What a church!

By Caroline Hammat

Millicent's contemporary and architecturally adventurous St Alphonsus' Catholic Church has recently been provisionally heritage-listed on South Australia's (SA) heritage register.

The SA Heritage Places database states the church is one of the largest built in regional SA after the Second World War and meets three relevant criteria that make it eligible for the listing.

The building demonstrates important aspects of the state's history, and is an example of post-war regional development occurring as a result of the Playford government's industrialisation strategy for the state, and of the migration which supported it.

It was built during a period of rapid growth between 1947 and 1966 when the population of greater Millicent grew by 89 percent due to industrialisation attracting workers and their families to the town.

Many of these workers were migrants contributing to growing numbers of the Catholic congregation which led to the construction of the new church in 1965-1966.

Chair of the SA Heritage Council Keith Conlon said

"We had this massive post war migration boom and baby boom.

"There were people coming to places for new and expanding industries.

"Millicent had a big growth period after the war.

"Industrially, economically and population, it all happened at once.

"St Alphonsus is a really nice positive example of that."

St Alphonsus' Church is noted as an outstanding example of a particular class of place known as post-war churches, and of cultural significance being the first South Australian church to respond directly to the Instruction on the Liturgy.

This is a series of documents from the Second Ecumenical Council of the Vatican (1962-1965) (Vatican II) produced to direct the life of the church in the twentieth century and into the future.

It was the first time that pews were fanned around the church sanctuary demonstrating a key stage in the development designed to encourage active participation in worship.

"One of the things that is really distinctive for the Catholic Church is when the Vatican II completely changed the way the liturgy worked," Mr Conlon said.

"It was a big change in the way the priest and congregation related to each other and how the church operated.

"It is more like a theatre in the round, there is more involvement and it changes the way the you worship.

"It changes the relationship between the priest and the clergy and that shows up literally in the form of these (post-war) churches."

Police located a number of stolen items in Millicent
Picture: SAPOL

Seeking owners for ‘lost’ items

Limestone Coast Police are hunting for the owners of some found yard equipment, power tools, stamps and electronic equipment, among other items.

Police have seized a significant quantity of property, suspected of being stolen, from two Millicent addresses in the past week and are seeking the rightful owners.

On Friday, September 9, police searched two properties at Millicent and recovered various tools, electronics and other items.

Police have already notified several people who have reported thefts, but further assistance is sought from the public to identify any of the items shown here.

If you believe you can identify anything, or wish to arrange an appointment to view the items in person, please contact the Millicent police station on 8733 3622.

Engraved or marked valuables, such as tools, have a much higher chance of being able to be returned to you if they are lost or stolen.

It is recommended that you engrave your valuables with your driver's license number prefixed with 'S' for South Australia.

McArthur Park Kindergarten director Jo Wilson with kindy teacher Tracey Irvine and early childhood worker Trish Cory and the cubby that will be replaced.

New cubby in works

By Caroline Hammat

McArthur Park Kindergarten have been enthusiastically fundraising for site works with a goal to remove the existing cubby house and replace it with something similar.

The cubby house is around 13 years old and suffering wear and tear and is next on the list of planned upgrades for the site.

Once completed future projects include a new verandah that will expand the play space for children when it is raining and a verandah for the kindergarten entry.

Kindergarten director Jo Wilson said “It just needs a bit more love into the space, with a bit of extra money and funding to help pay for bits and pieces.

“It’s quite a nice secluded space where the children can play, it’s not near a main road and it is very nature orientated.”

The kindergarten’s small cohort of governing council members approached the community for their recent fathers day raffle with around 30 businesses donating for the raffle.

“Our governing council have been going to community groups and businesses for our raffle and that was all donated to the kindy, it’s been a big initiative and the community involvement has been amazing” Ms Wilson said.

Ms Wilson has been in the director role for a year and praised the work the current members are doing in encouraging community engagement which is having a positive impact on enrolment numbers.

“Our enrolments for next year are looking quite healthy because of the work we are doing in the community, getting out and about spending time with our transitional program within the schools.

“We have been very busy and had lots of excursions which the children have enjoyed and we are really trying to form those connections with communities and families.”

The eight winners in the fathers day raffle drawn at the recent twilight session are Pat Scudds, Karla Werchon, Jade McDonald, Andrew Thorne, Lorraine, Ella Wesolowski, Scott Cooper and Toni Hamilton.

No mayors for months

By Elsie Adamo

The Mayoral positions in Robe and Kingston could be vacant for four months, from November 2022 until March 2023, following a lack of nominations for the position.

Kingston District Council chief executive Nat Traeger said initial discussions with the Electoral Commission of South Australia (ECSA) might not start the supplementary elections until the November elections have concluded.

The current process for the November elections has taken around three months, if a similar timeline is followed for the supplementary elections, it could be into 2023 before either town has a mayor.

"There is every likelihood we won't have a new mayor until March next year," Ms Traeger said.

"The Local Government Association is currently getting some legal advice for how we manage in that interim period."

"We have more than enough area councillors...so we can at least form a Council."

"As I understand it, Council will likely be given two options, to appoint an acting mayor and a deputy mayor...or elect a deputy mayor and they act as the mayor."

A more pressing unknown for Ms Traeger is what would happen if an elected councillor decided to run for mayor, which she views as a likely scenario.

"They may have to resign as the area Councillor giving up their seat, and there could be someone out in the community could run against them resulting in a councillor losing their seat," she said.

"I do not know if any of them will want to do that."

"So there is every chance our mayor could end up being someone who was not favoured by the community in the first instance."

The ECSA changed Council Election protocols this year for nominee identities to be kept secret until nominations closed, and outgoing Kingston Mayor Kay Rasheed said the change impacted the nomination results.

"In the country where you have limited numbers of people, I think if we had known beforehand that there were no nominations, I would have rallied around and tried to find someone," Ms Rasheed said.

"The fact we did not know made a difference, I think. I was surprised that no one put their hand up."

"We did get nine nominations for seven councillors, so it is not as though there is no interest, I think people are still keen to see things go from good to better in town."

But for Ms Rasheed, a lack of nominations should not kickstart any talk of amalgamation, a hot topic in the region after Premier Peter Malinauskas announced a plebiscite to gauge interest in joining to other Limestone Coast councils later this year.

"I don't think we should be forced into an amalgamation, that is my personal view," Ms Rasheed said.

"This is the first time that [no nominations for mayor] has ever happened that I am aware of."

"We had the chance to amalgamate when the last lot went through, and there were quite strong feelings that we should be stand alone."

Robe Mayor Alison Nunan echoed Ms Rasheed's comments about the impact on candidate turnout from the new nomination process, but also said that being a small Council meant there were less potential candidates for the position.

"I think people are aware of the time commitment that is required to do it, and not everyone can give it that sort of time," Ms Nunan said.

"It is a big role, and a complex role and if you are going to take it on you have to be prepared to do it justice and that requires a lot of time."

"Not everyone has an interest in Council, in a small community by the time you take out the people who are not interested in Council."

"Certainly, being a small community has had an impact on it."

More clarity on the process for the two councils moving forward is expected in the coming weeks.

'Unique' church could be preserved on heritage list

Finally the church demonstrates a high degree of creative, aesthetic and technical accomplishment, and is an outstanding example of particular construction techniques and design characteristics of late 20th century ecclesiastical Modern Movement architecture in SA.

Some of the distinctive features of the two storey church are its wedge shape with rounded corners, pre-cast concrete columns and reinforced concrete frame, with a roof structure supporting 21 metre steel spire that passes through the roof topped with a cross.

The curved glass front facing George Street contains six stained-glass windows salvaged from the first St Alphonsus' church with other unique internal elements mentioned in the heritage register entry.

St Alphonsus is a standout example of a post-war church and is noted as retaining a high degree of integrity and intactness, displaying characteristics at a high quality.

Mr Conlon said

"Some of these buildings simply couldn't be built using traditional techniques."

"They relied on new engineering and new materials that gave them these great big spaces inside and a totally different approach to worship."

The provisional listing on the South Australian Heritage register is now open for three months of public consultation and the Heritage council welcomes comment.

The listing can be viewed at environment.sa.gov.au/topics/heritage/sa-heritage-register.

Plan makes room for more

Kingston District Council is looking to ease local pressures on the housing market by launching a project that encourages people to rent out spare space.

The pilot project, dubbed “Room 4 a Roomie”, has been pitched to the Kingston community through an online survey.

If the project gets off the ground, it would involve encouraging homeowners to rent out spare rooms, farmhouses, holiday homes, or any other liveable space.

Council chief executive Nat Traeger said it was an alternative solution to turning to bricks and mortar.

“We don’t have the capacity to deliver an infrastructure-based housing solution, but we can galvanise our community into action,” she said.

Ms Traeger said it would be a way to ease the rental crisis while offering shared expenses and social connection.

Kingston Mayor Kay Rasheed said the idea was originally to help house employees working for local businesses, but there could be potential to attract new residents too.

“Obviously, the more people that live here, the more money they will spend, injecting economic stimulus into our community,” Mayor Rasheed said.

Excited: CEO Nat Traeger, Mayor Kay Rasheed and Ray White Kingston property manager Kelly Klun.

“We are aware that we have a high percentage of non-resident ratepayers, and this presents as a simple and quick fix to a long term and complex problem.

“I encourage those who have a spare room, empty holiday home or other option to express their interest and learn more about this initiative.”

The project will initially partner with Ray White Kingston to match possible tenants with accommodation options.

The survey will be open until October 4 and is available at kingstondc.sa.gov.au/our-council/public-consultation/latest-news/room-4-a-roomie-pilot-project.

Gwenda Browne and Wattle Range Suicide Prevention Network volunteer Dawn Williams at McCourts Cafe on RUOK Day.

Skill up to lend an ear

By Caroline Hammat

Last Thursday on national RUOK day Dawn Williams, volunteer with the Wattle Range Suicide Prevention Network (WRSPN), spent her time sparking conversations with others at McCourts Garden Centre Cafe.

The cafe hosted the network’s display of brochures along with the reflection bench hand carved by group member Rick Errington last year with assistance from Millicent Men’s Club members.

Ms Williams spoke about the importance of keeping the conversation continuing after RUOK day and recommended this Sunday’s free Conversations Around Suicide course as a great starting point.

“It is a good course and it gives you a few extra skills, carrying skills costs nothing.

“It is important to keep the conversation going and to have the skills to be an active listener so that you are actually listening and reflecting on what they are saying.

“Lots of times people don’t hear, they don’t hear the whole sentence and you can be thinking one thing and they are thinking something entirely different.

“It’s good to be an active listener and know how to use open-ended questions instead of questions that get a yes or no answer, that keeps the conversation going, it’s important to have those basic skills.

“One on one conversations are worth gold with someone who is actually listening to you, you can’t beat it” Ms Williams said.

The final Conversations Around Suicide course being held by the WRSPN is this Sunday, September 18 from 10am-2pm at the Millicent Civic and Arts Centre.

New gallery to open in Robe

The art culture in Robe continues to grow with a new gallery, Proud Bonney, set to open this month.

Owned and run by local Jordan Kelly, the art gallery will focus on contemporary works.

"It has been my dream to own an art gallery for as long as I can remember," Ms Kelly said.

"I love connecting with other creatives and being able to tell their stories and inspirations to travellers and locals."

Ms Kelly plans to have many different types of work on display and artists in different stages of their careers.

"From emerging artists to mid-career artists, Proud Bonney represents all contemporary Australian works," she said.

"Proud Bonney is here to support and encourage local artists, whether they are well-known to the community or hiding away in their spare rooms, our doors are always open."

The gallery's first exhibition will be 'From Around Here', focusing on local works.

"We will run many local exhibitions with the first one as our opening night on the 30th of September," Ms Kelly said.

"As well as encouraging local artists, I am excited to hold workshops for young and old and generally be apart of the community again."

Ms Kelly has had a varied career in the creative industries, working in graphic design and fashion.

"I have always been drawn to creative roles, from property styling, running my own fashion label to graphic designing," Ms Kelly said.

"Once a creative, always a creative! Before Proud Bonney I was running a woman's clothing store in Adelaide representing contemporary Indian labels into Australia."

"I found myself missing being a part of the local community, so decided to pack up shop and open a contemporary art gallery here in beautiful Robe, alongside my graphic design work JKDesign."

Proud Bonney has been away for Ms Kelly to reintegrate back into the Robe community, returning to the area after living in Adelaide.

"Adelaide was a great venture and learning curve, but it is time to come home and spend more time with family," she said.

"We are very lucky to call Robe home, it is a haven for small business owners, and we are all ready for another successful Summer!"

"Robe is home, I love the support of the locals and the buzz that Summer brings."

MP Pasin steps up for childcare services

Barker MP Tony Pasin has renewed the fight for childcare services in Kingston SE.

Prior to the 2022 state election, both the Labor and Liberal parties pledged $1.8million to build a new childcare centre.

It is sorely needed, with no other options available for parents.

Mr Pasin raised the issue in parliament recently, declaring that he will not give up the fight for it.

"While the Labor government held a talk-fest last week about skills and employment and have indicated they will support the unions in their fight for more membership, they've failed to do something very simple to assist the Kingston South East community see more parents re-enter the workforce," he said.

"Lack of child care has been holding back that community for many, many years."

"Enrol children before birth and drive 140 kilometres or don't work: those are the options available to parents crying out for childcare services in this regional town already struggling to fill jobs."

"The existing childcare service has a waiting list as long as the coastal town's jetty. Despite the Labor Party making an election commitment to match the coalition's funding of $1.8 million for a new childcare centre to be built, the community has heard nothing but crickets about the election commitment from those opposite."

"The project all hinges on this funding. Without written confirmation from the federal Labor government—and Minister Aly in particular—of the $1.8 million and the time frame on delivering this funding, the project cannot move forward."

"An issue that has been talked about for 40 years, a proactive community who have been working on this issue together, with my full support, and a local council working hard over five years all culminated in the announcement of federal funding from both major parties during the recent election campaign. And, yet, now the dust has settled from their election win, the Labor Party are now nowhere to be seen or heard."

"The community who suffered during the Black Summer bushfires but didn't receive the same support or attention as other regions are now feeling forgotten all over again. To those opposite, I say: it's about time you put your money where your mouth is.

"Don't turn your back on this community. I'm going to remain a thorn in your side until you make good on your election commitment to the people who live, work and are raising a family in the community of Kingston South East of South Australia."

Avenue of trees set for jubilee planting

By Kathy Fennell

The Penola Show Society will officially celebrate the Queen's Jubilee with a tree planting ceremony at McCorquindale Park this coming Sunday at 2pm.

The Society was awarded a grant from the Australian Government earlier this year with kind support from Member for Barker, Tony Pasin.

Ten advanced Fraxinus Pennsylvanica Cimmzamm trees have been purchased with nine already planted.

On Sunday some school students will assist in planting the last tree which will complete an avenue of trees at the community grounds.

A plaque commemorating the late Queen Elizabeth's II Jubilee will be placed on one of the trees.

The objective of the program is to mark the significant occasion of Her Majesty's Jubilee throughout events across Australia.

The program also intends to create a legacy of tree plantings across Australia and increase or enhance the area of a tree canopy.

Guests will include Mr Tony Pasin and local councillors, along with show board members and McCorquindale Park user group members.

Members of the general public are also invited to attend.

Complimentary afternoon tea will be available along with coffee and tea.

Umpire Justin Robbie gets the KNTFL grand final gig

By Kathy Fennell

Penola's Justin Robbie has won the gig to umpire the KNTFL A grade grand final at Kingston on Saturday.

The match will be between Lucindale and Keith.

Robbie played football for 33 years for North Gambier and Penola before deciding to take on umpiring.

"I started umpiring 11 years ago and was awarded my first grand final last year and I am extremely happy to gain the A grade spot again this year."

The only thing I miss is watching my son Jacob play A grade football for Penola.

I enjoy umpiring as it keeps me involved in the football circle," he said.

Robbie is only the second umpire to win an A grade grand final as a player and umpire a grand final.

When asked by the Pennant reporter how he handles crowd abuse, Robbie said it doesn't bother him.

"If you start worrying about the crowd you have lost concentration."

I would like to see a good clean game and a close contest," he said.

Penola's Justin Robbie will umpire the KNTFL A grade grand final on Saturday.

Rain in ‘serious deficiency’

Areas of the region are still in serious rainfall deficiency, according to the Bureau of Meteorology. In its latest drought statement, BOM listed a section of land in the South East covering Kingston, Robe and Beachport travelling inland as being the only place in South Australia with a serious deficiency of rainfall over the last nine months. Soil moisture in the region has also been shown to be below average.

A serious rainfall deficiency is classed as within the lowest 10 per cent of historical observations since 1900.

But there have been improvements from the last drought report, with the area with the deficiency shrinking substantially, with no more areas listed as in severe deficiency.

“Compared to the 8-month period ending July 2022, the strength and spatial extent of rainfall deficiencies have generally eased slightly across southern Australia, with rainfall for the period now generally above the lowest 10 per cent of historical observations for those areas of south-east South Australia shown in serious or severe deficiency last month,” the statement said.

Some areas within the South East are still suffering through a period of serious rainfall deficiency, despite conditions mostly easing across the state. Picture: FILE

The Limestone Coast region overall is still shown to be very much below average when looking at multi-year rainfall between September 2018 and August 2022. But more rain may be on the way, with the BOM Climate Outlook released at the start of the month predicting above median rainfall for September to November for the eastern two-thirds of Australia.

Swooping magpies ‘just defending their young’

By Kathy Fennell

It is spring time and it is also magpie swooping season.

According to Dr Karl Hillyard, Department for Environment and Water Principal Ecologist, Wildlife, magpies breed between August and October.

“The males defend their nests from the time the eggs are laid until the young birds are ready to fly and they will attack anything they consider to be a threat, from another bird or a dog or human,” he said.

Magpies have excellent recall for faces and very long memories, so if you have been swooped before, or even if you just look like someone they swooped last year, you are likely to be swooped again.

“They are not malicious birds, they are just defending their young.

They only defend their nests within about a fifty metre circumference, so the best way to avoid a magpie visit is to take a detour around known nest sites if it is possible,” Dr Hillyard said.

A group of Penola social cyclists ride around the town regularly and certainly know the magpie hot spots.

The cyclists said the hot spots are up the northern end of the town and warn cyclists and walkers to be aware.

A mighty monarch

By Caroline Hammat

The recent death of Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II has stirred many memories for those who were children at the time of the Royal visit to Mount Gambier in 1954.

Schools from across the district organised students to be transported via train, bus or car to Vansittart Park to form a map of Australia for the Queen's visit. It was the first time a reigning British monarch had visited Australia.

Marion Galwey was eleven at the time and attended the event with her younger sister Aldyth dressed in their Brownie uniforms.

The girls took part in the activities and formed part of the guard of honour at Vansittart Park's main gates by local Brownies and Girl Guide groups.

Ms Galwey said “the queen came along in her Landrover and they stopped, if I had walked out of the guard of honour I could have touched her car, we were very close to her and very excited.

“Mum and dad took us up in our old car and they went on the way to the lakes and watched from up there.

“I then made a book at primary school of the royal visit, it’s got all cut-outs of the Woman’s Day articles or whatever mum had.

“It has each different state she was in and I’ve glued a crown on the front, it’s got my name Marion Davies on it and I still have it.

Liz Sutcliffe also formed part of the Brownies guard of honour on the day but as she was only seven years old her memories are not clear.

“I remember the Queen’s car and everything, but I can’t remember how we went up there.

“But my Aunt Betty Gordon was in England working in a bank at the time and she actually went to the Queen’s coronation.

“She brought me home a little carriage figurine with horses pulling it, about three inches long, it was real treasure and I loved it.

Wine show shaping up as a hot contest

There will be some hot contests at the Limestone Coast Wine Show with a huge number of entries in.

Next month’s Show has attracted some of the strongest numbers in the event’s 21-year history, with more than 475 wines nominated by 69 exhibitors.

The new Cabernet trophies are set to be hotly contested, with the class now split into two categories according to vintage.

The exceptional aging quality of Limestone Coast reds is also highlighted by strong entries in the Museum class for wines greater than seven years old, while enthusiasm for the Chardonnay and Shiraz classes reflects an impressive run of recent vintages.

Wine show judging will take place at Penola’s Rymill Hall from Monday October 17, with this year’s panel travelling from Tasmania, Western Australia, Victoria, New Zealand and across South Australia to participate.

“This is such a wonderful opportunity for wine producers to compare their product against industry benchmarks courtesy of such a broad range of experienced palates, and we’re really looking forward to seeing our judges’ decisions,” said the Wine Show Committee’s Lauren Hansen.

Their favourite wines will be revealed on Thursday October 20 during a trophy dinner at the Robe Mechanics Institute hosted by the Mount Benson / Robe Wine Regions.

Sails at Robe head chef Adam Brookes will prepare the four-course feast, which will also showcase previous trophy winners and strong performers, with a particular focus on wines from the coast.

Tickets for the dinner and transport to the event are still available, with bus timetables due out early next month.

“We’re thrilled to be able to gather again, and with mingling now back on the table thanks to relaxed COVID restrictions - there will be plenty to celebrate, so get on board!” Ms Hansen said.

Flags at half-mast

Flags have been lowered to half-mast across the Wattle Range council region following the death of Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II on Friday, September 9.

Flags will continue to be flown at half-mast until the day after the Queen's funeral on Monday, September 19.

A one off public holiday on Thursday, September 22 has been announced coinciding with a National Day of Mourning.

Shop trading hours will be similar to Anzac Day, with shops closed until midday as a mark of respect.

Premier Peter Malinauskas said “The death of Queen Elizabeth II is a significant moment in our nation's history – the last time our monarch died was more than 70 years ago.

“The Commonwealth has announced a public holiday for a National Day of Mourning, which is appropriate given the magnitude of the death of the Queen.”

Mass held for Queen

By Kathy Fennell

A very special Mass was held at St Mary's Anglican Church in Penola on Sunday following the death of Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II, the Governor of the Anglican Church.

Father Lyndon Sulzberger welcomed everyone to the service to commemorate and give thanks for the life of Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II.

One of the hymns chosen for the service was 'The Lord is my Shepherd'.

This hymn was chosen by the then Princess Elizabeth in 1947 at her wedding with Prince Philip.

It has become a famous hymn and has been sung for the last 60 or 70 years in Anglican churches.

During the service the bell tolled 96 times as part of the Mass

Some Penola residents remember the day they travelled to Mount Gambier to see Her Majesty in 1954.

Sue McShane said she was at the Penola Area school in about grade two.

“We all had to wear a white dress and we all went down on a bus to Vansittart Park. Some also travelled down on the back of a truck.

I can just remember all of us lining the oval to see her,” Sue said.

Rhonda Lepley said she was attending the Kalangadoo Primary school and she wore a navy skirt and a hat with a white or red shirt as far as she can remember.

Students from schools in the South East formed the map of Australia on the oval.

“We went to the Mount in private cars as there were no buses at Kalangadoo, and of course only kids that families could afford the uniforms could attend,” Rhonda said.

The Penola Pipe band also participated and joined in with other bands from the South East.

A large banner was also displayed with the inscription 'Penola Welcomes Our Queen'.

All students were presented with a souvenirs of the event.

Local royalist pays homage

Colleen Hammat has been a royalist for as long as she can remember and has been collecting royal memorabilia since she was a child.

“I started my royal book collection in primary school days, I had the sets that they use to put out for 2/6.

“We all made scrapbooks back then it was a big deal, we would salute the flag everyday, the royals were important to us.”

In a royal highlight Ms Hammat and her Mother-in-law Patricia Hammat were in London in 1980 when the Queen Mother turned 80.

“We saw the Royals, including the Queen, on the balcony of Buckingham Palace that day.

“There was a very big crowd and we just mingled amongst it.

“I also went to Adelaide in 2002 to see her, I knew she was coming and made a special trip.

“I did get very close at the railway station, it wasn't a big crowd because it wasn't well know she would be there.

“I'd been told it would be the best place to go because it hadn't been advertised, they also did a walk up Kintore Avenue and there were bigger crowds.

Ms Hammat ran into Millicent locals, Len and Faye Teagle and the Millicent police sergeant at the time Peter Stanford and his Brigitta, in the crowd saying they met up later to have a drink in a nearby hotel to celebrate the occasion.

The Queen's 2002 trip to Australia was in celebration of her Golden Jubilee marking the 50th anniversary of her succession to the throne.

In honour of the Queen and her long reign Ms Hammat is wearing her favourite royal brooch for the official 10 days of mourning.

Back to the '80s is a blast

By Caroline Hammat

A recent collaboration between junior and senior members of Millicent High School's Student Representative Council (SRC) resulted in an exceptional night of 80s themed trivia fun.

15 teams attended the event with over 130 potential quiz masters challenged on their 80s knowledge and Jess Fitzgerald winning best dressed on the night.

Live music was a highlight of the evening with Harrison Suclan, Harry MacFarlane and Aidan Whennan testing everyone's musical knowledge and bringing out the best dance moves of the participants.

School captain and SRC member, Faith McKenzie, curated and led the quiz night with support from Jazmin Brant and Lucy Thomas.

Although Faith already had some knowledge of the 80's she spoke to teachers who were around in that era when researching the topic and said "I tried leaning away from internet research as much as possible."

"I asked people who were actually in Australia in the 80s because its a bit more reliable and obviously not everything on the internet would have been relevant to us."

"A lot of parents and some teachers that came were previous students of the high school, it was good to see the progression of the 80s to what we now know as the students currently."

Junior SRC members Alexis Hoffman, Astyn Baker and Chad Cockrum took on the task of organising and running the event with planning beginning last term.

Astyn said "Getting prizes and planning the raffle was a big part of that, going out to businesses and asking for donations, we managed to get quite a few but it took awhile."

The students all agreed the night was great fun but not all were sure they would want to go back to the 80s.

"I learnt a bit more than what I knew, I don't want to go back but I like the 80s music" Chad said.

Organising the event was a valuable learning experience for the small group who had to collaborate with teachers across the school to organise backdrops, sound, music and approvals.

A total of $1400 was raised which will go toward the installation of further seating and shaded areas in the school yard.

This project is still in the planning stages with the group looking at forming partnerships within the school and locally to achieve their goals.

The SRC are grateful to all who donated prizes, volunteered their time and attended the night.

Organisers estimate up to 60 people dropped by Canunda Wind Farm on Sunday night to see one of Engie's wind turbines lit blue for mental health.

Vestas service technician, John Hutchison, in collaboration with the Wattle Range Suicide Prevention Network hosted the night which included a brief RUOK presentation by Tracey Wanganeen, Coordinator of StandBy Support After Suicide.

The rain held off while the crowd warmed themselves with hot soup provided by Millicent's Share a Plate, Let it Bean coffee van and locally knitted beanies.

Sam Ryan and Sam Batty kept the hot drinks moving with Let it Bean coffee van.

Motoring

Big upgrade: The Nissan Z has nearly tripled its Datsun predecessor's from 100kw of power to 298kw.

Old heritage: The new Nissan Z has an obvious likeness to the Datsun 240Z of 1969.

Nissan Z now in Australia

By Ewan Kennedy, Marque Motoring

The new Nissan Z has arrived in Australia, ushering in a new dawn of twin-turbocharged performance for one of the world's most iconic automotive nameplates.

To celebrate, Nissan arranged a family reunion for its newest performance car the limited-edition Nissan Z Proto Spec in Sydney.

Nissan Australia managing director Adam Paterson said this was a proud moment and that few models could claim the performance lineage of the Z.

"To be able to celebrate it right here in Australia, on the eve of a new dawn of performance for the brand, is special," Mr Paterson said.

"This might be the first example of the all-new Z we see on local roads, but we'll soon be seeing many more, with a new era of Z about to begin."

While every Z model was a performance benchmark for its era, that benchmark has shifted considerably over the decades, as evidenced by the incredible increase in power on offer in a Z vehicle over the past 50 years.

The Datsun 240Z arrived in 1969, with the marque's "luxuriously appointed high-performance sports car" fitted with a six-cylinder engine that produced in excess of 100kW.

The all-new Nissan Z is still equipped with a six-cylinder engine which is now a 3.0-litre twin-turbo V6, but the power on offer has almost tripled, to 298kW.

That's the enduring ethos of the Z car story, and one that's been successfully applied to every new iteration of this icon of performance.

A new generation must improve the formula, while also staying true to its heritage.

It's clear in the progression from 240Z to 260Z, from 280ZX to 300ZX, and from the 350Z to the 370Z.

Every step in that journey has led to this moment, the arrival of the new benchmark in Z performance, the all-new Nissan Z.

We invite you to enjoy Z through the ages as we continue to countdown to the launch of the all-new Z.

Mazda factories around the globe go carbon neutral

By Ewan Kennedy, Marque Motoring

Mazda Motor Corporation has announced its commitment to making its worldwide factories carbon neutral by 2035 and its entire supply chain carbon neutral by 2050.

Mazda sees it as the core responsibility of any automotive manufacturer to do their part in curbing global warming by reducing CO2 emissions in every process of vehicle production, including manufacturing, transport, vehicle usage, recycling, etc.

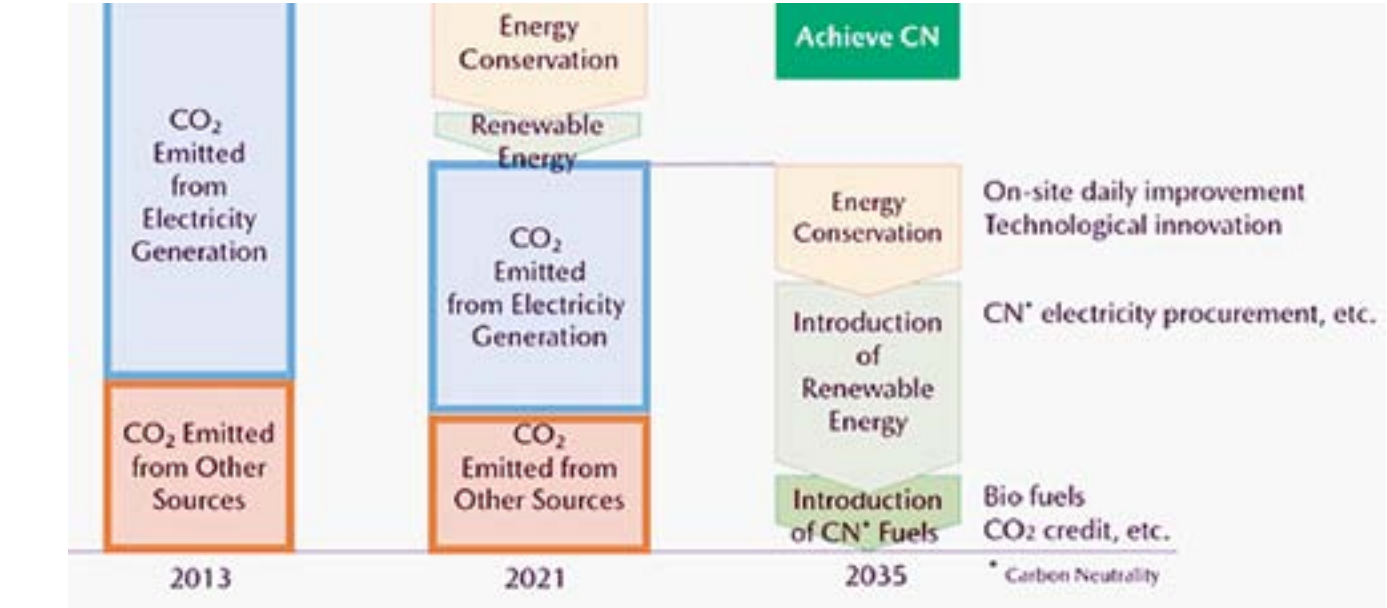

Consequently, Mazda has been actively engaged in carbon neutral initiatives.

To achieve carbon neutrality in Mazda factories around the globe by 2035, they plan to work closely with its partners and proceed via three pillars of energy conservation, shift to renewable energies and introduction of carbon neutral fuels for in-house transportation.

Mazda says the first pillar focuses on energy conservation efforts during the vehicle manufacturing processes, which emit large amounts of CO2.

These include reduction of thermal energy through the development of low-temperature curing paints and improvement of energy conversion efficiency by optimising processing technology.

Regarding the second pillar, shifting to renewable energy, Mazda recognises the importance of not only making steps toward the company's carbon neutrality, but also that of contributing to the growth of the local economy.

Clean production: Mazda has committed to carbon neutral factories by 2035 and its entire supply chain to be carbon neutral by 2050.

Therefore, it will participate proactively in efforts of the Carbon Neutral Electricity Promotion Subcommittee, which aims to expand the supply and demand of carbon neutral electricity throughout the Chugoku region.

Mazda is also considering various forms of decarbonisation, such as low/carbon-free power generation in our plants and procurement of electricity from renewable energy suppliers.

For introduction of carbon neutral fuels, the third pillar of our initiatives, efforts include Mazda working toward using carbon neutral fuel for in-house transportation in cooperation with the Hiroshima Council for Automotive Industry-Academia-Government Collaboration which is promoting the practical use of next-generation biofuels.

Furthermore, it will capitalise on these initiatives conducted in Japan and use them as a basis to implement the optimal approach for each facility outside Japan.

Through these efforts, Mazda will continue to make steady steps toward the greater challenge of making our whole supply chain carbon neutral by 2050 and our endeavour to help create a future where we can coexist with our beautiful planet in harmony and forever.

YOUR WEEKLY TV GUIDE

THE HANDMAID'S TALE SBS, Thursday, 8.30pm

Many will agree that he had it coming – Commander Fred Waterford (Joseph Fiennes) was brutally murdered in the closing scenes of season four. But that begs the question: whose time is up in the fifth season of this intensely dark and depressing dystopian drama? June (Elisabeth Moss, pictured) and Serena (Yvonne Strahovski) are either on a path to destruction or redemption as the worlds of free Canada and totalitarian Gilead collide. In this double-episode return, embrace the misery as June's escape to Canada continues to weigh on her.

ATLANTA SBS Viceland, Friday, 9.20pm

An Emmy Award-winning comedy, Atlanta rewrites the rule book on storytelling and hitting viewers' funny bones. After last season, in which Earn (Donald Glover, pictured), Van (Zazie Beetz), Darius (Lakeith Stanfield) and Paper Boi (Brian Tyree Henry) indulged in wacky, weird and confronting adventures in Europe, you could say creator and star Glover threw that pesky rule book out of a fast-moving car's window. But fans can indulge in a premature sigh of relief for this fourth and final season premiering tonight: the crew is back in their old namesake of Atlanta.

THE AMAZING RACE AUSTRALIA 10, Monday, 7.30pm

These intrepid teams sure are making up for lost time now the world's borders are open, racking up plenty of fresh stamps in their passports.

Tonight, the competitors head from the Colombian capital Bogota to Medellin, known as the City of Eternal Spring. Here, they must climb 220m up to the summit of La Piedra del Peñol (pictured), where they must choose between replicating a flower bouquet or visiting a coffee plantation to sort through a sack of beans.

PICK OF THE WEEK

THE AUSTRALIAN WARS SBS and NITV, Wednesday, 7.30pm

It's a story not often talked about in modern-day Australia, but what could be our country's most defining conflict is illuminated by filmmaker Rachel Perkins (pictured, Bran Nue Dae, Jasper Jones) in this three-part documentary. An Arrernte and Kalkadoon woman who also has European ancestry, Perkins journeys across Australia tracing the frontier wars that resulted from the British claim to the continent and the carnage that ensued when First Nations people resisted. Tonight's first part begins in Sydney-Eora, the birthplace of contemporary Australia, and charts the first interactions between Captain Arthur Phillip's colony and Indigenous leaders including Bennelong and Pemulwuy.

Magpies back for more

A Grade: Kalangadoo 55 d Robe 42

Kalangadoo has earned the right to challenge for its 10th consecutive Mid South East netball A Grade premiership after a win over Robe in the preliminary final on Saturday.

As expected, the game started goal-for-goal at a high intensity fitting for the penultimate game of the season.

Robe defenders Emma Grant and Georgia Perkins applied plenty of pressure, which caused the Kalangadoo goalies Abbey Duncan and Kori Collins to overthink their shots.

At the other end of the court Halle Carter and Sarah Laurie shared the shooting load, despite strong defensive pressure from Lauren Kain and Reanna Weatherall.

Robe held a two-goal lead at quarter time despite the play being reasonably even.

In the second quarter Robe's Lucy Perkins used her speed well to create space, while Carter shot at 100 per cent accuracy to capitalise on the good work.

Meanwhile, Duncan dominated for the Magpies in the goal circle through the drive and feeding of Kirsty Egan.

Kalangadoo settled and played with patience, taking a two-goal lead to the main break.

The Magpies scored off their first centre pass of the third quarter despite intense defensive pressure by Grant and Perkins, which the Kalangadoo goalies to use their feeders consistently.

Annie Hunter applied defensive pressure through the mid-court, with her team desperate for every ball.

Despite this, Kalangadoo settled and pushed out to a seven-goal lead at three quarter time to set up the win.

In the last quarter Laurie was the focal point in the circle for the Roosters but Kain's defensive pressure limited opportunities.

Kalangadoo's hands-over pressure through the mid-court caused many turnovers and Collins came into the game to shoot with accuracy.

In the end the pressure and possession saw the Magpies run away with a a convincing 13-goal win to advance to the grand final.

Best player for the victors were Abbey Duncan and Egan, while Carter and Hunter were best for Robe.

Kalangadoo's Jayde Peacock feeds the ball in under pressure from Robe's Annie Hunter.

Robe's Keelin Winterfield looks to take possession.

No easy ride: Roosters through in tough contest

A Reserve: Robe 50 d Glencoe 42

Robe pushed through to the Mid South East netball grand final after a tough hit-out with Glencoe in the Preliminary final on Saturday.

Both teams started strong, with Glencoe scoring the first two goals to apply scoreboard pressure.

Robe soon responded and the first quarter became a goal-for-goal contest, with scores level at first break.

The second quarter saw Robe's defence create some timely turnovers, with Kim Ross taking three to help the Roosters to a five-goal advantage at the main break.

The third quarter saw Robe's mid-court players Keryn Moore and Ross utilise their defensive pressure and work overtime to put the pressure on.

Glencoe moved Chelsea Owen into the defence, which lifted the side and forced Robe's goalies Demi Carter and Ella Mackey to work extra hard for any possessions.

Robe held a handy nine-goal lead going into the last quarter and although the Murphies worked hard, they could not make inroads into the deficit, with the Roosters running out deserved winners.

Best player for the victors were Mackey and Ross, while best for Glencoe were Alyce Finnis and Laura Edwards.

Preliminary final goes down to the wire

B Reserve: Kalangadoo 49 d Port MacDonnell 41

Kalangadoo claimed another Mid South East netball preliminary final victory in the B Reserves grade, accounting for Port MacDonnell in a tight affair.

The first quarter set the stage for the contest, as goalies from both teams struggled to hit the ring and had to work hard to keep the ball at their ends.

Kalangadoo led by one goal at the first break, in a contest which pushed both sides to the limit.

The second quarter was again tight, with both teams scoring 12 goals.

That kept the Magpies with a tentative one-goal advantage and the stage set for an epic final half.

The third quarter saw Port MacDonnell's Ainsley Mann shoot accurately to keep the Demons in the hunt, as did Kalangadoo's Jodie Greenwood to keep the game at a tight contest.

Kalangadoo made several changes in the last quarter which seemed to unsettle Port MacDonnell and changed the momentum of the game.

The Magpies capitalised, outscoring the Demons by six goals to run out deserving victors.

Best players for Kalangadoo were Angie Morgan and Samantha Mulraney, with Bridodie Wilson and Paige Cawthorne best for Port MacDonnell.

Kalangadoo's Jodi Greenwood looks up the court for an option.

Murphies too strong

B Grade: Glencoe 52 d Hatherleigh 36

Glencoe set up its Mid South East netball preliminary final victory over Hatherleigh with a strong start. The 13 goals to nine term saw Madeline Watson dominant at goal shooter, with accurate shooting to capitalise on her side's solid work up the court.

Hatherleigh's Hayley Bell came off with an ankle injury and was replaced by Ellie Cook at GA, while Watson continued to dominate for the Murphies. Mid-court turnovers cost the Eagles, as Kate Sealey applied intense defensive pressure.

Charlie Muhovics shot accurately for the Eagles, holding strongly within the circle, but Glencoe extended its lead to 12 goals at the main break. In the third quarter Glencoe made changes, with Watson moving to GA and continuing her dominance, while Hatherleigh replaced Ella Major with Meg Gray. It was a more even quarter, with Hatherleigh's Ellie Cook shooting with confidence.

Sally McDonnell kept applying defensive to Muhovics to limit her opportunities and scores were tied for the term, with the Murphies still holding the same advantage heading into the final stanza.

Glencoe had done the hard work in the first half and continued that in the final term to run out comfortable victors.

Best players for Glencoe were McDonnell Watson, with Jasmyne Bellingier and Charlie Muhovics best for Hatherleigh.

Robe's Charles Moore looks to kick deep into the danger zone.

Roosters run hard

By Trevor Jackson

17 and Under: Robe 20.16 (136) d Kongorong 6.4 (40)

The Robe Football Club made the long trip down to Kalangadoo for the Mid South East football 17 and Under preliminary final on Saturday and were not disappointed.

The Roosters made easy work of their clash with Kongorong, despite a competitive first term from the Hawks.

The Roosters banged on five straight goals to take the early advantage, but Kongorong managed two majors and a behind to keep in touch.

However, it all changed in the second quarter as the Roosters used the wind to advantage and began to pile on the goals.

The half-time score was disappointing for the young Hawks, as the Roosters had skipped out to a 49-point lead.

Despite the game being won, Robe players still celebrated from a kick after the siren.

There was no coming back from there and Robe simply went about its work and continued to add big numbers to the scoreboard.

The lead extended to 72 points at the final break, with the final margin 96 points.

The Roosters shared the spoils, with nine individual goal kickers.

Of those, Codee Weston topped the list with five majors, Mason McKenny kicked four and Flynn Peel three, while Mason Keane and Max Robertson added two each.

Best for the victors were Hudson Peel, Jimmy Murch, Robertson, Flynn Peel and Joel Bryant.

For Kongorong, Shakielle Von Stanke kicked four majors.

Best for the Hawks were Brodie Von Stanke-Dowie, Nate Von Stanke-Dowie, William von Stanke, Shakielle Von Stanke, Harrison Elletson and Declan Wright.

Robe will now face Hatherleigh in the grand final this coming weekend.

Young Murphies on target

By Trevor Jackson

14 and Under: Glencoe 10.6 (66) d Hatherleigh 3.3 (21)

Glencoe showed its up-and-coming footballers are up to the task, with a solid Mid South East football 14 and Under victory in the preliminary final on Saturday.

The Murphies faced Hatherleigh and were on song from the first bounce.

A six-goal opening term set the scene, with the young Eagles unable to bother the scorer.

While the wind played its part in the second term, with Glencoe only able to extend its lead by a further seven points, Hatherleigh was still unable to score, with the 46-point margin a hard one to chase down.

The game slowed down from there, with few goals scored after the long break but the Murphies had a sniff of a grand final berth and never let the Eagles back into the contest.

The final 45-point margin was testament to the Eagles resolve to fight the game out but showed the strength of the young Murphies.

For the victors, multiple goals came from Lachlan Brierly (4) and Daniel Ferguson (3).

Best for Glencoe were Tyrone Siebert, Kallan Price, Riley Ferguson, Tighe Hurley, Declan Mutch and Hamish Gordon.

Ethan Marshall kicked two goals for Hatherleigh and tied up first best, joined by Oskar Howell, Chloe Bellinger, Hannah Bellinger, Tom Bowering and Coaden Taylor.

Young stars entertain in chase for shot in the big game

17 and Under: Mount Burr 49 d Port MacDonnell 44

The top junior grade in Mid South East netball provided an exciting preliminary final clash on Saturday.

Port MacDonnell faced off against Mount Burr after a hard loss against Robe the week before.

While both teams were fired up early, Mount Burr set up its victory in the opening term, with a 15-7 dominant quarter.

Mount Burr's Faith McKenzie led from the front, shooting accurately, while Jarrah Altschwager and Arriella Smith ran toe-to-toe in constant competition throughout the game, both playing a vital role in their team's transition.

Mount Burr struggled to open any real margin for the remainder of the competition, as the Demons kept the lead to a minimum.

Bridie McPherson was key at the defensive end for Port MacDonnell, forcing Mount Burr to make errors.

At the end of the third quarter Mount Burr led 39-28, but the Demons were not about to let their season end, with a strong start to the final term.

It seemed to shake up the Mozzies, but in the end, with some crucial turnovers from Maddie Gamble, they were able to hold on and book a grand final berth against Robe.

Best players for Mount Burr were Altschwager and Gamble, with Smith and McPherson best for Port MacDonnell.

15 and Under: Robe 38 d Mount Burr 35

Mount Burr and Robe faced off in the 15 and Under preliminary final certainly put on a show.

The Mozzies came out firing and started strongly, with Abbey Falting shooting with 100 per cent accuracy for the term and Olivia Holland feeding well into the goalies.

Macy Burns and Sara Smith showed strong defence for the Mozzies, turning the ball over every chance they had, which created an eight-goal advantage at the first break.

However, the momentum swung from there and Robe began to methodically reduce the deficit.

The second quarter saw Robe come out with a changed line up, bringing Lucy Collins on at GS and Demi Bermingham to GK, which saw the Roosters settle and the game become more even, with the quarter going goal-for-goal.

Robe was on fire early in the third quarter, tying the scores up, with GA Georgie Wirth creating lots of movement and options in attack, having a great tussle with Burns who created many turnovers which were not capitalised on.

By the final term Robe held a handy lead and in a tight quarter, held on for a well-deserved victory.

Best players for Robe Wirth and Bermingham, with Falting and Holland best for Mount Burr.

13 and Under: Port MacDonnell 51 d Glencoe 25

Port MacDonnell proved far too strong for Glencoe in the 13 and Under preliminary final.

The Demons started the first quarter off strong, with Bailee Lewis a focal point in the goal circle, making it difficult for her player to keep up.

Kasey McLean transitioned the ball smoothly down the attack end, also feeding accurately into the Port MacDonnell goalies.

Both teams made changes at quarter time, with Taya Bellinger on for the Murphies, which made a difference for their attack line, with her feeding and driving well down the court.

Lily Jacobs and Bailee Lewis worked hard for the Demons and they continued to control the contest.

The intensity in the third quarter dropped dramatically, with both teams making unforced errors.

Coming into the last quarter, Glencoe's Isabella Brierley utilised her defensive pressure to slow Port MacDonnell's drive down the court, but Jacob's pop out in the Demons' goal circle allowed space for Bailee's drive.

Port MacDonnell was too strong in the end and came away with a solid victory.

Best players for the victors were Jacob and Lewis, with Bellinger and Brierley best for Glencoe.

Magpies through to GF

By Trevor Jackson

A Grade: Kalangadoo d 12.14 (86)
Port MacDonnell 9.7 (61)

Kalangadoo A Grade footballers earned a Mid South East football grand final berth after a solid victory over Port MacDonnell on Saturday.

The Magpies did it the hard way after finishing as minor premiers with just one loss to their name throughout the season.

Finals came and that changed, as Hatherleigh easily accounted for the Magpies in the second semi-finals the previous week.

With their season on the line, the Magpies faced the Demons at Kalangadoo oval without the services of gun forward Michael Krieger.

That opened a door for the Demons, who had struggled to contain the young goal kicker in previous encounters during the minor rounds.

However, the Magpies approached the game with confidence they could fill that void and in the end it worked a treat.

But from the first bounce all did not look the best for the home side.

Kicking with a stiff breeze, Port MacDonnell managed to bang on a couple of major scores while holding Kalangadoo to just two behinds.

However, the Demons did not take full advantage, as was shown in the second term when the Magpies took control.

Justin Bromley provided a strong target up forward for Kalangadoo and opened proceedings in the second quarter but the Demons soon responded.

The game became an arm wrestle, with the Magpies off target with minor scores.

However, towards the end of the term Kalangadoo began to hit some targets and opened the game up with four late goals.

By the long break the 13-point deficit had been transformed to a 28-point lead and from there the Demons struggled to keep pace.

Even with the wind in the third term Port MacDonnell could not do any damage, with just two goals and a behind, while the Magpies put on a further 3.1.

While Kalangadoo held a strong 34-point advantage at the final break, the Demons were not done and outscored the home side but it was too little, too late and the Magpies celebrated with another chance at a premiership flag booked.

Bromley and Ben Gregory did the damage in front of goals, with three each, while Connor Gentile added two.

James Pratt was in fine form early in the game, with some timely intercept marks to deny the Demons shots on goal, which turned the game.

Jason Bannister and Kevin Thomson look to gain the ascendancy during Saturday's Mid South East football preliminary final.

For Port MacDonnell, Brandon Newton kicked three goals, while Alex Ridding added two.

Kalangadoo coach Kevin Stark said it was pleasing effort from his players to respond after the Demons were off to a strong start.

He said the wind began to play its part, which required extra effort regardless of which way the magpies were kicking.

"It was probably a bit stronger wind than I thought earlier in the day," he said.

"By the time we got out there it really came into play.

"You just had to cash in as much as you could when you had the wind and try to limit the damage when you didn't."

However, Stark said it was not the wind which hampered the Magpies efforts in the opening term, but more the pressure of the day and how the Demons were playing.

He said from there his side began to settle and use the ball better.

"It was high-pressure finals footy, so there were a few nerves," Stark said.

"It took us a bit of time to get into our rhythm but in the second quarter I thought we got going a bit better.

"We made better decisions with the footy and were a lot smarter and cleaner with our ball use."

Stark acknowledged Pratt's performance, not just in the second quarter but across the day.

But he said the turn-around in form was due to more than just one player.

"He had a very good day," Stark said.

"With the Bay having Tim (Sullivan) and Will (MacDonald), at all times they were going to have one of those down forward.

"Whoever was down there, and it turned out to be him for the majority of the day, was going to have a big task to stop that resting ruckman.

"I thought he did a good job but I also thought our mids did a good job of not allowing easy ball movement in.

"They made sure there was pressure on the ball carrier and did not allow clean movement inside 50, so it was a good effort across a lot of people."

Even with the game all-but sewn up at the final break, Stark said there was no time to rest, with the Demons simply too strong a side to give any space.

Port MacDonnell's Kyall McLean looks to stop Kalangadoo's Patrick Davies during Saturday's Mid South East football preliminary final.

"It didn't feel like a big lead and it wasn't relaxing," he said.

"They are well coached and have a lot of good players, the sort of blokes who won't roll over.

"We knew they would keep coming and we had to stay switched on.

"I was very happy to hear the siren go."

Stark said his side discussed a plan to cover the hole left by Krieger up forward. He said he was pleased to see a spread of goal kickers and paid tribute to one particular Colt who lined up in the roster - and for a couple of classy goals.

"Connor (Gentile) had a good game for a colt," he said.

"His composure for a kid his age was phenomenal.

"His second goal was from a big contested mark inside 50.

"He went back and slotted it.

"There would be plenty of blokes who have played a lot more footy who would be nervous doing that, so he did a great job."

For now Stark said his side is excited to have another crack at Hatherleigh, after losing to the Eagles in the second semi-final.

Clinical display by Magpies

By Trevor Jackson

Reserves: Kalangadoo 19.4 (118) d
Glencoe 5.5 (35)

Kalangadoo's Reserves footballers will join their A Grade counterparts with a Mid South East football grand final berth after a clinical preliminary final display against Glencoe on Saturday.

Played on their home ground, the Magpies were simply too strong from the first bounce, with a solid first term in the windy conditions.

Kalangadoo skipped out to an 18-point advantage at the first break and lifted the intensity from there.

A further four majors in the second term added to the scoreboard pressure, while Glencoe found a way to score, but with just a solitary goal for the quarter.

The accurate kicking continued in the third term, with the Magpies showing the way in front of the big sticks, with eight straight goals, while the Murphies added just one more.

By the final stanza the game was well-and-truly done, as the Magpies held a 79-point advantage and ran the game out with four final-quarter majors and just one more behind.

It was an impressive display, with 12 individual goal kickers.

Scott Agnew and Chris Mules led the way with four goals each, while Tyler Jones added two.

The remaining goals came as singles.

Justin Mansell and Joshua Searle were the best two for the victors.

Kalangadoo will face Hatherleigh in the season decider this coming weekend.

Brad Male takes a strong mark during Kalangadoo's win over Glencoe on the weekend.

Busy period for golfers

The Penola Home Hardware monthly medal was contested by a field of 13 women at the Penola Golf Club last week.

In the A Grade competition, Sue Kilsby finished on top with nett 72, while Deb Paschke came in at runner-up on nett 75.

Katie Lewis won B Grade, also on nett 72, after a countback from Patricia Boyd.

The putting competition was won by Judith Georgeson with just 26 putts over 18 holes, while nearest the pin was won by Lewis and Claire Mossop.

Lewis' winning streak continued on Saturday when she claimed first prize in the nine at nine competition with 17 points.

Deb and Meg Redman filled the minor placings, both on 14 points, with the accuracy award going to Paschke.

The previous week's event was won by Catherine Kidman from Mossop, where Kidman also claimed the putting prize.

In other women's golf news, Barbara Provis finished fourth in the Limestone Coast over 36 handicap day at the Blue Lake Golf Links.

Karen Cahir, Lewis, Rachael Messenger and Deb Redman also hit the road to represent Penola in the Royal Adelaide Golf Club challenge bowl.

While they narrowly missed out on the overall team's event honours, Deb Redman finished runner-up in the silver event on the day with 34 stableford points.

Rachael Messenger finished third in the bronze with 35 points.

All four of them thoroughly enjoyed their first appearance at the Royal Adelaide course.

A reminder to members the Vignerons Golf Day is on September 30, with teams of four invited to register with Coonawarra Vignerons.

It is a relaxed and fun day with good food and wines and terrific prizes on offer.

Family event lights up Burrungule Park

A STRONG field of 77 shooters competed in the recent South East Field and Game Father's Day sporting clay event at Burrungule Park.

Met by perfect spring conditions, Ron Rhook claimed the high gun prize after a shoot-off with Jeremy Kent.

Both competitors tied on 71/75 targets, but it was Rhook who earned the top honours, while Kent settled for the AA Grade win.

The two-person family team shoot was won off the gun by Jeremy and Neville Kent, while the handicap team was won by Scott and Reece Fleming.

For Jeremy Kent, it was a continuation of good form, after he won the recent State Sporting Clays Championship at the central branch of South Australian Field and Game.

Sub Juniors winner Kain Ashby and runner-up Shakielle Von Stanke.

Family Team Handicap winners Scott and Reece Fleming.

Open day

The Penola Bowling Club held its 2022-23 opening day on Sunday.

Met by cool conditions, the day was cut short to one game as the rain set in.

Life member Margaret Hanel placed the mat down, while women's singles champion Meredith Hinze rolled the Kitty and men's singles champion Rick Mitchell rolled the first bowl for the season.

The winners for the day were Mitchell, Gerardine Williams, Brian Devereux and Kay Wetherall, followed by the runner-up rink of Lesley Clifton, Ron Hunter and John Davidson.

The social bowls competition returns to Wednesdays, with names required to be in by 1pm for a 1.30pm start.

Margaret Hanel, Meredith Hinze and Rick Mitchell were honoured to open proceedings at the Penola Bowls Club on Sunday.

There will be no easy possessions for Glencoe on Saturday as the Murphies take on Kalangadoo in the Mid South East netball A Grade grand final.

Top sides do battle in fitting grand final

A Grade: Glencoe v Kalangadoo
All is set for an epic showdown when Glencoe and Kalangadoo go head to head in the Mid South East netball A Grade grand final on Saturday at the home of the Magpies.
Glencoe has the upper hand head-to-head this season, which adds to the intensity as the Magpies seek yet another premiership flag.
Glencoe's Sarah Edwards and Chantelle Cocks combine well in the defensive circle for the Murphies, battling hard to create turnovers and force errors from Kalangadoo's attacking line-up.
With Chloe Pfitzner at Wing Defence shutting down her opponent with ease, they will create headaches for Kalangadoo's attackers.

Jenna Paproth and Malinda Markiewicz move well in the circle, shoot with accuracy and are fed from outside the circle by Ashlea Edwards and Donna Jaeschke with precision.
Abbey Duncan is a focal point for the Magpies attacking line-up and when combined with Kori Collins in the goal circle, they work hard for every goal.
Kirsty Egan and Sophie Wrightson both feed from outside the circle and will have to put balls into the space for their goalies to stop Glencoe's strong defenders creating turnovers.
Lauren Kain and Reanna Wetherall create turnovers in the circle for Kalangadoo, forcing Glencoe's attackers to work overtime to get passes into their goalies.

The battle between Jayde Peacock and Donna Jaeschke down the court will be one to watch, with both players fighting hard for their respective teams.
Glencoe has three wins against the Magpies this season and have the ability to win again on Saturday.
Kalangadoo will have to change up its game from the last time these two teams met in the second semi-final if they hope to come home with their 10th consecutive flag, otherwise the glory will go to the Murphies.

Magpies look to hit back with ultimate revenge

B Reserve: Mount Burr v Kalangadoo
Kalangadoo and Mount Burr face off in the Mid South East netball B Reserve grand final.
The Magpies' goalies Narelle Ryan and Jodi Greenwood both shoot well and are a focal point in their team, with a big impact on the game.
They will be defended well by Mount Burr's Bec Fox and Georgia Lambert, who use their height and strength to create turnovers and pull in any rebounds.
Magpies Emma Mules and Gemma Box use their height and ability to read the game well to get hands to balls and create turnovers, working the ball back down the court to their goalies.

Mount Burr's Kelsi Sharp and Kalangadoo's Angie Morgan will drive hard through the centre for their respective teams, fighting for any loose balls.
Mozzies Karen Hayward and Faith McKenzie move well in the circle and shoot with accuracy, being fed well from outside the circle by Hannah Fraser.
These two teams have had a great battle throughout the season and this game will be no different, definitely one to watch, with either team having the potential to come away with the premiership.

Faith McKenzie will look to help her Mount Burr side across the line against a tough Kalangadoo outfit during Saturday's B Reserve grand final.

Magpies match fit

A Reserve: Kalangadoo v Robe
The undefeated Kalangadoo A Reserve side will start as hot favourites against Robe this weekend in the Mid South East netball grand final.
Kalangadoo's strong defensive line up of Shanen Pulkkinen, Shanae Neale and Lucy Williams are a formidable force and hard for any team to get through.
However, Robe's Demi Carter, Hannah Perkins and Kim Ross combine well, with Carter and Perkins shooting with accuracy, supported and fed well by Ross from outside the circle.
Magpies Maddy Bonanno and Estella Serle are strong goalies who work hard and fight for every ball, converting with accuracy.
Robe have strength in their defensive circle, with defenders Kim Austin and Keryn Moore fighting hard to force errors and create intercepts for the Roosters.
If past games are anything to go by, the Magpies will finish the day with the flag, but Robe will make them earn every goal.

Robe will need to stop Kalangadoo goalie Estella Serle (pictures) if they are to claim the Mid South East netball A Reserve premiership on Saturday.

Murphies favourites

B Grade: Kalangadoo v Glencoe
Minor round premiers Glencoe will come into the Mid South East netball B Grade grand final with something to prove after losing to Kalangadoo in the second semi-final.
Kalangadoo's Gina Gogel and Isobel Giddings will use their height in the goal circle and will be fed well from the outside by wing attack Rhianna May.
Glencoe's Dominique Schuurds will need to work hard to cut off the drive of May into the circle and support defenders Kate Sealey and Sally McDonnell.
Glencoe's Leanne Leigh has proven to be a focal point for the Murphies both in and outside of the goal circle.
She combines well with either Madeline Watson or Kayla Medhurst, all accurate goalies.
Kalangadoo defenders Emily Mulraney and Kylie Schultz have great pressure over the ball, using their height to create turnovers for their side, plus their strength to pull in any potential rebounds.
The are well supported from outside the circle by Meg Malseed.
Both teams have proven they have the ability to win and either team could claim the season honours.

Eagles are in the box seat

Reserves: Hatherleigh v Kalangadoo

Like their A Grade counterparts, Hatherleigh and Kalangadoo will go head-to-head for this year's Mid South Eastern football premierships flag on Saturday.

Also, in a similar scenario, Hatherleigh easily accounted for Kalangadoo in the semi-final just a couple of weeks ago.

However, the Eagles finished atop the ladder, unbeaten in the minor rounds.

The Magpies were impressive, but came up short both times against Hatherleigh prior to the semi-final clash.

Both were comfortable victories for the Eagles, who would start this clash as hot favourites.

In that semi-final clash the Eagles began strong and by the main break had the game in their grasp.

They continued to build a lead and finished with a five-goal final term to ice the contest and send a message to the Magpies.

Now it is time for Kalangadoo to make amends but it will take a huge effort if the Magpies are to be victorious.

Anything can happen in a grand final but this one is within the Eagles' grasp and the premierships cup will head back to Hatherleigh at the end of the game.

Kalangadoo will need to draw on all its experience to claim a win in the Mid South East football Reserves grand final against Hatherleigh on Saturday.

Hatherleigh will start as hot favourites to win the Mid South East football Reserves grand final on Saturday against Kalangadoo.

Young stars primed for the final dance

17 and Under: Robe v Mount Burr

The Mid South East netball 17 and Under grand final sees Mount Burr and Robe meet for the first time in the finals series.

Mount Burr's strong defensive line up of Olivia Dean, Mae Johnston and Maddie Gamble will work tirelessly to create turnovers and intercepts for Mount Burr, sending the ball down to Faith McKenzie and Jasmine Holland in the goal circle.

Robe's goalies Sienna Brooks and Ella Mackey are determined, calm and controlled in the goal circle and work well under pressure.

Down the other end of the court Roosters Libby Yeo, Lexy Hayes and Maddie Wirth will put the pressure on Mount Burr's attack line, forcing errors and creating turnovers for their team.

Robe's Maisie Hayes and Mount Burr's Jarrah Altschwager will battle it out down the court, working hard for their respective teams.

Robe's strong outfit will come away with the win when the final whistle blows, but not without a battle from Mount Burr.

15 and Under: Kalangadoo v Robe

Robe and Kalangadoo battle it out in the 15 and Under grand final in what promises to be another entertaining junior clash.

Kalangadoo's strong goalie combination of Gabby Varcoe and Tegan Lythgo are both accurate and work well together.

Robe defenders Demi Birmingham and Matilda Yeo will use their strength over the ball to put the pressure on for Kalangadoo's goalies and combine well with Madi Varga to work the ball back down the court.

Down the other end of the court Kalangadoo's Georgia Gentile and Maya Anderson will work hard in the defensive end creating lots of turnovers, with Kiera Roper backing them up around the circle.

Robe's Emily Dew will need to work overtime to curb the influence of Chloe Peacock through the mid-court.

The Magpies have not lost a game all season and will likely win again on Saturday, but the Robe side will not go home without a fight.

13 and Under: Kalangadoo v Port MacDonnell

Kalangadoo and Port MacDonnell face off in the 13 and Under grand final and have both shown their potential to win.

Port MacDonnell's Bailee Lewis is a focal point of their goal circle and combines well with Lily Jacob.

Kalangadoo's defenders Molly Peacock and Matilda Badenoch get their hands over balls, using their height and ability to read the play to their advantage, creating turnovers and working the ball out of defence, back down the court into the hands of their capable goalies

Maisie Hayes will be a key contributor when Robe faces Mount Burr in the Mid South East netball 17 and Under grand final on Saturday.

Kiersten Cole and Lucy Egan.

Demons Layla McPherson and Mia Spehr will put the pressure on in their defensive goal circle, putting pressure on for Kalangadoo and are well supported from outside the circle by Chelsea Fulham.

This game has the potential to be a close one and could go either way.

Juniors set the scene on big day

17 and Under: Hatherleigh v Robe

The rising stars of the Mid South Eastern Football League are set to put on a good display in the grand final on Saturday.

The 17 and Under clash between Hatherleigh and Robe promises to be a tight affair, going on minor-round performances and finals results.

Robe completed the minor rounds undefeated, while Hatherleigh dropped only its two games against the Roosters.

Both results were convincing wins to Robe but that all changed in the post-season.

The two sides faced off in the second semi-final at Mount Burr oval and Hatherleigh claimed the win by 20 points.

It was a come-from-behind performance as the Eagles trailed by five points at the main break.

By the final change they held a nine-point advantage and never let up from there.

Robe was then forced to go through the preliminary final, where they easily accounted for Kongorong.

It suggests this one is anything but decided, with the perfect stage provided on Saturday at Kalangadoo to settle the score.

14 and Under: Kongorong v Glencoe

For the youngest members of the Mid South Eastern Football League, the grand final is again between two dominant teams from the minor rounds.

Both Kongorong and Glencoe lost just one game each, with both boasting huge percentages compared to those further down the ladder.

The Hawks finished top after the minor rounds, with only percentage separating the two sides.

Head-to-head the ledger sits at one game each, but the semi-final clash went the way of Kongorong to the tune of 21 points.

That would give confidence to the young Hawks but the result is certainly not cut and dried.

As it should be on grand final day, the opening game should set the scene for an entertaining day of football.

President gives thanks

By Sara Gray - MSENA president

On behalf of the Mid South East Netball Association, I would like to welcome, players, coaches, umpires, life members and supporters to Kalangadoo for grand final day this Saturday.

As another season draws to a close it is time to reflect on the season that was.

Another year of challenges and achievements both on and off the court, made all the more difficult by the issues brought about by Covid-19.

Thank you to clubs and players for being adaptive to the ever-changing landscape which is part of living through a worldwide pandemic.

In my eighth year as president I would like to take this opportunity to thank the Mid South East Netball executive, a group of hard-working individuals who came together as a team for the good of netball in the Family League.

To Bec Scanlon, Leah Puiatti, Megan Bowering, Kim Ross, Pauline Mulraney, Karen Pulmer and Georgia Gray, I thank you for your time and commitment to MSE netball.

Thanks also to Peter Mitchell and the football executive, it has certainly been an interesting 12 months.

Over the June long weekend we had four sides represent Mid South East Netball at the Country Championships and this year the

Mid South East Netball president Sara Gray reflects on the 2023 season ahead of this week's grand finals. Picture: SUBMITTED

MSEFL came on board as major sponsor.

Congratulations to Annie Hunter and Emma Gould on making the Team of the Year.

The seniors played off in the A Grade grand final against KNTNA and unfortunately did not come away with the title.

However, finishing second in the state out of 11 associations is a great achievement.

All junior sides made finals which is a great result and something to be super proud of.

A huge thank you goes to coaches and managers who helped make it happen.

As always lasting friendships were made and plans are already in motion for 2023.

I encourage everyone to put themselves forward for an opportunity to represent our association.

We are fortunate through the hard work of Bec Scanlon to be able to offer umpire C badging within our association and congratulations to Brydie McPherson, Lonny Peel, Kim Ross, Fiona Telfer and Naomi Stevens who achieved this in 2022.

We have a good spread of badged umpires through our association and I encourage everyone to pick up a whistle and give it a go.

Recently we celebrated the achievements of our netballers and I would like to congratulate all of our best and fairest winners.

Thank you to our sponsors - Mid South Eastern Football League, South East Property Sales and Management, One Forty One, Somerset Hotel, Xpress Signs, Frank Brennan Consulting Services, 3MP, In2Trophies, KCA, OG Roberts, She's Apples and Bakers Delight.

Thanks also to our trophy and pennant donors, Jenny Waugh, Kirsty Johnson, Maureen Ey, Fiona Wilson, Necia Evans, Carmel Chapman, Raelene Smith and the Serle Family.

We thank you for your continued support.

Thank you to the media for their continued support and to publicity officer Georgia Gray who worked alongside clubs to get information to the media and on our Instagram and Facebook pages.

In 2022 the Mid South East South East Property Sales and Management Team of the Year is once again made up of players who have been nominated by their peers.

Congratulations to the following players.

■ Goals: Malinda Markiewicz (Glencoe), Emma Gould (Tantanoola), Abbey Duncan (Kalangadoo).

■ Centre: Jayde Peacock (Kalangadoo), Lucy Perkins (Robe), Laura Schultz (Mt Burr), Annie Hunter (Robe).

■ Defence: Sarah Edwards (Glencoe), Emma Grant (Robe), Madi Haggett (Mount Burr).

■ Coach: Kim Austin (Robe).

In closing I would like to thank the nine clubs who make up the Mid South East Netball Association. I enjoy being your president and building relationships with you all.

As always I thank my family, Dwayne, Georgia and Meg, all of whom know more about the pros and cons of running a netball association than they really want to.

Their continued support allows me to continue doing a role I love.

Good luck to all teams playing on Saturday and I look forward to seeing you all in Mid South East Netball in 2023.

Season opener non-event as wet weather pulls rank

Bowls season was officially opened on Sunday for the Millicent Bowls Club, with president Peter Hyland inviting Councillor John Drew to mark the occasion.

Cr Drew was at home on the greens as a past president and life member of the club.

Hyland then invited Ladies Singles champion Lyn Scudds to roll the jack and play the first bowl for the women.

Men's Singles champion, John Buhlmann, then put down the first bowl for the men.

After the official part of the day was over, members were to play two games of 10 ends, with afternoon tea to follow.

However, rain clouds loomed and by the completion of the fifth end in the first game, the day was washed out.

With two rinks coming in equal with scores of 13+3, both teams received a token gift for their efforts.

The winning rinks were Bob Baxter, Derrick Lindh, Iain Campbell, Faye Hill/Kym Stewart, Derk Pietersma, George Hobson and Mary Campbell.

Coming in third only one shot short was the rink of Sam Schofield, Malcolm Wright, Frank Cooper and Mary Clifford.

Rain clears for bowls at Millicent

The Millicent Bowls Club returned to action last week after a recent delay due to rain with a 2-4-2 competition.

This week 30 players participated, with a triple of Bob Baxter, Aaron Emonson and Steve Carnellor claiming the honours with a good score of 38+27.

Runner-up was the team of Alby Cecotti and Rod Gibbs with a score 33+15.

Other winning teams were Peter Varcoe/Steve Skeer 32+10; Peter Dunicliff/Neil Whelan 31+3; Lorraine Hyland/Derk Pietersma drew with Derek Bowering/David Botting with a score of 20+19 each.

Tournament Director Derk Pietersma reminded players of the Scudds/Earl Shield to be played on Sunday, September, 18 against the Mount Gambier RSL Bowls Club.

Year's best battle it out

By Trevor Jackson

Hatherleigh v Kalangadoo

Probably as expected, but certainly not guaranteed, the Mid South Eastern Football League 2022 season has come down to the two dominant sides in the competition.

Hatherleigh and Kalangadoo will do battle on Saturday at the Kalangadoo oval for the coveted premierships flag, with both in good form and with full squads.

Both sides sat at the pointy end of the ladder for the whole season, with the Magpies dropping just one game in the minor rounds - to Hatherleigh - to finish as minor premiers.

The Eagles lost four games on their way to a second place finish, but defeated Kalangadoo in the second semi-final to book the first grand final berth.

Kalangadoo then had to fight off a determined Port MacDonnell in the preliminary final to ensure a shot at premierships glory.

Throughout the minor rounds the head-to-head ledger sits at one win each, which all bodes for an exciting grand final clash.

The Magpies may have the home-ground advantage, but the Eagles have the benefit of a week off to iron out any injury concerns and ensure they are ready for the biggest game of the year.

The most recent clash between the two - the semi-final at the Mount Burr oval - may be cause for concern for the Magpies, as the Eagles made short work of the contest in the final term.

A relatively even contest saw the Magpies trail by just 10 points at the final break.

However, the game was blown apart in that last quarter by the Eagles, with a seven-goal-to-two term.

A tough contest is expected at the Kalangadoo oval when Hatherleigh faces the Magpies for the Mid South Eastern Football League A Grade grand final.

It was a strange turn of events considering the Magpies generally run games out well, even when they hold big leads.

It was also interesting to see the Kalangadoo forwards kept relatively quiet, including league leading goal kicker Michael Krieger.

Krieger kicked just two goals in the contest, while Ben Mules could also only kick a pair.

For the Eagles, Jake Wight was back in form to lead the list with four majors, while Brad Mitchell also reaped the benefit of sharp delivery inside 50.

It was also a typical list of best players for both sides, with Hatherleigh's consisting of big man Mark Marriott, Jordan Galpin, Darcy Bateman, Jed Telfer, Michael Telford and Jack Gray.

That leaves plenty of the top players not mentioned in a solid team performance.

Likewise for Kalangadoo, the usual suspects stood up, which included Mules, along with Mitch Lowe, Thomas Williams, Tye McManus, Jason Bannister and Sam Mcmanus.

Again it leaves a long list of quality players not mentioned, but who will certainly all have a bearing on the outcome of the grand final.

Apart from those aforementioned best players, others to have a stand-out impact on the outcome of the contest would be Magpies Lachy Jones, Patrick Davies and Alex Lyon.

For the Eagles, expect coach Jake Dowdy to play a major role wherever he lines up, along with Patrick Chay and Jack Skeer.

Skeer has certainly attracted plenty of attention by opposition defenders this season and will need to fight his way to the front for any inside-50 opportunities that present.

Of course, at the other end of the ground Krieger will receive the same treatment and will need to be at his best if he is to kick a bag.

An interesting fact is last season Kalangadoo went through the minor rounds unblemished, but faltered at the business end of the season.

Port MacDonnell took care of that, with a semi-final win over the Magpies, followed by the grand final victory.

This time you would expect the Magpies to have that result in the back of their minds, regardless of whether or not it is discussed leading up to this year's big dance.

The weather could be an issue, with some rain expected and if it does close in it will throw the result up in the air.

However, both sides play a fast brand of football, so it will simply be down to one-on-one contests around the ground.

Whatever the result, an exciting and entertaining clash can be expected, which kicks off at 2pm.

Confidence is always key

By Trevor Jackson

Jake Dowdy (Hatherleigh coach)

Hatherleigh missed out on a grand final berth in 2021, bundled out of the running by Kalangadoo in the preliminary final.

This year the Eagles made sure they reached the big dance, defeating the Magpies in the second semi-final to claim the first grand final berth.

For coach Jake Dowdy, the 2021 result was still on the mind until this year's semi-final result.

He said that result has given his side plenty of confidence.

"Kalangadoo were the ones who knocked us out last year," Dowdy said.

"In just one quarter of football they turned it on and finished us, so to be able to beat them and go straight in has given us a world of confidence.

"We knew what our football is capable of, but doing it in a final is a good head start I think."

Dowdy said to win the flag would simply take a lot of hard work and focus for the full four quarters.

"You have to be unbelievably accountable - you can't let them run loose because they have so many good ball users," he said.

"They are a pretty tough physical side as well so we need to match that.

"Out of everything, we have to worry about them, but have to play our game.

"We have to stop certain players but at the same time, if we don't play our game we are not going to score.

"We need everyone on board, no passengers and play our game.

"I am confident enough if we do that we can come away with a win."

Dowdy expected several other factors to come into play, including fitness and a good spread of scorers.

He said the versatility of his side could also play a major role.

"Our weapon is probably that we are very versatile," Dowdy said.

"If you shut one of our good players down we have another three or four who can do the same thing.

"That makes us hard to match up on.

"In the end we just need everyone up and about and playing our game and it is game on."

Kalangadoo coach Kevin Stark will approach this year's Mid South East football A Grade premierships with a clear plan to claim the premierships flag.

Eye on the grand prize

By Trevor Jackson

Kevin Stark (Kalangadoo coach)

For Kalangadoo coach Kevin Stark Saturday provides a chance to reap what has been sowed over the past couple of years.

His Magpies have put on a dominant display this season and will hope to go one better than in 2021 where they fell to Port MacDonnell in the grand final.

Stark said he is excited for the opportunity and is confident if all goes well, his side can claim the premierships flag.

He also noted the chance to atone for the semi-final clash where Hatherleigh claimed a comfortable victory.

"We are really excited to have another crack at them," Stark said.

"We were really disappointed with how it went last time and I think it is one of those games where we just come in and give it our all.

"I think if we do all the right things we should be in with a shot, but it should be a good game of footy."

As the minor rounds would down it appeared the Magpies would be a hot favourite for the flag, but that did change with the semi-final result.

The Eagles have certainly shown they are capable and should provide a tight contest.

"I think either team on their day could win, which has been the case all year," Stark said.

"It should be hotly-contested, tight game and I think it will be who turns up on the day."

Stark also rejects the suggestion last year's result will weigh on the mind of his players.

"We definitely want to win this one so we don't lose two in a row, but that's as far as it goes," he said.

"I will not even mention last year's grand final this week and I won't mention it on Saturday.

"All we will talk about is what we want to achieve and how we want to do it."

Hatherleigh coach Jake Dowdy has confidence his side's game can stand up to the rigours of a Mid South East football premierships clash.

League boss weighs in

All roads lead to Kalangadoo for the 2022 Mid South Eastern Football League (MSEFL) grand final and on behalf of the Mid South Eastern Football League I extend a warm welcome to you as we seek an exciting finish to 2022, in all grades of netball and football after a sensational season with some close contests having already been played in the finals series.

Thank you to Robe (first semi-final), Mount Burr (second semi-final) and Kalangadoo (preliminary final) for showcasing your club facilities and for being excellent hosts in the three finals and I am certain the grand final once again at Kalangadoo will be no exception.

I thank all of the league's member clubs for your efforts and achievements on and off the field this year as well as the work that you do in your communities as leaders.

People in our communities are reliant on the social and sporting opportunities that are provided by the football and netball clubs.

Our communities are faced with many challenges in today's world and our sporting clubs need to continue to be the central hub of the community providing opportunities and social interaction for everyone.

We must always strive for continuous improvement to ensure the long term viability and sustainability of the league and all member clubs.

It is fantastic to see the obvious pride and joy in the support that goes for each community club and the people in it and I am sure we will see plenty of club colours and vocal support in all football and netball contests.

We acknowledge the generous sponsorship provided by our major sponsor of the Family League - The Scott Group of Companies.

In a relationship that goes back to 2006, this has been a significant contribution and we thank them for their continued support.

All of our season sponsors have been promoted in the budget and include the following: First Super, South East Property Sales and Management, Belgravia Sports Apparel, IDM Sports, Matthews Petroleum, Iberdrola Australia, Sherrin, Thomas Foods International, Marjadah, Glenelg Football Club, Somerset Hotel Motel, Klas Bilt, In2 Trophies Monogramming and Workwear, Collins Court Butchers, Richmond Park White Suffolk, Tony Pasin, Troy Bell, Nick McBride, Willow Financial Services, Hyland & Fox Signs, SEC Group and DiGiorgio Family Wines.

So, where possible please consider our sponsors when you need anything and then thank them for their support of our league.

The presentations for seniors and juniors was once again a combined affair with our netball partners held at the Millicent War Memorial Civic and Arts Centre.

The day ran smoothly and we will continue to consult with clubs to seek ideas for any suggested improvements.

Thank you to the Port MacDonnell Football/Netball Club for catering to the attendees superbly.

Congratulations to Mail Medal winner Port MacDonnell's Tim Sullivan, Reserves Carthew Medal winner Kalangadoo's Chrissy Mules, some 29 years after his father won the same medal, Senior Colts Malseed Medal winner Kongorong's Maverick Cooper and Junior Colts Mansell Medal winner Glencoe's Lachie Brierley and all other trophy winners.

Also, player life membership was awarded to Nathan Muhovics from Mount Burr and life membership was awarded to Fred Smith.

Congratulations on being recognised through many years of involvement within the MSEFL.

Please remember, as clubs, to look after your volunteers and as supporters, to assist and volunteer your time/skills wherever possible to make your Club more successful and to share the workload.

The race for the Mid South East football premiership is on, with Kalangadoo and Hatherleigh set to go head-to-head on Saturday to decide the season honours.

It really does help your club committees to know that they can rely on some jobs being handled - so well done to all volunteers that have assisted each club and in turn assisted the league in becoming stronger.

The league and all clubs can become much better with more "Givers" and less "Takers".

Thanks to all those people that have assisted me as president, especially all of the senior board - Dennis Muhovics, Trevor Ling, Jo Michelmore, Jo Dean and Naomi Mitchell along with the junior executive - Graham Dowie, Gary Wilson, Matt Cockrum and umpires director Neil Webber.

All have worked well as a team and I hope we have delivered the needs and requirements of clubs.

The board has been willing to share the heavy administrative workload and I especially thank my wife, Naomi Mitchell, in her role as league secretary.

Thank you to friends and family that assisted in any way that you did.

Thank you to all clubs that made me and all board members welcome throughout the year.

To those that provided any feedback on how the board can be of better assistance to clubs, thank you.

Xpress Signs have once again published the budget this season online culminating in this week's superb grand final budget publication, which is a collector's item for all MSEFL enthusiasts and clubs.

We appreciate the support of Murray South East Regional Director and Community Football Board director Scott Duncan, SANFL SE Football Operations Co-ordinator Michael Moubey, staff at the Community Football Board, and SANFL South East Regional Game Development Officer Heath Sims.

Our relationship with Glenelg Football Club continues to evolve and the opportunity for our young footballers at U18 and U16 levels has seen a number of footballers involved again this season.

Our umpire scholarship is available to encourage and reward new central umpires and we hope that it will provide a pathway to bolster our ageing umpire panel.

The league would love to hear from those that have just retired as footballers and even our younger males and females that have a love of the game and would like to be involved.

Our final crowds have so far been excellent and show that the interest in the MSEFL is the equal of any competition in this region.

The mix of multiple clubs involved in football and netball final contests has helped to increase crowd numbers and adds to the atmosphere at the ground.

All outlets of the Media (print, radio and web sites) have promoted the MSEFL very well, however I believe we all need to continue to provide good stories to the media so that we get better coverage of our league.

It is pleasing that the netball and football relationships are continuing to get better at club and league level, but there will always be ways to improve and strengthen those bonds.

Both sports rely on each other being successful to ensure a vibrant and sustainable competition in all grades.

Our football and netball region continues to face a number of challenges to our stable environment.

From my perspective, our league and clubs need to ensure that we stay united and are abreast of these outside pressures to make sure that we continue to be in the best position possible going forward.

Change at any level presents us with opportunities and threats, so it is challenging times ahead for all clubs and the league.

We must ensure that we continue to work together, continue to focus on our core objectives in our clubs and league which include facilities, junior development, volunteers, financial stability, risk management and community ties, strive for continuous improvement and continue to meet our market place, offer opportunities for our volunteers and youth in order for all of us to remain viable, sustainable and relevant to our communities well into the future.

Finally, a big thank you to all partners and family of the board to allow them the time necessary for meeting their obligations to our clubs at various times throughout the year with meetings etc.

Remember that not everyone can win on the field, but we must all be winners off the field.

There will be some great netball and football contests in every grade today where seven of our nine clubs are represented and I hope that all players and supporters have some special memories of "that one day in September".

Be kind to each other and I hope that you have a great grand final day and have a safe trip home.
