front legs.

In the process some of the assistants nearly joined in the swim.

The rope was hitched on to the crane and away she went.

All oblivious of the protests of the cow up she went and was almost out when with a bel- low and a kick the rope slipped up around her neck with her legs still in the loop.

The 'poor cow' was likely to choke so was smartly lowered down again, but it was then found she was likely to drown.

So up and down, up and down, and so on until a way was worked out to loosen the rope.

Following much ribald advice from the on-lookers this was finally accomplished.

With the aid of a second rope the cow was finally landed on mother earth.

When her feet met it was she pleased and did she go - yes and did everyone else go too.

The feminine section took to the adjacent windmill and the way they went up it would have put a fireman to shame.

The male section also smartly placed large obstacles between them and the cow.

But, Miss Cow was still held by the haw- ser and not knowing, took off into the wind only to be rudely dragged back again - so with much bellowing, round and round she went like the merry-go-round.

Who could stop her - well no one wanted to but the truck did when she took one turn a bit wide and connected with it.

In came the enemy and Howard Dansie put a half-nelson on her - the brute - and the boys piled on wherever they could get.

One rope was taken off and the other one partly - but you know how the feminine spe- cies are when the masculine species are about - well with a roar and a heave by Miss Cow lightweight Howard lit out for the scrub fol- lowed by the boys and away she went, rope and all.

Was she wild, I'll say she was and looking for fight what's more - but no one was inter- ested.

Off she went through the fence and another fence, rope and all, down Young Street and on to the main street.

One, John Rice thought to turn her but a look in his direction and he did the next 50 yards in yards under evens.

Spying the nicey things in Balnaves win- dows and thinking that an uplift would be just the thing at the moment was met by Henri Balnaves at the door - one went one way and the other another.

On the way to the pound one, Bob Fennell, hopped over the fence with the rake with "I'll stop the cow."

But no, with a charge and a glint in her eye for Bob she made.

Bob, with a smart back jump, half fell over the fence and was assisted none too gently the rest.

And so, Miss Cow was finally cornered in the pound and there her troubles ended.

Penola Walk with History: 1850's Bond Store

From The National Trust of SA Penola Branch

In association with State Heritage, Penola's branch of National Trust SA has developed a mobile phone app called Penola Walk With History to enable people to learn more about historic sites within Penola on self guided tours.

The following is one of the subjects from this app.

The Bond Store

This simple 1850s two-roomed building, constructed of random stone, has retained its masonry chimney. The verandah on the eastern elevation is a later addition.

The bond store was used to hold liquor supplies from interstate because customs duty was payable on goods transported between adjacent colonies prior to federation in 1901.

From 1869 to 1871 it was listed as a cot- tage, garden and outbuildings occupied by Albert J Edwards, licensee of the Prince of Wales Hotel, and then as a stone store and yard still owned and occupied by him from 1872 to 1875, followed by his wife Cath- erine J Edwards until 1882.

The building was used as a residence until 1978 when it was purchased by the District Council of Penola, later Wattle Range Council, which donated it to the Pe- nola Branch of the National Trust of South Australia in 2018.

Iconic signage removed

By Caroline Hammat

Heading east from the end of George Street looks a little different now with an iconic sign that has long graced the Millicent's National Trust Museum roof now removed.

The painted sign had been above the origi- nal entrance to the museum, which now hous- es the museum's shipwreck room, for more than 30 years but as that entrance is no longer used it has caused confusion among tourists.

Millicent museum chairman Barry Long explained: "The reason we removed it was be- cause tourists got confused and were pulling into the (South East) Family History Group thinking it was the entrance to the museum.

"We got painting quotes and it was almost the same price to replace it and we couldn't do it (ourselves) anymore because it would need proper scaffolding and working with heights tickets."

donated all the tin needed for the replace- ment job. The tin removed from the existing shipwreck room building is still in good con- dition and will be reused in the museum with Mr Long explaining it will replace the ageing timber boards along the back wall of the horse drawn vehicle shed.

YOUR WEEKLY TV GUIDE

PICK OF THE WEEK

FATHER BROWN ABC TV, Saturday, 7.30pm

A daytime staple in the UK, and a Saturday evening treat in Australia, this quiet achiever of the murder-mystery genre racks up an impressive milestone tonight. As well as being the season nine finale, it's also the 100th episode of the charmingly formulaic period detective drama. We all should have known that the excellent Mark Williams (Red Dwarf) would enamour the masses with his portrayal of a unique Catholic priest with a knack for solving grisly crimes. In "The Red Death", there's glamour, excitement and horror when Lady Felicia's (Nancy Carroll) swanky New Year's Eve masked ball is rocked by a VIP's murder. How will Father Brown piece together his 100th mystery?

SCENIC COASTAL WALKS WITH KATE HUMBLE SBS, Thursday, 7.35pm

This uplifting, gorgeous series takes pleasure in the simple act of walking in nature, and Kate Humble (pictured) – a woman who has written a book on the subject – is the perfect presenter. Humble has said that "there is something about the rhythm of putting one foot in front of the other that does something really good to your brain," and just witnessing her wanderings is soothing for the soul. In tonight's premiere, Humble visits an area of northwest Wales which is new to her.

THE HAIRY BIKERS GO NORTH SBS Food, Monday, 8.30pm

For the past 15 years, long-haired chefs and motorbike enthusiasts Dave Meyers and Simon King (both pictured) have managed to whip up a TV series each and every year. Armed with their leather jackets, riding boots, a healthy appetite and a puckish sense of humour, their travelogue and foodie series are a great way to escape the monotony of everyday life. This week, the duo kick off a new adventure from east to west of England, beginning in Lancashire, where gastro pubs tantalisingly dot the map.

GRUEN ABC TV, Wednesday, 8pm

The world of advertising is surely the gift that keeps on giving. As much as we decry it, ridicule it and watch on with bemusement and bewilderment, the world of PR and promotion is a treasure trove of entertainment. That's the reason why this humble homegrown show exploring all the tricks and foibles of this business is returning with its 14th season; we are endlessly fascinated. Presenter Wil Anderson brings his sharp wit, along with his familiar panel of experts including Russel Howcroft, Todd Sampson and Dee Madigan.

Cruiser's Aussie history

By Chris Riley, Marque Motoring

The Land Cruiser wagon first chiselled its way into the Australian psyche during the development of the Snowy Mountains Hydro Electric Scheme in the 1950s.

Now nearly 60 years later the latest version of the iconic Toyota 4x4, the 300 Series, hangs on firmly to its exalted position in the pantheon of the large off-roader, paralleling a Henry Moore statue in the art world.

There's still a local link, with the owners of the upper-end variants able to take advantage of Toyota's Multi-Terrain Select system, which was developed Down Under with reference to Australian widely varying on and off-road conditions.

The new Land Cruiser also includes two new flagship variants, with the luxury Sahara ZX and the off-road-focused GR Sport joining the core GX, GXL, VX and Sahara.

Major upgrades include a new 3.3-litre V6 twin-turbo diesel engine, a new exterior design underpinned by the Toyota New Global Architecture platform and advanced driver assistance technologies to provide superb on-road performance and unmatched off-road capability.

Prices range from $89,990, plus on-road costs for the entry-level GX and top out at $138,790 for the Sahara ZX.

Premium paint is a $675 add-on.

The GXL on test tipped the scales into six figures at $101,790.

For the first time on Land Cruiser, the Toyota Service Advantage has been extended from three years/60,000 km to five years/100,000 km, providing customers with capped-price servicing for their first 10 services at $375 each.

Intervals are every six months or 10,000 km, whichever comes first.

Owners are able to extend their warranty on the engine and driveline to seven years by sticking to the service schedule.

Newly constructed from the ground up, the 300 Series extends Land Cruiser's long-standing statuesque stance in the big 4x4 market segment, combining trademark features with new, powerful styling.

From the front, new Land Cruiser pays homage to its heritage through its wide, horizontal grille, flanked by slimline headlights, both set higher than the previous model to avoid damage when off road.

The front bumper is more rounded.

In profile the cabin is set further back in line with early generations of the vehicle, the rear bumper curves more steeply upwards to improve off-road ability, while the whole rear end is tapered for better aerodynamics.

Rear lights are arranged horizontally in a new aluminium hatch.

Lasting the years: The Toyota Land Cruiser 300 Series stands the test of time.

The GXL rolls on unique 18-inch six-spoke alloy wheels.

Along with the significant upgrade in features and technology, the Land Cruiser's cabin has been extensively soundproofed to ensure occupants travel in quiet comfort, while the top of the console box, driver and front passenger kneepads and lower length on the centre console are all upholstered in soft-touch materials.

The GXL test car joins the flagship VX and Sahara in offering seating for seven occupants.

The third row makes room for 1004 litres of luggage and seating for five when it is stowed away in the floor, with up to 1967 litres with both rear rows folded.

Storage includes a dual-opening centre console storage box, centre storage tray/box, overhead sunglasses holder, glovebox and a range of door bins and cupholders capable of holding 750ml bottles.

Information and entertainment are provided by a 9-inch display with a six-speaker audio system.

The new multimedia system is compatible with Apple CarPlay and Android Auto, and features Bluetooth connectivity, AM/FM/DAB+ radio and voice recognition.

Sadly, sat nav and CD / DVD are absent from GXL while all variants bar the entry-level GX feature Qi wireless phone charging.

Two USB terminals and a 12V socket allow further charging options.

All variants are powered by a new-generation 3.3-litre V6 twin-turbo diesel engine producing 227 kW at 4000 rpm and 700 Nm from 1600 to 2600 rpm, a 27 kW / 50 Nm increase over the V8 it replaces.

The V6 is mated with a segment-first 10-speed torque converter automatic transmission.

Thanks to its new-generation engine, Toyota has said intelligent transmission, weight-saving measures and fuel economy has reduced by 6.3 per cent on the combined cycle compared with the outgoing V8, to 8.9 litres per 100km.

All Land Cruisers take in the latest Toyota Safety Sense technologies including autonomous emergency braking pre-collision safety with daytime cyclist and oncoming vehicle detection, night-time pedestrian detection, intersection turn assist and steering assist.

Active cruise control now offers curve speed reduction, while road sign assist, and on VX grades and above, lane trace assist with steering wheel vibration, have been introduced for the first time. Other safety features on all grades include automatic high beam, reversing camera and 10 airbags.

New Toyota Connected Services offers enhanced safety and security with automatic assistance in the event of an emergency and vehicle tracking if the car is stolen.

The two-way turbocharging of the new 227 kW / 700 Nm V6 ensures smooth and efficient power delivery.

At low speed, the primary turbocharger is engaged for responsive power delivery.

As engine speed increases, the second turbocharger is activated to deliver optimal power and torque with smooth acceleration.

Both turbos have been designed to maximise low-speed torque, perfect for off-roading or towing.

The 300 Series retains the Land Cruiser's 3500kg braked towing capacity, offering effortless towing thanks to a combination of greater torque, the sophisticated 10-speed transmission and a stronger, more stable chassis.

A tow wiring harness is also now offered as standard, making the process of connecting a trailer easier than ever.

Multi-Terrain Select features six different modes for off-road terrain - five in high range and four in low range - for ultimate traction in the harshest conditions.

Developed extensively in Australia, MTS offers dirt, sand, mud, deep snow, rock and new auto modes, the last able to intelligently sense the terrain underfoot and adapt the traction control systems accordingly.

Combining with MTS is the low-speed crawl control function and the multi-terrain monitor system which provides 360-degree and underfloor views of the path and approaching obstacles.

Fans of the V8 might be disappointed at the demise of the big block, but the V6 twin-turbo replacement figures - more power, more torque, less fuel - go a long way to standing up for the newbie's case.

Sporty, light-weight BMW M4 CSL coming to Australia

By Ewan Kennedy, Marque Motoring

The lightweight BMW M4 CSL is coming to Australia later this year.

It has a kerb weight of 1,625 kilograms, giving it a power-to-weight ratio of just 2.95 kilograms per hp (4.01 kg/kW).

It will only be a two-seater as 21 kilograms were saved by removing the rear seats and seat belts, integrating a partition and making the associated modifications to the luggage compartment.

Using M Carbon full bucket seats reduced weight by around 24 kilograms compared with the standard seats fitted in the BMW M4 Competition Coupe.

Chassis changes, including the addition of extra-lightweight M Carbon ceramic brakes and special light-alloy wheels, springs and struts, lowered the figure by around another 21 kilograms.

Paring back the amount of soundproofing plus switching to ultra-lightweight sound insulation saved around 15 kilograms, while the use of components made from carbon-fibre-reinforced plastic (CFRP) deducted some eleven kilograms.

In addition to its CFRP roof, the bonnet and boot lid of the BMW M4 CSL are also hewn from this lightweight high-tech material, as is its centre console.

A titanium rear silencer cuts more than four kilograms from the weight of the exhaust system.

Detail modifications to areas such as the BMW kidney grille, rear lights, floor mats and automatic climate control shave off another four kilograms.

The body of the BMW M4 CSL is painted in the exclusive Frozen Brooklyn Grey metallic as standard.

This exterior shade teams up with exposed carbon-fibre surfaces and red accents.

The carbon-fibre structure of the body components is visible in various areas, including the two chiselled indents in the bonnet.

The surfaces of the indents, which are not painted in body colour, are highlighted by red outlines.

Red accent lines add extra emphasis to the two fins on the CFRP roof, the contours of its side sills, the black model badges, and the model-specific CFRP splitters and air curtain inserts in the front apron.

Priced at $303,900 plus road costs the Australian introduction is set for Q4, 2022.

The price includes GST and Luxury Car Tax but not on-road costs.

Eagles fly at Bay

Hatherleigh 41 d Port MacDonnell 36

Hatherleigh made the trip down to Port MacDonnell for Round 8 of Mid South East netball and emerged victorious after a tight contest.

Both teams came from close games last week and were keen to consolidate.

Despite the wet and slippery conditions, both sides hit the court running and played tight netball.

The battle through the middle was one to watch.

Port MacDonnell's Liza Mutch and Hatherleigh's Tegan Telfer fought tenaciously, tussling for every ball.

The Demons were adjusting to a few slight changes to their line-up, with Jess Lynch starting in centre and Kirby Carrison in defence.

Hatherleigh goalies Abby Wight and Maddie Redman challenged Alana Winter and Carrison, but the Demons' defenders responded quickly and worked to limit their opportunities.

The home side led by one goal at the end of the first term in what was fast becoming a competitive contest.

Hatherleigh kept its lineup the same at the beginning of the second quarter, while the Demons moved Mutch into the centre and put Lynch back to wing defence.

Wight shot with accuracy for the Eagles, which limited Winter and Carrison's rebounding opportunities.

The Demons benefited through the experienced Toni Gilmore in the goal circle, while Hatherleigh's Lara MacGregor challenged Brooke Williams' shooting opportunities.

Hatherleigh's Erin Watson ran tirelessly through the centre and with support from Telfer, guided their transition throughout the court.

Hatherleigh's pressure and fight for the ball held them up by two goals at half time.

With the game in the balance at the main break, Hatherleigh's Maddie Pulmer hit the court and Redman shifted to defence.

Port MacDonnell made a few changes, as Belinda O'Dine joined Winter in defence, while Williams came into the centre, making room for Carrison in goals.

Georgia Hunter put pressure on the Port MacDonnell's Narelle Lewis, while Redman quickly adjusted to her change and limited Carrison's opportunities to shoot.

Despite having fresh legs, O'Dine could do little to slow Wight's attack, who was unstoppable in the ring.

However, Winter was in good form and kept Pulmer scoreless for the quarter.

Hatherleigh made the most of all opportunities and they led by four goals at three-quarter time.

Hunter was replaced by MacGregor and Demi Vanderhorst brought fresh legs into defence for the Eagles.

Despite the Demons' best efforts, Hatherleigh gained a couple of early turnovers in the final term and Vanderhorst gained crucial intercepts.

Watson battled for every ball and fed well into Wight and Pulmer.

Gilmore still worked hard for the Demons and Winter did all she could to limit Pulmer's opportunities.

However, the Eagles' defensive pressure and fast court transition was too strong and they claimed a hard-fought victory.

Watson and Wight were best for the victors, while Winter and Gilmore were best for Port MacDonnell.

Murphies too tough

Glencoe 77 d Kongorong 29

Kongorong held the home-court advantage for its Mid South East netball Round 8 clash against Glencoe but were unable to get the job done against a tough opposition.

The first quarter saw both sides go hard but the Murphies settled early, moving the ball well and converting accurately.

Glencoe's Donna Jaeschke was on from the first whistle, working hard with the drive and feeding to Malinda Markiewicz who was accurate under the post.

With the Hawks looking nervous in the first quarter, the Murphies were able to capitalise and take a 14-goal lead to the first break.

The rain intensified in the second term, as did the defensive line-ups for both teams.

Glencoe's Jenna Paproth and Kongorong's Sarah Lucas battled hard in the circle, both influential for their respective sides.

The Hawks settled in the second quarter, able to slightly curb the influence of the strong Glencoe outfit but their hard work was not able to convert to the scoreboard, as Glencoe pushed the lead out by a further seven goals at the main break.

The Hawks went into the third quarter with work to do and the defensive pressure lifted all over the court.

Kate Wright worked overtime at wing attack for the Hawks, both offensive and defensive, while Jaeschke continued to control the game at the attacking end for the Murphies.

Sarah Edwards worked hard at goal defence, where she found another gear in the third term to lead the Murphies to outscore the Hawks 21-9.

Both teams continued to fight hard defensively up either end as the conditions did not ease up.

Edwards continued down the defensive end for Glencoe, working overtime for her side whilst Rach Perry and Jaeschke were embroiled in a thrilling contest down the court.

However, it was the Murphies who ran away with the contest in the rain and claimed a well-deserved victory.

Markiewicz and Ashlea Edwards were best for Glencoe, with Perry and Emily Lightbody best for the Hawks.

Glencoe's Malinda Markiewicz shoots under plenty of pressure from the Kongorong defence.

Hard-fought win for Roosters at home

Robe 55 d Mount Burr 46

Robe was forced to work hard for its win against a tough Mount Burr roster in Round 8 of Mid South East netball.

A few positional changes saw usual defender Madi Haggett into goal attack for the Mozzies, which added extra height and support in the goal ring for shooter Ebony Clark.

Both teams started strongly with the Mozzies first on the board.

Robe's Lucy Perkins and Annie Hunter provided opportunities for goalies Sarah Laurie and Tori Gluyas to pass around the circle and enable them to get within close range to maximise opportunities to score in the tough conditions.

Mount Burr applied strong defensive pressure in the Robe goal circle from Olivia Dean and Simone Westerman, as well as applying pressure all over the court.

This resulted in some timely intercepts and a two-goal advantage for most of the quarter.

Clark was shooting with confidence and Haggett standing strong for any lose rebounds, as Mount Burr took a two-goal advantage to the first break.

The second quarter saw a goal-for-goal early, while tight defensive pressure from the Mount Burr defenders Dean and Westerman saw Haggett convert to break Robe's centre.

Scoring continued goal-for-goal, with both teams prepared to pass the ball patiently around the ring to get in safe scoring position.

Robe's Halle Carter continued her good form on the weekend, named in the Roosters' best as they accounted for Mount Burr in Round 8 of Mid South East netball.

However, Mount Burr increased its lead to three goals at the half-time break.

The intensity continued in the third term, with both sides scoring from their own centre passes, until Robe's Halle Carter was able to take a valuable intercept into the Mount

Burr goal circle.

Robe worked the ball down to their goal end converting the goal and then scoring from their next centre pass to close the margin.

When Schultz was penalised for contact, Robe managed to work down into their goal circle, with Laurie converting to tie the game up.

Robe's defence stepped up a notch and the Roosters increased their lead to six goals at the final break.

Mozzies coach Tamara Haggett made some changes, bringing 17 and Under youngster Maddie Gamble on at wing defence, Zoe Brown off, Fennell into wing attack and Westerman out to goal defence, while Robe continued unchanged.

Mount Burr worked the ball down into their goal end only to have Robe defender Grant rebound a missed opportunity by Haggett.

Robe's mid court of Hunter, Carter and Perkins combined well to move the ball down the court where Laurie converted in the goal circle.

The intensity continued and at one stage the ball went up and down the court into each team's goal circle without scoring five times, before Robe's attack line steadied and Gluyas scored for a nine-goal lead.

In the end that would be the final margin after an entertaining contest.

Carter and Grant were best for the victors, while Haggett and Fennell were best for Mount Burr.

Magpies claim win in Indigenous round

Kalangadoo 68 d Tantanoola 47

Kalangadoo hosted Tantanoola in the annual Indigenous round for Mid South East netball on Saturday and used its home court to advantage, with a solid 21-goal victory.

Both teams tussled early in the contest, going goal-for-goal as both scored with ease.

Tantanoola's Emma Gould was a focal point in the goal circle for her side and was fed precisely by wing attack Casey Walker.

Kalangadoo took until mid-way through the quarter to find some momentum and went into the first break with a four-goal advantage.

In the second quarter the Kalangadoo defence of Lauren Kain and Reanna Wetherall stepped up their pressure and gave the Magpies' goalies plenty of opportunities to convert.

Kalangadoo's Sophie Wrightson worked hard at wing defence to limit Walker's feeding opportunities and created turnovers for her side.

The Magpies extended their advantage at the main break with a 10-goal lead.

Both teams remained unchanged going into the third quarter which saw Tantanoola's defence of Kate Bromley and Tayla Rowe make Kalangadoo goalies, Kori Collins and Abbey Duncan, earn every possession.

Kalangadoo wing attack Kirsty Egan was able to find space and feed her goalies accurately and the Magpies were able to extend the lead to 16 at the final break.

Tantanoola made positional changes to the mid-court going into the final quarter, moving Casey Walker to wing defence, Madi Kelly to wing attack and Kristy Varcoe to centre.

Kalangadoo was again able to extend the lead to finish the match with a solid victory.

Kalangadoo's Jayde Peacock was awarded the Brennan Family Indigenous Medal.

Best players for the victors were Wrightson and Kain, while Casey Walker and Gould were best for Tantanoola.

Kori Collins looks to score as Kalangadoo claimed a strong victory over Tantanoola on Saturday.

Mozzies find their groove

By Trevor Jackson

Mount Burr 15.10 (100) d Robe 5.9 (39)

Mount Burr remains well in touch with the top four after its strong performance in Round 8 of Mid South East football on Saturday.

On a day where many games were drenched due to the adverse conditions around the Limestone coast, it was not nearly as bad at Mount Burr, with much of the weather missing the ground.

Still the ball was slippery and as the game progressed legs became heavy but the Mozzies worked hard and chalked up an impressive victory over Robe.

The Mozzies were simply too strong from the outset, despite both sides finding plenty of the ball in the opening term.

Mount Burr led by eight points at the first break but extended that markedly in the second quarter thanks to three goals, while Robe was unable to add a major.

From there it was all about the home side, as the Mozzies simply extended their lead as the game unfolded.

The third term saw a big effort from the home side, with five major scores to blow the game open.

The defensive pressure was such the Roosters failed to kick another goal until the final quarter, where they added a further three but even then, Mount Burr put on another four majors to ice the game.

Kallan Bevan and Hamish Smith kicked four goals each for the victors, while Jack Gregory added two.

As a 15-year-old playing in the senior ranks, Bevan showed his skill after the siren with a long shot from outside 50 the put the final piece of the puzzle together for the victors.

Jack Kelly was a shining light for Robe, with four goals to his name.

Mount Burr coach Reece Duncan said he was happy with the overall result.

“We knew it was going to be tough,” he said.

“From the get-go I was happy we were neck-and-neck with them in the first quarter.

“We stuck to what we talked about pre-game and the last couple of weeks ... it has been the same message and we are just putting it into action now which is pleasing as a coach to see.

“Our spectators and supporters have said they can see it all starting to click.”

Defensively the Mozzies were impressive but Duncan noted there was still more to be done to keep up the intensity.

“Overall I was impressed with our first three quarters defensively,” he said.

“I am not one to let things slip so I was pretty disappointed with our last quarter effort.

“Overall I was pleased but there is always something you can do better.

“I think our last quarter defensively we could have done better.”

Duncan was pleased with the skills his players displayed, making a special mention of Bevan's efforts.

“Kal kicked four and I don't know if he even kicked a behind,” he said.

“He kicked one after the final siren from 55 metres out and for a 15-year-old kid that's pretty impressive.

“He capped off his day well, was in the best players and did a lot of good things.

“Hamish kept presenting and Jack Gregory kicked a couple.

“Our forwards keep presenting and doing the right things so as long as you get the ball there, it is all working well.”

Mount Burr now sits just four premierships points out of the top four but Duncan is under no illusions about how tough the task ahead is.

“We have still made it hard for ourselves from the start of the year,” he said.

“We have to stay hungry, keep moving forward, keep wanting those wins and play a desperate brand of football.

“The next one we have is Tantanoola and we certainly won't take it easy in that one.

“They are still a threat, have played some good football and will be up and about.

“Mount Burr v Tantanoola is always a good match.

“They will definitely bring it, so we have to bring it too.”

Duncan also made mention of the inter-league selections from the club.

“I am pleased with the guys we have had named for the interleague squad,” he said.

“We have the regulars in Josh Wallis, Josh Fiebig and Sam Wallis.

“But for our young blokes Jack Muhovics and Will Bowering to get a nod was impressive.

“It is very pleasing.”

Four-quarter effort pays off

Kongorong 9.19 (73) d Glencoe 8.4 (52)

Kongorong moved up a spot on the Mid South East football premiership ladder after a solid victory over Glencoe in Round 8 on Saturday.

However, it took a whole-game effort as the Murphies fought the game out, with Kongorong only breaking away in the final quarter.

The Hawks were on from the first bounce, with 12 scoring shots to three in the opening term.

Unfortunately the weather played its part, with wet conditions making for tough shots on goal.

Three of those Kongorong shots resulted in majors scores, while Glencoe converted two of its attempts for maximum results.

That gave the home side a 14-point lead at the first break but the Murphies fought back and trailed by just two points at the main break.

An even third term saw both sides kick two majors, with the Hawks extending their lead to four points at the final break, which set up an exciting final term.

Kongorong made the most of its home deck on the final stanza, with three majors scores to Glencoe's one to run out 21-point victors.

The margin could have been far greater, as the Hawks kicked 19 behinds in the tough conditions.

Will Vickery was the only Hawk to kick multiple goals, with two to his name, while Brodie Glynn and Alex Hentschke did the same for the Murphies.

Magpies swoop Tigers

By Trevor Jackson

Kalangadoo 29.27 (201) d
Tantanoola 3.4 (22)

While Round 8 of Mid South East football threw up some interesting results, the status quo remained for Kalangadoo, as the Magpies stormed to a 79-point victory over Tantanoola.

The winter blast did not seem to both the Magpies, as they kicked off to a strong start, with a 53-point advantage after the first term, after holding the Tigers to just one behind.

Kalangadoo then added six goals in each of the second and third quarters, before finishing in style with a nine-goal final term.

There were no huge bags of goals but a good spread, with eight individual multiple goal scorers.

Michael Krieger topped the list with six, Patrick Davies kicked five and a gaggle of players added three each.

That included Ben Gregory, Tye McManus, Ben Mules and Braiden Ousey.

Bradley Auld and Brett Lindner added two each.

Kalangadoo coach Kevin Stark said while his side racked up plenty of behinds, he was not too concerned, considering the conditions.

“We weren’t as accurate in front of goal compared to what we have been,” he said.

“A lot of the shots we missed were genuine shots on goal.

“The ball was slippery and wet, especially in the last quarter.

“But if we can generate that many scoring opportunities, we will give ourselves a good chance in any game.”

While the ball may well have been slippery in that final term, it made little difference, as the Magpies ran the game out in their usual manner, resulting in the biggest score of all four periods.

Stark said it was simply a matter of sticking to the game plan, regardless of how the score sits.

“It has been a focus every week to make sure we put in a good four-quarter effort,” he said.

“It is all about making sure we are trying to cut out any five or 10 minute lapses which gives teams a chance to expose us.

“It doesn’t matter who the opponent is or the final result is, as long as it is a real hard effort for four quarters we are happy.”

As the day panned out, it was probably the ideal buildup to the Hatherleigh clash this weekend.

Kalangadoo’s Patrick Davies looks to break a tackle during the Magpies’ big win over Tantanoola on Saturday.

Pictures: LACHLAN ONIONS

With the Eagles in second place and coming off a loss, Kalangadoo was able to cement its top spot and prove its game plan works in any conditions.

While Stark said he is confident approaching the game, the final outcome was not the big issue.

“I’m not stressed about the outcome, as long as we go out and try to move the ball the way we want to move it, the way we want to play and we play with intent,” he said.

“Then the result should take care of itself.

“I think all the boys are really in good touch and I know Hatherleigh had a bit of a hiccup but they have been in good form.

“It should make for a pretty good hitout.”

Demons too strong for Eagles on home ground

By Trevor Jackson

Port MacDonnell 10.7 (67) d
Hatherleigh 3.6 (24)

A wintry blast over the weekend provided less-than-ideal conditions for sporting fixtures across the Limestone Coast, which was never more evident than at Port MacDonnell.

The Demons hosted Hatherleigh in Round 8 of Mid South East football, in a match expected to provide plenty of entertainment between the second-placed Eagles and third-placed Port MacDonnell.

The Demons seem to settle more as the weeks go by in its premiership defence and claimed a huge scalp on Saturday, a feat no other side has been able to achieve so far in 2022.

It was the Eagles’ first loss of the season and put the league on notice that the Demons are right in the contest again this year.

The Eagles have been one of two sides that appeared untouchable - along with Kalangadoo - until but came up against a determined Demons side down at the Bay.

The Demons used their refurbished home ground to advantage and were on top early in a low-scoring first term, leading 2.4 (16) to 1.3 (9).

That first term provided a little insight into how the game would pan out but few would have tipped such a big win against a tough Eagles’ roster.

Tough conditions faced sporting fixtures across the Limestone Coast on Saturday, with Port MacDonnell using its home ground to claim a win over the previously-undefeated Hatherleigh in Round 8 of Mid South East football.

In the second quarter the Demons opened the game up, holding Hatherleigh scoreless while adding a further four goals and two behinds to lead by a healthy 33 points at the main break.

Any thoughts of a resurgence from the Eagles was dashed in the third term, as the Demons added a further three majors, while Hatherleigh offered little in response.

The Eagles found some opportunities in the final term but it was too little, too late as Hatherleigh’s Lewis Walker and Port MacDonnell’s Brandon Newton contest a ground ball in wet conditions on Saturday.

Port MacDonnell had built enough of a buffer to run out comfortable victors.

It was a huge win for the Demons, having lost a large contingent of last year’s premiership team.

It has taken some time to settle into the season but Port MacDonnell is now clear of Robe in third place, nipping at the heels of the Eagles in second.

On a tough day for big men, Tim Sullivan bucked the trend and kicked four majors for the victors, Jake Turner added three and Alex Ridding two.

Mid-season challenges

Hatherleigh v Kalangadoo

Round 9 of Mid South East netball throws up some interesting challenges, with none more-so than Hatherleigh's battle with Kalangadoo.

Hatherleigh will host the reigning premiers in what should be a tough game.

The Eagles' defensive combination of Demi Vanderhorst and Lara MacGregor will have hands to every ball, working overtime to put the pressure on the Magpie's goalies.

Abbey Duncan and Kori Collins will make every possession count under the circle and will shoot with accuracy.

Kalangadoo defenders Lauren Kain and Reanna Wetherall will apply pressure in Hatherleigh's goal circle, while Maddie Pulmer and Abby Wight will combine well in the for Hatherleigh, fed with accuracy by Erin Watson and Tegan Telfer from outside the circle.

This game will be close but Kalangadoo should away with the win after a strong battle.

Glencoe v Port MacDonnell

Glencoe will look to cement its position in the top four this weekend when it hosts Port MacDonnell.

The accuracy of Glencoe's Malinda Markiewicz and Jenna Paproth will be vital in the attack line for the Murphies and Port MacDonnell's Alana Winter and Belinda O'Dine will need to put the pressure on before the ball reaches the circle.

The tussle between Donna Jaeschke and Liza Mutch through the mid court will be one to watch, with both players fighting to gain possessions for their respective teams.

Toni Gilmore's accuracy under the ring for the Demons will be beneficial but Glencoe's Sarah Edwards and Chelsea Owen will do anything they can to create turnovers and apply pressure in the goal circle.

After a hard-fought game, Glencoe will come out with the points.

Robe v Nangwarry

Nangwarry will make the trip up to the seaside to take on Robe, with a huge challenge looming.

Nangwarry's defensive combination of Carly Ploenges and Hayley Vanderhorst will have to work tirelessly to put pressure on Robe's goalies, creating any possible turnovers.

Robe's Tori Gluyas and Sarah Laurie will use any opportunity to score, after being fed well by both Lucy Perkins and Annie Hunter around the ring. Kylie Heaver will work hard for the Saints to move the ball down the court and feed with accuracy into her goalies, Ange Pratt and Tahlia Wilson.

Kalangadoo will look consolidate its top position in the Mid South East netball season when the Magpies travel to face Hatherleigh on Saturday.

Robe's Ellen Ramke and Emma Grant work well together in the defensive circle and will apply defensive pressure to Nangwarry's goalies but after the final whistle blows, Robe will come away with the points.

Tantanoola v Mount Burr

Tantanoola hosts Mount Burr this weekend, with the hope to chalk another win.

Mount Burr's defenders will put on the pressure, with Olivia Dean and Simone Westerman combining well, forcing Tantanoola's goalies to earn every possession.

Mount Burr's Meg Fennell and Tantanoola's Casey Walker will battle it out on the wing, both fighting to gain the ball for their respective teams.

Emma Gould and Jami Walker's accuracy in the goal circle will be a focal point for the Tigers, fighting to rebound any missed goals.

Mount Burr's altered goalie combination of Ebony Clark and Madi Haggett worked well last week and will once again be an important part of the Mozzies' attack line.

Tantanoola's Kate Bromley and Tayla Rowe will work hard to keep the pressure on in the defensive end and will create turnovers for their side.

Both teams have the potential to come away with the points this week, but Mount Burr should have the edge to claim the win and remain in touch with the top four.

Glencoe will need a win over Port MacDonnell in Round 9 of Mid South East netball, with three teams on equal points fighting for fourth position, which the Murphies currently cling onto.

Tough contests expected

By Trevor Jackson

Hatherleigh v Kalangadoo

The big talking point in Round 9 of Mid South East football would undoubtedly be the Hatherleigh v Kalangadoo clash.

Up until last weekend both sides had been untouchable but Port MacDonnell ended Hatherleigh's dream run.

Kalangadoo simply rolled on and looks a hot favourite in the top-of-the-table clash.

It is hard to tip against a side which consistently wins by close to, or more than 100 points.

Up forward Michael Krieger has again been a huge focus, currently with 38 goals from his six matches.

However, the Magpies are certainly no one-trick pony in the forward 50.

Patrick Davies (22 goals) is another in good touch, as is Ben Gregory (14).

Add to the list the likes of Ben Mules, Tye and Sam McManus, Braiden Ousey, to name just a few and it is easy to see why the Magpies have had a dream start to the 2022 season.

However, Hatherleigh has also been impressive this season, with just the one loss against Port MacDonnell last week in adverse conditions.

The Eagles have been well served up forward by coach Jake Dowdy (29 goals), Jack Skeer (17) and Brad Mitchell (10).

Both sides play a fast style of football, with accurate delivery and plenty of desire for the ball.

Hatherleigh has the home-ground advantage this round and will need to use it to good effect if they are to hand Kalangadoo its first loss of the season.

It is hard to see the Magpies drop this one and they should claim the points.

By how much is the big question.

However, if the Eagles can fire early and put a competitive score on the board early, it could change the face of the contest.

The Magpies have not been pushed too hard this season, so if Hatherleigh can take up the challenge, the tables could be turned.

Kalangadoo has shown plenty of run around the ground and will look to continue that for when they face Hatherleigh in Round 9 of Mid South East football this weekend.

Tantanoola v Mount Burr

Tantanoola faces another tough round of football when the Tigers host Mount Burr on Saturday.

Mount Burr holds the advantage on the premiership ladder due to its superior percentage, with both still well in touch with the top four.

Tantanoola comes off a stinging loss to the powerhouse Kalangadoo, while in contrast, the Mozzies come off an impressive victory over Robe.

Mount Burr has been quick out of the blocks this season, even in its opening-round loss to Hatherleigh.

The Mozzies have suffered reasonably close losses to Glencoe and Port MacDonnell and now appear to be on track after such a strong performance against Robe last round.

The Tigers have been solid so far, apart from big losses to Hatherleigh, Port MacDonnell and Kalangadoo.

As the season has unfolded Mount Burr appears to be the big improver and should have enough in the tank to carry last week's momentum into this clash and emerge victorious.

Robe v Nangwarry

Nangwarry will travel to the coastal township of Robe this weekend for its Round 9 clash and hope to return victorious.

The Saints come off the bye and will be fresh and ready to go.

In contrast, the Roosters suffered a big loss at the hands of Mount Burr last week and will look to return to the winner's list, possibly to the detriment of the Saints.

However, as several teams have discovered this season, Nangwarry is no pushover in 2022.

a simply lapse in concentration can let the Saints in and they can do damage, especially if they can find Andrew Hyland up forward.

Hyland currently has 27 goals for the season despite the Saints yet to record a victory.

Robe has enjoyed a good spread of goal-kickers, with coach Tom Wachtel, Jack Kelly and Jordan Pettit big movers around the ground.

Kelly stepped up and kicked four of the Roosters' five goals in last week's loss and another big game will be needed this week.

Nangwarry will chalk up a win sooner or later but it will not be this week, with the Rooster sure to get the job done on their home deck.

Glencoe v Port MacDonnell

Glencoe faces a tough task this weekend, despite playing at home to Port MacDonnell.

The Demons have begun to hit their straps, with their game plan coming together.

They would be riding the wave of a win over the powerhouse Hatherleigh last week and carry that momentum forward into this Round 9 clash.

The Demons have a 5/2 win/loss ratio this season, with the Murphies success reversed at 2/5.

Port MacDonnell boast a couple of the best big men in the business, with Tim Sullivan and Will Macdonald tough to stop regardless of where they are on the ground.

Add to that the likes of Kevin Thomson, Mark Smith and a host of others and the task becomes a little more difficult for the Murphies.

Glencoe comes off a tough loss against Kongorong in last week's adverse conditions.

They fought hard for three quarters but could not quite get the job done.

That result may well spark a renewed effort but more will be needed to defeat the Demons.

Port MacDonnell should claim the points in what could pan out as a tough contest.

Down to the wire

By James Murphy

Millicent 6.9 (45) d West Gambier 4.12 (36)
Millicent clinched a nine-point win over West Gambier in wet conditions at Malseed Park in Round 8 of Western Border football.

Players of all disciplines received their first proper taste of winter sport over the weekend and Saturday's rain put a dampener on scoreboards.

In the end a 45-point return was enough to see the Saints across the line but it did not come without a fight.

Millicent was able to hold the lead at every change and entered the final quarter with a two-goal lead.

However, the Roos stacked on a couple of early goals to sneak in front and put the pressure on the reigning premiers.

Saints coach Clint Gallio was impressed with the grit shown by his team to fight the game out in dismal conditions.

"It was looking pretty grim there at one stage," he said.

"It was really positive and mature of the boys to grind it out the whole way and they got the result."

Gallio said it was not pretty football but in the end the Saints' desire to win helped them across the line.

Dylan Bromley was pivotal in the fourth quarter and kicked two of his three goals for the day during that time.

Down the other end youngster Zac McGuinness proved a brick wall in defence.

Millicent defender Zac McGuinness overcame the slippery conditions at Malseed Park to earn the best-on-ground honours for the clash.
Picture: JAMES MURPHY

After a consistent few weeks of football his efforts were recognised with the best-on-ground honours.

"He had a lot of balls coming towards him and he didn't get beaten all day," Gallio said.

"He was one of those guys who really dug deep when he needed to and we thought he was super over the four quarters."

Also in the backline Dylan Tincknell proved solid, while Craig Gysbers gave his all in the scrappy affair.

The Saints also welcomed the return of Hamish Nitschke following a lengthy stint away from the game due to an ACL injury.

He looked strong on the day to earn himself a place in the best and will be one to watch once the match fitness comes.

In a game where hard work was rewarded it was no surprise to see Lawry Bradley-Brown named as West's best on ground.

His workhorse style of play had him go hard for the ball and put in 100pc throughout the match.

He was joined by regular contributors Michael Minuzzo, Jesse Pfitzner, Lewis Lean and Kyle Giddings among the best.

Goals were shared around for the Roos with Reece Cowling, Giddings, Dylan Gillies and Pfitzner all snagging one each.

The Roos will hope to bounce back against East Gambier next week, while the Saints face the challenge of an in-form North Gambier.

"We kept the activities fairly limited this year because we weren't too sure what the reception was going to be

"There was an exclusive area for patrons who made group bookings and we had a DJ there as well.

"It made it more like a party atmosphere and next year we will look to expand on that."

Berry said she would be open to hosting the Millicent Cup at Mount Gambier again in the future.

Because the Millicent Racing Club is a tenant club, only the one race meet is held each year.

Instead, it is a training organisation for jockeys and horses and has hosted jump-out events since last year.

The last time a sanctioned horse race was held in Millicent was in 1969.

Berry said she would love the cup to be hosted in Millicent again.

"I would never say never," she said.

"There is a lot of work before we are ready to go down that path.

"We have not been told no by Racing SA, so it is just a case of raising funds.

"It is a long term plan, it is not something that is going to happen overnight but for now we are happy with either Mount Gambier or Penola.

"They are both fantastic venues and it is nice to see the locals still support horse racing.

Heavens open up in first loss for Saints netballers

West Gambier 58 d Millicent 56

It was a tough, physical contest played in less-than-ideal conditions when West Gambier claimed a two-goal win over Millicent in the top-of-the-table clash.

The Roos and the Saints now sit at one apiece for their 2022 meetings as the former adapted to the wet and windy conditions at Malseed Park on Saturday.

Millicent had the better of the opening quarter.

Lisa Duldig returned to the court from her knee injury and combined with Paige Nitschke through the mid court to deliver plenty of ball to goalies Tabatha Sanderson and Demi Verbena.

The star shooting duo shared the responsibilities which made things hard for the West defence.

Sanderson netted 11 from 12 and Verbena eight from 11 as Millicent worked its way to a three-goal advantage.

As expected pre-match, Sarah Ritter was the focal point of the Roos attack.

In the end she shot 42 of West's 58 goals and stayed on the court despite a tweaking knee, which now looks to sideline her for at least two or three rounds.

Ritter's connection with Mikaela Horrigan proved irresistible as Horrigan hit the circle hard and used her height advantage to good effect.

The Saints had an equally strong connection in attack as their trademark speed of ball and precise feeding gave Verbena and Sanderson plenty of scoring opportunities and the lead was six by the half.

West clearly went to work in the long break to tweak its defensive effort and it worked, restricting Millicent to 14 attempts for the quarter.

A raise in pressure from the Roos paid off and they were able to level the game at 46 apiece at the final change.

The final quarter brought the worst of the conditions and it was a tense arm wrestle.

Both sides had trouble transitioning with any conviction and in the end Ritter's accuracy proved the difference with her 10 from 11 seeing West over the line by two.

The Saints will be eager to bounce back this weekend when they travel to play North Gambier.

Last time the sides met Millicent prevailed by 12 goals at home but it will be weary of the recent form of the Tigers.

Goal shooter Caroline Wakefield missed only one goal against South on the weekend to convert 44 of North's 62 total.

The battle in the mid-court between Duldig and Brianna Walters will be once to watch, while the Saints will look to their defence to deny Wakefield too many deliveries.

Tough game expected

North Gambier v Millicent

It could be another rain round for Western Border footballers this Saturday, following the first real taste of winter sport last week.

Millicent returns to the Blue Lake city for a Round 8 meeting with North Gambier but will hope for more ideal conditions despite the current forecast.

Last time the sides met was under lights at McLaughlin Park.

On that occasion a slow start from Millicent allowed the Tigers to power ahead in the opening term, before a big second quarter pushed the home team in front to a lead it would not give up.

Slow starts have been an issue for the Saints on more than one occasion, while North has struggled to keep the pace in the second half against the top teams.

Last week's clash with South was somewhat of a replication of the Tigers' previous meeting with the Demons, where they were outrun after half time.

Both teams will chase a strong four quarters and if they achieve this it should produce the match of the round.

Millicent defender Zac McGuinness was the standout last week and his efforts in denying opportunities to Roos' forwards earned him the best-on-ground honours.

He has had a consistent first half of the season and is part of the Saints' young, yet talented backline.

Dylan Tincknell is somewhat of a mentor down back and he also carries form into the clash.

He can always be relied on to give his all, while the likes of Frazer Bradley, Kade Varcoe and Josh Werchon have all been solid in recent rounds.

North will be set on redemption and will hope the home-ground advantage is enough to push it over the line this time around.

Nick McInerney was best-on-ground in the wet last week and will be vital again, especially if the heavens open up on Saturday afternoon.

The Tigers have had a strong contribution from its backline of late, with the likes of Jake Schutz, Dale Bachmann and Jordan Hollitt in impressive form.

Down the other end Sam Stafford continues to be a danger to opposition defenders, while Tobey de Wit has also proven capable above his head and in front of goals since he returned from injury in Round 3.

It appears a good game of football will unfold and it could go either way, with the weather conditions possibly coming into play.

National honours for skeet shooter

By Lachlan Onions

Penola's Liz Rymill returned from a successful week in Wagga Wagga recently where she competed in the National Skeet Championships for South Australia.

Rymill was the first female to be selected in the Open team and she also competed in the women's team.

This was Rymill's second time competing at the National Skeet Championships.

The carnival was a week-long event and Rymill's efforts were rewarded as she was selected in the All-Australian Women's Skeet team after she qualified in first place.

"It is probably the highlight for me to date," she said.

Rymill said she was surprised to qualify for the All-Australian team.

"I had done some training but because I have three children, work and a farm, it was a surprise that I did as well as I did since I haven't had the opportunity to train as much as some of the other shooters," she said.

"I was training three times a week since March and then for the last couple of months, it has been twice a week."

The Australian women will now compete against New Zealand's best shooters.

"They don't do travelling due to Covid but the five women for Australia have shot our scores and New Zealand's top five women will shoot their match later in the year," Rymill said.

Rymill first got into the sport eight years ago when she was shooting with her husband's shotgun.

"I was just shooting some clay targets in the paddock and I found that I could hit them and it got me hooked," she said.

To cap the week off Rymill also won the Skeet Doubles event.

She said she will take a break from shooting until the next championship as she is focusing on coaching.

"I think competing at this level helps me understand what is required to take on new shooters and take them to a higher level," Rymill said.

She said that getting her coaching accreditation has helped her hone her skills and challenged her to be the best shooter she can be.

A Clever Man's sure bet

By Lachlan Onions

A change of venue for the Millicent Racing Club's annual Cup meeting proved popular, as a strong crowd filled the Allan Scott Glenburnie Racecourse on Sunday.

Clever Man claimed the victory in the main race, ahead of Bear Arms and Brigadier.

It was another victory on home soil for the Mount Gambier based horse, who is trained by Trevor White.

Clever Man previously won at the Allan Scott Glenburnie Racecourse in the Mount Gambier Gold Cup in April.

Ben Price claimed his second win of the day, which took the 19-year-old's career tally to 99 wins as a jockey.

Bear Arms is trained at Millicent by Jeremy Kenny and was jockeyed by Teagan Voorham.

Eran Boyd jockeyed Brigadier to third and is trained at Mount Gambier by Wayne Walters.

Millicent Racing Club secretary Simone Berry was pleased with how the day unfolded.

"I think it was a great day, it was pretty busy and everyone seemed to be happy, so that's the main thing," she said.

"We have held it at the Penola Racecourse in the past but we thought we would give Mount Gambier a go.
