Birthday wishes for a grand lady

There was cause for celebration in Millicent last week, as matriarch of the Williams family Dardanella Williams turned 106.

Born on August 2, 1916, Mrs Williams has lived a long life of love and celebrated the occasion surrounded by her friends and family.

Her loved ones shared stories and fond memories of 'Aunty Dell', who now resides at Boneham Aged Care Services.

Plan for progress

By Elsie Adamo

Wattle Range Council endorsed its new Draft Strategic Land Use Plan at a meeting this week following the consultation.

The new plan will help guide the Council on local land matters until 2047 and looks at all townships within the Wattle Range area.

The plan identified Millicent as the key service centre for the district, with 13 key actions to guide the town's land into the future.

Actions in the plan for Millicent:

- Support the development of Millicent's town centre consistent with the Town Centre Concept Design, including potential residential development which is ancillary to, or does not prejudice the operation of, commercial facilities.

- Support the development of age-friendly housing including Independent Living Units and Residential Aged Care, particularly close to the town centre, including with public realm upgrades.

- Support the development of the railway lands precinct, including seeking a rezoning of the site under the Planning and Design Code.

- Seek to amend the Planning and Design Code to rezone Lake McIntyre to a Zone reflective of its use for recreational purposes and an important space for biodiversity.

- Support, in principle, industrial development in the Strategic Employment Zone to the west of the town.

Take the lead

Youth with disability have the opportunity to enrol in the Empowering Able Young Leaders program for a free face-to-face workshop aimed at those aged between 16-30.

Anyone within this age range that identifies as having a disability, chronic illness, being blind, vision impaired or deaf, neurodiverse and/or lived experience of mental health issues is welcome to attend the workshops.

The first of four events is this Saturday, August 13, 10am-2pm at the Millicent Library and based on self discovery.

This session aims to help participants identify or find positive traits about themselves as a leader, work out what kind of things they would like to develop and capture their goals with the aim to identify what support and skills may be needed to achieve those goals.

Three more weekly workshops will follow including planning for the future, communication and teamwork, and advocacy, access and inclusion.

Guest speakers for the event include, Brady Wilson, Tessa Deak, Shelley Irwin and Jed Altschwager.

Registering for the event can be done online via Eventbrite or contact the Wattle Range Council for more information.

Photo call

Photographers are encouraged to submit their images taken within the Wattle Range Council (WRC) area in the last two years for the 2022 WRC Photographic Competition.

This year's competition will take on a similar format to the 2021 virtual exhibition with entrants submitting their selected photos in digital format only.

Organisers will hang seven entries per category in the gallery with all other submissions displayed on two screens inside the gallery throughout the exhibition.

The competition began in 2007 and has continued to develop, regularly exhibiting over 400 photographic entries.

$3,000 in prize money and 10 categories ensure it attracts a wide range of photographers and subjects photographed with images from the exhibition selected for use in WRC's promotional material.

Digital entries close on September 10 and the exhibition will open to the public on Sunday, September 18.

Further information is available via the WRC website, Millicent library and Gallery or council office on 8733 0900.

Art invitation

2022 celebrates 30 years of the Millicent Gallery and the call has gone out for artists to enter this years Wattle Range Art Exhibition to help mark the occasion.

The exhibition is an annual event highlighting the diversity of Wattle Range and its people through the arts.

Wide-ranging subject matter and medium are features of the exhibition with artists from across the region submitting work for display.

Categories include painting, printmaking and drawing, textile art, mixed media and sculpture in any medium.

The exhibition includes awards for youth, first time entrant, mayoral award and the overall Wattle Range art prize.

Entries close on November 1 and the exhibition opening is planned for Friday, November 11.

Cash for community

By Caroline Hammat

Community, sporting and recreation groups are now invited to apply for Wattle Range Council's (WRC) current round of grant funding.

The funding consists of Community Financial Assistance Grants up to $2,000, Sport and Recreation Grants up to $2,000 and Community Infrastructure Grants up to $50,000.

Millicent Bowling Club were one of four clubs to receive an Infrastructure Grant in the last round, successfully applying for and receiving $13,143 to underground their power supply with a last minute application.

Last year the club had received notification of a successful Federal Government grant from the Office for recreation, sport and racing for $43,300 to build a new shelter between the A greens.

Finding out after the paperwork had been filed and approved that the work could not begin until the power line that ran above the existing shelters was removed.

"The people who were going to put it up weren't allowed to work under the lines, plus if the lines break or something then you're in trouble." Steve Carnellor Vice President of the club said.

Club secretary Sarah Ross said "It was perfect timing, when we found out we that we had to do it we only had a week to put the grant application in.

"We weren't thinking of applying for it until this came up.

"If we knew beforehand that the lines had to be shifted we would've factored that into our original grant, but we didn't and it was the Wattle Range grant to the rescue."

The Federal grant assisted in funding the installation of the new shelter and extensive paving and the WRC Infrastructure Grant covered the cost of removing the stobie pole, putting the power underground and upgrading and moving the existing power box.

Both grants required a 50 percent contribution from the club.

Ms Ross spoke highly of the assistance received from council during the process "There is someone at the council who can help, we took all our stuff in with us and they told us what we needed."

Four WRC groups received Infrastructure Grants in the last round totalling $123,143.

New shade: Vice president of the Millicent Bowling Club Steve Carnellor with greens director Rod Gibbs and greens committeeman Neil Whelan stand in front of their new shelter which is now above the underground power supply.

Other recipients were the Millicent and District Basketball Association $40,000 toward the construction of a viewing clubroom, Mount Burr United Football Club $50,000 to assist in erecting four new light towers, Lions Club Millicent $20,000 for extension and upgrade their facilities.

Applications for the current grand funding round must be received at Council by no later than Monday 5pm, August 15.

For further information contact WRC on (08) 8733 0900.

106 years young

By Caroline Hammat

Boneham Aged Care Services (BACS) resident Dardanella Williams recently celebrated her 106th birthday with a birthday cake and lunch at the site's La Fromelles cafe surrounded by close family.

Better known as Dell, she was born and raised on a farm at Lillimur in Victoria to Florence (nee Powell) and William Williams on August 2, 1916 the eldest of four siblings, Elva, Ruby and Allen.

Her birth was during World War 1 and this influenced the name choice with Florence's brother, Jack Powell, serving during the Dardanelles Campaign in Turkey.

Mary Altschwager has fond memories of her aunt and spending school holidays with the Williams family.

"She was great when we were kids because mum had the hair salon in Millicent so in school holidays my brother and I were packed off to Bordertown to either stay with grandma or grandpa or with Auntie Dell.

"Auntie Dell having seven children was great for us, and on a farm, we had a lovely time."

Mrs Williams and her husband Harry had five boys and two girls, and farmed at Bordertown for many years eventually retiring to Kingston.

Her son Bruce Williams said "They spent a lot of time at Hervey Bay with the caravan travelling around and then moved to Mount Gambier.

"Dad was feeling a bit crook at times and that's one of the reasons he bought mum to Millicent because she had two sisters here, Ruby Rogers and Elva England, they've since passed away."

Harry Williams died in 2002 and Mrs Williams remained living in her own home for the next 16 years until she was 102, reluctantly taking up residence at BACS and selling her home.

It was a difficult decision with Ms Altschwa-

Birthday Dell: Dardanella 'Dell' Williams with her family Marj Williams (daughter-in-law), Mary Altschwager (niece), Anne Wicks (daughter), Bruce Williams (son), Ian Williams (son), Elma Pilgrim (daughter) and Kevin Pilgrim (son-in-law) on her 106th birthday.

ger saying "Della had been such an independent woman for so long.

"She lived in the same street as my mum, Ruby, and would walk half the length of Fifth Street to play cards together.

"Occasionally they would get into arguments about the rules of the game but they were always great friends, really close.

"They moved to Millicent so that Dell had her sisters close by if anything happened, and as it turned out it did, and they were all there for each other."

The family all commented on her skills as a crafter and a cook and daughter Anne Wicks said "She loved all sorts of crafts, her crocheting was just beautiful."

These days Mrs Williams hearing and eyesight are failing and her mobility is slowing her down, until as recently as last year she was still helping to cook scones at BACS.

Four of Mrs Williams children travelled to be with her on the day, coming from Geelong, Bordertown, Murray Bridge and Mount Gambier with one son in Perth, who phones every Sunday, unable to make the trip.

Sadly two of Mrs Williams sons have predeceased her.

The siblings rarely get the opportunity to get together with Ms Wicks saying "She had a lovely time, and we are lucky she is in such a wonderful facility."

Landing zone: Start on jetty renovations

By Elsie Adamo

After months of delays, works on the Southend Jetty have commenced, with Beachport soon to follow.

Organised by the Department of Infrastructure and Transport (DIT), the works will help maintain the two jetties relied upon by local fishermen to complete their work.

The works commenced last week and will repair the four lower landings by September. Other maintenance on the structure is expected to be completed in early 2023.

Works on the Beachport Jetty are expected to begin in September, which will refurbish timber piles framework, decking and rails on the structure, as well as install new safety ladders, replace decking, and repair landings, handrails and fenders.

While the works on Southend Jetty landings will be completed ahead of the crayfishing season, Beachport fishermen will not be so lucky, with works on their jetty expected to last around a year.

When the project is underway, the end section of the Jetty will be closed to the public, with the shore end closed intermittently. Jetty fuel supply is expected to be impacted, but DIT has stated prior notice will be provided.

"The Department for Infrastructure and Transport is working closely with the local commercial fishing industry to ensure there are no adverse impacts to their fishing operations while this important work is undertaken," a DIT spokesperson said.

According to DIT the delays were caused by a lengthy procurement phase and difficulty supply of some materials. The Department did not respond to questions on why the Beachport project would take longer than initially planned.

An action point on the installation of further Norfolk Island Pine along Beachport's Railway Tce was taken out of the plan at the meeting. According to the State Government, the contract for the work was given to Maritime Constructions, with 25 full-time equivalent contractors needed to complete the projects.

Infrastructure Minister Tom Koutsantonis said the renovations would ensure the future safety of the facilities.

"Beachport Jetty is one of the longest and most picturesque jetties in South Australia, it is a state heritage asset and is a popular fishing and recreational hot spot, both for locals and for visitors to the region," Mr Koutsantonis said.

"As well as being used for recreational purposes, Southend Jetty is one of the busiest commercial jetties during the fishing season, and the local commercial fishing industry relies on its six lower landings for its operations."

Land plan

- Consider rezoning the part of the Strategic Employment Zone to the south of the Southern Ports Highway (Rendelsham Road) for a zone which is more reflective of its mixed-use nature.
- Support the development of a non-government secondary school campus.
- Allow smaller allotments in the existing Rural Living Zone, without expanding the spatial extent of this zone and allow for the future expansion of the Rural Neighbourhood Zone into the adjacent Rural Living Zone.
- Seek to amend the Planning and Design Code to rezone the Employment Zone on Lossie Road for residential purposes.
- Consider streetscape upgrades and a township entrance statement along the Princes Highway on the eastern fringe of Millicent, as well as seeking to amend the Planning and Design Code to rezone the existing Employment Zone to reflect its mixed-use nature.
- Seek to amend the Planning and Design Code to rezone the area of Rural Zone between Willow Bank Road, the railway line and the Princes Highway for township-sized residential development.
- Seek to amend the Planning and Design Code to rezone the cemetery and quarry with an appropriate zone to reflect their use.
- Support the development of a variety of infill sites across Millicent.

The report highlighted that Millicent's population is not expected to grow substantially over the next 25 years, but new areas for land still needed to be considered. "It is unlikely that there will be strong demand for expanded commercial or retail development in the town centre, with some potential excess land," the report stated.

"Millicent's population increased by only one person between the 2016 and 2021 Censuses, to a population of 5,110 in 2021, Millicent had 78 net additional dwellings over the same period.

"This illustrates the way that new land supply is needed, even in situations where the population is stable."

Key priorities for Penola included additional zoning of residential and industrial land, and supporting the implementation of aged care facilities or developments.

Within Beachport, 13 actions were identified which would help combat future erosion and help ease land pressures within the township by allowing three-story builds and expanding commercial and light industrial activities to the nearby Muggleton. The plan was finalised in July by consultancy firm Holmes Dyer. The consultation report stated that feedback on the Millicent section was "generally supportive" with minimal changes made from the initial plan.

Any actions from the plan that review code amendments will still need to go through a targeted community consultation process.

Mary MacKillop feast day

By Kathy Fennell

Last Monday was the celebration of Mary MacKillop Feast day at Penola.

It was a day to celebrate Australia's first and only Saint.

A whole school mass was held in St Joseph's Catholic Church with other visitors also attending including students from schools in Western Victoria.

After Mass, students returned to classrooms and continued learning about Mary and participated in a series of activities for the remainder of the day.

"It is a very special day and people come from everywhere to visit the centre at Penola," Catholic parishioner Claire Larkin said.

Mary was born in Fitzroy in Melbourne in 1842 and in 1860 at the age of 18 moved to Penola.

It was in Penola where she met Father Julian Tenison Woods, a priest and scientist, and set up her first school, holding lessons in a small cottage.

In 1866 she set up her first dedicated school in a stable.

This site is remembered today as the Mary MacKillop Stable School park and is located on Queen Street.

In 1867 the classes moved to a purpose-built school now referred to as the Woods-MacKillop schoolhouse, located on the corner of Petticoat Lane.

While in Penola she also started up the Sisters of St Joseph's with the help of Father Woods.

Within weeks of the schoolhouse opening, Mary boarded the steamship SS Penola for the journey to Adelaide where she went on to establish the Cathedral school hall, officially took vows and became Mary of the Cross.

Within five years of taking her vows she had established more than 30 schools in South Australia. of the plight and needy and worked with families who lived in isolated areas of Australia.

She was very conscious of the plight of the poor and the needy and worked with families who lived in isolated areas of Australia.

As a result she pioneered a new form of religious life in Australia and started a system of Josephite schools that would provide education, especially for the children of the poor.

Mary was declared a saint in October, 2010.

Totems for connections

By Caroline Hammat

The idea to create more connections with Millicent High School (MHS) students to areas around the school has led to the latest arts project being undertaken.

Six redgum totem poles are currently being painted by students Demi Bevan, Deni Brown, Chloe Gysbers and Ebony Gardin with guidance and assistance from MHS Aboriginal Education Officer Jenny Bishop.

With themes representing the Aboriginal, Torres Strait Islander and Australian flags, local animals, respect and meeting places the totems will be placed in front of the school facing Mount Burr Road.

The site will be landscaped and paved and include the installation of a newly painted picnic table to complement the totems and create a space to meet.

Ms Bishop said "We've got four girls that are helping to do these totem poles.

"I picked who I knew was going to do a good job and what these young girls are doing is beautiful, they are such good little artists.

"I wanted non-aboriginal kids to be involved in this as well as its about them to, it's not just about my little mob.

"They get right into it, they love it."

MHS principal Todd Watson said "For a long time we have had the garden (Indigenous meeting place) that a lot of time and effort has gone in to, and that is a great meeting place for special occasions and some of the projects we do but it is a little bit out of the way.

"Here is an opportunity to have something that is pride of place in front of the school to recognise the connections that our school does have.

"And it doesn't need to just be Indigenous students, if we want coming together we want everyone to have a part in it, and the kids are really on board.

"Any opportunity we get to have our kids have a connection to school and connection to country I think it is fantastic."

Ms Bishop added "That is why I like doing meeting places because when you all come together you come together as one"

"I think they are going to look beautiful, it is a privilege to do it and having something here of my art and the kids art, I think its great."

The six large redgum timber poles were donated and delivered to the school by Wayne Batchelor who sourced them from his farm at Wrattobully, also donating four more for the Millicent North Kindergarten garden.

Ms Bishop said "We've already done the North kindy ones, but they need to go by council to make sure they that they are not (installed) too close to the fence.

"Neil Reilly (Millicent Community Learning Centre instructor) is going to do that and he's the one that's going to put these in for us when these ones here are all done."

The site planned for the six totems is currently home to the pharaoh sculpture carved by students in 1969 and the more recent pyramid carved by Ivo Tadic over 20 years ago.

Both existing sculptures will be relocated to other areas of the school.

Small Halls Festival comes to Robe

Robe residents are in for a treat, with the Festival of Small Halls scheduled to visit next month.

Multi-instrumentalist duo Mal Webb and Kylie Morrigan, along with songsmith Chris Tamwoy, will be heading off on tour for the Festival of Small Halls Winter Tour 2022: South Australia. While previous tours have tucked in a handful of shows through the east of The Festival State, before continuing east to Victoria, this will be the first Festival of Small Halls tour to visit the small towns and villages of South Australia exclusively.

Celebrating the tenth year as a touring festival, the Winter Tour 2022: South Australia will visit fourteen communities, from Robe to Marion Bay, and up through the Flinders Rangers along The Outback Highway to Beltana.

Producer Eleanor Rigden said the team is

On tour: Mal Webb and Kylie Morrigan will be performing in Robe as part of the Small Halls Festival. Picture: SUPPLIED

"nothing short of thrilled" to be embarking on the first all-South Australian Festival of Small Halls Tour.

"To be welcomed into such a variety of beautiful towns and villages is exciting enough, but to be doing it with artists of the quality of Chris Tamwoy and Mal Webb and Kylie Morrigan feels too good to be true," she said.

"The incredible nature of Festival of Small Halls shows to leverage the quality of brilliant music to bring communities together and showcase of the best they have to offer is one of the best things about this magical tour."

Mal Webb and Kylie Morrigan are established touring musicians, and they're itching to get back on the road. Co-billed with Mal and Kylie is Chris Tamwoy, a Torres Strait Islander musician and songwriter, who has performed with Birds of Tokyo and Colin Hay, as well as reaching the Grand Finals in Australia's Got Talent in 2016.

The show will be at Mil Lel on Saturday, September 10 and Robe on Sunday, September 11.

By National Trust of SA Penola Branch

In association with State Heritage, Penola's branch of National Trust SA has developed a mobile phone app called Penola Walk With History to enable people to learn more about historic sites within Penola on self guided tours. The following is one of the subjects from this app.

PRINCE OF WALES HOTEL

In the early years of Penola, Alexander Cameron's Royal Oak was the only licensed hotel in the town.

In 1860 its former licensee, John Bowden, built his own hotel, the Prince of Wales.

His son-in-law, AJ Edwards, who married feisty horsewoman Catherine Jane Bowden, owned the hotel in 1862 and sold it to John Reilly in 1882.

Members of the Reilly family managed the hotel and in 1949 changed the name to Reilly's Hotel.

When Charles Reilly died in 1951 the business was leased.

The Prince of Wales Hotel in Penola when it was named Reilly's.

A galvanised iron building at the rear acted as sample rooms.

Merchants from Adelaide and Melbourne would visit the town regularly to display and sell their goods from these rooms.

Advertisements in the Border Watch in 1882 offered "Every Accommodation for Commercial Gentlemen and South-Eastern Line of Royal Mail Coaches call daily".

The Basheer family from the Kalangadoo Hotel purchased the hotel from Messrs JK & LJ Reilly, Mrs H Hubber and Dr John Rollison in December 1963 and took over the management in 1964.

In 1965 they demolished the old building and built the present one, renaming it the Log Cabin Hotel-Motel.

This was opened by Mr F Walsh, Premier of South Australia on July 11, 1966.

Soon after the change of ownership, and before the demolition of the old building, there was great interest one Saturday afternoon following Penola Football A Grade team winning the premiership when three local identities, Bray Kidman, Andy Anderson and Graeme Robertson each rode an elephant from Bullen's Circus down Church Street.

The elephant handler, who had been in the pub for some time, took a bet that he could have his elephant reach through the front door of the pub and take a glass of beer from the bar.

He almost succeeded, but lost the bet.

The elephant was quickly removed when it was discovered that the cellar was immediately beneath him.

Mr Fred Basheer, one of the new owners, was reported as having a conniption before the elephant was moved. A conniption is described as a feeling of panic or hysteria.

There have been many different owners since and in recent years the name of the pub was quite rightly changed back to the original Prince of Wales.

Memories of Archie

Roach, an extremely talented musician, vocalist and story teller passed away recently after a long illness.

Sue Bell from Bellwether Wines said she was extremely sad when she awoke to the news that Archie had passed.

“Archie was a true survivor, yet died too young after an incredibly tough life.

“He was the ultimate optimist even though he was a member of the stolen generation,” Sue said.

Roach survived homelessness, alcoholism, a stroke, lung cancer and losing the love of his life, Ruby Hunter.

Throughout life’s challenges Roach always said it was love and music that always saved him and brought him back.

“One of my favourite memories at Bellwether was when Archie came to Coonawarra as our guest for the 2016 Penola Coonawarra Arts festival.

“The show was supported by Nancy Bates and Kelly Menhennett.

“An evening of stories and song with only 75 people, all mesmerised by Archie’s warmth and ability to tell stories of harsh truth, yet make you smile, laugh and cry in as many moments,” Sue said.

Roach survived much hardship but he always got back up and looked for the positives in life and spread alot of love.

He educated the world about Australia’s dark history of the stolen generation with his music.

He was able to make people listen and try to understand the hurt it caused.

“I am so sorry Archie’s life was unfair in many unnecessary ways, and to his family at this time.

“It is a great loss to Australia.

“His music and the lessons within will continue to teach future generations.”

Pharaoh is on the move

By Caroline Hammat

Millicent High School's (MHS) 7 foot tall limestone pharaoh statue has stood as a silent sentinel on school grounds since 1969 and after approximately 20 years at its current site, a grassed island at the front of the building, it will soon be re-located.

The pharaoh and nearby limestone pyramid will be moved to make room for a new Indigenous statement sculpture currently being painted by students and Jenny Bishop the MHS Aboriginal Education Officer.

MHS principal Todd Watson said "I still want to keep them because to me they are a part of the history of the school.

"Some people question why it is front of our school, it is still part of our school history that students have been involved in."

The plan is to relocate the pharaoh to the Western entrance in the corner of the the existing playground which is very close to the site on which it was originally carved.

To unravel some of the mystery that surrounds the why of the pharaoh the South Eastern Times spoke to Ian Were the MHS art teacher behind the project at the time.

"I was appointed (to MHS) in 1966 and stayed for four years, 1969 was my last year, I was young and enthusiastic and not that much older than some of the students who were 16/17.

"I was greatly taken with the limestone quarries when I visited, they always reminded me of an archaeological site.

"My memory isn't clear but I believe each student was given a small block of limestone and we did some smaller carvings at one stage to work out what might be appropriate and what you can carve, limestone is soft and can easily break the forms can't be overly complicated.

"It was this particular fourth year class of boys and I thought it would be a great project for them, everyone designed something and one of the students did a small pharaoh.

Millicent High School's Aboriginal education officer Jenny Bishop and school principal Todd Watson with the iconic pharaoh.

"There were lots of possibilities and we could've done a simple abstract shape but we decided that we liked the idea of a person.

"The pharaoh was good because the hands weren't hanging out and there weren't bits that could be easily broken, the shape of the throne meant there was less carving.

"When the block was delivered I think it was 3 cubic metres or something like that, it was a hefty block.

"I was keen to do different things and we did whatever we could that involved the students outside the classroom.

"One of the projects was in the admin building, there was the tall atrium with windows around the top, we got a very tall ladder and measured the windows and did some contemporary stained glass windows using cellophane and cardboard, that was a fun project to do."

Mr Were was appointed to Mount Gambier Technical High School after his four years at MHS and spent a total of seven years in the South East "It was a really interesting time to be there at a relatively young age and many of us were involved in things like the Company of 7.

"We started painting backdrops for their various productions and other staff members were in those productions."

Although Mr Were said he enjoyed teaching in the country he did not find the city placements as fulfilling and left teaching to make his own artwork for a number of years eventually moving into arts writing and editing in the mid 90's.

Now living in Brisbane for almost 20 years his links to Millicent don't stop with the pharaoh as he currently writes for a local online newspaper the Westender edited by ex-Millicent resident Jan Bowman.

"I met her accidentally in the West End in Brisbane and she said she came from Millicent and we worked out the year I left the school she started as a student."

Mr Were has been back to view the sculpture from the roadside in recent years and in a 1969 edition of the South Eastern Times that recorded the carving he was quoted as saying "If it looks any good when it's finished, it'll stay."

The five fourth year students that worked on the seven foot high statue were Graeme Manhood, Dale Zadow, Stuart Iain, Ronald Thomas and Peter Moorfoot.

The nearby pyramid was carved by Ivo Tadic around the year 2000 and the pharaoh was painted a few years later in 2006.

Hannah Wilson was a year eight student at the time and confirmed she was involved in the painting "It was done as part of a community project to beautify the school, my group decided it would be a good idea to paint it.

"We didn't do any research into the back story of how it got there at all."

Abuzz with activities at Mary MacKillop school

It has been a hive of activity at the Mary MacKillop school in Penola since the start of term three.

Last Friday saw students from all classes participate in a 'card and casual' day where students came to school dressed in casual clothes and bought with them a can of food.

A total of 141 tins of food were collected which will be donated to the Vinnies Winter Appeal.

The tins varied in food and included soup, spaghetti, noodles, vegetables and much more.

This day is held annually at the school.

At the start of the term two new students, Elsie and Pearl, were welcomed into the reception and year one class along with new staff member Cobie Walters who will be working with Alison Smith in the year four/five class.

Harry, Henna, Levi, Charlie, Elijah and Tess having fun in the playground on casual and can day.

Science has also been a popular topic with the reception/year one students exploring earth and space.

Students have investigated daily and seasonal weather and observed the related effect on the sky and landscape.

Students made wind chimes, conducted investigations of hot and cold temperatures and wind strength and created their own weather symbols.

Year two to five students ventured into outer space exploring how the rotation of the earth results in day and night, and they investigated the solar system.

The year six class has been exploring volcanoes and their formation including an investigation of lava viscosity.

The year four/five class enjoyed making French-themed food.

The menu included cheesy toast, salad with french dressing, french onion soup and dip, petite frittatas and French palmier cookies with homemade puff pastry.

There will be an open morning at the school on Wednesday, August 24 for parents and families to come along and see what learning looks like at Mary MacKillop.

On the same day in the evening there will be a parents prospective evening at 5.30pm for anyone who is interested in joining the school.

Come and try playgroup sessions are held each Monday from 9.30am to 11am and occasional care sessions for three to five year olds will be held on Tuesday, August 23 and Friday, August 26 from 8.45am to 11.45am.

Bookings can be made at the school.

New members needed

By Elsie Adamo

The Millicent Royal Flying Doctor Service (RFDS) group has made a call for new volunteers to help out its longstanding members who are becoming less mobile.

At the group's annual general meeting (AGM) last week, the executive made it clear they were on the lookout for more volunteers to help carry on the group's proud tradition.

A majority of the group's members are over the age of 80, which has made some of its fundraising activities difficult.

The local group has been raising funds for the RFDS for 25 years, raising almost half a million dollars for the charity.

Max Blacketer serves as the group's secretary and hopes to find some locals who would like to join.

"We are all old, we only have around five people under 80," Mr Blacketer said.

"We need some more younger people to give us a hand, although everyone is welcome no matter their age."

Mr Blacketer says that at 84, he is not nearly their oldest member.

"I think she is 89, and she has been helping out for a long time," he said.

A lot of the money raised by the group is collected from stalls in front of supermarkets and shops, but with aging volunteers, Mr Blacketer said it becomes tricky.

"Two of the 87-year-old women want to sit out in the street in the cold...but I just do not want to let them."

The club is about to trial moving their regular meetings to later in the day, 5.30pm, to capture some extra volunteers who may not have been able to make it due to work previously.

"That way, hopefully, it will make it easier to come to the meetings," Mr Blacketer said.

RFDS Volunteer Fundraising Specialist Lindy Allchurch said the local group had a lot to be proud of.

Millicent RFDS Fundraising group President Ken Hanes with volunteers at the recent AGM.

"They [Millicent] are one of the oldest groups in the state," Ms Allchurch said.

"What they have managed to achieve in that time is fantastic."

"The money they [the volunteer groups] raise goes towards purchasing our planes."

Ms Allchurch said the local group is typical of others around the state, but some fresh helping hands would be welcome.

"Most of my volunteers are past retirement age which is fine," Ms Allchurch said.

"That is when you have time to be able to volunteer. But we certainly do need volunteers here in Millicent."

"If anybody wants to join the group, they will be warmly welcomed."

Mr Blacketer said if any community members were interested in joining, to reach out to him directly or to attend the groups next meeting on the first Tuesday 4 October at 5.30pm at the Millicent Uniting Church Hall.

All welcome at the arts festival AGM

By Kathy Fennell

The annual meeting of the Penola-Coonawarra Arts Festival is to be held on Thursday, August 18, at 5.30pm, at the Penola Visitor Information Centre.

Plans have started for the four-day event to be held from May 18 to 21, 2023 which celebrates the rich literary history, live music, performing arts, film, children's activities, fine food and wine. Festival committee chairman John Mossop encourages all to attend the annual meeting.

"We need more committee members and volunteers to come on board so this event can continue on to make it the success it is."

"It is a big job putting the festival together and the more people we can get to help the lighter the workload," John said.

This year's festival was a great success and attracted many people from away but was also supported by locals.

"It was such a shame that the weather turned nasty on the Sunday for the kids activities and this is something we will look at for next year," John said.

The workshops that were held throughout the festival were very well supported and it is planned to run these in 2023.

The committee will be searching for financial assistance in the way of grants to help run the festival. The John Shaw Neilson Art competition will once again be held and with a $12,000 first prize there will be many artists starting to prepare their entries.

This year, most of the major awards went to locals with Dagny Strand taking out the major prize.

Evolving since 1991, it will be the 31st running of the festival in 2023. In 2013 the festival won a South Australian Regional award from Brand South Australia. This award highlights individuals or organisations that have made significant contribution to their region and the state over a 12 month period.

The festival has grown to be one of South

Penola-Coonawarra Festival committee chairman John Mossop.

Australia's leading arts festivals and won the UNSECO (Adelaide Chapter) award in 2015.

The award was for an outstanding contribution to the regional cultural life of South Australia, promoting all facets of the Arts, and cultural tourism.

Roadworks are nearing completion

Line marking along the Southern Ports Highway near Millicent should soon be completed, according to the Department of Infrastructure (DIT).

The works which started in May have been long delayed, initially set to be finished in early June before being pushed delayed multiple times.

A DIT spokesperson said the line marking should be completed by the end of this week, barring any further delays to weather.

As soon as the line marking is completed, speed limits along the section of the highway should return to normal.

The spokesperson said any remaining patching and resurfacing works along the Southern Ports Highway would resume when the weather improves and ground temperatures increase which is expected from September 2022.

Other highways within the region have also been subject to line marking delays, which the department claimed were due to weather and a shortage of available line marking contractors.

Recognise great business

By Caroline Hammat

Local businesses are putting their best foot forward in preparation for the annual Outstanding Business Awards hosted by the Millicent Business Community Association (MBCA).

Community members are encouraged to nominate their favourite businesses and employees for the 2022 awards in one of eight different categories.

The categories include construction, service, retail, agriculture, hospitality and tourism, employee and young employee of the year.

Organisers have stressed the nominations are based on the quality of the nomination and not the quantity received and judging will be based on an updated criteria list in comparison to previous years.

Lee Morgan, chair of the MBCA, said "Once businesses are nominated they have to come back with a response and examples of how they achieved it."

Criteria includes examples of outstanding service provided, aspects of good business presentation and examples of sustainability and innovation.

Prize money will be awarded to young employee of the year with all other category winners receiving an award.

Nomination forms are available at the Millicent Newsagency and the Millicent Visitor Information Centre or online via www.millicentbusiness.com and close on the August 28, 2022.

All winners will be announced at the MBCA awards night held on October 8 at the Millicent Civic and Arts Centre.

Motoring

BMW iX3 looks the part

By Ewan Kennedy, Marque Motoring

BMW iX3 is the full electric version of German marque's mid-sized X3.

It has no internal combustion engine to provide extra range if its batteries run out of power.

It's sold in Australia with quite a few features that are frequently extra cost options; these include metallic paint and the M Sport package with 20-inch M aerodynamic wheels.

STYLING

Very BMW. While other makers of electric vehicles like to go for a different perhaps futuristic look, the iX3 looks instantly like a Bimmer from any angle.

There are some blue highlights on the outer edges of the lower sections of the front and at each corner of the lower panel at the rear.

There are also blue colours on the BMW "radiator grille".

Obviously, it doesn't have a grille because there is no water being cooled there.

BMW and other EV makers do include a grille because buyers feel that a plain front end just looks wrong.

Mind you Elon Musk's Teslas don't have a grille either and are selling faster than the factory can produce them...

Also standard is a panoramic sunroof that covers most of the roof area.

INTERIOR

The dashboard area is divided into three distinct areas. That in front of the driver has a 12.3-inch digital instrument cluster.

There's another 12.3-inch digital screen in the centre of the dash area.

It's wide, but rather too low which means the view ahead on the screen if our using it for navigation isn't as far ahead as we like.

On the other hand, the width of the screen means you can see a lot of the things that you are missing out to the side of your road.

Which may mean that you see things that you hadn't realised were there, and perhaps decide to visit if you're on a sightseeing trip.

Comfort and space in the front seats is good, with a wide range of electric adjustments. It has under-thigh cushion extenders, which I really enjoy as I have long legs and these add further ways of getting comfortable.

In their own way these cushion extenders probably add to the safety on long trips because drivers are safer if they aren't wriggling about to stay relaxed.

INFOTAINMENT

Our iX3 had the BMW Connected Package Professional which has Apple CarPlay and Android Auto and a Harman/Kardon 16-speaker surround sound system.

There's wireless smartphone charging which saves having to wrestle with cables. Just put your phone in its spot and you're getting more juice into it.

POWERTRAIN

eDrive is the new drive technology found in all BMW i models and plug-in hybrids, and is essentially comprised of an electric motor, high-voltage lithium-ion battery and an intelligent energy management system.

The integrated drive unit brings the electric motor, power electronics and transmission together within a single housing, and generates 210kW and 400Nm.

All eDrive-equipped vehicles rely on a special performance li-ion battery to store energy, and utilise a built-in cooling device to constantly keep the unit at the ideal operating temperature, helping increase output and maintain service life.

A five-year Chargefox subscription is included in the price of the BMW iX3 sold in Australia.

SAFETY

The BMW X3 has a five-star ANCAP safety rating from for the xDrive20d and xDrive30i vari-

Fully electric: Though it's fully-electric, the iX3 looks like a Bimmer from any angle.

ants. However, the iX3 has not been tested at this stage.

Ways of avoiding a crash are strongly featured in this electric Bimmer.

It has automatic emergency with cross-roads warning, lane-keep assist, blind-spot monitoring, front and rear cross-traffic alert, evasion assistant, speed limit assist, as well as Steering + Lane Control Assistant (Level 2 autonomous mode).

DRIVING

Performance! This is why we like driving all electric vehicles.

They have instant reaction to the accelerator pedal. BMW has always produced vehicles with a sporty feel in everything they do and that performance is just wonderful in any model they make.

This is going to sound childish but I like nothing more than to sit at a red traffic light beside a big car that's got a lumpy sounding V8. I look at him, and he looks at me in my black SUV and blips his throttle - ready to make me look silly when the green lights come on.

The lights change and that instant electric torque pushes me back in the seat, in about three seconds we are up to 80 km/h and I back off. The other driver comes alongside, checks out the tame looking Bimmer and shakes his head.

Then again, I've driven many V8s in my 50-year career as a motoring journalist and there's something about V8s that I really enjoy. If I had plenty of money to spare, I would buy a V8 for track days and just cruisin' around town and keep the somewhat boring EV for everyday use.

Handling of the BMW iX3 is pretty good, but there's a feeling of heaviness when you're taking corners at speed due to the fact that you're carting about half a tonne of batteries about.

There's good feel through the steering wheel and the seats support well so you don't shift about when driving hard and can concentrate on the road.

BMW says the iX3 can cover 460 kilometres on a full battery charge. During our testing on motorways, in the suburbs and on country roads we covered 284km and computer advised its batteries had a further 180km before it was close to being fully discharged.

SUMMING UP

A couple of times a year my wife and I go on long holiday trips from our home on the Gold Coast. Once we are a long way of out of town there's not many places to charge an electric vehicle. And when we do find a charger, we have to wait for several hours to get decent range out of the car.

When we can buy an EV for about the same price as a petrol or diesel SUV and charge it up less than an hour to give us a range of at least 500km, we will seriously think about one.

YOUR WEEKLY TV GUIDE

THE DOG HOUSE AUSTRALIA 10, Thursday, 7.30pm

If you're craving a feel-good show that isn't afraid to give an energetic pull on the heartstrings, this is the pick of the litter. Dogs are excellent for entertainment, but more often than not they are a much-needed balm for sadness. The Living Room's Dr Chris Brown is the perfect narrator for the stirring real-life stories of finding a doggie companion. Tonight, Marina and Dan are looking for a furry pal to help heal after the recent loss of Marina's dad. A scary health emergency and a long-held promise are behind the motivations of the Diconoski family finding a pooch for Tanisha, with a Staffordshire Terrier mix named Banksy (pictured) a shoo-in to be the newest member of their tight-knit clan.

SCIENCE OF DRUGS WITH RICHARD ROXBURGH ABC TV, Tuesday, 9.30pm

Rake's Richard Roxburgh (pictured) arrives with both humour and gravitas as presenter of this irreverent four-part documentary series, delving into the history, harm and benefits of recreational drugs. Humans have employed mind-altering substances for a millennia, but today there are cut and dried rules. In tonight's premiere, Roxburgh and a crew of scientists unbuckle the facts and complications behind society's two most commonly used drugs: tobacco and alcohol. The long history of cigarettes is unravelled, while the consensus on alcohol is damning. You won't look at your glass of wine the same way again.

THE STRANGER SBS, Wednesday, 9.25pm

Richard Armitage (pictured) will send shivers up your spine in this addictive thriller. Based on Harlan Coben's bestseller, jaw-dropping moments abound where loving father and husband Adam (Armitage) is engulfed by looks of pure fear and confusion. At times, the intensity is almost too much to take, but the excellent script and acting will propel any lover of nailbiting drama. Also starring Absolutely Fabulous's Jennifer Saunders in a stunning dramatic turn, this eight-part Netflix original explores what happens when a seemingly perfect life is interrupted by a stranger sharing unimaginable, devastating secrets.

PICK OF THE WEEK

MY KITCHEN RULES Seven, Monday, 7.30pm

Unless you order takeaway daily or, lo and behold, have a private chef, there's no escaping the responsibility of cooking. As a result, many people like to rely on the classics: bolognese or tuna bake, perhaps even sweet and sour chicken. It's much the same with TV; sometimes you just want a trusty old favourite to count on. My Kitchen Rules is back after a two-year break with its 12th season. It's like the chicken schnitzel of cooking shows. The difference is, this season there's a fancy new side in the form of new judge Nigella Lawson, who joins Manu Feildel. Tune in for the state versus state cooking, which might tempt you to whip up something different in the kitchen.

Magpies pour on pressure

Kalangadoo 52 d Robe 41

Kalangadoo had to work hard for its win over Robe in Round 16 of Mid South East netball on Saturday.

Robe hit the court running and through a high level of defensive pressure was able to unsettle Kalangadoo's attack line and force early wayward passes.

Robe goal shooter Sarah Laurie became a focal point in attack and converted strongly.

Towards the end of the quarter Kalangadoo's circle defence of Lauren Kain and Renana Wetherall gained some timely intercepts to peg the margin back to four goals at the first break.

The second quarter was a tight contest, going goal-for-goal, with Ellen Ramke running hard for Robe, feeding goalies Halle Carter and Laurie accurately.

Kalangadoo's Sophie Wrightson and Robe's Lucy Perkins had a tight contest, with Wrightson making Perkins earn every possession but Robe went to the main break with a two goal lead.

The Kalangadoo defenders were able to make a mark on the game during the third quarter, with Wrightson creating turnovers through the mid-court and her efforts were rewarded with some patient netball in attack.

The results saw Kalangadoo take a 35-33 lead to the final break.

During the final quarter Kalangadoo was able to build on the momentum of the third quarter, with goalies Kori Collins and Abbey

At the other end of the court the defensive pressure made it hard for the Robe goalies to get many opportunities, scoring just eight goals for the quarter.

Kalangadoo finished the game strong to claim an 11-goal victory.

Kain and Wrightson were named best for the Magpies, with Laurie and Maisie Hayes best for Robe.

Big match milestone: 300 games for Gartner

Mandy Gartner played her 300th game for the Penola Netball Club recently and was the first player to reach the milestone for the club in over 10 years.

Gartner has played the majority of her career in A Grade and A Reserves as a defender.

She has strong defensive instincts and her speed, agility and peripheral vision make her a key player on the defensive end for the Eagles.

Despite being shorter than many of her opponents, her ability to read the play and position herself in the right areas means height is no issue for her.

Gartner is always patient and poised with the ball and her versatility is one of her greatest strengths.

Although she plays primarily as a defender, Gartner often floats through the centre court and has been known to shoot goals when required.

Later in her career, she has been involved in a successful run in B Grade, which included five B grade premierships, with the first in 2010 and the most recent in 2021.

Gartner has regularly stood out for her side and has been runner-up best and fairest on a number of occasions.

In 2015, she won the B Grade Club and League best and fairest awards and was B Grade best and fairest in 2017.

Off the court, Gartner has been heavily committed to the club and coached the 13A side to a premiership in 2014.

She has also been a team manager, um-

Eagles on track for finals

By Trevor Jackson

Hatherleigh 23.18 (156) d Kongorong 8.9 (57)

A strong opening term provided Hatherleigh with the perfect starting point to secure a solid victory over Kongorong in Round 16 of Mid South East football on Saturday.

The Eagles travelled to face the Hawks and were never in trouble, much of that on the back of an eight-goal haul from Sam Telfer.

Telfer was in fine touch up forward and made the most of good delivery to ensure the Eagles were on track as the post-season fast approaches.

A seven-goal opening term set the scene, with the home side only able to add two majors before the first break.

Hatherleigh extended the margin in the second quarter, adding a further six majors to a solitary goal from Kongorong.

The Hawks were held goal-less in the third term but managed to find some extra spark in the final stanza to bang on five majors.

However, the Eagles added a further six majors to run the game out.

Telfer was joined by another seven goal kickers, with Patrick Chay and coach Jake Dowdy registering four each, while Brad Mitchell rounded out the multiple goal scorers with two.

Dowdy said it was a solid effort for three quarters, with the heavy conditions taking their toll as the game would down.

However, he said with the last-round loss to Glencoe, it was important his players responded.

"We had to respond to the loss to Glencoe

... we were disappointed with that," he said.

"We had a point to prove and the boys came out strong from the start."

The Eagles had plenty of options up forward and Dowdy noted the importance of delivering the ball well, which he said was on display in the opening half of the contest.

"In the first half our kicking to advantage was outstanding," he said.

"Sam Telfer is not tall, he is quick and we just kicked out in front of him.

"Patty Chay is a tall but you kick out in front of him it gives him the best option.

"With the forward line we have, if the ball is out in front I would back them in to win it nine times out of 10."

With those two players - and Dowdy - topping the goal kicking list, it was the goal-less ruckman Mark Marriott who was named best player.

That cam by no mistake and Dowdy gave him a big rap.

"In the first half he killed it," he said.

"He is not just a ruckman but plays like another on-baller.

"In the first half I thought he was unreal with his second and third repeat efforts.

"For a big man you don't expect it but he set the tone for all our little fellows and the whole team."

While Hatherleigh and Kongorong are virtually at opposite ends of the premiership table, Dowdy said you would not have known it throughout the game, despite the lop-sided score.

"Last time we played them we won by more but it doesn't feel like that on the field, they are so competitive," he said.

"They played some good football throughout the day and hit the ball hard."

With that in mind, Dowdy said it was important the Eagles were off to a solid start to set the tone of the game after coming off a loss.

"We have lost three games to teams below us so Kongorong were probably thinking if we didn't turn up they would be a good chance," he said.

"I stressed to my boys we needed to put that behind us, we know how good our good football can be and we just needed to play with that consistency.

"We have had a few hiccups this season but that's football.

"The main thing is how you recover from it and go on.

"We have a fair belief in the group with what we can do, so I was pleased with how the boys responded."

Eagle-eyed determination proves too much for Hawks

Hatherleigh 52 d Kongorong 30

Hatherleigh worked hard to build a winning margin against Kongorong in Round 16 of Mid South East netball on Saturday.

The Hawks were off to a great start, turning over the Eagles first centre and shooting the first couple of goals unanswered.

However, Hatherleigh's Demi Vanderhorst was on from the first whistle, working hard in the circle to apply pressure down the Hawks end of the court.

At the other end of the court, the Hawks defensive line of Riley Buckingham, Emily Lightbody and Sarah Lucas took a while to adjust to the Eagles quick ball movement.

The Eagles were able to capitalise thanks to Abby Wight and Maddie Redman's accuracy in the circle to take a one-goal lead to the first break.

Hatherleigh's Abby Wight takes clean possession during the Eagles win over Kongorong.

The second quarter saw the defensive pressure from both teams lift.

Redman and Buckingham battled hard in the circle, both influential for their respective sides.

Tegan Telfer and Georgia Hunter turned it up another gear and the Eagles remained composed and displayed patience and skill through their mid court, pushing their lead out to six goals at the main break.

The Hawks went into the third quarter with plenty of work to do, Lucas and Buckingham not missing a beat in defence, capitalising on any 50/50 balls and rebounding strongly.

However, their efforts were rarely rewarded as the Hawks struggled with poor feeding and missed shots and were unable to capitalise.

At the other end of the court the Eagles defenders were also finding their groove, with Vanderhorst and Lara MacGregor taking advantage of the Hawks poor ball use and were finding hands all over the court to capitalise on any missed shots.

The Eagles played possession ball and outscored the Hawks 11-4 to further extend their lead.

The pressure continued in the final term but it was Hatherleigh that kept the momentum going and ran out comfortable victors.

Vanderhorst and MacGregor were named best for the victors, while Lucas and Tilah Buckingham received the honours for the Hawks.

Bay boys right on track

By Trevor Jackson

Port MacDonnell 28.17 (185) d
Tantanoola 9.10 (64)

It was certainly the day for the top four sides in Round 16 of Mid South East football on Saturday.

Port MacDonnell cemented its finals berth with a big win over Tantanoola, despite a change of venue.

The Demons were set to host the game but the recent rains took their toll and the game went ahead at Tantanoola.

Port MacDonnell coach Simon Merrett said Tantanoola had asked for the change and he was happy to give the ground a break.

"Tantanoola wanted to change the venue and the league ticked off on it," he said.

"We had 49mm of rain from the Sunday until Thursday night leading up to the game.

"There were a few spots that were a big ragged but mainly surface water across it.

"We only started training on it in March and it was right on the verge of getting on when we did.

"I think about 10 per cent of it needs to be redone but what is there is really good.

"It just needs a summer to firm up and it will be fine."

To keep the trend of the round going, the Demons hit the ground running and held a 37-point advantage at the first break.

They simply extended that advantage as the game unfolded to run out convincing victors.

Will MacDonald and Jake Turner shared the spoils up forward, with five goals each, while Wade Chant, Alex Ridding and Tim Sullivan added two each.

In total, 14 Demons contributed to the winning score.

In contrast the Tigers had six contributors, with coach Jak Ryan the best with three majors, while Ryan Simmons added two.

Merrett said it was pleasing to see such a strong start to the game, which laid the foundations of a good day at the office.

"We have been not as good out of the blocks as we were last year, so it was definitely a focus area (Saturday)," he said.

"To put up 50-odd points in the first quarter was pleasing.

"I think we had 25 shots at half time from 30 inside 50s, so we were going at a pretty good clip when we got it in there.

Port MacDonnell's Ned Wilke continued his good form on the weekend in the Demons solid victory over Tantanoola.

"Defensively there were a few things we had to tweak at half time but I was pretty happy with the outcome."

Likewise, Merrett was just as pleased with the contribution of his players in front of goal.

The 14 individual goal kickers made it a tough task for the Tigers to defend.

"Our spread has been great," he said.

"We are not really focused on one person - it is great to have Will (MacDonald) up there firing but we have shown we have plenty of different avenues to kick goals, which should hold us in good stead the next few weeks."

The Demons have played with positional changes this season and more recently as the finals fast approach.

The likes of Kevin Thomson playing more of a backman's role has provided some good opportunities up forward, with his accurate delivery inside ideal for the leading players.

Merrett said he would continue to play with positional changes leading up to the finals to ensure the Demons are every chance of success.

"We have a plan A and a plan B and we have a lot of variety in each role," he said.

"Everyone is capable of playing different positions if we have to throw things around.

"We played a fifth colt on the weekend, so we are getting games into the next batch coming through and looking to the future a bit more.

"To be able to win and sit where we are on the ladder while doing that is pleasing."

Considering the losses the Demons faced from the 2021 premiership side, it would be fair to say they have overachieved this season.

Merrett suggested that would be an accurate assumption.

"I think down at the club we would all agree we have overachieved," he said.

"We started the year with 11 blokes from the premiership side in the group and we lost 20 from our squad.

"The Mount Burr and Robe games we lost were by a goal between them.

"We are going better than we thought and that is a credit to the group who have done the work and bought into the things we have tweaked.

"Right now we are where we want to be and the last few weeks we have got it together.

"We think if we can win a final and get to that last three it will be a successful season."

At a disadvantage, Tigers record hard-fought win

Tantanoola 54 d Port MacDonnell 46

Port MacDonnell lost its home-ground advantage for Round 16 of Mid South East netball, instead heading to Tantanoola for a tough contest.

The Demons went into the game without reliable defender Belinda O'Dine, so were forced to shuffle their lineup around slightly and send shooter Kirby Carrison to goal keeper.

The first quarter started evenly and was fast paced, with all goalies taking time to settle.

Tantanoola's Emma Gould was able to rebound most of her missed shots and get a second chance.

Liza Mutch was impressive early in the centre for the Demons and kept Tiger Madi Kelly on her toes.

Narelle Lewis was also dominant for the Demons on the attacking wing, driving into space with patience around the ring.

The Tigers went to the first break with a four-goal advantage.

The start of the second quarter saw Toni Gilmore find her range in the Demons' goal circle, missing just one for the quarter.

Gould was dominant at the other end of the court, despite Carrison's best efforts, while Demon defender Alana Winter was able to keep Tiger Jami Walker relatively under control in the circle.

The Tigers defence line of Kate Bromley and Tayla Rowe started to find some form and got their hands to a lot of ball late in the quarter.

The Tigers only won the quarter by two goals but extended their lead to six at the main break.

Port Mac brought 17 and Under player Lara Wilson into goal attack, while Williams had a break.

Wilson took no time to settle, shooting nine goals for the quarter, while Rowe kept Gilmore to just two.

Gould had a brilliant third quarter, shooting 14 goals with few misses.

Casey Walker was impressive around the circle, feeding her goalies with pinpoint accuracy.

As a result Tantanoola created some much-needed space and took an 11-goal advantage to the final break.

Gould missed a few goals for the term as the Demons claimed the quarter but it was not enough to close the gap and the Tigers claimed a well-deserved eight-goal victory.

Casey Walker and Rowe were best for Tantanoola, while Mutch and Lewis claimed the honours for the Demons.

Tantanoola's Tayla Rowe played a strong defensive game in the Tigers' win over Port MacDonnell on Saturday.

Magpies deadly at goals

By Trevor Jackson

Kalangadoo 32.10 (202) d Robe 6.6 (42)

It was a tough day on the road for Robe in Round 16 of Mid South East football on Saturday.

The Roosters travelled to face a tough Kalangadoo outfit and the result suggested the Magpies are on track for a successful finals campaign.

Accuracy has been somewhat of a problem for the Magpies this season but that all changed on Saturday, with just 10 minor scores alongside the 32-goal haul.

The victory came after a steady opening term, where the Roosters were right in the contest, trailing by just seven points at the first break.

However, the Magpies then found their feet and began to pepper the big sticks, with 12 majors in the second quarter.

They added six more in the third term, before running the game out with an 11-goal final quarter burst.

Michael Krieger returned his biggest haul of the season with 12 majors, to now sit on 73 goals for the season from 13 games.

Krieger was rightly named best for the Magpies and was among a long list of 10 goal kickers.

Ben Gregory (5), Patrick Davies (4), Lachy Jones (3), Alex Lyon (2) and Andrew Stone (2) all kicked multiples, while a few others added single majors.

After an even first term, coach Kevin Stark made a few minor changes at the first break and the Magpies began to play their best football.

"I thought the first quarter was a real contest, which was good, then we had a chat about a couple of things and made a few little adjustments," he said.

"We just spoke about how we wanted to move the ball going forward and from there we were able to turn it around a bit, which was good.

"I think we generated 16 scoring shots in the second quarter so we were much happier with how we went about it."

Kalangadoo's Mitch Lowe moves the ball forward during the Magpies' big win over Robe.

As for Krieger's 12-goal effort, Stark simply said 'he had a very good day'.

"He is good in the air and just as good when he hits the ground," he said.

"He does it so consistently you sort of half expect it.

"He spends a bit of time in the mid-field too and still manages to hit the goals."

Part of the plan this season is to bring young players into the fold and that was the case on Saturday, with Brad Male, Connor Gentile and Jack O'Connor all in the lineup.

Stark said the youngsters not only filled a space but also contributed well.

"We have one regular senior colt in the lineup and brought two more in," he said.

"They played unbelievably good games.

"It is good to see they come in and play their role and do their job without any hiccups.

"We had Brad Male in the ruck and he has a crazy vertical leap.

"Connor Gentile has exquisite skills and it is the same with Jack O'Connor, who is an unbelievably hard-working footballer.

"All three, when they get the ball they don't panic, they have beautiful kicks, they pick their target and nine times out of 10 they lace it out."

The Magpies' best players list is indicative of how they play their football.

Stark said it showed a good mix of midfielders, backmen and forwards.

He said it was a tough prospect to pick the best players, considering the way the side is performing, which clearly shows in the success so far this season.

"The thing I like in the second half of the season is the even contribution from everyone," Stark said.

"Everyone is doing their job and we don't have eight to 10 people carrying the team."

Kalangadoo faces Tantanoola this weekend, before a big hitout in the final minor round against Hatherleigh.

"I and very happy with where we are at this time of the year," Stark said.

"But we are well aware as a group, come finals, if we get Hatherleigh or Port Mac in that first game, we have to make sure everyone is switched on and working hard.

"I like the fact we have Hatherleigh the week before finals, which will be a good test for the group to see where we are at."

Mozzies dominate

By Trevor Jackson

Mount Burr 41.20 (266) d Nangwarry 4.3 (27)

Mount Burr made short work of its clash with Nangwarry in Round 16 of Mid South East football on Saturday.

The Mozzies hit the ground running with a huge 15-goal opening stanza to put the Saints on notice.

The barrage continued throughout the afternoon, with a 141 to 7 scoreline at the main break.

The Saints simply struggled to penetrate the Mozzies defensive efforts but did manage to find two majors in the third quarter.

In reply the Mozzies added a further 10, then went on with the job in the final quarter, with another nine majors to ice the game.

The ability of Mount Burr to find a goal kicker in the clear certainly kept the scorers busy, with Hamish Smith the best of the bunch with nine goals.

Jack Gregory added seven, Brodie Hennink five and Josh Wallis four.

Taylor Allen, Dylan Ridley, James Wallis and Geordie Whennen all contributed two, with a host of other adding single majors.

It was a win which pleased coach Reece Duncan after coming off a big loss to Kalangadoo and a bye last round.

"It was pleasing to get back on the winner's board," he said.

"It was nice for the guys to come out and show they were ready to role and get things back in the right direction before finals."

The opening term certainly put the Saints on notice, which Duncan said was a test for his players, to see if they were ready to go straight out of the box.

From there the four-quarter performance suggested they were up to the task.

"We set ourselves up to make sure we were ready to go and it was good to see the guys show they were," Duncan said.

"Then I put it to the guys at half time - are we hungry enough and driven enough to continue on and keep pressuring these blokes or are we happy with what we have done, that's good enough and just cruise through for the rest of the game?"

"To me you need to make sure you stay hungry and keep pushing against any side and don't give an inch, because as soon as you give an inch you can find yourself in trouble and become complacent."

Heading into the game Duncan said he had no plans to rest players but simply wanted them to leave nothing out on the ground.

"I wanted the boys to come off after the game absolutely spent, to run the whole game out," he said.

"There were no free rides."

With 14 individual goal kickers, the Saints certainly had a tough job at the defensive end of the ground.

Duncan said there was no plan before the game to try to give as many players as possible to chance to score.

"We have our forward line set up and those players are our usual goal scorers," he said.

"It wasn't something I touched on, as in trying to get these blokes goals, it just happened naturally.

"They moved to the right spots and we pulled the trigger on certain kicks."

The Mozzies certainly appear to be on track to push hard into the finals series but Duncan has no thoughts on the post-season at this stage. He said the most important thing now was to concentrate on the game against Robe this weekend.

"Robe at Robe will be a tough test," Duncan said.

"They will be up and about - some of the scorelines haven't been favourable to them the last couple of weeks - but Robe is always tough down there.

"They have quality players and a good system.

"I am happy to be around the mark but I have said to the players, we haven't made finals until the final siren in the last game against Tantanoola, then we look at what is next.

"I just want to make sure we do the right thing, tick all the boxes and not get ahead of ourselves."

Mozzies close in to claim honours over Saints

Mount Burr 53 d Nangwarry 27

Mount Burr looked to limit Nangwarry's opportunities in Round 16 of Mid South East netball on Saturday.

Saints shooters Ange Pratt and Tahlia Wilson combined well but the Mozzies denied entry to the goal circle.

Madi Haggett was solid at the defensive end, while at the attacking end Ebony Clark was the focal point and the Mozzies found her in good position, to take a 13-5 lead to the first break.

Nangwarry made changes in the defensive end and brought Alice Circelli on the court at wing defence in an attempt to wrestle back some momentum.

Mount Burr set a defensive zone through the centre, causing numerous turnovers, while Meg Fennell passed with accuracy from the wing.

The Mozzies showed patience in attack, looking to find the goalies close to the ring.

Zoe Brown combined well with Clark and Mount Burr continued to build on its lead.

Laura Schultz went to goal attack and Fennell to centre as the Mozzies flirted with a changed lineup.

Haggett was dynamic in defence, causing turnovers before the Nangwarry goalies had the opportunity to score.

Mount Burr went to the final break with a 19-goal lead.

Mount Burr started strongly in the final term, despite Nangwarry double teaming Clark to try to stem the flow of goals.

Schultz drove hard into the circle and shared the scoring with Clark.

The Saints had some smooth passages of play in their attacking end but were unable to minimise Mount Burr's transition into attack as the Mozzies ran out convincing victors.

Haggett and Schultz were best for the victors, with Hayley Burner and Kylie Heaver best for the Saints.

Kalangadoo will need to limit the influence of Tantanoola shooter Emma Gould in Round 17 of Mid South East netball.

Round means action

Hatherleigh v Port MacDonnell

Round 17 of Mid South East netball sees Port MacDonnell head to Hatherleigh to face off against the Eagles in what is set to be the match of the round.

There are plenty of good match ups around the court in this entertaining clash.

Hatherleigh's Chelsea Galpin, Lara MacGregor and Demi Vanderhorst have proven to be a strong defensive combination and will work hard to force turnovers in Port MacDonnell's attack line.

Port MacDonnell's Toni Gilmore and Brooke Williams combine well in goals and will need to be shut down by the Eagles defenders.

At the other end of the court the Demons' defenders Alana Winter and Belinda O'Dine will work overtime to shut down Hatherleigh goalies Maddie Redman and Abby Wight.

This game has the potential to go either way and will be one to watch.

Robe v Mount Burr

Robe will look to cement its position in the top four when the Roosters host Mount Burr this weekend in a tough contest.

The Mozzies will look to redeem themselves after their loss to the Roosters in Round 8 and will come out firing from the first whistle.

Robe's Sarah Laurie and Halle Carter move well within their goal circle but they will have to shoot with accuracy because any rebounds and loose balls will be chased down by Mount Burr's Olivia Dean and Madi Haggett.

At the other end of the court Robe's defenders will have to work overtime to shut down the influence of Ebony Clark who is a focal point in the goal circle for the Mozzies.

Laura Schultz and Annie Hunter will have a good tussle down the court with both players working hard to create turnovers and having excellent drives onto the circle.

At the end of the game the Roosters will come away with the win, but Mount Burr will make them earn every goal.

Tantanoola v Kalangadoo

Tantanoola hosts Kalangadoo in what is a danger game for the Tigers.

The Tigers will fight to keep their position in the top four heading into the last two weeks of the season.

Kalangadoo's Kirsty Egan will have to feed

Port MacDonnell and Hatherleigh will do battle in the Mid South East netball match of the round on Saturday.

her goalies, Kori Collins and Abbey Duncan, with accuracy through the tough hands and defensive pressure of Tigers Kate Bromley and Tayla Rowe.

Madi Kelly and Michelle Robinson will need to stop the drive from Sophie Wrightson and Kirsty Egan in an attempt to prevent the ball entering the Magpies goal circle.

Magpies Lauren Kain and Reanna Wetherall will have to shut down Tantanoola's Emma Gould and prevent her from getting too much ball within the goal circle, while also preventing Jami Walker's accurate shots.

After a hard-fought game Kalangadoo will claim the points.

Glencoe v Kongorong

Glencoe will enter Round 17 well rested after last week's bye, ready to take on Kongorong at home.

Kongorong's defensive line up of Riley Buckingham and Emily Lightbody have the ability to create turnovers and will need to work hard to prevent goals from Glencoe's accurate shooters Malinda Markiewicz and Jenna Paproth.

Kate Wright will battle it out against Glencoe's Chloe Pfitzner on the wing and will have to feed to her goalies with accuracy around the Murphies' strong defence line up of Sarah Edwards and Chantelle Cocks.

Ashlea Edwards feeds Glencoe's goalies with accuracy from outside the circle and will be met by the pressure and strong hands of Sarah Lucas.

Glencoe's experience and defensive pressure will prove too much for the young Hawks side at the end of the day and the Murphies will come away with the points.

Rebounding: Squash season underway

By James Murphy

Action returned to the Millicent Squash Club last night, as the 2022 Spring Pennant season commenced.

Played over 10 rounds, close results are expected again across the season.

A total of 30 players make up 10 teams, with both an A Grade and B Grade competition.

"There are 10 rounds, but the school holidays are in the middle of that, so it will be played over 12 weeks, then plus finals," Millicent Squash Club secretary Darrell Looker said.

Players range in age and ability, with a combination of young and experienced competitors.

"There is a good mixture," Looker said.

"There are some young kids play and then there are some older people who play - both boys and girls."

Looker said while sports like football, netball or basketball are always popular, squash tends to go through phases.

However, the Millicent Squash Club has always been fairly strong and stands as one of few places to play competitively in the region.

"Over the years more and more squash centres have closed down," Looker said.

"That is why I am so excited about the Millicent one, because they own the building and there are five courts there.

"They have always had a strong club."

Looker said the squash is a great way to stay fit, while also being part of a team.

He expects another competitive pennant season, with teams always weighted evenly with talent.

"Last year when we got to the final, they had won the same amount of games, but the team that won, won on points," Looker said.

"They make sure it is always going to be pretty close."

While the spring pennant competition is now locked in, Looker said new members are always welcome.

Practices are held on Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights with anyone interested encouraged to come out for a hit.

Eagles take it to Demons

By Trevor Jackson

Round 17 Hatherleigh v Port MacDonnell

HATHERLEIGH faces a big test this weekend when it hosts Port MacDonnell in the penultimate minor round of Mid South East football.

The Demons have been in good touch in recent weeks as the business end of the season fast approaches.

It appears the Eagles have secured second spot on the ladder, with a big percentage advantage over the Demons but with two rounds remaining, anything is possible.

The main advantage for Hatherleigh is its depth, with the reserves undefeated to this point.

Any injuries can be covered, while the Demons are not so lucky.

Port MacDonnell lost a big list of players from the 2021 premiership side but has certainly remained relevant and in a position to defend its title.

Both sides are expected to have full lists heading into the clash, with the Eagles having the home-ground advantage.

For the Demons, Will MacDonald and Tim Sullivan provide first use of the ball from the ruck and add valuable goal-kicking skills to their resumes.

The value of Kev Thomson cannot be understated, with his ability to take on any role, forward or back and produce the goods consistently.

Add to that the hard, at the ball efforts of the likes of Ned Wilke and Mark Smith and the Demons cannot be taken lightly, as they showed last season.

The Eagles are just as capable of scoring, with the likes of coach Jake Dowdy, Sam Telfer, Jack Skeer, Patrick Chay, Brad Mitchell - and the list goes on - all capable of hitting the scoreboard.

Big men such as Joe Ferguson-Lane and Mark Marriott can control the contest in the air, while the likes of Jed Telfer and Jason Faulkner provide a tough brand of football.

While the Eagles have the slightly better record overall this season, last time the two sides met, back in Round 8, the Demons claimed the honours and held the Eagles to just three major scores.

This game deserves match-of-the-round billing and is sure not to disappoint.

The Eagles should claim the points but not without a fight.

Robe v Mount Burr

While the top four positions on the ladder are all-but set, Robe has an outside chance of sneaking in.

First the Roosters need to account for Mount Burr this weekend, which will be a tall order considering the recent form of the Mozzies.

Both sides have quite winnable games in the final round, which does add some importance to this clash.

However, with the Mozzies finding form at the right time of the season, it all points to a Mount Burr victory.

Glencoe v Kongorong

Only pride is on the line when Glencoe and Kongorong face off at the Murphies home ground.

The Hawks have played some patches of good football this season, while Glencoe has been in good form in recent weeks, with a good run up to last round's bye.

The Murphies should take care of this one without too many dramas, despite a tough challenge around the ground from the Hawks.

Tantanoola v Kalangadoo

Tantanoola faces an unenviable task of hosting Kalangadoo, with the Magpies simply going from form strength to strength as the season winds down.

The biggest talking point will be how many goal Michael Krieger can kick by the final round.

He currently sits on 73 with two rounds to play but will face a tough Hatherleigh in the final minor round.

The Magpies will romp away with this one and continue to fine tune as finals action fast approaches.

Langley set to reach milestone

This weekend, Dave Langley will take to the field for his 150th game for Tantanoola.

Langley is a left-footer with a huge heart, who always puts the team first.

He has spent his entire career playing for the Tigers and is always willing to help out around the club.

Langley's first trophy came in 2004 in the Junior Cults, when he took home the most-improved and in 2008, he ran onto the field for his first senior appearance.

In 2010, he won the B Grade coach's trophy and in 2017 and 2018, he had strong seasons and won the best team man award.

Saints outrun Demons

By James Murphy

MILLICENT 13.11 (89) d
SOUTH GAMBIER 6.8 (44)

In a preview of the coming qualifying final, Western Border football ladder leaders South Gambier and Millicent clashed at Blue Lake Sports Park on Saturday.

With mixed results from their previous clashes, it was the Saints who prevailed on the weekend to level their head-to-head record at two wins each this season.

As the final minor round and with no impact on the ladder, the Round 16 fixture was somewhat of a dead rubber across the board.

However, a game remained to be won and Millicent led at every change on its way to a 45-point victory.

"We had a plan during the week to win a game of footy and we did," Millicent coach Clint Gallio said.

"We had some really good patches of play and that was really pleasing."

Dylan Bromley had another day out in front of goals, with seven majors, while Thomas Hutchesson also popped up with a couple.

The opening quarter was relatively even and Gallio said he felt the Demons probably had more control over the game during that period.

Despite that, Millicent held an eight-point advantage at the first change, before a lift in the second term gave the Saints the upper hand.

"We chatted about a few things at quarter time and fixed up a few things and swung the momentum our way a bit," Gallio said.

"We had some really good looks forward and some isolation up there."

"Our defenders always have a crack and they are really good for us every week."

"They repelled a lot of balls and then we controlled the ball through the middle."

"After that 10-minute mark of the second quarter it felt like we controlled the game a little bit which was pleasing."

Sam Willis was part of the midfield group and he put in a best-on-ground performance for the Saints.

He has been in a purple patch of form in recent rounds and has found his groove at the right end of the season.

"He played really well and got a lot of the footy," Gallio said.

A six-goal-to-one return in the second term set up a six-goal lead at half time and from there the Saints remained on top for the remainder of the match.

Willis was not the only young talent to earn a mention, with Jaxon Cushion and Jacob Todd sharing the ruck duties once again in the absence of Sam Waring and Finn Grimes.

"We used both of those boys in the ruck again and we thought they did an outstanding job for us," Gallio said.

"They did a super job for us against Mason (Hein) who is a big boy and probably one of the better rucks in the league."

South was best served by Brock Keding on the day, who has enjoyed a fruitful season so far.

His work through the midfield was impressive, while the backline also received high praise on the day.

The likes of Taylor Saffin, Todd Reid, James Paprotny and Chris Fallas were all in fine form.

While Saturday's clash did nothing to ladder position, the Demons will be eager to bounce back in a big way when they face the Saints again in the second semi-final in a couple of weeks.

In a rare occurrence for South, there were no key targets in the forward line and all six goals came off a different boot.

Both teams will now hit the training track hard in preparation for their next meeting, which will reward the victor with the first place in the 2022 grand final.

Dylan Bromley bagged seven goals for Millicent in its win over South Gambier on Saturday.

Saints pushed by Demons

MILLICENT 59 d SOUTH GAMBIER 54

Millicent held off a tenacious South Gambier on Saturday to deny the Demons a breakthrough finals appearance.

The final margin was five goals with South within two at one stage in the frenetic final quarter.

Despite being a loss it was a strong finish to the season for the young line-up, who picked up six wins for the season to double its 2021 output.

However, in the end the Saints were composed when it counted, despite losing star wing defender Georgia Clarke to a serious knee injury in the opening quarter.

Demi Verbena and Lisa Duldig led the way as they controlled the ball movement in the attacking half of the court.

They worked well in tandem with Paige Nitschke and delivered with precision to Tabatha Sanderson under the post.

At the other end the battle was intriguing as four of the best young stars in the competition went head to head. Millicent defenders Portia McRae and Hannah Nitschke took on Demons goalers Lara Munro and Alyssa Duncan in a tight tussle.

Millicent would be pleased to have been challenged strongly ahead of its 2022 finals campaign.

The Saints' depth was on full display with Lillie Paul taking the wing defence bib to replace the injured Clarke and having a great battle with Tully McShane.

They now enter a break as Western Border netball finals start this weekend, with the elimination final between East Gambier and North Gambier opening proceedings.

They will play West Gambier in two week's time in the qualifying final, which will be a big indication of who may be the 2022 champions.

Millicent's Lisa Duldig proved a hard match through the Saints' midcourt during their tight win over South Gambier on Saturday.
