Hundreds gather for dawn service

Millicent's 2023 ANZAC service held at Millicent's Cross of Sacrifice saw more than 300 people gather for the dawn service.

Members of the Mount Gambier 48CU formed the catafalque and for the second year, the Naracoorte troop of the 3rd Light Horse Regiment joined the march.

Runner selected

By Caroline Hammat

Recently selected by Athletics Australia to represent the country in the 2023 World Mountain Trail Running Championships, Dannielle Vanderheul's training schedule has stepped up a notch.

The busy single mum of two is fitting in her training between work and study before heading to Austria this June.

After recently gaining access approval from Mount Muirhead's property owner, the runner may be spotted tackling the steep incline as part of her hill training.

The trip will be the first time Ms Vanderheul has travelled internationally and she is embarking on the adventure on her own.

Submitting her application for the race in March it was only a month later Ms Vanderheul found out she is one of 36 athletes representing Australia at the event and one of two from South Australia.

"It was quite a shock to be accepted because my elevation experience is quite low compared to the other runners who are from the Grampians, Blue Mountains or Tasmania.

"I'm still quite a novice."

A distance runner in her school days, it wasn't until after her eldest child was born that a four km Life Be In It Fun Run rekindled her love of the sport.

By 2019 Ms Vanderheul had begun racing competitively and in the last two and half years she has achieved a podium finish in 19 of 22 race starts.

The opportunity to run in the international event is the next step in progressing her athletics career.

Beginning in Innsbruck and ending in Stubai the 44.6km short trail course winds through picturesque villages and alpine terrain over 3,000 metres above sea level in places.

Ms Vanderheul's travel plan is for 12 days which will give her a few days to adjust to Austria's high elevation before her race begins on June 7th.

Support for young leaders

Young people across the Wattle Range Council (WRC) region are now eligible for a $1,000 leadership grant.

The Youth Leadership Development Program has been introduced to encourage anyone aged up to 30 who live, and work or volunteer in the Wattle Range region to undertake leadership training.

Employees or employers can apply for the grant which encompasses a wide range of courses, certificates or post graduate qualifications.

WRC Director Development Services, Emma Clay encouraged businesses to apply.

“There can be a large spectrum of what that training can look like, depending on the business,” she said.

Up to $10,000 per financial year has been allocated to the program.

Grants are awarded on a dollar-for-dollar basis up to $1000 unless special circumstances apply.

Applications and guidelines are available through the council website.

Bait begins

By Charlotte Varcoe

Pet owners are being made aware of fox baiting happening in OneFortyOne forests near Tarpeena and Nangwarry as well as the Comaum and Myora Forests and Mount McIntyre.

OneFortyOne will use a product which contains the chemicals Para-Aminopropiophenone which are approved for use by the Australian Pesticides and Veterinary Medicines Authority.

Neighbours and neighbouring communities have been notified and signs have been installed in the areas targeted.

OneFortyOne estate manager Cameron Shaw said the plantation does not use 1080 poison and if pets or other animals do accidentally ingest the bait, there was an antidote available.

“Baits are always buried and are only laid away from tracks to prevent accidental exposure,” Mr Shaw said.

“If you are walking your dog within the forest, we recommend you keep them on a leash.”

Who are the other two ladies in this photo with Mary Leach, Ann Reeves and Jean Pocock?

Two names needed

South East Family History Group has many partially identified photos in their collection, this group of five women is one of those.

The ladies on the far left and far right are unnamed.

Mary Leach, Ann Reeves and Jean Pocock have previously been identified as the three women in the middle.

It is unknown why the photo was taken, when or where.

If you can help please contact South East Family History Group researcher Colleen Hammat at the SEFHG on Wednesday or Saturday 1-5pm on 8733 1100 (or leave a message) or via email info@sefhg.org.

A dazzling display of the Aurora Australis

By Caroline Hammat

Local aurora hunters have been treated to an outstanding display of the Aurora Australis over the last week as solar storm activity hit the earth's magnetic field.

Activity peaked very early Monday morning and late that night with the coloured beams viewable to the naked eye.

Usually a camera is needed to view the range of colours.

Perrie Thomas is one of two moderators of a local facebook group, Limestone Coast Aurora Hunters, that is uniting people wanting to view and photograph the phenomena.

The page is increasing in popularity due to the rise in aurora activity which is part of a long solar cycle that is still yet to peak.

“The sun cycle goes through ebbs and waves and we are kind of about half way through the incline into what I think is solar maximum in 2025.

“Activity is definitely increasing” Mr Thomas said.

“Monday morning I was looking at activity that was 45 degrees off the horizon and it was clear to the naked eye, it was so strong.

“I was seeing huge beams of white and as the white was getting stronger and the ambient light was getting stronger all the tops of the beams turned red, the colour was absolutely amazing.

“I only stopped shooting because the sun came up.”

Mr Thomas, now based in Tantanoola, first began shooting the phenomena as a new photographer.

“Brooklyn (my wife) and myself lived in Southern Adelaide and I happened to be scrolling Facebook one afternoon and noticed people talking about an aurora and seeing it from Australia.

“Being a beginner photographer it piqued my interest so we packed a picnic, a change of clothes and drove down to Petrel Cove at Victor Harbor.

“We slept in the car overnight.

“At about midnight the storm hit and I was one of three people in the Southern hemisphere that caught photos of that particular storm because everyone else was clouded out.”

Eight years on the professional photographer has continued to photograph aurora's but now uses better equipment.

Recently the photographer held several basic astro photography workshops to assist members of the Facebook group after seeing the same questions asked daily about which settings to use.

The workshops have proved popular with the recent solar activity giving participants the opportunity to try their new skills.

“It's basically get your camera out of auto because when you are taking night photography you need to be in full manual mode and there are a few tricks for getting a half decent shot.

“My aim was to get everyone the basics and if they nail that they've got the capability to produce a reasonable image of print quality.”

Trail training's underway

There is always the possibility of a winning place but Ms Vanderheul is realistic about her chances.

"I don't think there is a chance to be on the podium.

"Not to be negative but I'm against very experienced people who run these mountains every single day.

"It makes it challenging and I'm definitely going to come back with a world full of knowledge.

"I'm a little bit anxious, it's something that is out of my comfort zone, six months ago I didn't think this was possible.

"A little country girl running out in the pines, I'm excited for the experience and the connections I'm going to make.

"It's going to help me grow as a runner and as a person, I'm going to feel like I can do anything after this."

Her most recent run was the 58 km Five Peaks Athelstone to Belair marathon in the Adelaide Hills.

After winning this event in 2022, this year she surpassed her previous time by 40 minutes and won the 2023 event in 6 hours and 12 minutes.

The Five Peaks marathon was a highlight because, alongside the podium finish and smashing her previous record, it was the first time her children Harvey (11) and Lily (9) crossed the finish line with her.

"They've never been able to do it before because they have never been at the finish line" she said.

"Normally they go and do something with one of my friends, but this one my cousin brought them to.

"It's the first time they have seen me finish properly and they got to run over the line with me."

In the last six months Ms Vanderheul has invested in her sport and has an Adelaide based coach, a Melbourne based mentor and local personal trainer Kelsey Wight all helping prepare for the race.

As well as the recent Adelaide Hills event

Dannielle Vanderheul wearing her recent Five Peaks marathon medallion is heading to the other side of the world to represent Australia.

Ms Vanderheul recently completed a marathon in Bright to help adjust to the elevation and hills she will face in Austria.

Further training has also seen her first park run completed at Naracoorte in under 20 minutes and the runner aims to improve on this time for the five km run.

Ms Vanderheul already undertakes a five km run every day often during her lunch break.

"I started in SA's first lockdown in 2020.

"I got bored and ran in my backyard, 52 laps got my five kms up and that is where the streak sort of started, I'm up to something like 880 days.

"That's what helps me with my running as well, consistency.

"My main concern when I go to Austria is I'll have to run in the airport during the stop-over.

Asked why she does it, Ms Vanderheul said It is a complete mental, physical challenge and "you are completely self reliant".

"You can't rely on anyone else to get you through," she said.

"You get to a point where you're in a zone, you are focused, your body is hurting and you just have that mental capacity to push through.

"I think that is what I thrive on.

"I love trail running and get to see some amazing sites."

The world championships is a fully self funded event with airfares, accommodation, uniforms and race fees expected to be around $7,000 in total.

A Go Fund Me page to help support the athlete represent Australia has been set up by her friend Rozanna Clarke.

"It was a group decision between myself

Danielle jumps for joy at her recent Five Peaks 58km marathon win.

Trails are Dannielle's favourite races to run. Picture: SUPPLIED and Danni's close circle of friends to create the Go Fund Me," Ms Clarke said.

"We all know how hard she has worked to be in this position and we didn't want the hefty cost of this trip to stop it from happening.

"She is a complete inspiration to all of us and we are beyond proud of her.

"We can't wait to see what she will do in Austria."

The runner is aware the cost of living rises are making it difficult for many at the moment and is appreciative of any financial support received in her quest to represent Australia and Millicent on the international stage.

Her Go Fund Me can be found on that website by searching Danni V to represent Australia or gofund.me/6c4a1a6d.

It is hoped a continuous live stream of the race will be accessible via the Innsbruck-Stubai 2023 website in June.

The Davenport Street office set to become the new home of Professional Wind Services.

Towers Road rail land future still to be decided.

Professional Wind Services breezes in to new building

By Caroline Hammat

After remaining empty since August 2020 the South Eastern Times office at 42 Davenport Street is set for a new lease of life.

Purpose built for the town's only newspaper in the mid 1960s, the building has remained empty since its office closure during the covid pandemic.

Local businessman Kym Dodd has purchased the premises for his Professional Wind Services (PWS) business and started moving in this week.

The lease on their previous shop front at the corner of Stuckey and Davenport Streets was not up for renewal which left the business looking for a new home and staff working from home while between offices.

Options to purchase or rent the new property were both considered by Mr Dodd.

"There's not a lot of availability around and we had to make the decision," he said.

"We don't have the luxury of being able to renovate it before moving in, so we will get in there and do a few renovations.

"We haven't really finalised what we will do with the property.

"We've got a bit of a floor plan of what's existing there and it's largely what we need with the layout and the offices and a bit of storage out the back.

"We probably won't change the floor plan, just redo bathrooms, put a bit of a kitchen in it and then probably glass partitioning between the offices."

Mr Dodd employs about 130 staff both installing and maintaining wind turbines nationally and in New Zealand.

The majority of the staff work remotely leaving around eight staff members working from the new Millicent based site.

It is the second recent real estate investment in the town's centre for Mr Dodd who, in partnership with Jack Davies, purchased the former parcel of railway lands along Towers Road in December last year.

Currently zoned Community Facilities, the new owners have yet to confirm plans for the 1.55ha site.

"The zoning is a bit of a challenge in terms of the flexibility, it's quite restrictive," Mr Dodd said.

"In an ideal world we would do residential but based on the zoning that might not be possible, so we will look at other options.

"We are not committed to anything specific, whether it's residential or we try and do a mixed use or we do something more community focused.

"We'd like to probably discuss potential with the council at some point and get their thoughts.

"We are pretty keen and think it's a really good opportunity, not just for us, but for the town.

"Being very close to the hospital, dog park and tourist information it's a really good location."

There is also a new owner for the 3.7ha railway lands lot that runs the length of Railway Terrace and includes the former 1926 railway station building and a telecommunications tower.

Current zoning of the Railway Terrace land includes a mixture of Suburban Activity Centre (commercial) and Community Facilities.

The local purchaser wishes to remain unnamed but has revealed long term plans to green the space and make it user friendly.

They have a long term goal of turning it into a public user parkland including bike trails, tracks and walk troughs but stressed the proposal is still in its very early days with a lot of planning to do.

Glencoe unites for service

Members of the Glencoe community gathered at the Glencoe Shop and marched to the local war memorial as the bag pipers played for the Anzac Day dawn service.

Organised by the Glencoe Progress Association, the service involved many members of the community.

Students from Glencoe Central Primary School were involved in the service with Jasmine, Charlotte and Taylor reading poems Flanders Fields and The Toast.

Councillor Dale Price represented the Wattle Range Council and read the story of Provo William Medhurst who was killed in action in 1918.

Wreaths were laid on behalf of the Wattle Range Council, Member for MacKillop Nick McBride, Glencoe Central Primary School, Glencoe Progress Association, and the Country Fire Service before attendees were invited to decorate the Anzac Memorial with knitted poppies.

Once the service concluded, the community was invited into the Glencoe Hall for a gunfire breakfast.

Lead by Alex Hamilton and Dale Price the Glencoe community marched towards the Glencoe War Memorial before the dawn service began.

Kalangadoo remembers

By Sophie Conlon

The Kalangadoo community came together to commemorate Anzac Day a few days early, as it has done for generations.

More than 100 community members gathered at the cemetery on Sunday, April 23, to pay their respects to soldiers who have fought in wars to protect our country.

During the ceremony, a new plaque was unveiled at the cemetery which pays respect to all the people of Kalangadoo who fought and died at war.

It was unveiled by John and Pauline Carmichael, descendants of Private Alexander Carmichael Gibb, who died at sea on his journey to Gallipoli and who was previously missing from the plaque due to lack of information.

The service this year was in honour of Private Alan Mattner, Corporal Desmond Osborne and Private Ian Robinson.

The three men were all involved Kalangadoo Community members and their family members were proud to lay wreaths in remembrance of them.

After the dawn service all were invited back to the Kalangadoo Institute for a gunfire breakfast.

Anzac flags mark service

By Kathy Fennell

Several young local youth gathered at the Penola Cemetery on Monday, to place flags on the graves of returned servicemen and women. to pay their respects.

Organiser, Andi Zerk said the event was instigated some 15 years ago by her late uncle, Mr Pat Wilson, who was a returned serviceman.

“Unfortunately we haven’t been able to do it for the past three years due to Covid, so it was an honour to be able to place the flags again this year,” she said.

There were 120 flags placed on graves in both the old and new cemetery.

Some of the young people of Penola placed flags at the Penola cemetery.

COUNCIL COMMUNICATIONS

Current Consultations

Council is currently seeking community feedback on a number of topics:

- Council’s Draft Strategic Plan 2023-2027
- Council’s Draft Long Term Financial Plan 2023-2033
- Traffic Controls – Bonshor Street, Millicent
- Future of the Millicent Saleyards

For more details, including how to ‘have your say’ visit www.engage.wattlerange.sa.gov.au.

Hard copies are also available at Council Offices and the Millicent Library.

Community Mulch Days

Community mulch days are back! FREE mulch for Wattle Range Council residents and community groups.

- Millicent Saleyards (3rd Sunday of the month) Sunday, 21 May
- Penola Abbey Road Waste Facility (4th Sunday of every second month) Sunday, 28 May

From 10am to 2pm a loader will be onsite to fill your ute or trailer. Bring your personal protective equipment and a tarpaulin to cover your load. A disclaimer will also need to be signed prior to collection.

Questions? Contact Council’s Engineering Office on 8733 0901 or visit www.wattlerange.sa.gov.au/wasteinitiatives

Wood Collection Permits

With the conclusion of the Fire Danger Season on April 30, Council will begin to issue permits to collect fallen timber from certain roadsides within the Council area. There are a number of roadsides that collection is not permitted, a list of these roads is available on Council’s website.

Permits can be obtained from Council offices upon payment of a fee and are available only to residents of the Council area to collect wood for personal household use.

Permit holders should abide by the conditions listed on their permit. Failure to do so may result in penalties being applied. Penalties also apply to persons caught collecting wood without a permit.

Your Council Update

Have you read Council’s monthly newsletter ‘Your Council Update’? Look out for it on your local community noticeboard or read it on our website.

Have you found a dog?

If you find a stray dog, the quickest and most efficient way of locating its owner is to contact your local Council. Owners with lost dogs often seek Council assistance in locating their pet by leaving their contact details with staff should the animal be found.

If the dog is wearing a registration disc, or is microchipped, Council’s dog management officers will ensure the dog returns home as soon as possible.

Officers are on call outside normal business hours and should be contacted even if it is a weekend or public holiday on 8733 0900.

Contact Council 24/7

Council provides emergency after hours assistance in the areas of animals, roads, trees and Council buildings and facilities. If you have an issue phone Council on 8733 0900.

Light Horse back to serve

By Caroline Hammat

Millicent's 2023 ANZAC service held at Millicent's Cross of Sacrifice saw more than 300 people gather for the dawn service.

The crowd listened in silence as prayers were offered by Chaplain Paul Hales, and President of the Millicent RSL sub-branch Chris Matthias led the service.

Members of the Mount Gambier 48CU formed the catafalque and the service ended with the Australian and New Zealand anthem before the public were invited to the RSL Hall to join the gunfire breakfast.

The fine weather ensured hundreds also arrived for the mid morning service which began when returned servicemen led the customary march from The George Hotel.

Following were members of local emergency services, next of kin wearing family medals and veterans in vintage jeeps.

For the second year the Naracoorte troop of the 3rd Light Horse Regiment joined the march.

The 3rd Light Horse Regiment Naracoorte Troop were invited to return for their second outing forming the catafalque at the Millicent Cenotaph by Mr Mathias who requested the use of swords this year in their formation.

Member for Barker, Tony Pasin and Wattle Range Deputy Mayor Peter Dunncliff joined the mid morning service at the Cross of Sacrifice.

Speakers included Mr Matthias, Chaplain Hales and Bruce Clayson who read the poem, I saw the soldiers marching.

This year's service reflected on the contribution of the thousands of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people who have served Australia.

"The armed forces of Australia have always been culturally diverse, never more so than now," Mr Mathias said.

of the earth, they all have one thing in common though and that is the will to defend this country and its way of life.

"A country they call home, regardless of their origins, cultural beliefs or ethnicity."

Guest speaker Sgt David MacDonald from the 10/27 RSAR spoke of Australian's Indigenous soldiers and their struggle to be accepted as part of Australia's armed forces.

He told the story of Gunditjmarra man Reg Saunders who became Australia's highest profile Aboriginal soldier and one of the first Indigenous commissioned officers in the Australian Army.

The last post was played followed by one minute's silence before the flags were raised.

The service was concluded with the playing of both anthems and the Light Horse regiment dismounting.

Artist Peter Dunn is happy to see the work installed in its proposed site.

Art adds a natural touch

By Caroline Hammat

After six weeks of intermittent painting, artist Peter Dunn was on hand to see his mural installed in the new palliative care courtyard at the Millicent Hospital.

Two large 2.4 metre panels, inspired by Lake McIntyre, have been hung at right angles and although they are within the private courtyard area the mural can also be viewed from the hospital patient garden.

Ron Wood from Millicent and Districts Health Advisory Council (MDHAC) and Trevor Sinclair from Millicent and Surrounds Health Support Group were on hand to help affix the panels to the outdoor brick walls.

Mr Dunn still has some minor touchup paintwork to do before leaving the work for others to enjoy.

“We have a bit more to do but I’m really happy with the end result and looking forward to people’s response to it over the years” he said.

“It will be good to see how it changes throughout the day with the light and there will be different moods according to the weather.”

The $3,000 mural project was a collaboration between the artist, MDHAC and Imagine Millicent Arts Group (IMAG).

Laurie Dacy, MDHAC committee member said the project has been two years in the making.

“It’s been about two years since our director of nursing asked for help with the mural and it was just lucky I ran into Sandy from IMAG,” he said.

“It all happened really fast after that thanks to IMAG, they have most of the equity in the project, in fact they funded 5/6ths of it.”

The new palliative care room is close to completion with the final fit out currently underway.

Gas leak disrupts Kingston petrol station

CFS was supported by SAPOL and SAAS personnel and there were not reports of injury as a result of the leak.

Council halves funds offer

By Aidan Curtis

WATTLE Range Council (WRC) has halved the amount of money it was offering to replace two old transportable buildings at the Millicent Museum.

During the April general meeting, Council resolved to reduce the money it had allocated to replace the buildings from $520,000 to $250,000.

The revised sum was moved as a tied grant, meaning the Millicent National Trust Branch, which looks after the museum, would have to match or exceed the funding to receive the $250,000 from Council.

WRC chief executive Ben Gower met with the Millicent National Trust Branch committee following the resolution and said talks would be ongoing.

“We had a good conversation around the context of why the motion was moved the way it was, and then talked about opportunities for when we could collectively meet with National Trust [of South Australia],” Mr Gower said.

“I discovered during the meeting that they are going to be down here next week and have subsequently reached out .

“I haven’t connected with them yet, but I’m hoping to meet with the president of the National Trust when they’re down on the Limestone Coast to talk about the resolution.”

Mr Gower said he hopes to be able to bring all three parties to the table soon to discuss options, but it is too early to say what will happen with the funding.

Millicent National Trust Branch declined to comment.

The $250,000 will remain on offer until December 31, 2023.

Cellar doors aplenty, there’s even more to Coonawarra

By Jeffery Huddleston

This year’s grape harvest was a few weeks later than usual, but the fruit quality is suggesting a good 2023 vintage.

Business Manager at Balnaves of Coonawarra, Kirsty Balnaves, said vigneron were keen to get the remaining grapes off the vines before the big rains fall.

With 30 years experience in the wine industry, Mrs Balnaves is multi-tasked and holds an MR truck licence.

She is likely to get behind the wheel of the new truck at the urging of her brother, Peter.

“He said you’d better have a quick run through of the gears, because we might need you in the next few weeks,” she said.

“We got the whites off and they look fabulous, we picked the reds, and we’re starting to ramp up the Shiraz and Merlot, so there’s a fair bit of activity.”

Her experience extends further than Coonawarra, having been elected President of the South Australian Wine industry Association in September last year.

It has 230 members from the state’s wine regions and the major wine companies.

“We work with our members offering support for running businesses, such as Industrial Relations, work health and safety, and entering the export markets.

“SA represents about 50 per cent of Australia’s vineyard plantings, crushes 46.1 per cent of total tonnes of wine grapes and 60 per cent of wine produced in SA is exported to around 100 countries and is the third largest export from South Australia,” Ms Balnaves said.

“We’re connecting people from overseas with people from SA regions, interested in exporting to South Korea or Japan, among other destinations.

“There’s a lot going on in the wine industry at the moment,” Ms Balnaves said.

Locally, the wine industry has been promoted since 1980 by the Coonawarra Vignerons’ Association, amalgamating with the Coonawarra Grape Growers Association in 2013 ,becoming Coonawarra Grape and Wine Incorporated.

Recently appointed Executive Officer, Hugh Koch, has returned to the region after 22 years.

This body has 44 members ,who pay subscriptions ranging from base entry to more specialised operations.

“That has now given great strength to grape growers and those who are making or promoting wines,” Mr Koch said.

Beyond the harvest, some vigneron were keen to get the remaining grapes off the vines before the big rains fall.

Activities include the Penola Coonawarra Arts Festival in May, Cellar Dwellers in July, the Coonawarra Roadshow, visiting capital cities in August and the Cabernet celebrations in October.

“It’s not only about promotion and marketing , but advocating for our members about issues facing the industry”.

“Our role is to push the brand Coonawarra for our members.”

Mr Koch enjoys being back in the region.

“Coonawarra is like family, all wanting to push in the one direction for a common goal of promoting our region.”, he said.

Mr Koch believes Coonawarra is very well regarded internationally for its Cabernet point of difference.

Ms Balnaves said vigneron must now offer more than the cellar door for wine tourism.

“The days of just opening the cellar door and expecting people to come in are over.

“You have to offer different and unique experiences.

“Coonawarra has different offerings to the Barossa and the Adelaide Hills.

“Our region is a considered destination and buying experience.

“People can do different things at different wineries and I still think we’re a bit of a quiet find. They love the sense of community,” Kirsty said

At Balnaves, visitors are greeted at the front door by a staff member, who serves their table. Individual wine tasting options and cheese boxes are offered.

The $5 fee is donated to charities of Balnaves’ choice and more than $30,000 has recently been handed out.

Balnaves of Coonawarra has internationally experienced wine makers.

After studies in Melbourne and Adelaide combined with international vintage experience, born and bred local, Jacinta Jenkins, became assistant wine maker in 2018 ;then wine maker in 2020 .

Ms Jenkins said quality grapes are grown in the estate and she looks for elegance and longevity in their wines.

“We pick and de-stem the grapes , ferment them in open top tanks, mature them in oak for 12 months and then bottle the wine,” Ms Jenkins said.

She said the winery is well designed and suited to purpose.

“It’s quite user -friendly You can focus on the small details rather than logistics.

“We have a nice small team and it’s a pretty good environment”, Ms Jenkins said.

Originally from the UK, assistant wine maker Ali Fraquelli joined Balnaves of Coonawarra in June of last year.

“My focus is on ageability and producing good wines,” he said.“

He said the best thing is about learning.

“There’s a wealth of experience here at Balnaves,” he said.

Ms Balnaves said her state role has given her the opportunity to give back.

“The wine industry has given our family so much,’ she said.

“I’ve been in this industry for 30 years and I can have an influence on how it evolves at a different level,” Ms Balnaves said.

Commission hears issues

By Aidan Curtis

The push for better childcare and early learning services access in Kingston SE has bought the working group before the Royal Commission into Early Childhood Education and Care.

Kingston Early Learning and Childcare Services Working Group member Kristen Wilks represented the region as part of a panel which shared the voices and experiences of regional South Australians.

Ms Wilks, alongside Katie Hughes of Yorke Peninsula and Steph Wurst of Kangaroo Island, told the Royal Commission about the challenges involved in accessing childcare and the impact it has on rural communities.

She said the significance of being asked to present to Royal Commission was not lost on her.

“It was a privilege to be asked to appear as a representative of KELCS and the community of Kingston,” she said.

“The Royal Commission is really looking towards what can be implemented in the future rather than looking back at the past.

“The Royal Commission is an important part of the review process to seek the information and understand the early childhood education and care (ECEC) challenges that exist for modern families in SA, particularly in regions where there are accessibility issues.”

Ms Wilks said she “eagerly awaits” the findings in the Royal Commission’s final report, and that she hopes to see meaningful change come as a result.

“We are hoping for greater equity and equality for children and families who live in rural and remote South Australia with respect to early childhood education and care,” she said.

“To overcome the current barriers and disadvantage to create a new universal and all-encompassing quality ECEC system delivered through/by the State Government that meets the needs of children and modern families, particularly in the first 1000 days to set up a great foundation for the rest of their life.

“What we would like to see is ‘wrap around services’ that include access to health and parent services on site, includes preschool/ kindergarten and is co-located on school sites.”

Ms Wilks said she was a bit anxious about presenting to the Royal Commission at first.

“It’s not every day you get to have the attention of such an incredibly strong, intelligent and kind ex-PM in Commissioner Julia Gillard,” Ms Wilks said.

“It was a great personal experience, very nerve wracking and daunting with a lot of preparation, a written submission and very little sleep the night before, but a wonderful opportunity to represent the KELCS committee and the interests of working women and families from regional and remote SA.”

The Royal Commission’s final report is due to be delivered in August.

‘We thought if we can, we should’: Inclusive netball a hit

By Aidan Curtis

A new all abilities netball team in Kingston SE is proving to be a hit after just one training session.

The Kingston Saints Netball Club, in collaboration with disability support service Shine Your Way, has welcomed a brand new inclusive team to its ranks.

The Saints Squad, otherwise called S Squad, had its first training session on Thursday, April 20, to encourage people of all abilities to get involved in netball.

Shine Your Way director Lisa Bawden said initially pitched the idea to the netball club just to see what would happen and was surprised by how quickly it gained traction.

Ms Bawden said it all came about because her 15 year old daughter really wanted to play netball.

“Once you get to a certain age, an unwritten age, it becomes really quite difficult to play in team sports that aren’t centred around people with disabilities,” she said.

“I have a daughter who is nearly 16 and she really wanted to play netball, and she’s also got some friends that wanted to play netball, so we thought if we can, we should.

“I wrote the Saints Netball Club and threw this idea at them, and they honestly grabbed it with two hands - they saw all the potential and value in this idea, and we’ve put together an inclusive netball team.”

Kingston Saints Netball Club secretary Chelsey Rothall said the club’s committee was very excited to bring the idea to life.

“We immediately wanted to go ahead with the idea,” Ms Rothall said.

“We were all really excited and we thought it was a really good opportunity to get more people involved in the club and to give some other people opportunities to be involved in sport.

“I know that a lot of the younger girls have embraced the girls in the S Squad, which is really nice.”

Picture: FILE

Ms Bawden said the response from the community was excellent, with a lot of excitement bubbling around the inaugural training.

“The smiles and enthusiasm that were shown makes it all worthwhile,” she said.

“They thoroughly enjoyed it, they got to train in the rain, which is always a great experience for anyone playing winter sport.

“The goal to start with is they train every Thursday to learn the basics and fundamentals of netball.”

The club has already put together a games roster so the S Squad can test its skills against other other Saints teams, which Ms Bawden said will bring the everyone together.

“They’ll be playing, not every week, but it might be every second week or so against another team in the club right from the Under 13s through to the A Grade,” she said.

“They’ll play a game on a Thursday night to break down barriers about being inclusive in our club and opening up doors for everyone.

“It’s removing stigma, it’s about them having fun and being part of a team and a community and being accepted within their community, and being seen for the people that they are.”

Looking forward, Ms Bawden said she hopes to see the idea expand to other clubs around the Limestone Coast and beyond.

“My vision would be that we can take this all the way to hopefully running a country championship in Adelaide like they do with mainstream sport,” she said.

“I can’t see why these sorts of things can’t happen.”

Ms Bawden said absolutely everyone is welcome to join S Squad, regardless of ability.

“It is an inclusive, all abilities team, so it doesn’t matter if you don’t have a disability,” she said.

“If you’re just new to netball and you’re not quite ready for a competitive team sport, if you’re aged 10 and up, we welcome you to come along and learn the fundamentals of netball.

“Male, female, non-binary, everyone is welcome.”

Great news for the country that won't cost a cent

An open letter to Treasurer Jim Chalmers regarding the Budget

Dear Dr Chalmers,

There's a crisis in our country you can fix in your first budget, at no extra cost.

With the stroke of a pen you could help secure the future of critical regional news services, using money already allocated in the budget.

All you need to do is allocate a fairer percentage of the federal government's advertising budget to local and regional news services, rather than spending almost all of it with corporate capital city media and foreign-owned digital platforms (which don't produce any content or employ any journalists).

This can be achieved by simply adopting the Victorian Govt policy that mandates a weekly full page government advertisement in every regional and community paper.

Local and regional newspapers connect more than 80% of the country, but they get almost 0% of the government advertising spend.

In an era where false news spreads faster on social media than the truth does, trusted local news services reach more regional Australians than any other medium.

And unlike other media, every government dollar spent with a local newspaper is also an investment in regional journalism jobs.

This shouldn't be controversial.

A recent parliamentary inquiry recommended that a minimum of 20% of government print advertising should be placed with regional news services. A recent study conducted by Deakin University recommended the same thing. In fact, the Minister for Communications, Michelle Rowland, has been advocating for more regional newspaper advertising for many years.

We know there may be bigger budget issues, but this small policy change would be a simple and fair solution to a growing problem for regional Australia.

A policy that ensures weekly federal government advertising is placed in regional newspapers would be great news for the country.

And it won't cost you a cent.

Yours sincerely,

Andrew Manuel

Country Fire Service volunteers learned how to used SCBA equipment at a recent training session.

Pictures: CFS Country Fire Service SCBA training was held in Region 5 for the first time in five years.

Volunteers expand skills

By Sophie Conlon

For the first time in five years Country Fire Service (CFS) volunteers across the South East have been able to gain breathing apparatus training within the Limestone Coast.

CFS region 5 commander Jason Druwitt said the specialist Self Contained Breathing Apparatus (SCBA) training has previously been held in the Adelaide Hills, and it was good to have it available locally in Naracoorte again.

“This means our volunteers can undertake training within their own community, which decreases the amount of travel they’ve got to do,” he said.

“Having the ability to train locally gives them the opportunity to train in their own region.”

Mr Druwitt said CFS volunteers, and one ambulance volunteer, from around the South East took part in the course and were now qualified to use the SCBA equipment.

“We had 12 [CFS] participants on the course and they were from brigades all across the region,” he said.

“It’s the ability for our crews to go into an area where the atmosphere is what we call irrespirable, so it couldn’t sustain life.

“They can put this on to make sure their not breathing in contaminants, and contaminating their body with smoke or any particulates from the fire.”

The commander said it was a two day theory heavy course, with practical learning after that.

“It’s about introducing them to how to use the capability and then drills were required, and then there’s ongoing assessments to make sure they meet the capabilities because it’s a nationally accredited course,” he said.

Having SCBA CFS volunteers in the region meant they were qualified to fight fires from inside a building or attend events like gas leaks.

“It’s about the protection and the value of our community because it provides the ability for our crews to do something, but it also protects our crews from inhaling particulates,” he said.

The course gained great feedback from participants Mr Druwitt hoped SCBA training would continue to be held in the region

“Its was a successful weekend, all our participants passed which was really good and the feedback we received from the course has been overwhelming,” he said.

Mr Druwitt said he was thankful for employers and the families of volunteers who continue to support them while they support the community.

Honda Civic e:HEV LX

By Alistair Kennedy, Marque Motoring

The name is a tad confusing but the new Honda Civic e:HEV is a conventional petrol-electric hybrid that competes against cars such as the Toyota Corolla hybrid.

Launched here in September, 2022 it's not the first Civic hybrid.

The previous model was sold here from 2004 until 2016 when poor sales saw it dropped.

Civic e:HEV is the third mainstream Honda model to be offered with an electrified powertrain in the Australian market, following on from HR-V and Accord.

A fourth, the all-new ZR-V, will arrive here later this year.

In fact, Honda was one of the pioneers of hybrid vehicles in Australia when it launched its Insight three-door hatchback way back in 2001.

Competition from the cheaper five-door Toyota Prius saw the Insight drop out in 2004.

At the other end of the scale a hybrid version of the NSX supercar was also sold here.

Honda Australia is running a pretty tight ship at the moment and there are only three Civic variants, each distinctly different from the other.

As well as the e-HEV LX that we're reviewing here, there's a 1.5-litre petrol VTi-LX that our Queensland crew have just tested and the high-performance Type-R.

Prices, they're all driveaway, start at $47,200 for the VTi-LX, the e:HEV LX sells for $55,000 and the Type-R for $72,600.

By way of comparison the top-spec Corolla ZR hybrid has a recommended retail price of $39,620.

The popularity of SUVs with their taller and squarer profiles has seen conventional sedan and hatchback styles become lower and sleeker to provide a point of difference between the two body types.

So it is with the current, 11th generation Civic which could almost be described as a hatchback/coupe crossover.

We love the look of the latest Civic.

It's neat and attractive without anything that could turn off the more conservative buyers that it has historically attracted.

It has quite a high front with a shallow upper grille and a much deeper lower grille.

The front grille ties in with the lights and gives a wide look.

The lower grille is substantial and the black finish of the front of the car works nicely in our eyes.

The large Honda badge in the centre of the grille has a blue surround, indicating the car's electric component as does the blue 'EV' on the number plate.

The roofline slopes neatly to the rear in a semi-fastback style and there's a manually operated hatchback that opens high to give excellent access to the luggage area.

A powered panoramic sunroof is standard in the e:HEV LX.

The dashboard area is wide to give the Civic e:HEV LX a spacious feel.

There's an eye-catching thin panel with honeycomb fill that spans the entire width of the dashboard on either side of the steering wheel.

It contains a number of toggles to adjust the direction of the air conditioning which, we're pleased to say, uses three large circular knobs below the touchscreen to control temperature and power.

Again, they are within easy reach of the driver.

The front seats are wide enough to cater for a good variety of rumps.

The three rear seats are set up to provide good comfort for the two window seat positions.

New Honda Civic hybrid – impressive car but is the price right?

The centre-rear seat is better than average for this class but I wouldn't like to travel there.

With two rear occupants there's a fold-down armrest including a couple of drink holders.

Boot size is a reasonable 410 litres but note that there is no spare wheel, only a puncture repair kit.

New Civic hybrid combines a power-dense lithium-ion battery with two compact, powerful electric motors and a 105kW/186Nm 2.0-litre Atkinson-cycle petrol engine.

It's a direct-injection system that's optimised for faster and more efficient combustion and greater torque.

The result is a combined maximum output of 135kW of power and 315Nm of torque, the highest outputs ever offered on a Civic with the exception of the high-performance Type-R.

The eCVT continuously variable transmission operates by juggling the petrol and electric engines/motors.

Fuel consumption is listed at 4.2L/100km with CO2 emissions of 96g/km.

Not sure how they all manage to fit them all into a relatively small car, but there are 11 airbags including knee airbags for the driver and front passenger, along with new side airbags for the rear seats and a new front centre airbag to help prevent the driver and front passenger making contact during a side impact.

Other standard safety features include autonomous emergency braking with pedestrian detection, lane departure warning and lane keep assist, blind spot monitoring, rear cross-traffic alert, front and rear parking sensors and a rear-view camera with a choice of angles.

Civic e-HEV LX uses a 9.0-inch touchscreen, relatively small in comparison with others, but importantly within easy reach of the driver and with fast response and sharp definition.

It has two shortcut buttons and an audio control knob to the right of the screen.

There's embedded satellite navigation plus Apple CarPlay (wireless) and Android Auto (wired).

There are two USB-A ports and a 12V socket in the front console above a wireless smartphone charging pad.

Two more USB-A ports are located in the rear.

In front of the driver is a customisable 10.2-inch high-definition full colour digital information display that's relatively easy to read and adjust to the driver's preferences.

Audio comes courtesy of a 12-speaker Bose D41 premium sound system.

The e:HEV LX is the first Honda to get the company's Honda Connect system that allows owners to access vehicle information through their smartphone.

This Honda has a spacious dashboard to give plenty of room for a long drive.

There are both convenience and safety benefits.

With remote connectivity the climate control can be set up to heat or cool the car in advance, turn the lights on or off and lock or unlock with a single tap.

On the safety front there is an emergency call button to contact roadside assistance and, in more serious circumstances, automatic collision detection which alerts the Honda call centre and where necessary, contacts emergency services.

Owners can also set a speed threshold that sends an alert to the phone when it is exceeded.

A vehicle status feature monitors a range of information.

We found getting into, and especially out of, the car quite challenging but that's our fault for having creaking joints.

Younger, more supple, drivers won't have any such problems.

Regular readers will know the safety concerns that we have about the growing trend towards dashboard and touchscreen controls that require the driver to take their eyes off the road to operate them.

Those in the Civic hybrid are just about perfect, all within reach and easy to use.

The front seats are comfortable and supportive and both are powered.

The steering wheel has height and reach adjustment.

As with all electric or hybrid cars, the fun begins right from the start with the battery providing instant torque for sharp acceleration.

There are four drive modes – Eco, Normal,

Sport and Individual that allows separate control of the engine, transmission and instrument cluster.

This advanced powertrain is capable of shifting seamlessly between Electric drive, Hybrid drive and Engine drive to ensure optimum performance in both urban and highway driving.

Steering wheel paddles can be used to adjust the battery regeneration level.

Handling is good for a car of this type, though the extra weight caused by having two power sources and a heavy battery means it can be a tad slow in responding to the steering wheel.

Ride comfort is good on smooth surfaces but deteriorates a little on suburban roads that have seen better days.

The official fuel consumption figure is 4.2L/100km.

During our test period we averaged 4.7L over our usual mix of urban, motorway and rural conditions.

On a 40km economy drive on easy paced open roads we managed to get consumption down to 3.6L/100km.

Honda seems to be following the Mazda approach, with significant price rises to indicate that they have stepped up to the lower end of the prestige category.

This can probably be justified because both brands are producing vehicles that are of similar quality to the big-name Europeans.

No doubt the buying public will have the final say.

As with all Honda models the Civic e:HEV LX, comes with a five-year unlimited kilometre warranty, five-year premium roadside assistance and five years of Honda Connect subscription.

MOUNT BURR 10.9 (69) d
TANTANOOLA 9.8 (62)

Saturday night at Mount Burr the stakes were high.

Tantanoola fronted up to face the Mozzies and took the game right up to the home side.

A big focus on Mount Burr as a club saw several events take place, with the game pencilled in for a night clash and it did not disappoint.

In the end just seven points separated the two sides, with the Mozzies holding off a determined Tigers keen to chalk up their first win of the season.

Last week Tantanoola was dealt a big loss at the hands of Robe, while in contrast, the Mozzies claimed as-big-a-win over Nangwarry.

However, on the night the two sides matched up well and after the a strong first quarter, the home side found itself at the mercy of the Tigers.

Tantanoola banged on five goals in the second term while holding the Mozzies to just two and trailed by just two points at the long break.

From there the rain began to set in and the game became a real struggle for both sides.

Mount Burr had stretched the margin to 11 points at the final break but the Tigers were not done and pushed hard in the final stanza to fall short but just seven points.

Mozzies coach Reece Duncan was pleased with the result after a hard slog in the wet conditions.

“It was a tough one,” he said.
“We were four goals up after the first quarter and they had four behinds, so we started well.
“Then in the second corner we got a bit ratty with our forward entries.”

Wil Bowering played a strong game for Mount Burr in Round 2 of Mid South East football.
Picture: FILE

That second quarter could have cost the Mozzies dearly as the rain made it a test of endurance rather than skill, with a back-and-for in a spectator’s delight.
“After half time the rain came in and it became a bit of a slog fest,” Duncan said.
“We went with it, then they would come back and kick a couple.
“For spectators it would have been good to watch, but out on the ground it was all in and that was how the night went really.

“As it got darker and colder the slipperiness became a bit of a factor and it was a bit more old-fashioned wet weather football.”
In the end Duncan put the win down to desire to stand up and be counted by each player on the ground.
“I had one of the past premiership captains speak before the game and his message was simple – everyone at Mount Burr does their job and plays their role, there are no superstars, we just do what we have to,” Duncan said. “At half time we spoke about blokes standing up and playing their role and the senior guys did that.

“But the younger guys really stood up, led the way with their attack and didn’t take a backward step.”
Duncan made mention of a few young players who impressed on the night.
“Jackson Dean made his A Grade debut and got third best,” he said.
“He played a beautiful role at centre-half-back, he did exactly what we wanted and got better as the game went on.
“Calum Sparks had to shoulder the ruck after our other ruckman went down.
“Between him and Josh Wallis, they really helped us get the win.
“Brady Sharp played his first A Grade game this year and he stood tall and competed.
“Overall it was a whole team effort in the second half.”
That same effort will be needed this weekend when the Mozzies travel to Kalangadoo to face the wounded Magpies.
Duncan said he expects another tough contest, with the Magpies sure to want to atone for the weekend’s defeat up at Robe, but more importantly, as the league appears to even out more at this early stage.
“There are no weekends off this season,” he said.
“It is not like you can pencil in a few wins here and there.
“You really have to bring your game week in, week out.
“There is not much you can read into it yet, so we will just take each week as it comes.
“Kalangadoo will be a another tough one, but we will just see what they dish out.”

Nail-biter at Mount Burr as teams work hard for win

TANTANOOLA 48 d MOUNT BURR 44

In a tight and enthralling contest, Tantanoola claimed its first win of the 2023 Mid South East netball season, with a close four-goal victory over Mount Burr.

The game started goal-for-goal, with all players working hard to gain possession.

Mount Burr goal keeper Olivia Dean took a couple of intercepts early, with goal attack Lauren Wheeler finishing off well.

Late in the quarter, Tantanoola goal attack Keryl Ousey came into the game, shooting with accuracy and using her height to advantage, with accurate passing from the centre-court players.

Jami Walker created space and gave extra drive into attack, while Ousey continued to shoot well despite the pressure from Dean and Megan Thiele.

Ebony Clark came into the game at goal shooter for the Mozzies, with Ella Easterby and Laura Schultz passing with patience.

Mount Burr made a few passing errors late in the quarter which allowed Tantanoola to make the most of their opportunities and score.

After the break the game continued in the same vein, with goalies scoring from presented opportunities.

Westerman was replaced by Caitlyn Pane and Tantanoola moved Shelby Ryan into wing attack and Casey Walker into wing defence.

Thiele took the first intercept to help Mount Burr score and gain the slight advantage.

Jamie Walker continued to work hard outside the circle and the Tigers made the most of some loose Mozzies’ passing to keep in touch on the score board.

The contest continued as a close affair, and in the end the Tigers held on in a nail-biter.

Best players for the victors were Bromley and Ousey, while for Mount Burr, Dean, Easterby were given the nod.

On the court and scoreboard the competition was tight.

Demons hold on

By James Murphy

PORT MACDONNELL 13.14 (92) d
KONGORONG 9.8 (62)

There was plenty on the line when Kongorong hosted Port MacDonnell on Saturday for Round 2 of Mid South Eastern football.

Anzac Day formalities preceded the A Grade match, while the Bruce Lightbody Memorial Shield was on offer to the winning team and the John Rogers Memorial Medal was given to the best player as judged by the umpires.

On the day it was Kongorong's Matt Cordy who received the medal, but the Demons claimed the win and with it retained the shield for another year.

It all came down to a rampant first quarter from Port MacDonnell, as the seashiders put in a 41-8 point opener to decide the match.

Rain set in during the second term and the wet conditions levelled the playing field, with the remaining three quarters an even tussle.

However, the damage had been done and the Demons returned home with a 30-point win.

Port MacDonnell coach Josh Woodall was happy with the intensity shown by his team, particularly in the first quarter to set up the day.

"It was pretty competitive," he said.

"We got the game won in the first quarter and the other three quarters it was an even game.

"It started raining in the second quarter and made it a bit more of a scrap.

"The ball was pretty slippery in the last three quarters."

He said starting strongly had been a focus during the week and the Demons did just that, piling on six goals to the Hawks' one by the first break.

"The boys came out and did what we said we were trying to do," Woodall said.

While Cordy received the John Rogers Medal, for the Bay it was Mark Smith who was judged the top performer.

Playing off the back flank and rotating through the middle, his composure in the wet proved invaluable.

"He was really consistent over the four quarters and when it got wet he was really composed with the football," Woodall said.

"His composure and his kicking stood out for the three quarters when it is wet."

Despite the wet conditions, Woodall said the Demons' tails also impressed.

"Any of our big men could have been best on as well," he said.

"Will MacDonald had an outstanding game, Tim Sullivan's first quarter was outstanding and Adam Kuhl had a really good game."

Sullivan bagged three goals, as did Ned Wilke, while Colby Munro popped up with two majors.

Wade Chant was also solid in defence with plenty of intercept marks, while Munro and Zack Williams wrapped up the best players on the day.

Port MacDonnell's Tim Sullivan takes a daring mark during an impressive first-quarter effort.

As well as Cordy, Kongorong looked to the likes of Ryan Vickery, Luke McIntyre and Corben O'Dea, while captain Jett Attard led by example with four goals.

Strong win

PORT MACDONNELL 47 d
KONGORONG 32

Port MacDonnell chalked up its first win of the Mid South East netball season with a 15-goal victory over Kongorong on Saturday.

The Demons applied defensive pressure early, led by Alana Berkefeld in goal defence as they forced a break in the Hawks' first centre pass. Berkefeld combined with Alysha Coon and they worked hard over the shot and drove the ball down the court from the back line to transition to their tall shooting circle of Megan Hein and Kori Collins.

Both side's shooters took their time to settle, with plenty of rebounding opportunity which Berkefeld and Coon, as well as the Hawks Riley Buckingham and Emily Lightbody, all capitalised on for their respective teams. The Demons took a two-goal lead heading into the first break. The second quarter saw the defensive pressure from both sides continue. The Demons made some positional changes through their mid-court while the Hawks remained unchanged. Hawks' Rach Perry and Demons' Liza Mutch, battled hard through the middle.

The Hawks brought the margin back to just one goal at half time. Kongorong remained unchanged heading into the second half, while the Demons once again made changes in their mid-court, this time bringing on the fresh legs of Shannon Scheidl to centre.

This change appeared to be the edge the Demons needed to push the game out from under the Hawks, with Kongorong losing possession quickly through the mid-court and giving the Demons a lot of ball in the third term. Coon and Berkefeld capitalised on the pressure and were rewarded in the circle. The Demons outscored the Hawks 15-6 in the quarter to lead by 10 at the last break. Both teams continued to fight hard defensively in the final term as the wet conditions hit.

However, Port MacDonnell again got a good look at the ball with their defensive pressure all down the court, which produced multiple turnovers converted by Hein and Collins to seal the win. Best players for the victors were Coon and Michelle Moore, with Perry and Lightbody best for Kongorong.

Dunnicliff and Campbell take out win

There were 26 players who took part in a 2-4-2 game at the Millicent Bowls Club last week.

Before the start of play, vice president Aaron Emonson informed all players that from April 30, every second Sunday there will be social bowls with names in by no later than 12.30pm.

There will also be a sheet up for players to put their names down to play for that coming Sunday.

The winning team in last week's clash was Peter Dunnicliff and Iain Campbell with a score of 33+18.

The pair took home the prize pool of $26 each.

Steve Skeer and Kym Stewart were runners-up and won the $5 bar voucher with a score of 32+7.

Other winning teams were Derrick Lindh and Neil Whelan 32+1, Ross Warren, and Peter Scanlon 31+3, Ros Varcoe and Aaron Emonson 31+3 and a triple of Ian Nitschke, Malcolm Wright, John Scudds 30+10.

Roosters shock premiers

By Trevor Jackson

ROBE 12.4 (76) D KALANGADOO 5.6 (36)

It is early in the 2023 Mid South East football season, but already Robe has played its hand.

While the Roosters easily accounted for Tantanoola in the opening round, Saturday they comfortably defeated the reigning premiers to the tune of 40 points.

It was a huge turnaround from 2022, when Robe struggled to get close to the Magpies in either of their minor-round games.

Robe applied the pressure early and in a low-scoring first half, held a 16-point advantage at the long break.

From there the game opened up somewhat, as both sides began to find the big sticks, but it was the Roosters who made the best of it, extending their lead in the third term, before running away in the final stanza with a five-goal-to-two quarter to ice the game.

Robe coach Nathan Brown said he was “very happy” to have claimed the win.

“I was expecting it to be a closer game, but to be fair, they brought it to us for the first three quarters,” he said.

“I think in the end our fitness probably allowed us to run over a bit more and cover the ground a bit better.

“Credit goes to the guys and how much effort they have put in over the last three or four months to get prepared.

“It has been a fantastic start, so hopefully we can keep that going.”

That “fantastic start” began last week with a comprehensive victory over Tantanoola, where the Roosters kicked 17 goals and 19 behinds.

The ratio was much better this time, with 12 major scores and only four behinds.

That came from what Brown described as confidence within the roster.

“Our quality of shots were good,” he said.

“There were only a few shots out wide in the pockets ... there were a couple of hard shots guys kicked, but I guess it goes back to the confidence we are playing with and just backing ourselves in.

“In contrast, in the Tant game we probably blazed away a bit and probably weren’t as smart with our ball use.

“I was definitely very happy with 12-goals-four.”

Another major aspect of the win was a quality backline, which extended further up the ground to include the mid-field.

Brown said he highlighted the necessity to be on the mark defensively against such a strong side.

“Kalangadoo is a tough side, they smash in hard,” he said.

“I just said to the guys we need to defend well as a team.

“Our back six was phenomenal with our defensive structures and the way we backed it in.

“Our mid-fielders were willing to work back and help the back six, so across the board we were switched on in that defensive mindset.”

The winning roster also included five Reserves players, which showed the reserves are on the same page.

“Credit goes to our B Grade coach Antony Kokiousis who has hopped on board, got behind what I am doing and has tried to get that through to the ressie guys,” Brown said.

“When we do have days like that the guys aren’t coming in blind, they can play the same game plan.”

As for the results so far this season, Brown said he was not getting ahead of himself, but was pleased with how the game-plan and execution had come together.

“We are chuffed to be two and zero,” he said.

“To beat the reigning premiers has given us a confidence boost, but we are not getting ahead of ourselves and will take every week as it comes.

“We know there is a lot of footy to be played yet, it is a long season and anything can happen.

“We will just try to deliver each week.”

DeDonatis claims A Grade

The Millicent Golf Club hosted 16 women who played a stableford short course event last week.

Virginia DeDonatis claimed a narrow A Grade win with a score of 35 points.

She was closely followed by the second-placed Sue Agnew, who scored 34 points.

In B Grade, Lois Tilley claimed victory with an impressive 36 points.

Heidi Muhovics was runner-up with 33 points.

Bec Shanks, Debbie Tincknell and Bronwyn Clarke were the ball winners, while Sue Ireland won the nine-hole competition with 20 points on the back nine.

It was an impressive day for Tincknell as she also recorded a birdie on the 12th hole.

DeDonatis was the nearest to pin on the third hole as well as the nearest for the second shot on the 18th hole.

Julie McKenzie was the nearest for the second shot on the 17th hole, while Sharne Peacock was the nearest to pin for the second shot on the fifth.

Magpies just too strong

KALANGADOO 57 D ROBE 34

Kalangadoo showed it has lost no desire in the 2023 Mid South East netball season, with a solid 23-goal win over Robe on Saturday.

The Magpies came out firing in the first quarter, with goalies Lara Munro and Abbey Duncan moving and shooting well.

Robe’s Tori Gluyas shot with accuracy, but Kalangadoo dominated and won the quarter 15-7.

The second quarter saw no changes and once again Kalangadoo dominated.

Robe began to make unforced errors, which saw balls picked off by Lauren Kain and Georgia Gentile at Kalangadoo’s defensive end.

The lead continued to blow out, which forced Robe made some changes at the main break.

Emily Hunter moved to goal defence, Annie Regnier to centre and Halle Cater to wing defence.

The Roosters came out firing and got the first couple of turnovers, with Hunter matching up well on Abbey Duncan and Robe’s Georgia Perkins getting her hands to a few balls at goal keeper.

However, Kalangadoo composed themselves and worked the ball down the court with ease.

Robe’s accuracy let them down and Kain and Gentile made the most of any rebound opportunity.

The final term was a more-even contest, but Kalangadoo were simply too strong and ran out comfortable victors.

Best players for Kalangadoo were Kain and Gentile, while Lucy Perkins and Demi Cater were best for Robe.

Georgia Gentile was named in the best players for Kalangadoo

Murphies leave no doubts

GLENCOE 25.11 (161) d
HATHERLEIGH 9.10 (64)

Glencoe sent shockwaves across the Mid South Eastern Football League when it downed Hatherleigh by 97 points on Saturday.

Glencoe coach Tom Edwards was delighted with his team's comprehensive performance against one of the stronger sides in the competition.

"We were really happy with the way we played and we were able to execute the plan we put in place so we are really happy with the win," Edwards said.

"We were pretty disappointed in our Round 1 effort against Port MacDonnell and we had a few players who missed that game who were able to play this week.

"So we knew that if we played our best and put in to practice what we have been doing at training, we would be competitive."

The Murphies went into this clash off the back of a 93-point loss in Round 1 and faced last year's grand finalists in what many would have expected to be a comfortable game for the Eagles.

With a goal and multiple inside 50s in the opening minutes of the encounter, Hatherleigh was on the prowl held the ascendancy.

However, the Murphies remained unfazed and soon turned the tides as they kicked 3.5 (23) to head into the first break with a healthy 16-point lead.

The second quarter was where Glencoe shone and the hosts kicked 11 majors to lead by a monster 58 points at half time.

"We had a lot of the play in the first quarter but we just were unable to execute the goals and they were putting us under some pretty good pressure and making it hard," Edwards said.

"So at the break, we just talked about getting the ball in good areas and trying to give our forwards a good look at it and giving it to them in high-percentage areas so they could kick those goals.

"We managed to go on a pretty good run and I think we kicked 10 goals straight at one point."

It was a similar story in the third stanza as the Murphies added eight goals to the Eagles' three and the margin was increased to 85 points with one quarter to play.

Glencoe's onslaught continued into the final term as it scored three majors to seal a 97-point thrashing.

It was an unforgettable afternoon for Tory Weaver as he kicked nine goals and was named best on ground.

"He was really good, he just worked really hard all day to get himself into some really good positions and was able to kick a lot of goals which was pleasing," Edwards said.

He was supported by Harry Comley and Patrick Mitchell, who kicked three majors each, as well as Jake Blackwell, Sam Giersch and Alex Hentschke, who all bagged two goals.

"Patrick Mitchell was really strong all day, as was Zacc Cocks and Jack Edmonds was really good down back," Edwards said.

"It was a really good team effort - we did not have any passengers on the weekend."

For the visitors, Sam Telfer was the stand-out performer in the forward line with a bag of five goals, while Matthew Francis was named best on ground in an otherwise disappointing performance for last year's runners-up.

Murphies continue good form with decisive win

GLENCOE 57 d HATHERLEIGH 41

Glencoe continued to flex its muscles in Round 2 of Mid South East netball, with a strong victory over Hatherleigh on Saturday.

Both teams took to the court with adjusted line-ups, setting up an intriguing contest.

Jenna Paproth returned to the Glencoe attack line and Hatherleigh filled their defensive holes with youngsters Elly Redden and Rosie Nettle.

The game started at a high intensity and went goal-for-goal early.

Glencoe's attackers connected with Chantelle Cocks with ease under the post and at the other end the Eagle's Tegan Telfer worked the ball patiently into their goal circle.

The Murphies defenders worked tirelessly to limit options in Hatherleigh's attack line to force plenty of turnover ball.

Despite some impressive contests from Hatherleigh's Lara MacGregor, the Murphies continued to push on and entered the first break with a four-goal lead.

The strong presence of Cocks under the post forced Hatherleigh to bring Millie Smith into goal keeper in an attempt to curb Cocks' influence.

The change did not deter the Glencoe attack line, as Donna Jaeschke fed the ball with confidence from off circle's edge.

Nettle and Glencoe's Alice Tentye had a tight tussle on the wing with neither player allowing any space.

The fast pace of the game caused both teams to make simple errors as the quarter wore on.

Glencoe's defensive combination of Sarah Edwards and Chelsea Owen continued to cause headaches in the Hatherleigh goal circle.

At the main break the Murphies had extended their lead to seven goals.

Both teams started the second half unchanged.

Telfer continued to lead from the front for Hatherleigh, driving strongly to circles edge and utilising her patience to eventually find Maddie Pulmer and Demi Vanderhorst.

However, inaccuracy from the Eagles shooters allowed Owen and Edwards to snatch up any missed goals.

The Murphies continued to find their avenue to goal despite the Eagle defenders falling back on Cocks.

Hatherleigh entered the final quarter with an adjusted defensive combination.

MacGregor moved back to goal keeper and Redden re-entered the game at goal defence.

The young defenders were unable to have their desired influence over the experience of Cocks and Paproth.

The Eagles attack line dropped in intensity and allowed Glencoe to win the final quarter by five goals, for a 16-goal victory.

Best players for the victors were Edwards and Cocks, while Telfer and Nettle took the honours for the Eagles.

Chantelle Cocks proved a tough customer for Hatherleigh during Round 2 of Mid South East netball.

Hatherleigh will look to bounce back from last week’s defeat when they face Kongorong.

Tantanoola will need to focus to ensure they claim a win over Nangwarry on Saturday.

Enticing clashes ahead

By Trevor Jackson

Port MacDonnell v Robe

Round 3 of Mid South East football promises some entertaining clashes, with the Port MacDonnell v Robe clash one of the highlights.

Both sides have enjoyed the ideal start to the season, with Robe occupying top spot on the ladder, ahead of Port MacDonnell by percentage only after two wins each.

The Roosters come off a big 40-point win over the reigning premiers Kalangadoo and would hope to continue that form against the Demons.

The Demons worked hard to shake off a determined Kongorong last round, but still managed to do the job to the tune of 30 points.

Tim Sullivan is still a major focus around the ground for the Demons, showing some form in front of goal, along with Ned Wilke and new recruit Colby Munro.

Munro came across from South Gambier in the Western Border league and has instantly made his presence felt, with two goals in each game so far.

Likewise for Robe, Hamish Smith made his way to the seaside from Mount Burr and kicked five goals in the opening round against Tantanoola, then followed that up with three against Kalangadoo last week.

The Roosters have also been buoyed by incoming coach Nathan Brown, who has shown plenty of ability and leadership.

In a tough game to call, Robe is likely to take the points, despite the Demons having the home ground advantage, but it will certainly be an entertaining clash, should the weather remain fine.

Kalangadoo v Mount Burr

Kalangadoo hosts Mount Burr on Saturday and will look to rebound from a poor showing against Robe last week.

The reigning premiers were humbled by the Roosters, going down by 40 points.

That came on the back of a tough outing against Kongorong in Round 1, where the Magpies had to fight hard to come from behind and claim the victory.

In contrast, Mount Burr has notched up two wins, with a big victory over Nangwarry to open proceedings, but then had to fight to the final siren against Tantanoola last week.

Against the Saints there were ample opportunities to score, with Dylan Ridley topping the list with four majors.

He backed up with three against Tantanoola, while the usual suspects in Jack Gregory, Kallan Bevan and Josh Wallis, to name just a few, also provide avenue for goal.

Coach Reece Duncan has been pleased with the efforts of his young brigade, who have also stood tall when the need has arisen.

Kalangadoo called on the services of Dylan Bromley this season, across from Millicent, and he helped secure the Round 1 victory with a bag of five goals.

Last week, as with all the Magpies’ forwards, he was kept quiet, with just one major to his name.

While there have been many changes at Ka-

Robe coach Nathan Brown will look to rally the troops and take the contest up to Port MacDonnell in Round 3 of Mid South East football.

langadoo since the 2022 premiership victory, the Magpies can not be written off this season and will certainly make the Mozzies work hard on Saturday.

This game is another which is hard to pick, but Kalangadoo should bounce back from last week’s effort and chalk up another victory to remain right in the hunt early in the season.

Hatherleigh v Kongorong

Going on 2022 form, Kongorong should not come close to Hatherleigh.

However, everything has changed in 2023 and the start of the Mid South East football season has been thrown up in the air.

Last season’s runners-up have played just one game and and lost that in devastating fashion to Glencoe.

The Murphies hit the ground running that Round 2 game and by half time led by close to 60 points.

In the end they won by almost 100 points and the Eagles were left to wonder what had happened in the off-season.

By contrast, while Kongorong is yet to record a victory after two outings, they did keep Port MacDonnell somewhat honest last week and in the opening round took the game right up to Kalangadoo.

The reigning premiers trailed at every break and came home hard in the final stanza to snatch the win.

Of course is it a bit early to suggest the Eagles are not up to scratch this year, but Saturday’s game will certainly test them.

The Hawks would hold hopes on an upset, but Hatherleigh will bounce back and chalk up their first win of the season.

Tantanoola v Nangwarry

Tantanoola and Nangwarry are both chasing their first victories of the season and by Saturday afternoon one side will sit winless, possibly at the bottom of the ladder.

Nangwarry’s only outing resulted in a big loss to Mount Burr after an even first term.

Tantanoola struggled against Robe in the opening round, then took the game up to Mount Burr, with just seven points favouring the Mozzies at the final siren.

That would suggest the Saints will struggle on Saturday, with the Tigers sure to start favourites in this one.

Tegan Telfer will play a major role for Hatherleigh against Kongorong on Saturday.

Lara Munro will need to use all her netball smarts when Kalangadoo faces Mount Burr in the Mid South East netball match of the round on Saturday.

All eyes on match-of-round

KALANGADOO v MOUNT BURR

Kalangadoo and Mount Burr go head-to-head in the Mid South East netball match of the round on Saturday.

The Magpies sit top of the ladder, undefeated after two games, while the Mozzies have lost one match to hold onto third place.

Mount Burr defenders Olivia Dean and Megan Thiele will need to combine well in the circle to put the pressure on Magpies Abbey Duncan and Lara Munro.

Down the other end of the court Lauren Kain and Georgia Gentile work hard and create turnovers for the Magpies, which will force Mount Burr goalies Lauren Wheeler and Ebony Clarke to make space to receive the ball.

Both accurate and combine well in the circle to make use of any inside balls.

Mount Burr's Laura Schultz and Kalangadoo's Jayde Peacock will battle it out through the midcourt, both creating pressure and turnovers for their respective teams.

This game has the potential to go either way and should provide plenty of entertainment for spectators.

HATHERLEIGH v KONGORONG

Kongorong heads to Hatherleigh this weekend, with both teams battling to get their first win on the board.

The Eagles went down to the reigning premiers Glencoe last round in their first game of the season, while the Hawks went down to Kalangadoo, then played out a tight contest, ultimately going down to Port MacDonnell last week.

Hatherleigh defenders Lara MacGregor and Elly Redden will work hard in the defensive circle, putting the pressure on for Kongorong's goalies.

Hawks Riley Buckingham and Emily Lightbody fight tirelessly for their team and will snatch up any loose balls or missed shots from Hatherleigh's attack line.

Tegan Telfer and Rach Perry will both fight hard for their respective teams and will need to feed accurately into their goal circles.

Eagles' goalies Demi Vanderhorst and Maddie Pulmer move well together in the circle and need to fight hard to score from any turnovers created by their teammates.

Both teams will fight hard to take the points home with them.

Alana Berkefeld will need to stand tall for Port MacDonnell if the Demons are to prevail against Robe on Saturday.

PORT MCDONNELL v ROBE

Port MacDonnell hosts Robe on Saturday, with a tight game expected.

With a one/one win/loss record each this season, both sides will be eager to rack up another victory.

Robe sits down in sixth position on the ladder and will hope to improve on that, while

Port MacDonnell would want to remain in the top four, which adds plenty of interest to this game.

Demons Alana Berkefeld and Alysha Coon work well together in the defensive circle and have the ability to create many turnovers for the team.

Robe's mid court line up of Annie Regnier

Jamie Walker will be a key to a Tantanoola victory.

and Lucy Perkins will need to feed accurately into their goalies, Tori Gluyas and Demi Carter, in order to prevent Port MacDonnell's defenders from getting hands to balls.

Port MacDonnell's goalies Megan Hein and Kori Collins use their height to their advantage, but will need to ensure their accuracy to prevent the Demons defenders from creating turnovers.

This game has the potential to be close and could go either way.

TANTANOOLA v NANGWARRY

The Saints head to Tantanoola to face off against the Tigers, with Nangwarry yet to chalk up a win, while Tantanoola will look to add another victory to its coffers.

Tantanoola goalies Jami Walker and Keryl Ousey have proven to be a formidable force, working well together and shooting with accuracy.

They are fed from outside the circle by Kate Varcoc and Shelby Ryan who are able to put the ball in the space and get their goalies the ball with ease.

Kayla Gray and Chrystal Lock will need to work hard in the defensive circle for Nangwarry to get hands to balls and work it back down the court, assisted by Hayley Burner in the mid-court.

Burner and Cassie Dinnison feed with accuracy into their goalies and will need to make the most of any possessions.

Tantanoola will finish the day with the win, but the Saints will not go down without a fight.

Bulldogs leashed at home

MILLICENT 19.17 (131) d
EAST GAMBIER 8.5 (53)

Under lights at McDonald Park the Millicent Saints marched their way to a Round 1 victory to open the Western Border football season.

Played as the Indigenous Round between the two clubs, East Gambier was unable to utilise the home-ground advantage and was dealt a 78-point defeat.

Both teams took time to settle in the first quarter which kept the Bulldogs within three goals at the change.

However, a huge second term from the Saints decided the match with six unanswered goals pushing the margin out to 59 point by half time. Jacob Carger and Jaxon Cushion were finding plenty of the ball inside 50 and the pair finished the game with six and five goals respectively.

Delivery from the likes of youngsters Hamish McRae and Kade Varcoe gave the forwards countless chances, while down back Kade Bradley was named Millicent's best for his attacking efforts out of defence.

The Saints took the foot of somewhat in the second half, but still added eight more goals for the game to East's six.

Millicent coach Clint Gallio was pleased with his team's first hitout, especially after the second quarter.

"First game of the season, the first quarter is always going to be a bit patchy and hotly contested," he said.

"I think we then just knuckled down and played the way we wanted to in that second quarter and it paid off.

"We got our game going and controlled the footy a lot.

"We had a lot of passages where we went end to end, with a kick and a mark all the way down."

From there he felt his Saints maintained control and kept the Bulldogs at arm's length.

Both teams relied heavily on their youth, which was reflected in the best players on the night.

"I think there were five of us which were 28 and over and then the rest were 22 and under," Gallio said.

"The young guys are what keep us going and they have the confidence now and we have confidence in them.

"I can't really fault any of them."

Bradley was named best-on-ground for his defensive efforts and pace out of the back line.

"He is a good kid and has had a really good preseason again," Gallio said.

"It shows in games why he plays so well because he is probably one of our best trainers."

Zac McGuinness was second best, also for a defensive role.

He matched up on East's Mark Rumbelow and kept the forward goalless for four quarters.

"Hamish McRae and Kade Varcoe were pretty good for us through the midfield and forward and Kade played a little bit back also," Gallio said.

"Ty Lang - we changed it up before the game and he played back.

"He is just out of 18's last year and he is really good.

"I think he almost impressed himself, he won some really good one-on-one contests down there.

"Those three stood out and had really good games."

The Bulldogs looked to their own young star in Shaun Lock, who led the way with three goals and a best-on-ground performance.

Carl Slape was also solid and snagged three of his own along with strong work in the ruck.

Jack Lawrence, Riley Janeway, Noah Gollan and Austin Jones rounded out the best, in what was the first learning experience of the season for the young and inexperienced side.

The Bulldogs will head across the border next round for a clash with Casterton Sandford, while Millicent hosts South Gambier in the grand final rematch.

One to learn for Eagles

By Lachlan Onions

Kingston 24.14 (159) d Penola 7.9 (51)

It was a season-opener to forget for Penola's A Grade footballers as Kingston claimed an emphatic win on Saturday.

The Saints showed their class from start to finish and led at every change to send a statement to the rest of the Kowree Naracoorte Tatiara Football League.

"It was really disappointing in quite a number of ways but I don't want to take anything away from Kingston," Penola coach Brad Maney said.

"They were very impressive and comprehensively beat us across the ground across four quarters."

The Saints' class shone through as Todd Lockwood kicked six goals, while Jacob Fisher and James Siviour both bagged four goals each.

"I felt our backline battled away but when you have the amount of inside 50's Kingston had coming in with the speed of their ball movement, it was just a really tough day to be a back-man," Maney said.

Despite the difficult result, Maney still found plenty of positives from the clash.

"Probably the most positive thing is the fact we do not have to change too much to improve a rapid amount," he said.

"It is just a lot of positioning stuff around stoppages and our forward movement that if we just change slightly, I think it will have a massive impact."

The Eagles also had several players make their debuts or make their returns to the club after playing elsewhere.

"Jordan Galpin was exceptional for four

It was a difficult start to the season for Brad Maney and the Penola Eagles on Saturday as they went down to the Kingston Saints in Round 1. Picture: FILE quarters," Maney said.

"He is just a competitor and that is what a young group like ours needs.

"Ben Swan held up really well down back, Jayden Eldridge had his moments and Garrett Ha kicked two goals as well which was good to see."

With a plethora of players joining from the Mid South Eastern and Western Border Leagues, Maney believes once his side begins to gel, they will improve.

"I think it will take time for them to gel together," he said.

"For those boys that have come from different leagues, the speed and movement of the KNTFL is quite overwhelming for the first few games and it will take a few games for them to get used to it.

"I am not panicked, I think we will play our best footy at the end of the season but we are not hiding from the fact that Saturday was poor."

The Eagles will return to McCorquindale Park on Saturday and Maney believes his side will put in a stronger performance against Naracoorte.

"We are going to adjust a few things that will help us," he said.

"I am confident that we can go really close to giving Naracoorte a run for its money.

"They are going to be strong but we are ready for the challenge.

"It is an enormous weekend for our football and netball clubs with all of our premiership reunions so it will be an enormous crowd.

"We will have our David Steen Medal for best on ground for the Anzac Day clash, so there is a lot to play for and if we show up like we did last Saturday, I will be very disappointed."

Penola will need to expunge the impacts of Matt Wilson and Rory Taggart, who are proven players in the KNTFL.

"Naracoorte has a very good midfield and halfback line - they drive a lot from their half-back line," Maney said.

"Matt Wilson is an exceptional coach and player so he has a well-drilled outfit.

"We will have to win the ball in the contest - we have to try and play the game our way and we cannot allow these good sides to do what they want."

Richards and Dickson take spoils in damp match

The 57th Lucindale Easter Tournament was held at the start of the month.

Played in damp and dreary weather a few minor rain delays were faced across the weekend.

However, the Lucindale grass courts were in excellent condition and neighbouring campsites were fully booked out for the event.

A full schedule catered for junior, veterans and open competitors, with an option for every ability.

A total of 212 players registered across the 28 events, which kept the tournament desk busy scheduling over 408 matches.

The first day's play culminated in an epic A Grade mixed final being finished in the dark, with all players deciding the conditions were preferable to returning the following morning just to conclude their tie-break.

The final score had Adam Fonfe and Jodie White claim the win in a 20-18 tie-break.

A couple of rain delays on the Saturday resulted in the A Grade Men's semi-final and final and the A Grade Women's final being moved to Sunday morning.

That saw Martin Richards claim the men's singles honours over Mount Gambier's Andrew van den Hurk in a tiebreak, while Michele Dickson defeated Bree-Anna Leibhardt in the women's final.

Along with the tennis action, there were golf events with a pairs Ambrose on Friday, night golf Friday night and the Easter Cup Stableford on Saturday, along with the always popular quiz night and Wizzbang the Wizard on Sunday night.

Regular Easter Tournament player and tennis coach Adam Fonfe took an enthusiastic group of youngsters for a coaching session on Saturday morning, proving the signs are positive for the future of the tournament.

The Lucindale Tennis committee acknowledged the generosity of its major sponsors and trophy donors, as well as the Lucindale Area School for once again allowing the use of its hardcourts to complete the 11 and Under Girls and Boys matches.

Saints look for repeat

By James Murphy

A grand final rematch looms at McLaughlin Park this weekend when Millicent hosts South Gambier for Round 2 of Western Border football.

The Saints made short work of East Gambier in Round 1 and will hope for another strong performance in their first home appearance of the season.

They are again a young side in 2023 with their reliance on youth evident in Saturday night's opening round.

However, some of those talents are now dual A Grade premiership players and they know what it takes to be at the top of the game.

The likes of Kade Bradley, Ty Lang, Zac McGuinness and Kade Varcoe stood tall last week and there is no shortage of others who could rise given the chance.

Jaxon Cushion slotted well into the forward line to boot five goals, pairing with captain Jacob Carger for a deadly attacking duo.

Depending on matchups the two could take on the forward line duties again, but coach Clint Gallio hinted at some experimenting in attack over the coming rounds.

Down back McGuinness will likely get the job of South coach Brayden Kain, who is capable of kicking a bag for the Demons.

Young-gun Mitchell Sims proved capable up forward last season and he is expected to have a more prominent role in the senior side this year.

Through the middle the likes of Brett O'Neil is always dangerous, while Brock Keding, Emerson Marks and Chris Fallas are a few who will look to build on strong 2022 campaigns.

Both teams have suffered losses to their rosters from last year, with some top-end talent moving on.

However, South and Millicent will remain well in the finals race and an entertaining match should unfold.

REMATCH: Sam Willis was a top performer in Millicent's grand final win against South Gambier. He and the rest of the Saints will aim for a similar result in Saturday's rematch.

Strong Millicent blow away cobwebs with big win

MILLICENT 55 d EAST GAMBIER 30

THE Western Border netball 2022 runners-up started their season with a big win when Millicent visited East Gambier on Saturday.

The Saints blew out the cobwebs with a solid outing against the Bulldogs, working their way to a 25-goal victory.

It was the young guns who led the way for the Saints with both Lillie Paul and Daisy Tunkin dominating the mid court.

They fed with precision to Tabatha Sanderson, who was again the focal point of the shooting circle, netting 43 of Millicent's 55 goals for the match.

Demi Verbena also played her role with her strong front cuts opening up the space at the back for Sanderson.

At the other end of the court the Saints' defensive line-up with Lisa Duldig on the defensive wing and Kimmi Tincknell and Portia McRae in the defensive circle, made every possession difficult for the new-look East frontline.

As such scoring opportunities for the Bulldogs were at a premium.

The match was a story of opportunities, with Millicent generating 79 scoring chances and East restricted to 43 - and that was the game right there.

Lauren Van Eeden entered the match at goal defence in the second half and there was no disruption to the defensive pressure applied by the Saints.

Given Van Eeden and McRae teamed up last season in the 17 and Under competition, their understanding in the circle was impeccable.

Co-coaches Tarsh McCallum and Bo Creek led the way for the Bulldogs, while Indi Dwyer did enough in her first outing in A Grade to show she will be a player of the future.

Millicent was best served by the two young midcourters, Paul and Tunkin but there was no apparent weak link in the Saints line-up as they look to go one better in 2023.

Looking to this weekend and the Saints will host South Gambier for Round 2.

Their guests will square up from a shortened break due to their Anzac Day clash with North Gambier, which should give Millicent further confidence on the day.

The Demons have lost some key young talent in Lara Munro and Grace Potts and as such could take some time to settle into the 2023 competition.

As such the Saints will be heavily favoured for another comfortable win.
