A strong signal

By Elsie Adamo

Millicent resident David Walshaw has announced he will seek nomination to the 5THE FM committee following the recent community to discuss the future of the Millicent community radio station.

Mr Walshaw was present at the meeting last month and said he wanted to help secure the station's future in whatever way he could.

The station has been subject to allegations from community members about a lack of transparency in its operations, but it was Mount Gambier 5GTR FM's chairman Nathan Butler's comments about the 5THE FM's ability to have their licence renewed that caused Mr Walshaw's immediate concern.

The Australian Communications and Media Authority (ACMA) currently lists 5THE FM's community broadcasting licence as expiring on October 3 this year.

A representative from the organisation confirmed 5THE had submitted an application to renew its licence which ACMA is currently considering.

"We may not have a community radio station beyond October when the licence renewal comes up," Mr Walshaw said.

"Unless something is done quickly, the situation may impact the ability for the station to get a licence.

"It is very important for a community broadcaster to get its licence renewed, to demonstrate significant community involvement.

"I am not sure, hand on heart, we can say that at the moment.

"That is my greatest fear that through no fault of the communities, we lose our radio station because of the inaction of the board."

Mr Walshaw recently retired from his position as the Red Cross regional services manager for the Limestone Coast and Riverland and previously has worked as the chief executive for local hospitals.

Rain incoming: There is a lot of rain expected to come in the next few days.

Code blue for region

Residents in the Wattle Range area should prepare for some wild weather in the coming days, with a 'code blue' activated due to the extreme weather.

A code blue - which opens up emergency accommodation for those sleeping rough - has been called in the Limestone Coast until August 9. People experiencing homelessness in the Limestone Coast can call the 24/7 Homelessness Connect SA on 1800 003 308.

Potentially damaging winds and heavy rain are forecast for the next five days across many parts of South Australia, and the South Australian State Emergency Service is advising people to take precautions before the weather strikes and secure loose items around your property. Robert Charlton, SASES State Duty Officer said taking a sensible approach to securing items in your yard or putting them away can help minimise potential property damage.

"We all know weather can be unpredictable, and I think we've all seen the videos of trampolines and outdoor furniture being blown around during intense wind gusts," he said.

"While we are not expecting destructive winds over the coming days, it pays to err on the side of caution.

"For the next couple of days, the SASES will be at a heightened level of preparedness and we will be constantly monitoring conditions.

"We will be ready to respond if required."

He said information on how to best prepare for strong winds and severe weather can be found at ses.sa.gov.au.

Stay up to date with the latest weather forecast by monitoring the SASES and Bureau of Meteorology on social media and websites.

Life is better when it's done together

By Caroline Hammat

Millicent Community Church (MCC) is welcoming the community to join them for a weekly free breakfast each Wednesday morning.

Senior Pastor Shaun Mulick is hosting the breakfasts designed to reach families.

"We've got a lot of single mums that come, the goal is to take a little pressure off, not just for struggling families," Pastor Mulick said.

"It's the kind of thing that when you create these services sometimes people can be embarrassed to take part in it, if you make it for everyone it makes it more inclusive, more accessible

"It's a tough enough job getting kids off to school in the morning so we have snacks and muesli bars for lunchboxes, fresh fruit, yoghurt and we do pancakes, cereals and toast for breakfast."

Pastor Mulick serves breakfast from 8-9am during the school term and has a tray of pancakes ready for when people start arriving.

"The mums that have to get to school are usually gone by 8.30am but it's one less thing to think about on a Wednesday morning in the middle of the week, they (the children) just have to get their uniform on and have breakfast on the way."

With a kitchen set up on the premises MCC also offer a free breakfast of bacon, eggs and sausages every Sunday at 10am.

This breakfast leads in to the church's Sunday service but there is no obligation to stay with Pastor Mulick highlighting the benefits of those who choose to.

"I think the real value is the community because it's conversations around the table, just like a cafe, and life is better done together.

"We just want to make space for people so they feel like they are living life with meaningful connections to others."

In 2019 MCC began hosting free weekly breakfasts in Jubilee Park, attracting between 60 and 80 people each week, including students on their way to school or families walking children to school.

The arrival of Covid-19 put a stop to the outdoor breakfasts and it has only been this year the church has started regularly hosting breakfasts from their Williams Road premises.

Youth hub is open to all

By Caroline Hammat

Xandia Tenae is the name behind a weekly youth hub held each Friday at the Millicent Community Church.

The church's youth director has held the position for just over a year and is also the pastoral care worker for Newbery Park Primary School and Millicent High School.

"The youth hub is a safe and controlled environment for kids to hang out and have fun," Ms Tanee said. "It's a gold coin donation, year level six to twelve and we serve dinner. Everyone is welcome here regardless of race, gender identity or sexuality."

Ms Tanee promotes participation for the youth hub through Instagram and her work at the schools encouraging young people to bring their parents and families along for the weekly free breakfast hosted by the church.

"I can encourage students and their families, if they are struggling with inflation, to come along to the breakfast program.

"We are getting a few families in which is lovely, the kids love having a play in the auditorium, they get that extra energy out and it's a place for parents. I love catching up with the mums here, it's awesome, we are a big family."

Senior Pastor Shaun Mulick from MCC said the youth hub includes games and activities and participants can connect with Department for Communities and Social Inclusion (DCSI) screened mentors and leaders.

Recognising that homelessness is a problem in the community, Pastor Mulick said

"We were made aware during the Covid crisis of homeless teenagers in Millicent, obviously high risk with teenagers.

"Long term we would love to help meet some of those needs and give kids more stability, but it's all time and resources ... that's what the youth space is, it's what our breakfasts are, just creating safe spaces for people that need it when they do."

Stories to be discovered

By Caroline Hammat

Since 2017 members of the South East Family History Group (SEFHG) have been tending graves in Section D, the oldest part, of the Millicent Cemetery.

Five years since receiving permission from Wattle Range Council to meet monthly at the site, they began to repair some of the worst damaged graves unearthing history along the way.

The latest secret revealed was during the levelling of four unmarked children's graves by volunteers where a rectangular piece of stone was found by SEFHG president Noel Boyle.

"The headstone was found side on and you couldn't read anything and it was just put aside.

"It's only when I came out several days later and it had been raining, a little bit of the dirt was washed off and I thought it looked like a scratch of a J.

"I washed it and to me it looked like John Mott, by checking records at the history group we knew a John Mott had died in Millicent and was buried in the Millicent cemetery.

"It was before records were kept so to find that means a lot, just to find one unmarked grave."

Further research by Mr Boyle revealed the grave belonged to John William Francis Mott, born December 29 1877 to parents John and Mary Anne Mott (nee Francis).

John William Francis Mott died in Millicent of tuberculosis February 16 1881 age 3 years, he was one of six children.

Burial records of the Millicent cemetery did not commence until October 8 1894, which means there are no records of burials prior to this date.

"By finding the stone with John Mott's name on it we are now able to place a plaque on the grave, register the plot number and name on the SEFHG records, and council records.

Original memorial: Noel Boyle holds John Mott's carved stone recently discovered at the Millicent cemetery.

"Although I have known there are people buried at the Millicent cemetery before records were kept, this is the first time I have found a discovery like this.

"The stone will be returned to his grave," Mr Boyle said.

The four children's plots that are next to John Mott's grave, although unmarked, are already registered with council records.

Tony Manhood has been working with John Nicholson and Mr Boyle to add borders to the four children's dirt graves.

Volunteering at the cemetery for over 12 months Mr Manhood said a friend was helping out and he decided to come along.

"I said if you need volunteers, it's something I can do.

"So I did and I started restoring the old cast iron ones (fences), and it's just gone on from there.

"When the wind farm mob (10 volunteers from Vesta) came out last year, well what took me three months to do took them three hours so we left that.

"We've got it all ready so if they volunteer again we can get them to help, they are professional welders, they know what they are doing."

Volunteers are not making substantial changes to the plots, restoring what is practical and achievable with sympathetic materials.

Valuable volunteers: Tony Manhood and John Nicholson at work adding a border to John Mott's previously unknown and unmarked dirt grave.

The group have worked on approximately 150 graves by adding gravel or stone to sunk-en graves, welding broken cast iron fences and making stone borders and have about 30 graves left to finish Section D.

Over 50 new plaques have been added to previously unmarked graves with relatives, if known, contacted and asked to cover the $30 cost of the marker with most families taking up the offer.

The initiative began with about 15 volunteers but this number has dwindled over the years mostly due to ageing group members.

People are welcome to help with the cemetery project either regularly or on occasion, with the small group meeting the first Sunday of the month and each Thursday between 9am-11am.

"We just need a couple of extra people with stronger backs.

"Some people think cemeteries are a sad place but I think we are recognising and acknowledging people's lives and their stories," Mr Boyle said.

Community radio board candidate sends strong signal

"I have over 35 years of significant senior leadership experience, particularly in governance," he said.

"I think I can bring some skills and experience to that radio station to help them get over the current hump they are in."

Mr Walshaw said he had found the lack of response from the 5THE FM about the allegations disappointing.

"I am not suggesting anything sinister going on, but in the absence of any information, you have to wonder what is going on there," he said.

"There have been lots of allegations, and they may not be correct, but nobody is rebutting them. No one from the committee is saying yes, we have a properly constituted board with this many members.

"There are public documents that the people should be allowed to see, and we are not seeing them.

"It is a lack of transparency that makes me very worried about the future of that radio station."

Mr Walshaw is encouraging the station's manager and committee to start a positive and open dialogue with the community so people know how they can help.

"Once you engage lawyers, you take the ability of that across-the-table conversation to occur," he said.

"We are asking for something that should be publicly available to us as community members.

"Tell us what is going on, we are more than happy to help, but the silence is deafening."

Mr Walshaw confirmed he is not affiliated or involved with the Wattle Range Council and had not taken this step at the request of any council staff or members.

"I am not aligned with council or anything like that," he said.

Mr Walshaw said he had not been involved with the station before his recent membership application but had been a long-term listener.

"I always wanted to be involved, but work got in the way," he said.

"Now that I am retired, I would love to do some on-air presenting...one of my great loves is music."

Despite recent criticism, Mr Walshaw said 5THE FM could still have a positive future.

"I think there is great community support for the station to continue," he said.

"There is a lot of expertise in the South East in terms of broadcast experience, I just think they should be given a chance.

"As services withdraw more and more to capital cities, regional communities have got to be hanging onto those things they have that are near and dear to them. For many in Millicent, that radio station is near and dear to them.

"I just hope it is not too late."

Des Noll said completed station membership forms have been forwarded to the station's legal representation but had not received a response from the 5THE FM committee.

The 5THE FM committee was contacted for comment, but no response was received by print deadline.

Forums on new $9m home

Wattle Range Council will be hosting community information sessions in Penola and Beachport about the planned $9 million council offices following last month's session in Millicent.

The first session held in July at the Millicent Civic Arts Centre was well attended by the community, with many taking the opportunity to ask council chief executive Ben Gower questions on the multi-million dollar project.

The Council has responded to all 39 questions submitted during the session online, with many queries concerned about the cost of the project and the consultation process.

When asked about the cost to ratepayers, the council said it would cost an average of $15 per ratepayer.

"Council is currently cash positive, where our cash reserves are greater than the combination of our short and long-term debts," it said.

"While a considerable amount of these cash reserves have been earmarked for the renewal of other assets, some of it is depreciation money that has been collected over many years to fund the renewal of the current Council office."

To the question as to why Millicent needed such an extravagant building, council responded that it is important that the design and function of this building meets the needs of the organisation and the community it serves.

"The most recent version of the concept plans incorporates public spaces with an appropriate level of local materials on display, featuring a formal Chamber with a public gallery that opens into the foyer to allow for larger public meetings," the response said.

"It has an all-ability customer service area, several separate interview and larger public meeting rooms, as well as two all-ability public toilets. The back-office area is more functional and can accommodate up to 80 staff in a flexible open plan design with an appropriate allocation of meeting and collaboration spaces, lunch, toilet, shower and change room facilities.

"It has been specifically designed to accommodate the future needs of the community."

To read all the responses or view the presentation from the meeting, visit the Wattle Range Council website.

The incoming Council will be tasked with making the final decision on the new building after the elections in November.

Mr Gower has previously said the meetings at Penola and Beachport would be considered based on community interest.

The Beachport session will be held on Tuesday, August 16 at 7pm at the Beachport Institute Cinema, Railway Terrace.

The Penola session will be held on August 17 at 7pm at Rymill Hall on Cameron St.

Cellar dwellers at Zemas enjoy fine sample of history

By Kathy Fennell

Zema Estate held two very special events during July as part of Cellar Dwellers as well as celebrating 40 years in the industry.

However the 40-year celebrations will continue on throughout the year with some major events to be held in October.

The two events in July were the 'Musing in the Museum' tastings which was limited to 15 people at each tasting.

It was a rare opportunity to go behind the scenes, taste some exceptional back vintage wines and learn more about the Zema Family winemaking history, with the winemaker.

The tasting started with a journey through time with an interactive exhibition of Zema's history followed by some tastings of some very rare wines from the cellar.

Back vintage wines tasted included the 1998 Cluny, 2006 Shiraz, 2004 Family Selection Cabernet, and pre-release of the 2016 Sulti.

Guests were also shown the current new releases including 2017 Cluny, 2017 Estate Shiraz, 2017 Estate Cabernet, 2016 Family Selection Shiraz and the 2016 Family Selection Cabernet.

"It was fantastic to hear Demetrio (Junior) speak about the aged vintage wines and share some of the Zema 40-year story," was one of the comments from those who attended. Guests came from Adelaide, Mount Gambier and Melbourne.

At Zema Estate for the vintage wine tasting are Beecher Carter and Priscilla Stanton from Adelaide.

Basil settles in to new role

By Caroline Hammat

Two weeks into his role at Millicent High School (MHS) as a wellbeing dog Basil is already making his presence felt, particularly as office partner of Tam Gould who is forming a bond with the new addition.

The 12 week old cocker spaniel belongs to MHS finance officer Shannon Nicholls who purchased the dog with his role as a support for wellbeing co-ordinator, Ms Gould, in mind.

Ms Nicholls was not looking for another dog at the time but having two cocker spaniels at home already she decided if it was going to happen it needed to be while her other dogs were still young.

“It was going to be now or never, this was my only opportunity to help the school,” she said.

“I’m bringing him here each day, working with Tam and training him for the school, we will slowly introduce him to the classrooms next year.

“At the moment it is just getting him familiar with all the noises, people and the goings on at school, just to make him a relaxed dog.”

Basil’s role at the school is to help calm students and not to become a distraction in the classroom.

Ms Nicholls said the breed is a good fit for the role as they love to be around people and will show affection to anyone that shows it to them.

It has been a long process to get approval for Basil with former principal John Shelton signing off on the suggestion of a wellbeing dog before he retired at the end of last year.

“We were looking at getting a dog, I’ve always wanted one at the school so when Shannon came to me at the start of last term and said, I know you’re interested in getting a dog what if it was my dog, I said absolutely,” Ms Gould said.

“I wasn’t in a position to have a puppy and this way if it doesn’t work out then he just goes to Shannon’s.

“He’s going to be a real resource we can use in our wellbeing space which we’ve integrated into the school over time.

“We have our own huddle space and he will be part of that which is fantastic, sometimes students don’t need to have full on conversations, they just need a break.

“They can come in here and have puppy cuddles for five minutes and go back to class, it’s that circuit breaker more than anything.”

Part of Basil’s training is to become accustomed to the classroom environment with his first brief visit taking place on Monday.

“He will get to see a lot of people at the library as well when Tam has her door open, nothing too overwhelming at this stage” Ms Nicholls said.

Last week Flow students received an unplanned visit as Ms Gould was away and with Ms Nicholls busy undertaking end of month work the decision was made to send Basil across to the Millicent Community Learning Centre building.

“We are not doing a lot of that just yet but I was really busy and with Tam being away I had trust somebody over there to watch him.” Ms Nicholls said.

“He should really be with Tam or myself at all times so we can pick up on his cues if he’s had enough.

“It worked because they had five students there at most and they are a bit older, so they know not to be noisy.”

Both Ms Gould and Ms Nicholls have noticed a change in the atmosphere at school already, among both staff and students, finding that Basil helps spark conversation easily.

But at the end of the day the wellbeing of the dog is the most important thing.

“If it’s not working for him, it’s not working,” Ms Gould said.

Ms Gould’s role at MHS is focused on wellbeing across the school and replaces the role of school counsellor, supporting students through special education, attendance, funding support and day to day conversations about wide ranging subjects.

Office work: Basil has his own bed and toys in his shared office space.

Meals for Ronald McDonald House

By Kathy Fennell

Five Penola women set off on their trek to Adelaide last week to participate in the ‘Meals from the Heart’ program at Ronald McDonald House.

The program is an opportunity for corporate, social, community or other individual groups to cook and share a dinner with families that stay at Ronald McDonald House.

This is the second time the group have participated and ‘Christmas in July’ was the theme for the dinner this year with Diana Clayfield, Anne-Marie Williams, Anne Johnson, Angela Winter and Jenny Tocaciu preparing the dinner.

“We thought we broke the record last year with 42 meals served, however we served 46 meals this year plus did up some food packages for those that could not attend due to being in isolation,” Anne Johnson said. The meal included lamb, turkey and vegetables with all the trimmings plus dessert of peach and apple crumble, home made Christmas icecream, Christmas cake and biscuits.

The women took up a Christmas tree and it was decorated and smothered with gifts for the young patients.

“We are so grateful for the support we received from Penola residents with collections tins at Foodland and Windara Bakery along with donations from Penola Hardware and the local CWA Branch raising almost $900,” Anne said.

This money was used to purchase a brand new child’s wheelchair and contributed to the purchase of 100 new pillows.

“Just to see the families so happy is so rewarding,” Anne said.

The effort was well received, according to Ronald McDonald House executive officer Julie Black.

“The dinner was overwhelming. To see so many happy faces was such a joy,” Mrs Black said.

“The house was a real buzz for a few days after the dinner.”

The group will do it all again in July 2023 with the same Christmas theme.

Bank SA on history app

By National Trust of SA Penola Branch

In association with State Heritage, Penola’s branch of National Trust SA has developed a mobile phone app called Penola Walk With History to enable people to learn more about historic sites within Penola on self guided tours. The following is one of the subjects from this app.

Bank of South Australia

The Bank of South Australia first operated in Penola through an agency or in rented premises.

W J George was the manager from 1876 to 1888 and Robert Goldsmith from 1883 to 1888.

In 1882 the vacant block on the corner of Church and Robe, now Riddoch, Streets was purchased and the plans were made to build the bank and residence.

Mr Barber, who also built the bank at Kings-ton, was the contractor and red sandstone from cave range Monbulla – the same kind used at Yallum House – was selected.

The South Australian Chronicle and Weekly Mail of March 1, 1879 reported: “At last the Kelly scare has reached Penola. The unusual movements of the police during the past few days and the precautionary measures taken to protect the banks have naturally led to the conclusion that the Kellys are expected! Mr Currie, Inspector of the Bank of South Australia, with three other persons who are known to be Adelaide detectives, arrived by coach this afternoon”.

Thankfully this scare came to nothing.

The Adelaide Evening Journal of August 13, 1889 reported: “On Saturday afternoon Mr Charles Newman, Manager of the local Bank of SA reported to the Police £11 in gold had been stolen from the teller’s cash sometime after 11 o’clock at which time he used the tin containing it. So far there is no clue to the thief”.

The Border Watch newspaper June 25, 1892 reported: “Today was the last day of the life of the Bank of South Australia (now merged in the Union Bank) in this town, and depositors and others were busy arranging their financial affairs with the bank officials ... the majority of the customers of the bank have transferred their accounts to the National Bank”.

From 1901 to 1908 Doctors Prior and Magee rented the building as a residence and surgery.

It was then used as a private residence until 1939, when it was purchased for an office and store by the stock firm Goldsbrough Mort.

When they merged with Elder Smith & Co Ltd in 1962 this State Heritage Listed building became redundant for a period, before once again becoming a private residence.

Short stays come at cost

By Elsie Adamo

The rise in popularity of short-term accommodation websites such as Airbnb combined with holiday homes has put pressure on the ability of Robe's businesses to find staff, according to Robe Council chief executive James Hoylman.

The town's popularity as a tourist destination has led to a housing shortage for people wanting to relocate there permanently, with properties used as private holiday homes or short-term holiday rental accommodation.

Despite a difference in the population of more than 24,000, at time of print Robe currently had more properties listed on Airbnb than Mount Gambier.

According to 2021 Census data, 923 houses in Robe are unoccupied, making up 58.8 per cent of the town's dwellings. The same data lists the entirety of the Limestone Coast's overall unoccupied dwellings at only 17.4 per cent.

The impact of a limited supply of housing for permanent residents means there are restrictions on the local workforce, which still needs to support the town during peak seasons.

Mr Holyman said the town's challenges are no different from other popular tourist destinations.

"With the residential market running reasonably hot, the ability for workers to find accommodation is going to be limited," Mr Holyman said.

"If people wanted to come to Robe for the summer and have a working holiday, there would be no places for them to stay.

Vacancies for workers in town have been longstanding, according to Mr Holyman, with the council struggling to find enough workers at times.

"We have had a large number of vacancies we have had difficulties filling," he said.

"We know some local businesses have given up, they have advertised for six or 12 months and have not been able to attract anybody, so they are just running on lower numbers."

My Hoylman said the council was in a tough spot, balancing the priorities of tourism with long-term residents. He said the council would look at solutions, but quick fixes would be hard to come by.

"I have had a conversation with people who develop in Robe, but that end of the market [affordable housing] is not as lucrative for them as building high-quality homes," Mr Holyman said.

"There is already a two to three year wait to get a local builder in Robe.

"Ideally, you would hope market forces would drive through demand somebody to step in and fill the gap in the market, but I do not think that is going to occur."

This pressure has contributed to rental shortages affecting the whole region, which is particularly strong in Robe. According to 2021 census data, only 134 of Robe's 1573 dwellings are rented out long-term.

"Robe has always not had a lot of long-term rental accommodation," Mr Holyman said.

"I think it has gotten worse, particularly because of the increase in living prices."

For those looking to work in Robe, Mr Holyman said perhaps people would need to consider living outside of the town.

"The other interesting one, when you look at it, is whether people have to live in the place they work," Mr Holyman said.

"If you were in Adelaide, it would be normal to travel 30 to 40 minutes to work, and Kingston is half an hour away.

"Are there other places people could have a more affordable base than Robe?"

Robe Council chief executive James Holyman said housing availability in Robe has gotten tougher over the years.

Millers make their home in 'friendly place' of Penola

By Kathy Fennell

Leigh and Anne Miller have settled comfortably at Penola after moving from Adelaide, purchasing a block of land and building a home.

After retiring, the couple decided to move to the country.

"We looked at several places in the South East and some just turned out to be holiday towns.

"We had visited Penola on several occasions for the ukelele picnics and found Penola a really friendly place.

"In fact I don't think there was anywhere near as welcoming as Penola," they said.

"We were down at Blok Wines having a ploughman's lunch on the lawn and I said to Leigh, I could live here, and now we are here enjoying a very happy life," Anne said.

The couple have joined several groups and they were the instigators of organising Penola's first ever music festival which was a huge success.

They have also formed a group titled 'new settlers to Penola' which is a welcoming group for anyone that has recently moved to Penola so they can meet up with other people.

Gatherings include picnics and social get togethers with the next meeting to be held at the Dergholm hotel on Saturday, July 30 for a pizza day.

It didn't take long for the couple to get involved in the community with Leigh joining the CFS, becoming president of the McCorquindale Park Management Committee and getting involved with the show society.

Anne is involved with the local op shop and other organisations, however she has a passion for art and painting.

In fact she has a studio in her backyard called 'The Tin Palace Art Studio' where she spends her time painting.

She has just entered an online competition in America with two of her works.

She has dabbled in art for some 30 years and won the Biblio art prize, a major award at a competition in Port Fairy winning a $2000 prize.

"I had to read a book then do a painting from it.

"I was thrilled to win as I didn't think I had a chance," she said.

"I have also entered in the Penola-Coonawarra John Shaw Neilson art competition and have an ongoing exhibition at Blok Wines.

"We both want to continue to be involved in the community and meet new people.

"We have even had friends from Adelaide move down here they like it so much."

Penola Primary school students with their awards from the Mad Minute competition, Bree, Tyler and Leah.

Messages in one minute

Students from Penola and Nangwarry primary schools and Mary MacKillop school recently participated in the Lion's Mad Minute competition.

Mad Minute is an impromptu public speaking competition for students in a mixed level and Year 5 classes in state and public schools.

"The main purpose of the competition is to expose students to the benefits of public speaking," Penola Lions Club secretary Mike Matuschka said

"The competition is only conducted in the Limestone Coast area of South Australia."

This year the competition involved 34 schools and almost 1000 students in 55 classes.

Students first take part in an 'in school' class-based competition.

They select either a challenge question or a super challenge question and have one minute to speak on their selected topic.

Judging is conducted on set criteria such as clarity of speech, stance, expression and delivery.

The judges select first, second and third placegetters who are awarded a certificate, medal and a small amount of cash.

All students who participate are presented with a certificate of participation.

The winning students then proceed to a grand challenge which is conducted along the same lines as the in school competition.

The grand challenge is spilt into the lower Limestone Coast and the upper Limestone Coast area.

Successful students receive the same awards as in the in-school competition.

In addition a perpetual trophy is awarded to the best small and the best large school.

Josh, Annabel and Eleanor from Mary MacKillop school were awarded first, second and third prizes, and Eleanor went on to win third prize in the upper Limestone Coast challenge.

Her subject was 'Dogs are better than Cats'. From the Penola primary school Leah, Tyler and Bree finished in first, second and third placing in their school competition.

Zoe, Dallas and Jack from the Nangwarry primary school received certificates and medals for their placings in their school competition.

Zoe went on to win third prize in the lower

South East grand challenge in Mount Gambier.

Her subject was 'All schools should have chooks'.

"The Lions Club of Penola would like to sincerely thank the Year 5 teachers from each school, Heidi Kerr (Penola primary), Sam Baxter (Mary MacKillop) and Stephanie Illman (Nangwarry primary)," Mr Matuschka said.

The judging team this year consisted of Jenny Hinze, Sue Zwar, Victoria Marshall, Bronte Cox, Jeff Hoare, Peter Muller with Mike Matuschka as co-ordinator.

"You don't have to be a Lions member to be a part of the Mad Minute team.

"We welcome anyone who has an interest in giving students an opportunity to demonstrate what they are capable of," he said.

St Mary's op shop delivers

By Kathy Fennell

The St Mary's op shop in Penola continues to support the local community, especially with some warm clothing on offer.

The shop is run by a group of volunteers and opened its doors some 14 years ago.

The shop is open five days week and is located on Arthur Street.

From hats to jumpers, jeans, coats, toys, crockery, produce, shoes, kitchenware there is something for everyone.

"We appreciate all the support from locals however we also get a lot of tourists visit the shop," Father Lyndon Sulzberger said.

"There is always someone that wants something."

Volunteers Doug Pearce and Julie Stewart love volunteering at the shop.

"We even had ABC presenter Peter Goers and TV personality Anne Wills visit us earlier in the year," Mr Pearce said.

"I love having a chat to people and be able to help them and also offer some information on the town of Penola.

"I have been volunteering since the shop opened and have met lots of lovely people," he said. Mrs Stewart travels from Kalangadoo and it is a good outing for her as she meets different people and helps people at the same time.

"We have 15 volunteers that come from Penola, Kalangadoo and Millicent however would welcome anyone else in the district who would like to help," Father Sulzberger said.

People come to the op shop for many different reasons including getting costumes for fancy dress parties, for school dress up days and also for just general clothing.

"Our prices are very affordable for everyone and some of the clothing is almost brand new," Father Sulzberger said.

The rugs, towels and linen that can't be sold are sent on to other charities like the SE Animal Welfare League and Salvation Army.

The shop now has EFTPOS facilities which has been a great asset in the short time it has been available.

When the weather gets a bit warmer it is planned to have a sausage sizzle and coffee maybe once a month on a Saturday morning.

All proceeds from the op shop sales go back into running the church.

A fascination for fungi

By Caroline Hammat

A fascination for fungi and their medicinal, therapeutic and environmental uses has led Feresh Pizarro on a journey to hosting mushroom foraging tours within her local community of Greenways as part of her new business, South Spore.

Ms Pizarro recently held five workshops at the Greenways oval after a commercial license with Forestry SA to hold tours at Mount Burr was rejected.

Initially receiving support and encouragement from Forestry SA the license application eventually failed at the last hurdle due a policy found within their regulations not allowing any fungi to be removed from trees or the forest floor.

“Unfortunately I couldn’t hold them in Mount Burr as planned so we had them at Greenways oval instead” Ms Pizarro said.

“The community was so supportive, everyone was involved, neighbours came in to help me set up and another neighbour cut wood for the participants to be nice and toasty because it was quite cold some days, it’s been wonderful.”

The events are aimed to not only educate people on how to identify, forage and cook mushrooms but to expose people to the richness of fungi diversity in the area.

“A lot of people are scared of fungi because of poisonous mushrooms and it is really important to educate people about what not to eat and how to be certain what you find is an edible.”

South Spore is based at Ms Pizarro’s Greenways home which her and her family built and moved into two years ago.

“My husband and I use to be architects and we didn’t want to invest in a massive million dollar debt for the rest of our lives so we came here, bought a piece of land and designed our own off the grid home.

“I’m going to be 100 per cent off grid and at the moment I am about 90 per cent waste free, in about three more months of experiments I’ll be 100 per cent waste free as well.”

Experiments underway to reduce the property’s carbon footprints further include using farming by-products for the substrate to grow the mushrooms.

“I have a laboratory where I do all the culture work, I get the spores from mushrooms, reproduce them, clone them, find the best specimens and then inoculate my bags of substrate.

“But you have to put them somewhere there is high humidity and temperature controlled so they fruit to their maximum capacity and I’m building a chamber for this, with big refrigeration panels and air filtration, that’s all off the grid as well and quite specific.”

Although yet to officially launch South Spore Ms Pizarro was keen to begin educating people about the value of what is in their own backyard mentioning that some common mushrooms to the area sell for $75 a kilo in Adelaide’s Central Market.

Plans for the Greenways based business will include farm gate sales of mushrooms in fresh, dried and capsule form for supplement, stocking medicinal products, teas, tinctures, creams, grow-kits, books for identification and foraging gear like baskets and knives.

Group participants, including Mount Gambier resident Serena Wong, cook up a mushroom feast.

“There will be workshops all year round in our house and in a tepee near the farm, about being off-grid and growing mushrooms, anyone with a tiny little greenhouse can grow mushrooms at home.”

In the future Ms Pizarro is hoping to donate 10% of all profits from South Spore to fungi research which includes many possibilities, with certain mushrooms recently discovered to eat plastic, converting it from a toxic product to one that is fertile for the soil, and other research into using fungi to clean up oil spills.

“The research is really important, they are decomposers and recomposers, they turn death into life, they are amazing.

“We have soil because of fungi, otherwise we would be kilometres high of rubbish, dinosaur bones and who knows what.

“We are in a symbiotic relationship with them, we breathe in between 1 to 10 spores every breath and help them reproduce by just walking in the forest because we are spreading the spores.

“People don’t realise how much we are interlinked and interconnected with fungi and how much fungi can help us solve so many problems we have.”

With a strong belief that local people will benefit from knowing more about fungi Ms Pizarro is hopeful people of the South East take pride in the mushroom diversity found in the region and the potential they offer.

“We are so lucky and I’m thankful that people have been so receptive to this, because I thought I was weird.

Feresh Pizarro shares her fascination of fungi with others.

“I met a guy from Beachport when foraging locally, in the middle of the forest there is this man with big gumboots the same as me, a big basket, a knife and a hoodie, and I’m like yes.

“He knows so much about it and I was so impressed and I kept coming across people, so it’s not that weird I think” Ms Pizarro said with a laugh.

The foraging tours received positive feedback from the 65 participants involved in the new enterprise with Mount Gambier resident Serena Wong summing up the day “It’s so great to explore our own backyard, be more connected to our surroundings.

“Foraging for your own food, and learning more about fungi is such an empowering and rewarding experience.

“I learnt so much, and I really think anyone with an interest in living a more sustainable way would really get a lot out of it.”

Addi Wilson wins junior hersdman at the heifer expo

By Kathy Fennell

Winners are grinners. You could certainly tell that with the smiles on the faces of the young Penola people that returned home from the week long South Australian Junior Heifer expo held at the Adelaide showgrounds last week.

The expo, which started in 1985, attracted more than 170 entrants this year.

The expo, is one of Australia’s most highly regarded junior heifer shows with the focus on educating the next generation of leaders in the agricultural industry.

Penola’s nine-year-old Addi Wilson took out the champion prize in the junior handlers section (eight to 12 years), an amazing feat of someone so young.

“I was very excited to win this award with my commercial Limousine Cross steer, Warrawindi Soggy Weetbix. He behaved very well and didn’t cause me any grief,” Addi said.

The winners of each of the five classes went on to contest the championship event.

Addi was also awarded second prize in the steer class.

“I had to wash him, dry him and have him looking really shiny before he went into the ring,” she said.

“I won some great prizes including a glass trophy.”

Her sister Sophie also did well coming second in her class with Warrawindi Slowpoke.

The Wilson girls’ cousins Mia and Ruby Gartner also came home with some ribbons, Mia finishing second in her handlers class and third in the heifer class with Warrawindi Snowflake, while Ruby and her steer Warrawindi Sunkist bought home a ribbon for fourth placing in her class.

Other successful Penola entrants were the Sagasser sisters. Laura came home with a first ribbon in the heifer class with a Black Angus and was placed second in a junior handlers class. Sarah won the prize for the senior champion heifer with a Black Angus and was placed third in the handlers class.

All thoroughly enjoyed the week and will be returning to compete at the expo in 2023.

Young artists on a break

By Caroline Hammat

The Millicent Library was a hive of activity over the school holidays as it played host to a variety of activities as part of the Wattle Range Council's school holiday program.

On Wednesday July 13 20 participants took part in one of two NAIDOC skateboard painting workshops hosted in the gallery space by Jenny Bishop who explained Indigenous symbols and culture to the artists involved.

While younger children and their families enjoyed painting brightly coloured owl tealights which they displayed proudly before taking them home.

With most activities held across the district filled to capacity, the popularity of the regular 'Full throttle in wattle' program is in no doubt.

Jimi Bowering created his own story on the skateboard using Indigenous symbols and the Aboriginal flag he learnt about on the day.

Ping pong challengers on the final night of the Full Throttle in Wattle school holiday program celebrate the end of the competition.

Edie Duldig, Charli Bowering and Lara Dodd had a hoot together while painting their owls.

Noah Cebulski, David Berzel and Ruby Cebulski participated in last weeks NAIDOC event at the library.

Resilience in vibrant show

By Caroline Hammat

Members of the Limestone Coast Art Collective (LCAC) launched their SALA (South Australian Living Artists) exhibition Friday night in front of a large gathering at the Millicent Art Gallery.

It is the first time the eight artists have exhibited together as the LCAC and the combination of work offers a rich variety of media, colour and ideas stemming from the title and theme of the exhibition, Nature of Resilience.

The group is comprised of eight artists from the region, and will be hosting artist in residence workshops in the gallery over the next six weeks.

Mount Gambier ABC presenter Rod Sparks officially launched the exhibition.

Sandra Hart is a Mount Gambier artist also working in textiles, with the frame crafted by her husband Dean.

Merryn Marshall and her husband JR with a selection of the Millicent artist's latest collection of works on display.

Compton based artist Cindy Bunt is inspired by nature and exhibited a display of large wildlife paintings.

Tanya Hunter's collection of bees were popular with art lovers on the night, with several being sold during the launch.

First time SALA exhibitor, Kerrie Head, challenged her skills working with natural fibres exhibiting detailed representations of native flora.

Always supportive of artists and the local arts community are John Mullins, Councillor Moira Neagle and Mayoress Shari Noll.

Attendees on the night included Maz Seidl, Karen Mitchell and Heather Seeböhm admiring Tanya Hunter's artwork behind them.

Motoring

Jolion Ultra fills a niche

By Chris Riley, Marque Motoring

Jolion is the latest offering in an expanding range of SUVs from Chinese manufacturer Haval GWM. By the way, Jolion means ‘first love’ in Chinese.

You remember them, the guys that got the tradies all hot and bothered back in 2009 with cheap utes, followed soon after by the X200/ X240 SUV based on the same platform.

It was all about the price, but safety soon became an issue and the brand disappeared off the lots for a while it addressed this problem.

A couple of years ago Great Wall Motors became simply GWM, but it’s still a bit confusing because Jolion is a Haval and a GWM at the same time -- and it carries both badges.

Whatever. The vehicles now come with a full array of safety equipment, with a range that chops and changes but now includes Jolion, the larger H6 and H6GT (coupe-shaped).

Jolion is the smallest and cheapest of the SUVs.

STYLING

Styling is a bit of a mixed bag. It doesn't add to the genre, but then it's in keeping with most of the offerings in this segment.

Jolion is priced from $28,490 for the Premium grade, $30,990 for the Lux, $33,990 for the Ultra, and $34,485 for the recently added Vanta with a fashionable black visage. Metallic paint adds $495. All prices are driveaway.

Standard kit includes two-zone climate air, PM2.5 air filter, faux leather upholstery, real leather wrapped steering wheel, heated front seats, six-way electrically adjustable driver's seat four-way adjustable passenger seat.

Jolion Ultra sits on 18-inch alloys, with a panoramic sunroof, LED headlights, DRLs and fog lights, auto-dimming rear view mirror, auto lights and wipers, rear parking sensors plus a 360-degree camera.

It is backed by a 7-year unlimited kilometre warranty, 5 years roadside assist and 5 years Capped Price Servicing.

INFOTAINMENT

Infotainment consists of a big, bright 12.3-inch touchscreen, six-speaker audio with DTS sound processing, Bluetooth, AM/FM radio, Android Auto and Apple Carplay, wireless phone charging, with a front USB port for data and charging and another one in the back for charging only -- plus a single 12-volt outlet in the front.

Bearing in mind that Ultra was the top-of-the-line model, until Vanta came along, what it doesn't get is satellite navigation or DAB+ digital radio -- two big ticket items in car entertainment these days.

Yes, you can hook up your phone through CarPlay or Android Auto, and use it to provide navigation directions -- but try getting it to work when you don't have access to internet.

ENGINES / TRANSMISSIONS

Power is delivered by a 1.5 litre four-cylinder turbocharged petrol engine with outputs of 110kW from 5600 to 6000 revs and 220Nm of torque from 2000 to 4400 revs. It's the latter available across a reasonably wide band that gives the car its get up and go.

The engine is mated to a new generation 7-speed DCT transmission (twin clutch auto), with power pushed to the front wheels.

SAFETY

Jolion is yet to be tested by the ANCAP organisation, but offers a comprehensive range of safety support systems, including seven airbags, a rear-view camera with guidelines and Autonomous Emergency Braking with pedestrian and bicycle detection.

There's also Heads Up Display, Lane Departure Warning (LDW), Lane Keep Assist (LKA), Adaptive Cruise Control (ACC), Traffic Sign Recognition (TSR), Lane Change Assist with Blind Spot Monitoring (BSM) and Rear Cross Traffic Alert (RCTA). Of note is the driver fatigue camera that protrudes like an accusing finger from the front, driver-side pillar is quick to tell you when you're doing the wrong thing.

Latest Offering: Jolion . . . just needs a bit of refinement.

In fact, you're likely to get sick of it and go looking for a switch to turn it off. We thought about it.

DRIVING

Jolion is quite large and comfortable for the price, with heated power-adjust front seats, air for back seat passengers and a handy-sized boot, with a space saver spare under the floor.

But BLEEP, the steering wheel does not have reach adjustment.

There are four driving modes, Normal, Eco, Sport and Snow, with fuel consumption a claimed 8.1L/100km on the combined cycle from a 60-litre tank.

Built on the company's new LEMON global lightweight modular platform, Jolion replaces the previous, smaller H2.

It's 4472mm long, 1841mm wide, and 1619mm high, with a 2700mm wheelbase, with a kerb weight of 1345 to 1370kg, giving it the edge over many competitors.

The ride feels reasonably comfortable on well-formed surfaces, but can be harsh at other times.

Swap to a Japanese SUV for comparison purposes and you might change your mind, however. Mitsubishi's Eclipse Cross is a good example, because it has a far more refined ride.

The 1.5-litre turbocharged engine offers a good compromise between performance and fuel economy.

But again, there is an issue with refinement, because throttle response is jerky and sporadic, and can be an issue in low-speed parking manoeuvres.

Like a lot of twin clutch transmissions, it can be slow to hook up.

Changing between forward and reverse with the round gear selector can also be tricky when you're in a hurry, say if you overshoot a driveway and have to do a short, quick backup.

To switch between drive modes, you need to access the infotainment system.

We tried Sport mode which became intolerable after a while, but it is one of the few cars that we have driven that will stay in the selected mode between starts.

The head-up display is a bonus. So is speed sign recognition.

But the adaptive cruise control system could also do with some refinement, especially when it brakes for no apparent reason, with constant tugging on the wheel even when the indicator has been activated (which should indicate to the system you are changing lanes on purpose).

Then there's the repeated warnings that you're too close to the vehicle in front. Drop back and someone is sure to cut in.

And what about the "smart dodge function" which steers the car to the right if you're passing a truck or bus.

WTF?

Accessing the trip computer can be a challenge. The trick is to hold down the OK button on the right side of the steering wheel and wait for the display to change, which can take several seconds.

After that, you can cycle through the different screens, but it quickly reverts to the standard screen once you're moving.

The audio is okay, but not quite on par with competitors, even with DTS processing.

We were getting 7.8L/100km after 537km, with another couple of hundred kilometres to go, and it takes standard 91 RON unleaded.

Boot space is a generous 430 litres with the rear seats in place, or 1133L with them folded and the wagon has a 1500kg braked tow capacity.

SUMMING UP

You've probably heard it before, but the Jolion is surprisingly good, offering plenty of car for a bargain price.

A friend recently bought one of these cars. When I told him I didn't have him pegged as a Haval buyer, he shrugged and said: "I needed a car now. I wasn't prepared to wait 12 months." So, everyone else's loss could be Great Wall's gain in this crazy, topsy-turvy world in which we now live.

PICK OF THE WEEK

THE MASKED SINGER AUSTRALIA
10, Sunday, 7.30pm

It's true that The Masked Singer Australia is a singing competition, but are viewers really tuning in for the songs and harmonies? Hardly. It's all about the extravagant, crazy and impressively creative dress-ups, with the entertaining panel of "guessers" the reliable backup entertainment. Season four kicks off tonight, with creatures such as Popcorn, Mirrorball, Snapdragon and Zombie hiding the identities of the competing celebrities. Host Osher Günsberg presents a refreshed selection of faces on the panel, with The Bachelor breakout star Abbie Chatfield joining the shenanigans, along with Mel B, Chrissie Swan and Dave Hughes.

WHAT'S ON THE BOX?

THE STREETS WITH DAN HONG

SBS Food,
Thursday, 8pm

Street food just never tastes the same when you Google a recipe and attempt to recreate it at home. But Aussie chef Dan Hong (pictured) is here to remedy that. With any luck, you won't have to impulsively board a plane to South America to get your hands on an authentic arepa or book a long holiday in Thailand to fill your hungry belly. Dan is here to crack the code on the world's most delicious street food, and anyone who is the slightest bit peckish should not miss it.

HARRY PALMER: THE IPCRESS FILE

Seven, Tuesday, 9.10pm

Slick, sophisticated and fun, this Cold War-era thriller, based on the classic '60s novel by Len Deighton, is a sparkling take on the spy genre. It features a stellar cast, including Lucy Boynton as master manipulator and spy Jean and Tom Hollander as the astute and measured Major Dalby, a veteran of the spy game. Peaky Blinders' baby-faced Joe Cole (pictured) is a treat as the titular Harry Palmer, an ex-soldier and convicted thief who becomes involved in an undercover mission involving a missing scientist, taking him from London to the Berlin Wall.

AFTER THE VERDICT

Nine, Wednesday, 8.45pm

If you've ever wished to be called up for jury duty, this crafty new Aussie miniseries will have you thinking twice. It's a top-shelf crime thriller with an engaging premise: four jurors who have just found a young woman not guilty of murder begin to question their decision as their lives all become entangled in the fallout. Featuring an outstanding cast, including Magda Szubanski (pictured) and Sullivan Stapleton (Blindspot), four very different jurors' lives are exposed as they begin to investigate the crime themselves.

Roosters on a roll

Robe 56 d Port MacDonnell 44

The Roosters claimed their ninth win of the season with an impressive performance against the Demons.

Robe started the game strongly with accurate shooting from Sarah Laurie and Demi Carter, as the pair defied the windy conditions to miss just one shot for the quarter.

Port MacDonnell's Toni Gilmore and Brooke Williams moved the ball well in the goal circle and also shot accurately but the home side held a five-goal lead at quarter time.

The second quarter was a more evenly contested when Gilmore took control in the circle and shot with impressive accuracy. Ellen Ramke stepped up for Robe at wing defence to put pressure on Narelle Lewis in the mid-court.

Alana Winter and Kate Winterfield stepped up in defence for the Demons and made Laurie and Carter work for every goal.

Both sides scored 12 goals for the quarter and the Roosters went into the main break with a 26-21 lead. Robe fired out of the blocks in the third quarter to extend the lead and take control of the game.

Laurie put in a dominant performance for the quarter and all seven players on the court for the Roosters put the Demons under pressure.

Emma Grant and Georgia Perkins got plenty of touches and rebounds as Robe's intensity lifted to extend the margin to 12 goals at three-quarter time.

The final quarter was an even contest as Robe ran out 12-goal winners.

Ramke and Laurie were the best players for the Roosters, while Gilmore and Jess Trench were the best on court for the Demons.

Sarah Laurie put in a strong performance during her side's win over Port MacDonnell on Saturday.

Undermanned Pies cruise to comfortable victory

Kalangadoo 52 d Nangwarry 36

Kalangadoo claimed a comfortable victory over Nangwarry in Round 15 of Mid South East netball.

Both sides entered the game with a number of key players out but the league-leaders flexed their strength with a dominant performance.

The Magpies got the early jump on the Saints when Kori Collins made the most of a turnover from the home side to give Kalangadoo the lead.

Kate Biszko and Demi Ingley worked tirelessly in defence for Nangwarry as they attempted to stop the Magpies' sharpshooter.

However, pinpoint passing from Kirsty Egan and Jayde Peacock, meant Collins was able to get plenty of opportunities early on.

Kylie Heaver worked hard for Nangwarry and drove the ball down the court well.

Heaver fed the ball to Ange Pratt and Tahlia Wilson with ease as the Saints trailed by six goals at the end of the first quarter.

Kalangadoo asserted its dominance in the second quarter when it scored the first four goals of the term.

Sophie Wrightson had a great battle with Heaver and did her best to stop Heaver's drive into the circle.

Collins was on fire and was supported in the goal circle by Anthea Paterson, which made life difficult for the Nangwarry defenders.

Peacock and Hayley Burner had a good tussle in the centre and both fed the ball well down the court for their teams, while Georgia Gentile and Reanna

Wetherall worked tirelessly in defence to limit the impact of Pratt and Wilson.

The away side went into the main break with a comfortable 10-goal lead.

In the third quarter, the Magpies got off to a strong start and made numerous intercepts in the defensive end, which they converted into goals.

Collins stood out again for Kalangadoo as she shot with high accuracy and continued to be well supported by Paterson.

Egan had an impressive quarter, which meant Nangwarry struggles to get the ball down the court.

The Saints were made to pay for their errors and the Magpies extended their lead to 17 goals at three-quarter time.

Nangwarry entered the final quarter with nothing to lose as Kate Biszko and Ingley worked hard to create turnovers for the home side.

Pratt and Wilson made the most of the turnovers as the Saints continued to fight until the end.

Nangwarry managed to outscore Kalangadoo in the final quarter as the away side claimed a 16-goal win.

Wetherall and Egan were the best on court with strong performance for the Magpies.

Murphies' grip firms

Glencoe 51 d Hatherleigh 41
Glencoe maintained its hold of second place with a solid win over Hatherleigh in Round 15 of Mid South East netball.

The Murphies started strong and were quick to add to the scoreboard. They got an early jump on the home side and scored the first six goals of the game.

Glencoe's Malinda Markiewicz and Jenna Paproth combined well and converted any opportunity which came their way.

The Eagles bounced back from their slow start and fought their way back into the contest with some quick turnovers from their defence.

Glencoe's Chloe Pfitzner and Hatherleigh's Georgia Hunter had a great tussle on and off the ball.

The game was fast and intense which saw every ball heavily contested.

The Murphies went into the first break with a four goal lead.

Glencoe started the second quarter strongly but Hatherleigh stepped up.

Sarah Edwards and Chantelle Cocks continued to shut down space in the goal circle for Maddie Redman and Abby Wight.

However, Hunter and Erin Watson continued to be patient and worked the ball around until they found Wight and Redman, who converted for their side.

The home side trailed by just three goals at the main break and brought Tegan Telfer into the game for the second half.

The Eagles started the second half strongly as they applied heavy defensive pressure.

However, Glencoe played with confidence and proved why it is a finals contender.

The defensive combination of Demi Vanderhorst, Lara MacGregor and Chelsea Galpin proved tough to get past.

Any highballs in the circle were snatched up by Vanderhorst, who was best on court for the home side.

Ashlea Edwards was solid for Glencoe and was able to feed the ball with accuracy and patience.

Markiewicz and Paproth were huge in the third quarter as they helped the Murphies take a nine-goal lead at three-quarter time.

The final quarter was an even contest but the visitors were able to extend their lead by one to claim a 10-goal win.

Cocks and Markiewicz were the best on court for Glencoe as the pair led their side to victory.

Tigers too good for Hawks

Tantanoola 73 d Kongorong 39
Tantanoola claimed an emphatic victory over Kongorong in Round 15 of Mid South East netball.

The Hawks won the toss and Tilah Buckingham converted the centre pass to give the visitors the first goal of the game.

The Tigers immediately responded with impressive ball movement and Casey Walker created a number of opportunities for the Tantanoola goalies.

Both sides shot the ball accurately in the first quarter and the home side took a 17-11 lead at quarter time.

The Tigers took further control of the game with impressive defensive pressure when the second quarter got underway.

Kate Bromley and Tayla Rowe started the second quarter strongly and were in a mission as they hunted down loose passes and forced turnovers from Kongorong.

Emma Gould put in an impressive performance and scored 16 goals for the term.

After a strong half, the Tigers extended their lead to 16 and did not look back for the rest of the game.

Kongorong made changes in the third quarter and moved Emily Lightbody to goalkeeper and Tori McIntyre to wing defence, in an attempt to bring Gould to a halt.

The Hawks' height in defence forced a number of wayward passes from the Tigers and the visitors looked to capitalise on the opportunities presented.

However, Tantanoola was too strong as it held a 55-31 lead with one quarter to play.

The home side cruised to victory in the final quarter as it defeated Kongorong by 34 goals.

Bromley and Gould were the best on court in a dominant performance from the Tigers.

Depleted Eagles toppled at home

By James Murphy

Glencoe 13.8 (86) d Hatherleigh 10.19 (79)

Glencoe’s run of success continued in impressive fashion on Saturday when the Murphies claimed their fourth win on the trot against second-placed Hatherleigh.

The Eagles hosted the clash and were without the services of Mark Marriott on the day due to state commitments.

Inaccuracy cost the home team on the day with 19 behinds.

That started early in the piece and at the first change Glencoe held a three-point lead with two less scoring shots.

More of the same followed in the second quarter as Hatherleigh stacked on one goal and seven behinds, while the Murphies kicked surely to convert four majors and a behind.

At the main break the lead was 15 but the Eagles surged in the “premiership” quarter and tightened things back up heading into the final stanza.

They managed to straighten things up in front of the big sticks to reel the margin back in to two points and set up an exciting fourth term.

“We always knew they were going to come, they are a very good side,” Glencoe coach Tom Edwards said.

“We just had to weather the storm when they did come and then capitalise when we could go forward.

“I think the lead changed in the last quarter two or three times but we managed to be relentless and keep getting back on top.”

Glencoe held firm and claimed a big scalp for the season, much to Edwards’ delight.

“We certainly gave ourselves a chance with the form we have been in over the last month,” he said.

“We just had to go out and play our style of footy and that is what we did.

“We put a big emphasis on winning the ball first and once we did that we could move it forward and we did that all day.”

Alex Hentschke was a focal point in the Murphies’ attack and finished his day with a game-high five goals.

“He has been building over the last couple of weeks,” Edwards said.

“He has really been working on his craft and he had an awesome game, everything stuck for him on the weekend.

“He was also swapping into the ruck as well - we had our ruckman out with a broken finger.

“He had to help out a bit in the ruck duties as well, which he did really well at.”

Dylan Pfitzner and Jake Blackwell were also solid up front with three and two goals respectively.

However, it was the efforts from Patrick

Mitchell which were recognised as the best for the game.

His work off half back and through the mid-field was second to none, while Zacc Cocks was also impressive through there.

“They are both having really good years,” Edwards said.

“In particular on Saturday they both just won the contested ball.

“They were both really in and under and beat their opponents to the ball all day.”

Pfitzner and Alex and Ben Hentschke rounded out the best in yet another strong team effort.

For the home team it was Joe Rayson who impressed, while Jordan Galpin, Jett Faulkner and Darcy Bateman were solid also.

Bradley Mitchell was the main contributor in front of goals with three, while Patrick Chay and Sam Telfer bagged two each.

While it remains statistically possible for Glencoe to scrape into the top four, it would rely on Mount Burr not winning another game for the year.

The Mozzies face Nangwarry this round, which will quench that slim chance.

However, their current form does bode well for the Murphies moving forward if they can retain numbers and form over the off-season.

For the second-placed Eagles they will look to straighten things up in front of goal as they approach finals in a few week’s time.

Win on road

By James Murphy

Port macdonnell 11.11 (77) d Robe 5.4 (34)

Port MacDonnell had a successful road trip to fellow seaside rival Robe on Saturday.

The Demons returned home with a 43-point win in an important win for their hopes to go deep into finals.

They are all but cemented inside the top four now, as they hold third place on nine wins, while Robe sits in fifth place two wins behind with three rounds to play.

One more win will guarantee Port MacDonnell plays finals and has a chance to defend its title.

On Saturday it was an even start to the Round 15 clash, with seven points each scored in the opening term.

The breeze, which favoured the southern end, turned to the Demons’ favour in the second quarter and they managed to take the lead with four goals to the Roosters’ one.

Port MacDonnell coach Simon Merrett said he felt good heading into the long break with a 16-point lead.

“We were about two-and-a-half goals up, but we were really confident we were controlling the game,” he said.

“We were winning the possession battle, maintaining possession and we owned the territory as well.

“Even though it wasn’t a five or six goal lead, we were really confident our game was where it needed to be.”

Another even quarter followed half time, with the margin at 14 points at the final break.

However, a big effort in the fourth quarter saw the guests with a return of 5.5 to Robe’s single goal, which pushed the difference out to 43 by the final siren.

Merrett was pleased with the result, with straight kicking his only critique as the Demons scored 11.11 for the day.

“We are probably not quite sure where our legs are at - with the training conditions down at Port Mac we have been keeping off the oval a bit,” he said.

“So to run over a good side like that on a dry deck, I am really happy with where everything is at.”

Merrett gave credit to several areas of the ground where his Demons excelled.

“We were on top in centre clearances, but our back six were amazing,” he said.

“It was probably the best game they have played together for the whole season.

“They gave up nine scoring shots from roughly 30 inside 50’s, so they were really tight and made it really hard for Robe to score.

“That gave us a lot of confidence going forward.”

An even contribution on the scoreboard had Alex Ridding, Tim Sullivan and Kev Thomson all bag two goals each, while it was Kyall McClean’s efforts in a new position which earned him the best-on-ground award.

“He played a little bit forward on the weekend,” Merrett said.

“There are a few guys we are playing with some different roles, just to find out where everything sits going into finals.

“Kyall was fantastic on the weekend.”

Rhys Timms and Ridding were also solid, while Thomson, Ethan Gladman and Will MacDonald rounded out the best. For the Roosters it was Samuel Clements who performed best, while Thomas Wachtel was also solid as he played in full back on MacDonald.

Thomas Miller was the only multiple goal scorer with two, while Clements, Jack Sneath and Kaden Woodward all kicked singles.

Looking forward and Robe faces a possibly season-ending fixture this round when they visit ladder leader Kalangadoo, while Port MacDonnell host Tantanoola in a game which should cement its place in finals.

Magpies take flight in breezy encounter

By James Murphy

Kalangadoo 20.18 (138) d Nangwarry 6.3 (39)

The Magpies swooped on another percent-age-boosting victory when they visited Nang-warry on Saturday.

There was no denying Kalangadoo was the sure favourite for the Round 15 clash, but the Saints will take merit from a hard-fought performance.

They went down by 99 points in the end - a far cry from the 198 loss in Round 6.

A strong breeze favoured one end and the Saints held the advantage in the opening term.

The result was an even quarter with two goals each and Kalangadoo sat three points up at the change.

However, as the wind traded hands the Magpies spread their wings and piled on eight goals before half time, while leaving the Saints scoreless for the quarter.

To the host’s credit they outscored their op-ponent in the third quarter four goals to two and reeled the margin back in to 45.

It was a valiant effort, but when the Mag-pies booted another eight unanswered goals in the fourth, the margin blew beyond reach.

Kalangadoo coach Kevin Stark gave credit to the Saints, whose work rate he said did not lapse at any stage throughout the game.

“They really made us work for it all day, which is good signs for them and good for us that we had to work for it too,” he said.

“They came out with really good intent early and it took us a little bit just to get into our grind.

“They didn’t drop off all day, they really kept working.

“We felt in control, but I felt like they had a constant pressure on us.”

Andrew Stone put in a best-on-ground performance through the midfield during the Magpies’ 99-point win over Nangwarry. Picture: FILE IMAGE

There was no single target in Kalangadoo’s attack and the Saints’ defence was left guess-ing as five players snagged three goals each.

Ben Gregory, Michael Krieger, Ben Mules, Andrew Stone and Justin Bromley all found the big sticks frequently, while Sam McManus also scored multiple with two.

Stone put in a strong performance for the Magpies and was recognised as best on ground.

“He just worked really hard through the midfield all day,” Stark said.

“He got a lot of the ball, used it well and worked hard in and under on the footy.

“Then he did the same when play tran-sitioned to the outside - his work rate really showed through.”

Gregory was also solid, while Mitchel Lowe and Josh La Rocca featured highly as well in what Stark described as another strong team performance.

For the Saints Andrew Hyland and Joel Vir-tanen were the focal points with three and two goals respectively.

Virtanen also featured highly in the best, while it was Isaac Raymond who received the best-on-ground honours in a performance which had plenty of positives for the wooden spooners.

Stark said the focus for his team now is to just take things a week at a time as Kalangadoo looks to continue building momentum.

A win against Robe this weekend would lock in a top-two finish, with finals just around the corner.

Tigers tamed by Hawks

By Lachlan Onions

Kongorong 18.20 (128) d Tantanoola 6.7 (43)

In the clash between seventh and eighth on the ladder, the Hawks tamed the Ti-gers with a dominant four-quarter per-formance.

Despite the home-ground advan-tage, Tantanoola was unable to trouble Kongorong in the first quarter and the visitors led 24-0 at quarter time.

The Tigers managed to get on the scoreboard in the second quarter but there was little to no reprieve for the home side, after the Hawks kicked five majors in the second term, which ex-tended the lead to 35 points at the main break.

The onslaught continued in the third quarter when Kongorong added anoth-er six goals and led by 61 points with one quarter to play.

The Hawks then kicked four goals to the Tigers’ one in the final quarter as the away side claimed an emphatic 85-point win.

Jarrold Ryan put in a strong perfor-mance with four majors for the game.

Michael Waters was the best player for the Hawks with an all-round impres-sive display which included a goal.

Jett Attard also kicked one major and was named second-best on ground for Kongorong, while Aaron Lightbody was named amongst the Hawks’ best for the fifth game in a row.

Kongorong has now won two of its last three games and is seventh on the ladder with four wins for the season.

Comp enters business end

By Lachlan Onions

Round 16 of Mid South Eastern football sets itself up to be a round of rather one-sided contests but there is still the possibility of up-sets, as was proven last week, when Glencoe defeated Hatherleigh away from home.

With just three rounds to play until finals, those in the top four cannot afford to slip-up, while Robe, who has been in pursuit for the last month, will need to pull a rabbit out of the hat to give itself a chance of finals football.

Kongorong v Hatherleigh

Hatherleigh will look to bounce back from its shock-loss in Round 15, with a strong performance against Kongorong on Saturday.

Despite, their defeat last week, the Eagles will still be confident they can claim an important four points as Port MacDonnell will look to capitalise on any errors from the Eagles.

Back in Round 7, Hatherleigh claimed a dominant 128-point win over Kongorong.

The Eagles flew out of the blocks and led by 56 points after just one quarter.

Jordan Galpin was player of the match and Jack Skeer kicked seven goals for the game.

The Hawks have been on an impressive run over the last month and will expect to put in a better performance than last time they played the Eagles.

The home side have won two of their last three games and put up a strong fight in their loss to Robe in Round 14.

Aaron Lightbody will be a crucial player for Kongorong, as his consistency has been key to his side, who have racked up four wins for the season.

Hatherleigh will look to cause all sorts of problems for the Kongorong defence, with Brad Mitchell, Jake Dowdy and Sam Telfer all dangerous inside 50.

Mitchell leads the goalkickers for the Eagles this season, with 35 majors for the season.

Hatherleigh will prove too strong for Kongorong and should comfortably win this match but Kongorong will out up a far better fight than they did in Round 7.

Mount Burr v Nangwarry

Mount Burr returns home for the first time since June on Saturday.

The Mozzies will be refreshed and ready to make their final push for finals after a bye last week.

Mount Burr has impressed in the second half of this season, when it went on a seven-game winning streak.

The Mozzies' last game was a loss to Kalangadoo and they will be eager to return to from when they host Nangwarry.

When these two sides last met, Mount Burr won by 87 points.

Josh Fiebig was player of the match and Hamish Smith kicked five goals for the game.

Smith has been dominant this season and the Saints' defenders will need to shut him down the best they can, as he has kicked 44 majors for the season.

Luke Thomson will be a key player for Nangwarry as well as Joel Virtanen and Andrew Hyland.

Hyland has kicked the second-most goals for the season with 51.

The Saints head into the game off the back of a difficult loss to Kalangadoo, where they lost by 99 points at home.

Mount Burr is currently fourth on the ladder and will want to win to keep itself comfortably ahead of Robe and begin its run towards finals football.

The Mozzies will claim a relatively easy victory on their home deck.

Port MacDonnell v Tantanoola

The Tigers will make a trip to the Bay on Saturday and will hope they can put in a better performance than last week.

In a game which was expected to be a close contest, Tantanoola was comprehensively defeated at home by Kongorong, while Port MacDonnell will be full of confidence as it is now almost certain to make finals, thanks to an important win over Robe in Round 14.

When these two sides met earlier this season, the Demons took the honours with a 65-point win.

The Tigers were restricted to just one goal for the first half and faced an uphill battle for the rest of the game.

Jack Dawe will look to put in a strong performance when Tantanoola takes on Port MacDonnell.

Kyall McClean was best on ground for the Demons, while Kev Thomson led the goalkickers with five for the game.

Thomson and Tim Sullivan will be key players for Port MacDonnell and Tantanoola will need to restrict their impact the best it can.

Thomson has kicked 33 majors this season, while Sullivan has been a consistent contributor with 26 for the season.

Jack Dawe has been a key player for Tantanoola and will be one to watch.

The Demons have won nine games this season and will be confident they can claim another win on Saturday.

The Tigers have lost their last eight matches and have a difficult run for the rest of the season.

Port MacDonnell will prove to strong at home and should easily claim the win on Saturday.

Kalangadoo v Robe

In the match of the round, Kalagadoo will look to seal top spot on the ladder with a win over Robe.

The Roosters will need to defeat the Magpies if they are to have any chance of making finals.

In the Round 7 clash, Kalangadoo won at the seaside by 134 points.

Sam and Tye McManus were the two best players for the Magpies and have been some of the most consistent performers in the league this season.

Michael Krieger led the goalkickers in the game at Robe with six.

Krieger has been in unstoppable form this year with 62 majors for the year and is on course to kick the most goals in the league.

Kalangadoo will welcome back Pat Davies, who was absent from the Magpies side who defeated Nangwarry last weekend, as he was a part of the SA Country side which defeated WA Country at the Adelaide Oval on Saturday.

Tom Wachtel will be a key player in the ruck for Robe and has been named amongst the best players for his side the most, while Tom Miller will need to put in a strong performance if the Roosters are to have any chance on Saturday.

The Magpies' talent is near endless with unrivalled squad depth and they should comfortably claim the win this weekend.

Brad Mitchell will look to continue his impressive season in the forward line when the Eagles take on the Hawks.

Finals in their sights

Port Macdonnell v Tantanoola

Port MacDonnell hosts Tantanoola for the Mid South East netball match of the round this week.

After a close result back in Round 6, the Tigers will look for redemption.

They will look to Casey Walker and Madi Kelly for accurate feeding into Emma Gould and Jami Walker in the circle.

However, Port MacDonnell defenders Alana Winter and Belinda O'Dine will put the pressure on and make them earn every goal.

The experience and accuracy of Toni Gilmore paired with Brooke Williams in the goal circle will leave minimal opportunities for Tigers' defenders.

With three minor rounds to play, the Tigers sit in fourth and will be eager to lock themselves in finals contention, while the Demons are down in seventh but can statistically still sneak into the four.

This game has the potential to go either way, with plenty riding on the win for both sides.

Kalangadoo v Robe

Kalangadoo is set to host Robe this weekend for Round 16 of Mid South East netball in what will likely be a close game.

Robe's strength in the goal circle through Halle Carter and Sarah Laurie will mean Kalangadoo defenders Reanna Wetherall and Lauren Kain will have to work overtime to shut down their influence.

Down the other end of the court Abbey Duncan and Kori Collins combine well and shoot with accuracy for the Magpies.

They are fed well from outside the circle by Jayde Peacock and Kirsty Egan.

The match up of Lucy Perkins and Sophie Wrightson on the wing will be one to watch, with both fighting for every ball.

After a tough game Kalangadoo will come away with the win again, but Robe will not go down without a fight.

Mount Burr v Nangwarry

The Saints head to Mount Burr this weekend

Reanna Wetherall will look to deny Robe goalies opportunity under the post when the Magpies host the Roosters this week.

to face off against the Mozzies.

The defensive combination of Mount Burr's Madi Haggett and Olivia Dean has proven to be a formidable force this season and they will put the pressure on for Tahlia Wilson and Ange Pratt.

Nangwarry's Kylie Heaven works hard for every possession and feeds into the circle with ease.

The tussle between Nangwarry's Hayley Burner and Mount Burr's Laura Schultz through the centre will be one to watch, as both players fight for every pass and chase loose balls with determination.

Mozzies Ebony Clark and Zoe Brown combine well in the goal circle and Saints' defenders will have to work hard to shut them down.

Mount Burr will finish the day with the points.

Kongorong v Hatherleigh

The Eagles head down to Kongorong on Saturday to face off against the young Hawks.

Hatherleigh's defensive combination of Demi Vanderhorst, Lara MacGregor and Chelsea Galpin has proven difficult for oppositions to find avenues to goal.

Tilah Buckingham and Evie Sealey combine well in the goal circle for the Hawks and both shoot with accuracy.

They will need to be at their best again, while the height of the Kongorong defensive line through Emily Lightbody and Riley Buckingham will also be looked to.

They will need to provide a challenge for Hatherleigh's Tegan Telfer and Erin Watson as they look to feed into the goal circle.

The added pressure of Lynley Page on the circle edge will also create more pressure on the feeding, but Hatherleigh's attack line will rise to the challenge.

After a tough battle all down the court, the Eagles will come away with the win.

Saint Demi reaches milestone

Demi Hoffmeister comes from a strong Tarpeena family and made her 100th appearance for the Nangwarry Netball Club on Saturday.

She started her career with the Tarpeena junior netball sides but joined Nangwarry in 2014 to join her sister Kayla, who was already with the Saints.

During her time at Nangwarry, Hoffmeister won a B Grade premiership in 2015.

She has also won individual accolades with the Saints and has also played in the A and A Reserves teams in the past.

Hoffmeister also got the opportunity to play with her sister Kayla and this was a highlight for her.

After she spent some time away from netball, she returned when Nangwarry was short with players this season and joined the A Reserves team halfway through the season to help out.

Hoffmeister has always been a good club person and will contribute in any way she can around the Club.

She also helps out with umpiring and will help other teams score or time games.

Although Hoffmeister did not start her career at Nangwarry, she loves the club likes she has been there her whole life and has made life-long friendships.

Her love of netball is inherited from her mother Donna Gray, who lived and breathed netball and this is where her girls' passion for the sport has come from and they often say their role model, was their mum.

Hoffmeister has a great supporter base, as her family is always at the club to support her whenever she plays.

Lowndes racks up 200 games for club

Stacey Lowndes will play her 200th game for the Mount Burr Netball Club on Saturday.

She began at the club in 2005 and has played the majority of her games in the A and A reserve sides.

This year, she is playing coach of the B Grade team.

Lowndes is a determined defensive player who makes her opponent work hard for every possession.

She has had individual success and won the best and fairest for the A Reserves side in 2016 and 2018, she was also a runner-up in 2017.

Lowndes is a valued club person who is a committee member, umpire, scorer, timer and coach.

She has regularly filled in to umpire most weeks and supported the young coaches to have courts set up for home games.

Lowndes is also a member of the Mount Burr Football and Netball Club Social Club and has helped organise functions and events.

The family is dedicated to the club, as her husband Henry has helped the B Grade football side over the years, while her children also play junior netball.

Weekly honours to Carnellor and Madden

A field of 40 contested the Millicent Bowls Club's 2-4-2 event last week.

Fortunes were high as the rain held off until the final rink had finished its game.

This time it was vice president Steve Carnellor and John Madden who paired up for the win with a score of 33+10.

They were followed by Mary Clifford and Briant Goode in second on 32+16.

Other winners on the day were Frank Cooper and Ian Ross (32+12), Denis Clifford and Derek Bowring (31+10), Jan Buhlmann and John Scudds (31+7), Gary Wilson and Peter Scanlon (31+4), Ross Warren and Kym Stewart (30+8), Bob Baxter and Derrick Lindh (30+4), Joy Warren and Terry Barnes (30+2), plus Jim Campbell and Tim Grosvenor (29+2).

On the day Aaron Emonson also asked bowlers to put their names down to register for the pennant competitions, which includes the women's Friday, mid-week Open and Saturday Open divisions.

It is important for selectors to know how many players they have for each competition.

Saints fight hard for win

“Sam Willis, Kade Varcoe and Josh Werchon we thought were also really good over four quarters.
“They worked hard and got plenty of the footy.”
The Saints were without the services of Jacob Carger on the day, along with ruckmen Sam Waring and Finn Grimes, while young-gun Frazer Bradley was absent for state country commitments.
However, with finals just two weeks away, Gallio is confident Millicent will be at full strength come the business end of the year.
For the Bulldogs it was once again the efforts from youngster Shaun Lock which stood out.
His work rate and intensity through the midfield was superb, while fellow young-gun Jack Lawrence backed up a good performance last round with another solid game.
Goals were shared around for East as well, with Riley Flamank, Patrick Hatch, Rumbelow and co-coach Matt Scanlon all bagging two.
While it will be back to the drawing board for the Bulldogs as they play their final game of 2022 this weekend, Millicent faces a qualifying final preview against South Gambier.

Keeping Dogs at bay

Millicent 51 d East Gambier 45
Millicent was in control of its clash with East Gambier for the first three quarters which was enough to deter a late charge from the Bulldogs and claim the Round 15 honours.
The Saints led by six, nine and 12 goals at each change before East powered back in the final quarter to trim the final deficit to six.
The only real concern for the Saints was it was the second successive week where a steady lead turned into a nail-biter courtesy of a last-quarter fade out.
Millicent shooter Tabatha Sanderson was strong under the post for the visitors and the supply she received from Demi Verbena, Paige Nitschke and Lisa Duldig was perfect.
Their slick movement prevented East defenders Morgan Amy and Bo Creek from having an impact on the scoring.
At the other end the defensive pressure from the Saints was also on full display.
Portia McRae, Hannah Nitschke, Georgia Clarke and Duldig held up the Bulldogs and made it difficult for their goalers to secure enough ball to stay in touch on the scoreboard.
Amryn Bosko was the key target for East in the opening half and she finished with good accuracy.
However, it was not until the final quarter where the Bulldogs had enough scoring opportunities that Bosko and Sarah Lock were really able to shine, when they netted 15 from 16.
The hard running of Tarsh McCallum was also critical for East but in the end the Saints were in control, with Sanderson holding strongly, Duldig leading the mid court and the young defensive end continuing to get the job done.
The Saints are locked in second place heading into the final minor round and face the young Demons' for Round 16.
Millicent will be heavily favoured while it stands as South Gambier's final chance to slip into finals.
An upset is unlikely but if the Saints decide to rest some bodies prior to finals, the Demons might pounce on the opportunity.

Tabatha Sanderson's efforts under the post earned her Millicent's best player honours against East Gambier.

Minor round draws to a close on thriller

By James Murphy
South Gambier v Millicent
The final minor round of Western Border football is upon us and it will provide a glimpse into the approaching qualifying final when Millicent visits South Gambier.
Both teams have set the benchmark of the competition this season and will play each other for the fourth time on Saturday.
Their previous clashes have shared the honours with the Demons on two wins, including the most recent Round 11 match-up.
Ironically, both of those games were played in Millicent, while the Saints' win over South came at Blue Lake Sports Park in Round 6.
The outcome will have no effect on ladder position and as such line-ups are difficult to accurately predict, with the possibility of resting players.
However, Millicent coach Clint Gallio said that would not be the case for his team.
“We will play everyone who is available and go out and try to win a game of footy,” he said.
“Even though we will play them again in a couple of week's time, we want to make sure we are getting games and a bit of continuity within our team.”
“We are not going to rest anyone or stuff like that.”
Last time the sides met South set itself up early with a strong opening quarter on the way to an eventual 57-point victory.
Coach Brayden Kain and Colby Munro led the charge in front of goals with six and four respectively.
In Kain's absence last round due to state commitments, Munro stepped up again to bag five goals and the best-on-ground honours.
Fellow young gun Mitchell Sims has also been prolific inside 50 in recent rounds, while Brodie Foster is always reliable up front.
Down the other end, the return of Todd Reid will bolster the Demons' defence and provide a challenge for Millicent's attack.
For the Saints, Dylan Bromley continues to be the main target up front, while the likes of Kalan Shanks is likely to receive another key defender role.
Hamish Nitschke, Sam Willis and Kade Varcoe come off solid outings last round, Millicent's Sam Willis carries form into this week's clash with South Gambier which will wrap up the Western Border football minor rounds.

while both Jacob Carger and Frazer Bradley are expected to return this week.

The match looms as somewhat of a crystal ball for the final to come and will be one not to miss as the minor round competition wraps up for 2022.

Ex-Eagle on world stage

By Lachlan Onions

Former Penola ruckman, Jason Nysten, will don the Canadian National Team colours in this year's AFL International Parallel Cup.

The Parallel Cup is contested between the USA and Canada, the clash will take place in Toronto at Colonel Samuel Smith Park on August 13.

Nysten joined the Penola Football Club in 2018, with no experience in the sport.

Penola coach Brad Maney, was full of praise for the Canadian, who he played alongside in 2018 and 2019.

"He (Nysten) was a funny one, he came out to training at the start of 2018 having never touched a football," Maney said.

"By halfway through that year he was in our A Grade team.

"He's just an absolutely incredible person the community adored."

The Canadian eventually developed into one of the best ruckmen in the Kowree Naracoorte Tatiara Football League by the time he finished with the Eagles.

"He was a physical presence, he was aggressive, his kicking was never much to behold but he was a great mark and just made an impact physically," Maney said.

"You don't know what you go until its gone, since he's been gone these last two years, we've realised just how good on field and how good he was as a person around the club.

Maney lauded Nysten for the way in which he adapted to the game.

"I think it definitely shocks when a person hasn't touched a football ever and they can turn around in six months to be in your A Grade team," Maney said.

"He always wanted to learn and wanted to be the best footballer he could be.

"We had a game against Kingston one day and his brother had flown over from Canada to watch him.

"He was able to kick a couple of goals and it is one of those moments you never forget."

After a successful stint Down Under, Nysten now plays football in Alberta for the Calgary Kangaroos.

"I'm still of the opinion if he kept at it and was still living in Australia, I think he would be the Interleague ruckman and could be making his way as a zone footballer," Maney said.

"His talent and ability to improve is far greater than anything I've seen."

Croweaters best inter-state rivals at Adelaide Oval

By James Murphy

South Australian Country claimed the state bragging rights over Western Australia at Adelaide Oval on Saturday night.

Played as a curtain-raiser to the Adelaide v Carlton AFL match, the SA Country side boasted seven South East talents, including Millicent's Frazer Bradley, who was the youngest player in the side.

Kalangadoo's Pat Davies and Hatherleigh's Mark Marriott also took to the field, in what concluded as a 27-point victory to the Croweaters.

The experience was made all the more special after a prolonged hiatus from country state football, with the last match held in 2019 due to the disruptions of Covid in recent years.

The game itself was won off a commanding first half, where SA was out of the blocks early to put themselves in the box seat.

They held Western Australia to a single behind in the first term, while CMC Crows' Ben Edwards was prolific up forward for South Australia to score three of his four goals and set up an 18-point lead by the first change.

The dominance continued in the second term and by half time the Croweaters had established a 36-point lead.

An even third term followed the main break, before Western Australia restored some honour with a four-goal return in the final quarter.

However, the damage had been done and SA held on for the win.

Naracoorte's Matt Willson was in exceptional form and his on-ball efforts and pin-point deliveries earned him the Barry Stringer medal for best on ground.

He also captained the team in what was an impressive all-round performance.

South East Regional Football Director Scott Duncan attended the game and was pleased to see the spectacle return to Adelaide Oval.

"It was great to have state country footy back," he said.

"It hasn't been played since 2019 so it was really good to give all the players that opportunity to play on Adelaide Oval and represent their state."

He was impressed by the standard of football on show and pleased South Australia was able to come away with the result.

"It was a good game to watch - the standard

South Australia's Country state team claimed the bragging rights over Western Australia in their AFL curtain-raising clash at Adelaide Oval on Saturday. Picture: PETER ARGENT was pretty high," Duncan said.

"WA moved the ball fairly quickly when they got hold of it.

"We were able to counter that and put some early goals on the board which helped us."

Crowd numbers reached over 35,000 for the AFL match and Duncan suspected around half of those were present towards the end of the state game.

He said it was a great experience for both teams, especially with the youth of the SA team this year.

"It was a really good day," Duncan said.

"From my point of view all of the players were really good, in terms of the way they performed and the respect they showed to each other and all the officials."

Duncan said Willson was a cut above as usual and a deserving recipient of the Barry Stringer medal.

"He played on the ball and rotated on the wing a little bit and he was a shining light for us," Duncan said.

"He doesn't waste a disposal when he gets the ball."

However, Duncan was impressed by all South East players and said they were each played vital roles in the victory.

"The coach Rick MacGowan set the players different tasks and everyone performed well," he said.

"I was happy with all the South East boys.

"Everyone played their role and they did a good job."

The win caps off a successful period for Limestone Coast football, following South East's win at the SA Country Championships two week's prior.

Riders jostle for position at the first turn of the race at Coonawarra on Sunday.

Junior riders scramble to take on Coonawarra tracks

By Lachlan Onions

The Mount Gambier Junior Motorcycle Club held its latest event on Sunday at Coonawarra.

The event was the sixth round of the Grass Track series and had more than 80 entrants.

"The turnout is not too bad, the numbers were a little bit low, the weather probably drew a few people away," Mount Gambier Junior Motorcycle Club vice-president Danny Habets said.

He said the club has over 100 competitors take part in the events but the numbers were lower this month due to a number of factors.

Habets has been a member of the club's committee for more than four years and has stepped up to vice-president this year.

He said there are two more events left in the series before the main showcase event at the Millicent Show.

Habets expects a good crowd for the Millicent Stadium-Cross which is run on the Friday night of the show.

Brooke Marcus was one the competitors who was in action on Sunday and recently returned from a race in Adelaide.

"I have been competing since I was nine years-old," Marcus said.

She said her father got her into the sport as he bought her a bike when she was young and has competed for 10 years.

series and she said she was in the top six for the South Australian Titles.

Max Midwinter has been one to watch this year and raced at the Coonawarra track on Sunday.

"I've been racing since I was about five years old," he said.

"Dad used to race when he was younger, so he got me into it and I've been racing since then."

Midwinter won a state title last year and is eager to continue his success further.

He said the state title victory was the highlight of his career.

Midwinter's form has continued into this year as he is in the lead of the SA Off-Road State Titles.

Hard-fought win to Saints

In a fixture which had no effect on ladder positions, East Gambier put up a valiant fight against a visiting Millicent outfit in Round 15 of Western Border football.

The game between sixth and second opened as a goal-for-goal affair, before the Saints capped off the first quarter with a couple of unanswered goals to be up by 14 points at the first change.

However, as the wind advantage swapped hands in the second the Bulldogs were able to chip back the deficit with three goals to Millicent's two.

At half time the game was still up for grabs with the hosts down by 10.

The Saints extended their lead in the third quarter, but the Bulldogs remained within reach.

However, an even fourth term on the scoreboard prevented a comeback and Millicent claimed the points by 24 after a hard battle.

"It was just one of those games where it was a real tight contest right to the end," Millicent coach Clint Gallio said.

"We probably didn't play our greatest footy and that was credit to them.

"Their pressure was outstanding and their tackling pressure was really good I thought."

Following a nine-goal haul from Dylan Bromley the previous round, it was a more even spread for the Saints on Saturday.

Bromley was still a target and had plenty of opportunities, but finished with just the three goals on the day.

Sam Willis matched that feat, while Ty Lang and Nathaniel Robbins both kicked two.

It was the young brigade which stood up on the day and Kalan Shanks earned himself the best-on-ground honours for his defensive efforts on East's Mark Rumbelow.

"We had some really good contributors and most of them were young boys," Gallio said.

"Kalan Shanks did a really good job on Rumbelow, who is a quality player.

"For a 16-year-old kid to battle away like he did was really pleasing.
