$240k library fix

Replacing the 30 year old roof and a new air-conditioning system for the Millicent Library has been allocated $240,000 in the draft 2022/23 Wattle Range Council budget which is expected to be adopted by council next week.

Not replaced since the library was built in 1991, the roof has been leaking and causing damage to the interior of the building, and pigeons have also been finding their way into the roof space, according to council officers.

"The roof is leaking in several places and we've attempted to repair it numerous times," said Director Development Services, Emma Clay.

"It's causing mould on the ceiling so we have to get that cleaned up on a regular basis.

"Staff have had to resort to getting buckets out to try and catch the leaks and it is making the carpet wet and smelly.

"Pigeons are a problem too; they get into the smallest of places.

"They are nesting in the roof which is posing a health issue and damaging the false ceiling."

Director of Engineering Services, Peter Halton said the building's air-conditioning had been problematic for years.

"For the last 10 years we have had ongoing issues with it," he said.

"It's got four separate sections; two of them have not been working for five years and the rest are struggling."

Mr Halton said the work would include removing the air-conditioning units from the roof of the building and installing ground level units instead. This in itself would help reduce the number of "penetrations" through the roof which was exacerbating the leak and pigeon intrusion problem. The job would also be made difficult by the presence of solar panels on the roof of the library which will have to be removed to enable the new roof to be put on before they are re-installed.

The work is not expected to proceed until after the local government elections in November, when the new council will be asked to select a successful tenderer.

5THE FM was criticised by community members earlier this year for a claimed lack of transparency on how the community radio station was run.

Radio coup gathering

By Elsie Adamo

A special general meeting of Millicent Community Radio Station 5THE FM has been called by members after requests to the station's management were ignored.

Last month 15 of the station's members wrote to 5THE FM management board and requested a meeting, in a letter signed by Des Noll. Mr Noll states he was acting as a concerned community and station member, and not in his role as Wattle Range Council Mayor.

As no response to the request was received, the group has been forced to call a special general meeting, to be held later this month.

The members are seeking clarity on current governance and management structures, and the station's compliance with key regulatory bodies such as the Australian Communications Media Authority (ACMA), South Australian Community Broadcasting Association, and the South Australia Consumer and Business Services (CBS).

Requests for this information to 5THE FM have not been provided to the concerned group of members.

Des Noll said the meeting would help get to the bottom of how the station is currently run.

"The purpose of this meeting is to identify the current governance, management structure currently in place, and its compliance with the following," he said.

"[The meeting will] identify and establish a transitional governance board of management to operate the Millicent community radio station."

Mr Noll said he encouraged the public to attend the meeting, official members or not.

"Any interested community members who are concerned about the current status of operations are welcome to attend," he said.

The meeting will be chaired by an interim chairperson, current 5GTR FM chairperson Nathan Butler.

In May the South Eastern Times revealed the station is being investigated by ACMA, which regulates Australian media, following a complaint. The outcome of the investigation is not expected for a number of months.

The radio station was contacted for comment about the meeting but did not respond by print deadline.

The special general meeting will be held next week on July 21 at St Alphonsus Hall, starting at 7pm.

Budget concerns

The Riddoch Business and Community Association (RBCA) has raised concerns about the 2022/23 Wattle Range Council's Draft Annual Business Plan.

In a submission to the Wattle Range Council, the association said it was pleasing to see that Wattle Range Council has put a focus on economic development, tourism, and updates to our road network through the significant priorities list, but also raised a number of issues.

Key concerns include the increase in employee costs, additional funding for both the Millicent and Penola Masterplans, more funding for roads across the council area, increased spending on community events grants programs, the percentage of funds going towards drainage in Penola, and a lack of funding for youth opportunities, as well as other issues.

"Having reviewed and considered the Draft Business Plan, it is pleasing to see that Wattle Range Council has put a focus on economic development, tourism, and updates to our road network through the significant priorities list," the submission said.

"The Riddoch Business and Community Association also support the recommendations for the improvement of the visual amenity of Penola. However, we have questions and concerns regarding most of these budget items that we wish to query."

Association representatives Nicole Reschke and Simone Kain spoke at a special council meeting on Tuesday, where they asked a number of questions to the council on topics outlined in their submission on how spending has been decided, and if the amounts were accurate. Wattle Range chief executive Ben Gower responded to some of their queries in the meeting, highlighting an increase in service delivery being responsible for increased staffing costs.

He indicated that a response would be given to the association on their submission, hopefully by the end of the week.

Questions from the public were also taken during the special meeting, with many in attendance utilising the opportunity.

The questions asked included subjects such as the Beachport Crayfish Festival, road maintenance, and rate valuations.

Primary production rates were also discussed after a question from the public prompted council to reaffirm it would continue to advocate to the State Government for forestry to be moved from primary production into a separate rate category.

There were five other submissions received by the council, some of which highlighted similar issues. Jodi Strother, in her submission, said she objected to the rate rise, saying there were other ways for the council to save money, referencing the council's proposed new council chambers- predicted to cost more than $9m, and "projects that are of no benefit."

John Andre echoed the concerns of the RBCA about the 14 per cent increase in staffing, which has seen employee costs become one of council's biggest expenses.

Anne Miller, of Penola, raised concerns about a lack of funding for Penola footpaths in the budget, saying that a survey that was completed last year indicated that improvement of footpaths and drainage was a high priority for residents.

Millicent resident Elisabeth Stephan said she was disappointed by the lack of funds for the toilet facilities at Surf Beach in Beachport, and the Glencoe Progress Association asked for ongoing interim funding for Lake Leake.

After the submissions were noted Mr Gower committed that council would respond to all the submissions received.

Businesses encouraged to enrol to vote

The Electoral Commission of SA (ECSA) is encouraging regional businesses and sole traders to have their say in the local government election to be held in November.

Local council elections are held every four years for the 67 councils across the state, with up to 1500 people nominating for the 224 council or mayoral positions across South Australia. Many business owners may not realise they are eligible to vote in the council elections, but unlike individual voters in South Australia who, if they are on the electoral roll for the State election, automatically get a vote, businesses need to enrol by Friday, July 29.

Electoral Commissioner Mick Sherry said they were calling on regional businesses to enrol to vote in the local council elections.

"Just like homeowners, businesses based in a local council are eligible to vote in the local council elections," he said.

"This is an opportunity for businesses to have a say on key council-related areas, including rezoning, local traffic management, permits and fees, development and planning, parking and business development growth.

"If a business is in a different council area or ward to where the business owner lives, they may be eligible to vote in both the council area where they live and the council area where their business is based.

"South Australia is home to around 145,700 small businesses – so we encourage them to get online and register their business so they can vote and have their say in the 2022 council elections."

Individuals who have moved to South Australia from overseas may also be eligible to vote in the local council elections.

This includes temporary, permanent, student and holiday visa holders but they must be a resident for more than one month to be eligible - they must also enrol to vote.

Federal Government grant for park trees

By Kathy Fennell

The Penola Show Society has received a Federal Government grant for $3500 to plant trees at McCorquindale Park in commemoration of the Queen's Jubilee celebrations. The grant was made available in honour of Her Majesty, Queen Elizabeth II and her seventy years of service to Australia and the Commonwealth.

Titled the 'Planting Trees for the Queen's Jubilee Program', the intended outcome of the program is to increase community awareness and to celebrate the Queen's Jubilee, to create a legacy of tree plantings across the nation for Australians to enjoy that also serve to honour the memory of the Queen and her seventy years of service.

Show Society President, Mrs Kinta Wilson said: "It was fantastic to win the grant.

"We are in discussions with what type of trees and the location, however it would be nice to be able to plant an avenue of nice shade trees.

"Our tree sub committee of Glenys Mulligan, Rick Paltridge and David Galpin have had lengthy discussions as we have to get it right, as they will be there for a long time."

As part of the commemorations a plaque will be placed on a tree and an official ceremony will be held in September. Once a decision is made on the tree variety and location it will be submitted to Council for approval.

New use for bank

By Elsie Adamo

There is a new owner of the old Commonwealth Bank building in Millicent.

The site at 56 George St has been on the market for just over a year, following the Commonwealth Bank Millicent branch closure in May 2020.

The building purchase, due to be settled tomorrow, has been bought by Chiropractic Life to be turned into its newest practice.

The business operates in six states and territories and has 20 locations in South Australia, including Mount Gambier and Meningie.

New practice development manager Adam Smith said the business's attempts to bring chiropractic city amenities to areas that may not have them.

"We like to bring chiropractic services we believe are world-class into the local communities that are underserved," Mr Smith said.

"Our plans for the bank building there in Millicent include chiropractic, but also we are looking at other therapies and things like float tank and infrared sauna.

"These sorts of things that can help aid healing, but maybe people do not have access to in that local area as well.

"We bring in all the equipment including x-ray into the local area, so people do not have to drive a long way to get what they need."

Activity on the site will start soon according to Mr Smith.

"We are excited to get in there," he said.

"It has taken us a little while to get it all sorted out.

"Within the next few weeks locals will start to see some work happening there.

Director of South East Property Fiona Telfer said she was happy the property sale is about to be finalised after it had been under offer for some time.

"The first thing the residents will notice is a change of signage out the front."

It may be a bit of a wait before the official opening, with much work needed on the space before it is business-ready.

"Unfortunately, there is a fair amount of asbestos in the building at the moment and we need to get all that cleaned out first," Mr Smith said. "Then we can start renovating it and turning it into a Chiropractic Life practice.

"Getting any builder to do anything at the moment, anywhere in the entire country is quite hard.

"We have a practice at Maryborough in Queensland that we are fitting out now, we bought the building in June of last year and we started work on it three years ago."

The finding of the new site happened in a lucky accident when Chiropractic Life chief executive Adam McKenzie was investigating options for a different business venture.

"He was looking for a building with a vault or a strongroom for another venture of his," Mr Smith said.

"Then the CBA bank came across his radar, and he took a drive out to Millicent and had a look, and that was that."

Police pursuit

Two people were arrested after a police pursuit in the Millicent area Monday afternoon.

Police spotted the stolen Victorian Honda Accord about 1.45pm in Millicent and a pursuit ensued.

The Honda was followed as it immediately headed out of town to travel on back roads.

The tyres were successfully spiked on Banya Road and the vehicle continued driving, with slowly deflating tyres, through the township of Rendelsham.

It eventually came to a stop on the Beachport to Penola Road and the female driver and male passenger were arrested without further incident.

A 20-year-old Sturt woman was charged with illegal use, drive dangerously to evade police and drive disqualified.

She was refused police bail and appeared in the Millicent Magistrates Court on Tuesday.

A 29-year-old Millicent man was charged with illegal use and bailed to appear in court at a later date.

No one was injured during the incident.

Second pursuit

A man has been arrested following a police pursuit on Tuesday.

Police patrols attempted to stop a Commodore wagon on Overland Track at Glencoe just before 3pm on Tuesday for a routine traffic stop before the driver sped off.

Patrols pursued the car as it headed to Mount Gambier where it was successfully spiked on Penola Road.

The vehicle was dumped in Yeates Street before the driver, a 25-year-old from Victoria, was arrested in a nearby yard.

He is expected to be charged with a raft of traffic offences.

Keith Sneath takes the reins at Beachport Lions

With 76 people attending, the Beachport Rivoli Bay Lions Club 41st annual Handover Lunch held at the Beachport Hotel last Sunday.

Outgoing President Garry Smith marked the occasion with the traditional handing over of the symbols of office, the gong, gavel and charter, to well known business identity Keith Sneath.

Mr Sneath currently has a warehousing business SS Holdings, and was the former proprietor of Sneath Transport which he and his wife Wendy had recently relinquished.

Mr and Mrs Sneath enjoyed the occasion with three members of their immediate family and a grandson attending the celebration.

Representatives from four other Lions Clubs, including Mount Gambier and Kingston, were also in attendance with immediate past District Governor Darryl Morely from Kingston officiating the change of presidential office.

Members of the Lions Club of Blue Lake City Lioness, formerly the Mount Gambier Lioness Club, were at the event with new President Janet Bellinger, who is well known for her bagpipe playing at Beachport Anzac Day services.

Robe Lion, Elise Lehmann, was invited to provide entertainment at the event in the form of blind jokes.

Ms Lehmann has been blind since the age of two and has a large repertoire of jokes, but her original time limit of 20 minutes had the crowd calling for more.

Lions member Ben Treloar concluded the afternoon by auctioning off the mostly native flower displays on each of the ten tables.

Journey to amalgamation

Former and current mayors, councillors and employees gathered last Friday night to celebrate 25 years to the day since Beachport, Millicent and Penola councils amalgamated to form Wattle Range Council (WRC).

More than 50 people attended the event held at the Millicent Gallery and current WRC Mayor Des Noll welcomed guests, and speakers who talked about sentiment at the time of the amalgamation and the hurdles overcome to achieve this.

The last mayor of Penola District Council, Andrew Eastick, congratulated the WRC on its achievements and said the decision by the District Council of Penola (DCP) to join the amalgamation was a considered approach.

"We did a poll of our community as part of the consideration and the overwhelming majority of the DCP who were faced with choices of going to Naracoorte, south to Mount Gambier or coming with Millicent and Beachport decided overwhelmingly to come and join the WRC," Mr Eastick said.

"They understood and had an appreciation of the bigger picture and it was a view that over the years the DCP had suffered from time to time for not having a big enough picture of the opportunities for the district, that's why we supported the idea of a merger.

"One of the things that has happened for Penola is the bypass and I don't believe that had the DCP continued as an entity the bypass would've been achieved.

"To me that's a demonstration of the value of the WRC to Penola people, not everyone is going to agree with me in Penola I can tell you that

"The fact is the council needed to be bigger so that the breadth of experience, knowledge and expertise was sufficient to benefit the district and I believe the WRC has achieved that."

Frank Brennan was employed by the District Council of Millicent (DCM) at the time of the amalgamation and went on to spend over three decades with both Millicent and WRC Councils.

Mayoral gathering: Current WRC Mayor Des Noll (centre) with two of his predecessors former mayors Peter Gandolfi and Mark Braes.

Reflecting on the process that led the amalgamation Mr Brennan explained to those in attendance the 1996 Ministerial Advisory Group report on local government amalgamations included a number of different scenarios for amalgamations.

"The one that really stood out to me as a ripper was a coastal council, Kingston, Robe, Beachport, Millicent and Port MacDonnell," said Mr Brennan.

"The government at the time decided there would be no forced amalgamations, with councils encouraged to explore opportunities so Millicent approached Beachport.

"Penola and Robe were our other targets so we approached them to see if they were interested, we are still waiting to hear from Robe."

Mr Brennan went on to explain a marketing campaign was undertaken to promote the idea of amalgamation, sharing comparative information and statistical data and taking the information to the communities.

"I recall having a number of community meetings and we had a meeting at Kalangadoo hall with a number of people there.

"We had slide shows about the costs and the vision and we invited comment from the community."

Once the councils agreed on the amalgamation the proposal was put to the local government boundary reform board at the time and council's objectives were set in place with the three councils initiating an implementation committee with representatives from the three councils.

They discussed and debated issues around rating and wage equalisation, staffing, offices, the Penola bypass and what to call the new amalgamated council.

"The first name that was promoted and supported by the implementation committee was Coonawarra Coast Council, what a dream name," Mr Brennan said.

"Marketing it couldn't have been better, well we couldn't have been more wrong the name Coonawarra is very much guarded by those that live within that area with a passion.

"So we finally decided on Wattle Range Council, as the old Wattle Range homestead is near the middle of the council area and it seemed a way to bring the three councils together."

Mr Brennan finished his talk by reflecting on the diversity of the towns and rural community within the WRC, saying the diversity of people, business and industry is a main strength of the amalgamation and drives our region.

Former WRC Mayor Mark Braes was the final guest to speak and spent 11 years as both Celebrating change: Mayor Des Noll welcomes previous and current employees of both WRC and the former Millicent, Beachport and Penola district councils.

Deputy Mayor to inaugural WRC Mayor Don Ferguson and one term as mayor himself.

He spoke about recently returning to the district to see the council maturing and being excited to see the things being discussed and undertaken by WRC.

Speaking highly of his mayoral predecessor Mr Braes said: "Don was fantastic in advocating for services, he was very good at building relationships with people that mattered, politicians.

"Don had an amazing ability to connect with decision makers, people with power and I think it's important councils are able to do that."

Potholes are back after road resealing

A hole appeared in the Southern Ports Highway near Millicent within days of roadworks being completed there, but the problem has now been fixed.

Mayor of Wattle Range Council, Des Noll brought the hole to the attention of councillors in his Mayoral Communications to council's meeting last month in which he said he had complained to the Department of Infrastructure and Transport (DIT).

Completed in early June, DIT contractors had undertaken work on about 2.5kms of the road on the outskirts of Millicent towards Rendelsham.

DIT had advised at the time that the work involved laying 30mm of new asphalt over the top of the existing roadway. Mayor Noll welcomed the re-sheeting work but was dismayed to find a hole had appeared within days of the contractors finishing the job.

"I drove along the new re-sheeted section ... to find a large pothole," he wrote in his report to council.

"When I examined the pothole, I found it had gone all the way through the underneath bitumen surface. How does this happen?" A DIT spokesperson told The South Eastern Times that the repairs had been undertaken before Mayor Noll raised the issue.

"A defect on the Southern Ports Highway, near Millicent, was reported to the Department's road maintenance contractor on 6 June 2022, and was repaired the following day," said the spokesperson.

"It was caused by a combination of wet weather and a defect in the bottom layer of the road structure.

"To further strengthen the surface of this section of road, a two-coat seal will be applied on the full length of the recent works when warmer weather permits later this year.

"Anyone who notices a road maintenance issue requiring immediate attention is urged to report it to the Traffic Management Centre on 1800 018 313.

"This number can be called 24 hours a day."

Wines showcased in July

There is a lot happening in Coonawarra and Penola throughout the month of July with the Cellar Dwellers event being held.

Visitors from near and far are expected to visit the area and participate in wine tasting and scrumptious food.

Brand's Laira are offering weekday bites including homemade soup and gourmet pastries.

There will also be the all weekend light lunch menu with a special added to the menu each weekend.

For each weekend in July they are offering wine from their 'Hidden Gems' collection.

Cellar door manger, Mrs Sam Flint said: "We are blowing the dust off our wine library to find some hidden gems."

You can discover some aged Coonawarra Wines and will include Cabernet Sauvignon, Shiraz and the winemaker's selected blend.

We are looking forward to an influx of visitors, both local and interstate," Mrs Flint said.

DiGiorgio Family Wines are offering a 'Wine flight matched with regional bites'

You will receive a seated tasting of six wines matched to six types of food.

Wines include sparkling, whites and reds from the Renaissance range and will be matched to regional produce including savoury and a sweet.

On weekends only you can enjoy a delicious homemade pie whilst enjoying a glass of wine in the cosy surrounds of the cellar door or outside heated area.

Every Friday in July you can go behind the scenes with a tour of the DiGiorgio Family Wines property, winery and barrel hall concluding with a private tasting and shared produce platter followed by traditional Italian meatballs.

Bookings are required.

Each week Mr Frank DiGiorgio will delve into the cellar to choose an aged wine.

"This can be included on a six wine tasting platter to compare and contrast," he said.

This can be complemented with a 'Pick your own produce platter' from a selection of local produce.

Sales and Events Manager Katie Lewis said "We are looking forward seeing return and new visitors both local and interstate for the July event."

On Saturday, July 9 at 2pm Katnook Estate

Cellar Door Manager at Brand's Laira Wines, Sam Flint and Cellar Door Sales Liv Neagle ready for Cellar Dwellers will hold 'Yoga in the Stables'

The hour long yoga class run by Laura Earl will be followed by afternoon tea served with a classic cabernet wine.

Throughout all of July Katnook will have available lavish Limestone Coast cheeseboards paired with a glass of wine.

There will also be a rare opportunity to taste and purchase two decade aged wines

These include the exclusive 2012 single vineyard Amara Cabernet Sauvignon and the 2012 Katnook Estate Cabernet Sauvignon.

These wines will be complemented with a local cheese platter.

On Friday, July 8 Leconfield wine makers, Paul Gordon and Greg Foster will gather around a cosy fire to show the 2022 vintage wines in the making. With decades of experience between them, they will be available to answer any questions you have.

Throughout all of July you can fossick through some wines from 2006, 2008 and other fantastic vintages. Luxury Lamb and vintage wines with Cindy Cross will be at Parker Coonawarra Estate on Saturday, July 9.

A four course feast of local lamb accompanied by vintage wines will be available in this four hour hands on class. This is a true 'paddock to vineyard' experience.

A menu of lamb koftas, French trimmed lamb shanks and lamb cutlet wellingtons will

Cellar Door Salesperson at DiGiorgio Family Wines, Illana Minge and Sales and Events Marketing Manager, Katie Lewis looking to welcoming visitors and locals to Cellar Dwellers in July be perfectly paired with Parker wines.

On July 16 the winery will host local pork producer Mark Wheal from Beachport Berkshires along with wine maker Andrew Hardy.

For all weekends in July Parker Estate will have available five tastings of their premium 'First Growth' vintages.

Blok Estate will host three high tea events in July on the weekends of July 9, 16 and 23.

This is always a popular event and you will enjoy homemade savouries, sweet treats, scones and homemade cabernet jam.

The high tea includes a glass of current release wine and a pot of tea to sip from vintage china.

Bookings are advised.

Blok Estate will also be bringing out some of their favourite past vintage wines.

Each week a different vintage will be available for tasting including Cabernet Sauvignon, Shiraz and Riesling.

Lions change-over dinner in Penola

By Kathy Fennell

The Lions Club of Penola held its annual changeover dinner at Chardonnay Lodge last Friday night with 28 members and guests attending.

District Governor Darryl Morley and his wife Barbara, Mayor of Wattle Range Council Des Noll and Mayoress Shari, along with guests from the Lions Club of Mount Gambier and the Lions Club Blue Lake City Lions were special guests.

Outgoing President was Lion Hayden Hoad after holding the position for two years.

Secretary Lion Mike Matuschka said: "Due to no-one wanting to commit to take on the President's role it was decided to share the position, changing over at three month intervals."

Lion Jeff Hoar will lead the way followed by Lion Bruce Robertson. Lion Bruce Robertson will take on the treasurer's role with Lion Matuschka continuing on as secretary.

Membership chairman is Lion Bronte Cox and Sheep project co-ordinator is Lion Ray Haines. Lion Shane McPherson will continue on as Tail Twister, and he certainly kept everyone entertained at the dinner.

"We also have a 'Friends of Lions' group which consists of people that are not Lion's members but offer to help," Lion Matuschka said Mr Christopher Dean was presented with a certificate of appreciation for his help with the sheep project."

Mayor Des Noll proposed a toast to Lion's International which was responded to by District Governor Lion Darryl Morley.

Years of service tabs were presented to Bronte Cox (two years), Alan Thomas (two years), Jenni Hoad (two years), Bruce Robertson (three years), Anton Balk (six years), Anne Davis (seven years), Ray Haines (25 years), Dean Burrow (26 years), Shane McPherson (32 years), Hayden Hoad (44 years), Warren Drabsch (45 years), Mike Matuschka (48 years).

The club hold its business meetings on the second Thursday of each month at the CWA hall and social/dinner meetings are held on the fourth Thursday of each month at various venues in the town.

"Covid has had a significant role in our activities over the past couple of years, but we are looking forward to getting back on track," Lion Matuschka said.

The Lions Community bus service still runs each Monday to Mount Gambier, leaving from the tourist centre at 9am and returning when people are ready to come home. Bookings can be made at the Tourist Information Centre.

Lion Matuschka said: "The club is always looking for new members and we would welcome them with open arms."

You just need to contact any of the executive if you would like to join."

Feline lock-up to be built

By Elsie Adamo

Wattle Range Council plans to open new cat lockup facilities, to help alleviate the pressure of feral and lost cats on local vet clinics.

The council's draft budget plan has flagged $11,000 to go towards the construction of a cat impound facility.

Council chief executive Ben Gower said the new facility will help control feral cats.

"What the cat pens are for is a storage location for cats so that we can search for pet owners for a period, without putting all that burden on the vet clinics," Mr Gower said.

Any cats brought to the facility will be checked for microchips.

"You are never sure if a cat is owned or not unless they have a microchip in it," Mr Gower said.

"So it will continue to be important for any local cats to be microchipped.

"If we can find a microchip or it looks like the cat has been cared for and owned by somebody, we will advertise and let people know we have got the cat and wait a reasonable amount of time for somebody to collect it.

"If we find a microchip we will return the pet, if not after a period the cat will be appropriately euthanised."

There will be the chance for cats that do not have owners to be rehomed if possible.

"We can try that [to rehome cats], we often do, the vet clinics do as well, I have taken three kittens home myself that has come into council," Mr Gower said.

"The preference is to rehome, and if there is no other alternative option once we have exhausted all of those, then unfortunately the animal needs to get disposed of because they are not good to be out roaming for our native flora and fauna."

Mr Gower said council has been liaising with the Millicent Veterinary Clinic on the plan.

Clinic manager Michelle Gysbers with Wattle Range Council chief executive Ben Gower.

The new facility will save some of the burden of stray cats falling on local vet clinics.

"Much of the initiative has come from the conversations with the Millicent Vet Clinic," he said.

"Quite often stray cats will be brought in, either caught by council or members of the community.

"Sometimes they bring them to council, and sometimes they bring them to the vet clinic."

Practice manager Michelle Gysbers said the vet clinic was supportive of the project.

"We think it is a great idea," Ms Gysbers said.

"It is something we have had a few discussions with the council about.

Currently, a lot of stray cats are being brought directly into the vet clinic, which use their own resources to house them and attempt to find their homes.

"The rate they come in is seasonal," Ms Gysbers said.

"At the moment and we are probably having two stray cats a week brought in here, and in summer it can be four or five a week."

Ms Gysbers said the influx of cats puts pressure on the clinic.

"Our vets take time to assess them, quite often we will run blood tests which is at our expense," she said.

"We do not want to put a cat back out in the community that may have a condition like Feline Immunodeficiency Virus (FIV), so we do have to be careful.

"We do have to house them and advertise to check if it is owned."

Consultation on the draft business plan and budget ended on Friday, with the plan expected to be passed at the next council meeting.

Women's Ag opportunity

The Limestone Coast Women in Ag Network will host Jeanette Long, trainer and coach, for an Effective Conversations workshop in Millicent on July 29.

A Director and Facilitator, Trainer and Coach for Ag Consulting Company, Ms Long is passionate about developing people skills in agriculture and will deliver an interactive workshop that explores strategies to achieve effective communication with family and farm staff.

The workshop will examine communication styles, effects of stress on communication, practical tips for working in teams and running meetings, developing confidence as a team member and identifying skills.

"We're very excited to host Jeanette Long in the Limestone Coast," said MacKillop Farm Management Group chief executive Meg Bell.

"Good communication is one of the key skills for success in life and building resilience.

"Being able to have highly experienced and respected workshop presenter, Jeanette Long, in the region is a great opportunity to improve your communication skills.

"As communication always involves more than one person we're encouraging women to bring along members of their wider team, such as work colleagues, family members and partners."

The Limestone Coast Women in Ag Network (LCWiAN) is a network for women in the agriculture industry in the Limestone Coast to communicate with and support each other in both a social and a professional capacity, building strong connectedness in the region.

MacKillop Farm Management Group is coordinating the network and is working with DairySA, Lucerne Australia, the Grassland Society of Southern Australia, Coorong Tatiara Local Action Plan, Women in Business and Regional Development, WoTL (Women Together Learning) and the Limestone Coast Landscape Board to establish the network.

The network is funded by the Australian Government's Future Drought Fund and its Networks to Build Drought Resilience program, which is administered by the Foundation for Rural and Regional Renewal.

The Effective Conversations will be held at the Millicent United Soccer Clubrooms on July 29, starting at 9.30am and ending at 2.30pm.

To register go to www.mackillopgroup.com.au or contact Sally Klose on 0427 829 143.

Jeanette Long will be conducting an Effective Conversations workshop in Millicent on July 29.

Last say on strategic plan

By Caroline Hammat

Phase two of Wattle Range Council's Strategic Land Use Plan is nearing the end of public consultation with recent question and answer sessions attracting more than 30 people to discuss their concerns and support for the plan.

The final three sessions were held last Thursday at Millicent, Penola and Beachport by Adelaide based planning consultants, Holmes Dyer, with the main points of interest raised being coastal erosion control and aged care and health services availability in Beachport.

Holmes Dyer Director Stephen Dyer said: "One thing that got considerable emphasis and we've got it in the plan, is a desire to have a stronger emphasis on the priority that needs to be given to erosion control works in South-end and Beachport.

"To address the erosion that's occurring along the beachfront in those locations.

"Not surprisingly, given the age group of most of the people that came in, there was plenty of support for better aged care facilities or the actual introduction of aged care facilities in Beachport and enhanced medical services given the aging population particularly in that town.

"There was good support in Beachport for the growth of Muggleton that was strongly recognised.

"We had quite positive commentary about the strategic plan itself, not just the fact that we are doing it but what's contained in it was generally very positively received.

"We have had comment from representors coming to the public consultation saying how commendable it was that the Wattle Range Council was undertaking this work and that no comparable work has been done by other councils in the whole of the South East.

"They were very appreciative of the councils role in this."

The plan aims at providing a strategic roadmap for the next 25 years of land use planning, infrastructure and community development in the Wattle Range Council area and will be used to initiate amendments to the Planning and Design Codes and possible zoning changes.

The draft 25 Year Strategic Land Use Plan is available on the Wattle Range Council website and interested members of the community wishing to comment are urged to do so through written submissions before the consultation period soon ends.

Submissions can be posted to 'Strategic land use plan - public consultation - phase two' PO Box 27, Millicent SA 5280 or emailed to engagement@holmesdyer.com.au by 5pm July 15.

MacFord donation to help with Craft Group events

By Caroline Hammat

The Millicent Craft Group (MCG) has recently found itself on the receiving end of generosity from local car dealership Mac Ford.

Business owners Angus and Julie McDonald dropped in to Friday morning's craft group session and presented a $3600 cheque to group secretary Pat Muhovics.

These funds will enable the group to purchase three heavy duty waterproof gazebos and portable trestle tables for future events.

Mr McDonald said the donation came from an existing advertising arrangement with Ford.

"It's an opportunity to use some of our Ford advertising funds to support the community, rather than for advertising, presented itself," Mr McDonald said.

"A certain portion of vehicle funds is put aside for advertising, but because we are so short of cars there hasn't been a need for it.

"Ford said they would support us to use it for a community event on the basis that whatever we put in they would match it.

"We approached Wattle Range Mayor Des Noll as we thought he might have some suggestions as to where our assistance might be of best use, he suggested the members of the Millicent Craft group are doing great work and the support might be of benefit to them."

From there the McDonalds liaised with Ms Muhovics and group President Raz MacDonald to find out the group's wish list for the goods that will assist with their future outdoor events.

"Because we [MCG] have outdoor activities we attend like the open garden days, market days and our garage sale it all requires some sort of cover and we are currently just borrowing gazebos from others," Ms Muhovics said.

In front of craft group members, Ms Muhovics thanked Mac Ford and the McDonalds for their support saying it was equal to baking an awful lot of scones.

More than scones: Pat Muhovics receives the cheque from Julie and Angus McDonald on behalf of the Millicent Craft Group in front of Friday morning's group members.

Council's 25th birthday

By Caroline Hammat

Last Friday night about 50 people came together in the Millicent Gallery to celebrate 25 years since the forming of Wattle Range Council through amalgamation.

Sharing memories and anecdotes on the night were both current and former employees, councillors, mayors, mayoresses and those who served on the final Beachport, Penola and Millicent councils before the amalgamation took place.

Current employees at Wattle Range council celebrating 25 years of amalgamation are Kaitlin Creek, Jenny Reyes, Lauren Newman, Jade Tiller, Kirily Kramins and Nishant Parihar.

Wattle Range Councillor Sharon Cox with Manager of Libraries and Cultural Services, Janice Nitschke, who has spent more than 50 years working for both Millicent and Wattle Range councils.

Previous mayoress of the District Council of Millicent Mary VanSchaik with previous long serving Wattle Range councillor and last chair of the Beachport council, Gwenda Lawlor.

David Taylor and Mayoress Shari Noll chat about their time as work colleagues before Mr Taylor started as part of the council's outdoor work crew.

Current Wattle Range councillors Dale Price and Dennis Muhovics with Wattle Range Council's HR and Risk Manager Claire O'Loughlin.

Pat Muhovics, with Wattle Range Council's current chief executive Ben Gower, served one term on the District Council of Millicent before acting as Deputy Mayor in the newly amalgamated council.

Helping cut the celebratory cake at the event are Mary VanSchaik, Gwenda Lawlor, Andrew Eastick and Wattle Range Mayor Des Noll.

Previous Wattle Range councillor and mayor Mark Braes, Manger of Administration Cathy Bell who has spent 30 years working for Millicent and Wattle Range councils and former Millicent Visitor Information Centre employee Lisa Braes.

Frank Brennan who spent 34 years on both the District Council of Millicent and Wattle Range Council shares memories with Andrew Eastick, the last Mayor of Penola District Council and Grant Humphries CEO of the Beachport Council before amalgamation.

Motoring

Honda Civic longevity

By Derek Ogden, Marque Motoring

In the middle of the last century the only thing populating shopping centre car parks more than Honda Civic models were discarded supermarket trolleys.

Indeed, my little brother was convinced that the latter, metal baskets on wheels, were aliens taking over the Earth.

Since then, the little Honda hatchback diaspora has matched the 'invaders' in longevity, if not in numbers.

How things have changed, now it's the ubiquitous sports utility vehicle that has taken over from Honda's compact car.

Hang on, what's this? There is a single Civic that still stands sentinel like Dr Who's Tardis over shoppers' world: the 11th generation VTi-LX is the only 2022 Honda of its ilk to land Down Under lately, and at $47,200 drive away, $16,200 above the entry-level VTi-S of the current generation and $7600 more than the previous RS range-topper.

The new model could not be more different in looks than those little Honda hatchbacks of yore.

Bigger than the current model, even, the newbie has taken on a sportier character with sleeker bonnet and lower coupe-like roofline.

Minor changes to the present 1.5-litre turbo-petrol four-cylinder engine have upped output to 131 kW (up 4 kW) and 240 Nm (up 20 Nm) on 91 RON petrol. Power is boosted to 134 kW on premium unleaded. Transfer is via a CVT automatic transmission through the front wheels.

Honda claims the all-new 2022 Honda Civic Hatchback, on the outside, has been refined with sleek curves, giving a luxurious and seamless feel.

Inside the vehicle, intuitive and cutting-edge tech have been positioned to give the owner the best experience - let's see.

Styling

Bigger than the current model in length (4.5m), with a height of 1.4m from ground level, the new Civic's front pillars have been moved to the rear by 50 mm, the roofline and windows have been lowered.

This, together with a sleek bonnet line, adds up to a sportier look than before.

LED headlamps are capped by a striking pattern of LED daytime running lights, while out back things are less 'out there' than the previous model, with a spoiler integrated in the tailgate, no longer interrupting the driver's view behind.

A sleek tail-light set-up has been boosted to allow them to be seen better from a distance at night. Dual tone Y-spoke 18-inch alloy wheels complete the picture

The new VTi-LX is the lone MY22 Civic on the block.

Interior

The increase in dimensions is translated into a spacious cabin, which despite a lower roofline, is not short on headroom. A clever touch are the front air vents, which are hidden behind a honeycomb panel across the width of the dash.

Seating is black leatherette with red suede accents. Red stitching pulls the whole theme together.

Infotainment

A plethora of car system info, such as fuel consumption and distance to empty, plus at this time of year need-to-know outside temperatures, is on offer via a 7-inch LCD screen directly in front of the driver. While occupants can stay connected to the outside world with Apple CarPlay or Android Auto.

'Indoors' can be bathed in relaxing sounds, or otherwise, from a 12-speaker Bose premium sound system with sub-woofer. The cabin is designed to offer an immersive space for listening.

Engines / Transmissions

The MY22 Civic calls on the reworked 1.5-litre turbocharged four-cylinder petrol engine from the previous model. It now produces 131 kW of power (+4 kW) at 6000 rpm and 240 Nm of torque (+20 Nm) between 1700 and 4500 revs.

Power is put to ground through a continuously variable automatic transmission, driving the front wheels.

Safety

The new Civic is fitted with Honda Sensing, a suite of features that support the driver to keep as safe as possible.

Standard features include autonomous emergency braking, lane-keep assist, adaptive cruise control, blind spot monitoring, rear cross-traffic alert, traffic jam assist and driver attention alert.

A pop-up bonnet is designed to reduce possible head injuries of a pedestrian making contact with the vehicle in a frontal impact.

Driving

The new Civic is quite civilised when it comes to the drive. Honda says it has been engineered to 'minimise environmental impact and maximise performance'.

The 1.5-litre turbocharged engine behaves in an unruffled manner under day-to-day city conditions, seemingly slipping through 'gear shifts' with time on its hands.

The driver can become more involved via the steering column-mounted shift paddles, switching from Normal to Sport driving mode via a button on the centre console, directly behind the gear lever, for a sportier ride.

The steering is direct and has a firm feel, some might say too much at low speeds.

Ride is untroubled on smooth surfaces and handling assured even at speed through bends and on inclines.

Combined urban / highway fuel consumption is put at 6.3 litres per 100 kilometres by the maker. On test, figures varied from 6.7 litres to 4.7 litres.

With almost constant rain during the period with the VTi-LX, much appreciated was the windscreen wiper system which focuses the spray in the direction the wiper is headed, keeping things extra clear, especially at night with the glare of oncoming headlights.

Summary

In looks, performance, comfort, convenience and premium pricing, the new Civic VTi-LX is light years away from Honda's original compact hatch. Pestilence, war and climate change: different times, too.

Beauty is in the eye of the beholder with this one

By David Pike

In 1968 Dodge introduced a new car, aimed at recapturing former glories at Daytona.

It was built around the 6980cc 90-degree V8 hemi engine of the Charger and although the power output had to stay the same to comply with the rules there was some advantage to be gained from changing the bodywork.

This was the time when automobile aerodynamics were first in vogue. For Dodge this meant a new plastic nosecone designed to conceal pop-up headlights and at the rear a really large spoiler. The spoiler was so large you could not miss it no matter from which angle you viewed the car.

These aerodynamic design elements improved airflow over the car by some 20 per cent.

The practical advantage of this was a higher top speed and the extra km/h meant that the new aerodynamic car gained 450 metres for each lap covered over the previous car in NASCAR events.

The Daytona Charger had a four-seat sports car body with independent front suspension by coil springs and wishbones and semi-elliptic leaf springs at the rear. It was capable of a top speed approaching 320km/h.

The fabled 317 kW hemi engine played a major part in Dodge performance.

It was dubbed the Orange Monster and used by both Dodge and Plymouth whose development ran more or less along parallel lines, especially when it came to the low volume specialist cars.

With this engine they both achieved a long list of victories in drag racing and NASCAR events during the early 1960s, hence the reason it was selected for the Daytona Charger.

Only 505 cars were built, just five more than were needed for homologation.

Transitioning

Success takes preparation and discipline. Ensuring a comfortable retirement requires discipline and planning.

It also helps to understand how you can maximise the opportunities offered by changes to regulation, taxation and the federal budget each year.

That's why strategic advice on how to optimise your after-tax income can help you get ahead.

Your adviser will help you map out the life style you want in retirement, and provide the financial modelling and wealth solutions that enable you to achieve it.

Transitioning to life after work

As you prepare to transition to retirement, your private wealth adviser will work with you to plan you for the changes to come.

We'll make sure you're on track to meet your future retirement needs and help you to take advantage of strategies to optimise your after-tax income.

While the objective for our clients is financial independence, we can also help you navigate the complexities of social security and understand your entitlements.

Enhancing your retirement years

We have enabled thousands of clients to achieve the lifestyle they want in retirement.

Once you've retired, your adviser will continue to work with you to manage your total financial wellbeing.

They will fine-tune your account structures to keep you on track, maximise your benefits and help you achieve more with the wealth you have.

Make the most of super opportunities

We'll help you identify the super strategies that suit your circumstances and give your retirement savings a real boost.

While there are many strategies and opportunities to consider, the key to maximising your super's performance is to start planning early.

A tax-effective way to save

For most people, super contributions made by their employer or salary-sacrifice arrangements are taxed at a rate of 15pc.

Compare this to the highest marginal tax rate and it's not surprising why super is such an attractive savings vehicle.

Making additional contributions to your super fund can not only reduce your taxable income, it can also considerably increase your retirement savings.

This is just one of the many super strategies to consider.

The Shadforth difference

There are many reasons we believe our services stand out from those of our peers.

Our advisers and team members are among the most experienced wealth professionals in the industry, with outstanding records in client service.

We go beyond your investments to help you achieve the financial goals and lifestyle you want.

We are your sounding board when you have decisions to make, and we can do the number crunching to empower your decision-making.

We are also the largest firm in Australia certified by the Centre for Fiduciary Excellence (CEFEX), demonstrating our ongoing commitment to providing high-quality wealth management.

Providing quality care

Boandik has been providing quality care and support to the Limestone Coast community since 1956 and is now the region's largest provider of residential services for older adults.

It's a fact we're most proud of as a registered charity and non-profit.

In addition, Boandik provides support in the form of community care, at-home support, transition care and respite care, through Boandik Community Care.

We also hold some of the region's top amenities at our Community Wellbeing Centre, which is home to an award-winning hydrotherapy pool, and a gymnasium specifically for older adults.

But at the core of what we do is enabling older adults and people with disability—including NDIS participants—in the Limestone Coast to live how and where they choose.

Whether that's at home or in our care, we do this by promoting independence and wellness; by providing a choice of services; by respecting the individual, and by enabling dignity.

It's with such a focus that our residents have rated their quality of life above the Australian average.

Providing excellent care and support to our community is what gets us out of bed in the morning.

We look forward to helping you continue to live your best life.

YOUR WEEKLY TV GUIDE

PICK OF THE WEEK

MOVIN' TO THE COUNTRY
ABC TV, Friday, 7.30pm

Possibly every single city slicker in Australia has toyed with the idea of starting a new life in the regions for a sea or tree change, but few actually have the gumption to take the leap. With a second season premiering tonight, this series is sure to fire up that pipe dream again with a fresh haul of savvy innovators and entrepreneurs who have begun a new venture in the countryside. In Orbost, Victoria, Craig Quartermaine (pictured) visits a brewery run by a couple who make avant-garde beer under the guidance of Indigenous writer Bruce Pascoe. Kristy O'Brien visits a third-generation dairy farmer near the Great Ocean Road who is reviving the trusty glass bottle.

WHAT'S ON THE BOX?

THE COOK UP WITH ADAM LIAW

SBS Food, Thursday, 7pm

Adam Liaw's hardworking cooking show – it's on every weeknight, without fail – is a delight to sit down and absorb, with diverse and inspiring dishes and easygoing banter. The truth is, sometimes it's the guests and small talk that leave the biggest impression, with the food taking a backseat. Tonight, in celebration of NAIDOC Week, native herbs are on the menu. Liaw is joined by Kamilaroi woman Jayde Harris and Gamilaroi woman Nakkiah Lui (pictured) to create dishes that showcase native Indigenous herbs. It's tasty and thoughtful.

NEIGHBOURS: END OF THE ROAD

ABC TV, Monday, 9.35pm

If anyone has their fingers firmly on the cultural pulse of Australia, it's the ABC. Refreshingly, tonight the network celebrates a TV icon – the longest-running TV drama in Australian history. With Neighbours ending on August 1, ABC News journalist Margaret Paul explores how it became one of Australia's biggest exports and launched the careers of some of the country's biggest stars. It's a fitting tribute to a hardworking show that helped define our TV industry.

SHOREY

SBS Viceland, Wednesday, 9.35pm

The deliciously deadpan, off-colour and ultimately very perceptive humour of Jared Keeso (pictured) is reignited in this entertaining series. The creator and star of Letterkenny – the cult hillbilly comedy following a bunch of wayward cliques in small-town Canada – fires up his one-of-a-kind humour in this hockey-obsessed spinoff. Starring Keeso as the titular player in his new ice hockey team, it's a joyride into the ultra-competitive sport, but you needn't be a hockey fan to appreciate Keeso's incisive writing.

Magpies win at the Bay

Kalangadoo 58 d Port MacDonnell 36
Kalangadoo showed its depth with a solid victory over Port MacDonnell in Round 12 of Mid South East netball on Saturday.

The Magpies were missing reliable centre Jayde Peacock, while the Demons missed goalie Toni Gilmore.

Both teams came out firing, with Port MacDonnell's Alana Winter a good match for Kalangadoo's Abbey Duncan, as she gained some early intercepts.

Port MacDonnell defender Belinda O'Dine worked hard to control Kori Collins, but the young Magpie's accurate distance shooting limited rebound opportunities.

Kalangadoo's defence line of Reanna Weatherall and Lauren Kain paired well together to control the Demons' goalies.

After a tight quarter, Kalangadoo led by two goals at the first break.

Into the second quarter and the Port MacDonnell goalies struggled to shoot with accuracy which created many rebounding opportunities for the Magpies' tall defenders.

Kalangadoo Under 17 player Sophie Wrightson fought against the Demons' Liza Mutch and their battle through the middle was one to watch.

The Magpies' fast and tough court play created pressure for the Demons and allowed Kalangadoo to increase the lead to seven goals at the main break.

Kalangadoo's experienced Kirsty Egan worked well with Wrightson and the two were crucial in the attacking line up.

Egan fed well into Collins, who missed few goals for the quarter, while Port MacDonnell goalie Kirby Carrison struggled under the defensive pressure of Weatherall and left Brooke Williams in charge of shots.

By the final break the Kalangadoo lead had stretched to 17 goals, with the Demons struggling to keep pace in the trying conditions.

In the final term Duncan was challenged by Winter and struggled to score but it was not a problem as Collins could not miss.

In the end it was Kalangadoo's skill and fitness which shone through in a tough and skilful game.

Best players for Kalangadoo were Egan, Collins, while Lewis and Williams were best for the Demons.

Sophie Wrightson and Liza Mutch put on an inspiring display of netball at Port MacDonnell.

Roosters hold on for close victory in nail-biting contest

Robe 49 d Hatherleigh 46

The Mid South East netball match of the round saw Robe claim the points over Hatherleigh in a nail-biting finish.

The Round 12 clash at Hatherleigh did not disappoint and the game started with both teams going goal for goal.

The intensity was high and focus on heavy defensive pressure, which resulted in turnovers that both the Eagles and Roosters were able to capitalise on.

Hatherleigh seemed to settle first and opened a five-goal advantage.

Robe worked hard to peg back the score line and was able to do that, then went to the first break one goal up.

Robe's Halle Cater and Sarah Laurie had a huge quarter with both shooting at 100 per cent.

There were key match ups all down the court, which saw every ball tightly contested under plenty of pressure.

The home side welcomed back Maddie Pulmer who has a great connection with Abby Wight which saw the Eagles level up and go to the main break even 25-25.

The third term saw more movement from Hatherleigh, with Chelsea Galpin to the bench and Georgia Hunter back into the game at wing defence.

Robe remained unchanged.

Both ends were well supported by their mid-courts who were able to hit the circle edge easily and provide their goalies with some accurate feeding.

The key matchup between Lara MacGregor and Halle Carter was worth the price of admission, as neither player was willing to give up a pass or rebound.

Robe's circle defence was able to gain turnovers through Emma Grant and Taylor Hunt which helped their side take the lead by three goals at the final break.

The home side once again made changes, bringing Demi Vanderhorst into goal attack, Galpin back into goal keeper and Maddie Pulmer to the bench.

Galpin and MacGregor worked tirelessly to create opportunities for their side and when they did, they were able to convert quickly through Wight and Vanderhorst.

Robe continued to push and step up the pressure as they just held their noses in front.

Lucy Perkins provided her side with a great four-quarter consistent performance using her speed and working tirelessly to support her goalies.

Both sides continued to fight but small errors from the home side were quickly capitalised on by Robe as they held on to take the match by three goals.

Best players for Robe were Emma Grant and Sarah Laurie, with MacGregor and Galpin best for Hatherleigh.

Robe goal attack Hallie Carter looks for an inside option.

Murphies in good form

Glencoe 88 d Nangwarry 35

On their home court, Glencoe took on an undermanned Nangwarry side and made short work of the contest in Round 12 of Mid South East netball on Saturday.

The Saints immediately turned over the first centre pass of the match through an intercept from Ebony Lawson, but were unable to convert.

The Glencoe defenders came out with real intent, not allowing Nangwarry any easy transition into the attacking circle.

The pressure resulted in the Murphies being out by four goals before the Saints found their first scoring opportunity.

Despite high defensive pressure applied all over the court, the first quarter was played at a slower pace with both attacking ends fielding new goalie combinations.

A high defensive work rate from Chloe Pfitzner and Sarah Edwards kept the Saints to only three goals for the quarter, while Glencoe converted 16.

The Saints swapped Cassie Dinnison into goal attack and Demi Hoffmeister into goal keeper following the first break.

Despite Glencoe scoring the first three goals of the quarter through a centre pass intercept from Edwards, the positional swap worked wonders for the Nangwarry side.

Kylie Heaver took control of the Nangwarry attack line and began to find the circle edge with ease, while the familiarity between Dinnison and Tahlia Wilson opened up plenty of space and scoring opportunities for the Saints.

The Murphies' goalie combination of Chantelle Cocks and Malinda Markiewicz began to find better connection also, while Donna Jaeschke ran hard through the middle, with her long court drives a vital link between the defensive and attacking lines, despite the close attention from Lawson.

In a much tighter second quarter, the Murphies went into the main break with a 22 goal advantage.

Cocks lifted her work rate in the second half, utilising the space to front cut into the circle at every opportunity.

Glencoe's Ashlea Edwards and Nangwarry's Taysha Marshall had a good battle on the wing, with both girls contesting hard for every ball.

The move of Pfitzner onto the wing for the Murphies worked to limit the hard drives of Heaver.

However, Wilson continued to find space on the baseline and finish accurately for the Saints.

The defensive pressure continued to come from Glencoe, which forced the Saints into some held balls and the Murphies held a 62-28 lead heading to the final break.

Saints youngster Kaitlin Roisetter came on at wing defence for the final quarter, while Glencoe came out with a lifted intensity with multiple options available over the court.

Markiewicz and Cocks continued to find the post and shoot with accuracy, while at the other end the long arms of Thompson came into play, with any missed shots from the Saints rebounded strongly.

Despite the best efforts of the Saints, the Murphies continued to put the foot down and run home with a huge 26-goal final quarter and a big win.

Best players for Glencoe were Pfitzner and Cocks, with Dinnison and Lawson best for Nangwarry.

Glencoe's Malinda Markiewicz takes possession under pressure from Nangwarry's Demi Hoffmeister during Saturday's Mid South East netball clash.

Murphies up and about

By Trevor Jackson

Glencoe 18.28 (136) d Nangwarry 2.5 (17)

It was another tough day at the office for the Nangwarry Football Club.

The Saints headed to Glencoe to take on the Murphies in Round 12 of Mid South East football and returned home with a big loss.

Inaccurate kicking in front of goal by the victors flattered the final result somewhat, with the Murphies banging on one major score and 10 behinds in the opening term to set the scene.

The difficult conditions were not conducive to accurate kicking but the Murphies still managed to find 18 majors throughout the day.

Nine individual goal scorers contributed, with Henry Smith kicking five majors, while Dylan Pfitzner (4), Jason Bates (2) and Alex Hentschke (2) all contributed multiple goals.

Andrew Hyland kicked both of Nangwarry's goals.

Victorious coach Tom Edwards was pleased with the result, more so for the fact his side was able to implement its game plan and show improvement.

"It was good to get a win," he said.

"We have been improving over the last six weeks, so it was reward for effort."

Facing the Saints in 2022 is a different scenario than in the past.

Nangwarry has been a better side and claimed its first win for many years back in Round 10.

The Saints have pushed sides on several occasions this season and Edwards said approaching the game was all about respect.

"I always talk about respecting the opponent whether they are bottom of the ladder or top," he said.

"Nangwarry always come hard at the start of each quarter and they did the same on the weekend.

"We knew if we could tame that, work our way forward and try to kick the goals we would be right.

"We managed to do that in the end."

One of the biggest problems the Murphies faced came from their own hand.

In front of goals has been an issue this season, which Edwards said needed attention.

"Last week we kicked 6.18 and this week it was 18.28," he said.

"It is something we have to work on.

"We are getting plenty of the ball and working it down the ground pretty well, so we just have to work on finishing off and making the most of the opportunities."

Despite the inaccuracy, the Murphies had plenty of opportunities to score.

Edwards said he was pleased with one particular positional change which reaped rewards.

"Dylan Pfitzner usually plays across half back and we moved him down forward to try to give us a bit extra and another option," he said.

"He gave us a lot of leads and marked the ball well all day.

"He was our best player and will probably continue to play that forward role for a while."

Edwards said he is pleased with the improvement of his side and rues a couple of games in the first half of the season which he felt they let slip.

"The last four weeks we have been building and playing good footy," he said.

"We were a little bit disappointed in the first half of the season.

"We dropped a couple of games we should have won but we have made a few changes and are looking on the way up.

"We hope in the second half of the season we can win those games we narrowly lost and hopefully challenge for a few more."

A big test will be this weekend when the Murphies face Robe on the road.

"The last time we played Robe we were with them for three quarters and let them get away in the end," Edwards said.

"We are looking for a four-quarter effort this week and can hopefully get a win."

Mozzies show strong form as winning streak continues

By Trevor Jackson

Mount Burr 19.11 (125) d Kongorong 6.9 (45)

Mount Burr continued its climb up the Mid South East football ladder, with a big win over Kongorong on the road.

Courtesy of a loss to Port MacDonnell, the Mozzies shot up to third place, now four points clear of the fifth-placed Robe, who also suffered a loss.

The Mozzies were always on top of the Hawks on Saturday, 21 points clear after the first quarter and building from there.

Three goals to Kongorong in the third term showed some resolve from the hosts but even then, the Mozzies banged on six majors to keep the Hawks at bay.

The final term saw the Mozzies run the game out, with four major scores to just one.

The win came on the back of an impressive effort in front of goals by Mount Burr's Hamish Smith who banged on eight goals, despite the slippery conditions, while Jack Gregory added six.

Winning coach Reece Duncan said he approached the game with a simple plan - to have a good start and keep it rolling for four quarters.

"Overall I have been happy with our starts all year," he said.

"We have had the odd game where we may have slipped a bit then battled to get back.

"Before the game I just spoke about how important our pressure and start is.

"Kongorong is one of those sides, if you give them a sniff and they are up and about, I think they can beat anyone.

"They are a hard team to contest against, have big bodies and move the ball well."

Duncan said ball movement and defensive pressure were two areas he focused on.

By the main break the 44-point margin favoured the Mozzies but Duncan wanted to retain the advantage and run the game out.

"Coming in at half time we were up, so I challenged the boys," he said.

"I said are we happy enough with it, are we just going to fall asleep now or are we hungry enough to keep pushing and really try to up our defensive pressure.

"I thought we moved the ball well in the first half but I thought our defensive pressure could pick up.

"So we knuckled down and pressed on with our pressure and ball movement."

Duncan said as the end of the season approached, his side players needed to be over every aspect of their game, specifically this weekend against Port MacDonnell.

"This weekend will be a huge one for us," he said.

"We are treating every game as a must win and if we can win this weekend it will go a long way to help the end of our season.

"It is the next challenge and we look forward to it."

Eagles soar to win

By Trevor Jackson

Hatherleigh 31.12 (198) d Robe 11.6 (72)

Hatherleigh was in devastating form when it hosted Robe in Round 12 of Mid South East football on Saturday.

Much of the hype was rightly centered around forward Sam Telfer, who almost re-wrote the club record books.

Telfer banged on an impressive 21 goals as Hatherleigh ran rampant.

According to coach Jake Dowdy, Telfer worked hard inside 50 to gain his possessions and on a day where most clubs struggled to kick goals, with big numbers of behinds recorded, Telfer personally bucked the trend and only added one behind to his statistics.

Dowdy said it was also his first game up forward for the Eagles this year, which simply adds to the firepower.

With six first-pick players also on the bench - three of those from the forward line - it spells danger for the remainder of the season once all are fit and firing.

For the record, Telfer fell just three goals short of the club record, which is held by Craig Skeer with 24 majors.

It could have been a danger game for the Eagles, with the pointy end of the ladder tightening up.

It was also a must-win for the Roosters, as they sit outside the top four and needed the victory to keep in touch.

As it panned out it was all about the Eagles, despite the Roosters finding 11 major scores.

The Eagles' accuracy was also impressive, with just 12 minor scores in tough conditions.

As the game unfolded, six Hatherleigh majors in each of the first and second terms put the Roosters on notice, as they had managed just four goals to that point.

The Eagles lifted after the long break and banged on another nine goals, while they saved the best for last and ran the game out in style with a further 10 majors.

Brad Mitchell chipped in with three goals for the victors.

Any other week Kaden Woodward's effort of five goals for the Roosters in tough conditions

Hatherleigh's Sam Telfer takes a strong mark on his way to 21 goals in the Eagles win over Robe on Saturday. Picture: LACHLAN ONIONS would have been a solid return, was it not for the impressive display from Telfer at the other end of the ground.

Regarding Telfer's performance, Dowdy said it was an unbelievable performance.

"It is probably one of the best individual performances I have seen since I have been involved in footy," he said.

"We didn't clear the square out or anything, he just played in the forward line along with all the other blokes and didn't get a cheap goal.

"It was all earned by a couple of big marks and blokes kicked to him pretty well.

"He still spent 14 minutes on the bench, so he just had an incredible day out."

Approaching the game, Dowdy was more concerned about his side's form, rather than the opposition.

"We have great belief our best football is right up there and we know if we switch off and aren't there on the day, any team could beat us," he said.

"It was more about playing our style of football, being physical, playing four quarters and every individual doing what they can to help the team."

That is how the game panned out, right through to the final term, despite a big three-quarter-time lead.

"At three quarter time I was big on seeing the game out," Dowdy said.

"For three quarters we played really well but we have struggled to have a good four-quarter effort.

"Sometimes we seem to switch off a bit but I think it ended up our best quarter."

As seems to be the case this season, all games are up in the air to some degree.

Dowdy said this week's game against Tantanoola was a similar scenario.

"You look at other results and it is really hard to get a grip," he said.

"Nangwarry beat Tantanoola, then Mount Burr beat us and only beat Tant by four points.

"The last time we played them they played some good football, especially through the middle.

"We know we have to come out and play our style of football or we won't get the win."

Experience shines through

Mount Burr 58 d Kongorong 27

Round 12 of Mid South East netball saw Mount Burr claim a comfortable win over Kongorong.

The Mozzies were off to a strong start with the first couple goals unanswered.

Heidi Clark was on from the first whistle, working hard with the drive and feeding with accuracy to the Mozzies' goalies Sarah Nulty and Ebony Clark who were both accurate under the post, together adding 19 goals for the quarter.

At the other end of the court, the new-look combo of Evie Sealey and Ella McIntyre - in the absence of playing coach Tilah Buckingham - struggled to adjust, with the Mozzies able to make the most of any errors or loose balls.

With the Hawks looking nervous and slightly unsettled, the Mozzies were able to capitalise and take a 14-goal lead to the first break.

The second quarter saw the defensive line-ups for both teams lift.

Nulty for the Mozzies and Riley Buckingham for the Hawks battled hard in the circle, both influential for their respective sides.

The Hawks settled in the second quarter, with Sealey and McIntyre able to look after the ball with some accurate feeding from Kate Wright and Rach Perry and reward their side.

Buckingham and Sarah Lucas worked hard in defence for the Hawks, making the Mozzies play possession netball and work the ball around.

However, Laura Schultz and Heidi Clark turned it up another gear, where their experience showed and the Mozzies were able to push their lead out a further five goals at half time.

The Hawks made some changes at the break, with Emily Lightbody into goal keeper to add some height in the circle, plus the fresh legs of Lynley Page at wing defence.

Lightbody's height proved crucial, while Buckingham lifted her work rate and started to see some reward from her pressure.

At the other end the Mozzies defenders also found their groove, with Madi Haggert and Olivia Dean finding hands all over the court and capitalising on any missed shots.

Ebony Clark shot 11 of Mount Burr's 15 goals for the term, leading the Mozzies to outscore the Hawks 15-7 as they worked the ball down the court fast and with accuracy.

Both teams continued to fight hard defensively to run out the game.

Despite the young Hawks' improving game and attempts to limit the damage on the scoreboard, Mount Burr was able run away with the game.

Best players for Mount Burr were Heidi Clark and Nulty, with Lightbody and Perry best for Kongorong.

Magpies spread wings at bayside venue

By Trevor Jackson

Kalangadoo 15.16 (106) d

Port MacDonnell 2.3 (15)

Kalangadoo flexed its muscles on Saturday with a big win over reigning premiers Port MacDonnell.

The Mid South East football Round 12 clash was played in heavy conditions at Port MacDonnell and the Magpies made the most of the muddy surface.

From the outset it was clear Kalangadoo had come to play, with 10 scoring shots in the opening term but just four majors in the trying conditions.

While inaccuracy continued to hound the Magpies in the second term, with five more minor scores, they also managed to bang on six goals to extend the lead to 63 points at the long break.

By half time the Demons could only manage a total of 1.2 (8) and it did not improve from there.

Kalangadoo appeared to back off in the third term as the Demons defensive pressure began to pay dividends for the home side.

However, while they held the Magpies to just two majors scores and two minors for the quarter, the Magpies were unable to bother the scorers, leaving plenty to do in the final stanza to make inroads into the deficit.

The Demons found another major in the final term, while Kalangadoo added a further three to finish the game off and claim a comfortable victory.

Up forward the Magpies were able to share the ball around and find the big sticks with relative ease.

Michael Krieger continued to add to his season tally, with another six goals to boost his numbers.

In his 10 games this year Krieger has Braiden Ousey takes a solid chest mark as Kalangadoo chalks up another victory in Round 12 of Mid South East football.

amassed 55 majors, goal-less only against Hatherleigh back in Round 9.

Interestingly, that was the only blemish for the Magpies this year, as they went down to the Eagles by a fair margin in that round.

But Saturday there was no trouble there, with Krieger joined by Lachy Jones and Sam McManus with two goals each.

Another five players found the big sticks to continue the Magpies trend for the season.

Hot round for footballers

By Trevor Jackson

The Mid South East football season continues to heat up, with Round 13 providing some real challenges.

All sides have shown promising signs throughout the season so far, with no time to relax against any opposition.

It all adds up to an intriguing back end of the season, with fortunes easily derailed with one bad performance.

Port MacDonnell v Mount Burr

The match of the round sees Port MacDonnell host Mount Burr in what promises to be a blockbuster.

The Demons come off a big loss to Kalangadoo, while the Mozzies took care of business at Kongorong last week.

Mount Burr has been around the mark in many games this season, after a slow start against Hatherleigh and Glencoe.

From there they claimed a solid win over Kongorong, before facing Port MacDonnell for the first time.

The Demons claimed the win in that one but by just eight points.

Round 7 kicked off a purple patch for the Mozzies, who have lost since.

A highlight was a win over Hatherleigh which showed the Mozzies' best is good enough on their day.

Since their narrow loss in Round 6 to Robe, the Demons have also strung together some good performances, winning all games until last round against Kalangadoo.

Both sides have tentative holds on third and fourth place, one win clear of Robe in fifth.

Robe hosts Glencoe in what should be a victory for the Roosters.

That means the side who wins between Port MacDonnell and Mount Burr will remain in the four, still clear of Robe.

It adds plenty of interest to the contest, in a must-win scenario for both sides.

With the Mozzies on the improve, they should have enough in the tank to take care of the Demons in a tough fight to the final siren.

Nangwarry v Kongorong

In another tight contest, Nangwarry hosts Kongorong and would again look for another win.

However, it will certainly not come easy, as the Hawks look to remain off the bottom rung of the ladder.

The Saints occupy that position now and a big win for the season would be to finish higher up the ladder.

That will take more than one more victory but without a win on Saturday, it will be a hard goal to achieve.

Last time the two sides met the Hawks were off to a good start and continued to apply the pressure throughout to record a solid victory.

The Saints struggled to arrest the momentum, with Andrew Hyland a shining light up forward with his three goals.

Hyland has shown he can find the big sticks with regularity and will need to make his opportunities count on Saturday.

While this game may be a battle for the wooden spoon, it will certainly provide an entertaining contest and well worth the trip to Nangwarry, with the victor anyone's guess.

Tantanoola v Hatherleigh

Tantanoola faces a tough challenge on Saturday when it hosts Hatherleigh.

The Eagles have certainly been one of the talking points of the season but have had to work hard for a few of their victories.

Back in Round 4 they easily accounted for the Tigers but the script has not been perfect.

The first blemish came against Port MacDonnell in Round 8, followed in Round 10 by another loss, this time to Mount Burr.

On paper the Eagles should have won those games but such is the changing of form across the competition, no side can be discounted on any given week.

Hatherleigh has plenty of depth through its Reserves ranks, which has provided relief with the current injury woes.

Six starters are out of action, with those numbers expected to return as the season continues.

In those absences the Eagles have still been able to perform well and will need to draw on Robe will face a must-win game against Glencoe on Saturday as the Roosters look to return to the Mid South East football top four.

all that depth again this week.

Tantanoola has struggled this season but has also returned some positive results.

The Tigers have claimed just three wins this season but have dropped a couple of games by small margins.

However, it is hard to tip against Hatherleigh as the Eagles push for a faultless run towards the finals.

Robe v Glencoe

Robe hosts Glencoe in what is certainly a must-win for the Roosters.

Robe currently sits in fifth position, four points out of the top four, with daylight to Glencoe in sixth place.

Back in Round 4 it was an easy victory to the Roosters but a lot has changed since then.

While Glencoe has recorded just three victories this season, the Murphies have looked on the improve in recent rounds.

They faced tough challenges against Port MacDonnell and Kalangadoo in rounds nine and 10 respectively, then went down narrowly to Mount Burr in Round 11.

They bounced back with a big win over Nangwarry last week and would hope to carry that momentum into this week's game.

Typical of every side in the competition, Robe has enjoyed ups and downs in 2022, after a fairly strong start to the season.

Last week was a reality check, as the Roosters kicked 11 goals in tough conditions and still lost by a large margin to Hatherleigh.

Glencoe will carry the momentum from that big win over Nangwarry, while Robe will want to atone for last week.

It will certainly provide an entertaining contest, with the Roosters sure to take care of business on their home deck.

Mount Burr and Port MacDonnell will fight out a tough contest, with the loser to possibly fall out of the Mid South East football top four.

Pressure rises on court

Robe v Glencoe

The Mid South East netball match of the round sees Robe host Glencoe, with both teams coming off wins last weekend.

The Round 13 match-ups across the court will be entertaining, with Donna Jaeschke and Annie Hunter battling in the centre and down the court, creating turnovers for their respective teams.

Glencoe's Jenna Paproth and Malinda Markiewicz are a formidable goalie combination and their accuracy will not leave many rebounds for Robe's Ellen Ramke and Emma Grant.

At the other end of the court Robe's new goalie combination of Halle Carter and Sarah Laurie is one to watch, as they combine well and both shoot with accuracy.

Glencoe's Sarah Edwards and Chantelle Cocks will work tirelessly to limit the potential for Robe's shooters to score and will fight for every rebound.

The outcome of this entertaining game could go either way.

Nangwarry v Kongorong

After a close match-up in Round 4, Nangwarry and Kongorong will both look to come away with the points this weekend.

Nangwarry's Shannon Higgins and Carly Ploenges will put the pressure on for Kongorong goalies Tilah Buckingham and Evie Sealey. The strength of Ebony Lawson in the centre for the Saints will force turnovers for Tahlia Wilson and Ange Pratt to score.

Kongorong's Kate Wright and Rach Perry deliver the ball strongly into their goalies, feeding with accuracy from outside the circle.

Riley Buckingham's pressure in and around the goal will create difficulties for Nangwarry's mid-court.

In a tight contest either team has the ability and potential to finish the game with the points.

Port MacDonnell v Mount Burr

Mount Burr makes the trip down to the Bay this weekend, where they will hope to get another win under their belts but Port MacDonnell will not go down without a fight.

Mount Burr will travel to Port MacDonnell to take on the Demons in Round 13 of Mid South East netball.

Despite their young age, Madi Haggett and Olivia Dean are one of the most dominant defensive combinations in the league this season, with both working hard to create turnovers and secure rebounds.

Port MacDonnell's Belinda O'Dine and Alana Winter will have to work hard to curb the influence of Ebony Clark in the goal circle, while limiting Zoe Brown's options at goal.

Kirby Carrison and Brooke Williams combine well in the goal circle for the Demons but will have to fight for every opportunity against Mount Burr's defence.

After another tough battle, Mount Burr will finish the day with the win.

Tantanoola v Hatherleigh

Hatherleigh heads to Tantanoola with something to prove after their Round 4 loss against the Tigers.

Tantanoola's Kate Bromley and Tayla Rowe are a tough defensive combination, while Hatherleigh's Abby Wight and Maddie Pulmer will have to score from every opportunity, fighting for rebounds and loose balls.

Hatherleigh's Demi Vanderhorst and Lara MacGregor's pressure in the defensive circle will mean Tantanoola's Casey Walker and Madi Kelly will have to work hard to feed their goalies accurately.

Emma Gould and Jami Walker's accurate shooting is a focal point for the Tigers and will force Vanderhorst and MacGregor to be on their game to limit scoring opportunities.

After another tough game, the Tigers will come away with the points.

Glencoe and Robe will go head-to-head in Round 13 of Mid South East netball on Saturday.

At home against Roos

By James Murphy

Millicent v West Gambier

The Saints are back at home this weekend and a Round 13 meeting with West Gambier awaits.

Millicent enters the round off a bounce-back win against Casterton Sandford, while the Roos will be buoyed by a victory over North Gambier.

A big fourth-quarter effort won the game for West in the end, after little separated the sides throughout the contest.

However, Millicent looms a larger challenge.

Despite a couple of hiccups against South Gambier, the Saints have not dropped a game to any other team in 2022.

Last time the sides met Millicent was able to wrestle its way to a nine-point win in dismal conditions.

"Last time we played them it was really wet, muddy and slippery and a shocking day for footy," Millicent coach Clint Gallio said.

"You can't really gauge much from it for both teams."

As such Gallio said he looks forward to the rematch.

"They have some quality players and obviously on the weekend they played really well and had a good win - they will be full of confidence," he said.

Lawry Bradley-Brown will be the danger man for the Roos and he will look to back himself after a best-on-ground effort against North.

Nathan Taylor and Jordan Williams both had their sights locked in front of goal and were also vital in the result, while Lewis Lean and Kyle Giddings are in red-hot form.

For the Saints Dylan Bromley comes off an eight-goal performance, while Kade Bradley continues to show his versatility as an attacking defender.

The result will do little to impact Millicent's standing, with it locked firmly in second place on the ladder.

However, the Saints will remain hungry for the win as finals draw closer.

"These are the sort of games where we want to make sure we are doing everything we can to get the win," Gallio said.

"Although a loss probably won't hurt, we want to go out and win every game of footy and continue to improve."

Millicent's Dylan Bromley will look for another big day in the forward line when the Saints host West Gambier this weekend.

Cross-border win for Millicent netballers

Millicent 75 d Casterton Sandford 40

It was always going to be a tough ask for Casterton Sandford when it hosted Millicent in Round 12 of Western Border netball.

Despite the Saints missing premiership shooter Tabatha Sanderson for the second successive week, they were able to easily account for the Cats.

Of course, when the Sanderson replacement is state 17 and Under goal shooter Annelise Janssen, they remained in reliable hands under the net.

The teenager shot a perfect 16 from 16 in the opening quarter as Millicent set up a 12-goal quarter-time lead.

It was a strong opening from the Cats as well, though, with Ivy Lane also enjoying a perfect shooting performance but the difference was the amount of supply.

Janssen was sidelined in the second and third quarter which saw Paige Nitschke take the goal shooter bib.

Despite the lack of height in the Millicent goal circle, the speed of ball and smart movement of Nitschke and Demi Verbena ensured the scoreboard kept ticking over.

Between them the duo shot 34 from 38 in the second and third terms.

Casterton Sandford kept a more settled line-up which resulted in some strong passages of play.

The only change was the swapped bibs of Caeleigh Humphries and Charlotte Rice in the last quarter - a slight reshuffle of the defensive circle line.

Ebany Jarrad had arguably her best game for 2022 on the defensive wing, taking on three different opponents and making life tough for whichever Saints feeder came her way.

By three quarter time the margin was out to 26 goals and at the final whistle the damage was 35.

However, the Cats will take pride in scoring 40 goals of their own against the powerhouse Saints.

Janssen returned in the final quarter and again put 16 goals on the board, with Verbena feeding her shooting partner to perfection.

Millicent's Portia McRae was outstanding in goal keeper as she hunted the intercept and dominated the rebounding duel.

This week will see a top-of-the-table clash between Millicent and West Gambier.

The clash could ultimately decide the minor premiership, as both sides have only lost to each other throughout the season.

The Saints hold the top spot on percentage alone and will be eager for revenge following a two-goal loss to the Roos in their Round 8 meeting.

Another close contest can be expected and the game will not be decided until the final quarter.

Millicent demolishes Casterton with win

He kicked the first two goals of the game, while his work down back provided a challenge for Casterton forwards.

"His work rate this year has been really good," Gallio said.

"He can be fairly attacking, but when we need him to be he is really defensive."

With Bradley's current form Gallio hopes to see him selected in the final SA Country Zone team and believes he is worthy of the call up.

Jacob Carger and Eli Redman were also solid, with a goal each to show, while Finn Grimes put in a strong performance as well.

Casterton Sandford was best served by Ethan Currie, whose on-ball efforts earned the Cats plenty of the ball.

Justin Carlin was also in fine form through the middle, while Hamish McCrae had another big day in the ruck.

It was Alastair McCrae who stepped up in front of goals and his marking ability in the pack was on show as he scored a team-high three majors.

Diarmid Cleary and Gabe Parsons maintained their recent form, while youngster Charlie Jarrad rounded out the best.

The loss puts a larger gap between the Cats and finals contention, as fourth-placed West defeated North to give it a one-win buffer over the Victorians.

60th anniversary hunt

By Kathy Fennell

The Penola Hunt Club will celebrate its 60th anniversary this weekend at the properties Spots Hill and Sugar Loaf at Mount Benson.

On Saturday the weekend kick off with a hunters competition.

First up is the hunters trial which is an optimum time event and the course will be open to walk at 8am.

Next event will be the hunters panels which features brush fence jumps to be jumped individually.

This event will be judged on style, pace and presentation.

The hunters challenge is an obstacle course designed with the hunting horse in mind.

It is a timed event and will also be scored on the execution of obstacles.

There will be awards given to the overall winner and there are open, intermediate and junior categories.

On Saturday night there will be a dinner with an auction and a quiz.

Sunday will see a formal hunt, commencing at 11am with formal attire to be worn.

"We are looking forward to having a good field of hunters, with both locals and people from away joining in," club secretary, Jenna Bignell said.

"We will stop for lunch then continue on with the remainder of the course."

A successful fundraiser was held where people could purchase a jump at both the Sugar Loaf Hills and Spot's Hill properties.

"It was extremely well supported, with purchasers having a custom made plaque attached to a jump," Bignell said.

"All plaques will be permanent fixtures and will be unveiled on the Sunday, along with plaques for all life members."

The Penola Hunt Club currently has 53 members and 17 life members.

Several years ago the club hunted with hounds under the guidance of Rob Fairchild.

The club has hosted many state hunts over the years.

"Each year various clubs from around the state take it in turns in holding the combined state hunt," Bignell said.

The club has held hunts on many properties throughout the South East and Western Victoria and appreciates the generosity of the landholders.

As reported in The Pennant in May, 1962, the first Penola hunt was held at Old Penola, the property of the Rymill family.

The club was formed as the Penola Pony and Hunt Club due to repeated requests from the more senior members.

Senior Master was John Rymill, with his son, Andrew Rymill leading the way with the juniors.

A total of 21 riders enjoyed the event.

"We are really looking forward to hosting a wonderful weekend of celebrations," club president John Earl said.

"My committee has been working extremely hard over the past 18 months so that this event will run smoothly.

"We would also like to invite the general public to come along."

Play halted by poor weather at Millicent

Bowlers once again faced inclement weather in the latest round of bowls at the Millicent Bowls Club.

There was a strong contingent of bowlers who took part in what was scheduled to be 20 ends of 2-4-2 bowls.

Seven women took part in the latest round and four of whom were amongst winning teams.

However, heavy rain meant the game was cut short after just 10 ends.

Mary Campbell and Peter Scanlon claimed the win with a score of 27+7.

David Nuske and Ros Varcoe were runners-up with a score of 27+3.

The other winning teams for the day were Tim Grovenor/Kym Stewart 27+2, Orr Grovenor/John Buhlmann 26+9, Im Campbell/Neil Whelan 25+3 and Jan Buhlmann/Derrick Lindh 21+1.

The pennant trial game was announced before the start of play.

The Scudds/Earl shield played between Mount Gambier RSL and Millicent will take place on September 18 in Millicent.

Runners-up from last week's round, David Nuske and Ros Varcoe.

Winning pair Mary Campbell and Peter Scanlon.

Milestones racked up

It was a day of milestones at Kongorong on Saturday, with three netballers in the spotlight.

Kaylah Farrell played her 150th game, having played for the Hawks since 2010.

Farrell played A Reserve as a goal shooter for three years until she made the transition into defence in 2013.

It proved to be a good decision as she won the best and fairest trophy that year.

Farrell became a C-badged umpire in 2012 and the same year she started her coaching career at the Under 15 level.

She played three years in A Grade and won her first A Grade best and fairest trophy in 2015.

In 2016 she co-coached the Under 17 team while playing, played A Grade and claimed equal most consistent and equal club person.

After a year off in 2017 to focus on umpiring, 2018 saw Farrell back in A Grade and coaching the Under 15 side.

In 2019 she stepped back to A Reserve and claimed equal best and fairest.

This season Farrell has taken on the playing coach of the A Reserve side girls and still umpires mostly A Grade games.

She has also served on the Kongorong netball committee as a member, secretary, president in 2020 and also taking on the role of umpire coordinator.

She won the club person of the year in 2013 and equal club person of the year in 2016.

Meanwhile, Brooke Holmes reached her 50 game milestone on Saturday.

She began her netball career at Kongorong in the B Grade team in 2017.

She left the club the next year and returned the following, where she had an impressive season, winning equal runner-up best and fairest and equal Under 21 award.

Holmes claimed the runner-up trophy last year and continues this season in the B Grade side.

Another to reach her 50-game milestone on Saturday was Thalia Von Stanke.

Von Stanke also started her netball career at Kongorong in the Junior 2 team in 2016.

She did not play in 2017 and then returned into the Junior 1 and 2 team in 2018.

Von Stanke took the step up into Under 13 in 2019 and played just the one season due to the Covid year off.

Last year she again stepped up, this time to the Under 15 level where she won the most consistent trophy.

She remains at the same level this year and has become a reliable and accurate shooter.

Penola netball duo celebrate 200 games

Two Penola netballers, Amanda Wurst and Teegan Galpin celebrated their 200-game milestones for the Penola Netball Club recently.

On the day both played B Grade and recorded a convincing win over Kingston, with both featuring in the best players.

Wurst joined the club in 2005 after moving to Penola from Kangaroo Island.

She is a strong mid-court player who has explosive speed and has pin-point accuracy when feeding to the goalies.

She has an ability to shut a wing attack completely out of the game with her toughness and workhorse attitude.

On and off the court she is a true team player.

Wurst has a claimed swag of awards over the years and has been given the captaincy duties on several occasions.

However, on the court there is one achievement she holds highest - five B Grade premierhips.

Galpin is feared by all defenders as a sharp shooter with an uncanny ability to turn and shoot accurately in the goal ring.

She is a no-fuss netballer and a team player who gives her all and thrives under pressure, playing much of her best netball on the finals stage.

Galpin was a talented junior and now en-

Teegan Galpin and Amanda Wurst celebrating their 200 game milestones on Saturday joys mentoring the club's youngsters, including her two daughters.

She has played the majority of her senior career in A Reserve and in recent years has been a powerhouse in the B Grade, collecting two premiership flags along the way.

Galpin is also no stranger to individual accolades, with multiple club best and fairest and runner-up awards, along with a KNTFL most consistent award.

Saints back with a win

By James Murphy

Millicent 15.15 (105) d
Casterton Sandford 4.8 (32)

Millicent has bounced back from its disheartening loss to South Gambier in a big way.

The Saints made the cross-border journey to Island Park for Round 12 of Western Border football and trumped the home team by 73 points.

It took a quarter for the visitors to shake off their Casterton Sandford hosts, but by half time the margin was out to 34.

The opening quarter was an arm wrestle and it appeared the Cats might be able to replicate their Round 7 performance, where they scared the Saints with a slim four-point loss.

Inaccuracies cost the Cats early but they remained in the fight with 10 points the difference at the first change.

However, Millicent settled in the second quarter and was able to utilise its running game to open up the contest.

From there the Saints were able to take control and held their hosts to just two more goals for the match.

After the disappointment of last round's 57-point loss to the Demons, Millicent coach Clint Gallio was pleased to have bounced back in a convincing fashion.

"It was a good result in the end," he said.

"I felt like it took us that first quarter to get into it but we found our way and were able to control the game.

"We played some decent footy which was nice to see."

The man of the match was Dylan Bromley, who soared to new heights in the forward line.

He bagged an impressive eight goals for the day and had almost twice as many scoring shots in a dominant performance.

The Cats had little answer to his agility and marking ability, much to his coach's delight.

"He had a great four-quarter game," Gallio said.

"He is the sort of player who makes our team better, not just with his performance but his fun around the group."

Another impressive outing from Kade Bradley saw him among the best again.

He made an impact at both ends of the ground, with his usual defensive prowess on show, while also pushing forward to score three goals for the match.
