Timely art project

After 12 months, an Indigenous arts project designed to create more connections for Millicent High School (MHS) students to areas around the school has been completed and officially opened.

Installed in time for NAIDOC Week celebrations the six redgum poles, originally donated by Wayne Batchelor, have been painted by MHS Aboriginal Education Officer Jenny Bishop with the assistance of six students.

Calls for ambulance volunteers

The SA Ambulance Service (SAAS) is calling for more volunteers in the South East.

Stations in Kingston SE, Robe and Lucindale are all seeking new volunteers as part of SAAS's recent recruitment drive.

SAAS regional team leader Taylor Martin said any new volunteers willing to have a go would be most welcome.

"We have farmers, teachers, nurses, scientists and even a psychologist within my teams," she said.

"It is great to be surrounded by selfless, kind and a community driven group of people."

Ms Martin said working with volunteers is a very rewarding experience for her.

"I am grateful to have the opportunity to give back to the community in this capacity," she said.

"I feel the volunteers are responsible for keeping the ambulance service going and all of the credit should go to them."

Kirkgate Cottage home to Neilson family

In association with State Heritage, Penola's branch of National Trust SA has developed a mobile phone app called SA Heritage, to enable people to learn more about historic sites within Penola on self guided tours.

The following is one of the subjects from this app.

Kirkgate

Built in two stages, 'Kirkgate' cottage was the family home of William Neilson and his wife Margaret, daughter of William and Agnes Wilson who lived in the adjacent Wilson's Cottage.

They purchased this property in 1902, having previously lived in a slab cottage owned by a relative, Francis Thompson McFarlane who was the Penola Mechanics Institute librarian.

At about this time the bay window was added to the building. Success as contractors for the local Neilson saw-milling industry, and for fencing and roadmaking work brought prosperity to the family which is reflected in the improved construction.

A strong literary tradition is also evident in the Neilson family.

William was the brother of John Neilson and uncle of renowned Australian poet, John Shaw Neilson, who was born in Penola and spent time with his young cousins here in Petticoat Lane.

Both the Neilson brothers were published poets and William was Bard of the local Caledonian Society, for which he wrote stirring occasional verse.

Although Kirkgate was destroyed by fire in 1976, the property remained in the hands of the Neilson family until 1987 when it was purchased by the Penola Branch of the National Trust of South Australia along with other adjoining land.

Servo site work continues

By Caroline Hammat

Work at Millicent's Adelaide Road service station site continues to progress almost two years after its closure left the town with only one manned fuel facility.

K&S Corporation, who own the existing service station at the Mount Gambier and Williams Road intersection, purchased the Adelaide Road site after previous owners Wattle Range Council sought expression of interest in 2020.

Unexpected civil works have caused ongoing delays to the project and Millicent area manager for K&S Group, Mark Hodgens provided an update.

"We are getting closer and civil works are proceeding well," he said.

"EPA requirements came out of left field and we've had to contain all the stormwater off the whole site which is a massive job.

"We are putting in grates around the petrol pumps to capture any hydrocarbons that might come from there.

"We have put in vapour recovery so when people are filling their cars with petrol it recovers the vapour that comes out of the tank.

"These are some of the latest requirements.

"We didn't think we would have to do them because it was an existing site, but it turns out we had to.

"There is no bucking the system and we just got to get on and do it.

"On the bright side we will be the most environmentally friendly service station in the South East.

"There won't be any water that goes off our site that goes into the stormwater before it's treated, and there will be no fuel vapours going off site.

The indoor retail section of the site is completed with some staff already trained and others ready to begin once the site is open.

Mr Hodgens said the household gas bottles and welding gasses will probably be relocated to the Adelaide Road site some time after the build is complete.

The existing K&S site at the Mount Gambier/Williams Road intersections will be demolished for a new service station to be built.

"The gas has got to go somewhere when we build the new site and there's a lot more room at Adelaide Road."

Two other companies have approval for fuel stations in Millicent with neither offering updates after repeated requests.

Perry's fuel purchased the railway block of land on the corner of Ridge Terrace and Cattle Bridge Road in 2022 for the site of an unmanned service station.

Appropriate approvals have been received by the Environment Protection Authority, Commissioner of Highways and Wattle Range Council.'

A spokesperson for the company stated last year they hoped construction would commence in the middle of 2023.

The Billy Goat Corner site has been cleared of the existing service station and row of five shops.

Work continues at the Adelaide Road site.

Meanwhile the Peregrine Corporation purchased an unmanned service station site on Mount Gambier Road's Billy Goat Corner in 2015.

The company has since received conditional approval for an OTR petrol station and retail outlet on the site.

Earlier this year the company announced the sale of the OTR Group to Viva Energy. Until the last few months little had changed at the site since 2015.

It has recently undergone major demolition which has seen the removal of existing buildings which included a row of five shops and the previous service station.

The Dukes Highway was closed for hours after police and emergency services responded to a rolled-over B-Double in Wolseley.

Police and emergency services responded to the incident at 2:30am on Saturday July 1, and the highway remained closed at 7am.

On arrival, they located the rolled truck and saw that it had rolled onto its side, blocking both east and west bound lanes of traffic.

The driver, a 25 years old man from Gilles Plains was stuck inside the cabin and was eventually extricated by police at the scene and was moved to Bordertown hospital for treatment of minor injuries.

controlling traffic, a Kia station-wagon approached the road closure point, allegedly disregarding directions given to the driver and proceeded to drive into the restricted area and collide with the truck.

The driver was also treated for minor injuries at the Bordertown Memorial Hospital. Both crashes remain under investigation, and SA Police have urged anyone who witnessed the truck roll to contact Crime Stoppers on 1800 333 000.

Saleyards motion passes

By Aidan Curtis

OPERATIONS will not entirely cease at the Millicent saleyards following a special meeting of Wattle Range Council (WRC) on Thursday, June 29.

During the special meeting, Councillor Moira Neagle moved that council resume spending on the saleyards to meet SafeWork SA requirements to maintain the truck wash facility

The motion also included meeting requirements to allow transit of stock through designated cattle yards and to continue associated activities like motorcycle training and drift car events

Cr Neagle said during the meeting that it was vital to the biosecurity of the local agricultural industry to maintain the truck wash.

She also said the truck wash and continuing stock transit activities would be financially beneficial for local producers who would otherwise have to travel to Mount Gambier / Berrin or Naracoorte.

Elected members voted six votes to four in favour of the motion.

After the meeting, Cr Neagle said there was a lot of relief, both for herself and for farmers in the areas in and around Millicent.

"It's been a lot of stress over the last couple of weeks in relation to this," she said.

"Responding to phone calls, text messages and emails about the issue, and trying to work out a way to get the motion over the line.

"They [farmers] were very positive, they were also very relieved."

Cr Neagle also said she was pleased with how the debate panned out between fellow elected members.

"I'm pleased the councillors were prepared to listen to the arguments and to inform themselves of the implications of closing the saleyards and other facets of the operations out there," she said.

When it came to the possibility of re-opening further services at the saleyards, Cr Neagle said that would be up to the ratepayers.

"If ratepayers wish to pursue the return of sales at the Millicent saleyards, then they need to contact all their councillors and have calm and rational discussions with them," she said.

WRC chief executive Ben Gower said council would be "getting very busy" over the coming weeks to comply with SafeWork SA improvement notices.

"There were a couple of safety improvement notices that were still outstanding with a due date of June 30, so I'm going to have to seek their approval to extend those notices to allow us to upgrade the infrastructure to deal with the compliance issues out there," Mr Gower said

"Most of those items will still need to go ahead, so that's the elevated ramps, at least one of the fixed ramps, and the yarding for the area that was proposed to be used for stock transfers

"We'll do an updated risk assessment for SafeWork and provide them with a more detailed plan moving forward."

The Millicent Saleyards will be closed for sales, but some parts will remain open, such as the truck wash.

Mr Gower said there were also budget matters to consider with the passing of Cr Neagle's motion.

"Last year, which was a very low year, it was about $50,000, so not significant in a budget of that size, but still worth adjusting to make sure we know what our deficit will look like,' he said.

"As part of the budget, I suspect we'll review the fees and charges for the truck wash.'

Mr Gower also said council was considering strengthening administrative measures at the saleyards to ensure farmers transiting stock actually paid the fees to do so, but a decision on that would not come until after the next meeting.

"We haven't made our mind up yet, but do you put a video camera out there so you do have evidence of people dropping off stock so we can charge them for it?" he said.

"It's one of those things we'll discuss with council at the next meeting when we go through the budget."

Elected members voted six votes to four in favour of the motion, 267023

Intersection consideration

By Tyler Redway

Peak motoring body Royal Automobile Association (RAA), have joined the fight for improvements at at notorious Southend intersection.

The RAA have provided recommendations for regional roads, including intersection connecting the Southern Ports Highway and the Southend Access Road, recommending that a left turn slip lane be built.

The recommendation is part of the RAA's Regional Road Assessment program which aims to investigate local roads and any improvements to the safety of local drivers.

RAA Safety and Infrastructure senior manager Charles Mountain said while other recommendations included line upgrades and vegetation work, the main focus was to push for the new slip lane which had been a public concern for some time.

'We think they could probably be undertaken fairly quickly but obviously at the end of the day, we still want to see that left turn slip lane constructed to improve safety on this intersection," Mr Mountain said.

"Looking at it, it was quite evident as it currently stands, the factors resulting in an intersection are not as safe as they should be for people using it, which is why we have made these recommendations."

Mr Mountain said the process of undertaking a Regional Road Assessment involved a survey given to members of the public, businesses, councils and regions to gather information for a more "targeted approach" to local road issues.

"It provides invaluable information to understand how the road network operates but also about other factors which feed into the network and sometimes create issues which are not immediately obvious from driving," he said

Member for Barker Tony Pasin said he had written a letter to Minister for Infrastructure and Transport Tom Koutsantonis regarding the public safety concerns of the Southend intersection.

RAA Safety and Infrastructure senior manager Charles Mountain and Member for Barker Tony Pasin discussed the possible new left hand slip lane for the Southend Access Road intersection and agreed it would reduce the risk of fatality on a local road.

Mr Koutsantonis' response, as seen by the South Eastern Times, said the Wattle Range Council had estimated roughly $70,000 for the new slip lane, which Mr Pasin said may be lower than the actual figure.

The letter also stated that projects such as this would cost closer to $600,000, which Mr Pasin said was "hard to accept".

"The community and the experts are saying there are things which can be done to make this intersection safer," Mr Pasin said.

"We have seen that by the end of March this year, 60 more people lost their lives relative to March last year.

"With the obligation of governments, while we would love to prevent every death on the road but can't because it's simply not possible, what we can do is take reasonably foreseeable risks and engineer solutions for them."

Mr Pasin said he was pleased to see the public expressing their concerns about a potentially dangerous intersection if not tended to properly and that it was important for the public to continue raising concerns if it involved a risk of serious injury or fatality.

"The community knows there is a foreseeable risk at this intersection and someone could lose their life there," he said

"I have had too many conversations with families across my electorate who have lost loved ones in road accidents, so I want to see this intersection fixed."

Mr Pasin said he would continue to push for more road funding but added he was unsuccessful in obtaining the funds during the Liberal State Government's time in power.

He also said he hoped programs supporting the repairs and upgrades of regional roads would not be ignored due to a lack of funding from the State Government.

"I would hate to see those programs abolished or equally I would hate to see funding reductions to their allocations," he said.

"Councils are struggling to keep up with their obligations to maintain road networks as it is so we need more money invested in our roads, not less.

Minister for Infrastructure and Transport Tom Koutsantonis said the nominated project cost was now more than $2m.

Mr Koutsantonis said Mr Pasin deserved "genuine admiration for his unwavering commitment to his own convictions" while defending the current projected costs.

The fact he resolutely refuses to believe this intersection upgrade work would cost anything other than what he has deemed it will cost, despite repeated advice that it will cost at least around ten times that amount, explains much about his general approach to the Infrastructure and Transport portfolio,' Mr Koutsantonis said.

"If only all public policy could be costed according to Mr Pasin's guesstimations.'

"I note Mr Pasin concedes he was unsuccessful in convincing the former Coalition government of which he was a part, albeit on the backbench, to fund this intersection upgrade over several years.

"It seems a little rich therefore for him to be complaining that it is yet to be funded by a Labor government still in its second year in office - particularly when he so pointedly refuses to acknowledge the actual cost of what he is advocating for.

Mr Koustantonis said while there were no further submissions for federal funding for the intersection, the State Government nominated the project for federal funding under the 2022-23 Black Spot funding program, which he said was also unsuccessful.

With a high calibre of entries, Ms Fallon said it would be a competitive year and there would be three independent judges.

The first judge to be announced was Country Arts SA visual manager Lauren Mustillo and Ms Fallon said the other two would be announced in due course.

"They are all very exciting and we're very excited to have them coming to town," she said.

Ms Fallon said it was important to have independent judges as the major prize was $10,000 and Tatiara District Council's acquisition of the work.

"It means none of us have a say of what's acquired in terms of our collection, which is a bit more far process and we're listening to those people who know a bit more about art than we do," she said.

area, which is always nice," she said.

"That doesn't happen in most other prizes, so often you'll go to a local prize and there will be no local prizes, whereas we've made it a priority for our prize to showcase them alongside national artists."

The gallery director said she was excited to see what would be produced by the young artists.

"The kids artwork is the best I think, they just paint and create interesting work," she said.

The exhibition opens on September 15 at 7pm where Ms Fallon said the winners would be announced. Applications for the prize must be submitted by 5pm Monday, July 31. For information or to enter visit the Walkway Gallery website or visit the gallery at 43 Woolshed Street, Bordertown.

Culture and connections

By Caroline Hammat

After 12 months, an Indigenous arts project designed to create more connections for Millicent High School (MHS) students to areas around the school has been completed and officially opened.

Installed in time for NAIDOC week celebrations the six redgum poles, originally donated by Wayne Batchelor, have been painted by MHS Aboriginal Education Officer Jenny Bishop with the assistance of six students.

"I like to involve Aboriginal and non-Aboriginal kids in everything I do because it's not just about Aboriginal kids," Ms Bishop said.

"It's about non-Aboriginal kids and a chance to learn and understand my culture."

The totem poles have been painted with themes representing the Aboriginal, Torres Strait Islander and Australian flags, native animals, respect and meeting places.

Chloe Gysbers was one of the students involved in the painting.

"It's good, because it's taken ages to get them up here, we got to choose whichever animal we wanted on there and I chose a kangaroo" she said.

Other students who helped paint the totem poles were Demi Bevan, Deni Brown, Macy Burns, Ebony Gardin and Leilani Bentley.

Groundsman Dylan Clough and Neil Reilly and their students were thanked by Ms Bishop for their help in landscaping the area and installation of the totem poles.

The area has been landscaped with a layer of rocks donated by Graymont and a picnic table painted by Ms Bishop has been installed among the vertical poles.

Special guest at the official launch was Penny Vanderheul whose husband Michael was a School Service Officer (SSO) and a valued member of the school.

Mr Vanderheul passed away in October last year and a plaque was added to the site acknowledging his contribution to the project.

"I would like to thank you for inviting me here to witness this, Mike loved it here and I appreciate you for doing this," Ms Vanderheul said

MHS principal Todd Watson acknowledged the work undertaken by Ms Bishop and how the students were encouraged to take ownership over their involvement in the project.

The newly landscaped area is sited centrally in the main car park and was previously home to the pharaoh sculpture carved in limestone by MHS students in 1969 and now relocated within the school grounds.

Penny Vanderheul holds a photo presented to her of her late husband Michael working on the project. With Penny are MHS support workers Tracy Hardy, Jenny Bishop and Kathy Bell.

Team Cobber raises $120k

By Caroline Hammat

Six men who teamed up for this year's Outback Car Trek have topped the fundraising among those involved.

Millicent man Scott Clarke and Michael McCourt from Beachport joined with old friends from across South Australia and New South Wales to form this year's Team Cobber and raised $120,000 for the Royal Flying Doctor Service (RFDS).

It's the fifth year Mr McCourt has been part of Team Cobber and the third year for Mr Clarke.

The 13 day trek over mostly dirt roads began in Geraldton and ended at Darwin's Mindil Beach and is designed for older 2WD vehicles.

47 cars were signed up for this year's trek and all are prepared for outback and remote dirt road driving with roll cages and full racing harness seat belts fitted.

Safety is a priority and all participants are required to abide by normal road rules.

Mr McCourt drove his golden Holden Commodore, with an orange 1971 HG Holden ute owned by team leader David Meyer and a Toyota Landcruiser back up vehicle completing this year's team.

'We actually raised more last year but we had a team of about 10," Mr McCourt said.

"The whole trek raised $1.1 million and the money goes 100 percent to the RFDS.

"It's mainly business and corporate sponsorship and we've got some very generous individual benefactors.

"People who have had personal experience with the RFDS are usually very generous."

The sponsorship money is raised before the trek with participants funding their own cars and paying to be a part of the annual event.

Fees include meals provided each day.

"One of the beauties of the trek is we go to small communities in isolated and rural Australia

Team Cobber 2023 consisted of Michael McCourt, Scott Clark, John Cummins (Snowtown), Jack Doyle (Berrigen), David Thamm (Burra) and David Meyer (Adelaide).

"We contribute to those communities be-were so excited.

"Some of the cars come in character and there is one team we call the doggies and they have their cars dressed up as dogs.

The kids crawl all over the cars, it creates a bit of fun in the local communities.

"There are a lot of places now on my bucket list to go back to and spend some time there because you really only do whistle stops, you are on the move all the time" Mr McCourt said.

Team Cobber managed to get through the trek with minimal car issues although heading to Mt Elizabeth Station via the Gibb River Road tested them.

"The Gibb River Road was really corrugated and fairly punishing on the old cars.

"We had a unit joint go on the ute and a coil.

"The Commodore had an oil leak, we kept topping it up and it was fine and we had a couple of flat tyres.

The two participants per car are not provided with maps but receive a book with navigation directions.

"We usually drive for half a day and swap over and navigate for half the day.

"We've been lost a few times, you have to backtrack or follow another car and hope they know where they are going.

"We all carry UHF radios so we are in contact with people and quite often people will let you know if you've gone the wrong way.

'There is a trek community and camaraderie between all the different teams.

"We socialise and mix a fair bit, but it's delightful to go into local communities and know that you are helping by supporting the flying doctors."

Mr McCourt and Mr Clarke are both grateful of the support for the RFDS from their local sponsors that contribute to the final tally.

"It's been a great effort from our supporters, both corporate and individuals, and for a lot of them this is not their first year.

Team Cobber was started by David Meyer who has 12 years worth of treks under his belt and estimates the total raised by the team to be around the $700,000 mark in that time.

Among the team members are a few HR Holden's that did not make the trek this year, but with all members of this year's team committed to next year's event they may make an appearance in 2024.

The major fundraiser has been underway since 1990 and raised over $32 million for the RFDS.

Michael McCourt and Scott Clarke cross the finish line in car number 153, the golden Holden, at Mindil Beach Darwin.

Uncle Leonard Gollan's story

By Charlotte Varcoe

This story is a part of a NAIDOC Week celebration project.

Narrindjeri and Boandik Elder Uncle Leonard Gollan shared his story, which was put on display at the 2023 NAIDOC Week Cultural Expo.

NARRINDJERI BOANDIK ELDER UNCLE LEONARD GOLLAN

BORN 1945

I was about eleven years old when I was taken away.

I went out to the dairy to get milk and that was a mile away.

I came back one day and I saw these white people who were at the door talking to my Mum and Dad.

They said they were taking me away and I ended up at Beachport.

I was put to work pumping petrol as soon as I arrived at Beachport, never allowed to play with other children and only allowed to watch the pictures from outside of the movie hall with my sister Audrey.

She ended up going away and I did not even know she was gone, they just put her on a bus and left me there.

The reason they told me they were taking me away was because my younger cousin and I opened a tin to see what was inside in a shed once.

We did not spread it anywhere and we did not touch it, we just wanted to see what was inside.

The Department of Child Protection wanted to make an example of me.

I missed out on a lot of family life and my siblings.

I was the eldest boy of 13 children when they took me away and at first they did not explain to me why. Mum and Dad tried several times to come get me when the people I was with were being abusive to me and Dad did come and see me once.

Narrindjeri Boandik Elder Uncle Leonard Gollan shares his story as part of NAIDOC Week

He was working close by and the old bloke I was working with came and asked who he was, I told him he was my dad.

That was the last time I saw him alive.

I did not have any connection with my siblings until I was in my 20s and even though my uncle, elder Lindsay Wilson, lived in Millicent he was not allowed to come see me at all.

They also did not let me go to school either. When my dad passed away, they came and got me and I did not even know them.

I went to the cemetery and my dad was there in a coffin.

I remember I looked around and there was nobody else there, just myself, Uncle Lindsay and the welfare bloke.

I stayed in Beachport until I turned 18 and they put me on a bus with a little bag and nothing else.

All the Christmas things they gave me, they kept them and would not let me have them.

I left with nothing, no money and I was shipped to Meningie where my parents were living.

There I had a permanent job where I was getting paid three dollars and I ended up working all over the place, on a beef farm and a dairy and it was after that I decided to pull the pin and we all went to Adelaide to live. I broke off from Mum and the family and went my own way, got a job and settled down with other people and other young fellas.

I went to work everyday with my cousin and we would ride a pushbike.

I have had every job since then, including down here in Millicent where I worked for 31 years before we brought our own house.

Earlier this year I received an apology from the department that I was part of the Stolen Generation.

I decided to accept the apology because I was contacted but I went through the motions and acknowledged that was what they did and we cannot change what happened or get back what I lost.

That was that.

I am just happy I have had a good life with my wife Lisa and we have gone our own way.

We met in 1972 and have been together ever since. All together we have six kids and have been married for 52 years.

I do not do much in the community now because I have ill health and have since I was about 36 when I had a stroke.

I have kept working though, I have worked since I was nine years old and kept working until I was 68.

I had a good relationship with Uncle Wilson who lived in Millicent and we did artifacts together and we used to go reconnect and go hunting, take cultural trips and talk about our stories but I had to reconnect with family and relatives because I lost all that when I was taken away.

Being taken away impacted me as an Aboriginal man because I had to learn how to be Aboriginal again but I just accepted everybody and over the years we had some really good friends. I was involved with the beginnings of Pangula Mannamurna all those years ago but we do not do anything culturally now because I had no education on it.

Scottish heritage on show

By Caroline Hammat

Light showers and a bit of Scottish mist did not deter visitors to Saturday's International Day of the Tartan event held at Glencoe.

Hundreds wandered through the gates of the Glencoe Community Hall grounds to enjoy a taste of Scotland for the day with many wearing a touch of tartan.

Day of the Tartan is an international celebration to remember the return of Clan Tartans to Scottish Clans in 1782.

The right to wear their tartans was taken by the British following the Battle of Culloden in 1746.

The Parliament of Great Britain introduced The Dress Act 1746 which included wearing the "Highland Dress" illegal in Scotland.

It is the first time the event has been held in Glencoe, according to organiser Alec Hamilton, who was wearing his Hamilton Clan kilt.

"I decided to have Day of the Tartan here because we only get the 1st of July on a Saturday once every seven years."

Mr Hamilton is a member of the Blue Lake Highland Pipe Band and has been involved with the Caledonian Society for 40 years.

"The Caledonians is a Scottish society and they promote things Scottish," he said.

"They support families that come out from Scotland, and we support the dancing and the pipe bands."

Cabers for the caber tossing demonstration were organised by Mr Hamilton.

"I'm prepared to show people what to do and let them have a go," he said.

"I've got almost a full size caber here but I don't think there would be anybody here today that would even be able to lift it.

"The heavyweight division is a minimum weight of 80kg and 5.9 metres long, the one here is about 5.4 metres. Keith Hamilton tackles the caber toss.

"You have to remember they are wet today, and I am talking dry weight.

"But if you happen to have competition on the day and it's wet, then it's wet."

Smaller cabers were available for those keen to have a turn at tossing the log end over and landing it in a straight line.

Heather Considine grew up in Glencoe with her sisters, two of which joined her on the day out.

"We are all descendants of Scotty and Ivy Kennedy of Glencoe.

"Our father Scotty donated the woolshed to the National Trust, his father before him was Thomas Kennedy who donated the land for the war memorial.

"Scotty was a great sportsman and very popular character in Glencoe."

She has fond memories of growing up in Glencoe and time spent at the hall.

"We all did our debuts in the hall and went to dances there.

"In 1957 I was honoured to represent Glencoe Hall in a queen competition that was held annually.

"It was the big social event of the year and it culminated in the final at the Barn Palais. "It's a lovely place, Glencoe," she said.

Local and interstate pipe bands performed throughout the day and highland dancers from Bell Studio entertained a large crowd in the Glencoe hall.

Stationary engines and veteran and vintage cars were on display along with a Bushman Combat vehicle in the morning.

Funds raised on the day benefit the Glencoe Community Hall, Caledonian Society and the Glencoe Woolshed.

Sea of tartan at Glencoe

By Caroline Hammat

Highland pipe band music drifted across the grounds of the Glencoe Community Hall on Saturday as visitors celebrated International Day of the Tartan.

Many in attendance proudly wore their Clan tartan on the day and none were deterred by the sporadic light showers.

Displays of stationary engines and veteran and vintage cars, and music and dance performances took place throughout the day.

The local Army Reserve, being a kilted Company, started the day with a flag raising ceremony and a Bushman Combat Vehicle was on show in the morning.

Coconut and macadamia crusted chicken with honey mustard dressing

1/4 tsp salt

Pinch of pepper

 1 large egg (65g) • 2 tbsp (25ml) oil

For the dressing

2 tsp (15g) honey

1 tsp (5g) olive oil

For garnishing

1 tsp (5g) mayonnaise

1/2 tbsp chopped parsley

1/4 cup (25g) almond meal

1 1/2 tbsp (25g) Dijon mustard

• 1 tsp (5g) apple cider vinegar

Prep Time: 15 mins Cook: 45 mins Serves: 3

30g NUTS PER SERVE

Ingredients

For the chicken

- 150g chicken tenderloin or breasts
- 1/2 cup (65g) macadamia nuts
- 1/2 cup (30g) desiccated coconut
- 1/2 tsp dried oregano
- 1/2 tsp onion powder

Method:

- 1. Mix almond meal, onion powder, dried oregano, salt and pepper in a shallow dish.
- 2. In another small bowl, whisk the eggs.
- 3. Blitz macadamia to fine crumbs.
- 4. Mix macadamia crumb and desiccated coconut in another shallow dish.
- 5. Slice chicken into bite size strips.
- 6. Heat 1 tbsp oil in a non-stick frying pan over medium heat.
- 7. Dredge (coat lightly) chicken with almond meal mixture, dip in egg wash then coat with macadamia and coconut crumb.
- 8. Place breaded chicken on frying pan.
- Cook for 5 minutes then carefully flip the chicken over with a spatula and cook for another 5 minutes. Add remaining oil if needed.

- 9. Once the chicken is cooked through, transfer chicken to a clean paper hand towel to absorb excess oil.
- 10.Meanwhile, whisk together dressing ingredients until an emulsion is formed.
- 11.Transfer chicken to a plate & serve immediately, with dressing on the side. Tips & Hints
- Macadamia nut crust can go from perfectly brown to burnt very quickly! Use medium heat and don't go too far away while you're cooking. Increase to medium-high heat for the last 30 seconds to get an extra crispy crust.

Toyota irons out kinks

By Derek Ogden, Marque Motoring

Following an earlier stumble or two, the Rogue has redeemed itself.

The HiLux top-dog ute has taken its rightful place as the genuine hero of Australia's bestselling range of vehicles.

My introduction to the HiLux Rogue last year was fraught, with its motorised roll-top tray cover jamming centimetres from full retraction with no amount of button pressing even physical exertion on my part - getting it to close

Revisiting the MY21 dual-cab utility recently everything worked to order, which was welcome as the tonneau cover is the result of design and development by Aussie engineers as part of their task to produce a combination of toughness, complemented by a more recreational focus for a vehicle designed to go anywhere and be sold in markets around the world.

Toyota Australia's role in developing and evaluating the 2.8-litre four-cylinder turbodiesel engine, rear suspension and hydraulic power steering was supported by teams from Japan and Thailand, as well as representatives from other markets.

The Rogue sells for $68,990, plus on-road costs and options.

The HiLux, in general, continues its reign as the best-selling vehicle in Australia and like all Toyota vehicles is covered by Toyota Service Advantage, with each of the first scheduled services costing just $250 each.

Out of Toyota's Melbourne design studio comes a dark vertical grille that cascades from the bonnet down to the prominent lower bumper and under-guard. LED headlamps, with dark internals, combine with bold outer corners of the bumper, which links to strong fog lamp surrounds.

An aggressive side profile continues the theme with robust fender flares, unique wheel-arch mouldings and an integrated resin sports bar making its debut.

Wheel-arches also are generous enough to take bigger, fatter alloys than the factory-fitted 18-inchers.

A new sports bar, made from resin, is easier to mould than steel, allowing it to have a more artistic 'sailplane' shape.

Out back are redesigned bumper and tailgate.

The tub itself is kitted out, up the walls too, like a fully carpeted lounge room (no place for gravel, rocks or rubbish), with marine-grade liner lifting appearance and coverage.

The design makeover is made complete by a chrome Toyota tailgate badge and new decals on the gate and sports bar.

The cabin is dominated by hard surfaces, which is hardly a serious criticism for a hardworking ute.

However, coming to the classy rescue are black perforated leather-accented seats with grey stitching.

The front seats are heated while the

The beautiful lines together with the stunning green body is a real head-turner.

out and a pictogram showing the angle of the front wheels.

Satellite navigation is easier to use with enhanced voice recognition, while other additions include an electro-chromatic rear-view mirror, new ornamentation and blue illumination

The upgraded 1GD turbo-diesel engine now develops 150 kW at 3400 rpm and 500 Nm between 1600 and 2800 rpm, gains of 15 per cent and 11.1 per cent respectively.

The six-speed automatic transmission has been recalibrated to allow earlier lock-up for improved acceleration and to ensure Toyota's temperature tolerances, especially when towing, were observed.

The HiLux Rogue carries a five-star safety rating on 2019 testing and is equipped with Tovota Safety Sense, including a pre-collision system with autonomous emergency braking and the ability to detect pedestrians around the clock and cyclists in daylight.

It is also equipped with high-speed active cruise control and lane-departure alert with steering assist.

Electronic systems include anti-skid brakes, vehicle stability and traction control, brake assist and electronic brake-force distribution, trailer sway control, downhill assist and an emergency stop signal (hazard lights).

Like every HiLux, the Rogue is equipped

Although the interior is dominated by hard surfaces, the perforated black leather-accented seats make the most of its presence.

fuel consumption of 8.4 litres per 100 kilome- effort when parking.

seat has eight-way power adjustments.

Front and rear carpet mats are included for Rogue.

There's a deep cubby in the centre console and a double-decker dash-mounted glovebox, the upper section cooled.

Door storage includes convenient bottle slots.

Pride of place is a larger 8-inch display touchscreen plus control knobs, an upgraded multimedia system with Apple CarPlay or Android Auto, and a premium JBL nine-speaker sound system.

One USB point and two AC 220-Volt accessory sockets are standard.

Restyled instruments consist of analogue speedo and rev counter with blue pointers flanking a 4.2-inch multi-information display, which now incorporates a digital speed readwith seven airbags and a reversing camera.

Driving has been made easier by work done on the rear suspension, improving unladen ride comfort, while a new variable flow-control power-steering pump offers more help in low-speed manoeuvres such as parking.

Braked towing capacity has been uprated by 300 kg to 3500 kg, courtesy of the higheroutput engine and a recalibrated six-speed electronically controlled automatic transmission

Eco or Sport driving modes are accessed by pressing one of two buttons on the centre console

Sport frees up engine revs and fun ride but Eco is worth ignoring.

It's a Toyota, so there's also a low-range mode for tough off-road driving.

Toyota claims a combined urban / highway

The test vehicle worked out at 11.7 litres per 100 kilometres in suburban streets down to 6.4 litres per 100 kilometres when opened up on the motorway.

Improved ride and handling are all-encompassing with the MY20 Rogue.

Leaf springs and shock absorbers were retuned to improve unladen ride comfort without compromising the vehicle's ability to carry loads over uneven terrain, while low-friction rear shackle bushes add to ride comfort. Rear stability benefits from leaf spring front bushes with increased lateral stiffness.

Revised chassis mounts reduce vibrations and noise transfer to the cabin, particularly on rough roads.

A variable flow control power-steering pump improves steering feeling on winding country roads and reduces steering

It's a pity about the outsize 12.6 metre turning circle. The Rogue is up against some of the stiffest competition in the premium luxury ute market and it's fair to say the power roll top would be considered an important selling point for the Hilux 'hero'.

Fortunately, the test automatic tonneau was back on track.

So is the HiLux Rogue. RATINGS:

Sustainability at the fore

Australia's beef industry is taking its commitment to sustainability to a new level with the Australian Beef Sustainability Framework (ABSF) 2023 Annual Update reporting a decrease in carbon emissions, more forest on grazing lands, and, for the first time, the setting of ambitious goals to guide investment and attention into the future.

The ABSF Annual Update is a yearly scorecard and snapshot of the sustainability performance of the industry, reporting on a number of priority issues to monitor progress against recognised standards and metrics. This year, in its sixth edition, it has increased the number of indicators to 54, spanning the four foundational themes of: best animal care; environmental stewardship; economic resilience; and people and the community.

ABSF Sustainability Steering Group (SSG) chair, Mark Davie, said this year's Annual Update showed areas of significant progress as well as opportunities for further improvement.

"There is plenty to celebrate, Australian Beef businesses produced over 20 billion meals this year, and progressed on nearly all our sustainability metrics," Mr Davie said. 2023 highlights

Australia's red meat industry has set a target of being carbon neutral by 2030, known as CN30, and progress towards this goal is evident, with net CO2e emissions in 2020 of 45.21Mt, 64.07 per cent below 2005 levels.

"This is an outstanding result and the lowest recorded to date, given a number of contributing factors," Mr Davie said.

"Methane emissions in 2020 were the lowest recorded, primarily due to a reduced national herd, and carbon sequestered in on-farm vegetation was the highest ever recorded."

Encouragingly, as much of Australia broke drought across 2020 and 2021 and the national herd increased, satellite imagery shows forest on grazing land in the same period increased by 780,000 hectares.

"This demonstrates the responsible management of natural resources by our producers, further underscored by the removal of primary vegetation also at a record low," Mr Davie said.

Fresh data has flowed from an updated Life Cycle Analysis, the first in four years, which calculated 400 litres of water were required per kilogram of liveweight gain for raising cattle, a decrease of 18 per cent. The improvement comes from reducing reliance on irrigation, reducing losses associated with the supply of water and a slight decrease in water consumption through improved genetics.

The Australia-United Kingdom Free Trade Agreement coming into force promises to reinforce the economic resiliency of the industry, with a significant increase in tariff-free beef access in year one and a transition to tariff, quota and safeguard free trade over a 15year period.

Advances have also been made in animal welfare, with the feedlot industry increasing the percentage of feedlot capacity with access to shade to 63 per cent and on track to reach its goal of 100 per cent by 2026.

Awareness of Australian Animal Welfare Standards for Cattle has reached 100 per cent for the first time, and the mortality rate of stock on live export ships continues to improve. According to reports tabled in Parliament, in 2022 the mortality of cattle during sea voyages has more than halved in two years to a record low of 0.05 per cent.

"The only two negative trends were a decline in water efficiency by processors due to reduced throughput and a reduction in ground cover across semi-arid regions due to a drought."

Mr Davie said there are also challenges to overcome such as finding an appropriate metric for on-farm biodiversity while work is underway to develop an indicator of mortality on domestic road transport.

"We want to make sure our consumers and stakeholders understand there is more to do but the supply chain is serious about continuous improvement when it comes to sustainability, when you buy Australian beef, you are investing in a supply chain that can have a positive impact on 50 per cent of the Australian land mass," Mr Davie said.

Five new goals for sustainability

Chair of the Red Meat Advisory Council, John

McKillop, said setting goals was a natural evolution for the ABSF.

"Australia's global competitors have either set, or are currently developing, sustainability goals for beef," Mr McKillop said.

"To stay competitive, to keep building trust with our consumers and maintain our favourable access to markets, we need to continue to be proactive on sustainability and place metrics around what it is we want to achieve."

After a process of stakeholder engagement, development and consultation, the Australian beef industry has committed to the following five goals:

- The Australian beef industry is guided by the five domains of animal welfare. The industry provides all cattle with an environment in which they can thrive in accord with these domains.
- By 2030, the Australian beef industry will demonstrate its net positive contributions to nature.
- The Australian beef industry will achieve net zero greenhouse gas emissions across its production and processing sectors by 2030.
- The value of Australian beef industry products and services doubles from 2020 levels by 2030 resulting in a profitable and resilient industry.
- The Australian beef industry is trusted, attractive to a diverse workforce, a source of pride and belonging, and makes a positive contribution to the food security of Australian and international communities.

Mr McKillop said the next step would be to set targets to track our progress towards achieving the five goals.

"It is important to show our progress, even if we fall short, because sustainability is about constant improvement in an evolving ecological, economic and social setting," he said.

"The industry has made great strides over the past decade or more and established its sustainability credentials.

"We should be proud of what has been achieved but we need to keep improving. As an industry we need to prioritise what work needs to be done to be world-leading in our sustainability performance and clearly demonstrate to our stakeholders we are serious about it."

Coordination key to driving down impacts of feral animals

Further funding has been awarded to four organisations, including the South Australian Department of Primary Industries and Regions, to continue delivering the national pest animal management coordination program.

The program is helping reduce impacts of feral pigs, deer, cats, foxes and wild dogs.

The four successful organisations, awarded $3.16 million in funding, are: Australian Wool Innovation Ltd, South Australian Department of Primary Industries and Regions, Australian Pork Limited, and Invasive Animals Limited (trading as Centre for Invasive Species Solutions).

National management coordinators are taking on leadership roles, working with industry professionals, communities and First Nations land managers to reduce the impact these pests have on our agriculture and environment.

lion animals like threatened birds and lizards every year, that's over 7.1 million every night. "And they've contributed to the extinction of at least 34 native mammal species and threaten a further 150 species, like the bilby. "The Albanese Labor Government is committed to protecting our precious species and leaving nature better off for our kids and grandkids – extending this program is just one way we're working to achieve this."

Minister for Agriculture, Fisheries and Forestry, Murray Watt said the estimated annual cost to Australian agriculture from established pest animals like foxes is around $600 million.

"The Australian Government supports the national coordination of priority established pest animal initiatives through key policy frameworks, such as the Australian Pest Animal Strategy. "Increased adoption of best practice pest animal management, as well as improved coordination and information sharing, maximises outcomes of pest control efforts and drives down negative impacts on agricultural productivity and the environment. "National management coordinators are bringing together stakeholders to increase adoption of best practice methods, improve control methods, address knowledge gaps, and consider First Nations communities and their expertise to maximise outcomes "Farmers, natural resource managers and communities will benefit through training opportunities and resource sharing, increasing adoption of humane best practice control methods, such as baiting and trapping."

Pest animals can prey on native wildlife, newborn lambs, reduce crop yields, destroy habitats, damage fences, spread weeds and disease, and foul up fresh water.

National Action Plans have already been agreed for feral pigs and wild dogs. The National Biosecurity Committee will shortly consider the National Feral Deer Action Plan, following consultation earlier this year.

"Feral species like foxes, cats, deer and pigs do enormous damage to our native wildlife and precious places – they kill threatened species and damage critical habitat," Minister for the Environment and Water, Tanya Plibersek said.

Marking 44 years of racing

HISTORY: This year will mark 44 years of greyhound racing in the South-East. Picture: SUBMITTED

By David Lewis

It was back in the early 1970s Mount Gambier was granted a licence to conduct legalised mechanical lure greyhound racing in South Australia.

The controlling body of the day was the National Coursing Association (NCA) and li-cences were also allocated to Angle Park (city), Gawler, Strathalbyn, Port Lincoln, Whyalla and Port Pirie.

At the time the NCA, which operated out of a small office in Leigh Street, Adelaide with a staff of one, had made the call it believed seven greyhound tracks would be quite sufficient.

"SA didn't need a greyhound track on every street corner," it said.

But with changes along the way to the controlling body, further tracks were later approved for Kulpara (straight track), Barmera and Port Augusta.

Those tracks have since closed, as have Port Lincoln, Whyalla, Port Pirie and Strathalbyn.

So what remains now, in what has become a vibrant industry, are tracks at Angle Park, Gawler, Murray Bridge (which replaced Strathalbyn in 2018), and Mount Gambier.

The South Eastern Greyhound Racing Club (SEGRC)), as the Mount Gambier club was originally named, conducted its first registered race meeting at the Glenburnie racecourse on Saturday, July 21, 1979.

However, the recent reappearance of the club's original minutes book, which recorded in handwritten form its first tumultuous five years, is an important part of the club's history.

It all began when 60 people attended a public meeting held in the supper room of the Town Hall on Thursday, September 14, 1972.

Following a secret vote, Messrs. R. Clark, J. Cruise, E. Lewis, N. F. McDonnell, J. O'Brien, J. O'Connor, C. Potter, A. Steele, J. Taylor, J. Walters, R. White, J. Sullivan and B. Wittwer were elected to the caretaker committee.

Later that night, it was moved that two committee members meet with delegates of the A. & H. Society to ascertain the extent of their interest in greyhound racing being conducted at the Showgrounds.

But by April the following year the SEGRC secretary had been instructed to write to the NCA, informing the controlling body that negotiations with the Show Society had fallen through and the club was now negotiating with the City Council and private bodies.

In the meantime, the sale of beer tickets had been introduced as a form of fundraising, as had the raffle of a greyhound - valued at $200 and donated by Jack Cruise, father of present-day trainer Lee Bartholomew.

A motion that a Ladies Committee be formed lapsed as there had been no seconder. However, by 1978 the Ladies Committee had become an integral part of the SEGRC. Then, in late 1975, following an approach to the Mount Gambier Racing Club, the SEG-RC received a letter indicating its support for a greyhound track at Glenburnie.

In March 1977 a 21 year lease was signed with the racing club.

Yes, things were really looking up.

At around the same time the SEGRC had also received a letter from the Wimmera Greyhound Racing Club (Horsham) inviting the club to enter a contestant in the "Miss Wimmera Greyhound Racing Queen" competition.

By Sunday, June 24, 1979, the SEGRC was ready to conduct a Gala Opening Day picnic meeting at Glenburnie as a lead-in to the club's first registered meeting a month later.

Nine races were conducted at the Gala Opening Day over distances of 289 metres, 476 metres and 667 metres.

The distance race was won by the Eric Lewis trained Kori Amore in a time of 43.05 seconds

Interestingly, the $5000 Eric Lewis Memorial will be run over 732 metres on Anniversary Cup day at Tara Raceway on Sunday, July 23 and complement the $8000 Exchange Printers Anniversary Cup (512m) and the John Reid Memorial Maiden (305m).

This year will mark 44 years of greyhound racing in the South-East – 1979 to 1996 at Glenburnie prior to the club's relocation to Lake Terrace East in 1997.

Outdoor archery returns

A relaxed evening of indoor archery and suitable weather for an outdoor archery round entertained the members of Blue Lake Archers over the weekend.

The indoor range was back to an easypaced club-style event for Friday night, the timing gear was having a rest and all archers were able to shoot at the same time for a more-normal social atmosphere.

Two rounds of the familiar Australian 18-metre round produced two different winners

Garry Jacques dominated the opening round, where the top four archers all equalled or exceeded the 300-point benchmark.

Jacques led home Matt Delaney by three points as Blade Delaney and Jeff Puckridge rounded out the top four.

Matt Delaney had equalled his previous personal best in the first round and went one point better in the follow-up round to set a new PB of 280 points off the bow.

ceeding their benchmarks.

A single round of indoor archery takes place at the Blue Lake Gymnastics Club, Malseed Park, Friday at 7pm, followed by the Archery Australia National and State Indoor Archery Championship at Malseed Park, Saturday at 10am.

Australian Indoor 18 metre, Round 1, handicap scored, benchmark 300 points: Garry Jacques 307 (off the bow 266); Matthew Delaney 304 (279); Blade Delaney 301 (227); Jeff Puckridge 300 (293); Paul Freeman 278 (266); Peter Donhardt 276 (253); Fiona Allison 271 (180); Seth Delaney 267 (200); Jerome Koopman 236, (off the bow only).

Australian Indoor 18 metre, Round 2, handicap scored, benchmark 300 points: Matthew Delaney 303 (off the bow 280 PB); Fiona Allison 294 (203); Jeff Puckridge 291 (284); Garry Jacques 272 (234); Jerome Koopman 237, (off the bow only); Seth Delaney 218 (151).

Outdoor rounds, handicap scored, bench-(off the bow 662 PB); Alex McDonnell, Short Canberra, 917 (753); Seth Delaney, Geelong, 890 (749); Matthew Delaney, Short Canberra, 888 (812); Anthony Cox, Geelong, 887 (816); Jeff Puckridge, Short Canberra, 877 (842); Blade Delaney, Short Canberra, 854 (653); Dale Tschirpig, Short Canberra, 670 (off the bow only); Callum Oschar, Geelong, 449 (off the bow only).

Fiona Allison made a charge up the field to act as Delaney's main rival at the top of the result list, but Delaney held off the challenge to celebrate the win and the PB for a memorable night on the indoor range.

Sunday was reasonable for a winter day, with mild wind conditions and only occasional very light drizzle that was not enough to stop the competition on the archery range.

The dual events set up on the range were a 30-metre Geelong and a triple-distance Short Canberra over 50, 40 and 30 metres.

Allan Oschar and Alex McDonell have progressed steadily with their accuracy since taking up the sport and pushed their adjusted scores out of reach of their rivals to be the leaders at the end of the day.

Oschar set a new PB and won the day 21 points clear of McDonnell, both archers ex-

Big win for Magpies

KALANGADOO 75 d ROBE 38

Kalangadoo put in a strong performance on its home court in Round 11 of Mid South Eastern netball.

Robe started the match strongly and through a high level of defensive pressure, was able to quickly unsettle Kalangadoo's attack line and force some early wayward passes

The Roosters' goal shooter Demi Carter became a focal point in attack and converted accurately and strongly for her team to give Robe the early upper hand.

Kalangadoo's circle defence of Lauren Kain and Lara Munro were able to take some timely intercepts to peg back the margin back, and took a one-goal advantage at quarter time.

The second quarter saw the Magpies' defence restrict Robe's scoring opportunities.

Kalangadoo's Chloe Peacock and Robe's Lucy Perkins had a tight speedy contest with Peacock making Perkins' earn every possession

Emma Grant worked tirelessly to curb Abbey Duncan's impact in attack, with some tight contests

Annie Regnier ran hard for Robe, finding space and creating some nice passages of play.

The Magpies extended their lead going into the main break with a 12-goal advantage.

PORT MACDONNELL 55 d

some scores on the board.

KONGORONG 46

At the main break, Robe brought Tori

Gluyas into goal attack and moved Halle Carter into wing defence.

Kalangadoo also took the opportunity to make some changes, switching Peacock and Jane Auld on the wings, which saw Auld make a mark on the game, creating turnovers through the mid court.

Her efforts were rewarded with some patient netball in attack. Munro continued to have an impact on the game, creating turnovers and rebounding strongly for Kalangadoo to restrict Robe to six goals for the quarter.

Kalangadoo went into three quarter time with a hefty 55-27 lead.

Demons ultmately too good for Hawks

During the final quarter, the Magpies were able to build on the momentum of the third quarter with goalies Duncan and Ebony Mc-Diarmid finding space and converting accurately.

At the other end of the court, the defensive pressure and timely intercepts were making it hard for the Robe goalies to get many opportunities, scoring seven goals for the quarter.

Kalangadoo extended the lead further in the final quarter to claim a 47-goal win.

Perkins and Grant were the best players for the Roosters, while Kain and Munro were the best for the Magpies.

Showers cut 2-4-2 action

Last week 26 Millicent Bowls Club members registered to play a 2-4-2 competition, with the weather looking settled at the start.

However, just after commencing the game light showers of rain started and continued for the afternoon, causing tournament director Kym Stewart to cut the game back from 20 ends to 13.

The win went to the team of David Botting and Steve Skeer with a score of 30+4, ahead of Terry Barnes and Neil Whelan with 28+9.

Other winning teams for the day were, Malcolm Wright/Carl Schapel 28+7; Ian Ross/Aaron Emonson 28+6; Alan Correl/Lyn Scudds 28+1; Joy Warren/Peter Varcoe 26+1.

PODIUM: A Grade runner-up Heather Anderson. A Grade winner Kathy Webber and B Grade Picture: SUBMITTED winner Lois Tilley.

The Demons held a slender lead 11-9 at quarter time.

In the second quarter, Tilah Buckingham's height was proving troublesome for the Bay's Alysha Coon, as she scored 11 goals and missed just one attempt.

Liza Mutch at centre and Shannon Scheidl at wing attack for Port MacDonnell provided good drive into attack, while Riley Buckingham and fill-in Emilia Kerr were working hard in defence for the Hawks. Hein and Collins were dominant in goals for the Bay.

The Demons were having a hard time pulling and only held a three-goal lead at half-time.

The third quarter saw a few changes for the Bay, the experienced Michelle Moore

Buckingham and Kerr in the last quarter, while Port MacDonnell remained unchanged.

Riley Buckingham did some nice work at goal keeper and created a few turnovers for her team.

Collins had a strong quarter at goal attack and was well-supported by Hein who was having a great game.

Tilah Buckingham and Sealey in goals for the Hawks continued to work hard but Berkefeld and Coon slowly gained the upper hand.

The Demons ran out winners but Kongorong were hard to shake and put in a strong overall performance.

Hein and Collins were the best for the Demons, while Sealey and Kerr were the Hawks' best.

Kathy Webber claimed the win in A Grade with a score of +1, while Heather Anderson was runner-up with a score of -2.

In B Grade Lois Tilley was the winner with a score of +3.

Annie MacLennan was the runner-up after a count-back with a score of -1.

Tilley also won the nine-hole competition with a score of +3 on the back nine.

Janet Watson, Liz Redman and Helen Chilton were the ball winners.

Webber was nearest to pin on the third hole, Lyn Watson was the nearest for the second shot on the 16th, MacLennan was closest for the second shot on the 17th and Tilley was the nearest for her second shot on the fifth hole.

Tigers bite Mozzies hard

By Trevor Jackson

TANTANOOLA 11.13 (79) d MOUNT BURR 5.8 (38)

Tantanoola added to a day of upsets with a 41-point victory over Mount Burr in Round 11 of Mid South East football on Saturday.

Down the road Kalangadoo was busy touching up Robe and the Tigers were in on the plan.

They began their assault with a relatively even first quarter, leading the Mozzies by just four points.

It was the second term where the Tigers began to break away, with three major scores while holding the Mozzies goal-less.

That opened the margin to 16 points at the main break and what followed was another even quarter of football, with both sides adding a major score, but Tantanoola also adding four behinds to extend the margin to 20 points.

There was still time for the Mozzies to stage a come-back, but it was not to be, as the Tigers finished the game in style with four major scores, while holding the Mozzies to just one.

Coach Jack Dawe led the charge with four goals, Jordan Hatt contributed three and Corey Baker two.

For Dawe it was an impressive victory, specifically the margin.

"It felt like we were in control the whole game," he said.

"We went into the game with five of our best 12 out, so we went in still confident, but not having our best side.

"But everyone just turned up and had a crack with a set game plan.

"We did what we had to do and everyone won their 50/50 contest.

"It was a good team performance and shows we are going in the right direction."

Despite the final margin, Dawe said there were times throughout the contest where his players needed to withstand a charge from the Mozzies.

"The first 10 minutes of the second quarter they pretty much doubled us inside 50, so they got it down there a lot but we capitalised when it did go down to our forward line," he said.

"Our half-back line was really good.

"Once it got down there we ran off well and our mid-field took control around stoppages.

"Our small guys got on top which helped." A highlight of the win was the second half, including the final term where the Tigers ran the game out hard.

"In some of our previous games we had matched some teams all game, but had a lapse in the third quarter," Dawe said.

"To not have a lapse against Mount Burr and finish off strong was really good to see.

"The guys wanted it bad and didn't give up."

Dawe said the last time the club had won more than three games in a season was back in 2018.

The Tigers have now chalked up four wins and look to be heading in the right direction.

"We have a young side and their experience it is starting show," he said.

"We have a game plan and are sticking to it. "Things are looking up, so as long as we can hold them together we will be fine."

Tantanoola seals a solid and important victory

TANTANOOLA 49 d MOUNT BURR 39

Tantanoola claimed a solid 10-goal win on its home court in the latest round of Mid South Eastern netball.

Emma Gould, playing in her 100th A Grade game for the Tigers, came out firing, scoring the first goal of the game off her team's centre pass.

Mount Burr's intensity and desire for the ball was evident, chasing up any loose balls.

Although Tantanoola had a majority of the play, they let the Burr back into the game with many unforced errors.

The defensive circle pressure from Kate Bromley and Tayla Rowe made Mount Burr goalies work hard for every goal, with interceptions and strong rebounds.

The accuracy of Ebony Clarke kept Mount Burr in the game as the Tigers took a onegoal lead at the first break.

The match became more physical and with several highlights from both sides.

Rowe took an impressive intercept and her combination with Bromley was creating intense pressure.

Clark continued to dominate with accuracy and very good body positioning.

Laura Schultz for Mount Burr was making her presence felt with speed through the centre and creative passing into her goalies.

Both teams worked overtime to gain a lead but the score margin did not change from the first quarter at the main break.

The third quarter saw changes for Tantanoola with Keryl Ousey and Gould switching positions which had an immediate impact on the game.

Gould took control of the attack line by directing the play and Ousey became a focal point shooting 23 of 29 goals in the second half of the match.

Casey Walker also went next level taking many timely interceptions.

Tantanoola's defence was a highlight, creating held balls and strong rebounds.

and was rewarded with Clark shooting with an accuracy of 81 per cent.

The Mozzies were tenacious all game and despite finishing the third quarter seven goals down, they were strong at every ball. Mount Burr changed its defence line up in the last quarter with Olivia Dean moving to GK to try to combat Gould and Ousey.

They gave their all, but the height and strength of their opposition was a big ask.

The Mozzies never lost their intensity and the Tigers struggled to pull ahead despite having the majority of the play.

After a tough battle, Tantanoola won the game by 10 goals.

Bromley and Gould were the best players for Tantanoola, while Clark and Schultz were Mount Burr's best.

Glencoe embraces history

All is in readiness for the Glencoe Football Club to commemorate the 50th anniversary of the official opening of its clubrooms on Saturday, July 22. Looking back it is interesting to see how such a project came to life so many years ago.

Prior to the completion of the existing clubrooms in 1973, the changerooms doubled as the clubrooms. It was clear the arrangement was inadequate, which created much debate for a resolution.

After an offer from the local RSL to use their hall was rejected, it was decided at a general meeting of members in September 1972 to build new clubrooms at the oval itself.

As a result, a building committee was formed, with the inaugural meeting held on November, 27 1972 comprising Stan Jones (president), Alf Peacock (secretary), Doug Agnew (assistant secretary), Peter Mitchell Snr, Alastair Pegler, Stan Needham and Max Guerin.

The site for the new building was crucial and a most generous offer was made by Lindsay Bignell to donate the block of land he owned which was adjacent to the oval.

That did not entirely resolve the site issue, so the football club was able to purchase another parcel of land from Trevor Bignell and Margaret Young which gave the club all the space it required.

When the clubrooms were finally completed in July 1973, the total cost was $28,000, funded by a bank loan of $12,000, debentures totalling $5,000, $3,000 from the Rural Unemployment Relief Fund and a considerable amount of voluntary labour.

The Deputy Premier of the state, Mr Des Corcoran, officially opened the new venue on July 22, 1973. To mark the occasion in a fitting way, the club organised a function attended by many visitors from all the associated league clubs and visitors from many parts, as well as a great number of Glencoe people, who had long waited for this day.

It was a grand day for the Murphies and it marked a significant step in Glencoe's history.

It brought together East and West and gave them a mutual meeting place.

It also broke down the barriers between men and women, with the clubrooms were open to all and it was, over the years, to become a place for community and family gatherings.

Des Corcoran put it well, when he said in his speech "that the same tradition that had assured success for the teams on the field over the years they had played in the league had been responsible for the wonderful rooms".

He also praised the fact such a short time had elapsed since the committee first went into action and went on to pay tribute to club president, Alastair Pegler, president of the building committee Stan Jones and those who had worked hard to make a dream a reality.

It is interesting to note, some bar prices at the time of opening – schooner of beer 23 cents, butcher of beer 17 cents, a small bottle of coke 10 cents and an 18 gallon keg of beer cost $45.

The Glencoe Football Club is extremely proud of not only its clubrooms, but all its facilities which have been made possible by many hardworking volunteers since its establishment in 1910. The club will celebrate the 50th anniversary with the cutting of a special cake to mark the major milestone, in the clubrooms after the home game on July 22.

Murphies show class to claim a comfortable victory

GLENCOE 53 d HATHERLEIGH 34

The reigning premiers showed their class with a commanding victory in Round 11 of Mid South Eastern netball.

Glencoe started well with quick transi-

The game was balanced on a knife's edge at the main break with Glencoe holding a two-goal lead.

The Murphies remained unchanged in the third quarter, while Hatherleigh made tion, while the goalies of Chantelle Cocks and Jenna Paproth were finding space and capitalising on Hatherleigh's early mistakes.

However, the defensive combination of Maddie Redman and Elly Redden were stepping up to get hands to many balls, allowing Hatherleigh to work back into the contest in the second half of the first quarter.

After a back an forth opening term, the Murphies held an early three-goal advantage.

The second quarter was highly contested with mid-court players of Erin Watson and Rosie Nettle for Hatherleigh and Donna Jaeschke and Alice Tentye for Glencoe displaying expertise in feeding their respective goalies.

Lara MacGregor was making Tentye work for every ball and managed to get a few crucial turns for Hatherleigh. a change in the goal circle bringing Abby Wight on.

The scores were level halfway through the third term before Glencoe took control with strong teamwork and accurate shooting from Paproth to go into the last eight goals up.

The Eagles made another change in their defence end putting MacGregor in the circle with Redman where they defended strongly and created turnovers.

However, with Glencoe's physicality, Hatherleigh could not convert its opportunities with many errors and as a result, the Murphies steamed ahead to claim a 19-goal win. Tentye and Cocks were the best players for Glencoe while the Eagles' best were Mac-Gregor and Redman.

Pivotal: Chantelle Cocks was named among Glencoe's best players.

HATHERLEIGH 20.12 (132) d GLENCOE 5.7 (37)

While Round 11 of Mid South East football threw up a couple of interesting results, over at Hatherleigh the the Eagles easily accounted for Glencoe.

To opening term threatened to see another upset, as the Murphies looked every bit up to the task.

They trailed by just four points at the first break, but from there it was all about the Eagles.

Hatherleigh held Glencoe scoreless in the second term, banging on four majors to open the margin to 30 points.

If that was not enough, the Eagles then kept the Murphies to just two behinds in the third term, while adding five goals and a behind and the game was done.

However, while the Murphies regrouped and managed to come up with a couple of major scores in the final stanza, the Eagles were not done and slammed on another seven goals and a handfull of behinds to claim an emphatic 95-point victory.

Tom Hutchesson and Jake Wight were in form in front of the big sticks, with four goals each, while Patrick Chay, Gerard McGrath and Sam Telfer added three each.

Jed Telfer rounded out the multiple goal scorers with two.

The result sees the Eagles back in the top four, with a small percentage margin over the fifth-placed Mount Burr.

Demons dominate a one-sided contest

By Trevor Jackson

PORT MACDONNELL 24.20 (164) d KONGORONG 4.7 (31)

It was a one-sided contest at Port MacDonnell in Round 11 of Mid South East football on Saturday.

The Demons accounted for Kongorong to the tune of 133 points, with a huge first half denying the Hawks of any opportunities.

With a 48-1 opening term, the writing was on the wall and it did not improve for the Hawks after the first break.

The Demons added to their seven firstquarter goals with another seven, falling just one point short of the 100-mark by the long break.

Kongorong could only add another solitary point to complement their one from the opening term.

While Demons coach Josh Woodall could have been excused for putting the cue in the rack after the long break, that was anything but the case. Eight third-quarter goals to just one suggested the Demons were looking to fine tune their game and they did just that, despite a somewhat subdued final stanza.

ON TARGET: Jake Schleter was among the goals as Port MacDonnell easily accounted for Kongorong on Saturday. Picture: FILE

South East Zone men announced

The men's South East Zone Team to compete in the South Australian Country Championships this weekend in the Barossa Valley has been named.

The team will be coached by Kowree Naraccorte Tatiara's Nick Davis, with assistance from Mid South East's Ben McGregor and Western Border's Clint Gallio.

In the squad of 24 players, six must be under 21 years-of-age.

Three of those come from the WB and MSE leagues – Kade Varcoe, Mitchell Sims and Kallan Bevan, plus emergency Joel Virtanen.

KNTFL youngsters are Jack McAuley, Jacob Grosser and Campbell Watts.

Women's squad announced

The women's South East Zone Team to compete in this weekend's South Australian Country Championships has been named with some of the best players from the Limestone Coast Women's Football League.

Premiers Mundulla boast the largest contingent of players with seven players in the main squad and an eighth player in Renae Feder as an emergency.

Casterton-Sandford's Makayla Hutchins is the other emergency player in the squad.

The team will be coached by Michael Hunt and Fiona Young, with Scarlett Jared and Ella Little as assistant coaches. SOUTH EAST WOMEN'S ZONE TEAM

Casterton-Sandford: Zhane Crawford:

The Hawks managed three major scores to just two in the final term but it was all academic, as the Demons were simply untouchable on the day.

Surprisingly there were no big bags of goals for the victors, with Colby Munro and Woodall adding five majors each.

Will MacDonald and Tim Sullivan kicked three each, while Liam Bottomley, Kyall McLean and Jake Schleter kicked two each.

Munro's five goals took him to the lead in the league standings with 35 majors, equal with Mount Burr's Jack Gregory.

Nice course, tough set-up for veterans

A field of 46 SE Veterans golfers lined up at Lucindale last week and found the course in top condition, albiet hard, because it had had Pennants there the day before.

Kingston's Milan Hodak was one of the previous day's participants and just snuck home the first division on a count-back with 35 points, from Tim McLean and another Mount Gambier player, Russell Lewis on 34.

Second division went to Millicent's Noel Chant with 34 points, from Mount Gambier's Max Clifford on 32 and Dennis "Shiner" Smith with 31. The ball rundown was to 25 points and the Ross Orchard trophy went to Col "Swampy" Wright and Geoff Bond.

The Scotch was taken home by Kingston's Bruce Stillwell.

The next game is at Millicent on July 17, followed by Robe on July 31. Gabby Sullivan.

- Kongorong: Evie Sealey; Jade Longbottom.
- Kybyolite: Dellie Brown; Ella Boston.
- Millicent: Kelsie Wilkinson; Kalli Brown.

- Penola: Jasmine Ryan; Heidi Berkin; Riley Mitchell; Shandeen Balshaw.
- Emergencies: Renae Feder (Mundulla); Makayla Hutchins (Casterton-Sandford).

West wins a one-pointer

WEST GAMBIER 60 d MILLICENT 59

The second clash of the season between the 2022 Wester Border netball grand finalists did not disappoint with reigning premiers West Gambier overcoming a five-goal three quarter time deficit to take the victory over Millicent by one goal.

The chief task for any team looking to unseat the Roos is denying supply to Sarah Ritter and never was that truer than the weekend when the star West shooter missed only one attempt for the entire clash – that miss coming in the second quarter – as she netted 56 of West's 60 goals.

On the back of perfect shooting from the Saints duo of Tabatha Sanderson and Demi Verbena in the opening quarter, who shot 19 from 19, Millicent held a four-goal lead at the first change.

West clawed their way back to two by the main change before Millicent again took control before the Roos' final quarter onslaught.

The Roos kept their usual line-up for the majority of the four quarters, with the exception of a slight rejig in the mid court for the final quarter and a late call up to Tahlia Earl to the goal keeper role in the final quarter when Jade Ritter was forced from the court.

The Saints, on the other hand, made changes to their defensive line and their mid court during the course of the match.

PIVOTAL: Demi Verbena was one of Millicent's best players during the top of the table clash on Saturday.

In the end, it was a battle of the tall timber goal shooters and which team could limit supply and while Sanderson accounted for 48 of Millicent's 59 goals, it came down to that frenetic final quarter where West just generated more scoring opportunities.

The Roos netted 18 goals from 20, while the Saints converted 12 from 13 and that weight of possession told the story.

Ritter remains a thorn in the side of every opposition, while Amy Cram's ability to create turnover ball was critical in the final wash up.

Sanderson and Verbena were named best for the Saints.

Roos topple once-untouchable Saints

"A goal one end, a goal the other end, it was how the day went really."

One thing that stood out to McElroy was the strong start to the game.

He said in recent weeks that had not been the case, but a focus on the opening term paid dividends.

"The last three weeks we have had sluggish and slow starts," McElroy said.

"We emphasised all week to focus on the first quarter and work from there ... we can't be starting slow against these better teams.

"We really put an onus on the mid-field – they have been a bit slack and in cruise control, so we told them it was time to step up."

McElroy also noted the club's past players day, which he said probably helped as well.

"We had these older blokes there and a couple of ex premiership players, which probably fired up the younger ones," he said.

"We came out and started well.

"That set us up and we held on."

While the rain held off for much of the day, McElroy said it was still wet underfoot.

That meant a wet-weather style of play which worked a treat for the Roos.

"We just wanted to gain territory really, get it forward at all costs, doesn't matter how messy, ugly or beautiful it is, get it going our way and see what happens," McElroy said.

"A few things went our way, a few things didn't, but we fought hard to get it.

"It was pleasing to hold on for the last quarter ... they started coming home but we held out."

While the Roos have enjoyed a solid season so far, with just one loss – to the Saints in Round 5 – McElroy said there was plenty to improve on.

PASSION: Tempers flared at Malseed Park as West Gambier took care of business against Millicent on Saturday.

it to the mid-field to hold there position roster, they had to step up.

"We have been winning 80 per cent of the centre taps in the last three weeks, but losing the centre clearances," McElroy said.

"I told the mid-field they had to step up.

"I think we did a lot better in there and we were very aggressive around the ball in the contest.

"I spoke about being relentless with their pressure and our first-quarter efforts around the ball were phenomenal.

"I thought it was the best I have seen the mid-field attack the ball this year."

An impressive performance from Williams in front of goal was not missed by the coach.

"He is just a really good overhead mark," McElroy said.

"He doesn't take his eye off the ball and clunks a few you think he wouldn't.

"Then he goes back and slots them, which is good."

Likewise, 2023 recruit Andrew Stone, named best player for the Boos was also on is always hard to gel with your team mates, but the last few weeks he has definitely put name out there.

"He is just a hard, tough footballer.

"He just goes in hard and is pleasing to watch sometimes."

The win shows the rest of the league the Saints are not unbeatable this year.

West is clearly the best side in the league alongside Millicent, but for McElroy, it is not time to sit back on their laurels.

He said there is work still to do this season and much of that was also focused around the younger members of the squad.

"We are not sitting back thinking it is all happy days," he said.

"We know where we are at.

"I said to the boys, it is a great win, it is good, hard fought and a grind, but at the end of the day they are still the team to beat, they are still on the top of the mountain.

"We are being realists, we still have work to do, we will still keep grinding away. "The players have the belief now and it helps the younger ones.

Proudly a South Australian company. Printed in South Australia. Much of that centred around the midfield, which he felt were not giving 100 per cent.

With plenty of options in the shed, he put the coach's radar.

"I think he has found it hard with Loz (Lawrie Bradley-Brown) not being there," McElroy said.

"Coming from a different team last year it

"Some of the younger ones were the ones who stood up on Saturday.

CLEARING KICK: Kalangadoo's Tye McManus kicks forward as the Magpies take control over Robe.

PUSHING THROUGH: Kalangadoo's Lachy Jones looks to break free from a Robe tackle.

Premiers flex muscles

By Trevor Jackson

KALANGADOO 14.12 (96) d ROBE 9.8 (62) KALANGADOO gave notice on Saturday it cannot be discounted for this year's Mid South East flag with a comprehensive win over the previously undefeated Robe.

It was not a small win either, with the 34-point victory on their home deck showing the reigning premiers are certainly still to be taken seriously.

It all began in the opening term as the Magpies set about dismantling the Roosters, with a 26-point lead at the first break.

A somewhat subdued second quarter saw the Magpies kick just two major scores, but they held the Roosters to one, extending their lead further.

After the long break the contest continued along the same vein, with Kalangadoo surging forward with another three major scores, with Robe only able to add two.

By the final break the margin had stretched out to 41 points and the Roosters had a huge job ahead.

As it turned out Robe outscored the magpies in the final term, but it was too little, too late and the Magpies celebrated.

There were no big bags for the victors, as Ben Gregory topped the list with three majors.

Two goals went to Scott Agnew, Jack Casey, Lachy Jones, Ethan Maney and Tye McManus in a team effort in front of the big sticks.

Joel Bryant kicked four majors for the Roosters, with Zac Deane adding another two.

"Beating Robe was a huge win for us," Magpies coach Alex Lyon said.

"We had an interrupted start to the season personnel wise, but we have a few bigger blokes back now and it gives us a lot more flexibility position wise.

"We were able to strengthen our backline by putting Justin Bromley back at centre-halfback.

"We picked up Liam Hay who was a premiership player in 2009, has come back as a ruckman and is doing a great job.

TOUCH DAVy Deheze lenges Francisco legis to break a Kalendedes tookie during Cotynday's Mid Couth Fast fasthall slach

"Jack Casey has come back from injury, so we are a different side down the spine now."

Lyon noted the Roosters were not at full strength, but were still dangerous if given the chance.

It appeared Robe had regrouped at the final change and threatened to run over the Magpies.

"They hit back at us for about 10 minutes in the final quarter – I think it got back to about 22 points and I started getting bit nervous," Lyon said.

"Luckily the boys dug in, won a few centre clearances and we were able pile on a couple of goals towards the end of the game to ice it."

Lyon said it was a pleasing win considering Kalangadoo's patchy form this season.

"We feel we haven't gone backwards since our loss to Mount Burr, which was a poor performance by us," he said.

TOUGH DAY: Robe's James Francisco looks to break a Kalangadoo tackle during Saturday's Mid South East football clash.

Pictures: LACHLAN ONIONS

"Since then we have been steadily getting better.

"I think the way we are timing our footy this year has been good, so hopefully we can keep improving and be there at the end."

Lyon praised mid-fielders such as Tye Mc-Manus, Brad Auld, Lachy Jones and Dylan Bromley, along with Sam McManus on the wing.

He said the improvement in the mid-field made a big difference to the outcome of the game.

"It was probably our best performance through the mid-field," Lyon said.

"They won a lot of clearances, the tackle count was huge and the pressure they put on the Robe mid-fielders was good.

"That was our most complete performance out of the guts.

"Those boys were a lot more organised around the stoppage and are like a team within a team."

However, Lyon said the overall team performance was where the game was won.

"It was a complete game," he said.

"The back six were awesome and the forward six isolated a lot more one-on-ones."

One other aspect of the contest which caught the attention of the coach was that of Ben Gregory, who he said had a point to prove.

"Zac Deane had his measure in Round 2 and played really well on him," Lyon said. "Gregory had a point to prove and was keen to have a decent game on Zac.

"He played really well on him, took a lot of contested marks and stayed central."

At the end of the day the Magpies are well in the running this season and appear to be coming into their best football of the year.

"We went through 2021 undefeated and lost the second-semi and the grand final, so it is never won," he said.

"This time of year is when clubs can get a bit wayward when it is cold and the ovals are muddy, but we are getting more numbers on the park than we have had.

"It is an enjoyable place to be at the moment."

Kangaroos topple Saints

By Trevor Jackson

WEST GAMBIER 9.9 (63) d MILLICENT 7.3 (45)

Millicent was brought back to earth in Round 10 of Western Border football on Saturday, as West Gambier claimed a comfortable victory at Malseed Park.

The Roos led at every break after building a solid foundation in the opening term.

A 20-point lead gave the Saints plenty to do in the second term, but they were only able to add one more major score, despite the Roos only contributing one behind to their tally.

Little changed in the third term, with both sides adding two goals each to set the final term up for a cracker.

The Saints threatened to run over the Roos, but as it panned out, just another two goals added to each side's total as West held on and claimed the honours by 18 points.

For the victors, Jordan Williams slotted through four majors, while Brody Virgo added two. Micah Rupcic and Kade Varcoe added two each for the Saints.

For winning coach Daron McElroy it was a pleasing win in the conditions.

"It was a bit of a grind to be honest," he said.
