Millicent A Grade coach Clint Gallio with premiership cup in hand after Saturday's grand final win.

Picture: JAMES MURPHY

Back-to-back flags

Millicent footballers were the toast of the town when the Saints overcame the Demons to claim back-to-back Western Border football premierships on Saturday.

Up against minor premier South Gambier in the 2022 grand final, they broke away from their rival in the second half to push out to a 40-point win.

The top-grade netballers did not taste the same success, with a hard-fought loss to West Gambier.

However, with a total of seven premierships across junior and senior grades, it was a rewarding day for the Millicent Football and Netball Club.

Future unclear

Despite more than 15 people turning up to last Thursday's Millicent Business Community Association's Annual General Meeting, no office bearer positions were filled, leaving the association's future in jeopardy.

All office bearer positions were declared vacant at the meeting and current chair, Lee Morgan, had announced after the last AGM that he would no longer re-nominate for the role.

No nominations were received for any of the executive positions which include chairperson, secretary and treasurer, seven members self nominated for the general committee.

The association has been without a dedicated secretary in the role for almost two years and current treasurer, Sandra Melrose, previously stated that she would be stepping down from the role but is prepared to assist in the immediate future.

The meeting had been re-convened from a week earlier when a quorum of committee members was not met, meaning proposed constitutional changes put forward were unable to be voted on.

The latest meeting reached a quorum to pass the previous weeks business with the chairperson's report being amended to remove any reference to the previous report's constitutional changes.

2021-2022 chairperson Lee Morgan, who has held the role for five years, explained why the report had been amended saying he believed it could have been clearer and circulated across the paid membership base better.

Cheers to cab sav!

By Kathy Fennell

International Cabernet Sauvignon day was celebrated all over the world last week including Coonawarra.

This day is celebrated on the same day each year and it honours the fine quality and the deep berry flavour that have come to define Cabernet Sauvignon wines.

This grape variety dates back to the 17th century and is the offspring chance crossing between the Cabernet Franc and Sauvignon Blanc.

Cabernet Sauvignon is now one of the most renowned grape varieties and is world renowned in Coonawarra.

New central business hub on the cards for Glencoe

By Caroline Hammat

For the past few years mother and daughter team, Julie and Tameka Walker, had a vision of expanding on their current business The Country Post and Bistro at Glencoe to include a licensed venue featuring a pizzeria.

Stemming from their love of pizza and local wines the old stone storage shed and two bay garage next door to their existing business is finally being transformed into a destination for visitors to the town and a central hub for the community.

The pair have almost completed the fitout with refurbished booths from the Millicent Community Club's dining room and vintage chandeliers creating a unique rustic atmosphere, including windows that slide open to an outdoor beer and wine garden.

Tameka said "We have a little bit to go with our new extension but can finally see the dream coming all together, which is very exciting."

Tameka and Julie, noticed the number of visitors coming to town to visit the Glencoe Woolshed, camp at Lake Leake or walk the Honan Mint Trails.

"We have a group of bike riders who have supported us for the last six years, coming out most Sundays for a bike ride and stopping for a coffee at the shop.

"Other people come out on the weekend for a drive and an ice-cream or are passing through from the airport.

"We decided we want to bring more people to Glencoe to show what great history we have here, and to bring our dream to life and create a rustic country vibe space in the hub of Glencoe and put Glencoe on the map."

The duo have lots of plans including the introduction of live music with local musicians and creating a space where new residents and long term locals can get to know each other better.

"We really want to create a space where we can promote local businesses, we are stocking local wines and using local businesses" said Tameka.

The new venture is named The Central Hub and will be available for private functions and community fun days with a focus on showcasing local products, produce and talent.

The official opening is yet to be announced with plans to open on Friday, Saturday and Sundays with the possibility of extra days added in the future.

Covid hits aged care

Sheoak Lodge Nursing Home in Millicent has recently experienced another Covid-19 outbreak at the facility with 16 residents testing positive since August.

A statement from the Limestone Coast Local Health Network (LCLHN) said that last month additional staffing was put in place to support staff and residents during the outbreak with the first case detected on August 17.

At the time of print LCLHN said there was one active case remaining.

No visitor restrictions were introduced during this period however, family members visiting Covid positive residents have been required to wear personal protective equipment (PPE) in line with guidelines.

The government health website recording all active Covid-19 cases in residential aged care facilities also lists 10 staff as testing positive to the virus throughout August.

The previous outbreak at the facility was in June this year when 15 residents and 12 staff were recorded as returning positive tests.

Sheoak Lodge recently experienced a Covid-19 outbreak at its Towers Road facility.

No response from station despite rally

By Elsie Adamo

5THE FM management has not responded to a group of community members who rallied outside Millicent's community radio station FM on Saturday morning, hoping to speak to the station's manager.

More than 30 community members gathered on Railway Terrace at the community broadcaster's office. Most of those in attendance were former volunteers at the station, interested community members and one current volunteer who supports the station.

Millicent resident David Walshaw has been representing a group of community members who have formally applied to become members of the station following a community meeting in July organised by Des Noll. The group have made multiple attempts over a number of weeks to discuss their concerns with either the community station's manager or board members but has received no response.

Speaking at the gathering to those in attendance, Mr Walshaw said he decided to organise the rally to attempt to meet with a station representative.

"There are lots of things we are concerned about," he said.

"We seemed to have lost the community in community radio.

"I note there are many ethnic groups in our community that are keen to get back on the air, and several have approached me to say we need to keep this fight up so we can get back on the air.

"Many stalwarts of our community have been kicked out of the organisation for no reason."

Mr Walshaw outlined what he claimed were examples of volunteers wrongfully being forced out of volunteering for the station and sponsors being treated poorly.

"The list goes on and on of people who have been disenfranchised from this community radio station," he said.

"I am really concerned about the governance...as you know, it is an incorporated organisation, and as such, it has statutory requirements.

"We have no idea what sort of money is going through this community radio station and where it is going, and I think the community have a right to know."

Mr Walshaw stated he aimed to better transparency and governance practices in the organisation and a more involved volunteer cohort.

"I think I represent the views of many of the people here and certainly had some really strong support," he said.

"We want to know what is going on, we want to know what is happening inside those walls, we want our community back in there, we want diversity in broadcasting, we want our ethnic communities to be represented on air and we also want volunteer engagement recruitment."

Before knocking on the door, Mr Walshaw said he hoped someone would talk to him to discuss what happened to the more than 60 membership applications made to the station over a month ago.

"There are 60 people just sitting out there waiting to come in and join the organisation..."

John Drew, Megan Brennan and David Walshaw on Saturday morning. Mr Drew formerly volunteered for the organisation and said during the gathering it was the first protest he has ever attended, which showed how passionate he was about the cause.

The group gathered on Saturday to try and meet with station management.

something is going on, and we do not know what it is."

Mr Walshaw knocked on the station's door alone, but no one answered. He then returned to the gathering and discussed the next steps that may be taken.

Mr Walshaw, on behalf of the group, said he has written to the South Australian Consumer Business Services (CBS), Community Broadcasting Association of Australia (CBAA) and the Australian Communications and Media Authority (ACMA), who is currently investigating the station. He has also engaged a lawyer to represent the group.

Following the meeting, Mr Walshaw said no representatives from the 5THE FM have been in contact with him despite giving the group "ample opportunity" to do so.

"We will now have to work with the statutory authorities to achieve some outcomes," he said.

"It has become quite serious... we think this could have been mitigated easily with some open conversation.

"There will be no winners now in this process."

An AGM for the organisation has not yet been publicly advertised but is understood to be required to occur before the end of September.

Association in limbo

"This was an approach to have an executive officer, the intent was to trial (the position), get a job description and work through with the committee to come up with a position that ultimately we could seek some independent funding."

"I have extracted all that information relating to the constitution and that is something the new committee can deal with."

Mr Morgan said he was standing down due to a number of personal reasons but would stand on the committee.

Pre-empting that no board nominations would be received Mr Morgan stated he had sought legal advice in regards to the future of the association.

Wattle Range Council Chief Executive Officer Ben Gower suggested the organisation needs to look at the act, legal framework and the MBCA constitution

"Some constitutions allow the chair to be vacant for a period and you rotate the role on a monthly basis until its filled, I don't think the constitution allows that but maybe that is an option," he said.

Mr Gower offered support from council to navigate a way forward, stating it is a valuable framework for the community to have.

Life member of the MBCA Marg Chapple wanted it noted that the association is very healthy in membership.

"The support that we have always got from members is fantastic and the membership allows a committee to do what we have done, it is just getting people to take on these positions that are happy to do the work," she said.

The seven 2022-2023 committee members are Melissa Armfield, Lee Morgan, Amy Faulkner, Fiona Telfer who are continuing on from last year and new committee members Lisa Braes, Chris Ellery and Caroline Hammat.

Mr Morgan has said an email will be sent out to all paid members as soon as possible in regards to the next MBCA meeting.

Turning blue for a cause

By Caroline Hammat

German Flat's Poonada Road will be busier than usual this Sunday night as the Wattle Range Suicide Prevention Network (WRSPN), in partnership with Vestas service technician John Hutchison, invite the public to view the lighting up of one of the service provider's wind turbines.

The 67-metre wind turbine owned by Engie (Canunda wind farm) will turn blue for at least three hours for mental health and suicide awareness.

Last year Mr Hutchison set up lights to see what a turbine would look like lit up with the vision of using it raise awareness for mental health "I didn't know how effective it would be in lighting up a 67-metre tower from the ground, so I organised some blue cellophane just to see if we could get the turbine lit from the ground and it looked pretty amazing.

"It was a bit of an experiment and an in-house thing and was pretty effective the first time, the next time we invited out some photographers and this year it is open to everybody."

This year's event is set closer to Poonada Road with toilet facilities, heaters and some shelter if needed, organisers have arranged for Let it Bean coffee van to be onsite and soup to warm people while the sun sets.

A 38 metre blade that sits on the ground at the site will be used as a projection surface highlighting the work of the WRSPN through a slideshow and blue hand-knitted beanies will be available to purchase on the night.

"The last turbine did stand out quite bit from the landscape, you should be able to see it from a fair distance.

"We will set the lights up as the sun is setting, you don't even know they are on but as the sky starts to change in colour it looks pretty effective" said Mr Hutchison.

The community is invited to rug up and bring a chair from 6pm on Sunday September 11 to see the wind turbine turn blue at 736 Poonada Rd, German Flat.

Google maps will assist in finding the location.

The event follows World Suicide Prevention Day on Saturday September 10.

One of the first wind turbines, owned by Iberdrola, was lit up blue last year.

Complaint about Noll dismissed

A code of conduct complaint against Wattle Range Council Mayor Des Noll was formally dismissed at a Council meeting on Monday.

The code of conduct complaint was made against Mr Noll by Sheryl Lowe on behalf of the Board of The Millicent Community Access Radio Station, 5THEFM, on July 11.

Ms Lowe was given one month by deputy mayor Moira Neagle to substantiate her claims with evidence, but according to the correspondence at the Council meeting this week none was forthcoming.

Ms Neagle therefore decided to dismiss the allegations, as she was "unable to assess whether the allegations can be substantiated".

Following the dismissal of the allegations, Mr Noll released a statement on the matter for the sake of transparency.

"It is my personal belief that any elected member who is subject to a Code of Conduct complaint should be making the community aware of it," Mr Noll said.

"I have previously made statements in the media concerning the Millicent Community Radio Station, 5THEFM. These statements have been expressed as my personal position, in my personal capacity and have not been delivered in my capacity as Mayor or on behalf of the Wattle Range Council.

"Concerns about the radio station management, transparency of business and local volunteer involvement have been a subject of concern within our community for some time."

"An internal Code of Conduct investigation was conducted in accordance with due process as set out in the Local Government Act and Council's Complaints Handling Policy under Wattle Range Council's Member's Code of Conduct Procedure," he said.

"The complaint has been dismissed in its entirety due to a lack of evidence."

Young dancers wins gold at championship

By Aidan Curtis

Former Penola girl, Hailee Pearce scooped the pool at the Barrier Reef highland dancing championships in Townsville, Queensland last week.

Hailee won the overall championship in the 14-15 year old category and competed against other dancers from NSW, Tasmania, Victoria and Queensland.

Ms Pearce was up against dancers from all around the nation, but managed to top her age group to win the 14-15 years championship title.

Margaret Cleves School of Dancing principal Margaret Reichelt said, while she was not able to go watch the competition, she was incredibly proud of her student.

"Every championship win is a thrill and you're pleased [as a teacher] because so much work goes into all this, especially when you get to this standard," Ms Reichelt said.

"There's hours of practice involved in getting to that standard."

She said highland dancers have faced a lot of challenges in the last few years due to Covid, which meant extra work was needed to maintain a championship standard.

"We've had two years out really; competitive highland dancing almost came to a standstill," she said.

"Although they were still coming to lessons, a lot of it was done via Zoom, of course, but to get back up to the standard again after having two years off competitive dancing has been quite difficult.

"For highland dancing, you have to be very fit, and the more competitions you do, the better you get at it, the standard gets better each time."

According to Ms Reichelt, it will be a busy couple of weeks coming up for her student.

Ms Pearce will soon sit for her Advanced Certificate in Highland Dancing, which will be followed by state championships in Adelaide on September 17.

TEXT TO EDITOR

I was disappointed to recently read in the media that the South Australian Police regional country review highlighting the future of the Kalangadoo Police Station has not yet been completed. I am acutely aware of the Covid-19 situation during the duration time of the Country Police Station review. The country policing review commenced back in 2017. Covid-19 commenced in 2020. I commend Commissioner Stevens for the role he played as the State Co-ordinator for Covid-19. Mr Stevens did an outstanding job keeping all of us safe.

What does this mean for the Kalangadoo and district community?

The Kalangadoo community lost its permanent Police member position some five years ago, describing it as a change in its operational delivery of policing services. Country policing is about the local police member connecting into the community; living in and being a part of the community; getting to know the locals and being the local's go-to person when required. A significant position for local policing that cannot be underestimated.

Kalangadoo is an active and growing community with a strong football and netball club, bowls club, busy railway station museum, hotel, which is the heartbeat of the community (consisting of nine accommodations rooms and a RV camping area), two general stores, hairdressing salon, primary school, steel fabrication manufacturing business, large timber mill operation, CFS brigade station, farmers market, Wattle Range Council equipment depot, a growing tourism trade, Garden Centre, active Lions club and a robust agriculture primary production community.

Has anyone from the South Australia Police Country review project team actually visited Kalangadoo and spoken to the businesses and residents about the future of the police station and the potential removal of a permanent police member position and get their views? Surely that would be part of a review to consult with the community. If this has not happened, I invite Commissioner Stevens to ensure this happens and if the decision is to permanently close the police station, then at least inform the community of your decision. The community has lived with an empty and unmanned police station and a vacant government residence within the township without knowing what is happening. This vibrant community deserves better.

Agriculture teacher Deb Neale with students Dharma Baynes, Lucy Kellock and Harry Baker.

Lucy's got a sure handle on title

By Elsie Adamo

Kangaroo Inn Area School student Lucy Kellock was named Champion Novice Steer Handler at the Royal Adelaide Show last week.

Entering in the SA Young Beef Breeders Novice Class, Ms Kellock, a Year 12 student at the school, said the win had been a surprise.

"My steer was well behaved, but I did not know I was going to get champion," Ms Kellock said.

"We only had two students go to cattle, and the rest of the schools had at least three people per steer, so they had a lot more help than us."

"It was very exciting, a bit of a rush. It is my favourite subject, I love working with animals."

Ms Kellock had last attended the show with the school when she was in Year 9, as the event had been cancelled the last two years due to the Covid-19 pandemic.

"My last year I got to go back and do the steers, which was exciting," she said.

"I love going to the show with animals, there are lots of things to see, and you learn a lot."

Agriculture is in the family, as Ms Kellock's father is the manager of a farm near Mt Burr and she plans to start work in the industry after finishing school this year.

Over 14 weeks of preparation went into the event, with Ms Kellock and fellow student Dharma Baynes both entering into handler competitions.

"Every Wednesday and Thursday for about half a day each, we were going to the Ag shed and leading them around," Ms Kellock said.

"Washing them, getting them prepared, there was a lot of background work."

Unfortunately, Ms Baynes sustained an injury before taking place in the competition, so fellow student Harry Baker stepped in and placed third.

Kangaroo Inn Area School agricultural teacher Deb Neale said both students had done well in their events.

"It is great for our little school, we only had two students, and to give you an idea, some other schools had around 20 entrants," Ms Neale said.

"It is a lot for the kids to organise and keep on top of...they [the students] showed a lot of initiative."

More students from the school are attending the show this weekend for sheep and goat competitions.

Volunteers recognised

Despite the many challenges presented by COVID-19, weekly Penola Bingo volunteers, Babara Smith, Junette Jolly and Deb Quinn have remained mostly unphased and very adaptable.

The three were awarded Premier's Certificates as recognition for their contributions to volunteering in the Limestone Coast local Health Network.

Penola Hospital Leisure and Lifestyle coordinator Roz Minion nominated the trio for remaining accommodating and continuing to go above and beyond in their volunteering duties.

"These ladies' generosity of spirit, time and dedication to this singular event is to be commended," she said.

"Their sole aim is to bring residents together, share a laugh and a smile and provide an activity that improves cognition and overall health and wellbeing.

"Planning additional "door prizes", and sharing stories and community news all contribute to a valuable and meaningful experience for residents, maintaining social connectivity and comradery."

Staff have also mentioned seeing the benefits the Bingo Group activity brings to residents and are grateful to Barbara, Junette and Deb for their time and effort in organising the weekly sessions.

If anyone is interested in volunteering, there are many roles across the Limestone Coast Local Health Network in a range of areas including at our hospitals, in aged care, gardening and pet therapy.

Lorraine awarded for her service to the community

Millicent identity Lorraine Hyland has been recognised by fellow community members for her outstanding contributions to Millicent. She was presented with The Millicent Lions Club - Volunteer of the Year award recently, in honour of her contributions to the community.

The award is presented annually to a local citizen in special recognition of an outstanding community contribution.

Ms Hyland has been a volunteer in the community in many different ways over many years, including more than a decade at the Millicent Visitor Information Centre, where she welcomed visitors to the town and the district by providing assistance and information to many tourists and countless visitors. She was a key figure among the group of volunteers who were involved at the time, and was responsible for much of the day to day running of the centre.

Six years ago, she began volunteering at the Millicent Library where she continues to regularly work along with others in the History room, sorting, sifting, cataloguing and entering into digital form, much of the history of our town and Region.

Ms Hyland has also been the Millicent Bowling club's kitchen catering coordinator in recent years, coordinating catering for both regular Bowling club days as well as special events at the Club house.

In the world of craft, Lorraine is a keen patchwork quilter and she teaches others and has had involvement in quilt displays for the Geltwood festival over the years.

She volunteers as a member of the local Millicent Health Advisory Committee, and is the coordinator of Meals on Wheels.

She has also been a member of the original Lioness club and the now Lions Club of Wattle Range Lioness. She was presented with the award at the Millicent Lions Club September meeting.

A new twist on old crafts

Keen people are invited to try a series of vintage crafts, as the fun of the Geltwood Festival ramps up.

The 2022 Geltwood Festival will kick off this coming Sunday with a series of five weekend workshops in the lead up to the main event mid-October.

In an introductory program titled the 'Vintage Series', local craft specialists will share their love, knowledge, and passion for making with participants.

The series will begin with the 'Learn how to make apple cider and kombucha at home' session on Sunday September 11, to be facilitated by Council's own Emma Clay and Ben Gower.

Council's Manager Community Development Caroline Hill said the Wattle Range Council was excited to again partner with the Geltwood Festival committee for the much-anticipated Geltwood Festival, which will be held from October 14 to 17.

Once again, 250 quilts will be displayed around the Millicent precinct. The festival features a market day with live music at the George Hotel, kids' entertainment, a model train exhibition, mural & sculpture walk, museum open day, cocktail party, quilting workshops, and convention, and lots more arts and crafts.

Market day on Sunday, October 16 will showcase local staff holders, live music by Kristy and Jason Wallace at the Grand Hotel.

The street stage will have displays performed by Hype, Millicent Gymnastics Club and more.

The Model train exhibition at the RSL Hall on Saturday and Sunday October 15 and 16 will bring together five model railway layouts for community viewing.

There will be a IMAG Mural & Sculpture Walk – Meet IMAG at Millicent Visitor Information Centre at 10.20 am on Sunday 16th October to join a leisurely stroll through our arts precinct.

Keen artists can take part in Paint and stitch with the two Julies - Painting workshops held on Sunday October 16 paint watercolour then add stitching at the Millicent Library.

Jacky Morris will be hosting two painting workshops at the George Hotel with a full day on Saturday October 15 to paint a black cockatoo and a half day paint and sip class on Sunday 16th to paint a cow.

Patchwork Workshops on 15th and 16th October hosted by Julie Wesolowski to learn the traditional art of patchwork.

Quilting Convention to be held on Monday, October 17 at the Millicent Civic & Arts Centre.

"The Vintage Workshops are a terrific opportunity to try a vintage art for the first time or hone your skills. Art forms celebrated across the series include traditional patchwork, apple cider and kombucha, stained glass, basket weaving, crochet, and boro stitching," Ms Hill said.

"The workshops will all be held in Millicent with the first commencing on Sunday, September 11, and we encourage people to book early due to class size limitations."

"We are so pleased that the Geltwood Festival will be held from October 14-17 with a full program of activities. We encourage early bookings through the Geltwood Festival website."

Penola show's recycled art for outdoors competition

By Kathy Fennell

The return of the Penola show this year will see the recycled garden art competition for female show competitors making its comeback.

The Penola Terra Rossa CWA are once again coordinating the competition and can't wait to see what the creative ladies of the region come up with.

One of the organisers, Mrs Janet Brodie said the group was extremely pleased with the support it received in 2019 and 2021.

"There are many creative ladies in our area who just need an excuse to get out into the shed and do something for themselves, using skills they may not have known they had," she said.

The competition was created in 2019 in answer to the men's chocolate cake competition that had proved so popular.

It has been held at the Penola show once and was last year staged in the beautiful garden at St Mary's winery.

The sculptures can be made from any recycled materials, giving a wide scope to creativity and ingenuity.

Mosaic, metal work, wood, plastic - if its recycled you can use it as a medium.

"The CWA really want to encourage ladies whom have never done anything like this before to have a go.

Surprise yourself with your creativity and have a fantastic piece of art for your garden at the end of the process.

Past entrants have loved showing off their pieces and been pleased and surprised with the skills they have learnt to put together their sculptures," Mrs Brodie said.

Last year saws a diverse range of mediums in the prize winning sculptures.

Liz Goosens winning piece was made from metal and grape vines.

Local company, Deland Engineering are again on board as the sponsor and are providing the prizemoney.

Further information about the competition is available on the Penola Terra Rossa facebook page or contact Janet Brodie on 0400 028 566.

Water partnerships blossom for schools

Students at Nangwarry Primary School will be developing their environmental and sustainability knowledge through the development a new community garden.

The garden is a partnership with SA Water, as part of the utility's 2022-23 Community Partnership Program.

Funding will go towards the installation of a 25,000-litre rainwater tank at the school, as well as plumbing and irrigation, creating a sustainable watering system for the on-site garden.

The annual program provides a total of $75,000 in financial support towards initiatives or events focused on environmental sustainability, climate change and improving community health and wellbeing.

SA Water's General Manager of Strategy, Engagement and Innovation Nicola Murphy said the exciting project at Nangwarry is among eight new partnerships in metropolitan and regional South Australia this year.

"Sharing our vision for a greener environment, the rainwater tank will be an important tool for the students to learn about water-wise gardening techniques," Nicola said.

"It will capture stormwater run-off from three buildings on site, and the design incorporates a swale system to help spread water evenly across the garden."

St Martins Lutheran College in Mount Gambier is also partnering with SA Water for the 2022-23 program, with funding going towards construction of a seasonal wetland in a nearby nature reserve.

SA Water's 2022-23 Community Partnerships Program is assisting initiatives of different shapes and sizes, ranging from a watering habitat in Monarto to a new sensory garden in Port Pirie.

"We're also partnering-up to deliver an incredible feature garden at this year's Royal Adelaide Show, where tens of thousands of visitors each day can learn about creating cool, green spaces in their community," Nicola said.

"We know grassroots groups and events have faced challenges throughout recent years due to COVID-19, and we can't wait to work together with all of this year's program recipients to achieve great outcomes."

Penola's Lucy Williams urges everyone to become involved in mental health

First aid for mental health

By Kathy Fennell

A first aid course is being held in Penola and will be run over two days at two consecutive sessions on October 9 and 10, and October 10 and 11.

The venue will be the Penola Tourist Information Centre and will run from 9.30am to 4.30pm each day.

The course which is free of charge is organised by the Penola Wellness Group and Breakthrough.

One of the organisers, Lucy Williams of Penola became heavily involved with mental health as her father took his own life.

"I have always wanted to help make a change as I was affected by mental health at a young age.

I don't want any family to go through what my family went through and are still going through to this day," she said.

Lucy said she is also passionate about the stigma of mental health and encourages people to have a conversation to normalise mental health.

"The death of my dad triggered me along with my mum Anne-Marie and sister Kelly to try and help others in our community. My sister and myself have also made a career out of helping people too," Lucy said.

The upcoming first aid course is supported by Breakthrough and the Penola Wellness Group with lunch, morning and afternoon tea provided with generous sponsorship from EJ Studios and Casella Wines.

"The first aid course was chosen as back in November 2021 the Penola Wellness Group hosted a mental health information session focussing on lived life experiences," Lucy said.

The group was fortunate to have John Mannion, CEO of Breakthrough and recently appointed as an SA Mental Health Commissioner, and Zane Kirkwood and Breakthrough ambassador speak on the night.

They also listened to my 'dream' of a mental health ambulance being in each region, a similar model to the McGrath Foundation breast care nurses.

The ambulance would be called by a carer, friend, family member, workmate and attend to the person needing help.

"As I know from experience it is very hard to get the person to realise they need help. We are hoping that Breakthrough will research this possibility," Lucy said.

The first aid course is limited to numbers and if you miss out on a ticket you can message the Penola Wellness group who will put you on a waiting list.

You can register online via Eventbrite.

Cure is a walk in the park

By Caroline Hammat

Walkers tackled a fresh morning at Jubilee Park for the annual Father's Day walk held by the Millicent Cancer Support Group on Sunday.

The fundraiser attracted 34 walkers with Neil Hamilton winning the walker's prize and the raffle won by Jay Watson.

Including raffle ticket sales the morning raised approximately $500 toward supporting local health services and cancer research.

While at the walk group president Lisa McCourt and treasurer Karla Werchon took the opportunity to talk about their next fundraiser the Girls Day Out.

The popular biannual event has been running for about 10 years but had to be postponed last year due to Covid-19.

The Girl's Day Out will be held at the Somerset Hotel on Melbourne Cup's Derby Day and attendees are encouraged to dress in black and white if they wish.

The afternoon will include lunch, a small auction, raffle and possibly a sweep on one of the main Derby Day races.

Ms McCourt said about the group's fundraising goal "We have spoken to the Millicent hospital and they are doing up their palliative care room.

"We have enough money already to buy a bed for the palliative care room that does everything needed and a bed settee for family that might want to stay.

"There will be other things that we want to do but the main thing was the palliative care room, it has been going on for about three years now because of Covid, but its in the process now.

"Even with Covid we didn't really do anything and we still raised quite a lot of money with people donating to us, people are very generous, everyone has been affected in some way."

Ms Werchon agreed "We sold all the tickets to last year's event and we had heaps of people say we don't want the money back, they just donated it."

The Girls Day Out will be held Saturday, October 29 from noon with tickets going on sale this Saturday 9am at Heaven on a Hanger.

With just over 100 tickets for sale the event is likely to sell out quickly "It is just a good chance to get out, socialise, have fun and raise some money" said Ms McCourt.

Mother and daughter Susanne Casimaty and Jo Wilson set out for their walk.

Taking on the brisk chill in the air at Sunday's walk are Alan and Sue Correll.

Motoring

Numbers stack up in Jeep

By Derek Ogden, Marque Motoring

Jeep has brought back an extra row of seats to its Grand Cherokee large sports utility vehicle range, turning it into a full seven-seat SUV.

While at it, the maker has boosted its iconic off-roader with more technology.

The replacement for the big five-seater, the long wheelbase L comes in three versions, beginning with the Grand Cherokee L Night Eagle, selling for $82,250, plus on-roads, then the mid-range L Limited ($87,950) and the L Summit Reserve ($115,450).

The flagship Summit Reserve included Palermo quilted leather, 21-inch wheels, a McIntosh premium sound system, front-seat ventilation and massaging, four-zone climate control and air suspension, while a $5500 Advanced Technology Group, with head-up display, wireless phone charging, night vision camera and front interactive passenger display, was added, taking the price to more than $120,000, before on-road costs.

A new-generation five-seat model – with the same technology and styling as the seven-seat L – will follow to Australia later this year, with the option of 4xe plug-in hybrid power.

For a vehicle so big, at more than five metres long, the Grand Cherokee L Summit is well proportioned – width more than two metres, yet height well under two metres – gives the SUV a bold yet sleek aerodynamic coupe character.

The front consists of an upper metallic grille with Jeep's trademark seven slots flanked by LED headlamps.

Below is a full grille-width air vent incorporating LED daytime running lights.

From the rear, the SUV belies its bulk with simple horizontal lines incorporating wrap-around tail lights and twin alloy tipped exhaust pipes.

Side on, 21-inch polished painted alloy wheels, a standard fitment on Summit, support a sporty street presence.

The increase in the horizontal exterior allows for a boost to the wheelbase and cabin space in general, something not lost on occupants aboard the test vehicle.

In a first for Jeep, the Grand Cherokee L boasts Ubersesque seating for a driver and six passengers in space and comfort.

All three rows are easily accessed, even the power-operated third row, with the second row tumbling well out of the way, leaving the back to weigh in with adult leg room.

Carry-on bits and pieces find a home in a range of storage spaces, including a deep box in the centre console and bottle holders in the centre and doors all round.

Rear passengers have the advantage of retractable blinds, just in time for summer heat-wave predictions.

Luggage is not left behind in the storage stakes, with 487 litres available with all three rows in use, leading up to a cavernous 2395 litres with the two sets of rear seatbacks folded flat.

There's a cabin-wide cubby under the floor where the jack is stored.

A state-of-the-art McIntosh audio is now offered for the first time in a full-size SUV.

It is made up of a 17-channel amplifier producing up to 950 Watts of power through 19 custom-made speakers, including a 10-inch sub-woofer.

Apple CarPlay wireless support means an iPhone can be connected without having to plug it into the vehicle.

The system brings contacts, audio apps, Apple Maps and more on board, all through the Uconnect system.

A 10.25-inch digital instrument cluster looks after sat nav, along with mechanical features such as tyre pressure monitoring and driving aids.

There's a roof-mounted rear facing 'kid

Coming soon: A new five-seater model of the Cherokee Summit, with the same tech as the seven-seater, will arrive in Australia later this year.

cam' camera that will police questionable behaviour in the back two rows.

It even has a zoom mode.

All models are powered by the tried-and-tested 3.6 litre Pentastar naturally aspirated V6 engine, delivering 210 kW of peak power and 344 Nm of maximum torque to all four wheels through an eight-speed automatic transmission.

The flagship Summit adds a more advanced four-wheel-drive system with a low-range transfer case.

Top-shelf safety features take the Grand Cherokee L Summit to new heights.

These include adaptive cruise control with stop/go, full speed collision warning with autonomous braking and pedestrian and cyclist detection.

Then there's blind spot monitoring, rear cross-traffic alert and active lane management.

All these use a selection of loud warning beeps at times hard to pinpoint the source of the potential trouble, while driving assistance, such as active lane management, can be over-intrusive.

At on-road cruising speeds the engine is refined and powerful.

However, intrusive wind noise is a bit of a blow and the expansive exterior mirror stands out as a blind spot for the driver on negotiating such obstacles as roundabout kerbing.

Fuel consumption is a downer – it's premium unleaded petrol - which nudged over 14 litres per 100 kilometres in city and suburban work.

This was trimmed to 12 litres per 100 kilometres on a motorway run.

The Summit boasts ground clearance of up to 276 mm, while higher levels of articulation work to keep all four tyres on the ground to maintain stability.

Grander than grand: The Grand Cherokee has become grander, with increased dimensions, seven seats and boosted technology.

Off road, Jeep 4x4 systems ensure the right tyre has traction when needed.

Precision steering and optimal wheelbases enable all L models to negotiate tight spots and manoeuvre around rocks.

As for wading, high air intakes and special water sealing, combined with the Jeep Quadra-Lift suspension, can take the vehicles through up to 610 mm of water.

The Grand Cherokee L Summit is sold by Jeep on the pretext of its size and advanced technology.

YOUR WEEKLY TV GUIDE

Seaside sojourn: Sandi Toksvig and comedian Sarah Millican take in the sights of Devon.

PICK OF THE WEEK

EXTRAORDINARY ESCAPES
ABC TV, Saturday, 6.10pm

The lovely thing about this series is that while the locations and scenery might be classified as extraordinary (perhaps only Aussies can't be blown away by the sight of a rocky beach), listening to the chatter between the host and her guests for each episode is like spying on two friends who seem to have forgotten they are being filmed. It's all very relaxed, and viewers could be forgiven for nodding off when the mellow soundtrack chimes in. In tonight's season two premiere, comedian and author Sarah Millican joins Sandi Toksvig (QI, The Great British Bake Off) in Devon, where they visit a Scandi-inspired hillside retreat and channel their inner child in a rock pool expedition.

SHAUN MICALLEF'S BRAIN EISTEDDFOD
10, Thursday, 7.30pm

It pays to be young at heart – at least in Shaun Micallef's (pictured) case. The madcap host and satirist earnestly celebrates the intelligence and knowledge of the next generation in this academic challenge where he quizzes teams of year 11 students from across the country. Tonight, pupils from Suzanne Cory High School in Werribee, Victoria, and Sydney's Newtown High School of Performing Arts go head-to-head as they are tested on their French, music, maths, modern history and English. Micallef's easy rapport with the teens earns top marks.

THE COOK UP WITH ADAM LIAW
SBS Food, Friday, 7pm

So it's Friday night and you don't feel like cooking... that takeaway menu or delivery app looks awfully tempting after a long week. But before you reach for the phone, check in with chef Adam Liaw (pictured) – tonight, he's joined by actor, dancer and writer Jenevieve Chang and journalist Jason Om in the Cook Up kitchen to create quick and easy dishes that take less time to prepare than anything you can order for delivery. Om won a Walkley Award for a series about the human cost of the food-delivery business – his insights will have you thinking twice about what's on the menu.

AFTER THE VERDICT
Nine, Wednesday, 8.40pm

Unique, compelling and brimming with comedy, this homegrown whodunnit has taken viewers on a wild ride. The fun, fast-paced story has followed a ragtag group of jurors, who impulsively began haphazardly investigating a murder case in which they just found a woman not guilty. In tonight's finale, the jurors make one last endeavour to get justice, as Daniel (Sullivan Stapleton, Blindspot) and Clara (Michelle Lim Davidson, pictured, The Newsreader) are framed as criminals.

Saints fall short

A GRADE - WEST GAMBIER 68 d
MILLICENT 56

Millicent's A Grade netball side stumbled at the final hurdle as the Saints attempted to redeem themselves from last year's grand final loss. However, fate was against them and West Gambier claimed a win 23 years in the making.

A huge effort from best on court Sarah Ritter proved the difference on the day, as she converted 55 from 63 in a dominant shooting display. Her strength on the hold, her finishing from long range and her well-timed rolls all contributed to the Roos breaking their premiership drought.

The defensive intensity was also critical in conjuring the victory, with Amy Cram leading the defensive and teaming well with Jade Ritter to deny Millicent easy scoring opportunities.

The pressure on the outside from Zoe Malseed and Tara Bryant was pivotal as well.

The first quarter went to script as the two sides traded goals with smooth, polished ball movement.

Both teams earned shots from good positions and all four goalers finished accurately.

It was the second quarter where things became tougher as the defensive efforts at both ends stepped up.

Millicent's Demi Verbena, Paige Nitschke and Lisa Duldig, who had enjoyed strong connections in the first quarter, suddenly found it harder to move the ball.

Down the other end, Lisa McGregor had to do a power of work in transition for the Roos, while Tara Bryant and Mikaela Horrigan had to just keep presenting until Sarah Ritter opened up.

The second quarter was all about weight of possession in the end and West generated 21 scoring opportunities to Millicent's 15 to earn a three-goal buffer at half time.

Eddie Easterby entered the clash at wing defence at the main break as the Saints looked to utilise fresh legs and her ability to create turnover ball.

However, in the end it was the Roos who held sway with their own defensive intensity.

Cram and Jade Ritter continued to make good position, forcing the Saints frontline into error, while accuracy at the other end from McGregor and Sarah Ritter pushed the lead out to seven at the final change.

Tension was high in the opening minutes of the final quarter, as Millicent looked for a way back into the contest.

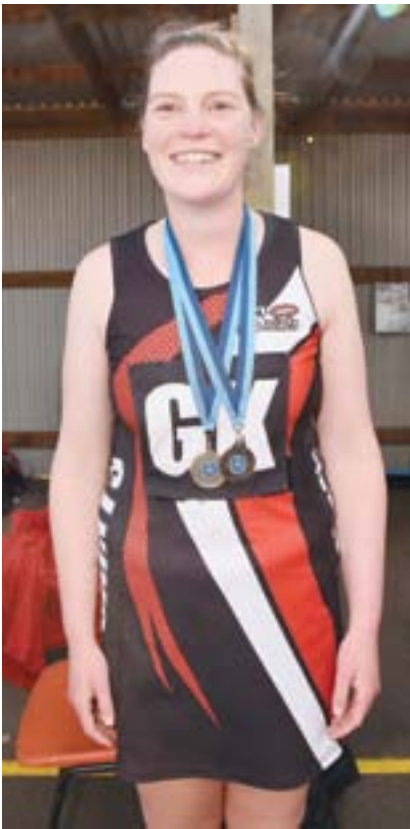

The Saints switched Hannah Nitschke to wing defence and Easterby to goal defence, but despite the youngster's best efforts West kept a steely resolve.

By the midpoint of the term the Roos had denied Millicent any way back and Sarah Ritter put her stamp on the contest with 17 goals from 20 attempts. Emotions started to rise and at the final whistle the Roos' faithful erupted. McGregor and Cram were the only players alive when West last claimed the A Grade title and they certainly led the way in the victory, along with Ritter's standout performance in goals. Millicent was best served by Tabatha Sanderson and Lisa Duldig, while Easterby showed she is not out of place in the top grade.

Dominant display nets Saints flag

A RESERVE - MILLICENT 60 d
WEST GAMBIER 43

Millicent claimed the A Reserve netball premiership with a 17-goal win against West Gambier.

From the first whistle the Saints took control with turnovers from defenders Alice Pratt and Jo Wilson.

They had seven goals on the board from spearhead goal shooter Annelise Janssen before the Roos were able to settle and score through Claire Hunter.

Despite the slow start, West slowly clawed its way back into the contest with Millicent holding a narrow 13-10 goal lead at quarter time.

Janssen proved unstoppable under the post, even though at times she was covered by two defenders in Tayla Wilson-Smith and Racheal Langford.

The Wilson and Pratt defence combo worked tirelessly to contain West shooters Hunter and Jasmine Davey, while Jackie Sunderland used her speed well to snare a couple of timely intercepts.

Janssen continued to dominate with pin-point passes from Kayleigh Taylor to sink another 14 of her team's 16 goals and at half time the lead was seven.

Millicent brought Keely Stuart into the match at goal defence while Pratt was rested, while West also made a change at wing attack with Bryna Kuller.

The Saints continued to attain plenty of turnover ball, from which they were then able to find Janssen down the court.

The Roos struggled to penetrate Millicent's defensive pressure and the lead pushed out to an unassailable 16 by the final break.

Both sides opted for changes at the break as West switched defenders with the aim to restrict Janssen.

Both centres, Millicent's Jackie Sunderland and West's Anna Bosco had a great tussle, while Wilson and Hunter had a good battle in the Roos' attacking circle.

Despite the Roos' best efforts in the final term, Millicent maintained its edge and claimed the premiership 60-43.

After a standout performance, Wilson was judged best on court by the umpires.

Third-quarter surge seals premiership

B GRADE - MILLICENT 43 d
NORTH GAMBIER 35

The third term is often referred to as the "premier-ship" quarter and in the B Grade netball decider, it could not have been more true.

After a tight opening half between North Gambier and Millicent, the latter won the third by nine goals to set up an eventual eight-goal victory.

North led by one at the first change as association best and fairest Bri Fuller dominated with her hard running and accurate finishing.

If not for some scrapping to win back the ball by Millicent wing defender Layla Baker, the scoreline might not have been as close.

The second quarter was also an arm wrestle with Fuller again a key player, while the Saints looked to the Kodi Lucas and Krystal Coghlan for some important touches.

It was all about opportunity in the third quarter and Millicent translated its defensive dominance to scoreboard pressure as Jemma Hayward brought her best to the quarter and netted nine from 14.

The stats told the story in this quarter as the Tigers generated nine scoring shots, while Millicent enjoyed 24 opportunities.

In the end, only North's accuracy ensured

Millicent's B Grade netball premiers.

the scoreline did not blow out further going into the last.

It was an arm wrestle again in the final term with Ash Ashby and Fuller again finishing accurately to try and keep North in touch.

However, the damage had been done and the Saints secured the flag.

Baker was awarded the best-on-court honours for her defensive efforts.

Celebrations were aplenty when the Saints won the 2022 B Grade netball premiership.

Saints taste glory

17 And Under - Millicent 57 d South Gambier 51

The 17 and Under grand final was expected to be a tense goal-for-goal battle and that is exactly how it panned out as the Saints defeated the Demons by six goals.

South started strongly with centre Ellie Bouchier finding plenty of turnover opportunities.

Milla Walmsley drove hard to the circle for the Demons and Alyssa Duncan fed the ball with accuracy to Lara Munro, who netted 13 from 16.

South had the early buffer before Millicent responded late and it was a one-goal game in favour of the Saints at the first change.

The second quarter followed a similar script as the goal-for-goal contest continued.

Hard running from Ella Easterby and Saige Gibson gave the Saints good connection with Annelise Janssen.

Abby Denton also delivered some well-placed balls into her tall shooting partner despite some good pressure from South defenders Chelsea Dunn and Alannah Clayton.

Jade Jennings was disruptive with her ability to earn possessions for South, but the Saints remained composed in attack and Janssen netted 13 from 15 to keep them in front by two at the main break.

Both sides injected fresh legs into the contest at half time and the defensive pressure ramped up even more.

Saints' defenders Portia McRae and Lauren VanEeden started to make life tough for South goalers with some tight one-on-one pressure.

However, hard running from Bouchier and Chelsea Ryan ensured the supply was still of a high quality.

Millicent still had the better of the quarter, but the Demons remained well in contention.

Lillie Paul, who entered the game at centre had an influence with her hard running, while the precise feeding of Daisy Tunkin was also a factor and at the final change, Millicent held a five-goal buffer.

The Demons earned the early touches in the fourth, but a few errors started to come at the attacking end.

The physical pressure of McRae and VanEeden saw enough turnover ball created to ensure the Saints held on to claim the premiership.

Janssen earned the best-on-court medal for her sharpshooting proficiency.

Hannah Nitschke and Portia McRae share an emotional embrace after Millicent's 17 and Under netball win.

Dominant display from 2022 premiers

13 And Under A - Millicent 57 d West Gambier 20

A dominant display from Millicent handed it the biggest netball grand final victory of the day over West Gambier.

The Saints started well to score the first three goals before West replied through Lila Pearson.

The pressure at the centre pass was tight as Lucy Crowe and Ash Dean gained vital touches to ensure Millicent held the early advantage.

Kalani Dunn and Dean shot accurately, while Emily Denton and Jeda Hibberd restricted the Roos' goalies to ensure the Saints went into the quarter break with a 13-goal lead.

A few changes were swung at the change and the Saints took some time to settle, which allowed West to score more freely.

Libby Buck earned vital touches and Pearson shot accurately.

Bell Coghlan continued to dominate the mid court for the Saints, as they increased the lead by just one to be 14 up at half time.

The Saints again made changes, resting Dean and Denton.

The quarter went goal for goal with Pearson and Dunn being the focal points at each end of the court.

Crowe worked well with Tahnee Grosser in attack, feeding Dunn well under the post, while Scarlett Zalme gained important touches and battled hard against West's Brydie Starick.

Leading by 19 at the final change, more changes were made as Gysbers moved to centre and Dean returned to the court.

The Saints continued to move the ball well and a huge fourth quarter pushed the final margin out to 32.

Pearson and Allen were best for West, but it was Coghlan who received the best-on-court medal for the victors.

Cats too strong at last dance

13 and Under B - Casterton Sandford 25 d Millicent 14

Casterton Sandford's only representation on grand final day was an ultimate success, as the 13 and Under B netballers claimed the premiership over Millicent.

After a tense goal-for-goal battle in the second semi final, the first three quarters of Saturday's title game went the same.

The young Cats then took control in the final quarter to set up an 11-goal victory in front of a strong crowd of Cats supporters.

It was all about defence as Casterton Sandford defenders Ylana Grigg and Chloe Kurzman limited the supply to Saints goalers.

However, Millicent's Amarlie Thomson made the most of her limited opportunities to shoot three straight without a miss to keep the Saints in touch.

The Cats had more opportunities but inaccuracy meant Millicent remained within two goals at the first break.

In the second quarter the Saints generated more scoring chances as the battle in the mid court heated up between Millicent's Ella Matthews and Courtney Sigston and Cats Makayla Rees and Marlee Robbins.

The Saints won the quarter to level the scores at 10 each heading into half time.

The Cats rejigged their line-up at the break, bringing the tight-checking Adele Murphy into wing defence and shuffling the defensive line and mid court.

As Phoebe Rhook started to find more ball and finish strongly in goal shooter, the Cats again looked the better side and enjoyed a three-goal lead at the final change.

A frenetic final quarter followed and the passionate Cats crowd started to lift the players on court.

Renee Gorman and Rhook dominated in the shooting circle and Grigg and Rachel Forbes were impassable in defence as they kept the Saints scoreless and powered to an 11-goal victory.

Rhook was recognised for her efforts and was named best on court by the umpires.

Overtime victory sweet for young Saints

15 And Under A - Millicent 43 d North Gambier 39 (Overtime)

The netball match of the day was an overtime victory to Millicent over North Gambier in the 15 and Under A decider.

In a highly-skilled contest the game was drawn at full time with 35 goals apiece.

The Saints started the match well as Piper Paul controlled the attack like for the Saints and Edie Easterby gained early intercepts.

Molly Cushion used her speed in attack and scored from long range to help the Saints take a three-goal lead at the first change.

The battle in the midcourt saw Cara Nulty and Poppy Venn work hard for North and Millicent respectively.

Elodie Adams became the focal point for North and she scored eight from 10, while down the other end Cushion continued strongly with nine from 10.

Edie Easterby denied Macey Griffith easy access to the post and Mackinlee Alcock rebounded any missed goals.

At half time the Saints held a two-goal advantage.

The third quarter was tight and errors started to slip into both team's games.

North wing defence Jayme Young made it tough for Paul as she matched her speed and Nulty earned some important touches around the circle.

Mylee Lynch started to find space from the tight checking Ava Collins.

Jaimie Lucas was able to get vital touches and stopped the drive of Sarah Brown to ensure the Saints led at the three-quarter time break by four.

Millicent's 15 and Under A netball premiers.

Picture: JAMES MURPHY

The last quarter went goal-for-goal early but as Griffith found space in attack North bridged the gap.

She had her best quarter to convert seven goals from eight attempts and suddenly the game was drawn.

In the dying minutes the Saints had a chance to score the match-winner but a missed penalty took it into overtime.

Millicent brought Mia Gysbers back onto the court and the change helped a strong start in the overtime.

They scored the first goal and created a turnover through the work of Easterby on the line.

Mattie Fauchelle shut down access to Adams and the Saints started to find momentum.

Cushion took over in the goal circle and scored six from six to help the Saints take the win by four.

For the Saints Cushion received best on court for her control and accuracy in goals, while Easterby gained vital intercepts all over the court.

For North Nulty was solid through the centre and Collins used her strength in defence.

Battle is on for last ticket

By Trevor Jackson

Mid South Eastern football finals continue this weekend, as Kalangadoo and Port MacDonnell do battle in the A Grade preliminary final at the Kalangadoo oval.

The game comes on the back of the Magpies loss to Hatherleigh in a hard-fought semi-final clash last weekend.

But not only did they lose the game, the Magpies also lost gun forward Michael Krieger for one match.

Krieger was reported for what the umpires deemed the forceful contact to an opponent with his head over ball.

The contact was classed as intentional, the impact low and contact high.

The base sanction for the report is two weeks, with an early guilty plea of one match taken by Kalangadoo.

Clearly Kalangadoo has its eye on a possible grand final berth and rather than risk not having Krieger play if that is to eventuate, to miss this week was the wise choice.

That does add a bit more interest to the preliminary final, as Krieger has kicked a combined 11 goals against the Demons in the minor rounds.

The Demons took care of business in the first semi-final against Mount Burr, while the Magpies suffered at the hands of Hatherleigh in the second semi-final last weekend.

It adds plenty of intrigue to this season's finals race, with both sides up to the challenge.

Head to head throughout the minor rounds, the Magpies have the upper hand, claiming both games in dominant fashion.

However, the Demons showed in the first semi-final they have what it takes to defend their premiership flag.

In that final the in-form Mozzies challenged for half of the game, until Port MacDonnell put in a strong third term to set up the victory.

The Demons went on to win after a relatively even final quarter to continue deep into the finals series.

For the Magpies, last week's second semi-final was not the desired result as they look to atone for last year's premiership loss.

After building a lead in the opening term, the Magpies began to falter and the Eagles took control.

Just 10 points separated the two sides at the final break but Hatherleigh then ran the game out, something Kalangadoo generally does to good effect.

This weekend the Magpies will have to deal with the tall timber of the Demons, namely Mail Medalist Tim Sullivan and Will MacDonald.

Both provide strong targets up forward, around the ground and in the ruck.

With Kevin Thomson capable in any position, plus the likes of Ned Wilke, Mark Smith and Jake Schleter providing plenty of run through the centre and out of the defensive zone, the Demons can certainly not be dismissed in this clash.

Kalangadoo swept all before them in the minor rounds, apart from one blip against Hatherleigh back in Round 9.

The Magpies atoned for that in Round 18 but fell to the Eagles last week in an entertaining first semi-final.

Apart from that no other side has really challenged Kalangadoo, which may have been too easy a run into finals.

The roster speaks for itself after two impressive minor round seasons in a row.

The McManus boys, Michael Krieger up forward, Ben Mules, Tom Williams and the list goes on.

However, last weekend proved the Magpies can be beaten at the business end of the season.

Port MacDonnell certainly appears to have peaked at the right time of the year but whether it is enough to claim the win over Kalangadoo remains to be seen.

The Magpies have the benefit of the home ground but that should have little effect on the outcome at this time of the year.

The Demons will certainly have to be at their best, while the Magpies will need to regroup from last week's loss or they could be found wanting.

Kalangadoo and Port MacDonnell will go head-to-head in the Mid South East football preliminary final on Saturday.

For Port MacDonnell coach Simon Merrett it is one of the biggest tests for his side this season.

With form coming into the clash and a full roster to choose from, he is confident of taking the game up to the benchmark side of the season.

“We are shaping up alright,” Merrett said.

“I have everyone available, we are all fit and healthy and that is the main thing.

“Obviously we have a few goals to make up from the last two outings against ... they were convincing losses.

“We think if we play our best footy we are half a chance.”

Merrett said the last few weeks had shown what the Demons can do with a full-strength side.

“Probably the last three weeks we have had everyone together on the park at once,” he said.

“It is no coincidence we are playing better footy.

“This week playing Kalangadoo at Kalangadoo is probably one of the biggest tests for us.

“We are just going to go out, leave it all out there and see what happens.”

For Kalangadoo coach Kevin Stark, there is an extra challenge without his gun forward.

However, he said with the spread of goal kickers the Magpies have shown this season, he is confident to still be able to get the job done.

“I would like to think we are a better team than one player,” he said.

“I would like to think we are a strong enough side we can plug someone into that gap and fill the void for a day.

“That will be a good test for the group.”

Looking at last week's loss, Stark said there were a few areas of improvement.

“I think there are a few elements from the game on Saturday we can improve on,” he said.

“If we can improve our structure we will look better again.”

The final result could also come down to the weather but again, Stark said that should not pose a huge problem.

“We beat them on their deck and it was pretty wet,” he said.

“It might be a bit soft but we should be alright.”

The game kicks off at 2pm at Kalangadoo oval.

Reserves: Kalangadoo v Glencoe - 12.15pm.

17 and Under: Robe v Kongorong - 10.45am.

14 and Under: Glencoe v Hatherleigh - 9.30am.

Games tough to call

17 and Under: Port MacDonnell v Mount Burr

Last time Port MacDonnell and Mount Burr's 17 and Under sides met in the minor rounds the game finished in a draw.

Both teams will come out firing on Saturday to win the spot in the grand final.

Lara Wilson and Mackenzie Millard will use their accuracy to their advantage in the goal circle, limiting rebounding opportunities for Mount Burr's Olivia Dean and Maddie Gamble.

Olivia Baker and Jarrah Altschwager combine well in the mid-court and use their speed to drive hard onto the ring to feed their goalies.

Port MacDonnell's Ariella Smith and Kate Winterfield will work overtime in the defensive goal ring to create turnovers and gain rebounds.

This game has the potential to go either way, with both teams having the drive and determination to win.

15 and Under: Mount Burr v Robe

Mount Burr and Robe will provide an entertaining clash.

Robe's Kiana Brooks and Georgie Wirth will use their accuracy in the goal circle and will be fed well by Ella Birmingham and Emily Dew.

Mount Burr's Sara Smith and Macy Burns will apply the pressure in their defensive circle using their height to pull in necessary rebounds.

Abbey Falting will lead her team from the centre, using her skill and speed to work the ball down the court, and will combine well with Lola Schultz outside the defensive circle to put added pressure on Robe's pass into their goalies.

Mount Burr won both times these teams met previously and have the potential to do it again, but the Roosters will make it tough for them.

13 and Under

Port MacDonnell take on Glencoe in the 13 and Under preliminary final this weekend.

The Demons are a strong side, with strength in their defensive end through Layla McPherson and Chelsea Fulham, who will put the pressure on for Glencoe's Chloe Childs and Violet Thorne.

Layla Hawke feeds into the Murphies' goalies with ease and accuracy and drives well down the court. She will be well matched by Port MacDonnell's Isla Fulham who has the ability to get her hands to loose balls.

Glencoe will fight hard in this game and will need to stay strong against the tough Demons side.

The Demons came away with convincing wins both times these teams faced off in the minor rounds and should be able to do it again this weekend to progress to the grand final.

Magpies' second chance

A Grade: Kalangadoo v Robe

After a loss to Glencoe in the Mid South East netball second-semi final last weekend, Kalangadoo will have to reset and adjust their game when coming up against Robe this weekend in the preliminary final.

Robe's strength in the goal circle through Halle Carter and Sarah Laurie will mean Kalangadoo's defenders, Reanna Wetherall and Lauren Kain, will have to work overtime to shut down their influence.

Down the other end of the court Abbey Duncan and Kori Collins combine well and shoot with accuracy and are fed well from outside the circle by Jayde Peacock and Kirsty Egan.

Sophie Wrightson will need to work hard outside of the circle to cut off the drive of Lucy Perkins, because once she reaches the circle she feeds her goalies with accuracy.

Based on previous results throughout the season, Kalangadoo should come away with the win but Robe will make them earn it.

A Reserve: Robe v Glencoe

Robe is in the box seat to advance to the grand final when it faces Glencoe.

Glencoe has a strong goal circle of Abbie Cocks and Laura Edwards who can use their height and accuracy to score with ease within the goal circle.

Robe defenders Keryn Moore and Kimberley Austin have strong hands and rebound well, both able to read the play and pick off passes in the defensive end.

Glencoe playing coach Bec Edwards will need to shut down Keelin Winterfield's drive onto the circle to prevent her accurate feeding into goalies Demi Carter and Hannah Perkins.

Sam Brierley and Emily Thompson will need to work hard to prevent the ball from getting into the goalies in order to limit opportunities to shoot.

Robe has come away with convincing wins both times these teams have met throughout the minor rounds and will finish the day with the ticket to the grand final.

- B Grade: Hatherleigh v Glencoe
- B Reserve: Kalangadoo v Port MacDonnell

Kalangadoo will need to use all its strength in the goal circle to claim a win over Robe in the Mid South East netball preliminary final on Saturday.

Eagles book big-game berth

By Trevor Jackson

Hatherleigh 15.11 (101) d
Kalangadoo 8.11 (59)

A strong final quarter handed Hatherleigh the first Mid South East football grand final berth on Saturday.

The Eagles comfortably accounted for Kalangadoo at the Mount Burr oval, in front of a large crowd eager to see the two heavyweights go head-to-head.

The Magpies appeared to be on track in the first term, rushing out to a 14-point lead to stamp their authority on the contest.

However, late in the second term after a physical contest, the Eagles held their nerves and began to overhaul the margin, to eventually lead by five points at the main break.

Both sides showed a willingness to contest the ball, with Kalangadoo's Michael Krieger sent to the sidelines for a break after what the umpires deemed a harsh tackle and handed the gun forward a yellow card.

With Lachie Jones also serving a time-out from a yellow card, the Magpies made the job hard for themselves.

The third term was a low-scoring affair, with just three goals kicked.

Both sides managed six scoring shots but it was the Eagles who made the most of time in their forward 50, skipping out to a 10-point advantage at the final break.

Kalangadoo kicked its two final-quarter goals early for the lead but from there Hatherleigh ran away with the contest, banging on seven major scores while holding Kalangadoo to just those two for a 42-point victory.

Jake Wight did the job up forward for the victors, with four goals to his name, while Brad Mitchell banged through three.

Joe Ferguson-Lane and Michael Telford kicked two each.

Mark Marriott was in fine form around the ground and named best for the Eagles.

For Kalangadoo, Krieger, Ben Mules and James Pratt all kicked two goals, with Mules named best.

The Magpies will now face Port MacDonnell in a do-or-die preliminary final this weekend.

For victorious coach Jake Dowdy it was a welcome result after a tough four quarters of football.

He said it was good to be able to sit back and wait for the Eagles' grand final opponent and allow his players to recover properly.

Kalangadoo's Michael Krieger had little room to move during Saturday's Mid South East semi-final.

"It was a ripper result," Dowdy said.

"It takes a bit of pressure off and now we can do a little bit of training in between and make sure we are ready to go."

Dowdy said his players pulled up well after such a physical contest, with no real injury concerns at this stage.

As the game unfolded and Kalangadoo took control early, Dowdy said he had no real concerns.

"They were a couple of goals up at quarter time but we were reasonably happy with that because it was a fairly strong breeze," he said.

"We thought they threw a fair bit at us and we had identified the second quarter and being our weak quarter all year.

"I just told the boys we had a massive opportunity we could not lose the second quarter.

"The boys responded well and got physical, got the ball on the outside and got running."

The final required a big effort, especially after the Magpies came out hard and fast but Dowdy said it simply clicked for his side.

"They kicked the first two and got in front but the boys wrestled the momentum back and didn't look back," he said.

"Our backline deserves credit - they worked well together and launched a lot of attacks from our half-back line."

As for a finals contest, Dowdy said it was "a good bit of action".

Wight was impressive and Dowdy said that came down to a bit of confidence more than anything else, while Marriott was simply his usual competitive self.

"He has been playing up high, he took a big contested mark early and played well from there," he said.

"Mark played really well.

"He took a couple of pack marks and is just a massive presence.

"He is really good at ground level as well for a big fellow."

For now Dowdy and his boys can relax, recover and prepare for a premiership tilt, while the Magpies need to account for an in-form Port MacDonnell, which could well take its toll.

Dowdy said he was pleased to have that luxury.

"I am very stoked to be in the grand final," he said.

"You can get all the bodies right with the week off.

"I will go down and watch the other two sides play this weekend - we don't have to worry about that."

Valiant effort as Saints give it their best in grand final

By James Murphy

RESERVES - SOUTH GAMBIER 11.7 (73) d
MILLICENT 7.2 (44)

It took the full four quarters, but South Gambier's Reserves defended their title with back-to-back premierships over Millicent.

The Demons were undefeated all year and were yet to be pushed by their rivals, but the Saints left nothing on the bench as they brought the fight up to their opponent.

It was not until the final term, where South ran rampant to put Millicent to bed and claim the glory.

At the first change the Saints were up by one, before another even quarter swapped the lead to South by eight heading into the long break.

Millicent hit the ground running in the "premiership" quarter and consecutive goals from Brad Tilley and Steve Duldig pushed the Saints back in front by nine points, before the Demons could respond.

However, the response came, in the form of Nick Seager and Kym Eagleson, who both found the big sticks to swap the lead again.

The Demons added another goal for good measure before the final change to enter the fourth nine points clear.

This time they did not let the Saints back in the fight and they posted their largest quarter of the game to ice the game.

At the final siren the margin was out to 33 points.

It may not have reflected the closeness of the game, but it did portray the strength of the Demons' Reserves this season.

It was a tough day at the office for Millicent's Reserves, who fell to South Gambier despite a valiant effort on grand final day.
Picture: JAMES MURPHY

Following his joint best and fairest accolade at the league presentations, South's Ben Milstead received the best-on-ground medal for his courageous efforts through the mid-field.

Robert Hein, Bryce Whicker and Koby

Chant were also recognised in South's best, while Riley Sturges and Seager earned a mention as well.

Eagleson finished with four goals on the day - in a season where he broke the 100-goal barrier.

Brody Virgo and Elliott Fisher were also on target with three and two respectively.

For the Saints Matthew Withers, Craig Gysbers and Dylan Shanks were the top performers, while Duldig's three goals also earned him a mention.

Young stars up to challenge

17 and Under:

Robe 54 d Port MacDonnell 38

A solid effort from Robe's 17 and Under netballers saw them claim a big win over Port MacDonnell in the Mid South East second semi-final on Saturday.

The rising stars from both sides came out firing from the first whistle, with Madeline Wirth and Lexy Hayes coming up with turn-overs early to give Robe an early lead.

Robe then took control of the contest, taking advantage of errors from the Demons.

The goalies for both teams were accurate, with Port MacDonnell's Mackenzie Millard and Robe's Ella Mackey focal points for their respective sides.

The physical contest made the transition down the court difficult but at the end of the day Robe was the better team and booked a grand final berth.

Best players for Robe were Mackey and Wirth, with Millard and Lara Wilson best for the Demons.

15 and Under:

Kalangadoo 56 d Mount Burr 25

Kalangadoo made easy work of its clash with Mount Burr in the 15 and Under second semi-final.

The Magpies started the game strongly, with impressive shooting by Tegan Lythgo and Gabby Varcoe, Lythgo shooting at 100 per cent in the first half to build the foundations of a big win.

Kalangadoo's Georgia Gentile and Maya Anderson worked hard at the defensive end to create turnovers, while Mount Burr's Olivia Holland looked to curb the influence of Chloe Peacock through the centre.

The Mozzies came back with a fight in the second quarter, with Abbey Falting and Tilly Gamble working strong in the goal circle, only losing the quarter by one goal.

Mount Burr's Macy Burns and Sara Smith applied pressure in the defensive circle to adjust to Kalangadoo's change of shooters but were out-rebounded.

However, the Magpies were simply too strong and claimed a big win to advance to the grand final.

Best players for the victors were Lythgo and Gentile, while Falting and Holland were best for Mount Burr.

13 and Under:

Kalangadoo 42 d Port MacDonnell 37

It was a tight contest in the 13 and Under semi-final, with Kalangadoo victors but by just five goals.

Kalangadoo hit the court running, with Lucy Egan the focus in the circle, while Molly Peacock applied pressure to the Demons' goalies.

Bailee Lewis played a strong game for Port MacDonnell, starting in centre, then finishing in goals and shooting with accuracy.

Port MacDonnell's Chelsea Fulham played a strong game in defence, turning the ball over many times for her side.

Kalangadoo outscored the Demons for three quarters but the Port MacDonnell girls kept their heads up and outscored Kalangadoo in the final term.

In the end Kalangadoo had done enough to secure a grand final berth with a hard-fought victory. Best players for Kalangadoo were Peacock and Egan, while Lewis and Fulham were best for the Demons.

Glencoe's intensity sets the benchmark for finals

A Grade: Glencoe 54 d Kalangadoo 44

Glencoe booked a grand final berth after a solid victory over minor premiers Kalangadoo in the Mid South East netball second semi-final on Saturday.

A strong team game helped the Murphies to the victory, after they led at every change but were chased hard in the second half by the Magpies.

In an exciting opening term, Glencoe kicked the game off with the first centre pass and converted but as could be expected, Kalangadoo responded.

The Murphies' defensive game was on point, as Sarah Edwards intercepted a pass and helped her side create a small break.

Jenna Paproth was under plenty of pressure in the goal circle and worked hard in attack and defence.

Abbey Duncan was Kalangadoo's focal point in the first quarter despite plenty of defensive pressure from Sarah Edwards.

Kalangadoo WD Sophie Wrightson took a timely intercept from Glencoe's centre pass which brought the Magpies back to within two goals but at the first break the Murphies held a three-goal advantage.

Glencoe then upped the pressure further and scored the first five goals of the second term, with Malinda Markiewicz shooting at 100 per cent.

Kalangadoo tried to steady but Glencoe's goalies in Paproth and Markiewicz were not giving Kalangadoo's defenders, Lauren Kain and Reanna Wetherall, any opportunities to rebound.

The Murphies denied Jayde Peacock and Kirsty Egan the chance to dominate through the mid-court and as a result the two Magpies had little impact on the game in the second quarter.

The pressure showed at the main break as Glencoe held a 12-goal half-time lead.

Kalangadoo needed to lift in the third term, with an early intercept and score the ideal start.

Glencoe defenders Chantelle Cocks and Edwards had to work overtime early in the third quarter as Egan and Peacock upped the ante and used patience to feed into Duncan and Kori Collins.

A few offensive mistakes by the Murphies gave Kalangadoo a bit more of the ball and as a result the lead was cut to seven goals midway through the quarter.

Glencoe started to make some unforced errors and the Magpies could sense a shift of momentum but at the final break the Murphies still held a handy eight-goal advantage.

Both teams made unforced errors early in the final term, with Kalangadoo unable to convert their chances.

The Magpies made a late charge but Glencoe held strong to run out comfortable victors and book a grand final berth.

Best players for the Murphies were Donna Jaeschke and Chloe Pfitzner, while Peacock and Wetherall were best for the Magpies.

victory over Robe.

The second semi-final started with Robe stepping up at the defensive end of the court, as Kim Austin and Hannah Perkins claimed every rebounding opportunity they could.

However, Kalangadoo's Jamie Ryan and Zoe Rout fed patiently into the goal circle and the Magpies monopolised on all the opportunities they could to come away with a four-goal lead at the first break.

The Roosters claimed the honours in the second term, with high passing efficiency from Kim Ross and Keelin Winterfield well against Demi Carter and Ella Mackey, who shot efficiently all game.

Shanen Pulkkinen and Shanae Neale worked tirelessly for the Magpies to position

By the main break the margin had been reduced to one goal and the game was on in earnest.

The third quarter was tight and some changes from Kalangadoo took time to settle in.

Some calm back-up from Rout and Pulkkinen meant the shooters had time to gain confidence and shoot within range.

The final term saw Robe's Ross and Keryn Moore continue to feed the ball well, while quick passing meant the Magpies needed to apply as much mid-court pressure as they could.

They did that and eventually, using Estella Serle's accurate shooting and patient feeds, came away with a six-goal win.

Best players for Kalangadoo were Ryan and Lucy Williams, with Ella Mackey and Hannah Perkins best for Robe.

B Grade: Kalangadoo 43 d Glencoe 35. Best players - Kalangadoo: Kylie Schultz, Rhianna May; Glencoe: Hayley Greenfield, Sally McDonnell.

Skeer back on the pace

By Trevor Jackson

It was a welcome return to the track for Furner motorcycle racer Dallas Skeer on the weekend. Skeer had effectively not seen racing for close to six months, after bike issues ruined the start of his Australian Superbike season. A crash on his new Yamaha R6 Supersport bike early in the season, plus a few electrical gremlins on the spare bike all-but finished his season. But far from sit back and call it a day, Skeer set about sorting his race bike out. Now comfortable the Yamaha is up to the task, it was all about finding his feet again and the third round of the Victoria Road Racing Championships at Phillip Island was just the event to test his machinery. It worked a treat, as Skeer faced many of his adversaries from the ASBK series, with a third place first up, followed by a fourth, then a win to round out the weekend. Overall it placed him on the third step of the podium, a feat the young racer was more than pleased with. “We were there just for the testing and out of about 33 riders, the top five were all the ASBK regulars,” Skeer said. “They have been racing all year and I haven’t, so I was pretty happy to come away with third, especially with the race win in the last race.” The race win came after a dice with Thom- as Bramich, a regular ASBK rider.

“He is a regular place getter in ASBK and is pretty quick around Phillip Island,” Skeer said. “We swapped places a few times and on the last lap I was able to get past and hold on for the win.” Skeer said it was pleasing to have the R6 up and running, with no dramas over the week- end. He said it was also pleasing to have such a strong weekend at a track he does not nor- mally favour. “Phillip Island has never been a track I liked,” he said. “I struggle to find the quick pace there and we are still trying to work out why that is. “I favour the tight tracks because I grew up riding at Mac Park. “You really have to put all the corners to- gether at Phillip Island and commit to them because it is such a long run. “It is something I need to work on.” After an extended break he said he feels comfortable racing and now hopes to use the remainder of the year to sort out his own pace. “I had some time off to reset and I feel really comfortable on the bike now,” he said. “I can put the bike where I want, so now it is just finding that pace, that second-and-a-half, two seconds in lap times. “I just have to find that pace to get back up there and that will come with bike time.” The rest of the year includes the Master of Mac Park, a round of ASBK at Tailem Bend and another back at Phillip Island. With the ASBK championship the last thing Skeer is concerned about, he is now set to chase quick lap times and sort the bike out for following season. “We are not too worried about the champi- onship because I am 21st,” he said. “We just want to end the year on a high, get my pace up there ready for next year so we can fight for the championship and prove what we can do.” As for his plans for the Master of Mac Park, Skeer has a couple of milestones to chase. “I want to win there,” he said. “I have won the 600 class a few times then come second or third in the Master against the Superbikes. “It depends on who will be there for the Masters race. “If Arthur Sissis is not there I feel I will have a chance of taking that out on the R6. “I haven’t had a chance to have at it on the R6, so it will be good to see what I am capable of there. “At Phillip Island I felt so good on it, so I have a heap of confidence to hopefully be able to win and get my lap record back.”

Down to the wire: Saints see it through

By James Murphy

UNDER 16 – MILLICENT 8.2 (50) d SOUTH GAMBIER 7.5 (47)
It came down to the dying moments of the game, but Millicent's Under 16 footballers kept the Demons at bay to earn themselves the ultimate prize in a thrilling conclusion to the season. South Gambier entered the grand final undefeated for the year, but a narrow result in the final minor round gave the Saints hope. They wasted no time asserting dominance and a three-goal-to-one opening term put them 13 points up at quarter time. Things tightened up in the second term and a couple of Demon goals brought the margin back in to five points at the long break. A strong output in the third term pushed the Saints further in front and as teams prepared for their last quarter of football for the year, Millicent was three goals clear of its rival. However, things heated up as the Demons pushed hard and found several avenues to goal. With a couple of goals already in the bank for the quarter, when Rex Jones lined up in front of goal and converted, suddenly South was in front. The premiership cup was in sight as the clock wound down, but the Saints quickly responded and a goal at the opposite end saw them leapfrog the Demons and hold on for a thrilling victory. Young star Kobe Gibson received the best-on-ground medal for his valiant efforts, which included a four-goal haul. Harry Gibbs also faired well in front of the big sticks with three, while Jackson Bowden and Jack Haggett were other standouts. For the Demons Harry Wright best served his side, with Jones close behind. Every goal came off a different boot for the runners-up, in a diverse contribution. Yet it was not quite enough on the day, with the Saints stepping up when it counted. They finished the minor rounds in third with seven wins and eight losses, but proved you are never out of the fight with three consecutive final's wins on their way to premiership glory.

Ultimate prize retained

By James Murphy

A Grade - Millicent 17.9 (111) d
South Gambier 9.17 (71)

Millicent defended its Western Border football A Grade title with an assertive victory over South Gambier at Vansittart Park on Saturday.

The match loomed as a blockbuster - and it was up until half time - but a third-quarter blitz handed the Saints the premiership on a silver platter.

They banged through an impressive seven goals for the term and proved why it is so often dubbed the "premiership" quarter.

The final margin was 40 points, despite both teams having the same amount of scoring shots, as accuracy proved the difference.

The match started with the expected intensity and it was the Demons who were first to hit the scoreboard.

A behind opened the ledger, before Brett O'Neil banged one through the big sticks from long range for the first goal of the game in the opening five minutes.

The Saints pushed back and managed a couple of minor scores, before they were finally rewarded through Dylan Bromley for his first of three in a performance which earned him the best-on-ground medal.

Kade Varcoe then came out with a big goal from the edge of the arc to push Millicent to a seven-point lead, followed by two more Saints' goals for good measure.

South replied through Hamish Stevens before the break and trailed by 14 heading into the second.

The Demons won the second quarter with three goals to Millicent's two, but the latter maintained an eight-point lead at the long break, despite the game being drawn level 15 minutes into the term.

From there it remained anyone's game and a big second half of football was expected.

However, what followed was a quarter which was scripted straight from the Saints' dream playbook.

They could do no wrong and while a South behind opened the quarter, it was one-way traffic from there onwards.

Sam Willis banged through the first of seven Saints' goals for the term, before Bromley added to his own ledger off the next centre bounce.

When Willis soccered through a major from a scrap in the goal square and then Nat Robbins converted shortly after, Millicent had extended the lead to 32 points in a 12-minute window.

Thomas Hutchesson was tearing through the midfield and set up several avenues to goal during that time, while Jacob Carger was also a driving force.

The Demons chipped one back against the run of play, but it was short lived as Noah Lang found the big sticks for the Saints, followed by a third Willis goal which resulted from a high hit right in front.

Mitchell Sims lessened the damage with a goal midway through the 19th minute, yet the Demons could not find a foothold in the quarter and Hamish Nitschke responded for Millicent.

It was a powerful statement from the Saints and something coach Clint Gallio agreed was a match winner.

"We didn't feel like we changed too much, we just had a chat at half time about sticking to what we know and what we do well," he said.

"We did that and we executed right from the word go from the midfield.

"We were able to kick some nice goals - everything seemed to fall together.

"One quarter of footy probably won us the game."

By that stage it was a 43-point game and despite a late South goal, the Demons faced a mammoth task heading into the final stanza.

However, the writing was already on the wall and a tidy four goals from the Saints kept the Demons at bay.

South swung some changes to attempt to find easier avenues into goal, which included shifting team of the year defender Todd Reid up forward.

However, the defensive pressure made the going tough and while South hit the scoreboard 10 times - albeit several from rushed behinds - only two kicks found their target.

"We pride ourselves on our pressure and we had some really good moments on Saturday which really got the ball going back our way," Gallio said.

"It is not down to any individuals, it is just knowing as a team we are good enough if we do the things we are good at well.

"We did that on Saturday."

As the clock wound down, Millicent started to kick the ball around freely and wait for the inevitable moment which came as the final siren sounded.

Bromley received the top honour of the best-on-ground medal, presented by Millicent's own Billy Nitschke, while Willis and Frazer Bradley were also commended highly for their performances.

Gallio also gave credit to the back six, who were at their best again, while Finn Grimes put up a strong battle in the ruck against Mason Hein.

For South it was Mitchell Sims who received the nod from coaching staff, while Reid was named second best in another solid performance.

Hamish Stevens and Josh Woodall worked hard all day, but in the end the Saints were too strong when it counted.

Back-to-back for Saints

By James Murphy

It could not have been any sweeter for Millicent Saints footballers on Saturday, as they claimed back-to-back Western Border A Grade premierships with a comprehensive win over South Gambier.

The 40-point triumph - which was set up by a huge seven-goal third quarter - handed the Saints their third premiership in four seasons.

The run of success started in 2018 under playing coach Clint Gallio when they broke a 34-year drought, before a couple of years in the wilderness with a winless 2019 campaign and a cancelled season in 2020 due to the pandemic.

However, with Gallio at the helm once more Millicent reclaimed the ultimate prize last year and found itself in a grand final rematch with the Demons at Vansittart Park on Saturday.

An intense battle unfolded in the opening half, before the Saints put the game to bed in the "premiership" quarter.

As they say, the rest is history and there has been plenty of celebrations since.

Speaking to The South Eastern Times this week, Gallio reflected on the final moments of the game.

"The scenes when the siren went and after the game were just unreal," he said.

"Everyone ran onto the oval and you hug about 50-60 people - everyone was so excited.

"Some people say one (premiership) is a fluke, but then back-to-back is pretty special."

Millicent has never won consecutive flags since it joined the Western Border Football League at its inception in 1964.

Gallio believed you would have to search the history books back to the 1930's or 40's to find the last time the club had achieved the feat.

It adds some extra sweetness to an already impressive achievement, with the Demons a daunting opponent for all this season.

However, it was Millicent's day and Gallio could not have been prouder of his team.

"It is a pretty good feeling," he said.

"The third quarter really set it up for us and that fourth quarter was good and enjoyable.

"Every time we kicked a goal there was a bit of carry on - we could just really enjoy it and soak it up."

Gallio said while there were 22 players who received a medal on the day, the efforts of the whole club are to thank for the success.

"It is a lot of people doing a lot of hard work for so many years," he said.

"There are 22 people who are lucky enough to get a medal, but over the four or five years there are a lot of other people who deserve one.

"It is very nice to be a part of something like that."

Reflecting on his own journey as a coach, Gallio said it is easy to look past those accolades being a player as well.

However, you can not deny the influence he has had on the club during his time in the top job.

"It is a lot of people doing a lot of hard work, but to sit back at the end of the day and know you have coached three premierships is pretty special," Gallio said.

"I am just really proud.

"It has sunk in, but I haven't sort of thought about those things too much as a coach.

"You don't forget, but sometimes you just brush over it because you are playing as well."

Now he will go down in history as one of the coaching greats at the Millicent Football Club.

With the fate of Limestone Coast football currently under review by SANFL, the future of the WBFL is unclear.

Should drastic changes be made to the format of the sport in the region, the 2022 flag could be an historic one.

"We don't know what is going to happen, but if something does happen we could potentially be the last club and team to win a flag in the Western Border competition," Gallio said.

"If that happens, then that is something pretty special as well."
