Red Hot Summer rocks on

Thousands of music-lovers from across the region flocked to the Old Mount Gambier Gaol on Sunday to enjoy an evening of Australian music.

4500 ticketholders attended the sell-out event which travelled back to Mount Gambier after a three-year hiatus

Artists performing on the day included Ian Moss and Troy Cassar-Daley, Vika and Linda, Mark Seymour, Missy Higgins, Bernard Fanning and Paul Kelly.

Dial in next step

Millicent's community radio station 5THE fm is taking the next step forward in ratifying the position of the station by holding a special general meeting on Wednesday, March 29.

In November last year an interim committee was elected after a vote of no confidence in the previous board was passed unanimously at a special general meeting.

Existing office holders are expected to renominate for their roles with current chair of the station, David Walshaw, saying some are nervous about transitioning from an interim board.

"With that comes nearly $100,000 worth of debt, several of them are concerned that they are inheriting the assets and liabilities of that organisation" he said.

5THE fm lost its community broadcasting licence in December as the five year licence application submitted by the previous board was refused by The Australian Communications and Media Authority (ACMA)

"We had no control over that, we did everything we could in the short period of time we had but the license went.

"The CBS tried to wind us up in that period because no annual general meetings and no financial reports were done for the last three or four years and there was vagueness around the membership.

"As it turned out, there were only two members" Mr Walshaw said.

Two nominees from the Consumer and Business Services (CBS) will be in attendance at the March 29 meeting to ensure correct procedures are in place for the election of office

Mr Walshaw said that now that interim period is over, this meeting is where the positions will get elected in accordance with CBS requirements.

'We will have a election for offices and people will be able to nominate for any of those positions," he said.

"The CBS representatives will oversee the meeting because then no one can complain in the future this wasn't done correctly.

"We have sent all the public notices to them, the ballot sheet and proxy forms and they have ticked them all off and made some suggestions.

Off to a successful start

It has been a busy few weeks for students at Beachport Primary School as they settle back into school life.

At the beginning of the year there were six new reception students starting their school journeys and four older students who had moved to the school.

Zahli Schmidt, Kassandra Fisk, Charlotte Pegler, Xavier Herrewyn, Lily Besnon and Nate Frederick are the new reception students.

Transferring students are Charlie Betheras, year 1, and Sadie Freeman, year 2, as well as brothers Miles and Declan Arthur, years 3 and 5 respectively.

Streaming hits right note

Losing 5THE fm's community radio broadcast licence in December last year left the station without its dedicated 107.7 frequency but presenters have continued broadcasting through a free online streaming website.

Chair of 5THE fm David Walshaw said the station was getting good numbers listening in.

"We are well over 200 listeners on some of our streaming programs.

"Monday and Thursday's are our big days when we have a full day of programs.

"We are also getting high numbers for our country music shows" he said.

Up to 11 new presenters will get the opportunity to hone their skills through the online streaming platform while the station works toward securing a broadcast licence.

Streaming will remain a part of the station with plans to soon use the Community Broadcasting Association of Australia's dedicated app instead of the current weblink option.

Mr Walshaw was happy to announce that as well as new presenters there are new volunteers helping in the garden and with administration.

"It's what the station should be, the hub of the whole community."

With over 100 paid members the membership base continues to grow and while the station is offering streaming content only the annual fee remains at $10.

The five year licence application submitted by the previous board was refused by The Australian Communications and Media Authority (ACMA).

Plans are in place to approach ACMA for a temporary broadcast license following the upcoming special general meeting on March 29.

Continuing to stream their programs from the 5THE fm studio are presenters Ken Lane and Paul McRobert with current chair David Walshaw.

"This will get us back into the proper election cycle, the proper AGM every 12 months and we go from there.

Following the elections on the 29th, there are plans for the board to pursue avenues for cost recovery and equipment it is believed should be at the station.

"We are also looking to seek recovery of all the financial records of the station so that we can understand who we owe money to and who we don't.

"People are saying you owe us money and we are saying we might but we don't know and then some days we will just get final notices for things.

community and it stabilises us.

"We can start looking for corporate sponsors and individual sponsors, we can look to seek recovery of some of that money from the former board and management.

"We can only do that once CBS ratify that election, I'm looking forward to it.

"It will be a big night, we are hoping for over 100 people there and if we get that, that will be great."

The station has plans to set up a Gofundme page and other fundraising opportunities to help retire the existing debt.

"Until such time as we get some equity behind us the ACMA are not going to give us a license.

"They need to know that the station is financially viable and if we are not, they are not going to give us approval, because we could go belly up next week

"We already have some people keen to come on board and an individual who just wants to see the station back on air gave us $1.000 the other day."

Slow uptake for upgrades

By Caroline Hammat

Two new council programs introduced last year have received limited uptake from the Wattle Range business community

The Shop Facade Upgrade program, established to encourage business owners to invest in shopfront improvements, has yet to receive any applications.

It is open to any business with a street frontage in Wattle Range Council townships.

Lynne Bowman purchased her George Street property last year which now houses her daughter's business, Wattle Range Trading.

Ms Bowman has spent over $20,000 on upgrades both inside the store and to the front and rear facades.

The outside of the building has had maintenance repairs and a fresh coat of paint and now sports vibrant lime green window trim and verandah hoarding.

Although Ms Bowman picked up the Shop Facade Upgrade paperwork months ago she has not applied for the grant due to time constraints and finding some of the conditions challenging.

"I think this is a great thing to offer but it needs to be targeted to the building owners direct, maybe by letters or through the real estate agents" she said.

"It would be lovely if someone at council could help fill it out and let us know it's not as hard as you think.

"When I read about it, it seemed quite complicated.

"One of the things that was detrimental was the contractor had to hold $20 million in public liability, my painter doesn't hold that."

Despite her concerns Ms Bowman is still considering applying for the grant to finish off the store front which includes the two smaller stores either side of Wattle Range Trading.

"The front isn't finished, we've decided to do underneath (the verandah) lime green to make it pop and I want to do something where the verandah drops at the end of the barber

"I would like to have things painted up there so it gets a bit of an uplift and makes it look appealing for the whole town.

"Pop a couple of animals up there, a fish, bird or a dog and a cat.

"It would be good for the presentation of the town so it looks like the place is alive.'

Ms Bowman is also interested in enlivening the rear of the building which includes a car park regularly used by patrons of the Somerset

"The carpark is half full every single day and buses pull up there all the time," she said. "Definitely interested in a mural, I couldn't

"There is a pool of $20,000 for both of the funding streams and we would really like to see some uptake of this opportunity.

The second program available is the Public Art on Private Assets grant which has resulted in two successful applicants with funding still available.

Beachport Brewing Co was the first business to take advantage of the new grant with a shipping container receiving a beach themed mural which is near completion.

The ocean front business received $2,550 toward the $5,100 project and employed local artist Ivy Sutherland to undertake the work.

Roxanne Wallis were successful in their application and have received $5,000 toward a large mural planned for their outdoor gym area fac-

This project is being managed by Imagine Millicent Arts Group and the artists, Mike Makatron and Conrad Bizjak, are due to begin work on the project Saturday, April 1st.

Recipients of the Public Art on Private Assets grant are obligated to match the funding provided by WRC and fit the wind and water theme promoted by council.

Grants are available for up to $5,000 and aim to encourage business, organisations and property owners to commission public art.

Knit beanies for comps

By Charlotte Varcoe

It may not be winter quite yet but Balnaves of Coonawarra is encouraging locals to pick up their knitting needles.

The popular cellar door has opened its its inaugural Balnave awarra Beanies competition.

Held alongside the Penola Coonawarra Arts Festival, entrants will be open for those with crafting skills until May 11.

Balnaves of Coonawarra director Kirsty Balnaves said the idea for the new competition stemmed from Alice Spring's Beanie Festival.

"The competition isn't an original idea because there are plenty of other beanie competitions around Australia," Ms Balnaves said.

"We thought it would be a good idea for down here and it would be something different and exciting for the region."

She said with entries now open for the two categories - The Most Colourful and Most Original Beanie Design - there were already people inquiring.

"People are able to either send their beanies to the cellar door or drop them off with a completed entry form," Ms Balnaves said.

"We are also encouraging people to pick up knitting and give it a go to enter in the competition as well.

"If successful this year, we may have some more categories and new ideas in the future but we are also happy to take on suggestions because the festival is a great opportunity to showcase local talent."

Judging will be done by Adelaide graphic designer Karin Seja - the same designer who was hired for Balnave's logo.

Entries close on May 11 with all entrants needing a $5 entry fee and a completed entry

First prize will be $100 and six bottles of wine, second prize will be three bottles of wine and third prize will be one bottle of

Rodeo's big final round up

By Kathy Fennell

The Penola Hospital is still in awe of the fantastic support from the Penola community and the Penola Rodeo committee after a $40,000 donation from the proceeds of the recent rodeo.

A cheque was presented on Tuesday with rodeo committee members, hospital representatives and major sponsors present.

Major sponsors for the event were the Penola Bendigo bank branch and Merrett Logging.

It was five years since the rodeo had been held due to Covid and the townspeople and people from surrounding districts flocked to the grounds to see some outstanding rodeo entertainment.

More than 2500 people attended and it turned out to be a real family event with a lot of children and families there.

The riders and stock were at the highest level.

The food traders were kept very busy all night and everyone seemed to be happy with what was offered.

Committee President Scott Hetherington spoke to several people about not going ahead with any future rodeos and said that about 10 people have asked to join the committee so once things are sorted out there will be an AGM to announce a new committee and discussions will be made on the future of a rodeo in Penola

This year a small committee worked hard to put together a magnificent event.

"With such a small committee it was a big job for very few," Mr Hetherington said.

The new lighting was excellent and was well worth the cost of $2000 plus and with the help from Marcus from MED electrical who donated more than half the cost to get all the lights working.

Mr Hetherington said he spoke to one of the rodeo clowns after the event, who said the crowd was the best he had seen at a rodeo for years.

It was so much cheering and the crowd really got involved with the riders and the stock. The atmosphere was electric.

A bull rider who has travelled to the US to rodeos said it was the best small town rodeo he has ever been to.

Not only did the hospital benefit from the rodeo, so did several groups, schools and organisations including Penola High School

Youth opportunity to influence Wattle Range Council

By Caroline Hammat

Opportunities for 11 young people to become the voice of Wattle Range Youth close next Friday, March 24.

Interested people between the age of 12-24 who live in the Wattle Range Council (WRC) area are urged to submit an expression of interest form found on the council website.

The group will form WRC's Youth Advisory Council (YAC) for the following eight months and give a voice to their demographic.

Participants will receive training in public speaking, media awareness, leadership, resilience and overcoming adversity and budgeting.

Mirroring Wattle Range Council's format the group will meet regularly and set their own terms of reference.

Council's Director Development Services, Emma Clay encouraged young people to apply

"We want to hear from the youth about our region and what they would like to see in our region in regards to events and infrastructure, basically anything within council's control.' she said.

"There will be a couple of thousand dollars in the budget for them to do what they want with it.

"Whether that is run an event or install some sort of infrastructure somewhere.

"We will have them draw up a plan early on and goals of what they would like to achieve in their time.

"We will learn from them about their views, wants and needs, and hopefully they will learn a bit from us about governance and leadership."

WRC Manager Community Development Caroline Hill will oversee the project which begins in Youth Week.

"For the young people who identify to be on the YAC they are going to be invited to a round table dinner with local council members and local, state and federal government members who will come along"

"They will discuss their ideas around what they see as required in our Wattle Range community for young people.

All nominees for the positions will be invited to the first team building session, a community scavenger hunt, at the start of youth week.

The program will include a team building session at Noorla Yo-Long and mentorship from WRC Mayor Noll and senior council staff.

Lilly Gray is newly employed at WRC and said she will be nominating to join the YAC.

"I think it is good for young people to get involved in the council and in our community," she said. "It is a chance to have their say and see what the council does."

YAC members will not be paid for their role the group but will receive vouchers for their involvement.

Young people interested in the wellbeing of youth, youth events and activities, leadership and helping others in the community are encouraged to apply.

Arts Festival program out

By Charlotte Varcoe

The Penola Coonawarra Arts Festival is well underway after the official launch of the 2023 program last night.

More than 50 Friends of the Festival and Sponsors joined the committee last night for the launch of the program which holds a large number of exciting events.

Events scheduled to take place during the weekend-long festival include a performance by State Opera South Australia, circus school, creative art classes and a fashion illustration workshop.

The festival will kick off on May 18 with its opening night at Penola High School where the winners of the 2023 John Shaw Neilson Acquisitive Art Prize, Local Art Prize and Design Prize will be announced.

The winner of the Catherine Martin Literacy Award will be announced the following

Photography, wood and welding, painting and knitted beanies will also be part of the exhibition line ups over the weekend

Workshops will range from Ways with Watercolours led by renowned local artist and Art Festival life member Lois Hodge as well as cross-stitch and mixed media through to painting outdoors, fashion illustration and chocolate tempering.

In a festival first, Cafe 43 will host a House Party with the cafe being reimagined as a temporary live music venue welcoming teens with a DJ and entertainment.

Artwork by Penola High School students will be showcased at the Penola Community Library throughout the week with recycling, reusing and repurposing being a common thread for exhibitions and workshops

Families will also be invited to head Down the Lane with Petticoat Lane once again coming alive with activities for children along with food, wine and music.

Festival committee member Katie Moorehouse said other members were also excited about the range of events both new and old which were a part of this year's program.

"The momentum has built once again this year and we are looking forward to attracting visitors from the Limestone Coast and beyond," Ms Moorehouse said.

"We are particuarly excited about State Opera South Australia which will be performing for the first time in Penola with their popular excerpts from Gilbery and Sullivan which we think will be a crowd pleaser."

She said the committee was also excited for the annual Down the Lane event with wine companies and food stalls planned to

"Down the Lane will have something for everyone and is always a great way to connect on the Sunday afternoon," Ms Moorehouse said.

"We are also excited for the open microphone competition and the annual John Shaw Neilson Acquisitive Award."

She said the momentum for the event continued to build year on year with the literary brunch and Shenanigans was popular once again.

"Due to the population we do recommend people to get their tickets early because these events usually sell out," Ms Moorehouse said.

"We are encouraging everyone to come along to the event as there are lots of workshops and exhibitions on at the cellar doors, wineries and more.'

The festival will begin on May 18 until 21.

The winner of the John Shaw Neilson Acquisitive Art Prize will win $12,000 while the winner of the Limestone Coast Local Prize will receive $1000.

The 2023 theme for the Catherine Martin Literacy Award is 'Hope exists as long as..'

The Open Microphone Competition will be held at the Royal Oak Hotel on Sunday May 21 with entrants allowed to enrol on the day.

There is also the 2023 Festival Design Award with the winner receiving $1000 and their design being the main concept for the

There will be plenty of Action at Site 221 at the 2023 South East Field Days!

Action "The Big Shed People" are a thirdgeneration family business specialising in designing, manufacturing and installing heavy-duty farm sheds across South Australia, Victoria, New South Wales and Tasmania.

With over 20 years of experience in the manufacturing industry and construction industry, Action shed designs are cost-effective, functional and the perfect fit for the Australian agricultural industry.

As well as following best-practice design standards, every Action shed is built from Australian-made steel and the frame is fully hot dip galvanised after manufacture to ensure maximum durability and longevity.

This heavy-duty UB column and open web truss frame design will be on display along with custom gutters and cladding options at the South East Field Days for you to view the quality of construction firsthand.

The company's extensive farm shed range includes hay sheds, grain sheds, machinery sheds, yard covers and shearing sheds, with the added benefit of complete project management from council permit applications, right through to installation and completion.

Action's expertise and product offering also extends to in-house concrete panel manufacturing, making the company the ideal choice for farmer's building grain sheds, calf sheds and multipurpose sheds, or those wanting to retrofit existing farm sheds with panels.

In other words, Action "The Big Shed People" offer the complete package for your farm shed build.

What's more, Action's Customer Insight Program ensures that their clients are kept well-informed at every stage of their project, providing peace of mind and a hassle-free experience for all involved.

In fact, Action's mission is: to be passionate about quality farm sheds and making people happy by doing the right thing, every time and every day.

Get down to the Field Days

The South East Field Days is one of the most highly anticipated events in the state, attracting more than 500 exhibitors from all over South Australia.

With a jam-packed schedule of stalls, competitions, entertainment and food and drink, it's a fun day out for the whole family.

Held annually over two days in March at Yakka Park, a purpose built facility in Lucindale, this year's event on March 17 and 18 is one not to be missed.

Competitions including the South Australian Yard Dog Association State Championships as well as a Scrap Metal Art Competition always attract plenty.

There are entertainment options for both young and old as well as a multitude of food and locally sourced wines.

Entry for general public admission is from 8am and 5pm on both days.

Yard dogs are back

The Coprice South Australian Yard Dog Championship will be back once again at the South East Field Days for 2023.

Working dogs and their human partners will flock to Kelpie Korner, in the north western part of Yakka Park, to compete for the title of 2023 South Australian Yard Dog Champion.

Dogs and their handlers will seek to be crowned across a range of classes including Encourage, Maiden, Novice, Improver, and Open and State Championship.

Last year's State Champion Kelvale Gus and Lee Mickan will be back to defend their title from the likes of previous victors Lyndon Cooper, Rob Macklin and Lucindale's Rex Hocking.

There will also be plenty for the little ones to do with the return of the Puppy Pound, which will display some of the cutest working puppies in the region.

The first class events, Maiden, Improver and Novice, will kick off on Thursday, March 16.

Open and Novice classes are set to follow on Friday, March 16, with the State Championship to take centre stage on the Saturday.

The Encourage class will also take place on the Saturday to bring new dogs and handlers into the ring for a taste of working dog competition.

Innovative agri-tech

Located in Oamaru in the South Island of New Zealand, Te Pari is a leading, innovative livestock handling equipment manufacturer and company, exporting Agri-Tech products globally.

Established by Peter French in 1980, the business was purchased by the Blampied family in 1997, who still own and operate the company today.

The name was taken from Pete French's farm, originally located in the Beaconsfield Valley (north of Fielding in the North Island).

Te Pari means 'the cliff' or 'the bluff' in Te Reo Maori – and the farm's namesake was given, because the Kiwitea River ran through the farm with large bluffs rising from the river.

Today, Te Pari has more than 100 staff members, with sales office sites located in NZ, Australia, USA and the UK.

The company prides itself in offering world-leading integrated livestock handling solutions backed with exceptional customer service.

Think ahead for lambing

The Limestone Coast Landscape Board has warned landholders to think ahead this lambing season and protect their properties from fox attacks to improve lamb survival rates.

It is estimated that foxes cost the Australian economy up to $227 million a year, and fox predation in the region can result in up to 30 per cent of lamb loss.

Limestone Coast Landscape Board team leader for northern landscape operations Josh Rosser said landholders should work together to ensure their flocks were safe.

"There is no stand-alone method to control foxes and the most effective fox control programs are achieved through landholders coordinating their baiting efforts and utilising a variety of methods such as ground shooting, baiting and den fumigation," he said.

"This season we are encouraging coordinated neighbourhood baiting programs where baiting discounts are provided when three or more neighbouring landholders participate in a baiting operation at the same time."

To assist landholders, the LCLB is now offering canid pest ejectors (CPEs) a mechanical device with an attractant 'lure head' which ejects capsules of 1080 solution directly into a fox's mouth.

Native animals do not have the jaw capacity to release the mechanism and small animals like birds cannot move or release the

CPEs provide more flexibility for landholders in semi- urban areas as they can be places up to 150 meters away from residential dwellings

Mr Rosser said the LCLB will host a CPE demonstration at the South East Field Days on Friday 17 and Saturday 18 March at Lucindale. "There will also be an option for attendees of the Field Days to book in a time to loan LC Landscape Board CPE devices to trial whether it is beneficial for their individual situations," he said.

"Our Landscape Officers are located across the Limestone Coast and support landholders in their fox control efforts through coordinating neighbourhood programs, supplying bait, equipment hire and much more."

Look Up: Bird Life South East SA convener Bob Green kept his eyes on the trees to spot the birds that were singing

Birders of a feather watch

By Aidan Curtis

Members of Bird Life South East SA caught up recently for a morning of social birding at Millicent's Lake McIntyre.

Sunday's early fog did little to deter the group, with over a dozen bird watchers whipping out the binoculars to see what species were about.

Bird Life SE SA convener Bob Green said the group spotted over 50 different species, which was well above the average number they normally found in the area.

'They were saying the average number of species here is around 44, so 55 species is exceptional," Mr Green said.

"If you get 50-plus species at any outing in a morning, it's a good day - and there were some pretty good birds in there, too.'

Mr Green said one of the highlights of the day was being able to spot birds that were usually pretty secretive, like a pair of Australian spotted crakes and a couple of snipes.

"The snipe, I think this year in the monitoring they were saying they've only seen the one here, so to see two was really good," he "And spotted crakes, they're always around, but they're usually pretty secretive and when you get an opportunity where they come out in the open a bit, it's pretty special.

"They're a cool bird to watch and most people don't get a chance to view them very much - this wetland habitat is pretty thick and unless you get those edges where they come out and feed on the mud, you don't normally

Aside from the excitement of spotting different species, Mr Green said it was just good to be out and about with a friendly group with shared interests.

"I just enjoy the social atmosphere and there are so many people with varied interests learning different things off different people on any given day," he said.

Having a Squiz: Members of Bird Life South East SA gathered to spot a secretive Australian spotted crake.

"As we're a fairly social group and don't mind a bit of a chat along the way, it's good.

"It's a great opportunity to catch up and do what we all enjoy doing, which is being out in the bush and seeing what's around."

Bird Life Australia board member and avid bird watcher Hugh Possingham came down from Brisbane for a few weeks of bird watching in the South East and joined the group on the day.

He said it was great to see the local chapter of Bird Life going so strong.

"It's good to meet other people and bird watchers in the region, the Bird Life club here is pretty active and they've been a strong club for a long period of time," he said.

"I live in Brisbane, I come down here three or four times a year for a couple of weeks and do a lot of bird watching on my own, often walking six, seven, 10 hours counting stuff.

"If I didn't get out bird watching at least once a week, I'd go stark raving crazy - it's an important part of what makes me happy."

D Women were treated to a fashion show with clothes from Salt and Co.

IWD's Wellness breakfast

By Sophie Conlon

Penola women came together to embrace and celebrate themselves last week in recognition of International Women's Day.

Women were treated to a fashion show with clothes from Salt and Co.

The Penola Wellness Group organised a breakfast consisting of all local produce on Wednesday, March 8, and volunteer Jo Edwards said there was a great turnout.

"It was really good," she said.

Ms Edwards said about 40 women enjoyed the morning at Parker Coonawarra Estate, where they had the opportunity to relax and learn some tips about self care.

"International Women's Day was about embracing equity, but we decided it was going to be about embracing you," she said.

"We've done a lot of fundraisers and awareness things before, but we just wanted to look after locals and support some local businesses too.

"It was just about embracing you as a person and looking after you."

She said attendees were treated to talks delivered by local women business owners, Leticia Gosse from EJ Studios, Melisa Porter from You Beautie, Mary Harvey from Nutrition with Mary and Robyn Wittwer from Salt and Co.

Ms Edwards said they each spoke about their business and gave the women tips and tricks they had picked up through working in relaxation, make up, nutrition, and fashion.

"They all loved it, most people said what a wonderful way to start the day," she said.

Vignerons heralding in the vintage season

By Sophie Conlon

Wine industry stakeholders across the region will come together to herald in the new vintage and farewell the previous season, in an event that has been put on hold for several years.

Coonawarra Vignerons executive officer Hugh Koch said the 2023 Vintage Launch Ceremony brought all levels of the wine community together and celebrated the entire district.

"Vintage in Coonawarra is more than when a wine's grapes are harvested," he said.

"It heralds the anniversary of a new year in Coonawarra, where we reflect and say goodbye to the previous season."

He said vintage was the economic driver that sustained the local economy.

"As a community it is the commencement of the economic driver that sustains our economy, creates our jobs, gives us our services, drives our visitation, and continues to put us on the map as one of the most preeminent wine regions of the world," he said.

Coonawarra Vignerons President Dan Redman welcomed the return of the event, which would feature a traditional grape stomp and the christening of the new vintage with a bottle smash -similar to that of a ship setting sail on her maiden yoyage.

"A vintage brings the whole community together, working in unison to ensure that grapes are picked for optimum quality and that winemaking teams can produce wines of a world class standing," he said.

Eight at the Gate Wines co-owner Jane Richards said this vintage was looking to be a good one for those with white fruit.

Though, with red varietals, Ms Richards said it would be tough this year.

"We've got great fruit on the vine, it's shaping up to be a really good season from a taste perspective, but we're definitely going to find it tough to sell our shiraz and cabernet fruit this year," she said.

To combat this, she said they would slightly increase the amount they bottle into Eight at the Gate, and they would also introduce a rose and a pinot gris.

Industry stakeholders will gather to celebrate the beginning of vintage in Coonawarra at the Coonawarra Vignerons 2023 Vintage Launch Ceremony.

Picture: SUPPLIED

"We've been fairly traditional with our label, just making premium wines, but this year we'll probably do a bit more economical wine." she said.

Community members are invited to attend the 2023 Vintage Launch Ceremony on Thursday, March 16, at 10am at the Coonawarra Railway Siding, Giles Road. The ceremony will be followed by a morning tea and a drop of sparkling wine at the Coonawarra Soldiers Memorial Hall. Registration is required, events.humanitix.com/2023-coonawarra-vintage-launch

Going batty

The Naracoorte Caves National Park are home to the critically endangered Southern Bent-Wing Bat and later this month the community will have the opportunity to see into their world.

The caves were named as the National Parks and Wildlife Service's park of the month, and to celebrate the Limestone Coast Landscape Board has organised a special evening where attendees can chat bats.

Hosted at the Bat Observation Centre, bat expert Nicola Bail - who has studied the local bat for four years - will discuss all things bat related on the night.

"The Southern Bent-wing bat is a fascinating creature," she said.

"Being able to support this event and share my knowledge with the public is very exciting."

At this time of year the baby bats are starting to fly and transition from their mothers milk to months, and attendees will have the opportunity to see this in its natural environment.

Motoring

Forester has deep roots

By Derek Ogden, Marque Motoring

The Subaru Forester came to life in 1997 as a bare-bones, no-nonsense cross-over vehicle ready to take on the likes of the Toyota RAV4 and Suzuki Grand Vitara.

Using the Impreza platform, but built in the style of a station wagon, with a taller stance, higher hip-point seating and all-wheel drive, over the years it has gained in size, sophistication and popularity, becoming a top seller.

Indeed, Subaru recently celebrated 300,000 Forester sales in Australia.

A late addition to the small SUV segment a quarter of a century ago, the Forester, along the way, has boasted some of the Japanese automobile manufacturer's most advanced driving aids and safety systems.

It still does.

For example, in Australia, EyeSight Driver Assist, which scans the road ahead for danger, first introduced on the range-topping Liberty and Outback models in 2012, was ahead of its time.

By 2021, 92 per cent of Subaru vehicles sold in Australia were equipped with it.

The subject of some minor design upgrades in 2022, the MY23 range opens at $37,890, plus on-road costs for the 2.5i petrol and peaks with the Hybrid S at $49,340.

Price increases range from $1900 to $2150, which Subaru Australia claims are due to production and logistic costs.

The MY23 model stays much the same except for minor specification changes, with the high-spec Forester 2.5i Sport, 2.5i-S (the test vehicle) and Hybrid S all getting an auto-dimming rear-view mirror as standard. The outgoing Dark Blue Pearl exterior paint option has been replaced by Sapphire Blue Pearl.

All Forester variants now include Lane Centring Function, Lane Departure Prevention and Autonomous Emergency Steering, designed to avoid frontal collisions, lane drifting and low speed impacts.

It can 'lock on' to vehicles directly in front and, when used together with Adaptive Cruise Control, can slow, stop and accelerate to maintain a safe driving distance.

It also recognises pedestrians, motorcycles and cyclists within its field of vision.

Depending on conditions, the Pre-Collision Braking System can help to minimise impact and damage.

If the speed is less than 30 km/h, the car can be brought to a complete stop before impact.

Then there's the Driver Monitoring System that uses a camera to monitor the driver for signs of fatigue or distraction and warns them if it detects that the driver is not focused or keeping eyes on the road ahead.

It also features advanced temperature adjustment, allowing the driver to have complete control of the temperature through simple hand gestures.

The 2023 Subaru Forester has a five-year, unlimited kilometre warranty with three or five-year servicing schemes, costing $1277.90 and $2422.38, respectively.

The more things change, the more they stay the same.

Unlike many of its younger rivals, the latest Forester has eschewed modern design trends with a somewhat staid station wagon-like appearance.

With misty-eyed memories and massive sales, that is how the fans, and maker, like it.

The Forester is a spacious five-seater with the 2.5i-S perches clad in quality leather upholstery.

Seating height and a good expanse of glass all round make for good visibility.

Twin cup holders are centred between driver and front seat passenger.

A large comfortable armrest is home to a storage area with USB ports.

Deep Roots: The latest Forester SUV has not wandered far from the well-worn wagon trail.

Room For Activity: The new Forester remains spacious thanks to its traditional wagon model.

Door pockets are generous.

Rear passengers are treated to spacious surroundings thanks to the Forester's traditional station wagon styling.

Also on hand are two USB ports and air vents.

Boot space also takes advantage of the vehicle's square old-world character.

There is 498 litres with all seats up and 1704 litres with rear two seat backs folded.

There is room under the floor for a full-size

There is room under the floor for a full-size spare wheel – an off-road bonus.

The MY23 model has maintained a full house of information displaying fixtures and fittings of former Foresters.

With three sets of screens, it does veer on the side of overcapitalisation.

Main centre of infotainment focuses on a centre-dash mounted 8-inch screen with wired Apple CarPlay and Android Auto connectivity, integrated satellite navigation, and AM/FM/DAB+ radio, the last from an eightspeaker harman/kardon sound system.

The MY23 non-hybrid models are powered by the same naturally aspirated 2.5-litre horizontally opposed four-cylinder engine putting out 136 kW peak power and 239 Nm of torque.

Mated with a continuously variable automatic transmission, power is distributed permanently through all four wheels.

ANCAP awarded the Subaru Forester a fivestar safety score in 2019, with the latest list of standard safety equipment on all models including autonomous emergency braking and steering, blind-spot monitoring, rear crosstraffic alert, lane-departure warning, lanekeep assist, lane centring and adaptive cruise control.

As mentioned above, all but the base 2.5i come standard with a facial recognition camera to detect driver drowsiness or distraction, as well as rear autonomous emergency braking.

Fire up the engine and the cabin is filled with the signature sound of the 2.5 Subaru horizontally opposed unit – some might find it intrusive – Boxer fans not so.

There's no mistaking the note through the whole rev range, with responsive action to the accelerator pedal.

All Foresters run on 91RON regular unleaded fuel, with non-hybrid combined consumption of 7.4 litres per 100 kilometres.

The test car recorded 11.9 litres per 100 kilometres in the daily city commute and 6.1 litres per 100 kilometres when cut free on the open road.

All-wheel drive has the Forester steady and reliable on bitumen business, while ventilated discs all round maintain a high level of efficiency when called on in spirited driving.

Off road going can be tamed by X-Mode, a system that has two modes – Snow / Dirt and Deep Snow / Mud – each yielding improved grip and traction in low-speed and slippery conditions, and gear selection to suit the terrain

The 220 mm of ground clearance puts the Forester up with more hardened 4x4s, tackling low-range off-roading without worries for driver or passengers.

Braked towing is rated at 1800 kg.

Subaru Australia claims 97 per cent of Foresters sold in the past 10 years are still on the road today, so that says a lot about the pedigree of the vehicle.

The addition of hybrid technology, plus the promise of turbo power, are bound to keep Forester to the forefront of responsible driving

ESCAPE TO THE COUNTRY 7TWO, Friday, 8.30pm

When it comes to the most arresting scenery in Britain, the Cotswolds has it in spades. Sometimes referred to as the English Riviera, the area's quaint villages, lush green hills and abundance of charm makes it a wildly popular choice. Tonight, long-time host Alistair Appleton (pictured) meets a pair of entrepreneurs who fortunately have a healthy budget to make their move to the expensive idyll. With a cool £900,000 (around $A1.6 million) to splash, the husband-and-wife duo are keen for a property that could become a boutique country holiday rental.

KNOWING ABC TV, Tuesday, 9pm

This true story examining the highs and lows of Australian conductor Simone Young's controversial career gives the acclaimed film Tár, starring Cate Blanchett (pictured, right, with Young), a run for its money. Blanchett's engrossing performance as the titular conductor garnered praise, but viewers have been irked to discover her character is fictitious. The Oscar-winner is the executive producer of this compelling and true - expose of the supremely talented Young's plight in the male-dominated classical music world.

some of the adjectives

you could bandy about to describe the six-year-long process of restoring London's iconic clock tower, Big Ben. (Also: stupendously over-budget). In a modern world that craves instant gratification, this doco is a lesson in patience and a dive into the craft and ancient skills needed to bring the iconic Gothic Revival-style landmark back to its former glory. Presented by Dr Anna Keay, the director of the Landmark Trust.

Rockin' Red Hot Summer

Thousands of music-lovers from across the region flocked to the Old Mount Gambier Gaol on Sunday to enjoy an evening of Australian 4500 ticketholders attended the sell-out event which travelled back to Mount Gambier after a three-year hiatus.

Artists performing on the day included Ian Moss and Troy Cassar-Daley, Vika and Linda, Mark Seymour, Missy Higgins, Bernard Fanning and Paul Kelly.

Dancing up a storm are Sandi Miller and Cheryl

Relaxing in the VIP tent are Kerrin Davies, Donna Jennings and Julie Williams.

Travelling to Mount Gambier for the day are Megan and Karen Lock from Kalangadoo and Kahli Lock from Mundulla.

Childhood residents of Millicent, the Van Nispen sisters, Caroline Jenner and Jacquie Halliday.

Trish Cory, Ali Pink and Tracy Hardy soak up the atmosphere on the day.

Yalluminga was the winning team

School's all in for sport

On Thursday 2 March 2023, Penola High School held their annual Interhouse Athletics

The day had high levels of participation with a majority of students competing across the day.

A revolutionary way to hold the 100m sprint took place this year, with all students in the school being time trialled before the carnival, and being placed into divisions. This allowed for 10 evenly matched races, and some exciting finishes across the day.

Year 10 student, Archer Virtanen's blistering 12.53 finish in the Boys A division, and Skye Virtanen, a Year 8 student, taking home the win in the Girls A division.

It was a day that had records smashed.

Kiara Epiha (javelin), Archer Virtanen (javelin) and Mia Gartner (discus), etched their names in the history books with remarkable throws. It was not just in the field, however, as truly exceptional runs took place in the relays.

Records were broken by Yalluminga in the 14 Year and 16 Year Girls relays, Moyanga in the 16 Year Boys relay and Torilla in the 20 Year Girls relay.

The second year of the Mark Heyn Cup (students v staff 800m relay), saw the students retain the shield.

The staff believed that they had one hand on the cup, however, as soon as the starter's pistol went off, another ending was being written.

The students built a considerable lead during the 800m event and showed admirable sportsmanship at the end congratulating staff on their participation.

Although all houses battled valiantly throughout the day, it was the captains Lochy Neale, Chloe Cutchie, along with co-captains, Henry Williams and Ozzy Morton who held up the winning shield at the end - Yalluminga crowned victorious.

Great weather, great fish

By Jamie Coates

The long weekend bought with it some fabulous weather and those who managed to hit the water found some great fish.

Finally the big tuna have arrived.

Over the long weekend between Port Mac-Donnell, Cape Bridgewater and Portland we have heard of at least a dozen or more big tuna

They have been caught from 40 through to 80 metres, eating a variety of offerings from the trusty Bonze Exocet, Samaki Pacemaker deep diving minnows, along with a selection of the other lures.

The fish have been of varying sizes so far, some in that 70-80kg range, while some of the bigger models have been up over that 130kg mark and that is a serious lump of a fish.

It is not all barrels though, with a run of bigger-than-average school fish this week.

A few boaties found tuna to 35 kilos, which is becoming more and more common for our earlier run of fish.

Skirts and divers are again the go-to for those fish, so get out there and have a go.

Bottom fishing has been red-hot again over the weekend.

I have spoken to a few crews who fished hard over the weekend and they have all said the same thing - the shark fishing off Port MacDonnell is unreal and probably the best they have seen.

It is not uncommon for fishos to land multiple sharks in a session out there and if you mix that with all the other tasty reef fish also on offer, you really are in for a cracking day.

The surf fishos over the weekend made the most of the great weather and hit the beaches

The South East Amateur Surf Fishing Club held its annual March long weekend Coorong fishing comp over the weekend and there were some great fish caught.

The overall winner was Sawmill with a nice 6.28kg mulloway, ahead of Graeme Ploenges with a 5.86kg gummy shark and third went to Brent Deland with a 4.66kg bronzie.

I have seen a few of the pics and it looks like the boys all had a good weekend away and the beers were nice and cold.

Locally things have been pretty good on the Hayden Sneath has the snapper off the beach worked out, managing to catch and release some rippers over 60cm at the weekend, taking one of the bigger fish home for a

There have also been a few nice gummy shark from the Jones Bay area over the last week and a couple from Piccininni too, so they are nice and spread out at the moment.

There have been more whiting reports again this week and they seem to be just as big and just as spread out as ever.

There were plenty of anglers trying their luck in the South East Amateur Surf Fishing Club's Coorong fishing competition on the weekend.

The ever-reliable Port MacDonnell Breakwater has been another hot spot for fishos this week.

We have seen some good catches from the land based anglers and the boaties alike, so if you do not have a boat, do not let that put you off, you are still right in with a chance.

The size has been all over the place, some guys have caught whiting so small they didn't even realise they came that little, through to a couple of absolute horses at near 50cm, which are a beast in anyone's books.

The other land based areas worth trying are still Nene Valley, Cape Douglas and Blackfellows Caves, but definitely not limited to those

If you can find an area with some nice sand holes within casting distance, throw a bait in and you could be surprised.

Garfishing has been great again this week, with plenty of anglers making the most of the good weather.

The fish have continued to impress, in both size and numbers.

Our usual haunts such as Cape Douglas, Livingstons Bay and Pelican Point have been productive for boaties and waders, but I have also heard of some good fish from the Petrified Forrest at Port MacDonnell and Racecourse Bay too.

Much like the whiting, if the conditions are right and you stumble upon an area that you think they could be, throw a bait out, give it a crack and you might just find your new favourite spot.

There were a few crews who headed inland over the weekend to Rocklands for a fish and a crack at a few murray cod or yellowbelly and from what I have heard, there were a few of each caught.

Trolling lures accounted for a fair whack of them, while flicking spinners in and around the snags has also been productive.

The soft plastic guys have been doing pretty well again while using their livescope, finding the schools of bait with fish holding them up, working the plastic to the fish and watching the whole thing unfold live on the screen in front of you.

Some will say it is cheating, but I think it is unreal and can not wait to try it myself.

The Glenelg River was abuzz with fishos over the weekend.

I managed to get down there a bit myself over the weekend and it was good to see so many people out enjoying the beautiful river.

First up we saw the Bream Master SA tournament held in Nelson over the Saturday and Sunday which attracted some of the best bream fishos in southern Australia.

Entrants were only allowed to fish from their kayaks and the goal was to weigh in their three heaviest fish from each day for a combined weight before releasing them all.

The fishing was pretty tough for most, but between the 50+ anglers, over 100 legal bream were caught, weighed and released.

The Glenelg River Bream Master for 2023 is Dale Baxter, with a two-day total of 4.14kg.

Our highest placed local was Bodhi Pannenburg, who come home in sixth position for the weekend - not bad for his first ever kayak fishing competition.

Upriver over the weekend saw the annual Brad Manser Memorial Fishing Competition held at Wilsons Hall.

There were plenty of families on the river for the weekend making the most of the great weather. Although the fishing was a bit tough for most, there were still some nice bream, mulloway and mullet caught.

The champion angler for the weekend was local gun Josh Heaver who picked up a nice 80cm mulloway to lock in first place.

Josh boated that fish on Friday night, so the bar was set early and no one could catch him.

The junior section was taken out by my young fellow Finn Coates with a bag of bream and mullet, all caught from Sapling Creek.

Ash Cooper fished Sunday night around the same area and boated some nice mulloway, the best around 80cm and some nice bream.

The forecast for this weekend looks very fishable.

I have no doubt Portland and Port Mac-Donnell boat ramps will be teaming with people, so just remember to be patient – we are all going fishing.

Until next week, safe fishing.

Course change adds challenge but McKenny rises to it

Despite a few competitors unavailable due to the long weekend holiday, the seventh race of the Kidman Law Summer Series was held by the Mount Gambier Cycling Club on Sunday in favourable conditions.

The 30km race along Caves Road added a change from the usual route, with the start line 10km closer to the border and the turnaround at the entry to Donovans township.

The change provided significantly more elevation changes through the middle 10km, with the potential to play havoc with the

There were not enough junior riders available for a race, but 18 riders greeted the commissaire and signed on for the senior race.

The bad luck story of the day went to Dean Zeven, who had a gearing issue which meant he could not even make the start line.

First rider away, trying to solo ahead of everyone else, was Jason Buckland.

He was given a seven-minute advantage over a group containing Ethan McKenny, John Cranwell, Michael Dethmore and Jen

Buckland, followed a further five minutes later by Spek Peake, Mark Wight and Mike

After another six minutes the next group consisting of Elmer Buckland, Scott Waters, Colin Weatherill and Gerard Coote began their chase, followed three minutes later by Matthew Opperman, Patrick Langsmith, Craig Andrae and Jami Buckley.

A minute later Nick Kidman began his chase of all other riders.

The first 10km of the race were relatively uneventful, but by the time of the turnaround marker, some of the riders lost contact with their group as the dips and hills came into play.

Cranwell, Deathmore and McKenny had caught and passed Jason Buckland, while Kidman had also caught and passed Langsmith, Buckley, Andrae and Opperman on his quest to claim the win.

Following the turnaround, another 5km of dips and climbs separated the riders further, with the stronger, lighter riders coming to the fore.

As the riders crested the final hill, the finish line came into view, there were still 2.5km to ride before the chequered flag could be McKenny showed he is a young rider with a future by beating Cranwell to the line, followed by Waters, then Nick Kidman with the fastest time.

The next race in the Summer Series will be a 34km, four-lap handicap around the Kongorong Township, starting from the Primary School on March 19.

Incoming: Henry Sims takes on a sharp turn.

Brake: Charlie Shephard approaches a corner.

Twilight victory for Sims

A twilight Motorkhana at the Glenburnie Saleyards complex on Saturday started the Motorkhana series for 2023 for the South Eastern Automobile Club.

Jason Sims started strongly and set the pace on the in both attempts on the first course, while Geoff Wilson and Josh Munn also impressed early on.

Newcomer Simon Poynter found the limits in his Falcon on his first ever Motorkhana and put in a solid run to claim fourth on his first run and sixth on the second.

Glen Shephard was another first time driver and found his feet early as he was fifth-fastest on the first run and third on the second.

Danny Farrell put his Commodore through the paces in his debut to take sixth and fourth

Jason Sims was the pace-setter for the second layout and was fastest on both runs.

Munn was runner-up on the first run, while Geoff Wilson was second on the next run after he claimed third place on the first attempt.

On the second run, Farrell made it to third, ahead of Munn, Poynter, Harrison Bliss, Glen Shephard, Henry Sims and Charlie Shephard

Jason Sims continued his impressive form into the third layout and was three seconds clear of his competitors.

Munn was runner-up again, while Glen Shephard, Farrell and Henry Sims rounded out the top five on the first attempt.

The second attempt saw Farrell claim second spot behind perennial winner Jason Sims, with Geoff Wilson rounding out the podium.

On the fourth track layout, there was a new competitor who took the ascendancy as Geoff Wilson was fastest on both runs.

Munn was runner-up on the first run, seven seconds behind Wilson.

Poynter rounded out the podium a further seven seconds back ahead of Farrell, Jason Sims, Glen Shephard, Harrison Bliss, Henry Sims and Charlie Shephard.

Jason Sims returned to form on the second run bt had to settle for the runner-up spot to Munn also improved but was only fast enough to take home third place with Poynter a close third.

Glen Shephard put in an impressive run to take home fifth spot ahead of Farrell, Bliss, Henry Sims and Charlie Shephard in ninth.

Iason Sims returned to the top of the charts on the arrow head course with fastest times in

He was followed by Glen Shephard who was runner-up on the first run and Wilson, who claimed third place.

Wilson went one better on the second run of the layout and was runner-up, ahead of Glen Shephard and Poynter.

Munn took home fifth place alongside Farrell, while Henry Sims was seventh fastest, ahead of Charlie Shephard and Bliss.

Jason Sims' dominance continued into the final course before the tea break as he was quickest on both attempts, with Glen Shephard runner-up and Henry Sims third on both occasions.

Flair: Josh Munn shows his off his craftiness.

After the tea break and some much-needed food for the drives, a square slalom course was set up for the next challenge.

Jason Sims and Munn were the two fastest on both runs with the former the fastest on both occasions.

Diamon slalom was the next challenge and Glen Shephard set the fastest time on the first run, ahead of Poynter, Wilson, Munn, Bliss, Henry Sims, Jason Sims, Farrell and Charlie Shephard.

On the his resurgence back to the top of the times ahead of Glen Shephard.

Farrell rounded out the podium, with Poynter in fourth and Wilson in fifth.

The next layout saw Iason Sims fastest. ahead of Wilson and Farrell on both runs. This was then followed by the waltz cover course which saw Jason Sims claim the fastest time on the first attempt by seven seconds. Wilson was runner-up, ahead of Glen Shephard, Poynter and Henry Sims. Drivers then took on a quick test layout where Jason Sims set the pace from Wilson and Glen Shephard on both runs before drivers readied for the final course of the event.

The last circuit saw Jason Sims claim the fastest time on both occasions.

Wilson put up a solid fight on the first attempt to claim second place, ahead of Farrell, Rapid: Geoff Wilson was in fine form in the recent SEAC event.

Glen Shephard, Bliss, Henry Sims, Munn, Poynter and Charlie Shephard.

On the second attempt and final run for the evening, Glen Shephard was the closest to Jason Sims and claimed second place.

The next event will be at SEAC Park on March

Results:

1. Jason Sims - 733.63 seconds,

- 2. Geoff Wilson 804.18,

Sharam's getting back in the game

By David Lewis

It had been more than 25 years since Stuey Sharam boxed a dog at Tara Raceway.

In fact, his last success at the Lake Terrace East track had been back on March 31, 1997.

That came in the form of a double with Lightning Sal and Racin' Razzy, both over 512 metres in 31.06 seconds and 30.81 seconds respectively.

Incidentally, Lightning Sal, a daughter of Golden Mike and Malibu Fay, had been bred locally by Darren Guthridge, who once again will be fielding at next month's Mount Gambier Cup at Tara Raceway.

Soon after, Sharam hung up the collar and lead - family and employment in the Coonawarra taking priority

But in more recent times the occasional visit to a race meeting at Tara Raceway had rekindled his interest in greyhound racing.

"I couldn't believe how much things had changed here," Sharam said.

"Terrific prizemoney, free entry, trainers" appearance money, no nomination fees and even a free race program."

But for Sharam to get back into the game he would be required to renew his trainer's licence - long since relinquished.

These days aspiring trainers are required to jump through a few more hoops.

Come last Sunday at Tara Raceway and Sharam, a Coonawarra vineyard manager and would-be greyhound trainer, handled runners for trainers Noel Perry and Tracie Price - under the watchful eve of the stewards

"I reckon it all went pretty well," he said, speaking after the last race.

"I've already got my kennels built and I'm now looking forward to again training a couple of my own dogs.'

At the track with Sharam - whose involvement in greyhound racing actually began out at Glenburnie - were his wife Pat and 12-yearold son Liam.

All will be welcome additions to the Tara Raceway team.

Bungaloo boilover

By David Lewis

Third placing and a personal time of 23.50 seconds in a heat of the Fast Forward (400 metres) at the previous week's Tara Raceway meeting was enough to see Bungaloo Rachele through to last Thursday's Category 2 prize money final.

While she was one of the fastest eight to come out of the five heats, Bungaloo Rachele obviously had not drawn too much attention to herself given that she was the rank outsider in the final at $62. The black bitch looked anything but a roughie though, when coming out running from box five. To the marked surprise of regular racegoers, she quickly opened up what surely had to be a winning break.

Chasing her first win since November, Bungaloo Rachele ended up with a half-length to spare over Jayville Zoe and Subzero Annie in a personal best time of 23.42 seconds. By Fabregas out of Springvale Alysa, the winner is trained at Kongorong by John Little who races her in partnership with Liz Newberry and Kevin Mullan under the guise of the Bungaloo Syndicate. Little also bred the October 20 litter which comprised three dogs and three bitches Springvale Alysa, a daughter of Dyna Double One and Springvale Cool, was picked up by the syndicate for $2000 as a maiden after three starts at Angle Park. Trained by Little, she went on to win 22 races.

"Five of the six in her first litter have gone on and won races but most of their wins have been in time-graded company which equates to only half the prize money paid at the Category 2 Sunday meetings," Little said.

"While Bungaloo Rachele's win last Thursday was at a time-graded meeting, the Fast Forward was a Category 2 event. "I must say the extra prize money was really appreciated." The Bungaloo Syndicate now looks forward to Springvale Alysa's second litter hitting the track.

PENOLA 5.9 (39) d KYBYBOLITE 5.4 (34)

In what was undoubtedly the match of the Limestone Coast women's football round, Penola and Kybybolite went head-to-head at Island Park on Friday night.

The Eagles were pushed to the line but at the final siren they prevailed by five points to guarantee a top-four finish.

Penola was out of the gate strongly and put two goals on the board to be well placed at the first change.

Another two in the second term kept the Eagles in front, but Kyby also found the big sticks twice to keep the margin at 13 heading into the main break.

Kyby kept the pressure on in the third quarter with another two goals.

Penola managed one of its own to hold a 10-point advantage, but the intensity started to build leading into the final stanza.

In the fourth quarter Kyby scored 1.2, but with three behinds to the Eagles they held their rival at bay to claim valuable points in the penultimate minor round.

Goals were shared around with Simone MacDonald and Jasmine Ryan both scoring two each for Penola, while Lyndall Feast also converted.

Ryan was named best on ground for her impressive efforts around the contest, while Heidi Berkin, Caroline McGrath, Ellise Berkin and Riley Mitchell were also standouts.

For Kybybolite it was Erin Ewer who excelled, while Genevieve Blake did the bulk of the scoring with four majors and Taylor Ryan had one.

Heading into the final minor round Penola sits in fourth and is guaranteed to make a finals appearance.

CASTERTON SANDFORD 17.11 (113) d MILLICENT 0.0 (0)

Casterton Sandford continued its run of good form and claimed a third consecutive win on its home deck last Friday.

The Round 8 clash at Island Park had the ats up against Millicent in a one-sided battle

The Saints have struggled against most teams this season, while the Cats have just one loss on their 2023 record - to Mundulla in Round 4.

Chloe Foster played an impressive game and her five goals and best-on-ground performance left Millicent defenders without an

By the first change the margin was 26 points, before the Victorian hosts added another three goals in the second term.

Entering half time the Saints were scoreless and trailed by 47.

The second half followed the same trend and the Cats kept the scoreboard pressure on with four third-quarter goals.

They put in their biggest haul in the final stanza and six majors pushed the home team out to a staggering 113-0 victory.

Gabrielle Sullivan, Hinemoa Biddle-Maitland and Amelia Thomas also featured highly in the best players, while Makayla Hutchins and Libby Altorfer had their moments in the

The pair converted four and three goals respectively.

Despite the standouts, the Cats' total of eight goal scorers bodes well heading into the pointy end of the season.

They sit in second place on the ladder after eight rounds, with just one home-and-away game remaining.

For Millicent finals is well off the table.

The Saints commended Cassie Levison for her efforts on Friday night, which were recognised as best on ground.

She was joined by Stephanie Gilbert, Megan Tilley and Kalli Brown among the top per-

NORTH GAMIER 12.10 (82) d KONGORONG 0.2 (0)

After knocking over an undefeated Mundulla the week before, North Gambier kept the momentum rolling with an 80-point win over Kongorong on Friday night.

The two teams opened proceedings at Vansittart Park and after an even start, the Tigers broke away in the second term.

The difference was seven points at the first change, but North kicked into gear with four unanswered goals to establish a healthy halftime lead.

Kongorong managed a behind during that time - its first of two for the night - with the margin 35 points at the main break.

The goals kept coming in the second half, with three in the third and four in the fourth, with the Hawks adding one behind during that

Alice Tentye had a night out and her usual finesse around the contest rewarded her with four goals and the best-on-ground honours for the Tigers.

Paris Ackland and Luca Roulstone were also solid, while Laura Chester featured in the best and on the goalkicker list with two majors.

Geordan Thomas also bagged two, while Eadie Mustart and Libby Howe-Morgan both found the big sticks and also rounded out the best players.

Kongorong looked to the reliable Evie Sealey as best on the night, with Sheree Ailey, Sheba Miller and Taylor Cozzi also in good form.

MUNDULLA 24.14 (158) d KALANGADOO 0.0 (0)

Mundulla was unmatched in Friday's Round 8 clash with Kalangadoo at Vansittart Park. The northern Tigers were never in doubt and a mammoth 63-point opening term set the scene for the night. They added three more goals to their 10 in the second and at half time the margin was out to an unassailable 86 points.

Erin Horsnell established herself as a prominent force through the middle of the ground, with her efforts eventually earning her the best-on-ground honours.

Zoe Hawker was also solid through the centre, while Kaylene Rowett was rock solid in

By three-quarter time the margin was out to 131, with the Magpies yet to post a score.

Melody Maddern was prolific in front of goals and she finished the night with seven

Natalie Twigden also had her accuracy dialled in, with five for the match.

Another four goals in the final term wrapped up the solid win, with the final score

Casey McElroy, Sammy Hunt and Renae Feder rounded out Mundulla's best players.

For Kalangadoo Emily Cooney was a diamond in the rough with a best-on-ground performance.

Showers clear for bowls

A wet morning cleared in time for the Millicent Bowls Club to hold its weekly afternoon 2-4-2 competition, with just a few light showers throughout the afternoon.

The competition attracted 24 players who played 20 ends.

Over-all winner was the team of Terry Lonergan and Derk Pietersma with a score of 36+20 shots up, ahead of Frank Cooper and Iain Campbell with a score of 31+11.

Other winning teams for the day: John Buhlmann/Peter Varcoe 31+7; John Eldridge/Neil Whelan 30+4; Rob Chambers/David Reichelt 30+2; Ian Ross/Peter Scanlon 30+1.

Bowlers are reminded of the annual general meeting to be held on April 12 at 1pm.

Winners: Terry Lonergan, Dirk Pietersma.

Runners-up: Frank Cooper, Iain Campbell.

New chapter to be written

By Trevor Jackson

The NBL1 South focus turns to Frankston this weekend where the pre-season Blitz will take place.

The Mount Gambier Pioneers men and women will head across for the tournament, with two games each against Waverley and Bendigo.

The weekend provides the chance for teams to fine tune their game prior to season tip off on April 1, where the Pioneers will hit the road to take on Sandringham Sabres.

The season also creates some new history for the club, as the Pioneers teams embrace their new facility at Wulanda.

A shoot-around will be open to the public on Thursday to showcase the new facility.

For men's head coach Richard Hill the new facility is a great opportunity for the club and the city.

"It is a sensational facility," he said.

"It is certainly not the Icehouse ... it is fully air conditioned and the same temperature all the time.

"For our supporters it will be comfortable and it is close to everything in town."

As for the new roster for the Pioneers men, Hill said everything is starting to come together

Two games on the weekend against Keilor and Ballarat showed the side can certainly put a score on the board, with each game producing more than 100 points and winning margins around the 30-point mark.

"Neither of those teams were at full strength and we had everybody," Hill said.

"But they were very good hitouts and very important for us because we are so new, trying to get to know each other.

"We played well in patches and now we have another three weeks of training and a couple of games in Melbourne this weekend to try to get on top of things.

"It will take a while with the new group." However, Hill said he was pleased with the weekend, as his players continue to gel.

Mount Gambier Pioneers men's coach Richard Hill is excited about the upcoming NBL1 South basketball season, with a new roster and a change of venue.

Picture: FILE

"I felt significant improvement on the weekend," he said.

"We scored over 100 points in each game so scoring is not a problem.

"It is just connecting, defending, getting to know the strengths and weaknesses of each other and me as a coach getting to know what the guys can and can't do.

"It was a successful weekend for us."

With the NBL1 pre-season Blitz on this weekend, the opportunity is there for further improvement against a couple of tough sides.

"I feel like we will be stepping up another notch," Hill said.

"We play Bendigo and Waverley who look like they will be strong teams.

"We will get tested this weekend which is good ... we need to be."

Room for movement in last round of women's football

By James Murphy

The top four is set in the 2023 Limestone Coast Women's Football season, with the final minor round played this weekend.

All games are to be played on Sunday, but will be split across two locations with Casterton's Island Park venue and Penola's McCorquindale Park under the spotlight.

North Gambier, Casterton Sandford, Mundulla and Penola make up the top four and will battle it out for premiership glory over the coming weeks.

While they are all locked in finals at this point, there remains room for movement inside the top four.

North currently sits on top but with the bye this week the Tigers could see themselves pushed down the order.

The Cats enter the round in second and will host Kongorong in the opening match on Sunday.

They will be favoured for the win and should they prevail will steal top spot from the Tigers with seven wins and a loss for the year.

Meanwhile Mundulla sits in third, but aided by a draw to Kybybolite back in Round 2, a win to them would ensure at least a second-place finish.

Should the Cats lose and Mundulla win, the latter would then claim the minor premiership.

Mundulla faces Millicent in the second game at Island Park, which suggests a big win is imminent.

The final piece in the equation is Penola, sitting fourth and set to face a winless Kalangadoo at home.

The Eagles have shown promising signs throughout the year and will be all-but guaranteed to sing their song at the conclusion of Sunday's match.

Casterton Sandford has the potential to leap into top spot after this round, with the likes of Zhane Crawford a player to watch.

Pictures: JAMES MURPHY

Should they win they have the potential to leapfrog Mundulla and Casterton, but only if those teams lose.

As is the case in the women's competition, a consolation finals series will also be played.

That will see Kybybolite, Kongorong, South Gambier and Millicent go headto-head, while ninth placed Kalangadoo will miss out.

Kyby and the Hawks will be the favourites in this series and will likely face off in next week's qualifying final.

However, this week Kyby will match up with South Gambier in a grand final rematch.

Both teams sport different rosters and levels of success this season, but there is sure to be plenty of spirit as they fight for the bragging rights before finals.

Penola will have its eyes on finals preparation when the Eagles host Kalangadoo in the final minor round of women's football.

ROUND 9 FIXTURE

■ Sunday, March 19: Casterton v Kongorong, 11am (Island Park); South Gambier v Kybybolite, 11am (Penola); Millicent v Mundulla, 12.35pm (Island Park); Penola v Kalangadoo, 12.35pm (Penola).

Kalangadoo's three-peat

By Lachlan Onions

KALANGADOO 9/229 d MIL LEL 10/190

Kalangadoo made it a three-peat of Cox Bros Shield premierships on Sunday as it defeated Mil Lel by 39 runs in the grand final at the Yahl Cricket Club. The Magpies batted first and after losing three early wickets, soon kicked into gear. Benjamin Newton and Reece Carlson steadied the flow of wickets and made it to 3/77 before the former departed.

Alex Carter then came in and scored a quick-fire 18 before he was dismissed.

After a flurry of wickets, the game was in the balance at 6/116, before Brandon Newton put in a player of the match performance to change the game. Newton scored 62 runs off 46 balls and helped his side reach 229 at the end of the 60 overs. Harry Hicks was the best of the bowlers for Mil Lel and took 3/31 off 11 overs. In response, Newton and Andrew Stone were key players for Kalangadoo with the ball.

Wayne Lawson put up a fight while batters fell around him and scored 79 runs off 141 balls before he was run-out by Stone.

After Lawson's departure at 5/176, the tail soon collapsed shortly after and Mil Lel was bowled out for 190.

Stone was the best of the bowlers with 4/49 off 16.2 overs, while Reece Carlson picked up three wickets, and Newton claimed two.
