Kids gear up for road safe rides

SAPOL'S school holiday road safety program stopped by Millicent this week, to teach local children the importance of staying safe on the road.

The program, in partnership with Wattle Range Council, aimed to teach primary school age children the importance of safe road use, from wearing seatbelts in the car to how to stay safe as a pedestrian.

Mobile mayhem

Current interruptions to Millicent's Telstra mobile network are set to continue through to Monday April 24 while ongoing maintenance work is undertaken on the SA Water tower which holds the networks mobile antennas.

Maintenance works which began in May last year were expected to be finalised by June the same year until wet weather hampered painting maintenance needed on the tower.

During the initial maintenance work last year Telstra installed a temporary mobile base station to the tower adjacent to Millicent's community radio building on Railway Terrace for three months to ensure minimal disruption to the network. Since removal of the temporary measure Telstra customers have experienced a four day outage in December and the current 10 day disruption to services while maintenance work continues on the tower.

SA Telstra Regional General Manager for SA Michael Patterson said in a statement that landline and nbn services will not be impacted during the SA Water maintenance work.

He encouraged residents with no or poor mobile coverage to activate wi-fi calling on their mobile phones if they have access to a wi-fi signal.

"We know that many businesses rely on point-of-sale devices as part of their daily business.

"However, the EFTPOS network is not managed by Telstra, it is managed by banks and financial institutions.

"While some point-of-sale terminals use mobile connectivity, many terminals can also be connected using fixed line or wi-fi/nbn internet connections" he said.

Local business owners are frustrated with the lack of warning from the communications network to keep them informed of impending outages.

It's the second time Acky's Takeaway owners Kylie and Nigel Ross have been impacted by Telstra due to ongoing SA water tower maintenance.

After losing sales last year in December when the network was interrupted, this time they were able to switch to the shop's wifi network and continue trading.

"We had no idea, we weren't notified but it's lucky I knew to switch to wifi," said Ms Ross.

"The last time it happened in December, we didn't have wifi.

"Since then we've got dual sims so we can switch to a different network if we have to, because they don't let us know.

"I've tried using wi-fi calling on my phone, it's not great and it doesn't help me when I leave the shop.

Long time Penola crafters Wendy Frankling and Junette Jolly making a quilt at the gathering last week.

Craft group gets busy in Penola

By Kathy Fennell

Crafting in Penola has been going for more than 30 years with a small group meeting twice a month at the Uniting Church hall on the second and fourth Thursday of each month.

Long time member of the group, Wendy Frankling, said it is a very enjoyable few hours when members can bring their own project and have a chat.

Craft includes quilting, stitchery, knitting, crochet or anything else.

Members have exhibited their works at the local show and have also made items for charity.

On the fifth Thursday of the month the group may hold a small workshop and enjoy an afternoon tea.

The group would welcome new members who can contact Wendy Frankling on 0438 372 054 for further information.

Awards to recognise volunteers

Nominations are now open for an awards program looking to recognise the work of volunteers in the region.

Federal Barker MP Tony Pasin has announced the Barker Volunteer Awards program to acknowledge all the people who put their hands up to help out.

“Volunteers really are the heart of communities across Barker and they deserve recognition for the time and skills they donate to help make our local communities great places to live, work and raise a family,” Mr Pasin said.

“From the local men’s shed, footy or netball club, cancer support group or CFS, more often than not it’s the unpaid work of volunteers that keeps these organisations running and offering so much to the local community.

“The Barker Volunteer Awards are a small way in which I can acknowledge and thank the community members who go above and beyond by volunteering.”

The awards program comes ahead of National Volunteer Week, which will be held between May 15 and May 17.

Nomination forms are available online at tonypasin.com or from Tony Pasin’s office in Mount Gambier.

Nominations close on Monday, May 1.

This team of 1970's Mount Burr colts has now been fully named.

Leaky lake a water waster

An ongoing misunderstanding with reading the Millicent Swimming Lake's water meter has meant Wattle Range Council (WRC) have been unaware of the real volume of water being used to both fill the lake and irrigate the grounds.

It was recently brought to the attention of WRC the onsite meter is to be read as a factor of 10 instead of face value as with all other meters used by council.

Consumption use has been highlighted by the error and revealed annual water usage is substantially greater than believed and exceeds the Department for Environment and Water (DEW) allocation.

Council have been aware of ongoing leaks to the surface and joins of the lake for some time and this has been flagged as a significant issue now accurate water volume usage has been revealed.

WRC director of engineering services Peter Halton said the council had known for some time that there were leaking issues because they have been running pumps.

"In general the lake evaporates 100 per cent of water volume annually," he said.

"That is just surface area and evaporation rate and is something calculated by an officer of council, but from memory this one is using something like four times that over the year.

"We continue to do maintenance every year outside of the pool season on the shell and the surface.

Inspection of the aging walls and floor of the lake will take place once draining is complete.

"Every year it gets fully drained and prior to the start of the season we pump the balance of water out of it.

"We do a surface inspection and repair any obvious failures before we refill the lake.

"That is the standard activity every season."

Using a WRC officer with diving experience has helped identify at least two locations of concern which will be inspected once the lake is fully drained.

"We did a dive of the whole lake, covering areas we thought were of particular concern" Mr Halton said.

"Around the edge of the wall and the floor where there is a join and within the swim platform area there are some discharge points and old drain lines.

"The lake is made up of concrete, asphalt and bitumen surface so there are some obvious join points.

"This inspection gave us a very good starting point and our intention is to do a detailed assessment of the surface and have another good look at it and see what the potential issues are."

On top of exceeding the licensed water allocations, excess use of power to run pumps and chemicals to re-chlorinate the water are adding to the financial cost of operating the lake.

"We've got to make this facility as efficient as possible so we have to address these issues.

"The big challenge is going to be what is the capital cost to fix the problems we've got and how do we go about funding those, and how quick can we deliver on those solutions before we come around to another swim season.

"We have a short window to look at the problems and come up with what are the resolutions to these.

"We are talking about a 50 year old asset, it's going to need to be repaired if it is going to continue to operate the way it is at the moment.

"We love this asset and we are really proud of having a swimming lake in Millicent.

"It gets great numbers using it and we want to fix these issues.

"We want to do improvements and upgrades to the swimming lake in the future, but first and foremost we need to fix these underlying issues."

"We've been consistently doing what I would consider maintenance, unfortunately I think we are at the stage where we are looking at reasonable renewal project for the lake.

"We need to do a lot more than just major maintenance now."

Council have met with the DEW for discussion about the water allocation breach.

Mr Halton said some time ago DEW moved from area calculations for water allocation to volumetric but it has been revealed those allocations were based on irrigation use only and not lake use.

"We will seek to have that rectified, but that doesn't account for the issues or mean we shouldn't be fixing the problems of the water use at that site."

Due to the high level of water standards needing to be met for human contact, there are no environmental concerns with the volume of water leaking into the water table.

Mr Halton confirmed the DEW had not flagged any environmental concerns with council due to the leaks.

"It's not a health standard or safety standard, it's very much around our water allocation and what we've got provided for and our energy consumption."

Mobile mayhem: Network interruptions hit businesses

"To use wi-fi calling I have to stand in the middle of the shop, as soon as I start walking out the back I start losing my signal."

"We've got some businesses we service if their orders are big enough, and we take the portable EFTPOS machine but because the network is down we aren't able to provide that service to them," Mr Ross said.

"If we had known we could have set up beforehand and cater for everybody's needs.

"They need to take a leaf out of SA Power Network's book and do what they do.

"They let you know a month in advance there is planned maintenance, then a reminder a week beforehand and they remind you again on the day.

"They are fantastic like that."

Owner of McCourts Garden Centre, Christine Agnew, was on her way to Adelaide last Thursday when she noticed a social media post notifying customers there was no EFTPOS service available at the premise's cafe.

Staff were unable to contact Ms Agnew and were sending people away to get cash or writing down card details to process later if customers agreed.

"You absolutely lose sales, particularly in the cafe, because people are in a hurry," she said.

"Because our EFTPOS is tied up with our point of sale system it's not as easy to just switch over to wifi.

"Our IT guy had to do it Saturday morning because it was still dropping in and out on Saturday, since then we've been good.

"It's no warning, if we had known that was going to happen we might have had a chance to get our IT guy in to switch over to wifi."

Manager of the garden centre cafe, Stacey Bellinger, told how the outage impacted her.

"We lost business for three days, some people get angry and abusive at us," she said.

"We had no notice and we lost hundreds of dollars each day because of no service on the EFTPOS.

"I live in Beachport and it's so bad not to have a phone service to contact your family at school or husband at work.

"Being 30 km's away and I can't even tell them if I can't pick them up from the bus stop because there is no phone service."

Lisa McCourt from Heaven on a Hanger had to advise her customers to go get cash.

"Thursday was a really busy day and I was lucky that people went and got cash, other times people go away to get money and they don't come back," she said.

"I've got a phone number that I can ring on my landline and put the shop number in and do that, but it's time consuming and I did that twice and the third time it came up with this service is no longer available.

"I rang my bank late afternoon when I had time, she put me over to wifi.

"Since then it's not been too bad, just a little bit slow.

"It would help if they let us know."

A statement from an SA Water spokesperson said minor works on the 28-metre-high water storage tank in Millicent are expected to be complete by late April.

Students step up to lead

By Caroline Hammat

Last Wednesday 19 young people from Millicent High School (MHS) attended a graduation ceremony to acknowledge and celebrate completing a 10 week Personal Leadership Program.

Students welcomed over 60 guests, including Youth Opportunities (YO) founder Peter Marshman OAM, to the Millicent Civic and Arts Centre and each graduate spoke about the program and the tools learned during the weekly program.

Recurring themes of improved self confidence and self esteem, motivation and time management, improved communication and overcoming personal challenges were shared with guests.

The program was originally developed for corporate settings and used as a training tool to increase employee motivation before Mr Marshman saw the benefits for school aged participants.

Currently in its 26th year it is the seventh year YO has hosted the program in collaboration with MHS.

The state based program, which began out of Salisbury High School, recently went national with the support of Federal Government funding, which Youth Opportunities founder Peter Marshman said was because they have seen the results.

“It hasn’t had a lot of government support until now but it is well over a million dollars to trial on a national basis,” he said.

“We have also been given another half a million dollars to work with what we call a safer communities program, which is to work with the most disadvantaged communities.

The program teaches a series of tools that students use to empower themselves and take positive control over their lives.

During the certificate presentation MHS principal Todd Watson noted some changes are noticed in students immediately while others will see the benefits months and sometimes even years later.

Four graduates spoke to the South Eastern Times about their highlights of the program which was led by Mount Gambier based trainers Alexia Coupland and Debra Boyd.

“My confidence improved greatly from Youth Ops. We used focus blocks which is 10/15 minutes of flat out work and then maybe a five minute break, just to cool off a little bit, it works heaps,” Dallas said.

Hudson’s favourite tool was the five minute method.

“If I have homework and I’m not motivated to do it I put a five minute timer on, when the five minutes ends I just keep going because I have the time,” he said.

“I’ve become more motivated to complete my work during classes instead of doing it for homework.”

Both Kaleb and Jesse said the program increased their confidence, with Kaleb’s favourite tool the boat analogy.

“We had to get the boat from one side of the river to the other without sinking, facing obstacles to get to our goal.

“I would recommend young kids to do Youth Opps, it was quite a fun experience.

“I gained a lot more confidence and motivation to complete work and hand it in.”

Jesse preferred using a weekly and daily planner to help keep him on track.

“Because of this program I feel more confident to seek opportunities to come my way.”

The program is used in schools across South Australia with MHS delivering another program in term three and Penola High School students set to benefit from the training tools in term four.

‘We are progressing’ Kingston childcare on the way

By Aidan Curtis

The push for more childcare and early learning services in Kingston South East is making progress, but it could still be more than two years before the project is completed.

While the Federal Government committed $1.8 million towards a new childcare and early learning centre in October last year, there is still more to be done behind the scenes.

Kingston Early Learning and Childcare Services Working Group spearheads Kirsty Starling and Kristen Wilks said while things are moving slower than they would like, progress is still being made towards securing a services for the town.

Ms Wilks said they had hoped the end was in sight with the funding announcement, but there is always another challenge to overcome.

“I think when we first heard we were going to receive some funding, we thought potentially it was going to be a two year process,” she said.

“I’m hoping it’s sooner rather than later, but we don’t have a definitive timeline yet, which is disappointing.

“We are progressing, but we’re a little way off from where we’d like to be.”

Ms Starling said the particular challenge at the moment was devising an appropriate governance structure to support a childcare and early learning facility.

“We’re trying to build an all encompassing early learning centre, which is a kindergarten and a childcare centre all together on site,” she said.

“We’re negotiating how that will happen, who is going to pay for what and getting an appropriate governance structure going is where we’re at.”

The pair said the long-term plan was to aim for gold standard childcare services for all rural locations, not just Kingston.

“Accessibility should be fair and equitable, and it shouldn’t matter just because we live in a geographic location that is rural with a postcode that says we’re rural,” Ms Starling said.

“It just shouldn’t matter where we live, we should still have the same equality of those living in an urban area and, at the moment, that’s not the case.”

State Minister for Education, Training and Skills Blair Boyer said it is the government’s intention to work on a model to deliver the best education and care service for children, families and staff.

“My office, the Education Department and the Kingston Council have been working positively with the Kingston Early Learning and Childcare Services Working Group towards a solution for the childcare shortage in the region,” Mr Boyer said.

“I travelled to Kingston last year, to speak with the community first hand about the issues they are facing, and since then, the Education Department has engaged an architect to conduct a feasibility study into locations, proposed concept plans and cost estimates.

“Regional childcare shortages is an issue I’ve raised with the Federal Minister for Early Childhood Education Anne Aly and the Commonwealth more broadly as it is impacting a number of communities.

“Our office is liaising with the Commonwealth Government to help support this project.”

Kingston Early Learning and Childcare Services working group members Fiona Rasheed, Kirsty Starling, Kristen Wilks won the active citizenship award on Australia Day.

Funds needed for stadium

Millicent Basketball Association have appealed to the council to offer some financial support.

Outgoing stadium manger Peter Seebohm presented a deputation to the Wattle Range Council meeting last month, asking that the council consider assisting the association with the completion of their basketball stadium.

Mr Seebohm said the association promotes the town and and region at events, and has a record for having a successful development program.

The association is the only one in the Wattle Range area and caters to juniors and seniors.

“Our peers think we are lucky, having such a great facility, but we say there is no such thing as luck, we have worked hard for what we have achieved,” he said.

Work on the stadium has been done in two stages - stage one was to complete the lower level of the viewing platform which will be en-cased in glass along the front and sides, and includes two large glass windows to view the back courts.

Plans for this space include a kitchen, bar, seating and amenities block with disability access, and a row of courtside seating along the outside of the new space.

Mr Seebohm said last year that the project would be $540,000.

The association has received a $211,000 grant from the previous Federal Government’s Building Better Regions funding and $40,000 from the Wattle Range Council.

The rest has been fundraised by the club.

He said Mount Gambier Pioneers had approached the association in regards to holding some exhibition matches before next season, but they couldn’t proceed without work on the grandstand and viewing area being completed.

Peter Seebohm has appealed to the Wattle Range Council for some funds.

“We have extended ourselves financially with the build we have done already,” he said.

“Those exhibition games have an unreal potential for exposure for the Wattle Range region.

“Pre-season games are live streamed, so there is potential to get the Wattle Range name out there.”

He said the games were not locked in, as they needed confirmation of a completion timeline for the building work before they could proceed.

Following the deputation, the councillors thanked Mr Seebohm for his involvement in Basketball in Millicent and the Limestone Coast and for his achievements in regard to the Millicent Basketball Stadium.

They wished him well in his retirement.

Lock-up set for declaration

By Caroline Hammat

Millicent is the focus for this year’s South Australian Police Foundation Day, held annually April 28 to commemorate the establishment of SAPOL in 1838.

The day is commemorated by recognising a place, person or event significant to the history of policing in South Australia.

Next Friday in the older section of the Millicent Cemetery the Commissioner of Police, Grant Stevens, will join dignitaries and family members to unveil a recently installed replica headstone for Mounted Constable (MC) George Manhood.

MC Manhood died of natural causes in 1943 while an officer working in Summertown in the Adelaide Hills region.

The residents of Summertown held the constable, who worked in the town from 1938 until his death, in high regard and installed a large monument in his honour.

This monument, sited opposite their local police station, still stands.

MC Manhood was interred at the Millicent cemetery and the residents of Summertown organised a shield shaped marble headstone inscribed with the same words as on their town’s monument for this site.

The inscription includes the words “A faithful officer and friend to all from the residents of that district.”

Over the years the writing on the shield has become ineligible to read and a replica has been created to replace the original.

Following the graveside service a declaration of the Millicent Police Stations Stables and Cells complex as a police heritage site will take place and include the unveiling of a commemorative plaque.

The historic former lock-up behind the Millicent Police Station received extensive restoration work last year which included replacement of the roof and gutters and stone-work restoration.

The building constructed in 1874 is Millicent’s only confirmed State Heritage Place in the SA Heritage Register within the town centre.

Originally built, along with a police station and stables, when the first resident Police Trooper was appointed to the town the lockup is the only building on the site remaining from this era.

Honouring their service

Roy Langdon Waters was a private in the 32nd Battalion and one of the soldiers named on the Millicent Cross of Sacrifice.

He died in France December 2nd, 1916.

The following is his story as told in the local history book Honouring Our Fallen.

Roy Langdon Waters never returned to Millicent to marry his fiancée, Myrtle, who remained single for the rest of her life.

The man she loved had served less than a year with the Australian Imperial Force (AIF) and endured terrible conditions on the Western Front during one of the coldest European winters on record.

He had just finished a stint holding the front line in the Somme Valley and had been withdrawn to intermediate lines waiting to return to camp when he was killed.

The freezing conditions, along with snow, rain and knee deep mud, were a world away from Roy's life in Millicent where he was born on 30 March 1889 to Harry and Anna (nee Hayes) Waters.

His father, Harry, was born in the Lyndoch area and farmed at nearby Sandy Creek in the mid north of South Australia where he married the English born Anna before coming to Millicent in 1879 to take up land in this area.

The couple had a family of twelve children and lived at 'The Pines' on Bowman Road.

Harry died in November 1911 and two years later Anna went to live in Melbourne.

Their tenth child, Roy, stayed in Millicent where he had grown up, gone to school, and found employment as a shop assistant with the local grocers.

He also fell in love with Myrtle Ransom, the daughter of Millicent bakers, Arthur and Lydia Ransom, and the couple became engaged in 1914.

On 14 March 1916, Roy enlisted at Mt Gambier where he was described as being almost 27 years old, 5' 7" tall, with a medium dark complexion, dark brown hair and grey eyes.

The South Eastern Times newspaper described him as a "steady, trustworthy young man".

After enlisting, Roy travelled to Adelaide where by the end of the month he was appointed as a Private with B Company of the 2nd Depot Battalion at the AIF's Exhibition Camp before being transferred to the 13th Reinforcements for the 27th Battalion at Adelaide's Mitcham training camp.

While in this camp, he spent three days in hospital suffering from coryza (inflammation inside the nose).

Roy embarked in June 1916 from Adelaide aboard the troopship Bulla arriving at Plymouth, England, on 24 August 1916.

After further training in England he was sent to France late in September 1916 where he was transferred in early October 1916 to the 32nd Battalion and to the battlefields of the Somme.

Private Roy Langdon Waters is named on the Millicent Cross of Sacrifice.

Within two months he would be dead.

His battalion was not engaged in a battle, but was holding the front line in the Somme Valley in the Gueudecourt area.

The previous Somme battles had failed to make progress and had become bogged down by the conditions.

War historian, Charles Bean described the bitter cold and wet in his books 'The Official History of Australia in the War of 1914–1918': "The conditions on the fighting front imposed on the troops the extreme limit of sordid discomfort and suffering in the process of dying for their country. ... every yard of ground had been fought over, nearly everything standing had been razed, every inch of soil turned and re-turned by some of the heaviest bombardments of the war and by entrenchments.

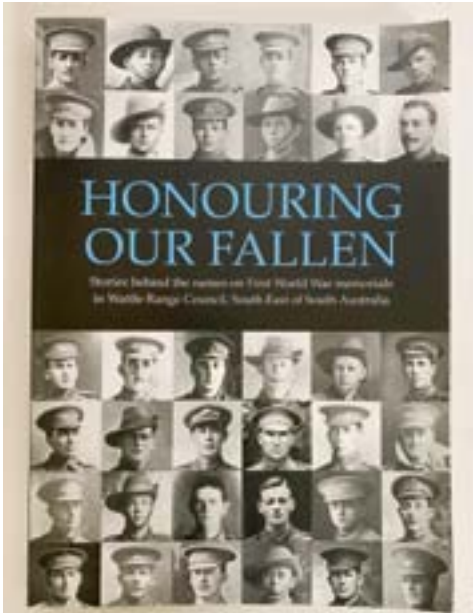

Continuous rains through October had converted the whole of this area into a very sea of mud.

All movement was greatly hampered by a peculiarly gluey and tenacious quality of the mud, composed of clay and chalk ... deep thick mud which ... tugged like glue at the boot soles so that the mere journey to the line left men and even pack-animals utterly exhausted.

In the dark those who stepped away from the road fell again and again into shell holes; many pack animals became fast in the mud and had to be shot, and men were continually pulled out, often leaving their boots and sometimes their trousers. ... a rescue party broke the back of an officer ... whom they were trying to haul from the mud".

In these conditions, neither the Allies nor the Germans could advance and the last attempt to do so was in mid-November 1916.

The rest of the winter was spent holding the line but constant shell fire, even onto support lines, remained a feature of the miserable environment in which Roy found himself.

He was killed on 2 December 1916 after the battalion had left the front lines the previous night.

A Red Cross Missing and Wounded Enquiry for another of Roy's 32nd Battalion colleagues, who was also killed on 2 December, may reveal Roy's ending: "The action was between Gueudecourt and LeTransloy ...we were waiting to be relieved when a shell burst... four men that were killed by the same shell were buried together."

There were six men from the 32nd Battalion killed on 2 December 1916 all of them while the battalion waited behind the front line in the intermediate lines.

It is unsure whether Roy was one of the four previously mentioned.

As he was described in his service record as being buried just 10 yards from the Lesbœufs to Gueudecourt Road it is possible he initially survived the shell blast but died in the attempt to get him to a dressing station.

Details of the location of this initial grave allowed his body to be found after the war and he was reinterred in the AIF's Burial Ground, Flers, France where he is among more than 3,000 Commonwealth Servicemen from the First World War.

Two of Roy's brothers also served in the war, Maurice and Stanley, who both returned to Australia.

Honouring Our Fallen tells over 100 stories of the names on First World War memorials in the Wattle Range Council region.

The book is available for purchase from the South East Family History Group in Millicent.

Untold stories of Australian sailors and airmen found

Two postgraduate history students have unearthed new findings from within the Australian War Memorial's collection of wartime diaries and letters.

Anna Wilkinson and Hannah Billington, from Deakin University and the University of Melbourne, will share their research into First World War sailors and Second World War airmen as they complete the memorial's prestigious Summer Scholars Program.

"The most surprising thing I found is the everyday joys, frustrations and anxieties felt by these boys and men. Something as mundane as waiting for a letter could consume someone's thoughts for weeks, even months," Wilkinson said.

"We have plenty of research focusing on ships, engagements and officers but I wanted to look at individual emotions."

Billington has investigated the experience of members of the Empire Air Training Scheme during the Second World War and the enduring legacy of their training in Canada.

"There is a gap in existing scholarship. By exploring how their Canadian training impacted RAAF recruits' transformation from civilians to service personnel, I hope to highlight the significance of training to an individual's service history," Billington said.

Both scholars are focusing on the reflections of the young men during these formative experiences and how they conveyed and recorded them.

"It has been hard to whittle down the memorial's vast collection of writings to focus on a few stories. The diaries and correspondence aren't those of seasoned veterans, but of young men grappling with foreign countries, climates and cultures. They are all important," Billington said.

Memorial historians assigned the scholars' topics, which are distinct from what they are pursuing in their academic careers. Wilkinson said the chance to utilise the memorial's collections and work with experts was a great advantage.

"I had the chance to interrogate the National Collection, the Research Centre and the Sea Power Centre-Australia. Accessing these records took me to the source of the history I am writing."

Billington is augmenting the scholarship of the Empire Air Training Scheme already undertaken by the memorial.

"The opportunity to bolster the memorial's work around this chapter of our military history, by understanding the personal links and wartime bonds between Australia and Canada, is something I am very proud of," Billington said.

Since 1985, the Summer Scholarship Scheme has given more than 90 young historians practical experience of working in a major historical institution. Each scholar produces a research paper related to their topic, be it an aspect of Australian military history, the memorial's collection, or developing an exhibition.

The summer scholars will present their research at a webinar, available on the memorial's website at awm.gov.au

A longer written version will appear on the website later in the year.

"Having gained a more nuanced understanding of history as a craft, we can't wait to share what we have found," Billington said.

Safety focus near roads

The Millicent Road Safety Centre was a hive of activity during the week as children rolled in to learn more about being safer road users. On Tuesday, April 18 and Wednesday, April 19, SAPOL hosted school holiday road safety sessions to teach children vital road skills. Although there would have been a few demerit points handed out, the youngsters had a ball tearing around the track under the watchful eye of police instructors and parents.

Ruby showed no signs of uncertainty in obeying the road rules.

The children taking part in the school holiday Road Safety Program gave it the tick of approval.

Blaine kept a careful eye out for hazards on the track.

Charli had a huge smile as she rode around the Road Safety Centre.

Harvey did his best to avoid being photobombed by Senior Constable First Class Peter Bulmer, but to no avail.

Roundabouts were no problem at all for Georgie.

Teddy was unsure about something on the side of the track.

Coming together as a nation to recognise on Anzac Day

Anzac Day is Australia's national day to recognise all military personnel who have served our country over more than a century.

Secretary of the Department of Veterans' Affairs Alison Frame said this year Australians will commemorate the 108th anniversary of the Gallipoli landings at home, in the community, and overseas.

"With Covid-19 restrictions now lifted, I expect many more Australians will be planning to attend public services this Anzac Day," Ms Frame said.

"I encourage everyone to check online for local services being organised by the RSL and other community groups. Some of the most poignant Anzac Day events are held at Australian War Cemeteries and Gardens of Remembrance. "If you are planning to travel overseas, there is still time to register for the Dawn Services at Gallipoli in Türkiye and Villers-Bretonneux in France." For those planning a commemoration, or commemorating at home, the Department of Veterans' Affairs has designed a digital Kitbag of 10 printable and adaptable factsheets to help families and communities commemorate Anzac Day.

"Our Anzac Day Kitbag includes all the resources necessary to conduct a commemorative service, but also craft activities for children, social media images, a musical selection and a recipe for the legendary Anzac biscuit," Ms Frame said. "I encourage everyone thinking of organising their own Anzac Day service to make use of the resources in the Kitbag as we prepare to commemorate this solemn occasion.

"And for those not attending services in person, you can tune in to the Anzac Day National Service at the Australian War Memorial on ABC television or the live-stream on Facebook." The Anzac Day Kitbag is available to download from the Department of Veterans' Affairs Anzac Portal at anzacportal.dva.gov.au/resources/anzac-day-kitbag

The ABC will also be broadcasting the Dawn Services at Gallipoli and Villers-Bretonneux on Anzac Day, also available on the DVA Facebook page. Anyone planning to attend these two international services must register online for a free attendance pass at commemorations.teg.com.au

YOUR WEEKLY TV GUIDE

PICK OF THE WEEK

ASKING FOR IT
SBS, Thursday, 8.30pm

Sobering and insightful, this three-part series is steering a clear-eyed look at the highly problematic sexual landscape in Australia today. Presented by journalist Jess Hill (pictured), it's a follow-up to her critically acclaimed book-turned-series See What You Made Me Do, which delved into domestic abuse. Here she grapples with this country's high rates of sexual violence, the media's portrayal of victims and the unforgiving legal system which makes it difficult to find justice. In tonight's first instalment, Hill delves into the national conversation around sexual violence to better grasp what we do – and don't – understand about consent.

WHAT'S ON THE BOX?

GETAWAY

Nine, Saturday, 5.30pm

For more than 30 years, this Aussie series has been doing the hard yards for us, exploring cities, hotels and tourist hotspots so that one day we can follow in its footsteps and experience all the places ourselves. Or, maybe not: for some, laying eyes on Catriona (pictured) swimming with dolphins or Jason Dundas snowboarding on New Zealand's Coronet Peak is entertainment enough, because it's something we have no desire to do. That's the attraction of Getaway; viewers are taken out of their comfort zones with places and activities. Tonight, there's unlikely to be any complaints though, as the team explores beautiful Paris.

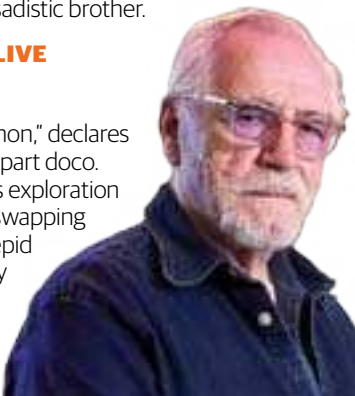

FBI: MOST WANTED
10, Monday, 9pm

Gravel-voiced Dylan McDermott (pictured) is armed with a panache that lifts this chilling episode up another thrilling level. In "Black Mirror", he enjoys some memorable scenes, including where he coolly observes a priest in a cemetery, casually wearing a black fedora, fitted black jacket and puffing on a cigarette. He also goes undercover as a priest, managing to make a clergyman's getup seem stylish. Expect spine-tingling intensity as Remy (McDermott) pursues a vile pastor and his sadistic brother.

BRIAN COX: HOW THE OTHER HALF LIVE
SBS, Wednesday, 8.30pm

"Money is very much my own personal demon," declares Brian Cox (pictured) in this compelling two-part doco. The Succession star is the perfect fit for this exploration of wealth in the UK and US, in which he is "swapping the role of foul-mouthed billionaire for intrepid reporter". Cox displays remarkable empathy and candour as he opens up about his impoverished upbringing. Tonight, Cox meets two Miami women displaced by the recent property boom.

Ioniq 6 takes EVs further

By CHRIS RILEY, Marque Motoring

You're looking at the next big thing in electric vehicles, the very appealing Hyundai Ioniq 6 EV.

On sale now, it's priced from $74,000 and you can order one now from the Hyundai Australia website.

Ioniq 6 is offered in three grades, with rear-wheel drive and all-wheel drive powertrains matched to a 77.4kWh battery across the range.

With an all-electric range of 614km, Ioniq 6 could well be a game changer, a car that speaks to the hearts and minds of the Australian public, the car that says: it's time.

Entry level Dynamiq is $74,000, mid-tier Techniq is $83,500 and top of the range Epiq is $88,000 – plus on-road costs.

Mid-size Ioniq 6 is the first sedan built on the Electrified-Global Modular Platform (E-GMP), which brings 800V architecture and the capability for rapid charging from 10 to 80 per cent in as little as 18 minutes.

Ioniq 6 is built on the state-of-the art Hyundai Electric-Global Modular Platform (E-GMP) and in rear-wheel drive Dynamiq form features a 168kW/350Nm rear electric motor and a 77.4kWh lithium-ion battery, for a WLTP range of 614km.

The all-wheel drive Ioniq 6 Techniq and Epiq feature an HTRAC all-wheel drive system comprising a 74kW/255Nm front motor and a 165kW/350Nm rear motor.

Using the same 77.4kWh battery, the AWD Ioniq 6 variants have a range of 519km.

Demons deliver, big-time

By James Murphy

PORT MACDONNELL 17.19 (121) d
GLENCOE 3.10 (28)

Port MacDonnell made a statement on its home deck when hosting Glencoe for the season opener of Mid South Eastern football.

After a first-quarter arm wrestle, the Demons broke away in the second term and powered their way to an eventual 93-point win.

The stage was set for a tough slog and neither team gave an inch in a physical start to the game. As such scores were tied at 15-all.

However, Port MacDonnell hit the ground running in the second quarter and a five-goal-eight kicking spree turned the match on its head.

The Murphies managed just two behinds in that period and at half time the difference was 36.

New Demons coach Josh Woodall put this turnaround down to a couple of small but effective changes.

“We just had to look at their better players and try to cover them,” he said.

“They have four or five really good players - we covered them and then it started to open up for us a bit more.

“Ned Wilke went forward and I think that changed it a bit as well.”

Wilke finished up with a game-high four goals in a solid display which also earned him a place among the best.

The Demons went on to add two goals in the third term to Glencoe's one, before a big finish from the hosts.

The Murphies were held scoreless in the final stanza while Port MacDonnell added an impressive eight majors to wrap up a commanding 121-28 point win.

Tom Sullivan was named man of the match and he opened proceedings with the first goal of the day, converted from the forward pocket after receiving a pinpoint delivery from young-gun recruit Colby Munro.

“I thought Tom Sullivan's pressure through the whole game and his hardness was really good,” Woodall said.

Woodall also thought highly of Aaron Harding and Lockie Tilley, while Will MacDonald put in a trademark performance in the ruck.

Sullivan finished with two goals for the day, as did Munro and Christian Howlett.

Despite the scoreboard difference, Woodall gave credit to Glencoe who he said kept the pressure on throughout.

“They are still a good side,” he said.

“The scoreboard probably didn't reflect how good they are.”

However, the Demons' backline - led by Wade Chant, Rhys Timms and Zack Williams - stood tall and gave few opportunities for the visitors.

Dylan Pfitzner led the charge for the Murphies with a best-on-ground performance.

Patrick Mitchell was also solid, while Jack Edmonds, Brodie Glynn and Dylan Childs featured highly as well.

On target: Port MacDonnell's Ned Wilke slotted four goals in the Demons' big Round 1 win over Glencoe.

Mozzies steal Saints', Swan's thunder

By Trevor Jackson

Mount Burr 17.24 (126) d
Nangwarry 5.7 (37)

Plenty of hype surrounded the opening round of the 2023 Mid South East football season, with Nangwarry boasting the services of Dane Swan on their home deck.

The game was well attended accordingly, but it was Mount Burr that stole the Saints' thunder and claimed an easy victory. The contest was close for the opening term, with just four points separating the two sides. Whether it was the Swan factor or simply the Mozzies shaking off a bit of rust, winning coach Reece Duncan was not sure.

“Nangwarry was up and about, but we just wanted to focus on our game and do what we wanted to do,” he said.

“Whether it was him or first-round jitters, whatever you might call it – once we started implementing the things we spoke about it was a lot cleaner game on our behalf.”

Duncan said once his players settled down the game plan began to come together. The Mozzies began to find their feet and banged on six majors in the second term to just one from the hosts. That put the Saints on notice and they were unable to fight back as the Mozzies stifled their attacking forays and pushed hard to link up the ground and score. By the long break Mount Burr was up to the tune of 36 points and simply continued to build on the lead from there.

They added a further five majors in the third term, before four more in the final stanza to run the game out for an easy win.

Dylan Ridley kicked four goals, While Jack Gregory, Josh Wallis, Taylor Allen and Will Bowering added two each.

A host of others added single goals as the Mozzies simply played their own game.

“It is pleasing to have so many options going forward,” Duncan said of his goal kickers. “We had guys from our back-line, a guy from the bench kick a goal ... it is good to have so many avenues.”

Allen, Cory Gamble and Sam Wallis were the three best players, who Duncan said were worthy recipients.

“Taylor is still a young guy and continues to build on his game,” he said. “He is a competitive beast and gets in and does what he needs to do.

“Corey was a welcome addition in the off-season. “Everyone at Mount Burr knows what he is about. He is a good hard football player and got a lot of the ball.

“Sam Wallis, as always, repelled everything that came his way. He doesn't get beaten. Those three guys set the tone but I couldn't fault anyone. Everyone did what they needed to do, just those guys stood out.”

As for standing out, it is Allen's second year as assistant coach. Duncan said he is still a young leader and had taken to the role well. “He is footy mad, he loves his footy, loves the club and loves the boys,” he said.

“He wants to take that step in leadership so I threw it to him last year with a bit of guidance and he did a good job. He is vice captain again this year and we are looking for him to build on that leadership.”

At the end of the day the Mozzies claimed a comfortable win, but Duncan was more pleased with how they responded to early pressure as the game unfolded.

Kalangadoo 18.19 (127) d
Kongorong 16.14 (110)

It was a tough challenge for the Mid South Eastern Football League reigning premiers, as Kalangadoo hosted Kongorong on Saturday in the opening round of the season. The Magpies were pushed to the final siren by a determined Hawks outfit, keen for an upset in the season starter.

That was evident in the first quarter where the Hawks led 26-7, with some strong focus up forward to make the Magpies pay. The Magpies fired up a bit more in the second term, with five major scores, but by that stage the Hawks had a taste for it and added a further six themselves. That produced a 24-point lead at the long break and sparked Kalangadoo into action.

With the game on the line and plenty for the Magpies to do, they began to turn the tide. Six major scores in the third term to Kongorong's three closed the margin to just seven points at the final break and Kalangadoo was back on track.

The final quarter panned out in similar fashion, with Kalangadoo banging on another six majors, to Kongorong's three and the game went the way of the Magpies to the tune of 17 points. New recruit Dylan Bromley made his presence felt in black and white with five goals, while Ben Mules added three. Lachy Jones, Brett Lindner, Ethan Maney and Sam McManus added two goals each. McManus, Jones, Mitchel Lowe, Bromley, Ethan Maney and Mathew Fatchen were named in the best players.

Seasiders trump Tigers in slick display

By James Murphy

ROBE 17.19 (121) d TANTANOOLA 5.1 (31)

Robe put Tantanoola through its paces on Saturday in Round 1 of Mid South Eastern football. The Roosters overcome a sluggish start to eventually claim a 90-point lead at the final siren. Under the guidance of new playing coach Nathan Brown, the seasiders moved the ball quickly and effectively into attack.

The Tantanoola hosts managed two opening term goals to lead by two points at the first change, after some wayward kicking from Robe. However, the Roosters settled in the second and a five-goal-seven return handed them a lead they would not give up, while the Tigers added just the one major score for the quarter. Down by 29 at the main break, Tantanoola had plenty of work to do heading into the second half. But Robe kept the pressure on with a five-goal quarter while the Tigers added just two.

The game was all-but won from there yet the Roosters piled on six fourth-term goals for good measure to come home with a solid Round 1 victory.

Brown was pleased with his team's first official outing of 2023, which pointed to a promising season ahead.

“I was very happy,” he said. “We got off to a bit of a slow start, but once we found our feet it was really good and we finished the game really strong. To come away (from Round 1) knowing we are not even playing our best football yet and still get a 90-point victory, you would take that any day of the week.”

After overcoming some teething issues early on, it was all slick ball movement after the main break.

“Our first half we struggled with our ball movement a little bit and probably just over-used the ball a bit,” Brown said. “Once we toned it back a bit and really focused on how we want to move the ball, it just changed for us. We were able to move the ball pretty cleanly and easily from the half back all the way to the forward line.”

Zac Deane led the Rooster's defence off the half-back line and was an intercept marking machine, with the back six all in fine form.

Hamish Smith had a solid first outing back in red and white and scored a game-high five goals. “He is the type of bloke who only needs six shots on goal and he will deliver five goals most weeks,” Brown said.

Magpies too strong

Kalangadoo 68 d Kongorong 26

Kalangadoo hit the court running in Round 1 of Mid South East netball on Saturday, with a dominating 68-26 win over Kongorong.

Much of the early play was driven by the high work rate of goal attack Abbey Duncan.

Kongorong's Riley Buckingham and Emily Lightbody adjusted to the quick pace of Kalangadoo's goal circle and worked relentlessly to curb the influence of Duncan.

However, Kalangadoo went into the first break with a 17-5 lead.

Both teams remained unchanged during the second quarter.

Kongorong centre Ebony Lawson worked hard to find space and feed her goalies Tilah Buckingham and Sarah Gardin, who were forced to adjust and re-offer due to the tight defence of Kalangadoo's defensive circle.

Due to a blood injury to Riley Buckingham early in second quarter, Kongorong brought Jasmin McKinnon on for a short time.

Kalangadoo's defence stepped up their pressure, causing intercepts and touches in the centre third.

Goal shooter Ebony McDiarmid positioned herself as a focal point in attack and contributed to Kalangadoo going into the main break with a 25-goal advantage.

The third quarter saw both teams maintain a high level of work rate and Riley Buckingham had an impact defensively, using her speed to take some timing intercepts.

The final quarter saw Kalangadoo's circle defence continue to work hard and make the most of rebounding opportunities.

The Magpies ran the game out hard to claim a strong victory.

Best players for Kalangadoo were Duncan and Lauren Kain, while for Kongorong, Lawson and Lightbody were given the honours.

Mozzies shake off Nangwarry

Mount Burr 63 d Nangwarry 39

Mount Burr claimed a strong victory against Nangwarry in Round 1 of Mid South East netball on Saturday, despite a solid start from the home side.

The Mozzies settled earlier on the Saints home court, going a couple of goals up through some good attack from Laura Schultz.

The Saints pushed back and their defence worked overtime, with Kayla Gray getting some hands to the ball and they transitioned well down the court.

Demi Hoffmeister scored well for the Saints, which saw the scores tied at 11 each at the first break.

Mount Burr then hit the court running in the second term and began to put some daylight between the two sides.

The Mozzies defence tightened up and made Nangwarry work for every goal.

Megan Thiele started to pick up the pace, getting hands to many balls for Mount Burr.

Hayley Burner and Schultz had a good tussle through the centre, with both driving well for their teams.

However, Nangwarry struggled to get it out of defence at times, while Ebony Clarke lifted and combined well with Lauren Wheeler, making Gray and Chrystal Lock work hard for any touches.

By the main break Mount Burr had created a 12-goal advantage and looked to be on top.

At the break Lock went to wing defence and Jemma Parsons came on at goal defence for the Saints.

The Mozzies brought Simone Westerman on to wing defence, with Caitlyn Payne swapping to wing attack.

The Saints lifted again, with a more-even result.

Kate Bizko started to move and position well, along with some good feeding by Cassie Dinnison and Burner.

Wheeler moved and rebounded well for the Mozzies and Clarke continued her accuracy, while Thiele made Hoffmeister work for every goal.

Mount Burr stretched its margin slightly to lead by 15 goals at the final break.

Nangwarry struggled in the final quarter, with some poor passing choices.

Schultz dominated through the centre and in the end the Mozzies enjoyed a big win.

Best players for the victors were Thiele and Schultz, with Hoffmeister and Dinnison best for Nangwarry.

Demons push reigning premiers hard

Glencoe 41 d Port MacDonnell 36

The Mid South East netball reigning premiers, Glencoe, travelled to the seaside to take on a new look Port MacDonnell outfit.

The game started out at a fast pace and Chantelle Cocks dominated the shooting for Glencoe, scoring all of their 14 goals for the quarter.

Demon Kate Faint and Murphy Donna Jaeschke had a tight tussle through the centre, with the visitors on top and up by four goals at the first break.

The second quarter a tight, see-sawing affair.

The Demons switched Alana Berkefeld back to goal keeper to try to curb the influence of Cocks, moving Alysha Coon out to goal defence.

Coon provided good drive down the court and while Berkefeld got her hands to many balls, Cocks still had another solid quarter shooting 10 goals.

Glencoe won the quarter, but by just one goal for a five-goal lead at half time.

The third quarter was again tight and a few errors crept into both teams.

Experienced Demon Michelle Moore enjoyed an entertaining contest with Glencoe's Chloe Pfitzner on the wing, with neither giving an inch.

Alice Tentye provided strong drive at wing attack for the Murphies, with the speedy Liza Mutch hot on her tail.

Glencoe was able to stretch its lead to six goals at the final break.

The Demons switched Faint and Mutch for the final quarter, along with Megan Hein and Kori Collins.

This seemed to have a positive effect, but Sarah Edwards and Chelsea Owen kept working hard in defence for the Murphies, making Hein and Collins earn every goal.

Port MacDonnell stepped up and won the final quarter by one goal, to make the reigning premiers earn their five-goal win.

Best players for the victors were Jaeschke and Cocks, with Berkefeld and Coon best for the Demons.

Roosters hold off persistent Tantanoola

Robe 46 d Tantanoola 40

The Mid South East netball match of the round lived up to hype, as Robe defeated Tantanoola by just six goals.

Robe scored the first two goals of the game through strong positioning between Demi Carter and Tori Gluyas.

Tantanoola was unsettled with their feeding to goalies Keryl Ousey and Emma Gould, who used their height to advantage and snapped up any missed shots.

Both sides took time to settle with tweaks to their line ups from 2022 and it was Robe with a one-goal lead at the first break.

Tantanoola made numerous changes at the break, with Gould moving to goal defence, Jami Walker to goal attack, Casey Walker to wing attack and Kate Bromley to wing defence.

Robe continued to play controlled netball and scored the first two goals of the second quarter to extend the lead to three.

Tantanoola worked hard in its attacking end, settling and scoring the next two goals through Ousey.

The Robe goalies struggled to adjust to the height of Gould and Tayla Rowe.

Emily Hunter worked hard in centre for Robe, giving her side drive through the mid-court.

Robe's defensive end of Annie Regnier, Emma Grant and Georgia Perkins lifted, but Pace: Robe's Halle Carter moves the ball up the court during Round 1 of Mid South East netball.

Tantanoola played a solid quarter to keep within in one goal.

Robe replaced Lucy Perkins in the wing attack position with Halle Carter, while Tantanoola swapped Ousey and Jamie Walker.

Once again Robe shot the first two goals of the quarter, despite great defensive pressure from Gould.

Robe's defensive pressure through the mid-court made it tough for Tantanoola, as the Roosters pushed out to five-goal lead on numerous occasions, only for the Tigers to peg it back.

However, Robe ultimately won the battle with Demi Carter and Gluyas missing only one shot for the quarter, finishing with a four-goal lead at three-quarter time.

Tantanoola swapped Bromley and Rowe at the start of the last quarter, but an injury to Gould mid-way through the quarter saw them make numerous changes.

Despite Jamie Walker shooting at a 100 per cent, Robe was too strong across the court and ran away with a six-goal victory.

Best players for the victors were Gluyas and Georgia Perkins, with Gould and Casey Walker best for Tantanoola.

Chance for redemption

By Trevor Jackson

GLENCOE V HATHERLEIGH

After a disappointing result in the opening round of Mid South East football last week, Glencoe will look to bounce back in Round 2. However, they will face an unknown quantity in Hatherleigh, after the Eagles had the bye in Round 1.

The Murphies were comprehensively beaten last week by Port MacDonnell, with only three majors scores recorded.

They did have 13 shots on goal so will need to sharpen their skills on front of the big sticks.

Hatherleigh has lost quite a few players from their grand-final losing side in 2022, but have also managed a couple of handy pick-ups, most notably former Millicent and GWS Giants player Tom Hutchesson.

Returning players also fill the roster, with the depth of the Eagles impressive.

How it all comes together is anyone's guess, but Glencoe will certainly do well to come close to Hatherleigh, even on their home deck.

KONGORONG V PORT MACDONNELL

Kongorong would be up and about after Round 1, despite suffering a loss at the hands of Kalangadoo.

The Hawks only went down by 17 points to the reigning premiers, which should provide some confidence as the season unfolds.

Plenty of players put their hands up in front of goals, with 16 major scores kicked.

However, this week they face a tough Demons outfit, which dominated Glencoe last week.

After an even first term, the Murphies were never in the contest, kicking just one more major score after the first break.

The Demons shared the spoils in front of goal, with 11 individual goal kickers.

While the reinvigorated Hawks will hope to continue their Round 1 form, the Demons will be too strong and claim a comfortable victory, but not without an early fight.

Hamish Smith had an impact on the Robe roster and will look to continue that this week against Kalangadoo.

ROBE V KALANGADOO

In what should be the match of the round, Robe will host Kalangadoo and look to hand the maggies their first loss of the 2023 season.

Both teams come off a win, but the Roosters certainly seemed the better side on the ground.

New coach Nathan Brown shows plenty of class to lead by example and has his players up and about.

They easily accounted for Tantanoola last week, one of the bottom sides from last season.

If Brown can continue that momentum, the Magpies may have a hard time keeping pace. Kalangadoo had to fight to account for Kongorong last week, with a strong second half getting the job done.

Coach Alex Lyon will need to rally his troops to ensure they do not give the Roosters too much of a head start.

If that happens it will be a tougher prospect to chase down that it was in the opening round.

With plenty of departures and new names in both sides it promises to be a cracker of a game and one well worth the trip up to Robe.

MOUNT BURR V TANTANOOLA

Mount Burr honed its skill in Round 1 against Nangwarry and will come out all guns blazing this weekend.

Tantanoola was on the other end of the scale, defeated comprehensively by Robe.

Kongorong will look to combine well around the ball to claim the points over Port MacDonnell on Saturday. Pictures: FILE

Rhys Gamble showed plenty of dash last week and will carry that over to Mount Burr's clash against Tantanoola.

While this may appear on the surface as a one-sided contest, it is still too early in the season to suggest the Tigers are out of the equation.

Tantanoola struggled in 2022 and will again find it tough to remain in touch with the pointy end of the field.

The Mozzies reached the finals last season and will look to do that again this year, while Tantanoola finished in eighth place.

Some new faces at Tigerland will help boost their prospects, but they have lost a few as well.

Mount Burr has lost little from last season and gained as much, which will show on Saturday on their home deck.

Tight games expected as Mid SE competition heats up

GLENCOE V HATHERLEIGH

Hatherleigh heads to Glencoe for its first game of the 2023 Mid South East netball season to face off against the reigning premiers.

Glencoe's Donna Jaeschke and Hatherleigh's Erin Watson will have a tough tussle down the court, with both players fighting hard for every possession.

Eagle defenders Lara MacGregor and Maddie Redman will put the pressure on for Glencoe's Jenna Paproth and Chantelle Cocks, getting hands to any loose balls.

Murphies' Sarah Edwards and Chelsea Owen will fight to create turnovers in Hatherleigh's shooting end, snapping up any missed shots.

Tegan Telfer will feed well into her goalies, utilising the space and working well with Watson outside the ring.

Both teams will fight hard for the win and this game could be close.

KONGORONG V PORT MACDONNELL

Kongorong hosts Port MacDonnell, with both teams hoping to get their first win on the board for the season.

Port MacDonnell's Megan Hein and Kori Collins combine well in the goal circle, but Hawks defenders Riley Buckingham and Emily Lightbody will apply intense pressure and chase up any loose balls.

Port MacDonnell's Kate Faint and Kongorong's Ebony Lawson will fight hard for their respective sides through the court.

Kongorong goalies Tilah Buckingham and Sarah Gardin will need to move well in the circle under the tight pressure from Alana Berkefeld and Alysha Coon.

Both teams will fight hard for the entire four quarters, working to bring the win home for their respective teams.

ROBE V KALANGADOO

Kalangadoo heads to Robe to face off against a strong Roosters side.

Robe goalies Demi Carter and Tori Gluyas are strong within the goal circle and shoot with accuracy throughout the game.

Kalangadoo's Lauren Kain will need to show leadership and guidance through the defensive end of the court, creating pressure and causing turnovers.

Down the other end Magpies Abbey Duncan and Ebony McDiarmid will need to move well and shoot with accuracy, to avoid any turnovers by Robe defenders Emma Grant and Georgia Perkins.

Annie Regnier and Emily Hunter's strength around the circle will also create issues for the Kalangadoo attack line.

This will be another tough game with the potential to go either way.

MOUNT BURR V TANTANOOLA

Mount Burr hosts the Tantanoola in its first home game for the season.

Both teams will come out hard, fighting to get the points on the board.

Mount Burr's Laura Schultz drives hard onto the circle and will feed her goalies, Ebony Clarke and Lauren Wheeler, with patience and accuracy.

Tantanoola's goalie combination of Jami Walker and Keryl Ousey are both able to shoot accurately and will be fed well from outside the circle by Casey Walker and Kate Varcoe. Mount Burr defenders Megan Thiele and Olivia Dean will get their hands to any loose balls, and force turnovers from the Tigers with the added pressure from outside the circle from Simone Westerman.

Tantanoola is able to pull from a strong defensive line-up consisting of Emma Gould, Kate Bromley and Tayla Rowe, who all work hard and have a significant impact on the final score.

This is another game which could be close and has the ability to go either way.

The combination of Emily Hunter and Tori Gluyas will be important as Robe chase another victory.

Donna Jaeschke will look to control the centre-court for Glencoe. Pictures: FILE

New major sponsor

By David Gilbert

Following the successful move of the Millicent cup meeting back to Mount Gambier nearly 12 months ago, the Millicent Racing Club has the wheels in motion for this year's edition.

The popular cup meeting will be conducted on Sunday, May 28 at the Glenburnie race course, six kilometres east of Mount Gambier.

Last Sunday, Millicent Racing Club officials launched the annual meeting and entertained guests, members and sponsors at a function conducted at the Millicent racecourse.

At the helm of the club for his third term is John Payne, with Naomi Winter taking over the role as secretary.

Ron Wood continues on as the treasurer, with Brenton McMillan and Jeremy Kenny again as vice presidents.

There is a changing of the guard in regards to the club's major sponsor which, for several years, has been the local business 3MP.

Stepping into the new role is another local company, John Chay and Co., headed by keen racing club supporter John Chay.

One of the club's long standing fundraisers is the 600 Club and the two recipients to have races named in their honour at the cup meeting next month were drawn out of the hat by long-term Wattle Range councillor Peter Dunnicliff at the function.

Those successful were G Square and Bowman and Bowman, while the standby recipient in case an extra race is added to the program is the Somerset Hotel-Motel.

On Friday, May 26, the club's annual calcutta will be conducted at a new venue at the Millicent RSL hall from 7pm.

Since the Millicent Racing Club moved to TAB status and began racing on Sundays in 1999, the club has organised a high-profile race day luncheon, which has become extremely popular.

Now known as the Redelva luncheon – after Millicent's famous racehorse – it is held in the member's dining room at the Mount Gambier racecourse.

The luncheon encompasses a three course meal, all drinks (alcoholic and soft) and bookings can be made with either John Payne (0455 220 427) or Naomi Winter (0427 812 738).

Pair take top prize

A field of 24 took to the Millicent Bowling Club greens for last week's 2-4-2 competition.

The winning team on the day was the Joy Warren and David Riechelt duo, who secured the overall honours and the $24 prize pool with a score of 32+11.

John Silis and Adreana Ross paired up to finish runners-up with their score of 31+5 enough to take home the $5 bar voucher.

Other winning teams for the day were Peter Dunnicliff and Neil Whelan, Denis and Mary Clifford, Steve Skeer and Terry Barnes, plus Ian Ross and Derk Pietersma.

Adreana Ross and John Silis finished runners-up in last week's Millicent 242 event.

Riding into history: Top honours for Taylor

By James Murphy

Yorke's Corey Taylor claimed the recent 55th Robe Easter Classic surfing competition honours.

In doing so he also created a piece of history, with his win resulting in the first father-son duo on the winner's list.

Taylor's father won the event twice in 1980 and 1982 and Corey is now eager to come back and beat his old man's record.

Another first had the Classic held at "The Dump" surf break near Doorway Rock, a location which had never been used for the event before.

The break presented challenging waves, but were the best available in the trying conditions.

"Considering the conditions, it was pretty good," Easter Classic organiser Sam Woolston said.

"It would probably have been tough to find any other location on that day in South Australia with waves that contestable."

One benefit of the location was its ease of access for spectators, as previous years had the event held at Stony Rise, which requires a 4WD to access.

"It was really good for the spectators and there were a lot of waves," Woolston said.

"We probably averaged about 30 or more waves caught in a heat and there were 16 heats.

"So there was probably over 400 waves caught on the day."

Competition remained fierce despite the conditions and in the end it was a two-horse race between Taylor and Luke Sykora.

"The Dump is a very tricky wave to surf and it takes years to really get the hang of it," Woolston said.

"But the good guys like Corey Taylor, Luke Sykora and that were out there surfing it as well as anyone has ever surfed it before."

Taylor blitzed his heats and sat in a good spot heading into the finals, while Woolston said Sykora's semi-final had him post the best heat score of the day.

"We thought (Sykora) was probably the man to beat in the final, but he didn't quite get the waves in the final."

Max Longhurst rounded out the podium in third, while Brett Edwards finished fourth.

The Doctor Jacob best local was claimed by Ben Harris, who defended his 2022 title with a strong effort.

"He has won it seven times now and so has Jade Russell, so they are tied for the most wins," Woolston said.

"Ben hardly surfs 'The Dump' and he actually surfed it really well."

Flynn Peel was the runner-up local, while Mark Bruce, Harry Hooper and Kaiden Carter filled the minor placings.

Other awards had Fred Batzias take the best wipeout, while the Ian Jennings local incentive went to Charles Moore.

Lock blitzes

There were 18 women who competed in a stroke round for the monthly medal at the Millicent Golf Club last week and Karen Lock blitzed the field with a nett score of 66.

The B-Grader was a class above as she finished eight strokes ahead of her nearest competitor in Sharne Peacock, who was runner-up in B Grade.

Heather Anderson claimed the A Grade win with a nett score of 75.

In a nail-biting contest, Kathy Webber finished runner-up on a count-back, just one shot behind Anderson.

Lock also took out the nine-hole competition on the back nine as well as the nearest to pin on the third hole.

Anderson was the winner for the least putts with 29, while Sue Ireland was the winner on the fairways with 14 strokes.

Webber took out the nearest to pin for the second shot on the 12th hole, while Bec Shanks was the nearest on the second shot on the fifth hole and Karen Altschwager was the winner for the second shot on the 17th.

Matt Tilby to lead Penola

By Lachlan Onions

There is a new face at the helm of the Penola Football Club with Matt Tilby taking over as president in 2023.

Tilby takes over from Marcus Devereux, who was in charge at Penola for six seasons.

"I am really excited," Tilby told The Penant.

"The club has been in good hands with Marcus Devereux over the previous six years and I am looking forward to continuing the work Marcus has done along with the committee.

"I think the club is in a good spot, we just need to keep improving and keep working together."

Tilby has been a mainstay with the Eagles for over a decade in both playing and coaching roles.

"I first came to Penola in 2011 as a player and played for a couple of years," he said.

"I was then on the committee and have also done some coaching of the Reserves, A Grade and Under 17's teams."

Tilby is hopeful the club can continue to grow under his leadership and not become stagnant.

"I just want to create an environment that is enjoyable for everyone," he said.

"I want us to be competitive while continuing to improve on and off the field as well as creating a good community environment."

It has been a busy off-season for the Eagles and Tilby is confident for the year ahead.

"It has been a good preseason, the numbers on the training track have been really positive and junior numbers have been good also," he said.

"We have had some good fundraisers too with the rodeo and a few dinners at the club.

"Things have been going really well and we have been moving along in a pretty positive direction."

The Kowree Naracoorte Tatiara Football and Netball League kicks off this weekend, with Penola travelling to play Kingston for Round 1.

Matt Tilby has taken over as president of the Penola Football Club.

Building chemistry: Eagles ready for netball season

By Lachlan Onions

The Penola Eagles will return to the court this weekend for the opening round of Kowree Naracoorte Tatiara netball and will likely be one of the benchmark sides in the competition again this year.

Kaitlin Egan remains as coach of the A Grade side and will also return to the court after missing the majority of the last few seasons through pregnancy.

"I am really excited," she said.

"I am looking forward to Saturday's game, it feels like for me personally it has been probably two or three years out of the game.

"I am really looking forward to getting out there and playing with the team this year."

Egan was pleased with how preseason had panned out for the A Grade side with a major focus on building the chemistry for the team.

Penola took on Hatherleigh twice in preseason and also faced off against Port MacDonnell under lights.

"It was nice to play a couple of Mid South East teams and work out a couple of combinations and what was going to be best for the year ahead," Egan said.

In a major boost for Penola's A Grade netball side, Kaitlin Egan will return to the court as playing coach for the Eagles in 2023.

The Eagles will be without Ash Earl and Maddy Teakle this season but have brought in some exciting new recruits to fill the void.

"We had the return of Chelsea Galpin," Egan said.

"She has been at Hatherleigh the last three years but she is back and will go into the defensive circle.

"We also picked up a new girl in Tegan Lythgo, she is a Penola girl but has played at Kalangadoo ever since she started playing.

"She is only 14 and she will be playing goal attack for us which is super exciting.

"She is raw but she has got so much potential so it is exciting for the club to have these other players injected."

Egan said Jordyn Adams, Brooke Klemm, April Possingham and Siobhan Adams will be pivotal players for her side.

"We will see how Jordyn Adams goes with her premier league commitments but she is back on board for this year," Egan said.

"We had her in our premiership year (2021) but she hurt her ACL last year so she has been out but now she is back.

"Brooke Klemm is playing again and it is exciting to have her experience in the defensive circle with Chelsea (Galpin).

"They are already building such a beautiful connection with one another and it is exciting to have two speedy defenders who are both quite clean."

Penola will once again look to Possing-ham in attack after she led the league in goals scored last season with a monster total of 576.

"She has been a rock for us as goal shooter for the last five years," Egan said.

"She is really finding new ways to add different things to her game as well as working with other players around her."

Egan was also excited to see the return of Siobhan Adams at centre this season.

"It is great to have her back on board as well," she said.

"Her expertise in the middle and her brilliant defensive efforts are really helpful for the circle defenders."

Penola travels to Kingston in Round 1 for a battle against the unknown as the Saints have not had an A Grade side in several years.

"I have never played Kingston in the five years that I have been at Penola," Egan said.

"They have not had an A Grade team in five years so I am glad they have managed to get a team together because they have got some strong junior teams.

"I am not really sure what they are going to be like but I know they picked up a couple of players and have some really strong juniors.

"It should be an exciting game for us."

Eagles locked and loaded

By Lachlan Onions

There is a sense of excitement at Penola as the Eagles prepare to kick-start their 2023 Kowree Naracoorte Tatiara Football League campaign this weekend with a trip to Kingston.

Brad Maney will return as coach for the A Grade football side in his second season at the helm and is excited for the year ahead.

"2022 was a tough year for my first year as a senior coach and for us as a club in a development year," he said.

"We feel that 2023 is going to show the hard work we put in last year.

"Our preseason has been great, I have been really happy with how it has all gone.

"We placed a huge emphasis on our fitness and we knew as a KNTFL club, we were not fit enough (last year) and I feel as though we have worked really hard on that."

Penola has been bolstered with an influx of new recruits, with Thomas Williams, Jordan Galpin, Brodie Foster, Jayden Eldridge and Matt Ferguson donning the blue and white for 2023.

"They have been fantastic," Maney said.

"It is always good to get fresh voices and what is probably the most pleasing part of each of the recruits we were lucky enough to get is that they are all leaders.

"It is one thing to say you want 21 leaders on a football field but it is another thing incorporating that belief into each player that they actually can be a leader.

"I feel as though this year we are going to have leaders across every line on the oval."

Maney said this additional leadership was priceless for his team which has several young players across the field.

"Jordan Galpin and Thomas Williams have both gone away to the Mid South East and have been leaders at different clubs," he said.

"It shows the quality people they are and we are just thankful they are returning now as far more developed people.

"They have always been fantastic footballers but they have really grown up in a different environment and we are going to get the most out of them."

After making several signings throughout the off-season, Penola has managed to keep the majority of the squad together but will be without Zac Deane, Taj Messenger and Luke Walker this year.

"Unfortunately we lost Zac (Deane) back to Robe but that is a family decision and we fully support him - he was fantastic for us," Maney said.

"Luke Walker was a powerful wingman for us and he is moving up to Port Lincoln so we wish him all the best.

"Taj Messenger is travelling this year so unfortunately we will not have him as well."

Brad Bryant will return as co-captain this season and will stand alongside Brad Merrett, who was Penola's best and fairest for 2022.

"I am really pleased for Brad Merrett to be co-captain of our club," Maney said.

"He has really grown up over the past 12 to 18 months and he is a genuine leader.

"He has played a lot of high-level football and was incredible last year but I feel as though our playing group really respect him as a leader now - not just as a player.

"That has been one of the more exciting aspects of the preseason."

While there is still a large unknown about how the Eagles will perform this season, Maney remains confident his side will improve on last year.

"One thing about the KNTFL is that you do not really have any idea who is going to be good and where you are going to be until about Round 10," he said.

"We will be more competitive, I am definitely confident of that, but where that puts us in instead for the pointy end of the season I have no idea and that is exciting."

The Eagles face a difficult contest to begin the season as they take on Kingston, who won nine games and finished fifth last season.

"We just want to start well," Maney said.

"We have done a mountain-load of work on how we want to play and the brand of football that Penola will stand for but what we cannot do is expect a team like Kingston to let us do what we want.

"They have signed some good recruits in the off-season and they are a proud club with a new coach so we are expecting them to be very tough to beat."

Netballers prepare for season opener

Millicent travels to play East Gambier in the opening round of Western Border netball.

The Saints enter the season without multi-premiership players Hannah and Paige Nitschke, who have moved to Adelaide for study, but there remains plenty of familiar faces and experience.

East on the other hand will sport a new-look line-up, with Bo Creek and Tarsh McCallum at the helm.

Millicent remains fairly settled, with plenty of depth to call on.

Its tried and true shooting combination of Demi Verbena and Tabatha Sanderson will again test defensive combinations.

Sanderson is strong under the post and Verbena's creativity out front and speed on the drive always causes havoc, as does her long-range accuracy.

The mid court has the experience of Lisa Duldig, the talent of Lillie Paul and speed of Daisy Tunkin.

That trio can also take on any of the centre-court roles, giving coaches Donna Denton and Michelle Skeer valuable versatility.

Defensively, the Saints have an embarrassment of riches with Portia McRae, Lauren VanEeden, the returning Kimmi Tincknell and new recruit Nikeisha Facey.

They are all tight-checking defenders who are especially strong in the air and their work over the shot and rebounding is as good as any defenders in the competition.

For the Bulldogs there will be no Amryn Bosko and Tyne Bosko, which left some gaps to fill.

There are some new faces to the competition which will take on that task.

Reigning WBNA A Grade best and fairest

Emily Hunter is also a huge loss with the star mid courter heading to Robe to play alongside her sister.

The shooting circle will be all about movement and long-range accuracy with the likes of Renee Henke, Casey Horrigan and new recruit Maddison Taylor ready to use their speed and good timing on the move to unsettle defenders.

At the other end of the court, there is a plethora of defensive options.

2022 circle combination Morgan Amy and Creek will continue to make life tough for goalers, while Sharna McKinnon is another athletic defender who can fill any of the back three defensive roles.

Another new recruit is Eliza Cole from Adelaide and she does her best work at the defensive end of the court.

McCallum will lead the mid court with her speed and smarts and her role will be critical as the new-look Bulldogs' attack line looks to develop their chemistry, while utility Chloe Perryman can take on any role.

Her defensive skills, her hard running and her pinpoint passing will see her loom as a key pillar of the 2023 line-up whether she takes a mid court or defensive role.

Youngster Indi Dwyer will also get her chance to impress.

With a Round 1 match looming this Saturday, the Saints are the more settled and experienced team and will take the points over a rebuilding Bulldogs.

Tabatha Sanderson will be looked to for her usual accuracy under the post throughout Millicent's 2023 netball campaign.

Mundulla took out the 2023 Limestone Coast Women's Football League premiership on Sunday in a comprehensive display against North Gambier.

Speaking to The Border Watch after the game, Mundulla coach Michael Hunt said "he could not be prouder" of the girls.

"I am over the moon," he said.

"This bunch of girls, you could tell early in the season that the group really clicked and they have been so easy to get on with.

"They were all working for each other and after each training they would sit around and chat for half an hour.

"They have been really terrific, there is a great feel around the club, they work hard and everything they have achieved, they really deserve.

In windy conditions at Vansittart Park, the two Tigers sides faced off and Mundulla took the ascendancy early with the breeze on its side.

Mundulla kicked the first four goals of the game and went into the first break with a 25-0 lead.

Hunt said the first quarter with the wind was crucial.

"It meant we could put all the players behind the ball and start tightening up," he said.

"The girls transitioned well into the breeze and also got a goal in the last quarter which was nice."

However, North soon hit back in the second stanza and goals from Emmason Ilsley and Luca Roulstone meant the hosts went into the long break trailing by just 13 with the score 26-13.

With the game still in the balance and a comeback not off the cards from North Gambier, Mundulla stood tall in the premiership quarter and held the hosts scoreless.

Hunt's side added 1.6 (12) in the term to head into the last change with a 25-point lead.

the ball in its forward half for the majority of the last quarter, North was unable to make any indentations to the lead and added just four minor scores for the term.

Mundulla's Lisa Hawker scored the only goal of the final quarter to put the icing on the cake as her side went on to claim a 27-point victory.

Mundulla co-captain Casey Lodewyk was named best on ground and kicked two goals for the game.

She was supported by Erin Horsnell, who also kicked two majors, as well as Hawker and Kaylene Rowett, who kicked one goal each.

Hunt was full of praise for his entire side this season and gave credit to several members of his team.

"Our midfield has been tremendous all year," he said.

"Casey Lodewyk, Erin Horsnell, Nat Twigden and our rucks who were new at the game all stood up well.

"Our wings, Zoe Hawker and Anna Will have been awesome and in our backline, Kellsey Hinge has just been amazing at centre half-back as well as Kaylene Rowett.

"It has been a terrific all-round team effort."

Tigers pounce on Hawks

KYBYBOLITE 8.5 (53) d
KONGORONG 2.8 (20)

Kybybolite took out the Group B women's football grand final on Sunday with a strong 33-point win over Kongorong.

The Tigers put their foot on the gas early and took a 14-0 lead at the first break of the Limestone Coast women's football consolation match.

They then battled the wind in the second quarter but restricted Kongorong to just four minor scores and kicked two goals themselves to take a 22-point lead at half time.

The Hawks went into the premiership quarter still with a slim chance of claiming victory but their hopes were soon dashed as the Tigers kicked three goals to extend the lead to 43 with one quarter to play.

However, Kongorong refused to be pushed over and put up a solid fight in the final term as it dictated the contest.

Taylor Cozzi and Sheba Miller gave the Hawks their first two goals of the game as they won the final quarter and reduced the deficit to 33 points.

Genevieve Blake was in inspired form in the Tigers' forward line as she took contested marks and kicked four majors.

She was supported by Ella Boston, Amelia Frick, Ella Green and Taylor Ryan who all scored one goal.

Frick was named the best player for Kybybolite, while Kongorong's Evie Sealey put in a strong performance in the midfield and was named best on ground for the match.

This was the second straight year the Tigers have taken home silverware after they won the Group A grand final in 2022.

Saints gear up for 2023

By James Murphy

Millicent remains under the tutelage of three-time premiership coach Clint Gallio as it marches into the 2023 Western Border football season.

Gallio has led the senior team to the last two consecutive A Grade titles, while the first success with him at the helm broke the club's 34-year drought back in 2018.

Now the question remains, can the Saints go for the three-peat?

Gallio said preseason had gone well and everyone was fit and ready to go for Round 1.

"We have had a good buy in from the group again and overall I would say it has been a pretty successful preseason," he said.

"We have been working on a few things which we thought were a weakness last year.

"I think everyone is just ready to play now."

There have been some movements in the off-season and Millicent will be without a few key players.

Tom Hutchesson and Dylan Bromley have both left the club in favour of Mid South Eastern Football League pursuits, while youngsters Frazer Bradley, Eli Redman and Kalan Shanks have moved on to test their talents at Glenelg.

The remainder of the roster should look same, with a handy pickup in Micah Rupcic.

"(Rupcic) is a new fella and he has just moved to Beachport with his family," Gallio said.

"He used to play in the Hills and is going to be a handy addition for us."

There has been a keen focus on junior talent at Millicent over recent years and that is expected to continue this season.

"We have had a couple come in and some other kids stepping up," Gallio said.

"Hamish McRae and Jack Verbena are both junior footballers of Millicent and they are going to play again."

Clint Gallio will lead the Saints again as coach in 2023, with the season to open against the Bulldogs on Saturday night.

Gallio said Millicent's game style should remain the same, with hopes to use its good runners inside and outside the contest.

However, there has been a focus on defence leading into this campaign.

"We have been concentrating on some defensive stuff that we wanted to improve on," Gallio said.

"That has been working really well and hopefully we can cause some turnovers from that."

The Saints have had a couple of preseason hitouts, which Gallio said helped shed some light on areas for improvement.

"We had a trial game against Kalangadoo a few weeks back in Millicent and then Naracorte a couple of weeks ago," he said.

"We got touched up fairly well (by Naracorte), they are a pretty handy side.

"That was really good for us to really test us out and play against a high-quality team with some real high-quality players in it.

"We found some things out we need to improve on which was a bonus."

Despite their losses, the Saints have plenty of depth at their disposal and have still retained some talented youngsters.

"Kade Varcoe and Josh Werchon are two that come to mind," Gallio said.

"They are only 19 years old and they have won a couple of grand finals now.

"They have had solid trainings and a lengthy period where they have been doing good work.

"Then there are a couple of young kids coming through who are going to get some opportunities and I am really looking forward to watching them play.

"Jacob Todd and Ashton Lindner will probably get a chance at some stage."

When asked about the prospect of a three-peat, Gallio stressed it was still early days.

"We have done what we can and as the season goes on we will have to tweak a few things," he said.

"We are not getting too carried away, but obviously you play footy to win a grand final, so that is the aim.

"Whether it is one in a row, your first one in 40 years or three in a row - I think you try to approach them all pretty similar and just try to keep improving."

The Saints start their campaign with a Saturday night game under lights against East Gambier at McDonald Park, with the match to kick off at 5pm.
