A grant for art

By Caroline Hammat

Beachport Brewing Co is the first business to take advantage of Wattle Range Council's (WRC) Public Art on Private Assets grant with a shipping container receiving a make-over.

The ocean front business received $2,550 toward the project and have commissioned local artist Ivy Sutherland to paint a mural.

Owners of the brewery, Kate and Mark

Wheal, had organised the container to be moved onsite earlier in the year but soon realised it was in far worse condition than expected and began to look at ways to improve the appearance.

Sitting down with the artist Ms Wheal shared her ideas and initial inspiration drawn from a vintage postcard of California.

"We loved it had the wording and we've gone with the word of Beachport" Ms Wheal said.

Fireworks lit up the sky from the Beachport jetty delighting locals and tourists.

Beachport lights up to ring in the new year

Beachport fireworks returned with a bang last night with the two sessions drawing hundreds of people to the foreshore to view the display.

Windy weather ensured locals and tourists alike rugged up for the spectacle which did not disappoint.

The fireworks had been at risk due to increasing costs to host the event but a combination of extra funding from the Wattle Range Council and generous support from local businesses and community members ensured the event proceeded.

Bedford asked to face locals

By Elisabeth Champion

CEO of Bedford Industries, which recently closed the Millicent laundry and gardening services, has turned down invitations to face locals.

The news of the closure has caused waves in the community, with more than 20 people with a disability being left with no employment, and locals left with no laundry service.

Earlier this month, Mayor Des Noll wrote a letter to Bedford CEO Myron Mann asking that he visit Millicent and meet with employees and their families to discuss the matter.

In a reply letter, Mr Mann did not address the invitation, but said they working with "each and every employee".

Councillor David Walshaw moved that Council respectfully request that the Mayor write back and insist that the CEO of Bedford visit Millicent and attend a public meeting to address the families and clients affected by this decision.

He said the CEO had to face and talk to the community members affected by the closure.

"I think this is another example where the people sitting in Adelaide 400km making decisions for our community, thinking they are immune to the emotions of the community," he said.

Mr Noll said he would respond to Mr Mann and again request that he come to Millicent to address the matter.

Bedford closed the laundry late last year.

Children's garden provides solace

By Kathy Fennell

The babies garden on the Penola Hospital grounds is a picture of colour with flowering roses and other plants.

The garden was created by the people of Penola in memory of babies that entered the world and touched our lives too briefly.

It was established and is maintained by community volunteers.

All are welcome to use the garden as a place to pause, reflect, or meet a friend.

One of the original instigators Geoff Eckermann said people visit the garden regularly.

The garden was established in 2008.

Beachport Jetty swim returns in 2023

The Beachport Jetty Out N' Back swim returns Sunday, January 15th for swimmers keen to tackle the 1.4 kilometre course.

Hosted by the Beachport Surf Life Saving Club, president Peter Phillips said

"All around Australia ocean swims are hugely popular but not so much down here.

"We are trying to get that community engagement, we want to get that kind of culture into Beachport.

"I don't think we will get as many as the Robe Long Cally Ocean Swim but we are certainly hoping it grows year on year."

The swim will begin alongside the jetty at the town beach with the exact site dependent on the weather.

Participants will swim out from the beach and around the end of the jetty before coming back to the beach.

Pre-registration is required and the BSLSC will have their jet ski and Inflatable Rescue Boat on hand for the event.

The Emergency Department at the Penola War Memorial Hospital has re-opened after a Covid outbreak forced the closure of the facility last year.

Emergency room re-opened

The Emergency Department at the Penola War Memorial Hospital has re-opened after a Covid outbreak forced the closure of the facility last year.

On December 20, 2022, there was a reported covid case which saw the emergency room close its doors for two weeks to contain a potential outbreak.

The Limestone Coast Local Health Network has advised no new Covid cases have been reported at the site in more than a week.

During the two week closure, emergencies were redirected to Naracoorte, Millicent and Mount Gambier.

The network thanked the community for their support and understanding during the festive period.

Servo opening delayed

It has been 18 months since Millicent's Caltex Ampol service station on Mount Burr Road announced it would be closing.

The closure in August 2021 left the town with only one manned fuel facility located at the Mount Gambier and Williams Road intersection owned by the K&S Group.

Wattle Range Council previously owned the Mount Burr Road site and leased to Caltex for $116,000 per annum until October 2021.

It was sold to K&S Corporation for $1.1m after expressions of interest were called for in 2020.

K&S Corporation have been working toward getting the facility re-opened for over 12 months.

Millicent area manager for K&S Group, Mark Hodgens, had hoped the facility would be open for trade by December but unforeseen civil works have delayed opening day.

"There is still a considerable amount of work to get done over the next six weeks, it will be a couple of months before we open" he said.

"There was unforeseen circumstances that is going to require considerably more works to be done on the site and that's going to take some time.

"At the end of the day we've got to do what we've got to do and that's it.

"Ampol had a lot of obligations to meet under the lease when they vacated the site.

"We couldn't start anything until they had met their remediation obligations."

Mr Hodgens told the South Eastern Times the inside fitout of the premises was progressing well with new cabinetry being installed.

The new site will have two above ground self bunded fuel tanks located at the rear of the premises.

"It was always going to be tough to open before Christmas, the tanks wouldn't have got there in time as it turned out as well" Mr Hodgens said.

The Mount Burr Road service station is not expected to open for two months due to delays.

Art, beer, gin and ocean views: Brewery gets a jazz-up

"Within each letter is an icon of Beachport, it was really important to have imagery that represents the region and what the town and the area is about.

"I wanted ocean themed colours for the lettering and for the backdrop Ivy proposed a sunset colour scheme which ties in with the image we've got on our website by local photographer, Dion Hetherington.

"We were really happy with the concept Ivy presented to us.

"It's in quite a prominent position as you drive in, it's sort of a welcome to the town.

It was the artist who alerted Ms Wheal to the WRC grant and the application was submitted the night before they were presented to council.

Ms Wheal was hoping to have the work completed by Christmas but grant guidelines meant the job had to wait for approval before beginning.

Once notified they were successful with the grant the wheels were in motion for the artwork to begin.

Ms Sutherland is now the local artist in residence at the business, painting in the mornings and working for the brewery in the afternoons.

Juggling three jobs during Beachport's peak tourist season Ms Sutherland aims to have the mural completed by the end of the month.

Locals and tourists alike continue to watch the mural progress as the brewery and distillery caters to long line of eager customers.

Beachport Brewing Co. opened earlier this year in time for the busy Easter trading before the quiet winter period.

"This is our first summer, it's been very exciting to see how its going and since Christmas eve it has been going absolutely gangbusters" Ms Wheal said.

"Everyone is relaxing and having a really good time which is what we wanted it to be, a place to take in the amazing views and enjoy a local beverage.

"It's been so well received, we have lots of regular tourists or visitors say the town really needed something like this.

"It's a great location, it's perfect for just sitting back, enjoying and building that sort of community hub.

The brewery is making beer from malt barley grown on the Wheal's farm 10 kilometres from Beachport with Mr Wheal finding himself harvesting barley for next year's malt during their busiest time at the brewery.

To complement the eight beer varieties being brewed on site the Wheal's are also distilling their own gin for sale.

After much trial and error it took 27 batches to create their classic gin.

From the classic gin an ocean gin has been distilled by adding locally foraged botanicals like kelp, warrigal greens, samphire, muntries and lilly pilly's to the distilling process.

Market set to be a corker

By Caroline Hammat

Beachport will be in full swing this Saturday as a record number of stalls are locked in for the annual January street market day.

Pam Stratford from the Beachport District Development Association (BDDA) told the South Eastern Times there were 80 stalls booked for this year's market.

"This is a record number of stalls and this year is a little bit different because we are having a music, food and wine area" she said.

The recently sealed central carpark in Railway Terrace will host the entertainment area while the stalls will line the main street.

Following the market is the traditional duck race held at the Pool of Siloam.

Last year's event was delayed and held during the Easter long weekend instead.

BDDA duck race event organiser Dianne

Roach said "It was postponed because of covid, we thought we would put it on at Easter instead because everyone enjoys the duck race.

"We didn't sell as many ducks last year, there weren't as many people around, but it was still a great success."

The popular BDDA fundraiser is now in it's 22nd year and locals and tourists alike will be expected to flock to the lake from 2.30pm while they wait for the race to begin.

Ducks will be available to purchase for $5 each at the Beachport market, the Lions donut van a few days before the race and at the Pool of Siloam prior to the race.

Money raised from BDDA initiatives goes back into the community to fund events including the annual New Years eve fireworks display, junior fishing competition and 2024 crayfish festival.

Beachport market day organiser Pam Stratford is looking forward to a record number of stalls this year.

Big year for surf lifesaving

By Caroline Hammat

Beachport Surf Live Saving Club (BSLSC) continues to grow from strength to strength since it was established in 2016.

The club's five year strategic plan, released in 2018, is due for updating this year and the club is pleased most goals have been reached.

This year the BSLSC were able to complete a significant amount of work to their clubrooms based at Beachport's surf beach.

In the last 12 months a new roof has been installed over the three shipping containers placed in a C shaped configuration, and roller door added to the pergola area.

Solar panels and battery were installed allowing the clubrooms to run lighting, refrigerator and coffee machine off grid.

All containers and the pergola area have been clad and a mural design is waiting for funding before becoming a reality later in the year.

BSLSC worked with Wattle Range Council to install yellow pedestrian safety lines for safe access from the clubrooms to the surf beach and created wheelchair access through the swing gate onsite.

Council have installed three new showers in the existing amenities block and the club have painted the nearby containers to match.

One of the few things left to do is to install new signage on the side of the containers and above the newly installed roller door.

Club president Peter Phillips said "We've got new signage from Hyland Fox we just need to physically glue it on.

"Once that's done we are almost complete with stage one of the container area.

"We always wanted to have it as an area that looked pretty clean and was lockable."

The surf club heads into this summer with 45 Bronze Medallion or Surf Rescue Certificate qualified members.

This is alongside a drone, jet ski, 4WD vehicle, ATV and Inflatable Rescue Boat to help patrol the beaches this summer.

BSLSC is one of 15 Surf Life Saving SA locations with a permanent jetski and one of eight to house a drone which remain SLSSA assets.

Earlier this year, club members Liam Mills and Sam Adie completed a jet ski course joining a team of specialist drivers who help provide coastal surveillance and emergency activation.

"The drone is a game changer for us" Mr Phillips said.

"SLSSA trained one of our members, Liam Mills, in Adelaide.

"It's a Surf Life Saving SA asset, they own it, they trained our member, but we retain it and use it.

"They can direct us in times of emergency.

"Liam is one of our success stories, he started when he was a nipper and has just thrown himself into the club and got qualified in just about everything you can be qualified for in surf life saving.

"It is great for us because if it wasn't for Liam we wouldn't have the drone or the jet ski."

BSLSC also topped off the year's achievements with a national award.

The club won the state Community Education Program of the Year at Surf Life Saving Australia Awards of Excellence event held on the Gold Coast in November.

The award was received for the clubs School Nippers Program established three years ago.

The program was started to promote the recently established club and encourage primary school aged children to learn about water safety.

Julie Moran, the clubs chief instructor, accepted the award.

Ms Moran has led the program using her skills as a teacher and instructor to deliver the program with the help of dedicated volunteers.

St Anthony's Catholic Primary School were the pilot for the program as the school did not have access to school-based swimming lessons.

The school program was an opportunity for the students to become more confident in and around the water.

The successful program has since been rolled out to Beachport Primary School, Mary MacKillop primary school and St Martins in Mount Gambier.

Approval fuels concerns

By Elisabeth Champion

The Wattle Range Council will submit feedback to the Planning System Implementation Review, following a decision regarding an unmanned fuel station, to be built in Millicent.

At the Council meeting in December, Councillor John Drew moved a motion that council submit feedback regarding concerns that “the Regional Assessment Panel does not sufficiently familiarise itself with the sites it is assessing, when often meetings are held in different towns to the application being assessed.

He further moved that that they use the proposed unstaffed fuel outlet development on the corner of Ridge Terrace and Cattle Bridge Road as an example to highlight a process that fails to sufficiently allow for negative visual and aural impact and loss of amenity for residents; take into account the negative impact of bringing 30m vehicles into a residential area for the sole purpose to refuel, take into account damage to community infrastructure; consider safety for children and other pedestrians and finally, that a consultation process that can be improved e.g. signs that are small and not easily read by passing motorists, ability for the public (who haven't submitted a representation) to attend RAP meetings, ask questions and express their concerns.

Perry's fuel recently finalised the purchase of the railway corridor block of land on the corner of Ridge Terrace and Cattle Bridge Road for the site of an unmanned service station.

Construction includes underground fuel storage tanks, canopy, fuel price board and on-site parking on land currently utilised as parkland and in close proximity to the Asia House restaurant.

Appropriate approvals have been received by the Environment Protection Authority, Commissioner of Highways and Approval has been received for the new unmanned service station adjacent to Apex Park.

Wattle Range Council.

Speaking on the motion, Cr Drew said the issue was not with Perry's itself, but the location.

“This not about Perry's, we welcome their presence in the community and appreciate the competition,” he said.

“Many of us believe this will have a negative impact on the visual impact for tourists.

“One concern is the young people coming through from the high school.

“Perry's are welcome, they've just chosen the wrong site.”

Councillors, including Cr Drew, acknowledged that it was too late to reverse the decision about Perry's but said the feedback could prevent future issues.

The construction of the service station is due to begin this year, with an estimated open date in September.

Transport assistance for rural patients

The State Government has doubled the fuel subsidy for patients needing transport to specialist health appointments.

From January 1, the support for regional people using the Patient Assistance Transport Scheme (PATS) to access vital healthcare has doubled.

PATS, which helps cover transport and accommodation costs for people who need to travel more than 100 kilometres, has been put up to 32 cents per kilometre for eligible medical appointments.

Minister for Health and Wellbeing Chris Picton said he was pleased to be a part of increasing the PATS subsidy to help support regional people.

“This is great news for the many thousands of people who access the scheme now or may need to travel for medical treatment in future,” Mr Picton said.

Rural Support Service acting executive director Hendrika Meyer said the subsidy increase will help ease cost of living pressures for patients.

“This increase will give a helping hand to more people needing to travel to vital medical appointments,” Dr Meyer said.

“With the rising costs of living and increasing fuel costs, we know how important this subsidy is to people living in regional and remote communities.”

The State Government encouraged people living in regional areas to check their eligibility and apply for subsidies on the PATS website if they needed help with transport costs for medical appointments.

Giveaway feeds animals

By Aidan Curtis

PETS in the region are wagging their tails to start the year after a generous donation saw premium pet food brands given away in Glencoe.

Animal Rescue Cooperative (ARC) volunteers distributed bags of pet food and numerous treats to Glencoe and surrounding communities on Friday, December 30. Pet owners were able to swing by the Glencoe Community Hall and pick up a bag of food for their furry friends, along with a couple of bonus treats.

ARC volunteer Rebecca Alexander said the giveaway was made possible by the generosity of both national and local businesses.

“We’ve had very generous donations from Petbarn Foundation with some excess dog food, so we decided to do a community outreach program in Glencoe to support locals,” she said.

“We’re getting more sponsorship, more support from Petbarn locally, and Pet Circle is coming on board so we’re getting a lot of support nationally.

“It’s just a matter of getting it transported here, and we’re lucky we’ve had a company called DCA Logistics who have been storing these pallets in their Mount Gambier depot for us for free.”

Ms Alexander said around 30 people came by the giveaway “in dribs and drabs”, but most of the food was given out in the end.

She said people were eager to get their hands on premium pet food brands as they are getting harder and harder to afford.

“We still had a bit leftover because we didn’t know how many people were coming, we were just doing one bag per person, so we’ll start distributing that bit as well,” she said.

“It’s not feeding animals if it’s sitting in a shed collecting dust.

“I’ve had a lot of messages from people saying they couldn’t come and can they collect.”

Ms Alexander also thanked the Glencoe Hall Committee for allowing the giveaway to be held in the Hall’s carpark.

Works to begin on Wimmera Highway

By Sophie Conlon

Works will soon begin on the Wimmera Highway in Hynam to improve road safety and freight productivity.

From Monday, January 9, construction will begin on two new intersections along the highway, work will also include new asphalt between the junctions, new LED lighting, vegetation management, upgraded drainage and the installation of safety barriers.

The upgrade has been jointly funded 80:20 by the Australian and South Australian Governments as part of the Rural Roads Package in an effort to improve road safety, travel times and enhance connectivity between people and places, business and markets.

One of the new intersections will provide easier access to the Teys Australia Naracoorte Facility, while the other will benefit the QUBE Hynam Depot.

Both intersections will provide sheltered right-turn lanes into each business and there will also be a dedicated left-turn deceleration lane into Teys Australia.

Acting Federal Infrastructure, Transport, Regional Development and Local Government Minister Madeleine King said getting works underway on a critical project was a fantastic milestone.

“This project will improve safety for everyone using the road while making it quicker, safer and easier for freight workers to do their jobs,” she said.

“It will also support local construction jobs and economic stimulus in the region.

“We know how much of a difference this can make for communities, which is why the Australian Government is helping make this project a reality.”

Works will be undertaken Monday to Friday between 7am and 5.30pm and Saturday 7am to 3.30pm, with some work may be required outside of these hours.

There will be speed restrictions during the works and the highway will occasionally be reduced to one lane, outside work hours the road will flow with two lanes and slower speed limits in place. Local road users have been asked to plan ahead, expect delays, take extra care and allow extra travel time.

With works expected to be finished mid 2023, weather permitting, SA Minister for Infrastructure and Transport Tom Koutsantonis thanked the community for their cooperation and patience while works were undertaken.

Safety message for summer

Beachport’s Surf Life Saving Club’s (BSLSC) agreement with Surf Life Saving SA ensures the club’s presence will be on the local Beachfront over the next few weeks.

President of the BSLSC Peter Phillips said the agreement involves the club having patrol capability every Saturday and Sunday through January.

“Anything in addition to that is a bonus, we often do more, and usually it revolves around weather and community events like the duck race” he said.

“Our patrol agreement stipulates our area is anywhere between Southend and the Salmon Hole.

“It’s a huge area but generally this time of year most people are at the jetty beach or in town so we tailor our patrols toward where the people are.”

Mr Phillips reminded beachgoers that it is recommended to swim between the flags when a patrol is nearby.

“If there is no patrol on remember to let people know you are going out” he said.

“Swim in safe areas, identify rips and if it looks dangerous don’t go in.

“And go with other people, don’t go in by yourself.”

Highway Upgrades: There will reduced speeds along the Wimmera Highway in Hynam as roadworks are undertaken in the next six months.

Cindy’s all about kitty care

By Sophie Conlon

On the outskirts of Kalangadoo sits an animal shelter which can house up to 80 cats and kittens at once and is run single-handedly by Cindy Tully.

Ms Tully started Cats and Kittens Rescue in 2018, and since then her property has turned into a cat haven, with 10 outdoor cages and her home dedicated to felines.

Also working two jobs, Ms Tully puts all her extra time, money and energy into supporting the animals and said any help would be warmly received.

“I did have a bank account with money saved, which I no longer have and I’m currently working two jobs at the moment,” she said.

“People do donate a little bit and so does ARC [Animal Rescue Cooperative] but nowhere near what it costs me.”

Ms Tully said she was just doing her part to help in the local cat problem and took the furry critters in from all over the region, with most local vets calling her when they were given surrenders.

“I get contacted from as far as Kingston vet, they transport them down to Millicent and I pick them up from there,” she said.

“Even further, there are people in Adelaide wanting help.”

Dumping animals is a problem in the region, Ms Tully said people should take their pets to a shelter and stop the cycle, though she knew it could be tough for some.

“Other rescues charge for people to surrender animals, and I find that’s a lot of the time when people are dumping animals because they just can’t afford to pay,” she said.

She also said by dumping cats, they were more likely to pick up and spread diseases and it made it harder to trap and then rehome them.

Taking the pressure off people wanting to surrender their cats and kittens Ms Tully does not charge a surrender fee. Though, by not charging a fee Ms Tully is missing out on funds that would go back into the rescue, but she said ending the cycle was important.

“A lot of people, I find, they want to do the right thing, but they just can’t,” she said.

Ms Tully cares for each cat as if it were her own and assures they are adopted out to good homes, have been vet checked, vaccinated and flea treated, she also covers the cost of desexing

To save a bit of money, Ms Tully is qualified to microchip and offers the service for a small fee, not just for cats, but for any furry friend.

Since the rescue’s inception, Ms Tully has taken in and rehomed 515 cats and kittens and she is regularly updated on how they all are.

Currently, she has an outstanding bill of $4000 at Blue Lake Vets which is being paid off, but she said any help would go a long way.

“Cat food and litter and that is always helpful, if that’s the way they would prefer to donate I’m definitely not going to knock it back,” she said.

Ms Tully said any donations would be appreciated, whether it was money, food, litter, or toys, she said it would all be put to good use.

To donate to Cats and Kittens Rescue, you can take donations to Blue Lake Vets, or contact Ms Tully through her Facebook group, Cats and Kittens Rescue.

Police on alert for traffic trouble over New Year’s period

SPEEDING DRIVER CAUGHT

A speeder has been caught travelling almost 50km/h over the signed limit in the state’s South East.

About 12.10pm Thursday 29 December, police were conducting speed detection duties on the Princes Highway at Kingston SE when they clocked a Isuzu ute travelling at 156km/h in a 110km/h zone.

Police were able to stop the car and speak to the driver, a 34-year-old Victorian man, and issue him with an $1850 expiation notice. The man also lost his licence on the spot for six months.

Limestone Coast police will be out and about over the festive season paying close attention to any dangerous road users. Anyone who witnesses dangerous driving, including excessive speed is urged to contact the Police Assistance line on 131444 at the time and provide details including registration, description of vehicle/ driver and direction of travel.

NEW YEARS EVE REVELLERS WELL BEHAVED

South Australia Police across the state kept a watchful eye as the community celebrated and farewelled the end of what has been a challenging year.

SA Police thanks the public for helping make New Year’s Eve 2022 a generally peaceful event and maintaining a high level of cooperation with police throughout the evening.

The warm weather drew big crowds around the coastal areas.

Police had a highly visible presence around New Year’s celebrations, targeting anti-social and disorderly behaviour in particular.

Assistant Commissioner, Metropolitan Operations Service, Scott Duval said it was good to see the majority of people out enjoying themselves and acting responsibly. There were some who did not, and many offences involved alcohol or drug use.”

Overall there were 89 people arrested across the state and 57 people reported for offences including behavioural, traffic and drug possession.

A total of 171 traffic expiation notices were issued and 179 general expiation notices were issued for offences including possession of drugs, possessing or consuming alcohol in a dry zone and behavioural offences.

Over 5600 drivers were tested for drugs and alcohol with 35 positive results to alcohol and 11 positive drug tests.

The highest recorded drink driving results over the operation was a positive result of 0.176 from a static driver testing station at Seacliff Park.

Protect yourself and your animals from mosquito bites to avoid contracting Japanese Encephalitis.

Call to protect pigs, horses

Horse and pig owners are urged to protect their animals from mosquito-borne illnesses this summer after recent heavy rain and flooding.

Victoria's Chief Veterinary Officer Dr Graeme Cooke said bite prevention and mosquito control were the key to keeping animals free from mosquito-borne diseases including Japanese encephalitis (JE), Ross River fever, Murray Valley encephalitis and West Nile virus (Kunjin strain).

"It is reasonable to anticipate that JE may again affect livestock in Victoria, however there have been no reported animal cases in Victoria since pig cases were seen last summer," Dr Cooke said.

There has been a case of Japanese encephalitis virus (JEV) has been identified in a Riverland resident, the first identified case of JEV in South Australia this mosquito season.

The most common signs of Japanese encephalitis in pigs are mummified and stillborn or weak piglets, some with neurological signs. Very young piglets may exhibit signs of central nervous system disease, however, the majority of pigs appear unaffected.

Japanese encephalitis virus is not spread directly from pigs to people, and there is no risk to humans from eating pig meat.

Horses may show no signs of illness from arbovirus infections, but these diseases can present with fever, loss of appetite, jaundice, lethargy, neurological or musculoskeletal signs such as staggering, incoordination, weakness and depression.

Hendra virus infection must always be ruled out in cases of neurological disease in horses. Hendra and West Nile virus clinical disease can have human health implications so it is important to report suspect cases and get an accurate diagnosis to ensure the appropriate response.

Horse owners can protect their animals by rugging and hooding them to prevent bites and stabling them between dusk and dawn, as the mosquito most likely to carry diseases of concern is a night-time feeder that stays outdoors.

Reducing mosquito breeding sites by removing stagnant water or fixing dripping or leaking taps and water troughs, is critical in reducing the risks of arbovirus.

"Where it's not possible to fully eliminate breeding sites, people should treat them with an appropriately registered larvicide," Dr Cooke said.

Animal owners suspecting JE, Hendra and West Nile virus clinical disease should notify their vet or the Agriculture Victoria Animal Health and Welfare team, the Emergency Animal Disease Watch Hotline 1800 675 888 or the Notify Now App.

People with increased exposure to mosquitoes may be at a higher risk of infection, particularly people working or living on or near pig farms.

For information about the JE in pigs and horses visit agriculture.vic.gov.au/JE.

Water allocation review gets underway

By Aidan Curtis

Limestone Coast Landscape Board (LCLB) has started its review in the the Lower Limestone Coast Water Allocation Program (WAP).

LCLB chair Penny Schulz told The Border Watch that the review has been under way for around three months now and is expected to be completed by the end of 2023.

"It's quite a controversial water allocation plan, and that's partly because it's such a complex water resource with lots of different industries in it," she said.

"We're pretty excited that's underway, we've got a fantastic stakeholder advisory group that's already met twice and they're working through that challenging work."

Water is one of the most vital resources to Limestone Coast properties.

Updates on the review and what it will mean for water permit holders is expected later in the year.

The Yaris gets a makeover

By Chris Riley, Marque Motoring

Following on the heels of the C-HR, Toyota's baby Yaris Cross SUV has been given a GR Sport makeover.

Based on the Yaris Cross GXL 2WD hybrid, the GR Sport has received cosmetic and suspension changes, but alas no more power.

It can be identified as a part of the GR family thanks to its newly designed black grille with the distinctive 'G' mesh pattern found on other GR sports cars.

The same mesh pattern is applied to the rear bumper, with a sporty rear diffuser featuring four vertically oriented aerodynamic fins.

Mechanical changes re confined to 10mm lowered sports suspension which Toyota says improves handling and sharpens the steering response and feel.

Priced from $35,840, GR Sport sits between GXL and top of the range Urban grades.

For the front suspension, engineers enhanced the spring constant and rigidity of the lower control arm, while an exclusive bound stopper has been added for the first time to control body roll and improve ride comfort.

At the rear, a grooved washer bolt evens out surface pressure for the suspension fastening bolt and improves rigidity at the joint for greater steering response.

Additional chassis improvements include the adoption of an underfloor brace and a second brace running along the lower rear of the vehicle connecting the cross members, further stiffening the TNGA-B underpinnings.

GR Sport is powered by a 1.5-litre hybrid powertrain pairing a three-cylinder petrol engine with a pair of motor generators on the front axle to produce a combined system output of 85kW.

Combined fuel consumption stands at 3.8L/100km, with CO2 emissions of 86 grams per km.

Unique 18-inch alloy wheels with a twin-five-spoke design and bright machined finish also help to differentiate GR Sport from the rest of the Yaris Cross range, housing sporty red brake callipers complete with GR logos on the front brakes.

Exclusive tyres have also been fitted for improved dynamic performance.

Black mirror caps and GR badging front and rear complete the set of visual exterior changes.

Inside, the GR Sport is immediately identified by unique seats featuring synthetic leather on the bolsters and perforated black suede-like upholstery in the centre, with contrast light grey stitching on the seats and steering wheel.

The front seats have also been redesigned for a more dynamic look and greater support.

GR logos adorn the headrests, steering wheel and smart keys, while aluminium pedals provide a race-inspired look.

Ornamental gun metal trim highlights are applied to the shift knob, instrument panel moulding and inner door trim, while suede-like material is also applied to the door trim inserts.

Convenience is improved with the addition of an extra USB-C port in the dash, while occupants are treated to clean, acclimatised air with the addition of the nanoe X air ionisation technology which helps to inhibit unwanted pollutants and viruses from the cabin.

Toyota's Sean Hanley said the Yaris Cross GR Sport offers customers a sporty aesthetic and a more dynamic focus on driving charac-

All-new fourth gen Nissan X-Trail raises the bar

By Chris Riley, Marque Motoring

Nissan's fourth generation X-Trail is here.

It's structurally more rigid, more aerodynamically efficient, introduces a host of new active and passive safety features, has a revised cabin layout with premium features and materials and introduces a raft of new technical aids including adaptive cruise control and more standard additions to the Nissan Intelligent Mobility suite.

The 2.5-litre four-cylinder petrol engine lifts power by 9kW to 135kW, with torque boosted by 18Nm to 244Nm and five drive modes: Off-Road, Snow, Auto, Eco and Sports.

No mention of the hybrid e-POWER which is supposed to be arriving early next year, along with the smaller hybrid Qashqai.

Available in five- or seven-seat versions, the all-new model is slightly shorter than before (4680mm) but is wider (+20mm to 1840mm), taller (+15mm to 1725mm) and provides more rear legroom, with larger door openings for easier access -- but a slightly smaller luggage capacity.

The wheelbase remains unchanged at 2705mm.

Towing capability is up too, to 2000kg, with Trailer Sway Control standard equipment.

An all-LED slimline lighting package front and rear, with bright multi-reflector LEDs for high and low beam driving and wraparound boomerang-shaped tail lights, complements

The new X-Trail will be available in the choice of either a five-seat or seven-seat variant.

Nissan's signature-V-motion brand identity across all models.

Adaptive beam matrix lighting, which splits the headlight beams into 12 individually controlled segments, appears on Ti and Ti-L models.

Inside there's a 12.3-inch instrument cluster, 12.3-inch touchscreen and 10.8-inch widescreen head-up display.

X-Trail ST gains a 7.0-inch driver info panel and 8.0-inch central display with DAB+ digital radio and six speakers, upgraded to a 10-speaker Bose audio system on the Ti-L and above.

It's equipped with Apple CarPlay and Android Auto, with wireless CarPlay for Ti and Ti-L models.

New X-Trail is priced from $40,424 driveaway for the two-wheel drive ST up to $57,340 for the top-of-the-line Ti-L.

The latest Nissan X-Trail gets extra safety and a power boost.

THE BACHELORS AUSTRALIA
10, Monday-Wednesday, 7.30pm

The decision to have three Bachelors is just one of several shake-ups to the franchise's formula viewers can expect this season, with production of the long-running dating show also moving from Sydney to the glitzy Gold Coast. "Not only did we have to go to head office to say, 'Can we have three Bachelors?'. That was easy!" host Osher Günsberg (pictured) said. "It was, 'But we wanna do it without candles, and we wanna do it without fairy lights'. That was a meeting we had to get through." Looking for love this season are Italian-born restaurant manager Thomas Malucelli, Victorian basketballer Felix Von Hofe and Melbourne musician Jed McIntosh.

OUR LAW

SBS, Thursday, 8.30pm

Premiering tonight with a double episode, this six-part doco takes viewers behind the scenes and into the hearts of Western Australia's Indigenous police officers. Following on from the critically acclaimed one-off short which trailed two Noongar officers as they policed Warakuna – one of the most remote beats in the world – this series takes a wide-ranging lens in WA. It poses the question: Could Indigenous police officers be the ultimate frontline in changing police culture and restoring trust with Aboriginal peoples?

WHO DO YOU THINK YOU ARE? US
SBS, Tuesday, 7.35pm

Kelsey Grammer (pictured) is best known for his two-decade portrayal of psychiatrist Dr Frasier Crane in Cheers and its equally popular spin-off Frasier. Fans of the actor will be pleased to get an insight into the 67-year-old's life off screen in this episode of the fascinating genealogy series. Grammer takes a trip into the past to uncover the story of a woman haunted by demons and finds a connection to a family that risked everything in one of the greatest migrations in American history.

CRAZY FUN PARK
ABC TV Plus, Wednesday, 9.20pm

If you enjoyed Stranger Things, you'll find plenty to like about this hair-raising coming-of-age tale. Created by writer-director Nicholas Verso (Boys in the Trees) and produced by Joanna Werner (The Newsreader), the 10-part Australian series tells the story of Chester (Henry Strand), a shy teen who discovers that his recently deceased best mate Mapplethorpe (Stacy Clausen) is one of a group of ghoulish teens who haunt an abandoned theme park. Filmed in an impressive set created by production designer Paddy Reardon (Muriel's Wedding), it's a roller-coaster ride that will thrill the whole family.

Nangwarry players and supporters come together after the Saints first win since 2014.

Nangwarry coach Luke Thomson belts out the club song.

Saints shake the hoodoo

By Trevor Jackson

The year 2022 was a memorable one for the Nangwarry Football Club.

The Saints not only opened their new club-room facility, which had been rebuilt after an arson attack, but they also chalked up their first Mid South Eastern Football League win for many years.

A drought-breaking victory was certainly the case for the Saints, who had remained in the wilderness since their last victory back in 2014.

That all changed in 2022 when they claimed a hard-fought 10-point victory over Tantanoola - and to top it off, it happened to be at the Nangwarry oval.

A better script could not have been written and to keep everyone on edge, it played out right to the dying moments of the game.

Josh Weedon snapped a goal to put the Saints 10 points clear with just seconds on the clock and when the final siren sounded, wild scenes erupted.

Supporters streamed onto the oval to congratulate the victorious players and tears of joy flowed.

Coach Luke Thomson's sentiment after the game described the situation well.

He was dragged into the middle of the huddle after the final siren as his players celebrated.

When he eventually emerged he could not believe the scenes surrounding him.

"When the siren went I was flooded by the boys," Thomson said.

"I was in the middle of the huddle and when I got out, there were people everywhere.

"For me it was a better feeling than winning a grand final.

"There was not a dry eye at the place."

For long-term president Shane Ploenges it was certainly a special day and one that is sure to live on in his memory for years to come.

After the final siren sounded the Nangwarry oval was inundated with supporters keen to congratulate those responsible for turning the tide.

Ploenges said the scenes were quite moving.

"There were a few tears about and plenty of joy," he said.

"There were heaps of people who ran out and got around the boys."

To gain the win at home after all the club has been through in the last couple of years made it even more special.

"If it was at another ground it would have been fine, you wouldn't knock it back," Ploenges said.

"But to be at home it just made it extra special I think.

"I think to get that win at a home game and be able to go into our new club and celebrate, it did make a bit more special.

"There were a few beers sunk and the song sung a few times.

"There were plenty of people about and all the young fellows really lapped it up.

"It was a really special night."

The achievement certainly made the 2022 season one not to be forgotten.

Festive season produces

By Jamie Coates

A big couple of weeks in the South East has been and gone as we have celebrated Christmas, rung in the new year, and the fishing has been red hot.

The offshore fishing has been excellent in the last couple of weeks.

A few of the local charter boats out of Port MacDonnell have been flat out getting both locals and tourists onto some cracker fish.

Want To Fish Charters and Extreme Marine Charters have found some ripper gummy and school shark, plus snapper, nannygai, morwong and even a cheeky mako.

There have been a few boaties fishing the 100m zone for flathead in the past week while the weather has allowed.

While the flatties have not been coming in thick and fast, there have been some good ones caught, along with some nice sharks, snapper and even a few silver dory.

The surf fishing has been a bit hit and miss the last few weeks, maybe due to the beaches being much busier than usual, or maybe something else, but there has still been fish caught.

The Coorong has been fairly consistent through the Christmas and New Year period, with most camps managing to take home a feed of shark.

The gummies have been mixed sizes, with some crews finding a lot of smaller shark to 5kg and others not as many, but they have been 10kg or bigger, so it is a bit of a lucky dip.

The mullet news has been a bit slow, but there have been some soapies and just legal fish mixed in with the sharks and they seem to be pretty spread out.

From what I have heard from up that way, the Tea Tree is pretty full and not worth the risk to cross, so most are getting on at the 28 or 32 mark and heading up from there.

There have been plenty of local surf fishing going on this week and it sounds like most anglers are finding some fish.

Snapper are still the most consistent catch off the beach down here, but we are also seeing some nice sharks and a few elephant fish.

The hot spots have been Piccininni, Nene Valley and Carpenter Rocks, but definitely not limited to those areas.

Whiting numbers have been excellent and we have seen plenty from right across the South East.

Boaties and land based anglers have been getting stuck into them and some cracking 50cm models have been reported.

For the boaties, Danger Point, Nene Valley and the Port MacDonnell breakwater have been good.

For the land-based guys, Cape Douglas, Blackfellows Caves and Carpenter Rocks have all produced some nice fish.

Further up the coast we have seen some nice fish from Beachport and Southend, with both the jetties and the boats on the bays good.

The garfishing through the Christmas break has been good for most.

Cape Douglas, Hutt Bay and Pelican Point have all been productive for the waders, while boaties have had success at Livingstons Bay.

A few have been landed in the Port MacDonnell breakwater, along with Racecourse

Bay in the evenings by the dabbers.

There have been plenty of tommy ruff around in the same sort of areas as the gar in the recent weeks and plenty of fishos have grabbed a few for either the smoker or bait down the track.

The Glenelg River has fished quite well this week for bream and estuary perch.

They are spreading back out through the river now, so most of those up-river landings are starting to produce some nice fish.

Whitebait and cut crab have been the best baits for the bream, while the perch fishos have been doing the best on soft plastics or diving minnows.

There are still very few reports from the mullet fishos, except for a handful of undersize fish caught when targeting bream.

There have been plenty of anglers walking the sand flats of the estuary this week, flicking soft plastics for bream and finding some good numbers from the carpark all the way down to the mouth.

2.5inch grubs seem to be the best and most productive lure down there.

The forecast looks good again on the weekend.

The sea settles, the wind backs off and the fishing should keep getting better and better.

Until next week, safe fishing.

Chambers and Scanlon claim victory at Millicent

Last week in ideal summer conditions, 28 players took part in social bowls at the Millicent Bowls club.

Before play began, Liz Dempster and Bill Hughes were welcomed to the club after they travelled from the Happy Valley Bowls Club. It was also announced that the Mitre 10 Landmark Day, which was due to be played on January 23 and the Somerset Fours Open had both been cancelled.

With the A green rested, players used the B and C greens.

Once action began, Rob Chambers and Peter Scanlon led the way and took home the prize pool of $28 as they claimed victory with a score of 34+25. Malcolm Wright and Kym Stewart were runners-up with a score of 34+1 and claimed the $5 bar voucher.

Other winning teams for the day: Steve Skeer and John Buhlmann 32+14, David Reichelt and Aaron Emonson 32+8, Derrick Lindh and Derek Bowering 31+4, David Botting and Neil Whelan 31+4 and John Madden and Iain Campbell 30+8.

On January 7, the Men's Championship

Singles will be held. This will then be followed by the Women's Championship Singles on January 11.

On January 18, the Women's and Men's Handicap pairs will be contested. The Mac Landrover KCA Open Fours will be held on January 25, while the annual Heb Henderson Men's Fours will be held on January 26.

Winners Peter Scanlon and Rob Chambers.

Runners-up Malcolm Wright and Kym Stewart.

Pies prevail on torrid day

By Trevor Jackson

The year 2022 had all-but returned to normal after the Covid-19 pandemic and the Mid South Eastern Football League enjoyed a full season of competition.

Throughout the season it appeared to be a two-horse race and the powerhouse clubs of Kalangadoo and Hatherleigh would ultimately face off in the season decider.

For the Kalangadoo Football Club, supporters, members and players, the reward for hard work came, with a well-deserved premiership, which in the end appeared to come easy.

After losing the 2021 grand final, which Kalangadoo supporters would have expected to bring home after such a dominant season, the 2022 flag was certainly one the Magpies were not about to let slip.

In the end the Magpies enjoyed a grand final victory over the Eagles 11.16 (82) to 3.3 (21), in what was possibly one of the worst days weather-wise for football on record.

Throughout the year the Magpies had taken all before them, except for Hatherleigh, with the Eagles up to the challenge and looking every bit a contender.

The Magpies went down to the Eagles in Round 9 by some 38 points, then turned the tables in Round 18 with a 15-point win.

The two sides were then set to face off in the second semi-final, which Hatherleigh claimed easily on a well-prepared Mount Burr oval and looked every bit up for the challenge of a premiership.

It was almost deja vu for the Magpies, as in 2021 Kalangadoo lost its first game of the year in the finals, before stumbling at the last hurdle.

The result suggested the Magpies were under pressure, but they took care of business against reigning premiers Port MacDonnell in the preliminary final, before going all the way the following week on an extremely muddy Kalangadoo oval.

The ground had been used the week before in the preliminary final and on grand final day the heavens opened to provide an experience those attending would likely not forget in a hurry.

Torrential rain, hail and even some lightning smashed the already-waterlogged venue and by the time the A Grade players ran out, the ground was in poor condition.

Spectators were constantly on the move from the boundary to any cover they could find throughout the day, depending on what the weather delivered at the time.

However, just moving around the venue was a challenge in itself, with plenty of mud underfoot providing a treacherous walk for those keen to soak up the atmosphere.

The conditions did not deter the supporters too much, with a big crowd in attendance, with umbrellas and rain coats the fashion of the day.

Back on the ground and Kalangadoo played the conditions the best, with a real intent to control the game at ground level.

Coach Kevin Stark had drawn up his plan and the players seemed to stick to it, with the final result a resounding 61-point victory in a tough slog of a grand final.

Despite the conditions, which made delivery into the attacking zones extremely tough, Magpies spearhead Michael Krieger still managed to kick six major scores to cap off another impressive season for the young forward.

Murphies cream of the crop

By Trevor Jackson

In Mid South East netball, the year 2022 would be remembered for one of the toughest days for a grand final in the history of the competition.

While the men were wallowing in the mud on the Kalangadoo oval, the women faced plenty of challenges themselves on the hard surface of the netball courts.

Glencoe faced not only the elements, but a determined Kalangadoo outfit in its 10th consecutive grand final.

The Murphies ran out convincing victors in the end, but the day was anything but a walk in the park.

Looking back at the season, the Murphies were on the money from the opening round, with a solid 57-30 win over an undermanned Magpies outfit.

That set the scene for the year, with the next clash between the two sides in Round 10, where the Magpies closed the margin but still went down by 10 goals.

From there it was a semi-final clash and yet again the Murphies claimed the win - and once again by 10 goals.

Despite those minor-round results, the Magpies finished top of the ladder with just two losses, while the Murphies were just below in second place, as they dropped three games for the season.

Robe, Tantanoola and Mount Burr were all worthy contenders, but not able to reach that final day in September.

By grand final day Glencoe and Kalangadoo were ready to provide a real spectacle, despite the inclement weather expected.

Mother Nature certainly delivered and conditions were appalling to say the least.

Heavy rain, wind, hail and a touch of lightning during the day provided a glimpse of what the A Grade sides could expect and they certainly received most of that.

As the game began it appeared to be the Kalangadoo of recent seasons, as the Magpies were hard out of the gates to take a two-goal advantage to the first break.

Glencoe fought back in the second to keep the margin the same at half time but then began to run free in the third term.

It was typical of a premiership quarter, where the Murphies outscored the Magpies to the tune of six goals to take the lead and set up the final stanza.

They poured on even more pressure as the game wound down, with 14 goals to five for the term and a 40-27 premiership victory.

It was the first A Grade premiership for Glencoe since 1987 and well-deserving of a celebration, especially after dethroning the mighty Magpies, who had been so dominant for so long.

When the final whistle blew the Glencoe faithful joined the players on court, with some emotional scenes to follow.

Magpie joins the Saints

By Lachlan Onions

In exciting news for the Nangwarry Football Club, it was announced this week former Collingwood player, Dane Swan will play for the Saints in a one-off game against Mount Burr in Round 1 of the 2023 Mid South Eastern Football League season.

Nangwarry Football Club president Shane Ploenges, said he was excited to see Swan play for the club and there were a lot of positive vibes around the club after the announcement.

“We had a good think about it (signing Swan), and we thought it was worth giving it a shot,” he said.

“We were just waiting for a draw to come out and to see if we could find a date which worked for both parties.

“It worked out that the first game of the year he was available, so we locked it in.”

Swan boasts an impressive AFL resume and played 258 games for Collingwood in his career.

During that time, he won the 2011 Brownlow Medal, was named in the All-Australian side on five occasions and was a pivotal player in the Magpies outfit which won the premiership in 2010.

Ploenges expects the younger players to benefit and develop from the experience of playing alongside one of the game’s greats.

“We have a lot of young players, so for someone with his experience, even though it is only one game, I am sure they are going to really benefit from the advice he will give them,” Ploenges said.

With the contest taking place in Round 1 at Nangwarry Oval, a large crowd is expected to pack out the brand new facilities which were unveiled last year.

“I think being the first game of the year, it will work out perfect,” Ploenges said.

“I think we will get a good crowd in and it can really help us kick-start the season, even though he is only there for one game.”

After the Saints broke their 104-game losing streak in 2022, Ploenges said he hopes Swan’s presence will inspire the players for the rest of the season.

“It might give us that bit of lift at the start of the year,” he said.

“Hopefully we can go on to win a few more games.”

Footy set for shake-up, with an appetite for change

By Trevor Jackson

Football was in the headlines in 2022 and depending on which side of the fence you sat, it was good and bad.

The Western Border Football League has struggled along for several years with just six teams in the competition.

It was certainly a viable competition and the standard was certainly up to par.

However, within some of the clubs it was wearing thin, having to play each other three times throughout the season.

The SANFL had looked at options to transform football in the region, which included the Mid South Eastern and Kowree Naracoorte Tatiara leagues.

As talks evolved it appeared there was little support from the other two leagues, with the WBFL left on shaky ground.

Casterton Sanford then made its move late in the year and pushed SANFL to finally make a decision.

The Cats put in for a transfer to the MSEFL and that triggered an investigation by SANFL.

However, it was not the ideal outcome for the Cats as their application was rejected for the 2023 season.

Had it been accepted, it would have left the WBFL with no choice but to disband, with an application put into SANFL to do so should they lose the Cats.

The Cats put in another application prior to the cut-off date which was also declined.

In effect all clubs in the MSEFL and WBFL would have been left to merge if the move had gone ahead, with the format to be resolved.

That would have meant all hands on deck leading into the 2023 season, with little time to iron out a viable format for all involved in both leagues.

As it panned out the status quo remained heading into 2023, but the format will be resolved for the 2024 season, with SANFL suggesting any team putting in a similar application for that year would be accepted.

The KNTFL remained resolute and was left out of the equation, with just the WBFL and MESFL involved.

What it means is a change for football in the region, whether one large league, two divisions, or whatever SANFL comes up with.

The rumours throughout the 2022 season certainly had tongues wagging and it will be the same in the upcoming year, until a final decision is set in stone.

Change has been inevitable since the WBFL was reduced to six teams and it appears it is now on the doorstep.

Casterton Sanford has pushed for change for football in the region, with season 2022 placing a spotlight on the Western Border Football League and the sport in general.

Historic run at Mac Park

By Lachlan Onions

McNamara Park was the place to be on New Year's Day as riders competed in the South Australia Historic Road Race Championships.

The weekend was highlighted by the Ken Blake and Bob Jolly Memorial races and the LC Cup feature race.

The LC Cup was contested by nine riders with Ben Shaw and Brett Metcalf the two front runners in the race.

After the completion of the first lap in the feature race, Metcalf led Shaw by just over half a second.

However, Shaw soon fought back and held a slender lead after the second lap.

Shaw extended the gap to 1.7 seconds after the third lap and never looked back as he claimed a five-second win over Blake.

The podium was then rounded out by Neale Weddall, eight seconds behind Blake.

The trio were followed by Sean Kelly in fourth, Richard Spottswood, Eoin Thus and Andy Bedford.

In the Bob Jolly Memorial feature race, a one-sided contest took place as Keith Campbell claimed victory by 20 seconds.

He also set the fastest lap of the race with a best time of 1:27.162.

However, despite Campbell claiming a comfortable win, there was a thrilling contest in the battle for second place between Les Toohey and Geoff Maddaford.

Maddaford led Toohey for the first three laps of the race but the latter fought back and beat the former to the line by three tenths of a second.

Robert Liddicoat claimed fourth place, ahead of David Wain, Mick Jones, Bruce Meredith, Dave Dickson and Ben Versteegh.

The Ken Blake Memorial race was contested by 14 riders and Lachlan Hill cruised to a three-second victory over Campbell in a contest which was rarely in doubt from the opening lap.

After leading by less than half a second after the opening lap, Hill gradually increased his lead at the end of each lap.

Andy Pitman was in a race of his own as he finished six seconds behind Campbell and six seconds ahead of the fourth-placed Anthony Stephens.

A hand-shifter feature race was also held and Ross Bolding took home the honours ahead of Murray Johnson, Brian March and Dave Philpots.

Ian Glover approaches the final turn with riders in hot pursuit.

Business end of the season

“They don’t seem to have anyone who doesn’t score and that makes it a bit harder to try to match up on and try to stop them.

“When you know who you need to close down it narrows the focus, but when they have that even spread it is hard to try to contain them all.”

In a season where teams have had players missing on a regular basis, it has been hard to gauge, but Dean simply expects a tough contest regardless.

“Warrnambool hasn’t been beaten by much ... I think most of their losses have been 10 points or under,” he said.

“They have Portland on Saturday night which will be a good gauge of where they are at.

“But if we want to play finals, we can not afford to drop this game.”

Mermaids provide tough challenge

By Trevor Jackson

The Millicent Magic women are set to continue as they left off in the Country Basketball League season this weekend.

The competition resumes after the Christmas-New Year break and the magic travels across the border to face the Warrnambool Mermaids.

Millicent is involved in a battle for top spot with Mount Gambier, while the Mermaids sit just back in third place.

The Mermaids have played two less games than the Magic and will need a win to keep their position ahead of the Horsham Hornets, so will throw everything at the contest on their home court.

However, last time the two sides met Millicent was victorious by eight points with a somewhat depleted roster.

Should the Magic take close to a full roster they should have the firepower to claim the contest, but coach Damian Venn will not be taking anything for granted.

“You can’t go into any of these games thinking you will win,” he said.

“Last time we were up by a bit for most of the game and they came back late.

“You have to have the right mindset to get the win.”

That was evident in the last clash between the two sides, but Millicent was short-staffed in that one.

“Warrnambool wasn’t easy last time,” Venn said.

“We did have a few missing then, but we were up for most of the game and they came back in that last quarter.

“We will go in quietly confident, but you never know.”

Alana Berkefeld has been nursing an ankle since the last game against Horsham, but Venn said she should be fine now.

“She did her ankle before Christmas but she should be right now,” Venn said.

“It didn’t look good in Horsham, but she is a tough cookie.

“She actually said that night if it was a grand final she would have strapped it up and played.

Jasmin Howe will be out, as she is still holidaying in the USA, but Venn is still confident of a strong roster, at least for this weekend.

“We have Emily (Winter) and Jess (Venn) coming from Adelaide,” Venn said.

“Jasmin will be a bit hit and miss for the rest of the season, and Poppy (Venn) and Edie (Easterby) are in state teams with training commitments in Albury.

“They will be right for this weekend, but it is getting a bit tricky.

“I don’t have huge numbers on the bench to draw from and you can’t relax, you have to work hard for your wins.

“Warrnambool has some big bodies but we are confident we can get the win.”

Action back at Borderline

A consistent effort over four rounds handed Jock Goodyer the Sprintcars Speedweek series victory on Sunday.

The event was created in place of the World Series Sprintcars series which has not run since the Covid-19 outbreak first began.

Such was the popularity, huge fields competed at each of the four venues, with Murray Bridge first up, followed by the Borderline Speedway and Avalon, finishing up at Warrnambool on Sunday night.

Goodyer finished second at Murray Bridge, Mount Gambier and Avalon, before a win on the final night to tie up the series.

Jamie Veal was well in the running, but had to settle for second place, some 60 points in arrears, with Lachlan McHugh rounding out the podium.

Steven Lines was the best of the Limestone

Coast performers, finishing the series in seventh place after a tough outing at Mount Gambier, ending on a high with a fourth place at Warrnambool.

After a couple of false starts to the season, the Borderline Speedway was presented in pristine condition, both on track and off.

Fans made the most of the fine weather, with a big crowd around the clay oval to see some of the best drivers in the business do battle.

They were not disappointed, with fast times and plenty of action throughout the night.

It included young American Chase Randall, who certainly took the challenge up to his more experienced rivals.

The night included Formula 500s, while Penola's Dave Gartner put on a show for the local crowd to win the night in his Late Model after several years out of the sport.

Steph Munn works her way around the Borderline Speedway in the Formula 500 class.

At business end of season

By Trevor Jackson

The Country Basketball League resumes this weekend, with the Millicent Magic travelling to Warrnambool to face the Seahawks on Sunday.

Sitting in fourth place on the ladder, the Magic have the advantage after a 10-point victory over the sixth-placed Seahawks earlier in the season.

Back in Round 6 the Magic hosted the Seahawks, with plenty to prove.

Round 5 saw a big loss at the hands of Portland, but the following Saturday Millicent reversed that result with a six-point win over the Coasters at home to kick off Round 6.

A 10-point advantage after the opening term set the Magic up for the win, in what became a tight contest.

In the end Millicent claimed the win by 10 points after a relatively even final half of basketball.

Jack Haggett and Kade Bradley top scored in that one, with 16 points each, while Josh Murphy (15) and Jackson Bowden (12) also reached double figures.

Warrnambool did not enjoy any high scorers, but showed the ability to share the ball around, making for a tough defensive effort from the Magic boys.

"I think they have improved since we played them last time," coach Darren Dean said.

"Being a home game for them, they will probably have a couple of players who have not played against us available."

As for his own roster, Dean said he is confident of good numbers.

"We should have most of the roster available," he said.

"We have lost Harry Mules for the rest of the tournament and Frazer Bradley has gone to Adelaide.

"I'm not sure if he will play."

Despite the numbers, Dean said it is an important game for the magic, with just four games remaining before playoffs.

"It is one of those games, if we want to play finals, we need to win," he said.

"We have identified this one, Terang the following week and Surfcoast.

"If we can win those three it should be enough to get us through."

The first step is this week's clash and the Seahawks sharing the scoring duties around, they will be tough to defend.

"They seem to get a lot of players who get to double figures," Dean said.
