Quilts for a cause

The local quilting community has once again come together and generously made and donated over 30 handmade quilts for the Geltwood Festival's Quilts for a Cause initiative.

Members of the Geltwood Festival committee displayed the quilts in the Millicent Visitor Information Centre earlier this month to take advantage of the South Australia and Victoria long weekend.

Care for all kinds

By Caroline Hammat

A Millicent based volunteer group who gets together weekly at the Millicent RSL Hall to cook meals for those in need has formed a new partnership with Animal Rescue Cooperative (ARC) so people's pets are supported as well.

ARC is a national program supporting animal rescuers and is now connecting with local outreach programs to help people who cannot afford to feed their pets.

Millicent Shares a Plate (MSAP) recently decided to change the way they distribute the Thursday night meals to value add to the initiative which has opened the door for ARC to become involved.

Since MSAP began 12 months ago their freshly cooked meals have been delivered to Millicent's IGA supermarket and placed in a fridge at 5pm for community members to take for free.

Recent changes have seen the group now distribute meals directly from the RSL Hall on North Terrace, between 4pm and 4.45pm.

ARC co-ordinator Rebecca Alexander has been following the progress of MSAP but until these changes were introduced was unable to assist the outreach program.

"When I found MSAP I realised they were putting the meals into the fridge at IGA and I can't leave animal food there" Ms Alexander said.

Celebrated

Rural women are being celebrated this week, with Saturday marking International Day of Rural Women.

As they are celebrated across the world this week, South Australian women are being reminded to apply for the 2023 Agrifutures South Australian Rural Women's Award.

International Day of Rural Women is on Saturday, October 15, highlighting the theme of 'Rural Women Cultivating Good Food for All'.

The Government of South Australia, through the department of Primary Industries and Regions (PIRSA), supports initiatives that acknowledge the essential role women play, and their influence, in rural industries, businesses and communities.

This includes the Women Together Learning (WoTL) Stepping into Leadership program specifically aimed at women in agriculture and agribusiness.

The Rural Women's Award is Australia's leading award empowering and celebrating the inclusive and courageous leadership of women involved in Australia's rural and emerging industries, businesses and communities.

Each state and territory winner will receive a $15,000 Westpac grant for their project, access to professional development opportunities and the alumni network. The winner then goes on to represent South Australia in the National Awards in Canberra, with the national winner receiving a further $20,000 grant and the runner up $15,000.

The 2022 South Australian winner, Robyn Verrall, from Keith in South Australia's South-East, was recognised for her work to reduce food insecurity and increase food affordability in rural, regional and First Nations communities in South Australia and the Northern Territory.

Complementing the Rural Women's Award is the Rural Women's Acceleration Grant, providing a learning and development bursary of up to $7,000 to enable rural women to bring their idea, cause or vision to life that benefits rural and regional communities or businesses in Australia.

Applications for the Rural Women's Award and Acceleration Grant close on Wednesday 19 October 2022.

To learn more about last year's winner Robyn and to apply, visit AgriFutures Rural Women's Award on the PIRSA website.

Cousins catch up after years apart

A recent family funeral brought together 11 of 13 cousins who decided at the following wake they needed to catch up more often.

The first cousins are the grandchildren of Alex and Jean Galwey, formerly of Rendelsham and Beachport, and have rarely been together in the same place at the same time.

Deciding on a date in late September the group stayed true to their word and 12 of the 13 met for a long lunch in the function room at the Grand Hotel in Millicent.

Only one cousin from Esperance in Western Australia was unable to make the gathering.

Before the planned get together the cousins emailed photos of themselves under the age of ten years old to the oldest female cousin in the family, Heather Walker, who presented them all on a slideshow.

The group enjoyed sharing the memories the photos provided and had many laughs reminiscing together.

One photo that surfaced was of the 13 cousins in the back of a blue Ford F100 at a family barbeque at Rendelsham in 1978.

"Not one of us remember the photo being taken, but we hope to re-enact the photo in a planned get together next year" Linda Finch (nee Galwey) said.

Caring for all kinds

"Then I noticed they are doing it from the RSL Hall and I made contact.

"We find that a lot of people who are going to these kind of kitchens to get food for themselves quite often can't afford to feed their pets.

"I've done up bags of cat and dog things, it's mainly dog stuff we get donated.

"We've got dog toys, worming treatment and treats and a whole variety of stuff they can choose from, and cats we've got wet and dry cat food and some cat treats."

Value adding for community members who are benefitting from the free meals has been a long term goal of the cooking group and Emma Clay, founding volunteer of MSAP, said

"The mission was always to have sit down meals and be able to offer extras as well, but we haven't been able to find a suitable venue for that.

"We have ARC support us and I had a member of the community reach out who wants to donate soap, shampoo and conditioner as well.

"It was a long time ago but Woolworths had indicated that any damaged stock they wouldn't be able to sell, that was still good, we could potentially give away.

"Andy's Bakery have said similar about their cakes and pastries that aren't sold that day we could probably give away that night.

"That was always the intention, to get people in the room, so we could add on to the meal and perhaps giveaway extra stuff like fruit and veggies from people's gardens and that sort of thing.

Millicent Shares a Plate group members Sandra Young and Karen Lock deliver the free meals to the IGA fridge which are now available for collecting from the RSL Hall each Thursday.

"Without having a sit down venue this is still a way of being able to do that.

Community members who need a meal and support for their pets are encouraged to visit the RSL tonight between 4 and 4.45pm.

The ARC supplied bags are limited in number and will be available the following week if product remains.

Any remaining meals cooked by MSAP will still be delivered to the IGA fridge on Thursday around 5pm.

Ms Clay stressed there was no judgement when it comes to who takes a meal and that it is not limited to a certain socio-economic status.

"It could be a mum that had a really hard week is at their wits end and needs to just not cook one night.

"We've all been there, and that's really what it's about.

"We do want to help people who are genuinely finding it tough as well."

The free meals complement the existing work of IGA manager Sukhchain Dhaliwal who provides fresh meals each Monday evening available from the IGA fridge.

Searching for Percy L. Aitken

Visiting from W.A. I will be in Millicent in late October trying to solve a family history dilemma.

I would be really keen to hear from anyone who knows anything about the wider family, and especially the forebears, of my grandfather, Percy Lionel Aitken (1863-1939).

Percy lived and conducted business in George Street, Millicent as a licenced land-broker, estate and general commission and insurance agent.

Working for firms like Dalgety during the development years of the late 1890s until 1940s. He and his wife Emily (nee Harris) raised six children there: Eleanor (Ella, who married Frank White); Gordon (who married Kal Gardner); Letitia (Letty); Catherine (Emmy); Hugh (Cooee, who married Una Clifford) and Ralph (Jim), who was my father.

Percy was involved with horseracing, sports and a magistrate, but I have been unable to track down any information about his early life or parents.

I would be very grateful for any tips for my search and can be contacted via email judyhearne5@gmail.com.

Quilters sew generous

By Caroline Hammat

The local quilting community has once again come together and generously made and donated over 30 handmade quilts for the Geltwood Festival’s Quilts for a Cause initiative.

Members of the Geltwood Festival committee displayed the quilts in the Millicent Visitor Information Centre earlier this month to take advantage of the South Australia and Victoria long weekend.

Quilts for a Cause has long been a part of the annual Geltwood Festival with both events suffering due to Covid-19 forcing cancellation of the 2020 and 2021 festivals.

SA Cancer Council were the last recipients of the generous donations in 2019 and once again will be receiving the quilts later this year.

Event co-ordinator Kathy Patten said

“We have 21 quilts hanging, with 26 on display all together in the visitor information centre.

“I have at least another 10 that the craft ladies and craft groups have donated and they will all be delivered to the SA Cancer Council in Adelaide for use in their lodges.

“Anymore than 30 it starts to get too hard to transport them, and they have to store them at the other end before they can use them.

“They use them on the bed in the lodges or they can choose to raffle one, they also let the cancer patients take them home if they feel they want to.

“Once we pass them on it’s up to them whether they use them, donate them further or whatever they choose.”

The majority of this years quilts have been donated via Rendelsham, Hatherleigh and the Live n’ Learn Craft Groups, with individuals also donating to the cause.

Celebrating their service

By Caroline Hammat

Over 80 people attended the official opening of the Mount Burr CFS station and Wattle Range Group Award Presentation Ceremony on Sunday.

Dignitaries from across the state were in attendance with CFS volunteer brigades families and friends.

Chief Officer of CFS Brett Loughlin said "We don't get the opportunity to celebrate things very often.

"We had the reunion at Naracoorte and the opening of the Coonawarra station, presenting National Emergency medals, National Medals and CFS Service Medals.

"Representing hundreds of years of service to members of the brigades.

"This new facility was built in 2020 but because of Covid we haven't been able to formally open it.

"Kalangadoo received a brand new 34 appliance which is a $410,000 state of the art 4WD firefighting vehicle.

"It's a huge investment in our local communities and shows the professional world class service the CFS provides.

"We've got the brand new Glencoe truck being handed over today, Mount Burr's new truck as well, and the fantastic facility at Mount Burr and medal presentations.

"We have Mike Kemp who is receiving a 50 year medal which is a significant honour.

"Mike's previously been awarded the Australian Fire Service medal, he's a stalwart.

"A number of others are receiving national emergency medals, national medals and CFS service medals so there is a lot on the agenda.

MC for the afternoon was Mount Burr brigade member Peter Gandolfi and the Hon. Clare Scriven MLC, representing the Minister for Police, Emergency Services and Correctional Services addressed the gathering.

Ms Scriven presented a plaque to Mount Burr brigade captain Trevor Schultz to commemorate the opening of the station and Glencoe CFS captain Sue Foureur received the keys for the Glencoe 34 appliance.

Ms Scriven acknowledged the long and proud history of the Mount Burr CFS established in 1973 and referred to her own memories of the Ash Wednesday fires in 1983.

Medal presentations were conducted for over 30 members of the Wattle Range groups at the ceremony, with Beachport brigade member Mike Kemp receiving the 50 Year Service medal presented as a box set.

The presentation of awards to volunteers included the National Emergency Medal for the 2019-20 Bushfires.

Member for Mackillop Nick McBride said "We've been to all three of these events and it's been an absolute pleasure and privilege to be a part of it, it's been good."

Remembering Frank, Oct 1935 - July 2022

Frank Corigliano was born in Sommerville nursing home in Mount Gambier on October 5th, 1935 to Frank and Francie Corigliano.

His father, Frank Snr, was the Harbour Master at Beachport and Frank grew up in the Harbour Master's residence.

He remembered his father taking supplies out to the lighthouse keepers on Penguin Island when it was still a functioning light station.

Frank was influenced in his early years by his civic minded father Frank Snr, and grandfather Charles.

Who were both heavily involved with the community, through council, school committees and the foundation of SAFCOL in Beachport.

Frank went to school in Beachport and left at the age of 14 to go fishing with his brother Morris on the 'Dolphin' for four years.

Later, he bought his own fishing boat, the 'Albatross' and went cray and shark fishing.

He went on to build his own boat the 'Coltana' and continued fishing until his retirement.

He was a keen footballer and played for Beachport in the Southern Ports league at 14 years and played for Robe's B-grade team when they joined the Mid South East Football League.

He also served on the Beachport Football Club committee for many years.

At 19 years of age, between 1954 to 1959, Frank did National Service and graduated as a cadet.

During this time he met Phyllis Hunt from Robe and married her and they had four children together.

For 18 years, while their children were at school, Frank served as a member of the School Council.

In conjunction with the School Council, he was on the Beachport Recreation hall organising committee and chairman of the fund-raising committee.

Raising funds for the establishment of a hall serving both the community and the school.

As well as his day job fishing, Frank was directly involved in the development of the fishing industry in Beachport.

He served as CEO and President of the Beachport Professional Fisherman's Association and was a delegate for South East Professional Fisherman's Association (SEPFA).

Frank played a large part in SEPFA and was on the buyback committee which eventually removed 40 vessels with 60 pots per vessel.

These were bought back by the state in efforts to maintain a sustainable fishery for future generations.

Personally, Frank was guarantor for 20 fishermen starting out in the industry over the years.

Frank's father, Frank Snr., was a founding member of SAFCOL and in 1973 Frank was elected Vice Chairman for four years.

He then served as Chairman of SAFCOL for the next 8 years until 1985 when SAFCOL ceased operating as a Co-op and transitioned to a private company.

In later years, after his football days, Frank served on the Beachport Golf Club committee of which was President for four years.

The committee was responsible for the establishment of the golf course in its present location, established on the football grounds where Frank had played in his younger days.

Along with Kevin Chambers, Frank was a member of the Beachport Progress Association and the two men were responsible for the organisation and running of the New Year's Day regattas for many years.

He was also president of the Beachport Country Fire Service.

He retired at the age of 58 due to hip replacement.

Frank has left a large legacy and will be remembered for his long and lasting commitment to this community.

Vintage workshops wrap up

By Caroline Hammat

This year's series of Vintage Workshops organised by Wattle Range Council (WRC) recently ended with the last of seven sessions held Sunday afternoon.

The workshops were added to the event program as a soft launch to the Geltwood Festival which has suffered three years of disruption due to Covid-19.

The long running Geltwood Festival had been impacted by event cancellations in 2020 and 2021 and this year's event was postponed from the traditional March date to October.

WRC Manager Community Development Caroline Hill explained the idea behind the workshops.

"The Geltwood had quite a bit of traction before Covid times so we wanted to build up that traction for attendance again, there needed to be something to pre-empt the festival.

"The Vintage Workshops introduces people to the Geltwood Festival and it also helps us garner the interest in it.

"It raises the anticipation of the activities ahead and gives the opportunity to talk to people about them.

For six weeks preceding the Geltwood Festival the free and low cost workshops have been held in Millicent to demonstrate the skills of people in the region.

Offering the opportunity for people to participate in workshops before the official Geltwood activities begin.

"Not only were we introducing people into vintage arts and crafts but importantly we were demonstrating the capacity of our community presenters and craftspeople" Ms Hill said.

"All of our presenters were local and generous enough to offer their services and put on a workshop.

"It demonstrates the amazing craft and talent we have which is lovely.

"We had quite a few from outside the immediate Millicent area, but within the Wattle Range community, be involved in the workshops.

"We've had everything from stained glass to basket weaving, boro stitch and crochet.

"They've been extremely popular and most have been pretty much booked out.

"A lot of people have indicated in their feedback information that they would like to do them again."

Secretary of the Millicent Craft Group Pat Muhovics commended WRC on their support for the Geltwood Festival and the Vintage Workshop initiative.

"I think it's fantastic and there was a lot of support but because several workshops were free some people didn't turn up on the day.

"This meant numbers were down a little which was disappointing because there was waiting list for those workshops" Ms Muhovics said.

Toy run joy for the kids

Proudly presented by Baptist Care SA, the fourth Roundwood Solutions Limestone Coast Toy Run will kick off on Saturday October 29 at the Mount Gambier Railway Lands.

The popular regional event has raised more than $25,000 to buy Christmas gifts for local children in need.

Hundreds of festively decorated motorbikes and vehicles will complete several cross-region tours before arriving at the Mount Gambier Railway Lands at 1pm.

The free community event will kick off from 12.30pm with live music, food and market stalls, an auction and Show 'n' Shine competition.

Baptist Care SA Limestone Coast Area Manager, John Merrett said the skyrocketing cost of living has seen more local families pushed to the brink of poverty than ever before.

"It's so important that we come together as a community at Christmas to support children and young people who have been going without all year," he said.

Festival returns to Millicent

By Caroline Hammat

After two and half years of delay and disruption Millicent's Geltwood Festival is back and will be officially launched tomorrow night 6.30pm at the Millicent gallery by renowned quilter Rachelle Denny.

The Geltwood Festival committee faced difficult decisions in 2020 and 2021 which led to the cancellation of the annual event with the 2022 festival delayed from its traditional March calendar date.

This year's packed four day program is sure to have something for everyone with the traditional quilt and craft displays hung earlier this week throughout the town centre.

Several workshops are being held over the weekend in Millicent including learning the traditional art of patchwork at the Millicent Library and paint and sip events hosted at The George hotel.

The Rendelsham Hall has a Threads and Thimbles exhibition of quilts from the Rendelsham Craft Group's yearly challenge chosen by a group member.

This year's challenge is a jelly roll race quilt made from two and a half inch strips of fabric sewn by the short sides then sewn into a quilt from that single long strip.

Rendelsham Craft Group member Kathy Patten said that along with the quilts on display there is a Rachelle Denny workshop taking place at the hall.

"The workshop is booked out but some people may want to come out to Rendelsham to walk through and see what Rachelle is doing.

"Rachelle has just presented at the Quilt Encounter in Adelaide and just returned from New Zealand before heading here."

Other events on the calendar are the Imagine Millicent Arts Group (IMAG) cocktail and auction night at Ignition Fitness on Saturday from 7pm.

The return of the popular model train display in the Millicent RSL hall for a gold coin donation both Saturday and Sunday.

The Lions family and market day is sure to be a popular on Sunday and Wattle Range Council Manager Community Development Caroline Hill said.

"The idea is for entertainment right throughout the street because the street will be closed on the day.

"We have Rob's horse-draw carriage up near the museum during the day going back and forth and the museum have their open day.

"The George are putting on entertainment with Jason and Christy Wallace out the front.

WRC Manager Community Development Caroline Hill and Millicent Lions member Alan Rolfe have joined forces to bring back the George Street market day this Sunday during Geltwood Festival.

Admiring quilts before they go on public display are WRC Manager Community Development Caroline Hill, Millicent Lions member Alan Rolfe and WRC Tourism and Events Coordinator Amy Lawlor.

The Geltwood Festival is on again. Picture: FILE

"In the courthouse area there will be a little stage with MJ Dance, Millicent gymnastics, the Millicent choral society and Hype Dance.

"The girl guides will have their giant games and we also have giant games as well.

"We are trying to make the street as lively as possible with the market stalls, activities for the families and catering vans right down the middle and leading onto the reserve and where the model train display is at the RSL hall.

"IMAG also have a mural and sculpture walk leaving from the visitor information centre at 10.20am.

Geltwood Festival culminates in the Quilting convention on Monday, October 17.

Pat Muhovics, Geltwood Festival committee member said

"It brings people from all over Australia but the numbers are a bit down this year, we are hoping we will get more bookings.

"In the past we've had 200 but this time we are only catering for 100, the numbers from away are far less this year.

Millicent Lions Club member Alan Rolfe told the South Eastern Times that stall holder numbers were also down on previous year's market days.

"We are virtually starting out again and hope to get a few more bookings.

"People can still book stalls as long as they have their own public liability insurance, the council can provide it but the cut off for that was the end of last week."

40 years of Zema Estate

More than 80 guests gathered at Zema Estate in Coonawarra to celebrate the 40 years of Zema commemorative dinner, on Saturday 1st October.

The night was hosted by Nick, Francesca, and Demetrio Zema and close family friend and wine columnist Nick Ryan.

The evening was catered by prominent Limestone Coast chef Kirby Shearing from Soul Projects, who treated guests to a six-course dinner.

The hero of the night was the incredible aged wine including Zema Estate's 1986 Shiraz, 1998 Cluny, and premium 2006 Saluti.

Emma Herring of Little Crafter Events wowed guests by transforming the winery into a sparkling sea of fairy lights, with elegant fresh flowers from Bloome Flora and music by Fi and Frenz from Mount Gambier.

Nick Zema was thrilled with the night. "It could not have gone better. What better way to celebrate a significant milestone than being surrounded by your family and friends," he said.

"We wish Matt and dad were there, however, I know they would've been looking down on us enjoying a glass of cabernet."

Motoring

Good power play by Kia

By DEREK OGDEN, Marque Motoring

The Sorento has been a major part of the Kia playbook for two decades, with the fourth generation seeing the light of day in 2020 in petrol and diesel variants.

Now the range has been topped up with petrol/electric hybrids.

Kia's only seven-seat sports utility vehicle comes in the top GT-Line specification only, the straight hybrid version in front or all-wheel drive guise, while the hero model is a plug-in electric hybrid vehicle.

The common-or-garden hybrid Sorento kicks off the range with the front-wheel-drive variant selling for $66,750 before on-road costs.

The all-wheel-drive version carries a $3000 premium, pushing the price up to $69,750.

The plug-in hybrid Sorento is on sale from $80,330 before on-roads.

More spacious, more versatile with class-leading innovations wrapped in finely tailored style, says the maker, the new Sorento not only is the most high-tech Kia car ever made, but also leads the way in SUV design.

While retaining much of the Sorento family physical features, the Hybrid has evolved with a new interpretation of the trademark 'tiger nose' grille, with a wider shape wrapping around the integrated LED headlights on each side.

This assertive nose is complemented by a wider lower air intake, incorporating wing-shaped air curtains to channel air around the car.

Quilted Nappa leather appointed seats (front heated and ventilated) set the theme for a cabin of quality materials and craftsmanship.

Three-stage climate control air-conditioning means comfort all round for occupants, while a panoramic sunroof lets in light, while keeping heat at bay with a blind.

Finding a long journey on the boring side?

Take time out to choose one of the 64 colours that bathes the cabin in ambient light, pick something from the Sounds of Nature soundscape, or just switch off entirely with the quiet of the passenger talk in-car intercom.

Connectivity is front and centre with a 10.25-inch colour multimedia touchscreen linked to Apple CarPlay and Android Auto. A 7-inch LCD instrument display carries range of system info.

The position of the touch screen on the centre dash of the test car had its problems, with air-con controls underneath easy to catch accidentally while resting the palm on working the screen.

Audio is handled by a six-speaker system, while dual-zone air-conditioning keeps occupants in relative comfort.

Customising is the name of the game with a 10.25-inch full colour touchscreen atop the centre console, plus a 12.3-inch digital instrument cluster directly in front of the driver who also has a colour head-up display, including speedo and speed limits on the windscreen.

The touchscreen comes up with Apple CarPlay or Android Auto connectivity, satellite navigation details, including a sharp map display, and access to the 12-speaker Bose audio.

The Sorento Hybrid is powered by Kia's 132 kW/265 Nm four-cylinder turbo-petrol engine combined with a 44 kW/264 Nm electric motor, charging a 1kWh lithium-ion battery situated under the boot floor.

Power is put to ground via a six-speed torque converter automatic transmission and constant all-wheel drive.

The Sorento gained a five-star safety rating in 2020 and includes autonomous emergency braking with vehicle, pedestrian and cyclist detection, junction assist, lane-keep assist, lane follow assist (centring), blind spot assist, rear cross-traffic alert, parking collision avoidance, adaptive cruise control with stop and go, front and rear parking sensors, driver attention alert, multi-collision braking and safe exit assist.

New Look: The Kia Sorento Hybrid model can be distinguished with reworked front end and unique designer alloy wheels.

Additionally, there is also a 360-degree view of the vehicle when parking and blind-spot assist, on activation of a turn indicator, the wide-angle surround view monitors will display live footage of other vehicles in your blind spots on the instrument cluster.

It also helps wheels keep their distance from scuffing the sidewalk.

Passive safety is taken care of with seven airbags, including front-centre side.

This well-bred youngster has brought a new purpose to the Sorento family, thanks to a sophisticated powertrain and some of Kia's most advanced technology.

Setting off is under the auspices of the electric motor alone producing maximum torque on tap instantly.

The petrol engine joins in tandem only when needed for added acceleration or under load.

These switches back and forth are so smooth as to undetectable to the driver.

Indeed, the only indication that the car is acting only as an electric vehicle is by the letters EV displayed on the instrument panel.

It is not possible to control these actions manually; they are automatic powertrain decisions.

Drive modes, such as ECO, Normal, Sport and Smart can be dialled up by means of a centre-console knob.

Kia claims a combined urban/highway patrol consumption of 5.8 litres per 100 kilometres.

The test vehicle recorded 7.1 litres per 100 kilometres in the CBD and suburbs and 5.2 litres per 100 kilometres when let loose on the open road.

Anxiety about where the next battery charge is going to be is non-existent as the engine and regenerative braking do that automatically.

Quiet Achiever: The new Sorento Hybrid remains one of Kia's most advanced models in terms of technology.

There is a petrol price premium here as opposed to the cheaper charging of the fully electric, or plug-in hybrid vehicles.

Terrain Select is also on offer to help take care of tricky conditions off road in sand, mud, snow etc.

By activating the turn signal, the wide-angle surround view monitors will display live footage of other vehicles in your blind spots on the instrument cluster.

Loading is made easy by the hands-free smart power tailgate, which can be brought into operation by the key holder pausing behind the vehicle for three seconds for the tailgate to automatically open.

There's 187 litres of cargo space behind the third-row.

Fold these seats flat to increase space to 616 litres.

With the second-row seats folded flat 2011 litres of space is freed up.

The Kia Sorento Hybrid may be a quiet achiever but it states a compelling case for being one of the best large seven-seat sports utility vehicles around.

Left with no choice, Sam turns to her spectral friends to ensure their business gets a five-star rating. Instantly as funny as the first season, this show is guaranteed to keep you in high spirits throughout.

KURT FEARNLEY'S
ONE PLUS ONE
ABC TV, Thursday, 9.35pm

In a society where clickbait and rapid-fire news seem to rule the roost, everything feels fast-paced and focused on getting our attention quickly. Perhaps that's why this engaging talk show is such a welcome salve. Paralympic and Commonwealth Games gold medallist Kurt Fearnley (pictured) has found his second calling as an interviewer, with his third season of One Plus One. Tonight, celebrated Torres Strait Islander chef Nornie Bero opens up about her childhood and her drive for people to embrace Indigenous, seasonal and local ingredients.

Rolling through the spectacular deep-red dust and dirt of Australian desert, The Ghan train journey is a sight to behold. From the Swiss Alps, to Mexico and the Himalayas, the scenery in this train-loving travel show runs the gamut of colours and cultures. Featuring drone photography, the dramatic terrain takes on an otherworldly feel, illustrating the odds the railroad workers were faced with when they built these feats of construction. This week, cameras fly above as Australia's most luxurious train service, The Ghan, traverses its two-day, 3000km journey from Adelaide to Darwin, encountering intense heat, wild animals and the danger of extreme weather events.

SUMMER LOVE
ABC TV, Wednesday, 9pm

This heart-warming comic anthology comes to an end tonight with a touching final episode. While previous episodes have revolved around the guests staying at an idyllic holiday house, "Frankie and Trevor" follows the plight of the property's cleaners (Johnny Carr and Morgana O'Reilly, pictured), who are forced to put the dusting and vacuuming to one side when their troubled niece (Charlotte Maggi) shows up on the doorstep. If that wasn't enough, an eccentric, wheelchair-bound gentleman (Keith Robinson) stops by to complicate matters. It's sweet-natured, funny and moving in equal parts.

Mixed results at first comp

The 2022/2023 Millicent Magic Basketball Town Team competitions tipped off over the October long weekend.

This season Millicent will field up to 14 junior teams, with seven carnivals set down to complete the season.

The opening carnival saw the young players head to Murray Bridge, with some mixed results for the four sides that attended.

The best of those were the Under 16 Girls Division 1 side, which won the carnival after some tight, impressive performances under the tutelage of Peter Seeböhm.

The Magic opened the weekend with a 29-23 win over Mount Gambier, before defeating the host side 34-14.

They easily accounted for Yorke Valley 32-11, then defeated Naracoorte 36-23 and advanced to the grand final.

The final game of the weekend saw the Magic take on Yorke Valley, with Millicent off to a strong start, up 10-4 at the first break.

The Magic's defence was strong, but Yorke Valley put up fight, with both sides racking up fouls in the physical contest.

A timely 3 pointer from Piper Paul put the magic back on track, with a 21-14 lead at the main break.

In the final term some disciplined play from the free throw line from, as Paul, Asha Gysbers and Mati Fauchelle made their shots to help secure the 28-24 win.

Meanwhile, the Under 14 Girls Division 1 side finished runner-up after some mixed results from the round games.

The girls were well coached by Andrew Thorne, kicking their campaign off with a 28/21 victory over the Hornets in a tough contest.

The Magic then claimed a strong 38-10 win over Mount Gambier, with another solid effort over Yourke Valley for a 34/12 victory.

The final round game saw the magic go down 21-17 against their eventual grand final opponent Strathalbyn, which saw both side advance to the main game.

Another tight contest ensued, with the Magic falling agonisingly short, going down 37-35.

Top scorer was Lucy Crowe.

Millicent's U14 Boys Division 1 side found the going tough, unable to secure a victory.

Minimal training and a new roster made the going tough, with only two top-age boys in the side.

However, some good offensive plays in the key showed some promise for the season ahead.

Brody McDonald improved over the weekend in his first town team experience, Campbell McMullan showed some impressive offensive skills.

Ari Robins top scored with 55 points across the carnival.

North Gambier 3.12 (30) d Kongorong 1.1 (7)

The North Gambier Tigers claimed a comfortable victory in the season opener at Kongorong on Saturday.

It was a slow start with neither side able to kick a major score in the first quarter.

The Tigers led by four points at the first change but took control of proceedings in the second term.

The Hawks were held scoreless in the second quarter after managing the solitary point in the first term.

North Gambier broke the deadlock for major scores with the first goal of the game and held a 12-point lead at half time.

Kongorong captain Evie Sealey kicked her side's only goal of the game in the second term but the Tigers continued to dominate with two goals of their own and held a comfortable lead of 20 points at the final change.

The Hawks were held scoreless in the final term as North Gambier claimed an impressive 23-point win.

Penny Coleman was named best on ground after a strong performance where she was instrumental to her side's victory.

Hatherleigh 12.6 (78) d Kybybolite 0.4 (4)

In their inaugural game, the Hatherleigh Under 16 Girls claimed an emphatic victory in the second clash of the day.

The Eagles' first fixture could not have started any better, as they kicked a goal after just 26 seconds.

The goal was a sign of what was to come as Edie Easterby was dominant in the ruck to give her side the advantage at every stoppage and as a result, was named best on ground.

Hatherleigh's dominance was reflected in the score-line as it held a 19-0 lead after the first term.

Things would not get any better for the Tigers as Hatherleigh's rampaging performance continued in the second term and Kybybolite was held scoreless up until half time.

The Eagles' lead of 38 points quickly grew in the third term as they kicked six majors to take the game out of sight and led 77-1 with one quarter to play.

The Tigers scored three points in the last quarter and held Hatherleigh to one point but the damage was already done.

Niah Faulkner was lethal in the Eagles' forward line with six majors for the game.

She was supported by Sebella Coghlan and

After being held scoreless in the first stanza of play, the Demons kicked their first goal of the season in the second quarter through Sophie Wight.

However, it was all in vain as North Gambier flexed its strength to extend its lead to 25 points at the main break.

The Tigers added another four goals in the third quarter to take the game away from the Demons and their lead was extended to 52 points at three-quarter-time.

Hatherleigh 8.10 (58) d Kongorong 1.2 (8)

The first quarter was a tight contest and neither side could be split at the first change with both sides scoring 1.2 (8).

However, despite nothing to separate the two teams in the first stanza, the Eagles soon took control of the game and the hosts were held scoreless for the rest of proceedings.

Hatherleigh added two majors in the second quarter, to lead by 16 points at the main break.

This lead then extended to 29 points after three quarters of play, before a strong final term saw the Eagles kick three goals to claim a 50-point win.

Hatherleigh's Chloe Bellinger led the goal-kickers with three majors, ahead of Amber Chester and Macy Burns, who both kicked two goals for the game.

After an impressive first match where she kicked two major scores, Gysbers backed her performance up with a strong display against the Hawks and was named player of the match.

Waiting game on review

By James Murphy

A decision looms for the fate of Limestone Coast football, with the outcome of the Casterton Sandford Football Club's endeavour to change leagues on the horizon.

The Cats applied to leave the Western Border Football League in favour of a move to the Mid South Eastern competition for the 2023 season, which sparked a review of all three Limestone Coast Football and Netball Leagues.

They lodged the application to the South Australian National Football League (SANFL) back in August, following a members' vote at the club, which then triggered a 60-day investigation period by the sport's state body.

That review period has now ended, with the SANFL Community Football Committee set to meet this week to report their findings.

However, SANFL advised The South Eastern Times this week there would not be an outcome just yet.

The committee's recommendations are now to be referred to the SA Football Commission for consideration, which is not expected to happen until the end of the month.

As such there is little to report on the matter at this stage, with further updates to come from SANFL following the commission meeting.

The Casterton Sandford Football Club awaits a verdict on their application to join the Mid South Eastern Football League next season, with an update expected at the end of the month.

Home game advantage: Magic ready for CBL challenge

By Trevor Jackson

The Millicent Magic Country Basketball League men will hit the floor for the first time on Saturday night, with a home game pencilled in against the Colac Kookas.

Having sat out the first three rounds of the season with byes, all in in place to provide a solid start under the coaching of Darren Dean.

A Millicent local, Dean brings a wealth of experience from his time in Darwin and hopes to see some good results right out of the gate.

"We have a pretty reasonable group together," he said.

"With having the first few weeks with byes it has sort of come around quickly.

"It has been a hectic last week putting it all together."

Dean said he has around 16 players committed to the season, with a mix of youth and experience.

He said over the course of the season he expects some players will be unavailable, with state duties and the Easter Mavericks carnival for the young members, along with work commitments for some of the more experienced campaigners.

The Magic has not been a part of the CBL competition since 2019, with Covid and other factors coming into their absence.

However, Dean said there was an air of confidence around the group.

"I think the boys were about fourth place last time they played," he said.

"With what we have together, if everyone does commit, I think we are quietly confident we can match it with a few teams."

Dean also coached a young group to the South East Coast Basketball League premier-ship last season, the first one for Millicent in 12 years.

Along with that he coaches the Under 18 town team, with many of those players crossing over into the CBL roster.

"We have some young guns in Harry Mules, Jackson Bowden, Jack Haggett and Aussie Fuller," Dean said.

"Haggett, Bowden and Mules are part of the Pioneers group - they will play a bit in Easter Mavericks and I'm sure state country as well.

"We have a reasonable group of mid-age guys up to that 25 bracket, with Aiden and Connor Schultz, Kade and Frazer Bradley, Declan and Aiden Hurley and I think Finn Grimes is still under 25.

"Then we have the older ones with more experience like Josh Murphy, Clint Gallio and Cameron Haggett, so there is a good mixture of youth and experience."

While Colac has already played three games for two wins and a loss, Dean is confident his side can take the challenge head on.

"Colac has a Matthew Lloyd who have been scoring heavily," he said.

"They would have played three or four games and we haven't played one yet, so I think they will be pretty reasonable."

Being the first season back, it is hard to gauge how the first game will pan out, but Dean says the season overall looks to a challenge the Magic can lift for.

"I think we are quietly confident we can give it a shake to finish top four," he said.

"The enthusiasm on the track has been great, the numbers are good, so now it is a matter of transferring that onto the court and see how we go.

"It is a bit of the unknown because you don't know what the other teams have got, considering we haven't played for a couple of years, but we are happy with the group and how well they have gelled.

"Hopefully we can get a decent crowd out there to support them."

Saturday night's game tips off at 7pm at the Millicent stadium.
