Happy 100th!

John Walker celebrated his 100th birthday in Sheoak Lodge's Zander Room on Saturday afternoon surrounded by family.

Around 100 people dropped by to acknowledge the milestone with family members arriving from Sydney, Perth, Queensland and across South Australia to wish the centenarian a happy birthday.

Turn up the radio

By Caroline Hammat

It was a good news day for Millicent's community radio station on Tuesday as word came through that 5th FM has been granted a 12 month temporary broadcast license by the Australian Communications Media Authority (ACMA).

A $20,000 debt owing to BAI Communications was the only obstacle in the way of the station being able to broadcast from the Mount Burr transmitter owned by the company.

News the existing debt owed to BAI Communications would be waived by the company was welcome.

The station had recently started a Go Fund Me campaign to help retire the debt.

Chair of 5th FM, David Walshaw welcomed the news.

"Michael Ryder who is the head of commercial broadcasting at BAI Communications saw our media and Go Fund Me page," he said.

"He sent us an email to set up a time to meet and have a chat with him.

"By the end of the conversation he said he would like to, subject to us getting our license, waive the debt.

"It is amazing news.

"People who have donated to the Go Fund Me page to retire that debt can have their money back or they can leave it at the station for us to retire other debt we have."

Remaining debt at the station is now between $5,000 and $7,000 and mostly owing to smaller local businesses and Telstra.

Subject to the availability of BAI Communications staff to switch the transmitter on, it is planned the station will be heard on the 107.7 frequency once again next Thursday, July 6.

Highlighting benefits of shelterbelts

Shelterbelts will be in focus as part of an upcoming workshop offered by the Limestone Coast Landscape Board (LCLB).

The workshop is set to explore the positive relationship between shelterbelts and soil health following the results of a recent shelterbelt demonstration site.

LCLB soil extension officer Ehsan Sayad said landholders and community members are welcome to come along and learn more about why shelterbelts are beneficial.

“It is really important to continue learning about soil health and the efficiency and economic benefits it can have on land managers’ properties,” Dr Sayad said.

“Giving landholders an opportunity to discuss and compare their own soil health journey, is such an important part of learning.”

The workshop will be held at the Kongorong Sportsman’s Club on Friday, July 7, which will include a field trip to the demonstration site.

To register for the workshop, visit www.landscape.sa.gov.au/lc

Ambitious ID goal

We recognise a few of the faces in this photo from the collection of the South East Family History Group (SEFHG) but the group are hoping to name them all if possible.

It is believed to be a photo of Millicent Soccer Club players but this needs confirming.

If you can help identify any of the soccer players left to right in rows one to four contact SEFHG researcher Colleen Hammat.

Information can also be provided at the SEFHG on Wednesdays and Saturdays 1-5pm, by phoning 8733 1100 (or leave a message) or via email info@sefhg.org.

Do you know who this is?

The Penola branch of the National Trust of SA have some photos in their collection that needs identification.

Anyone with any details on who this may be is asked to email penola@nationaltrustsa.org.au with any information you may have.

Beachport pony riders get heads scratching

The photo of pony riders that appeared in the June 15th edition of the South Eastern Times generated a lot of discussion in the Memories of Millicent and District Facebook group.

Kerry Corigliano and her horse Tinker were identified by several people with Duane Watson remembering being chased by the horse while cutting through the paddock on his way to the fish and chip shop.

Brad Clarke recognised Kerry and identified her riding partner as Lorraine Walters.

The two others were finally identified when a local researcher stumbled across the photo on the front page of the May 9, 1974 edition of the South Eastern Times while looking for other information.

David Wiese of Beachport and Greg Burns from Adelaide are riding Mitzi and the group of four were admiring their new pony club area at Beachport.

The South East Family History Group appreciates the ongoing support in naming the photos in their collection.

Caves' recognition

By Caroline Hammat

Sites within the Tantanoola Conservation Park have recently been provisionally listed on the State Heritage register.

The Tantanoola Cave complex under consideration includes the popular Tourist Cave, Lake Cave and Up-and-Down Rocks.

The complex contains significant geological and speleological information for South Australia and is believed it will contribute to an understanding of the state's natural history.

European discovery of the Tantanoola Tourist Cave by 16 year old Boyce Lane in 1930, when searching for his lost ferret, led to the cave being opened to the public in the same year.

It was in 1957 when Cave Exploration Group of SA members discovered the lake chamber in the nearby Lake Cave.

Lake Cave has never been opened to the public and retains a high level of integrity.

This cave is recognised as a Special Purpose Reference Cave and is likely to yield further scientific information.

Up-and-Down Rocks includes the only substantial pink dolomite exposure within the state and contains karst features which are also a focus of the provisional listing.

A walking trail follows the top of the cliffs along Up-and-Down rocks and into a dolomite quarry active in the 1920's.

Both caves have a variety of decorations and are considered impressive in their density and complexity.

Manager Heritage SA Beverley Voight said The Tantanoola Caves are the only pink dolomite caves in South Australia and include an extraordinary display of stalagmites and stalactites.

"The Tantanoola Caves were identified for assessment as part of a fossil survey prepared for a SA Heritage Council research project," she said.

The provisional listing is now subject to community consultation and a final decision will be made by the State Heritage Council.

"If State Heritage listing is confirmed it would not change public access to the conservation park and the Tantanoola tourist cave," Ms Voight said.

"Heritage listings often create an opportunity to increase awareness and recognition of significant sites and attract more visitors."

sional listing it states the Tantanoola Caves Complex presents a unique opportunity to yield important information about the development of dolomite with the South-East.

Elements of significance contained within the complex are numerous cave features within substantial pink dolomite rock including 'wedding cake' column formations, draperies, helictites and flowstones.

Fossils embedded within the cave walls and evidence of animal scratchings are also considered significant.

Trio launches 11th-hour saleyards bid

By Aidan Curtis

Wattle Range Council (WRC) will be holding a special meeting as a trio of councillors look to throw the Millicent saleyards a lifeline.

Following council's decision to close the saleyards effective June 30, Councillors Moira Neagle, Sharon Cox and Dennis Muhovics have called on their fellow elected members to re-open discussions.

Cr Neagle told the South Eastern Times ahead of the meeting the volume of the opposition to the closure has forced their hand in calling the meeting.

"I believe it's understood that we're not going to win in terms of sales recommencing, but the compromise has to be that we keep the truck wash and transiting operational," Cr Neagle said.

"There's a lot of people that are very disappointed that sales are going to cease at the yards.

"However, in terms of biosecurity and efficiency of movement of stock in our district and out of our district, the truck wash has to operate, so we also must have the ability to transit stock from small trucks to large trucks."

John Chay and Co director John Chay said the fight to keep the saleyards open has lasted for 20 years and he thought the idea of closing was "a disgrace".

"The saleyards is a vibrant hub for the farmers," Mr Chay said.

"It's a weekly or fortnightly meeting place, it's somewhere they can gather and catch up with their mates, go into town and spend their money in the township."

Mr Chay said shutting down all facilities at the saleyards would have a serious impact on smaller farmers who rely on facilities like the truck wash and the depot for stock transit.

"Even the small blokes won't be able to bring their trailer in to the saleyards now and meet a bigger truck," he said.

"There's going to have to be some changes made to the way people operate."

Wattle Range Council was contacted for comment, but was unable to respond by deadline.

The special meeting will be held from 6:30pm on Thursday, June 29.

Turn up the radio, 107.7 is back on the airwaves

"It's very exciting" Mr Walshaw said.

"Thursday is a big day for us, Craig Press will be the breakfast show and we've got non-stop stuff happening all day.

"Now it gives everyone with a radio an opportunity to listen to us, not just those who are digitally literate and have a device they could listen on.

"We will still be streaming but it will be complementary to, not instead of, being free to air.

"We've had lots of comments around the world from expats listening to their radio station in Millicent via streaming and we would like to continue doing that."

The station has been streaming their content online for the last six months after the license to broadcast was not renewed in December due to breaches of the Broadcasting Services Act (BSA).

The breaches of the BSA, which included concerns with governance and transparency in the committee structure, occurred before a new board of members was elected in November last year after a vote of no confidence in the existing board.

The new board inherited debts estimated to be over $100,000 with much of this debt being waived by the agencies and companies involved.

In December expressions of interest are available for a five year community broadcast license through ACMA and the station has plans to apply for this longer license.

It is hoped Craig Press will be the first voice heard on the 107.7 frequency in six months from next Thursday morning.

Proceeds bid knocked back

By Aidan Curtis

A request to help fund the Southend Community Centre through the sale of public land has been knocked back by Wattle Range Council.

At the June council meeting, the Southend Progress Association (SPA) asked councillors if money from the planned sale of public land in Southend could go towards fixing up the Community Centre.

The request was made citing previous projects in the council area funded using money from the sale of public land.

Following the meeting, Wattle Range chief executive Ben Gower said that was no longer how things were done.

“Yes, in a previous era of the former councils and the newly-amalgamated Wattle Range Council, there were a couple of incidences where assets were sold and the funds were put back into specific community projects,” Mr Gower said.

“In my seven years since I’ve been here, money has always gone back into consolidated revenue and then allocated out based on individual merits of each project.

“That’s been a council policy for quite some time.”

Councillors encouraged SPA to instead apply for funding through council’s Community Infrastructure Grants Program.

“Council normally allocates $100,000 - a maximum grant of $50,000 to any one individual organisation and it’s for projects exactly like this one,” Mr Gower said.

“Which allows them, if they get the funding, to go for a matching state or federal government grant and double their money - and double again if they can get all three.

“That will get released as soon as the draft budget is adopted and we’ll be taking submissions probably around August for a late August, early September decision on who is awarded those grants.”

Mr Gower said he hoped SPA applied for the grants program as “their project has merit” and the Community Centre is very important to the Southend community.

SPA said it was unable to comment on the situation at the time of publication.

Health network calls for volunteer transport drivers

By Sophie Conlon

The Limestone Coast Health Network is calling out for community members to help out across the district by becoming volunteer transport drivers.

Network volunteer coordinator Tracey Anderson urged more people to consider putting up their hand to volunteer and help make a powerful impact in their community.

“Our volunteers are the driving force behind social change, they are turning their passion into purpose, and they give their time to make a difference,” she said.

“It really feels lovely to be back and in such an exciting space, working with our amazing volunteers.”

Across the network there is a need for volunteer transport drivers to ensure patients have access to safe and reliable transport.

Network volunteer transport driver Jackie Lerwill said she found volunteering rewarding.

“I particularly enjoy helping transport people who find it hard to get to the hospital,” she said.

“We chat on the way and it’s nice hearing other people’s stories and connecting with them.”

Fellow volunteer driver Daryl Isgar said he enjoyed giving back to the service which once helped him.

While Tori Ransom said she enjoyed building friendships with staff and patients when she was volunteering.

“I like to give back to the community as there are so many who rely on our transport service,” she said.

The volunteer drivers provide rides for a range of people including renal patients, helping them attend their regular dialysis appointments and then return home once their treatment is complete.

New to her role, Ms Anderson said she was looking forward to supporting the team through their volunteering journeys.

“There are many reasons why you might consider volunteering with LCLHN, we are very flexible and are always looking for new team members,” she said.

“We are actively recruiting new volunteers across multiple sites, departments, and positions.”

Volunteers are also being sought to provide elderly patients with social interaction, assist with meals and entertainment, as well as supporting social support groups across the region, hospital guide roles and in the new Mealtime Support Program at the Mount Gambier and Districts Health Service.

John notches up a century

By Caroline Hammat

John Walker celebrated his 100th birthday in Sheoak Lodge's Zander Room on Saturday afternoon surrounded by family.

Around 100 people dropped by to acknowledge the milestone with family members arriving from Sydney, Perth, Queensland and across South Australia to wish the centenarian a happy birthday.

Mr Walker told the South Eastern Times that most of his guests were relations but he did not know them all.

Born in Penola June 21st, 1923 and one of four siblings Mr Walker said her never got far from Penola.

He thought he could be the first Walker in his family to make it to 100.

"I don't know any others."

Mr Walker worked at the historic Coola Station at Kongorong for over 37 years when it was all horse work.

His youngest son Sid Walker said he was a good horseman.

"He was a buckjump rider and used to ride the rodeos around Penola," he said.

John's wife Betty (nee Bonney) died around 15 years ago but their seven children were all at the celebration with many of the couple's 23 grandchildren, 47 great-grandchildren and five great-great-grandchildren.

Sid Walker welcomed guests and spoke of his father's love of life.

"He's been looking forward to his birthday for quite awhile, every time I saw him he told me I'm nearly 100," he said.

"Dad had a great passion for farming and loved the outdoor life, fishing and hunting and he enjoyed gardening.

"He even won an award when he moved to Millicent for the best trust home garden, that was a mighty effort.

"He loved poetry and would recite poems,

John's cousins Phil and Roger Walker dropped by to help celebrate the milestone event.

after a few whiskey's they would come rolling out."

John's eldest daughter Margaret had travelled from Adelaide and said he was a good father.

"He's been a great dad and teacher, and taught us right from wrong," she said.

"We weren't allowed to lie and weren't allowed to swear.

"I'm very grateful for what he has done."

Although Mr Walker had no advice for the rest of us he did say he had a good life.

"I couldn't have wished for better, it might not have been the flashest but I've had a good time."

In honour of turning 100 John received cards from King Charles III and Queen Camilla, Prime Minister of Australia Anthony Albanese and State Premier Peter Malinauskas among other dignitaries.

Dark clouds descend on run

By Caroline Hammat

After running and hiking for almost six hours in a 44.6km short trail course Millicent's Dannielle Vanderheul was devastated when she was forced to stop her race just 8 kilometres short of the finish line.

Ms Vanderheul was one of 31 Australians chosen to represent the country in this year's World Mountain Trail Running Championships in Austria.

But her dreams of representing the country were thwarted by the weather which saw the race canceled.

Before leaving to head overseas Ms Vanderheul had said her goal was to finish the challenging race and to not come last.

At the time the race was canceled she was listed as 118th in a field of approximately 160.

"At the bottom of the last climb we could see a dark cloud coming over and thought we were coming in for some more rain" Ms Vanderheul said.

"We got to the last aid station and still had another two kilometre climb before we were going to be able to descend.

"It started getting quite cold.

"I had a couple of refreshments and thought I would keep going.

"I ran out and a massive downpour came, mountain rescue were standing at the side of the tent stopping people.

"I managed to slip by not knowing what was going on when mountain rescue called me back and said we are canceling the race.

"Then it was this torrential downpour.

"I went into the tent really confused as to what was going on.

"I couldn't believe I had put all this work in and had to stop, it took me a bit to process.

"I was absolutely shattered and just collapsed.

"Mountain rescue were so apologetic but they couldn't risk it because of lightning strikes.

"It's too much of a liability for them and they were really quite worried.

"They were rushing around trying to get us off the mountain."

Despite the disappointment of the cancellation it was a lifetime experience for the runner who had never traveled overseas before.

Ms Vanderheul tackled running along foot wide trails in snow, on loose rocks and atop mountain peaks with sheer drops.

She described the experience as more like sky running than trail running.

"Sky running is running on peaks of mountains and you've got nowhere to fall except for off.

"There was one part it was almost impossible to run, they had guideropes along the side of the mountain pinned in because of the drop next to you.

"I held that guiderope so tight.

Dannielle Vanderheul in her official uniform and run number is now back in Millicent after her Austrian experience.

"The ground was not stable, it was spectacular scenery, but terrifying.

"I had never encountered something like that before."

With altitudes over 3,000 metres this was another issue which challenged the runner.

She experienced chest tightness, difficulty in breathing, nose bleed and lost her voice during the trip.

Sharing her grief with around 50 other athletes, who were also forced to stop, Ms Vanderheul has no regrets.

Her fellow short trail course athlete and room mate Madison Reynolds had the same experience and they were able to debrief together.

The next day they decided to pay a tribute to the mountains by paragliding.

"I'm not sure I like having my feet off the ground, but I liked the views.

To keep their mind off the disappointment they helped crew at the aid stations for the 86 km race.

"That was amazing, we helped out the Australians and supported the runners coming through.

"I helped change runners' shoes, which is gross" she said.

Highlights of the trip were marching in the opening ceremony, the phenomenal views and friendships formed with other athletes from across the world.

"There were quite a few mums on the team.

"Hearing how they balance their run, work life and travel and to know they struggle as much as I do but are so determined, we named it mum strength."

Exchanging team shirts and tops became a competition amongst the athletes with Ms Vanderheul upgrading from her Australian polo shirt to a jacket from Ecuador through a series of swaps.

Although the race cancellation was initially devastating for the runner she now understands it was done in their best interests.

Relieved that her record still stands without a DNF (did not finish) by her name the athlete is inspired to keep training and aim for the 2025 world championship in Spain.

"My biggest disappointment is not having the story to tell of crossing the finish line, that was my number one fear.

"I know so many people were just as invested in it as I was, I was very worried about coming home.

"I appreciated all the support I have received, it has been great.

"The trails were phenomenal, the people amazing, we had such a great team it was such a good experience."

Gammon Cottage Penola.

Picture: NATIONAL TRUST OF SA

History of Gammon Cottage

In association with State Heritage, Penola's branch of National Trust SA has developed a mobile phone app called SA Heritage, to enable people to learn more about historic sites within Penola on self guided tours.

The following is one of the subjects from this app.

GAMMON COTTAGE

By 1869 Andrew Adams was the owner of a cottage, garden and stable on this site until it was acquired by Simon McKenzie in 1871.

Stonemason Thomas Gammon, his wife Hannah a needlewoman and midwife, sailed with their seven children from Southampton on the Talbot, arriving at Geelong, Victoria on the 25th of August 1857.

They travelled to Penola by horse and cart and lived in a two-roomed weather-board cottage and tents in Ralston Street.

Their son, Philip Francis William, known as William, married Mary Anne Testrow and worked on stations around Penola before purchasing this property from Charles Smith in 1879. Their son Frank, who became the last family occupier of the cottage, was known as the local Vet.

His claim to fame is the time that he castrated an aggressive lion for Bullen Brothers circus, having reputedly said of the request, "No problem. He's only a big cat and I've cut dozens of them."

The Penola Pennant of 15th January 1953 reported that the proprietors offered grateful thanks to Mr Gammon for the successful operation he performed on their lion whilst in Penola.

They said, "We take our hats off to you".

In a letter to the BorderWatch newspaper in 1963, an old Penola resident, Mr T Grey, told of his experiences: "In my younger days Petticoat Lane was where I spent most of my time and I still have a soft spot in my heart for this little lane. Everyone had a hack to ride and there would be as many horses in Petticoat Lane of a Sunday as you would see on the race course. The Gammon brothers were great horsemen and colt breakers. They would ride any horse that ever stood on four legs and sit him as long as the pig skin lasted."

The building, described in 1883 as a four-roomed stone cottage with a weather-board detached kitchen and stable, was purchased in 1983 by the Penola Branch of the National Trust of South Australia.

The property has since been leased as an art-related retail venue and blacksmith shop.

Nature through their eyes

By Caroline Hammat

Around 80 people attended the opening of the Millicent Gallery's latest exhibition 'Nature through the artist's eyes'.

Curated by Julie Ann McEwen the show was put together after the original artist scheduled to exhibit was unable to proceed.

Ms McEwen reached out to artists across the Wattle Range Council area and secured 15 artists from Millicent, Penola, Southend and Beachport to show their work.

The resulting exhibition is a diverse range of artwork created in a variety of mediums including weaving, woodwork and painting.

Both new and established exhibitors are included in the exhibition with Millicent artist Chris Hollingsworth showing an incredible 28 paintings, mostly of birds.

Opening the exhibition were Wattle Range Council manager libraries and cultural services Janice Nitschke, Mayor Des Noll and Ms McEwen.

"Sharing stories and experiences through art, this exhibition celebrates artists living in the Wattle Range council area" Ms McEwen said.

"It is exciting for me to see such diversity in their approaches to making art and with the variety of media and techniques used to interpret the theme of nature.

"Some of the makers are new to showing their work and I congratulate them for having the courage, it is not easy showing your work in public.

"I am a firm believer that art is good for mental health, by making art or experiencing art we all can gain benefits.

"This exhibition was set up to encourage Wattle Range creatives to continue making and have confidence to share their work with others."

Councillors Dennis Muhovics and Moira Neagle, and Mayoress Shari Noll were in attendance.

Nature through the artist's eyes remains on display at the Millicent Gallery until July 30th.

Limestone Coast group arrives at their destination

By Caroline Hammat

On Sunday afternoon, after two and half years of waiting, members of the Limestone Coast Model Railway Group (LCMRG) held their first meeting in their own dedicated space.

The building was originally used by members of the now defunct Millicent BMX club and more recently has been a store room for Millicent Mens Shed (MMS).

An agreement with the mens shed over two years ago evolved into the LCMRG becoming a sub group of MMS.

MMS have recently finished building an extension to their Fifth Street building and this has allowed the old storeroom to be passed to the model railway group for use.

The group have wasted no time since being handed the keys a month ago with all new electricals installed, an existing roller door replaced with a new door, and lining some of the space where needed.

LCMRG member Arthur O'Connell said they are planning a working bee for Saturday.

"The working bee is to get the final touches done to get the shed finished," he said.

"Once we've got the cleaning done, plumbing finished and other bits and pieces then it will be all hands on to start building layouts.

"We should have the trains running in the next four or five months."

The club has two layouts planned for the 7.2 x 4.6 metre space.

Mr O'Connell is donating a half built N Gauge track the club will be able to complete, and a HO layout is planned to be built from scratch.

"We will build a good layout and down the track we will build an exhibition layout to take places.

"The layouts are built at our expense.

"We fund ourselves through membership and a member makes T-Track modules that we sell to make a few dollars.

"Our display at Geltwood Festival is popular and a really good money raiser for us."

A clash of functions means the group will be unable to host a display at this year's festival weekend but they plan open days once the layouts are up and running.

The group has a range of people involved bringing different skills to the table.

"Some people will do the scenery, other people lay track, then you get your electrical part of everything, you might all have all those skills," said member Klaas Mastenbrook.

"There is variety in the group which is good, we get along well and we all have different skills," Mr O'Connell said.

Hans Stashik always had an interest in model trains and is glad to see the group finally in its own building.

"We've been having meetings at various people's places before we started coming to the mens shed."

"It's nearly two and half years and we finally have a shed we can do something with, it's starting to get more exciting now."

The LCMRG is the only group of its kind in the South East and has members from Kingston, Mount Burr, Mount Gambier, Millicent, Kalangadoo, Tantanoola and even Ballarat.

Rural people missing out

By Aidan Curtis

People living in rural and regional areas are missing out on vital healthcare access, according to a national report.

The report, commissioned by the National Rural Health Alliance, found regional people each miss out on close to $850 a year of healthcare access.

Nationally, the figures showed an annual rural health spending deficit of $6.5 billion.

Royal Australian College of General Practitioners (RACGP) rural chair Michael Clements said there was a lack of spending on regional healthcare as people had less access to services.

“What we know is the data is saying our rural patients are not accessing Medicare for their GPs, they’re not accessing Medicare for allied health, they’re not accessing their pharmacists for prescription medications or hospital services,” Associate Professor Clements said.

“This is not because they’re magically healthier, that the clean country air is an antidote for everything.

“It actually shows us they’re not getting into see healthcare because they cant, because there’s no doctors, or they have to travel so far they just avoid it.”

He said people tend to just put up with worsening symptoms as they do not see any other option, which had serious impacts on the life expectancies of those living far from big cities.

“If there’s no GPs or no primary healthcare services, we know that leads to poorer health outcomes, and that leads to things like lower life expectancy, increased complications from diabetes and heart disease and mental health and respiratory disease,” he said.

Picture: SASUN BUGHDARYAN/UNSPLASH

Associate Professor Clements said there were ways to address the problem in both the short and the long term.

“We need to make sure that the health dollars are spent in ways that are suitable for the rural town,” he said.

“We need to make sure when the government is giving money to the PHNs or through Medicare or through different programs, that the way it spends the money is suitable for the Limestone Coast region.

“Every town has its own way of solving problems and its own needs, so what we’re calling on is each region having some self-determination in how they pool those different sources of funding and how they spend it.”

He also said a long-term solution would be to ensure more medical students and junior doctors were put on placements in rural areas.

“You can’t be what you can’t see, and if these junior doctors aren’t seeing these rural towns as part of their training, then they’re never going to end up there,” he said.

Cluster shares in funding for drought preparedness

By Sophie Conlon

The Limestone Coast Food and Agribusiness Cluster, along with four other South East organisations, has received a share in funding from the Foundation for Rural and Regional Renewal (FRRR) to assist with drought preparedness.

Cluster chair Dannielle England said the group was granted $147,550 to build a 35 Under 35 program which would bring together a community network.

“It is an opportunity for 35 businesses owned and managed by under 35s in the region to come together, form a network, have access to mentoring, and have upskilling so the small business community in the region is able to grow and prosper,” she said.

“One of the things that came about in our community consultation process... was that in times of drought or crisis, is the main streets start to look really empty because there is not the small business resilience there to enable those businesses to keep going.

“So what we’re hoping is that while times are good we can set some of those future business leaders up for success so the next time we roll into drought we’ve got a motivated, upskilled network of young business owners.”

The Mackillop Farm Management Group was granted $75,000 for their Skill Up: Helping Community Organisations Govern program across the Limestone Coast.

The Limestone Coast Landscape Board was granted $39,823 for their Walking the Seasons program to create a bi-monthly art workshop run by the Burrandies and Ngarrindjeri Aboriginal Corporations in the whole region.

The Migrant Resource Centre was granted $49,000 for a Migrant Integration and Volunteering for Impact Exchange to engage recent migrants in the local community and agricultural industry in Bordertown, Naracorte and Mount Gambier.

Women Together Learning (WoTL) was granted $47,000 for their Building Rural Women’s Connection and Capacity for Drought Preparation program, which would be delivered in Keith and Millicent.

Ms England said the cluster was also chosen as FRRRs Limestone Coast Community Partner Lead Organisation, which meant they would coordinate the Community Impact Program in the region.

“The Limestone Coast Food Cluster has been the coordinating organisation that has been working in collaboration with FRRR to bring all the community groups together,” she said.

In being chosen as the regions lead organisation the cluster was granted $51,000 which Ms England said would help deliver a range of projects, events, initiatives, training, capability building and small-scale community infrastructure projects to assist local people prepare for future drought in the Limestone Coast.

“We want everyone in the business community to be involved, it’s just just food and beverage producers, it’s everybody,” she said.

While the Limestone Coast has been relatively unscathed by droughts in recent years, Ms England said the programs would help business through any market change.

“It’s about being able to handle changes in the market, you only have to look at the impact that the loss of the China market had on our agribusinesses and the flow on effect of that,” she said.

FRRR disaster resilience and recovery lead Nina O’Brien said the grants would create opportunities for agriculture-dependent communities to increase social connection, strengthen network opportunities and identify and adopt innovative and transformative ways to build drought resilience.

'Fabulous' month of wine

Coonawarra wineries are getting ready for a busy month with Cellar Dwellers just around the corner.

The event, which runs from July 1 until July 31, showcases a more intimate side of the wineries and winemakers in the Coonawarra region.

Coonawarra Vignerons events and marketing officer Heidi Guyett said July will be a "fabulous month" with all the different experiences on the horizon.

"As the weather gets cooler, it's the perfect time to head to Coonawarra to enjoy some beautiful, toasty reds and some delicious whites," Ms Guyett said.

"Most importantly, the wineries and cellar doors of Coonawarra are pulling out some real treasures that visitors to the region wouldn't often get the chance to try.

"The emphasis on the month is the intimate experiences with winemakers, with the boutique wineries' owners, and really having a chance to settle in and get to know the makers."

Ms Guyett said there is more than wine on offer, with a range of hands on experiences available including pasta making, a Tuscan feast, tours and the ever-popular opportunity to make your own wine.

"There's some really great events that wineries have put together for people to explore and indulge a little bit more," she said.

"The July period is definitely about discovering the treasures from Coonawarra cellars, whilst also being able to sit down with the winemaker, taste the wines and listening to the stories.

"A few of the wineries are also bringing dinner events to Mount Gambier, so we're trying to make it as accessible as possible."

The more intimate experiences have proven popular in recent years, and Ms Guyett encouraged people to make sure they booked a spot to ensure they do not miss out.

"There is a tendency for people to really try and get on board quickly for these events, which come around only a few times a year," she said.

"The locals know you've got to be quick to book a seat if you want to join in."

Ms Guyett also recommended people grab a copy of the Cellar Dwellers program to view the full range of events and tasting experiences and to pick up a Cellar Dwellers Passport.

"The Cellar Dwellers Passport acts as a bit of an incentive program during the month of July," she said.

Cellar Dwellers will kick off this week.

"Visitors are encouraged to go to at least five cellar doors, either during the day, over the weekend or over the course of the month.

"At each cellar door, they can collect a stamp on the passport which appears at the back of the program and, once complete, can drop it off at any of the participating wineries and go in the draw to win a case of wine."

Artists showcase nature

By Caroline Hammat

Community members from across the district rugged up and ventured out to the launch of Millicent Gallery's latest exhibition last Friday night.

Titled 'Nature through the artist's eyes' the exhibition includes the work of 15 artists from across the Wattle Range Council district.

Mount Gambier artist Julie Ann McEwen curated the exhibition with support from Carol Baxter and Peter Dunn to display the works.

The exhibition is currently on display until Sunday, July 30th.

Veggie Egg Tartlets

Serves: 4

Ingredients

- 12 large eggs
- Pinch of salt
- Good grind of pepper
- 1 tbsp extra virgin olive oil (garlic infused if you like)
- ¼ red onion, finely diced
- 3 mushrooms, diced
- 3 asparagus, diced
- 2 slices lean ham, diced (optional)
- 6 sheets filo
- 60 g feta
- Small handful fresh basil & parsley, finely chopped

Method:

1. Preheat the oven to 180 C. Brush a 12-hole muffin tray with extra virgin olive oil.
2. Crack the eggs into a bowl and season with a pinch of salt and a good grind of pepper. Whisk and set aside.
3. Heat a frying pan and drizzle with the extra virgin olive oil. Sauté the onion, mushrooms, asparagus and ham for a few minutes until softened and a little browned.
4. Meanwhile fold a sheet of filo in half and then again into a quarter. Cut in half to create two rough squares of 4 layers of filo. Press each into a hole of the muffin tray.
5. Spoon the sauteed veggie and ham mixture into each tartlet. Divide the feta, crumbling a little into each tart, along with the fresh herbs, and finally pour over the whisked egg to fill each tartlet.
6. Pop the tray into the oven to bake for 15-20 minutes or until slightly brown on top and the egg cooked through. Carefully remove each tartlet from the muffin tray with pallet knife and serve straight away or allow to cool on a rack before storing covered in the fridge.

Macadamia nut pavlova with mango and passionfruit

Prep time: 15 min

Cook time: 1.5 hours

Serves: 12 people

15g nuts per serve

Ingredients

For the pavlova

- 5 egg whites (175g)
- 225g sugar
- 1 tsp lemon juice or white wine vinegar
- 1/2 tsp vanilla extract
- 140g roasted macadamias, finely chopped

For the cream

- 300ml cream, cold
- 1 tsp Davidson Plum powder (optional)

For the topping

- 20g roasted pistachios, chopped
- 20g roasted macadamias, chopped
- 60g passionfruit pulp (~2 passionfruit)
- 1 (150g) mango
- 20g blueberries
- 50g strawberries

Method:

1. Preheat oven to 150°C. Line oven tray with baking paper.
2. In a large electric mixer bowl fitted with whisk attachment, beat the egg whites on medium speed until bubbles start to form, about 1 minute.
3. Add half of the sugar, vinegar, and vanilla extract. Then, continue whisking until soft peaks are formed, about 2 minutes.
4. Add remaining sugar and beat until glossy, stiff peaks are formed, about 1 minute.
5. Remove bowl from the mixer and fold in the chopped macadamia nuts.
6. Spoon the meringue mixture onto the baking tray to make 2 round nests.
7. Reduce oven temperature to 120° and bake for 1 hour.
8. Turn off the oven and cool with the door ajar for at least 2 hours.
9. In a large mixing bowl, whip the cream to soft peaks then fold in the Davidson Plum powder.
10. To assemble the pavlova, carefully place one of the meringue nests on a platter.

11. Spoon and spread half of the cream, sprinkle 1 tbsp chopped pistachio and macadamia onto the meringue then carefully place the other meringue nest on top.
12. Spoon remaining cream, drizzle passionfruit pulp, assemble fruits, sprinkle remaining nuts and dust Davidson Plum powder on top of the meringue.
13. Serve immediately.

Tips:

- You can also make one big round nest (bake for 1 hour 15 minutes) or 20-30 mini-meringue nests (bake for 30 minutes). Assemble your pavlova at the very last minute, as the cream and fruits will soften the pavlova. Roasted almonds can be used instead of pistachios.

GOLD DIGGERS

ABC TV, Wednesday, 9.10pm

It's the Australian gold rush like you've never seen it. Gold-mining towns were the haunt of thousands on men on the hunt to find their fortune. But in this irreverent, female-driven comedy, it's all about two enterprising, contrary sisters – party-loving Gert (Claire Lovering) and gullible Marigold (Danielle Walker). Set in the 1850s, the ladies arrive on the goldfields on a mission to bag themselves a rich, dumb husband. Created by Jack Yabsley, who obviously has a keen eye for the playful after hosting kids' show Saturday Disney, it also stars Michala Banas and Eddie Perfect. Freewheeling and laugh-out-loud, it's the exhilarating, raucous treasure we never knew we needed.

INSIDE SYDNEY AIRPORT

SBS, Thursday, 7.30pm

If you think getting through an airport as a frazzled passenger is enough to test the toughest nerves, this homegrown series reveals the miraculous feats of organisation and foresight that keep Australia's busiest airport running like a finely tuned machine. Tonight, duty manager Carmelo, known as Mel, (pictured) is excited to learn that he'll escort his favourite pop artist when they arrive at Sydney Airport. Meanwhile, security goes into overdrive with the imminent arrival of the Prime Minister of Singapore.

FOOD UNWRAPPED

SBS Food, Friday, 9.35pm

In an idyllic world, we'd all forage in our abundant gardens to pick our homegrown food, but these days, most of us rely on supermarkets to feed us. This British series does the investigative work most of us don't have the time to carry out, finding out how the food we buy is made, opening the lid on mass food production and its secrets that we may have never considered. It's a fascinating exploration with hosts Matt Tebbutt, James Watt, Martin Dickie and Kate Quilton in this long-running and reliable series. Tonight, the team ponders whether a happy chicken lays a tastier egg. They also find out how supermarkets get avocados ripe and ready to eat.

BACK ROADS

ABC TV, Monday, 8pm

Presenter Heather Ewart (pictured) has possibly seen more of Australia and its myriad tiny towns than anyone. Ewart kicks off her ninth season of rural adventures in South Australia, on the dusty and long Strzelecki Track, which is now in the process of being sealed. Beginning near Lyndhurst, and heading into the Strzelecki Desert, at Lyndhurst Station she meets Adam and Kate Litchfield and their two children. While Adam grew up on the track, it's a big change for Sydneysider Kate, who helps run their 35,000 square km property.

Alfa Romeo Giulia in focus

By Alistair Kennedy, Marque Motoring

Alfa Romeo Giulia is a stylish Italian sports sedan built on a rear-drive platform and designed to tackle the market segment currently dominated by the premium European brands.

Although the name Giulia (pronounced Ju-lia) was around in the 1960s and early 1970s, it didn't re-emerge until 2015 when, to the delight of Alfistis everywhere, the company broke away from using the bland numeric names 156 and 159 and returned to such a distinctively Italian one.

There are five models in the Giulia range: Ti, Veloce, Quadrifoglio, GTA and GTAm.

There's a huge difference in price, starting from around $70,000 for the Ti and Veloce, then doubling once to the $143,000 Quadrifoglio and doubling again to the track-ready GTA and GTAm.

Our test car was the Quadrifoglio, which is Italian for four-leaf clover and has been the symbol for Alfa racing cars for close to 100 years.

In modern times Quadrifoglio, often abbreviated to QV, indicates high-performance road cars.

STYLING

Giulia Quadrifoglio is a real stunner.

It's very svelte and Italian in its shape and drew plenty of attention wherever we went due in no small part by the rich Montreal Green version that we tested.

Indeed, one Irish colleague was so smitten by the combination of the colour and the shamrock/clover badges (there is a difference apparently) on the sides that only my mention of the price tag stopped him from rushing off to buy one.

The exterior is highlighted by the traditional triangular shield grille flanked by two lower-mounted grilles in the apron.

The bonnet has two cooling outlets for the engine bay.

There's a carbon-fibre splitter and large air intakes for the intercoolers as well as the brakes.

The side skirts also feature carbon-fibre inserts and there are gill-style outlets either side at the front to allow air to escape from the wheel housings.

The "angry-eyes" headlights, narrow on the inside and swept-back over the front fenders, add to its striking appearance.

Unlike some of its competitors, there is no wagon variant for the Giulia although the recently-released Stelvio SUV Quadrifoglio is there if a more functional interior is needed.

INTERIOR

Giulia is built close to the ground making entry and exit difficult for less supple occupants.

Consequently, the driving position is lower than we normally like but Giulia is a sports sedan so that's to be expected.

The dashboard tilts slightly towards the driver.

Our test QV came with optional black leather with Alcantara inserts and green/white stitching.

The front seats have tall rigid bolsters which will challenge ample-buttocked occupants, but do provide excellent support.

Cabin storage is adequate, with dual cup holders and a sizeable smartphone-sized alcove at the base of the dashboard and an adjacent USB socket.

There are two more USB ports in a small centre console storage box with a wireless phone charging pad next to them.

There's also a useful small slot in the centre console to fit the keyfob.

The rear does have three seatbelts but the centre seat is not only narrow but it sits on top of a very high transmission tunnel that makes seating, even for children, all but impossible.

Perhaps a child seat might just be squeezed in but not much else.

The Alfa Romeo Giulia Quadrifoglio.

Otherwise the fold down armrest, with twin cupholders, will be in place all the time.

On the plus-side the two useable rear seats are large and supportive as well as heated.

As with the front seats they are finished in leather and Alcantara.

Head and legroom are reasonable and there are twin air vents and a pair of USB ports.

Boot size is a decent 480 litres although access through the narrow opening can be a squeeze.

The latest upgrade added a powered tailgate.

ENGINES / TRANSMISSIONS

Both the Ti and Veloce are powered by a 2.0-litre four-cylinder turbocharged engine with outputs of 206 kW and 400 Nm at 2250 rpm.

The 2.9-litre twin-turbo V6 in the Giulia Quadrifoglio Verde (QV) is something special with its Ferrari-inspired 500 horsepower (375 kW) twin-turbocharged engine.

That peak power comes in at 6500 rpm with the redline set at 7000 revs.

There's an impressive 600 Nm all the way from 2500 to 5500 rpm.

All engines are mated to an eight-speed ZF automatic gearbox with large aluminium manual gearshift paddles.

SAFETY

Although the Quadrifoglio hasn't been tested by ANCAP, the lower spec Veloce achieved a five-star rating including an adult occupation protection rating of 98 per cent.

Standard safety features in the Giulia QV include six airbags, active cruise control, rear cross traffic alert, intelligent speed control, driver inattention alert, traffic sign recognition, automatic high beam system, lane departure warning and lane keep assist, and forward collision warning.

There's also active blind spot assist, autonomous emergency braking, tyre pressure monitoring, reversing camera, front and rear parking sensors and rear-view mirror auto-dimming, and Isofix child seat anchors in the outer rear seats.

INFOTAINMENT

Display is through a small 8.8-inch touchscreen embedded in the top centre of the dashboard that can, and should be, operated by a new rotary dial on the centre console.

Traditionalists will be happy with the two large analogue instrument dials for the driver with a digital speedometer in between.

As is the norm nowadays, there's a lot of learning needed to operate what is quite a complex infotainment system including a triple split screen.

As always, given that we only have most vehicles for a week, we try to avoid being too critical of features that owners will quickly adapt to.

There's built-in satellite navigation, DAB+ digital radio, wireless Apple CarPlay but wired Android Auto as well as an impressive 14-speaker Harman/Kardon system called Sound Theatre.

DRIVING

As good as the Giulia Quadrifoglio looks, it's also a brilliant car to drive.

It's a true sports model, with an all-new rear-wheel drive architecture giving it 50:50 weight distribution.

It's the first Alfa sedan to be driven by its rear wheels since the early 1990s.

Weight is kept down through the use of lightweight steel and composite materials such as carbon fibre.

Like an increasing number of new vehicles Giulia comes with a start/stop button, many of which are annoyingly tucked away out of sight behind the steering wheel.

Determined to be different, the Alfa designers have cleverly positioned the button at the bottom of the steering wheel itself.

At least it's at the bottom once the driver gets into the habit of parking, as we all should, with the wheels pointing straight ahead.

Once pressed, the fun starts with the 2.9-litre twin-turbo engine sending out a lovely V6 burble through the four tailpipes.

Around town the Giulia QV is a little awkward with ground clearance of just 100mm needing a fair bit of caution and angled approach around driveways and the like.

The Alfa DNA Driving Mode Selector offers four main drive modes: Advanced Efficiency (for poor traction conditions), Normal, Dynamic and Race.

Each of these changes the settings for the dampers, torque limiter, steering, gear shifts, all-wheel drive system, exhaust valve, throttle sensitivity and torque vectoring.

Most drivers, as we did, will spend most of the time in Dynamic rather than Normal mode as it provided everything we required.

Extra-large piece aluminium paddle shifters are fixed to the steering column encouraging their use – just for the fun of it.

Fuel consumption is listed at 8.2 litres per 100 kilometres kept down by the combination of auto engine stop-start and cylinder deactivation which shutting down three of the six cylinders when not required.

We averaged a touch over 10 L/100km during our test, still pretty good for such a sporty car.

SUMMING UP

Alfa Romeo Giulia QV is a car with the character that you expect from Italy in that combines stunning looks with outstanding performance.

Anyone who is in the market for a mid-sized sports sedan should forget all their preconceptions about Alfa and at least take it for a test drive before rushing in and buying one of its mostly German competitors.

Kent takes home the title

The 2023 Limestone Coast 150 Sporting Clays event was held over the long weekend recently with 69 competitors taking part in the shoot hosted by the Lake Bonney Sporting Clays and the South East Field and Game Association.

Shooters were greeted with overcast conditions for the first day and the fine sunny conditions on the Sunday.

Jeremy Kent, who recently won the English Sporting Nationals, took out the Highgun with a solid score of 137/150.

Chris Wright from the Senior category was a close runner-up overall as he finished just one target behind Kent.

Danny Bellinger and Gavin Dyson ran a close race with both finishing up on 134/150, with Bellinger winning AA Grade on a count-back.

In A Grade, Bill Dyson came in first with a score of 129/50, while Tim Widdison runner-up just one shot behind.

Marc O'Shannessy won B Grade with a score of 108/150.

Ian Eckerman was second with 105 targets.

In C Grade, Kyle Dodman claimed the win with a score of 104/150 to down Ben Hagarty who was runner-up with 101 targets.

Wright's 136 targets were enough to claim the Senior's win, while Leigh Dunn was runner-up with an impressive 131/150.

Ernie Scheidl snatched the lead from Neville Kent and finished up first in the Veteran's competition with a score of 128/150, just one shot ahead of Kent.

Scheidl recently returned from the Oceania Championships in Waikato, New Zealand, along with Robert Brown and Russell Pigdon, as members of the Australian Veteran's team and were recipients of a silver medal.

John Torresan won the Masters' Category easily with a score of 131/150, with Wayne Evans in second place.

The Women's competition was blitzed by Tasha Bellinger who shot 126/150 to claim a dominant win with Bec Kober the runner-up.

Zakary Button won the Junior's competition with a solid 125 targets, while Nicholas Bologniannis was the runner-up, three targets back.

Jack Dyson won the Sub-Junior category with a personal best of 117/150.

Two members from the South East Branch of South Australian Field and Game Association have been selected in the Australian National Team to compete at the World Sporting Championships in Hungary in July.

Ernie Scheidl is a member of the Veteran's team, along with another South Australian in Robin Showier from the Riverland and Russell Pigdon from Victoria.

Tim Widdison is a member of the Senior's team and will be joined by Chris Ball from South Australia and Michael Birgan from Queensland.

The pair join a growing list of South East members who have represented Australia internationally in previous years.

Jeremy Kent, who is in good form at the moment, will also compete as an individual in Hungary.

Magpies hit their straps

By Trevor Jackson

KALANGADOO 16.18 (114) d KONGORONG 4.3 (27)

Kalangadoo was certainly in good touch on Saturday, with the extreme conditions not slowing their progress at all. The Magpies have had a mixed Mid South East football season so far, but now appear to be on track.

That was to the detriment of Kongorong in the Round 10 clash, who, despite the home-ground advantage, were not in the contest after the opening term, dealt an 87-point defeat. The Hawks kicked one straight goal in the first term at the scoring end of the ground, while the Magpies struggled to harness the conditions, with one goal and four behinds.

However, from there it was all one-sided as Kalangadoo hit the go pedal. The Magpies added a further seven major scores in the second term, while holding the Hawks scoreless. They did struggle in the third term, with just three behinds added to their tally, but in the same term the Hawks could only muster two goals and three behinds in total. The final term was a huge effort from the Magpies, with nine major scores while holding the Hawks to just one. Even with the slippery Sherrin, Dylan Bromley found his kicking boot in front of goals, with five majors to his name. Ben Gregory added four, with Scott Agnew, Tye McManus and Brodie Von Stanke-Dowie with two each. Jett Attard kicked two of the Hawks four majors

Kalangadoo netballers too strong in Round 10 clash

KALANGADOO 87 d KONGORONG 21
The Mid South East netball Round 10 clash at Kongorong saw the strong outfit of Kalangadoo take on the young Hawks at home. The first quarter saw both sides go hard at the ball, with Kongorong turning over the first ball of the game to score, but the Magpies quickly settled, moving the ball well and converting accurately. Kalangadoo's Jayde Peacock was on from the first whistle, working hard with the drive and feeding to Ebony McDiarmid who was accurate under the post. With the Hawks looking nervous in the first quarter, the Magpies were able to capitalise for a 15-goal lead at the first break. The second quarter saw the defensive line-ups for both teams intense. Magpies' Abbey Duncan and Hawks' Riley Buckingham battled hard in the circle, both at times influential for their respective sides. Lara Munro found herself having a good look at the ball, giving her side plenty of turn-over opportunities.

IN FORM: Chloe Peacock was again good form for Kalangadoo in Round 10 of Mid South East netball. Picture: FILE

The Hawks eventually settled in the second quarter, with Ebony Lawson moving to centre and bringing some composure to the Hawks young attack. However, their hard work was not able to convert to the scoreboard where Kalangadoo pushed its lead out by a further seven at half time to lead 43-10. The defensive pressure lifted all over the court in the third term for the Hawks, but it was not enough to run over Kalangadoo who also found a new gear after the half-time break. Chloe Peacock worked overtime at wing attack for the Magpies, both on the offensive and defensive, while Duncan continued to control the game down the attack line. Lauren Kain was out for a hunt at goal defence and provided more opportunities for her side, leading the Magpies to outscore the Hawks 21-4 as they worked the ball down the court fast and with accuracy. Munro continued working overtime down the defensive end for Kalangadoo, while Lawson and Jayde Peacock did not ease up in a thrilling contest down the court. Rach Perry settled well into goal defence while Buckingham went to the bench, but McDiarmid took the opportunity of a new combo to her advantage where she slotted 16 for the quarter and it was Kalangadoo that could run away with a big 87-21 win. Best players for the victors were Munro and Duncan, with Lawson and Perry best for Kongorong.

Tigers dominate second term

TANTANOOLA 43 D ROBE 33
In what was to be the Mid South East netball game of the round, with third and fourth fighting for the win, some tough wintery conditions prevailed at Robe. The first quarter was hotly contested, with Emma Gould and Keryl Ousey combining well in Tantanoola's goal circle, making it hard for Robe's Georgia Perkins and Emma Grant to get their hands on a ball. However, Robe had strong defensive pressure down the court and was able to get a few turnovers and score. An even first quarter saw Tantanoola up by one goal at the first break. The second quarter saw both teams with no changes. The Tigers dominated the quarter, with accurate shooting from Gould and Ousey, while Robe struggled to get the ball into their goalies and was up against strong rebounding from Tantanoola's Tayla Rowe. The Tigers began to run away with the game, with 18 goals to Robe's four in the term. Half time saw a couple of changes from both sides, with Tantanoola's goalies Gould and Ousey swapping. Robe's Halle Carter went into goal attack, Ellen Ramke took the wing defence bib and Tori Gluyas headed to the bench. Robe came out firing and played a more controlled game, with Demi and Halle Carter moving well in the circle and the former shooting with more confidence and accuracy. Down the other end Perkins shut down Ousey - keeping her scoreless for the quarter, as Robe won the term 12-7. The last quarter saw no changes to either team, with both fighting hard for the win and scoring eight goals each. That gave Tantanoola the 43-33 victory after the earlier hard work. Best players for Tantanoola were Rowe and Jami Walker, with Perkins and Halle Carter best for Robe.

Big day out for Gregory

By Trevor Jackson

MOUNT BURR 25.17 (167) d
NANGWARRY 8.7 (55)

Nangwarry is probably chalked up as a danger game for most clubs this Mid South East foot-ball season.

The Saints have been on the improve, but Round 10 certainly showed they have a long way to go, with a big 112-point loss.

Up against Mount Burr, the Saints were no match, even after a two-goal opening term.

The Mozzies kicked four and led by 12 points at the first break.

The second term simply opened the game up further, as the Mozzies used the scor-ing end to advantage and piled on six major scores, while holding the Saints goal-less.

By the long break the margin had opened to 47 points, but the Mozzies were not done.

The scoring end certainly worked for the Saints in the third term, where they were able to add a further five goals to the coffers, while holding Mount Burr to four.

However, the Saints six scoring shots were overshadowed by the Mozzies' 10, showing the disparity with ball in hand up forward.

To account for the third term the Mozzies lifted in the final stanza.

While the Saints kicked one major score only, the Mozzies were up and about, peppering the goals, with 11 major scores the result from 17 scoring opportunities.

Jack Gregory was the star of the show, with 12 goals on a day out.

Kallan Bevan and Josh Fiebig added four each, while Nathan Muhovics chipped in with two.

At the other end of the ground Andrew Hy-land and Joel Virtanen kicked three majors each.

Understaffed Mozzies get up for strong win

Mount Burr 38 d Nangwarry 20

Mount Burr had key goal shooter Ebony Clark and co-coach Simone Westerman unavailable for the Mid South East netball Round 10 clash against Nangwarry, but could still get the job done.

Youngster Ashlee Dean came into the side for her second game of the season.

It was a closely-contested first quarter, with both teams taking time to settle in goals.

The defensive pressure of Mount Burr's Megan Thiele caused passing errors.

Thiele was also able to take strong re-bounds and drove strongly down court.

Ella Easterby and Laura Schultz pre-sented well and fed their goalies with accuracy in windy conditions.

Both teams had missed shots which meant it was a defensive quarter.

Nangwarry goal keeper Kayla Gray took rebounds and made Mount Burr goal shooter Olivia Dean work hard to gain possession.

Mount Burr led the quarter 11-6.

Gray made the most of her height in the second term, again taking rebounds from the Burr's missed shots.

Mount Burr's Schultz and Easterby cre-ated immense pressure in Nangwarry's attack line after a turnover, regaining possession before Nangwarry managed to reach their attacking goal third.

TOUGH: Chrystal Lock and Lauren Wheeler battle for possession during Round 10 of Mid South East netball.
Picture: LACHLAN ONIONS

They combined well to make circle edge and fed goalies with accuracy.

Nangwarry goal shooter Tahlia Wilson was the focal point in the goal circle, working hard to make position around the tight de-fensive pressure of Thiele and Caitlyn Payne.

Olivia Dean and Lauren Wheeler contin-ued to rotate the Burr goal circle gaining pos-session.

They struggled in the conditions to make the possessions count, even when taking strong rebounds.

The quarter saw both teams take defen-sive possessions to keep the quarter even.

Mount Burr headed into the main break with an eight-goal lead.

Both teams made changes, but the most notable was the return of Olivia Dean to goal keeper and Ashlee Dean to goal shooter, which had an immediate impact for the Burr.

Schultz at centre and Thiele at goal de-fence caused multiple turnovers to help Mount Burr score a few goals in a row.

Thiele and Olivia Dean limited oppor-tunities for Wilson to gain possession.

Hayley Vanderhorst worked both outside and inside the circle to gain possession for Nangwarry.

Wilson was the main focal point, but Ol-ivia Dean made it difficult for feeders to pen-etrate.

Cassie Dinnison and Claire Ferguson worked hard to feed goalies from circle edge but attempts to get closer to the post allowed Mount Burr to take possession and head to the final break with a nine-goal lead.

The Mozzies lifted their intensity in the final quarter with more accurate shooting helping them extend their lead early in the quarter.

The defensive pressure and the drive and strength of Shultz through the centre al-lowed goalies to gain possession.

Nangwarry goal defender Carly Ploenges created pressure in the circle getting tips on balls, but the deflections landed in Mount Burr's hands.

Ashlee Dean and Wheeler had to work the ball closer to the post through the patience of Schultz and Easterby.

Despite the efforts of Dinnison and Fer-guson to drive the ball forward, Olivia Dean and Thiele continued to force errors and make Wilson work hard to gain possession, limiting scoring opportunities for Nangwar-ry.

Mount Burr was too strong in the last quarter and ran away with an 18-goal win.

Best players for Mount Burr were Schultz and Ashlee Dean, with Ploenges and Vander-horst best for Nangwarry.

Munro show at Glencoe

By Trevor Jackson

PORT MACDONNELL 18.12 (120) d GLENCOE 8.9 (57)

GLENCOE hosted Port MacDonnell in Round 10 of Mid South East football and suffered a big 63-point loss.

A slow start by the hosts set the game up, as the Demons banged on 6.6 (42) in the opening term to the Murphies two behinds.

The game then settled in and the Demons continued to build on its foundation, with five goals to three in the second term.

By the long break the margin had increased to 52 points and it would prove to be a long day for the host club.

Both sides added three goals and three behinds in the third term, but the Murphies simply could not make headway into the deficit.

With the job done by the final break, the Demons would have been excused for taking it easy, but that was not the case, as they added a further four majors and held the Murphies to just two for a strong victory in less-than-ideal conditions.

Up forward it was the Colby Munro show, as the Demon recruit banged on 10 major scores.

He was supported by big men Tim Sullivan and Will MacDonald who kicked two each.

Hot start, consistent effort wins the day for Robe

By Trevor Jackson

ROBE 14.10 (94) d TANTANOOLA 2.3 (15)

A 40-point opening term set the scene as Robe easily accounted for Tantanoola in Round 10 of Mid South East football on the weekend.

While the Roosters laid a strong foundation for the remainder of the day, the Tigers could only manage one behind.

Not much improved for the Tigers from there on, with the second term seeing one straight goal from the visitors, while the home side banged on another three majors and handful of behinds to stretch the margin to 54 points at the long break.

On a day like Saturday, with the football like a cake of soap, there was no way the Tigers could close that margin and the third term showed just that.

Tantanoola was held scoreless in the third term, while Robe continued on unabated.

That continued on into the final stanza and while the Roosters slowed down somewhat, it was probably more due to the weather than the opposition.

Goals were shared around by the Roosters, with Egan Regnier and Kaden Woodward bagging three majors each.

Jordan Hentschke, Sam Huebner and Mason Keane added two each.

Murphies fight out strong victory on home courts

GLENCOE 51 d PORT MACDONNELL 39

GLENCOE and Port MacDonnell faced off at the Murphies home courts in what looked to be an intriguing battle.

After only falling short to the reigning Mid South East premiers by five goals in their first-round encounter, the Demons came out ready to cause an upset, but the inclusion of Glencoe's Jenna Paproth from that first clash loomed as another challenge.

The Murphies came out the blocks the more settled side.

Their attack line worked with patience to find their way to circle edge and feed to the likes of Chantelle Cocks and Jenna Paproth with great precision, making it hard for the Demons' defenders to have an early impact on the game.

Down the other end of the court the goalie combination of Megan Hein and Kori Collins took longer to adjust to the tight checking of the Murphies' defence.

Some early missed goals and forced pressure passing set up an early lead for Glencoe.

As the quarter wore on the Port MacDonnell defenders lifted their intensity to win back some much needed ball for their side, but they were unable to stop the strength of Cocks under the post, who scored nine goals from 10 attempts and the Murphies headed to the first break leading 15-10.

The Bay's playing coach Hein came out to impress in the second quarter.

She led by example in the attack end, receiving plenty of ball to set up play and be a focal point under the post.

With her goalie partner Collins finding it difficult to get into a scoring opportunity under the lifted pressure of Glencoe's Sarah Edwards, the leadership of Hein kept the Demons in the game.

The Glencoe attack end continued their dominance with youngster Alice Tentye taking on the bulk of centre pass receives and working her way onto the circle edge despite the immense pressure applied by Kate Faint.

The defensive combination of Alana Berkefeld and Alysha Coon continued to apply pressure and contest any high balls entering the Glencoe goal circle.

When the Demons did gain turnover ball they struggled to transition through court with the Murphies Donna Jaeschke, Chloe Pfitzner and Edwards clogging up the middle third and forcing long cross-court options.

Glencoe extended its lead by another five goals at the main break.

Port MacDonnell made some changes to start the second half, bringing the fresh legs of Shannon Scheidl into the centre, which moved Liza Mutch into wing defence and Faint to the bench.

Glencoe remained unchanged.

Coon began to find her feet and limit the easy option of Cocks under the post for Glencoe.

Her pressure forced some wayward passing from the Glencoe feeders which allowed Port MacDonnell more ball in hand.

Hein continued to dominate under the post and regained her connection with Collins to convert more evenly.

Paproth had to increase her work load in attack to find the front space and draw the double-team off Cocks.

In a more even contest, Port MacDonnell won the quarter by two goals.

Heading into the final term the Demons team came out loud in an attempt to disrupt the calm of the Murphy side.

They made another change with defenders Berkefeld and Coon swapping bibs.

In a scrappy final quarter the Murphies were able to get the better of the Demons with a strong defensive line up.

Chelsea Owen got the better of Hein in the final quarter and contested any passes in her vicinity.

Pfitzner also began to reap the rewards of her hard blocking game with some timely intercepts.

In the end the full court pressure from Glencoe overran the fighting Demons to claim the win.

Best players for Glencoe were Paproth and Tentye, with Mutch and Coon best for Port MacDonnell.

Gartner claims place

By Lachlan Onions

Penola's Greg Gartner was in action recently for the Finke Desert Race and returned to the podium for the first time in 12 years as he finished second alongside his navigator Jamie Jennings.

Gartner said he was over the moon to finish second and that it was quite a surprise to him after a relatively scot-free race through the unforgiving desert.

"In the last few years we have been very close to getting back to the podium and for instance last year, we had a fuel issue within five kilometres of the finish which cost us another podium," he said.

"2011 was our last podium, we won that outright and we were the first trophy truck to win in the history of the Finke.

"We have had a lot of fourths, fifths and DNFs but it is good to be back on the podium."

There was only one man who had the pace to defeat Gartner and it was none other than two-time Dakar Rally champion Toby Price.

Gartner said Price's truck is state-of-the-art with the latest technology on board.

"Toby's new truck is a bit wider and longer with more power," Gartner said.

"To have a truck like that with Toby Price driving it - who would be in the top five best off-road drivers in the world - it would have been great to beat him but I'm happy to be not too far off of him either."

Action began on the Saturday with the prologue time trial where Gartner put in a solid banker time to start in sixth place the following day.

"We were happy with it but we thought we could do better," he said.

"It always worries me because if you have a mistake in the prologue and have a rollover, you spend the next 20 hours fixing your truck.

"So that is always in the back of my mind to keep the truck nice and straight before the race."

For the Sunday for the first day of the race where competitors went down to the Finke Desert, Gartner moved up a couple of places and was set to start the second day of racing in fourth.

"On the Monday for the race back, we started fourth - 20 seconds off of third," Gartner said.

"So we were in the dust for a while and we got Shannon Rentsch in the first 80 kilometres so we were into third and in a really good position.

"We pushed fairly hard and we caught up to Travis Robinson who was second and he seemed to be having a few issues because he wasn't going as fast as we thought he would.

"So we got past Travis and pretty well knew we were in second spot but we knew we had to keep pushing pretty hard because some of the quick competitors were behind us.

"We pushed hard to the finish and we were only 40 seconds off of Toby Price's time on the way home so we were pretty pleased with that because we probably lost 40 seconds in dust."

Gartner said it was one of his best Finke races and was pleased with his return to form.

"We were thrilled, the truck ran well and we are really pleased to know that we still have it and we are not getting too old," he said.

"It was probably the smoothest and quickest race that we have ever had."

Members' meeting at Penola Football Club

By Lachlan Onions

An important members' information night is set to take place at the Penola Football Club on Tuesday with SANFL representatives present to discuss the latest proposed leagues restructure.

Penola Football Club president Matt Tilby encourages Penola members to attend the meeting and said presidents from Western Border clubs will also be in attendance.

Members will have the chance to not only listen to the current proposal but will also have the opportunity to ask the SANFL representatives any questions they have about a potential league restructure.

Tilby said the SANFL have been in discussions with the six Western Border Football League clubs as well as Portland and Penola.

"There is obviously a lot to fall into place for it to happen and I think the best way to find out is to come along and have a listen," he said.

"There has been some feedback (from members) but generally everyone is aware there is nothing set in concrete - it is still not even in its early stages.

"We are just having a look at what benefits our club would have out of this situation as opposed to where we are at the moment.

Penola Football Club president Matt Tilby is encouraging Penola members to attend the meeting with SANFL representatives next week for the chance to have their voice heard. Picture: FILE

"Needless to say we are reasonably happy where we are but we are doing our due diligence for our members to ensure that when something gets presented, that we go down the right path and give everyone the opportunity to have a listen."

The meeting is scheduled to commence at 7pm.

Never too cold to fish, right?

By Jamie Coates

Another blast of true winter weather peppered the Limestone Coast over the weekend, but for the die-hards, that is just what we need to kick a few of our favourite winter species into gear.

The offshore fishing has been tricky to say the least.

Big swell, strong winds and freezing temperatures have kept all but the keenest of anglers on dry land.

There has been tuna caught again this week, though all have been school fish.

From speaking to the anglers who have been out there having a look, they reckon the numbers of fish is incredible.

At times everywhere you look, tuna are jumping out of the water.

It is great to see and we know there are still big fish mixed in with them – you just have to fish through them.

Inshore, fishing around the kelp and reef areas has been productive for those targeting sharks.

The school shark have been the predominant target down the coast, but there has been a handful of nice gummy sharks mixed in with them.

Hayden Sneath and crew boated some rippers late last week, one being a horse at just shy of 30kg.

There is no secret spots down there, just find a nice area of broken bottom, some kelp, let the burley flow and they will come.

With the winter weather comes the winter garfish and they are always a bit bigger than our summer samples.

The red beakers have been in good touch this past few weeks and when the weather allows us, the numbers have been great.

Our usual land-based haunts such as the Petrified Forrest, Hutt Bay, Cape Douglas and Livingstons have all been excellent and are all areas worthy of a crack when the weather allows.

Like usual, mullet, salmon trout and tommies are in the same spots, so expect a few visitors.

I have seen a few pictures and videos recently of boaties fishing Rocklands and landing some excellent yellowbelly in around the timber.

Deep diving minnows such as stumpjumpers or similar have been great for those trolling and Get Bent shudder and spinner baits have been red hot for those casting.

A good sounder is definitely going to improve your chances over there, but that said, just being on the water puts you in with a shot.

There are a few cod sniffing around up there too and we are hearing of the odd one being landed by those targeting the yellies.

The Glenelg River has coloured up a bit in the last week, but do not be discouraged, the fish are still there, we just have to change our approach.

As is often the case when the river dirties up, the fish head deep.

They will often be on or near the bottom and a bit reluctant to feed, but vibes and blades fished in front of their faces will often result in some good bites.

Down towards the estuary its not as dirty, but the fishing down there should fire up very soon.

By the weekend the wind and swell are both backing off nicely and we should see plenty of the smaller trailer boats hitting the ocean again.

Until next week, safe fishing.

Kongorong will need to work hard to remain in touch with Port MacDonnell in Round 11 of Mid South East netball.

It will be a tough ask for Hatherleigh to defeat the reigning premiers Glencoe in Round 11 of Mid South East netball.

Tigers, Mozzies seek bite

TANTANOOLA v MOUNT BURR

After a close game in Round 2, Tantanoola and Mount Burr will both be fighting to come away with the win this week.

Tantanoola's Jami Walker and Casey Walker will feed well to their tall goalies, Emma Gould and Keryl Ousey, who will need to shoot with accuracy under the pressure of Mount Burr's Olivia Dean and Megan Thiele.

Mozzies Caitlyn Payne and Laura Schultz are able to feed goalies Lauren Wheeler and Ebony Clark with ease and accuracy around the ring, but will have the intense pressure from Kate Bromley and Tayla Rowe in the defensive circle for the Tigers.

Both teams will fight hard down the court to cause turnovers, chasing any loose balls and aiming to convert from their defensive efforts.

This game has the potential to go either way and will be fought hard by both teams.

HATHERLEIGH v GLENCOE

Mid South East netball heads into Round 11 this weekend, with Hatherleigh to host Glencoe'

Glencoe's Sarah Edwards and Chelsea Owen create pressure throughout the defensive circle, supported well by Chloe Pfitzner outside the circle.

Hatherleigh's Demi Vanderhorst and Mad-die Pulmer will need to move and shoot with accuracy to counteract the influence of the Murphies' defenders.

Hatherleigh's Erin Watson and Glencoe's Donna Jaeschke will fight hard through the court to gain possession for their respective teams, feeding accurately into their goalies.

Glencoe's Jenna Paproth and Chantelle Cocks combine well and shoot precisely throughout the circle but will have the strong pressure of Elly Redden and Maddie Redman to create turnovers.

Glencoe will likely come away with the win, but the Eagles will fight hard.

PORT MACDONNELL v KONGORONG

Kongorong heads down to the coast to face off against Port MacDonnell in what should Tantanoola and Mount Burr will fight out the Mid South East netball match of the round on Saturday.

Pictures: FILE

be a tough contest.

Kongorong's Tilah Buckingham and Evie Sealey combine well in the goal circle, moving and shooting with accuracy, but they will be under intense pressure from Port MacDon-nell's Alana Berkefeld and Alysha Coon, who are able to use their height and skill to create pressure and force turnovers.

Demons Megan Hein and Kori Collins have proven to be a goalie combination to watch this season and are able to shoot from many points throughout the circle, while Kon-gorong's Riley Buckingham and Emily Lightbody will need to fight hard for any rebounds, creating turnovers for their team.

The home team will come away with the points, but the Hawks will make them earn every goal.

KALANGADOO v ROBE

Robe heads to Kalangadoo this weekend to play off against the Magpies.

Demi Carter and Halle Carter combine well in the goal circle for Robe and are able to shoot with accuracy from many points in the circle.

Kalangadoo's Lauren Kain and Lara Munro get hands to balls and create a plethora of turnovers for their team, feeding it back down the court through Jayde Peacock and Jane Auld.

Robe's Annie Regnier and Lucy Perkins will need to feed into their goalies with accuracy to prevent turnovers.

Abbey Duncan and Ebony McDiarmid will work well together, even under the pressure of Robe's defenders Georgia Perkins and Emma Grant, shooting with accuracy throughout the circle.

After a tough game Kalangadoo will come away with the points.

Veteran Jenni hits 350th

Port MacDonnell netballer Jenni Taylor reached a major milestone on the weekend, notching up her 350th game for the club.

Taylor started her netball career in 1985 for the Port MacDonnell Netball Club, progressing through juniors to seniors with a couple of best and fairest awards along the way, while also representing Mid South East in Country Champs on two occasions.

She played the majority of her senior games in the A Grade side, playing mainly in the wing defence position that she owned for many years.

A highlight of her career was being part of the first A Grade premiership side in 2002.

In later years Taylor has played in all grades, coached 17 and Under,

A Reserve and B Reserve.

She has been on the committee on six occasions and served as vice president in 2005 and 2006.

Taylor was awarded club person of the year in 2005 for her dedication to the club as a player, committee person, coach and umpire.

Coming back to the club in 2021, Taylor played B Grade.

Then in 2022 and 2023, she coached the B Reserve and is playing in the B Grade team again this season.

The Port MacDonnell Netball Club congratulates Taylor on her 350th game with the club.

Saints make it nine in row

By Lachlan Onions

MILLICENT 10.13 (73) d
CASTERTON SANDFORD 2.6 (18)

Millicent made it nine straight wins to start the 2023 Western Border Football season with an emphatic victory over Casterton Sanford under lights at McLaughlin Park.

The twilight game was an arm wrestle early on as the Saints had to fight to take the ascendancy.

After a low-scoring opening term, Millicent went into the break with a 14-3 lead.

However, the change of ends proved pivotal for the hosts as they soon hit their straps and took full control of the contest.

The Saints booted five goals in the quarter and held the Cats to just one major as they went into half time with a solid 37-point buffer.

However, Casterton Sanford refused to go down easy as the visitors were a match for the Saints in the third term.

The Cats scored 1.2 (8) to Millicent's 1.3 (9) in another low-scoring quarter.

However, the reigning premiers were too good for Casterton Sanford as they held the away side to just one minor score in the final quarter.

Meanwhile, the Saints kicked 2.6 (18) in the fourth term to seal an impressive 55-point win.

Hamish McRae was best on ground for Millicent after a strong performance, while Harry Tunkin, Jack Verbena, Jacob Carger, Sam Waring and Finn Grimes all put in solid contributions.

Carger, Frazer Bradley and Mitchell Reilly led the way in the forward line with two goals each.

While Jaxon Cushion, Kobe Gibson, Eli Redman and Kade Varcoe all kicked one major.

For the Cats, Michael Krieger was best on ground with Dylan Ayton and Alastair McCrae the only two goalkickers.

Looking at the ladder, the Saints remain one game clear of West gambier at the top, while Casterton still holds a 12-point gap to South Gambier in fifth.

Emphatic Millicent win

MILLICENT 78 d
CASTERTON SANDFORD 33

The 78-33 score-line is no doubt comprehensive as Millicent got the job done against Casterton Sanford at the weekend in Round 9 of Western Border netball.

However, for the Cats is was a marked improvement – keeping the Saints to 16 less goals than last time they met and also scoring more prolifically themselves.

While the conditions played a role, adding some more experience to the line-up seemed to pay dividends for Casterton Sanford with the shooting combination of Tori Broomby and Paige Murrell looking dangerous but suffering from some inaccuracy.

The defensive line also added a veteran with Sharna Fidler taking to the court.

However, as is always the case when taking on the Saints, Millicent just creates so many scoring opportunities, built on clinical ball movement in attack and relentless defensive pressure through the mid court and goal third.

Tabatha Sanderson proved unstoppable at the post, netting 66 of Millicent's 78 goals, including 16 straight in the second quarter.

Lisa Duldig was outstanding on the defensive wing, shutting down the dangerous Madeline Patton, who was coming off two outstanding performance and marshalling the defensive third for the saints to ensure the Cats struggled to find a way through.

Missing goal defence Lauren Van Eeden, the Saints teamed up Kimmi Tincknell and Portia McRae in the defensive circle and the new look duo didn't miss a beat – such is the versatility of the Millicent defensive line.

Duldig was also critical in transition, as she linked with Lillie Paul, Daisy Tunkin and Demi Verbena, who all fed Sanderson with precision.

Madalene Cleary played the first half in centre and then moved to goal attack for the second for the Cats and along with tireless defender Caeleigh Humphries, was again Casterton Sanford's best.

Successful, cold day out

In freezing cold conditions, there were 23 women who competed in a stroke round for the Monthly Medal at the Millicent Golf Club last week.

In A Grade, Helen Chilton swept the field with an impressive nett score of 73.

She was followed by runner-up Kirsty Bailey, who posted a solid nett 76.

In B Grade, Debbie Tincknell showed her class as she posted the top score of the day with a nett 70 to claim the medal.

Karen MacGregor was a close runner-up in B Grade just one stroke behind.

Bec Shanks claimed victory in the nine-hole competition for her nett score of 34 on the front nine.

Shanks was also the nearest to the pin on the third hole and the nearest for the second shot on the fifth, while Trudy-Anne Doyle was the nearest to pin for the second shot on the 17th hole.

Janet Watson, Lois Tilley and Karen Altschwager were the ball winners.

Shots on the fairways and putts were also counted and Bailey was the fairways winner in A Grade with 12, while Sharne Peacock posted the best in B Grade with 14.

Tincknell rounded out her day with the win for putts with 27.

Tim Sullivan is just one of many Port MacDonnell players who Kongorong will have to keep tabs on.

Nathan Brown has led his Robe players well this season, with another victory expected on Saturday.

All eyes on heavyweights

By Trevor Jackson

KALANGADOO v ROBE

Round 11 of Mid South East football sees two of the league's heavyweights go head-to-head at Kalangadoo.

The Magpies host Robe in what should be an entertaining game of football.

Robe sits undefeated at the top of the ladder, while the reigning premiers are down in third place.

Both sides come off big wins, with the Roosters keen to keep their undefeated record alive, while Kalangadoo would surely hope to chalk up another victory to sow some seeds of doubt in Robe's thought process.

It will be a tough task to overcome the Robe juggernaut, with the last clash of these two sides a 40-point victory to the Roosters.

That was back in Round 2 and the Roosters were comfortable throughout the contest.

It was a slow start at the season by the Magpies, who lost some players over the off-season.

They seemed to have settled at this stage and come off a 114-27 victory over Kongorong.

Robe made easy work of its clash with Tantanoola last week, so both sides are in good touch.

This game certainly deserves match-of-the-round status, but the Roosters should be up to the task and continue their unblemished run in 2023.

HATHERLEIGH v GLENCOE

Hatherleigh returns to its home ground after a week off with the bye and faces an up-and-down Glencoe roster.

Glencoe is hard to pick this season, with just two wins.

As last season's runner-up, Hatherleigh did not start its campaign well, now in fifth place with just five wins.

The problem for Glencoe is its sketchy form, which was on display last time the two sides met.

The Murphies claimed an emphatic victory and looked to be on track for a strong season.

Tory Weaver stood up and kicked nine goals, with plenty of others getting in on the act.

For Hatherleigh, just Sam Telfer kicked multiple goals, with five to his name.

The Murphies then enjoyed a bye and on their return, it all went pear-shaped.

They lost to Kongorong by a fair margin, but the following week were in the contest with the undefeated Robe for the first half.

Last week Glencoe went down to the second-placed Port MacDonnell, while the Eagles

Tom Hutchesson has been in good form for Hatherleigh since returning from injury.

Pictures: FILE

sat out with the bye.

It would not surprise if the Murphies were to claim the win in this one, but the Eagles will have too much clout on their home deck and take the points.

PORT MACDONNELL v KONGORONG

Kongorong is another side with an up-and-down season, with its clash against Port MacDonnell a tough task.

The Demons defeated the Hawks back in Round 2 to the tune of 31 points and this game could produce a similar result.

The Demons have not relied purely on its big men – Tim Sullivan and Will MacDonald in particular – but have used a range of players well.

That includes recruit Colby Munro, whose skills were on display last week.

The Demons claimed a big win over Glencoe, as Munro had a day out with 10 goals.

Add to that the usual suspects in captain Mark Smith, Ned Wilke and of course incoming coach Josh Woodall and it soon becomes a big day for the Hawks to counter.

Back to the Round 2 clash and Jett Attard topped the goal-kicking list with four majors, while Jarrod Ryan and Luke McIntyre added two each.

Unfortunately there was not enough firepower to stop the Demons up forward, which could be the case again this weekend.

With just one win up their sleeves, the Hawks would dearly love to add to it, but it will not be against the Demons this weekend.

TANTANOOLA v MOUNT BURR

Tantanoola hosts Mount Burr and the Tigers would hope for some of the luck that had them close to the Mozzies back in Round 2.

after a slow opening term, the Tigers found something extra and then pushed the Mozzies for the remainder of the contest, going down by just seven points.

However, the Mozzies have gone on to hold fourth place on the ladder with six victories, while the Tigers have won just three and sit in sixth place.

Mount Burr will look for the win to cement fourth spot, with Hatherleigh finding form and fast catching up, just four premiership points behind.

That adds extra incentive to the contest for the Mozzies, while the Tigers are simply playing for pride.

Last week the Tigers were handed a thrashing by Robe, while the Mozzies did the same to Nangwarry.

While it would be nice to see another close match, Mount Burr will be far too strong and run away with this one.

Another win
for Saints

Tough challenge for Saints

By Trevor Jackson

WEST GAMBIER V MILLICENT

Back in Round 5 of Western Border football, Millicent hosted West Gambier and came away with a 12-point victory.

That was the closest any side has come to the Saints this season as they seek what could be the final premiership flag for the league – and a three-peat to boot.

The Saints are well on the way, with a dominant season so far.

West is probably the only team in the league that can stop the Saints, but it will take a huge effort, even on their home deck.

The Roos started well in that Round 5 clash, with a 20-point advantage at the long break.

Millicent then staged a come-back and by the final break led by seven points.

The out-played the Roos in the final stanza to run out victors, but not without a scare.

Frazer Bradley and Sam Willis were the main contributors for the Saints on the scoreboard, while for the Roos, Daron McElroy and Braiden Ousey kicked two goals each.

Inaccurate kicking in front of goals could have been the issue for West, with more scoring shots than the Saints.

However, Millicent made the most of the time in the attacking 50 and reaped the rewards.

With plenty of moisture on the grounds in recent weeks and no real sign of it receding, the game could come down to a similar scenario, where the more accurate side will take the honours.

Clint Gallio will lead by example, while the likes of Kade Bradley, Tom Renzi, Caleb Williams and Hamish Nitschke will need to work hard to clear the football.

If Jacob Carger can get his hands on the football he will do some damage up forward, with several other options to keep the Roos defenders busy.

For West, McElroy will muster his charges well, with the likes of Tom Holmes, Michael Minuzzo and Todd Lewis possible keys to victory.

It will certainly be a tough contest on what will no doubt be a wet deck at Malseed Park.

If the Saints can continue to do the basics right, they will continue the 2023 season unabated on their way to a premiership berth.

Entertainment guaranteed at Malseed Park

WEST GAMBIER V MILLICENT

It is a top of the Western Border netball table clash that looms large as the 2022 grand finalists go head to head again.

Premiers West Gambier took the Round 5 clash by two goals and the Saints will have been working on ways to combat their 2022 nemesis, so it should be a match for the ages.

West was basically untroubled, but not dominant against South Gambier.

However, the Roos are an experienced line-up and know how to flick the switch and take things up a gear when required.

Amy Cram and Jade Ritter will have been working on the best way to shut down Saints shooter Tabatha Sanderson and also limit the influence of Millicent goal attack Demi Verbena, who feeds Sanderson perfectly and is also a long-range shooting specialist.

Sanderson is arguably having her best season yet and has been finishing accurately, so the Roos know they need to limit her possessions.

That also applies to the other end of the court where Sarah Ritter is a damaging player who has height, but also the ability to shoot from anywhere in the circle.

Ritter also has a quality shooting partner, with Lisa McGregor having a great connection with her young team mate, while also capable of hitting the scoreboard when required.

Whoever takes the defensive bibs for Millicent in the goal circle will need to work hard to keep the ball from Lisa McGregor if the Saints are to take the win. Pictures: FILE

Millicent has a few defensive options with Portia McRae, Lauren Van Eeden and Kimmi Tincknell all capable of holding down a defensive post in the circle.

The mid-courts also loom large, with Zoe Malseed, Mikaela Horrigan and Tara Bryant taking on Lillie Paul, Daisy Tunkin and Lisa Duldig, who is coming off a best-on-court performance in Round 9.

It really is too close to call when these teams meet, but Ritter's long-range conversion could well prove the difference.

The experience of Demi Verbena will come into play when the Saints take on West Gambier on Saturday.
