Century of the cross

FINE weather greeted those who attended last Tuesday's centenary commemoration of Millicent's Cross of Sacrifice.

The monument was originally unveiled in 1923 by the South Australian Governor of the day Lieutenant General Sir Tom Bridges.

The current state governor, the Honourable Frances Adamson AC, was unable to attend on the day but had laid a wreath late in November to honour the commemoration when Her Excellency visited the region.

BETTER mobile coverage is on the cards across the Limestone Coast with the federal government committing $15m to fund the 27 mobile towers proposed earlier this year.

During the state government's Country Cabinet meeting in October this year, Premier Peter Malinauskas committed $5.5m of state government money to the project.

The joint-funded telecommunications project includes 20 per cent of the overall cost by the state government, 25 per cent funded by Telstra and five per cent by local governments specific to its area's tower funding.

Once the contracts have been signed, the towers are expected to be built within two years, delivering 2400 kilometres of new mobile voice and internet coverage.

It is the largest mobile co-investment project proposed by Telstra in South Australia and is one of the largest projects nationally.

It was also announced earlier this year the South Australian Forest Production Association would contribute both in-kind and monetarily to the project.

Some locations will include Shaugh, Sherwood, Mundulla and Western Flat.

Other proposed areas include Reedy Creek,

Stewart Range, Taratap, Blackford, Coles, Maaoupe, Penola, Mount McIntyre, Rendelsham, Canunda, Robe and Lake Hawdon.

There will also be towers installed at Beachport, Southend, Tantanoola, Kongorong, Conroe, Caroline, Moorak, Yahl, Caveton, OB Flat and Port MacDonnell.

Spectacular celebration

MILLICENT'S Rotunda parkland will be transformed this Saturday into a day to celebrate Christmas in the park with family and friends.

Millicent Combined Churches (MCC) held the inaugural Christmas in the park last December which replaced the previous Christmas Lights Up and Carols in the Shed after both events suffered setbacks during the covid 19 pandemic.

MCC president Shaun Mulick aspires to build on the event and create a family tradition that will be remembered and enjoyed fondly for years to come.

"We have dreams of it becoming a worthy successor to the famous Christmas Street Party."

"We hope to work with the Millicent Business and Community Association (MBCA) and the local council to make next year's event closer to what everyone remembers so fondly."

"Everywhere I go people are still wondering what happened to the street party, everyone seems to miss it."

The fair begins at 11am with market stalls, entertainment and family fun activities taking place throughout the day.

Rob's Carriages will be available for horse drawn vehicle rides and there will be a local blacksmith display with items for sale.

Entertainment will be provided by Adelaide rhythm based group Ngoma, and the Salvation Army and Mount Gambier City Band.

At 2pm it will be the locals chance to shine as as Millicent's Got Talent gets underway.

Acting as panellists for the talent contest are Ewan Grant from Triple M radio, Wattle Range Council Mayor Des Noll and Mayoress Shari Noll, Millicent Medical Clinic Practice Manager Bronwyn Barker and Sandra Melrose from MBCA/IMAG.

Community members interested in entering the talent competition are encouraged to register on the day.

The popular nativity play in the park will take place from 3pm and Christmas carol singing will follow with hosts Mr Grant, Arthur O'Connell from 5THEfm and Wattle Range Council's Emma Clay leading the community in song.

Nearing 5pm the evening will wind down with the mayoral address delivered by Mayor Noll followed by a visit from Santa Claus ending the fun filled day.

Natives a great option for low maintenance

NARACOORTE residents have been encouraged to get their gardening gear and plant some natives after the garden at SA Water's Naracoorte depot has flourished.

In mid 2022, SA Water created the garden with help from Nature Glenelg Trust which requires modest irrigation and provides a low maintenance option for gardeners of any skill.

SA Water's water's vegetation services specialist Shaun Kennedy said the compact garden was model for sustainable gardens that could be adapted by locals.

"The depot garden demonstrates how careful gardening choices and plant selection can create a thriving, green and water-efficient space," he said.

"We encourage all local residents to walk past the garden for ideas or visit our website for more information about planting and maintaining a native garden at home."

Nature Glenelg Trust senior ecologist Bryan Haywood said it was fantastic to see the growth at the garden, providing a welcome new habitat area for local wildlife, insects and birds.

"The careful selection of species native to the region, such as the Desert Banksia, Kangaroo Grass and Tussock Poa ensures they are suited to local soil and climate conditions," he said.

"We have installed drip-irrigation to water the garden during warmer months and mulched the entire area helping the plants to thrive throughout the year.

"Ground cover species, Muntries, Elegant Spear-grass, Swamp Flax-lily and Common Everlasting, combine to create a living mulch that retains moisture in the soil by reducing evaporation."

ON December 5, 1923, 2000 people attended the official unveiling of Millicent's Cross of Sacrifice by the then South Australian Governor Lieutenant General Sir Tom Bridges.

Last Tuesday, a smaller crowd of around 60 people were in attendance to acknowledge the centenary of the unveiling.

The current state governor, the Honourable Frances Adamson AC, was unable to attend on the day but had laid a wreath late in November to honour the commemoration when Her Excellency visited the region.

Ross Anderson and Andrew Cruickshank, from the Mount Gambier RSL Blue Lake Highland Pipe Band, greeted those arriving with their bagpipe playing.

President of the Millicent RSL sub-branch welcomed those in attendance which included the member for MacKillop Nick McBride, Wattle Range Council Mayor Des Noll, president of the RSL South Australia and Northern Territory branch Dave Petersen and RSL sub-branch presidents from across the Limestone Coast.

During his opening address, Mr Mathias welcomed everyone.

"We gather here today to commemorate the centenary of our cenotaph and to remember the purpose for which it was erected," he said.

"The names are upon it in permanent testimony.

"It has stood the test of time and has been a focus point for the community on days of commemoration.

"Their names remind us of the sacrifices made in the service of their country.

"But they fought not for King and country, they fought for each other, brothers in arms and mates to the end.

"This is their place of honour, this is where we gather to remember them."

COMMEMORATIVE LUNCHEON: Nick McBride MP and RSL Millicent sub-branch president Chris Mathias at the luncheon held for invited guests.

Member for MacKillop Nick McBride was in attendance representing the South Australian minister for veteran affairs, Geoff Brock.

"Today we come together to remember the fallen heroes of Millicent including those who returned home, forever marked by the impact of war," Mr McBride said.

"In a perfect world, we would not need memorials like this one, however the brutality and the reality is that memorials like this are scattered across our country in nearly every single town.

"We need memorials not only to have a place to reflect, remember and honour those who made the ultimate sacrifice, but to educate future generations on the cost of war."

Following the commemoration ceremony a lunch in the nearby RSL was held for 48 invited guests.

Mr Mathias and Mr Peterson both addressed those in attendance and Millicent RSL sub-branch newest member Dave Smith also spoke to those attending the lunch.

Talking saleyards

Letter to the editor

IN response to The Times article, "Numbers debate" published November 22nd, 2023, I am prompted to add to the analysis.

Throughout its existence, Millicent Sale Yards has been used for centralisation of pick-ups of stock for transport to various destinations.

With the ending of sales at the complex, its relevance as a stock accumulation point for transport to other sales has increased.

Influencing the situation further is the transport of stock increasingly via B-doubles and B-triples which is restricting the number of properties that can accommodate such large heavy vehicles, particularly during winter.

Industry protocols dictate that sheep must be curfewed (i.e. emptied out) for at least 24 hours prior to transportation, including to the Millicent Sale Yards for transiting. Normally, when cattle are delivered to the sale yards, they are placed immediately on dirt yards. When conditions allow, so are lambs. In some cases, stock are unloaded and go straight on to waiting transport. All these factors contribute to their being generally minimal animal excrement on the concrete yards.

Spiders can spin extensive webs overnight. To suggest that a web across a gateway at the yards is indicative of minimal use over time is fatuous.

After speaking to agents and transport operators, it is my understanding that at no time from July to the end of September were they informed of a process to report stock transited and therefore to be billed for usage of the yards.

Transport operators had every right to be unhappy about the substantial increase to $1.50 per minute at the Millicent Sale Yards truck. This rate was 50-100 per cent higher than any other truck wash in the Southeast. It is condescending to say that transport operators were squawking.

Festive meet and greet this Friday

BUSINESSES and community group representatives are invited to attend the Millicent Business and Community Association (MBCA) Christmas meetup this Friday, December 15 at 6pm.

The get together is being held in the Somerset Hotel's newly refurbished Lane Bar and is a dedicated Christmas function for the business and community sector.

Both members and non-members are welcome to attend to hear from members of the executive and meet the current committee who are keen to hear what the business and community sector could be doing for them.

During the evening winners of the annual Christmas Shop Window display for storefronts will be announced and a lucky door prize drawn for those who bring along their business card.

For those interested in attending the free event please email Selena at millicentbca@gmail.com with your name and business name for further details.

CHRISTMAS MEET: Members of the MBCA committee, Sandra Melrose, Selena Smith, Andrew Gironamo, Annette Hayward and David Smith welcome representatives from local business and community groups to join them for this year's Christmas Meet Up.

Remembering Jerry Leech

JEREMY WILFRID LEECH AM

Forester

• Born: December 24, 1940, Adelaide

• Died: Sunday 26, 2023 Mount Gambier

THE community is mourning the loss of Jerry Leech AM.

Dr Leech is known in the community for his ongoing forestry knowledge and his lifelong support to the Lakes Rotary Club.

He was born to Merle and Wilf, a carpenter-builder-joiner, on December 24, 1940 and attended Queens College and Pulteney Grammar School.

Here he was a prefect and Dux of the school.

Dr Leech then attended the University of Adelaide where he studied a Bachelor of Science before moving onto the Australian Forestry School in Canberra where he received a Diploma with Distinction.

When he was an undergraduate at Saint Marks he met Mary Frostand before marrying in 1964.

The couple had three daughters, Bridget, Johanna and Hilary, as well as six grandchildren.

Dr Leech was posted to the South East before being transferred to the branch managing forest resources.

In 1969 he studied computer programming and systems analysis and design and developed the early forest management planning systems.

Dr Leech became a Member of the Australian Computer Society in 1973 where he was also awarded a MSc degree from the Australian National University and a PhD in 1978.

The models Dr Leech developed then are still being used some 40-years later.

From 1970, he was responsible for the systems analysis, design and implementation of the system for making long-term predictions of forest growth from radiata pine estate then owned by the State Government.

REMEMBERING JERRY: Dr Leech is known in the community for his ongoing forestry knowledge and his lifelong support to the Lakes Rotary Club.

Dr Leech was also responsible for much of the biometrics.

The system came into its own after the 1983 Ash Wednesday fires destroyed about one third of the forest.

During his career, Dr Leech mentored many young scientists and foresters where he was also respected by his peers for his technical skills and knowledge.

From 1986, he carried out 30 international consultancy assignments which were mostly for the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organisation in Myanmar, China, Indonesia, Bangladesh, Bhutan and Italy.

Over a 13-year period he also spent five of these on consultancy missions and professionally, he considered the consultancies his greatest challenges and greatest successes.

Dr Leech resigned as Principal Scientist, Forestry Systems in 1994 to become a consultant which was a role he continued until about 2014.

He was also a joint Technical Editor of the Australian Forest Valuation Standard in 2001 which he also kept until 2014.

Dr Leech was very proud of the 2007 version with its associated handbook and in 2013 he was a member of an international working party on forest valuation.

He was also a long standing member of the Institute of Foresters of Australia and the Association of Consulting Foresters of Australia.

Dr Leech was also a member of the Australian Computer Society and the Surveying and Spatial Sciences Institute as well as being elevated to Fellow of the Institute of Foresters of Australia.

In 2009 he was awarded the Regional Medal for South East Asia-Pacific by the Commonwealth Forestry Association and in 2021 he was also awarded the N.W Jolly Medal by Forestry Australia.

It was in 2022 that Dr Leech was awarded a Member of the Order of Australia (AM) for his significant service to the forest industry, to tertiary education and to the community.

Dr Leech was also an Adjunct Professor at Southern Cross University and a Principal Fellow at the University of Melbourne with the title of associate professor.

During his career, Dr Leech was responsible for about 200 books, refereed papers, reports for the United Nations and other consultancy clients, conferences and other published miscellanea.

He was also a member of the Rotary Club of Mount Gambier Lakes from 1989 onwards, an international director and bulletin editor for a number of years as well as spending many years on district committees.

Dr Leech was also a life member of the Mount Gambier Beefsteak and Burgundy Club and was proud of his work as vice president and treasurer of the Ryder-Cheshire Mount Gambier Home Foundation.

When he was not directly involved with community organisations, Dr Leech enjoyed playing tennis and golf during his younger years before taking on bridge.

South East journalists sweep RMC Awards

SOUTH East journalists have swept the competition at the Rural Media and Communications South Australian and Northern Territory (RMC SA/NT) Awards recently.

Two journalists from the South East and one media photographer took a combined six awards at Friday night's event.

Naracoorte-based Stock Journal reporter Catherine Miller received the 2023 Rural Journalist of the Year, 2023 Best Rural Journalist – Print, 2023 Best Royal Show Story and the 2023 Best Rural/Regional Photojournalist Award.

The Border Watch journalist Charlotte Varcoe also received the 2023 Best Rural Journalist – Regional Print while Robe-based media photographer Jacqui Bateman received the 2023 Best Royal Adelaide Show Photo.

Ms Miller said it was a "dream come true" to be named the RMC SA/NT Journalist of the Year following in the footsteps of many talented radio, television, print and online journalists whom she had the utmost respect for.

"I have been trying to win the award since I started as a very green South East journalist for Stock Journal 20 years ago after my editor in chief Peter Brady took a chance on me, a recent Agricultural Science graduate who enjoyed writing," Ms Miller said.

"I have won several highly commended mentions over the years but to become the first Stock Journal journalist in 16 years to claim the major award makes it even more special."

She said while others may consider rural and regional journalism a "stepping stone" in their career she believed she would never tire of "uncovering fantastic stories" of the people in rural South Australia.

"I also believe being regionally based and involved in our family farm helps me keep my finger on the pulse of South Australia agriculture and the stories that need to be told," she said.

Ms Varcoe echoed Ms Miller's comments, stating regional journalism was more important than ever considering the constant issues outside metropolitan areas.

"Regional South Australia has and always will be the lifeblood of South Australia," Ms Varcoe said.

"I began my journalism career as an intern at The Border Watch in 2017 where previous editor Jason Wallace took a chance on me before securing permanent part-time at the Naracoorte Herald.

"Having this deep understanding of the regions from Naracoorte all the way down to Port MacDonnell brings an advantage many metropolitan media would never have."

Ms Varcoe said she was surprised she received the award, yet continued to say it was always a team effort.

"Without a full team of journalists, editors, advertising staff and the community regional newspapers would never exist," she said.

"We need to continue to support regional journalists because they have the opportunity to change the future of their regions and improve the lives of many by advocating on the community's behalf and asking the questions that need to be answered."

Better connectivity pledge

CHARLOTTE VARCOE

BETTER mobile coverage is on the cards across the Limestone Coast with the federal government committing $15 million to fund the 27 mobile towers proposed earlier this year.

During the state government's Country Cabinet meeting in October this year, Premier Peter Malinauskas committed $5.5m of state government money to the project.

The joint-funded telecommunications project includes 20 per cent of the overall cost by the state government, 25 per cent funded by Telstra and five per cent by local governments specific to its area's tower funding.

Once the contracts have been signed, the towers are expected to be built within two years, delivering 2400 kilometres of new mobile voice and internet coverage.

It is the largest mobile co-investment project proposed by Telstra in South Australia and is one of the largest projects nationally.

It was also announced earlier this year the South Australian Forest Production Association would contribute both in-kind and monetarily to the project.

Some locations will include Shaugh, Sherwood, Mundulla and Western Flat.

Other proposed areas include Reedy Creek, Stewart Range, Taratap, Blackford, Coles, Maaoupe, Penola, Mount McIntyre, Rendelsham, Canunda, Robe and Lake Hawdon.

There will also be towers installed at Beachport, Southend, Tantanoola, Kongorong, Conroe, Caroline, Moorak, Yahl, Caveton, OB Flat and Port MacDonnell.

The Barn manager Kent Comley said he welcomed the long awaited funding.

Mr Comley has been campaigning for more than 12 years to gain more telecommunications projects across the region, specifically near OB Flat.

"I feel like we are now stepping into the 21st century and we are not a third-world country anymore but it is really good news," Mr Comley said.

"We were fortunate that Optus put a tower in OB Flat last year but we now recognise the importance of Telstra following suit.

"This announcement means customers are going to get better service and we have Telstra Go repeaters throughout the property that we purchased ourselves to enable our customers to get a reasonable Telstra signal but they only work in the building which is not a complete solution."

Mr Comley said there were even situations where taxi drivers could not receive payments from customers by EFTPOS due to the machines being under Telstra's service.

"They would have to drive up the road to take payment so there are going to be all sorts of benefits," he said.

"It is important to have good mobile service because everyone lives on their mobile phones by phone calls, data and there are safety issues.

"We have always had a lot of doctors and surgeons dining here who are on call and it is just a part of the way people communicate, it is imperative and in an advanced country like Australia everyone should have access to it."

NEW TOWERS: The Barn manager Kent Comley with Member for Mount Gambier Troy Bell as they welcome the news of more Telstra towers coming to the Limestone Coast.

Mr Comley said he was always hopeful something would happen and that the towers would be built within two years of contracts being signed, yet understood from experience with the Optus towers that contracts could take some time.

Member for Mount Gambier Troy Bell said the Limestone Coast had continuously faced challenges with "inadequate phone coverage, hampering communication and connectivity" for residents and businesses with this project providing a solution.

"This has shown what can be achieved with collaboration from local business, industry and government," Mr Bell said.

"After the state government announced their $5.5 million commitment in October, it was critical that we got the federal government on board.

"I recently wrote to federal minister for communications Michelle Rowland to highlight the importance of this project to our region, and it is exciting to see today's announcement."

Labelling the announcement as a "huge win for the community" Mr Bell said it would make the Limestone Coast one of the most connected regions in the country while bringing huge benefits to the region in safety, tourism, industry and the ability to use modern technology in farming industries.

Member for MacKillop Nick McBride said whilst most of the towers were in his electorate the result showcased how important it was for all tiers of government and businesses to work together.

"There are quite a lot of towers in the MacKillop region but we had the biggest area to fill and it is still not completed either," Mr McBride said.

"I am really excited as this is a strong validation of a collaborative approach between state, federal and local government as well as private companies including Telstra and forestry in addressing a major infrastructure shortfall around the Limestone Coast."

Mr McBride said this was a "game changer" for the region in telecommunications and addressing the shortfalls.

"Although the work is not all completed, we do not have everything covered as we would like but this has moved forward for us rapidly in addressing these black spots and I was not expecting this in my political career," he said.

"I am pleased to be a part of it and it highlights the really good reason for being an independent and being able to work with any political party for the right reasons, for the right outcomes and for good outcomes like this."

With all councils in the region but Naracorte Lucindale Council committing funding towards the project, Limestone Coast Local Government Association president Lynette Martin said she welcomed the announcement with the project the result of collaboration.

"This is absolutely ground-breaking and will be life changing for the Limestone Coast community, providing better digital connectivity to improve everyday living, for industry and commerce, for our emergency services and for visitors to our region," Ms Martin said.

"On behalf of the Limestone Coast Local Government Association I thank both the state and federal governments and industry stakeholders, for partnering with us to bring this project to a successful conclusion."

South Australian Telstra general manager Michael Patterson said Telstra understood how important mobile coverage was in regards to safety, economic and social benefits.

"We are delighted with this outcome and can't wait to get started," Mr Pattinson said.

"The support we have received from all levels of government and the local industry has been incredible.

"Without it, the outcomes it will deliver may not have been possible, either in the short term or at all."

TWELVE Mount Gambier/Berrin locals are rocking new hair-dos in support of their friend Naomi Manterfield.

The group of family and friends came together to shave their heads and raise money for the Cancer Council on Sunday, December 10.

Naomi's daughter Megan Manterfield organised the event after her mother was diagnosed with stage 4 oesophageal cancer only four weeks ago.

Megan said it felt great to have so much support from their community as her mother battled the cancer.

"It does mean a lot, it's been a pretty hard couple of weeks," she said.

"We've got a fair few friends and family coming, all our families down from Melbourne too, which is lovely."

Megan said when she found out her mum had the cancer she knew she wanted to shave her head to show support and raise some funds.

Naomi said she was overwhelmed when she was first told about the plan and jumped on board to get the big chop.

"I'm going to lose it all anyway, so I thought I may as well put in for the day, but my daughter's been the inspiration of it all," she said.

She said it had been a tough journey so far but it was not all doom and gloom.

Receiving radiation treatment in Adelaide, Naomi has spent some time at the Cancer Council lodge and said it felt great to give back to the charity which had helped her.

"They're absolutely amazing, everything's there," she said.

"They cater for your needs - everything emotionally and physically."

Having a rarer form of cancer, Naomi urged people to get to their doctors if things did not feel right.

"Oesophageal cancer is probably one of the sort of main cancers you don't realise until it is too late," she said.

"So if you get indigestion and heartburn and it keeps going on get it checked out because it might mean something."

In for a fight, Naomi was glad she had her community around her.

"I haven't lost a fight yet - that's my motto," she said.

With donations still to be counted, Megan was not sure how much they had been able to raise, but said it would all go to the Cancer Council.

Opening up on road trauma

charlotte.varcoe@tbwtoday.com.au

This story is part three of our road safety campaign.

A THREE second decision on the road outside of Mount Gambier/Berrin changed the life of former resident Jack Annear's life forever.

Mr Annear was travelling on Nelson Road on November 17, 2007 just on the outskirts of town where he was involved in a fatal car collision with five other people.

Three members of the collision passed away while the survivors had life-altering injuries.

Speaking with The Border Watch, Mr Annear recalled the incident and labelled it as a "normal Friday night".

"We were turning right to head back towards Mount Gambier where we were struck on the driver's side," Mr Annear said.

"Both drivers did everything right, no drugs, alcohol or speeding were involved, the police believe it was just one wrong decision by our driver.

"From that impact three young men lost their lives and three - including myself - were injured and had their lives irrevocably changed."

Suffering from major injuries, Mr Annear had a bleed on the brain, a break in his neck, a ruptured blood vessel to the heart, liver, a severed urethra, fractured pelvis, fractured femur which formed a spear into his hamstring resulting in a clot which was surgically removed and an open fracture on his tibia and fibula in his right leg.

"I also have retrograde amnesia from the whole event and even days leading up to it," he said.

"I was in a coma at the Royal Adelaide Hospital where I was taken to by the Royal Flying Doctor Service and I needed a total of 17 litres of blood transfused just to keep me alive."

Mr Annear said he was also resuscitated twice before being stabilised about three or four days after the collision.

"My parents told me the doctors said I was going to be completely brain dead, a quadriplegic and all of the doomsday scenarios but in one of my cohesive moments was to recall dad's birthday which was a really good sign for a lack of brain injury," he said.

It was not until waking from his coma did Mr Annear learn about the incident.

"The start of my recovery was asking about what I was doing in hospital, why I hurt everywhere and my mum gently letting me know what had happened," he said.

"I remember crying, but that was a watershed moment to not wanting to be in the hospital getting back home to my friends and comfort zone in Mount Gambier to process what had happened to me."

He said the doctors would let him leave the hospital and return home should he be able to sit above 30-degrees and sit out of bed for an hour before learning to walk again.

"They were happy for me to continue my recovery at home after that which gave me a bit of a road map for rehabilitation," Mr Annear said.

"Due to my coma I lost 30 kilograms and started with zero muscle tone so I had to start from the very beginning.

"During rehabilitation I was rebuilding my muscles from scratch and sometime over the Christmas and New Years period I was successful in walking again and after having done that they said I could continue my recovery at home."

Eventually, Mr Annear underwent surgery to reconnect his urethra and bladder and he was also able to get his licence back in April of 2008.

"That was amazing for my mental recovery because I wasn't trapped at home with some very dark thoughts anymore. My retrograde amnesia meant I was not afraid to get behind the wheel again," he said.

"I also started adjusting to my new normal which meant no more hockey or tennis because of the injuries to my legs as it was really painful for me to do anything for a significant amount of time.

"I could get back to surfing but needed a modified wetsuit and touch football is possible but the plate in my leg means my bones flex when changing direction on my right leg and is agonizing."

Mr Annear was also diagnosed with trauma induced epilepsy since his accident and recovery but despite this, he now remains committed to sharing his experience in road trauma in the hopes it prevents it happening to others.

"Three seconds can change people's lives and if something does not quite feel right, people should take those extra three seconds to make a better decision to ensure they are safe on the road," he said.

"We need to empower young people to make those better decisions and hopefully they will never end up in that situation that we found ourselves in."

Mr Annear said since completing university and beginning his job in Adelaide he had been fortunate enough to be put through many defensive driver trainings and workshops, realizing the problems with our driver education program.

"There is something inherently wrong with our training program for young drivers if reverse parallel is still the most stressful situation in the test - there is so much more danger especially in the high speed and regional areas around South Australia," he said.

"Young drivers need to know what it feels like when the automatic braking system or vehicle stability control is kicking in as an example to make sure they do not overcorrect and potentially put themselves in a worse situation.

"That is the type of thing I would love to see put into driving training programs, especially for young people because I feel like if they do not understand the danger they will not respect the road."

Mr Annear now shares his story with schools and organisation around the state.

As school holidays near, stay safe on the roads

WITH school starting to wind up the RAA has urged motorists to show care over the summer holiday period.

School holidays officially begin on Friday, December 15, and the RAA has warned roads will get busier.

RAA senior manager safety and infrastructure Charles Mountain said the summer holidays were an important time to make safe decisions around busy roads.

"As the school year winds down, we're reminding all road users to show care to one another when they share the road this summer," he said.

"While it can be a busy and distracting time of year with Christmas shopping, end-of-year events and trips away, there's never any excuse for being distracted or impatient when you're on the road.

BUSY ROADS: RAA senior manager safety and infrastructure Charles Mountain has warned roads will get busier with the upcoming school holidays. Picture: SOPHIE CONLON

"Our advice to drivers is to leave a few minutes earlier than needed and look out for one another, especially vulnerable road users such as walkers, riders and children."

Mr Mountain said getting angry could result in road rage and increase the level of risk to everyone.

"This year on our roads has been absolutely tragic and not least for vulnerable road users - cyclist, motorcyclist and pedestrian fatalities have all increased significantly in 2023," he said.

"We're urging all road users to reflect on the responsibility they have to make safe decisions whenever they're behind the wheel or sharing the road."

With still a few days of school to go Mr Mountain said people needed to remain aware in school zones.

"Even if your school has finished for the year, don't assume there won't be students using pedestrian crossings at other locations," he said.

"Look out for flashing amber lights and orange flags that indicate school crossings are still in operation."

He said parents should set a good example for their children at these crossings.

"It's important to hold their hand and encourage safe behaviours around the roads," he said.

"Set a good example, and remember to 'stop, look, listen, and think' when crossing a road - including at designated crossing points."

YOUR SAY

Limestone Coast Today values your opinion.

If you have a view or wish to comment on any community issue we would like to hear from you.

EDITORIAL

I am absolutely loving all the Christmas spirit around the Limestone Coast at the moment.

As a self-confessed Christmas lover, seeing all the decorations in the towns, shop windows decorated and community events has filled me with so much joy.

I hope to spread some of that joy this year, by shopping local for my Christmas gifts, and I hope all the community members do too.

There is little you can't find on the Limestone Coast - we have so many great shops, small businesses and wine and food producers, there is truly something for everyone.

If you're not one for physical gifts, look to some of our amazing tourism operators for an awesome experience instead and make some memories with your loved ones.

Every time you support a local business, you are also supporting the sport teams they sponsor, the events they help put on and the workers they employ.

Think local this Christmas!

Good news for you

"It was the best of times; the worst of times..."

Charles Dickens introduces his Tale of Two Cities, with similar impact on today's readers as when he published it in 1859.

"The worst of times" are so accessible.

Press a button; flick on a remote; click on a mouse; tap a keypad; pick up the tone of conversations around us or online through social media.

Plus, the "whine wireless" of talkback radio, complete with shock jocks, rigid attitudes, and insatiable appetites for sensation and gossip...

With 24/7 news channels bringing us the latest on all that's happening, and much of our entertainment focusing on violence, suspicion and sleaze, there are negatives aplenty. This is our world, or part of it.

True, we can't move back to smoke signals communication or living in caves designed by Stone Age architects.

Yet by opening ourselves to the possibilities of faith, we can move forward.

That's by faith more than by religion, which has often sadly fed suspicion and self-righteousness, to widen the divisions and distrust.

Terrorists inflict barely imaginable pain and misery and then try to throw flimsy cloaks of religion over it all. Then there's the emotional and spiritual damage wrought by preachers who lust for the eternal doom of the wicked - or of anyone who disagrees with them. Each extreme defends religion, while ironically denying God's true nature.

Faith exposes "the worst of times" in us all, whatever our status, while also showing that "the best of times" are only an honest prayer away. As we open our hearts and minds to receive God's grace, we find him building us up, to keep us from quitting too soon or expecting a limitless supply of instant miracles on demand...

Christmas is all about God offering his best through Jesus' arrival, his teaching, and his ministry.

And through Jesus' death and resurrection, he has taken and defeated our very worst, so we may choose to step into his love for our whole world - love that's strong enough to maintain the perspective and the energy that we need for making any lasting difference.

His love guides us into his values and patience, so we may keep recognising - and working towards - his immediate and his ultimate purposes. And he invites us to join him in transforming "the worst of times," confident that he's at work to bring about his best outcomes for everyone.

Plea to protect our food bowls

DEAR Ed,

I don't need to remind people how valuable the South East of SA farmland is as it continues to feed thousands and thousands of people. Warm woollen army uniforms and blankets made from merino wool have also protected the democratic freedoms we all enjoy today. SA allowed atomic testing during the fear of communist Russian invasion, causing suffering and hardship to the Aboriginal people at Maralinga in the 50's and defence forces serving personnel (which is still ongoing), all due to ignorance of the "science", and very inadequate health and safety precautions.

Huge changes since then now see the world in a desperate race to transition to 'clean' energy. The race is on to supply rare earths and other minerals for technologies to not only keep the lights on, but help keep the free world in the space race. At the same time aquifers which have grown food and watered stock have become depleted and polluted, once again due to ignorance and haste. We all now use lithium batteries in some gadget or other without full knowledge of the dangers posed by lithium batteries. The Federal Government has made it clear that farming must come second to this new "gold rush" for geopolitical reasons. A farm could be occupied for years as miners dig and delve. As with the petroleum industry, chemicals used are not disclosed. Many lawsuits are seeking compensation for communities which have had aquifers poisoned. 3M in the US has had to pay $billions in compensation with no end in sight. 3M may cease production of forever chemicals soon but there are 11 other corporations which still produce them. There are lawsuits addressing the impacts on our water, soil and air, due to petroleum and mining activities globally. According to the Public Health Association of Australia their policy position is that Rare Earth mining should be opposed except in very sparsely populated areas of Australia where it does not impact indigenous people in particular.

Battery storage parks are being created in regional areas around the world including Australia. Lithium fires are not uncommon, releasing a very toxic "vapour cloud" or "white cloud" which can kill quickly, and which needs about 5.5million litres of water to extinguish if you are lucky. To cut a long story short there are very inadequate laws to protect food bowls and aquifers from mining and petroleum industries.

The West Yorkshire Fire and Rescue Authority has specific information in relation to fire risk from lithium storage batteries. Has specific information in relation to fire risk and explosion been incorporated into the Ming Bool storage application? Thermal runaway and explosion risks are real and becoming more common. What precautions are planned to prevent the 5.5million litres of contaminated water runoff which would be used, from seeping into the aquifer? The contaminants from a lithium battery fire include hydrogen, carbon monoxide, carbon dioxide, hydrogen fluoride, hydrogen chloride, hydrogen cyanide, methane and ethane, which make up the deadly dense white cloud. Flash flares can occur which are dangerous, very hot and very toxic.

I believe it is time for SA to protect our prime agricultural food bowls from chemical pollution from resources industries and I found the Mellor Olsen article in the Stock Journal (30/11/23) very enlightening.

ON THE JOB: Michael Jones with Jack the Kelpie.

melanie.riley@tbwtoday.com.au

A Kalangadoo farmer has received top results in the Beef Eating Quality Producer Awards.

For the 2021-2023 period, beef producer Michael Jones gained recognition and a first place title in the Most Outstanding MSA Beef Producer (non-feedlot) Band 2 category for South Australia.

EVERY year, three and half million cattle are graded across the country in the Meat Standards Australia (MSA) grading system.

Abattoirs are required to upload results to a database when grading for MSA, which is then stored and compiled.

Every two years, a detailed analysis into that grading data is conducted to produce the Australian Beef Eating Quality Insights Report.

From this report, an analysis of national figures of compliance and index are analysed.

An further analysis is then done on each state and as part of that, MSA looks at the individual producer results.

About ten years ago, they introduced the Beef Eating Quality Producer Awards to recognise the top beef producers in their respective categories.

For each state, there are 3 categories - Most Outstanding MSA Beef Producer - Feedlot, Most Outstanding MSA Beef Producer - Band 1 (for producers of larger (non-feedlot) MSA consignment volumes) and Most Outstanding MSA Beef Producer - Band 2 (for producers of smaller (non-feedlot) MSA consignment volumes)

Mr Jones' winning results were:

- Average MSA Index: 63.19

FARMING LIFE: Michael Jones with his award-winning cattle.

- Compliance to MSA Minimum Specifications: 96.7 per cent.

Mr Jones has been in the farming industry for 35 years after leaving school at 15 years old when he began working for his late father, Reg Jones.

He said due to his extensive industry knowledge over the years, he has a good grasp on what cattle is going to perform.

"Even an animal that is not that well bred will do well on the right pastures and shelter," he said.

"It is all about the way you manage them and you just try to do the right thing for your cattle to get the best results."

Mr Jones does sell some stock locally but sells predominantly to Teys in Naracoorte.

He said he was not aware of the awards prior to being contacted, and was surprised to receive the call.

"It is nice to be recognised for your efforts," he said.

"You feel like you must be doing something right and to come first feels like a good achievement."

Mr Jones gave acknowledgement to his late father and said that he would not be where he was today without him.

"My father was the one that taught me everything I know," he said.

Mr Jones will receive a trophy in the mail in the coming months.

As the awards are not nomination-run and having graded cattle the only prerequisite, producers are generally not aware that they have been entered.

MSA communications and operations manager Deanna Jones said because of the award system, producers are often surprised when they receive the call.

"They are completely taken aback when we tell them that they have either won or have been a finalist because they have no idea that they were part of a competition," she said.

"Michael was quite surprised."

KANGAROO Inn Area School (KIAS) ended their 60th anniversary year in style with Governor of South Australia Frances Adamson attending the school's presentation evening.

Early in the year KIAS principal Annie Matthews reached out to the Governor and invited her to attend the event.

"I thought it might be nice for us to celebrate somehow, we didn't want to make the 60th year a really big deal but we wanted to do something to commemorate it," Ms Matthews said.

"It was lovely she responded and said that she was very keen to come out."

Year 10 student and Student Representative Council (SRC) president Calvin Raddon met with the Governor on her arrival and spoke about his aspirations for his future.

"He wants to get some work in the health field when he finishes school so he is looking at a uni degree," Ms Matthews said.

"It was great for her to talk to him and for him to talk to her."

Later that evening the Governor attended the school's presentation night and met with families and the current council chairperson Nat Sims.

The Governor presented the year six and year 12 graduates with their certificates and their gifts and also presented the Australian Defence Force Long Tan awards to year 10 and year 12 students.

"The Governor talked about rural education and the importance of it for our rural kids," Ms Matthews said.

"How they have a lot of opportunities and they can take advantage of those to go on and do great things.

"The Governor was very supportive of rural kids and rural schools."

KIAS primary school choir opened the evening by singing Advance Australia Fair and they also sang Smile which is one of the songs they recently sang at the Sir Robert Helpmann theatre during the combined primary schools festival.

Regions skill up in readiness for more EVs

WITH the popularity of electric vehicles (EVs) growing, the Motor Trade Association (MTA) has brought EV training to the Limestone Coast.

The first EV training course in the region was hosted at Naracoorte Toyota and taught participants how to sell, service and repair EVs and Hybrids.

MTA chief executive Darrell Jacobs said they brought the course to the region following industry demand.

"You never know what type of car may come into your workshop so it is important that automotive professionals are adequately prepared to service and repair all types of vehicles," he said.

"We know the transition to EVs will not happen overnight but there is now more choice, more affordable models and electric vehicles with more range."

Training comprised of depowering and re-initialising electric batteries and diagnosing the high voltage rechargeable systems.

This training is available to those already in the automotive industry, and those looking to enter it.

The MTA offers apprenticeships to school leavers and young people and Mr Jacobs said there were strong employment prospects upon completion.

"Combined with rapid technological advancements, automotive apprentices are in the driving seat of an exciting and rewarding career," he said.

Santa makes priority visits

SOPHIE CONLON

sophie.conlon@tbwtoday.com.au

IN the lead up to Christmas, Santa Claus has been busy visiting towns across the Limestone Coast, and he is not forgetting even the smallest of places in the region.

Santa said he was excited to meet all the children in the region who might not be able to make it to some of the bigger events.

"Friday, December 15, will be a very busy day for me as I make my way around the small towns of the Limestone Coast," he said.

"It is so great that small community groups invite me to special events like parades and street parties, it give me a chance to meet all the great children in the Limestone Coast and I get a bit of a nice break before I travel around the world delivering presents."

His first stop will be in Kalangadoo, where children will be able to take part in a scavenger hunt beginning at the Man and His Dog statue in the Railway Park and ending at The Institute Park.

For his first appearance of the evening, Santa will swing by The Institute Park from 5pm and enjoy a barbeque with attendees.

After that he will make his way to Penola to say g'day to everyone at the Penola Christmas Street Party.

The party, hosted by the Riddoch Business and Community Association at the Penola Wat Memorial Park, will include fun for the whole family, with horse and carriage rides and a jumpy castle.

It will start at 5.30pm, with the main man arriving at 6pm.

Then he will make his way to the Lucindale Christmas Party.

Organised by the Lucindale Community Economic Development Board (LINC), the party will include Christmas markets, decorated bike judging and a Christmas parade.

The event will start from 5pm and Santa will arrive at 6.45pm.

With a bit of Christmas magic, Santa will make his way to Allendale for his last appearance of the night.

Allendale East Public Hall president Richard Ferguson said he was excited to host the jolly man in red.

Mr Ferguson said the hall committee would host a special Christmas get together for children in Allendale, which would include craft activities, barbeque and a visit from Santa Clause.

He also encouraged people to get involved in the gift swap by leaving a $10 gift, wrapped and labelled, at the Allendale East Shop for each child aged 12 years and under before the event.

The event will start from 6pm, with Santa arriving at 7pm.

Solid: Foundation's still Standing Like Stone

TYLER REDWAY

tyler.redway@tbwtoday.com.au

THE Stand Like Stone Foundation has released its yearly review of its operations, yielding a successful increase to grant funds of almost half a million dollars within the last 12 months.

Stand Like Stone chief executive Roger Babolka said the foundation's growth within the last two years has allowed them to expand their coverage for funding and grants in the region.

Mr Babolka said this was due to how the foundation was able to manage its resources during the year to work around the "volatile market" at the time.

"Certainly within the last two years, we have seen a growth in our ability to branch out to the community," Mr Babolka said.

"We have also had the ability to access additional funding through other resources and organisations so we can give more back to the community."

WRAPPED UP: Stand Like Stone Foundation chief executive Roger Babolka remained very positive for the outlook of the foundation's future and hoped it would continue to serve the community as it had before. Picture: FILE

"We took a bit of advice from our external investment firms and they guided us through a process to get out of a few of the high risk hybrid investments so we could move into some fixed interest investments."

"It has done the job to give us the ability to maintain our investment levels so this was definitely one of the challenges of this year."

Mr Babolka said the Stand Like Stone Foundation had reached more than five and a half million dollars in their investment funds, which added nearly half a million dollars to the fund within 12 months.

"This gives us the ability to do more, which is what we are all about, so it has been a good year in that aspect," he said.

"We really do want to do more but it takes a lot of time, effort and resources but it is in our plans still."

"Our long term goal is to get to the point where we can do roughly half a million in grant funding."

Mr Babolka said one particular challenge of the year was the compliance requirements needing to be met for multiple government organisations.

"Because we are a charity, we have a lot of compliance requirements we have to meet throughout the year for both the government and the Australian Taxation Office (ATO), but we have methods in place to make sure we can meet those needs in an efficient way," Mr Babolka said.

"The organisation is in a pretty good place at the moment, but we just want to do more, it's as simple as that."

"We know there is a need and we are committed to making sure we can achieve as much as we can throughout the next few years."

Mr Babolka said a focus for the new year was to secure their current sponsors, as well as branch out to new ones interested in joining the foundation's cause.

"They (sponsors) help us with our administration costs because when someone invests or donates to us, those funds are basically locked away and we are able to access them for our operation overheads," he said.

"This is where the sponsorship comes into play, which helps us to pay for the phone and electricity bills as well as the wages."

"The costs have increased significantly in the last couple of years, so one of our biggest challenges is being able to meet those costs without impacting what we can give back to the community."

Students inspire and teach

YAHL Primary School students have used creativity to educate about the environment with the creation of a kids book.

The book was a project through the Limestone Coast Landscape Board's Young Environmental Leaders Program.

Limestone Coast Landscape Board landscape educator Vanessa Freebairn said students were asked why they nominated to be part of the Young Environmental Leaders Program and the majority of the students said they wanted to learn more about their local environment and how to improve it.

"The projects this year have been amazing, with students really challenging their thinking and creating change," she said.

The Young Environmental Leaders Program allows students across the region to learn how they can better care for country and sustainably manage our landscape into the future.

The book, 'Who Will Help?' was written and illustrated by year 6 students and promotes the important message of how everyone can make a difference by minimising litter and learning to care about the environment and animals.

With the help of a grant from OneFortyOne's Community Grants Program, the students were able to have the book published.

'Who will help?' is a story about a magpie named Pippa, and a copperhead snake named Eli that set off to search and rescue two young swamp wallabies who go missing in The Valley Lakes.

The characters are named after two of the creative students, Pippa and Eli.

The students consulted with local Boandik Elder Uncle Ken Jones and author Jo Watson for the creation of the book.

Student Pippa said that the book was made relevant to local people, as well as people from elsewhere to encourage them to learn about local culture and places.

ENVIRONMENTAL EDUCATION: Beautifully written and illustrated by the students.

"Uncle Ken helped us with Boandik language, so we could include Boandik words in the story," she said.

Student Eli said his teacher, Mel Holtz' favourite animal is the magpie, so that was the animal chosen for one of the main characters.

"We researched what other native animals live around the area as well," he said.

Ms Holtz oversaw the project and wanted to ensure the book was a top quality finished product.

"Without the OneFortyOne grant, we would have just had to limit ourselves to photocopied versions," she said.

"I knew if we wanted the project to be successful and the students to feel like they have made something with a lasting impact, it needed to be good quality."

OneFortyOne corporate affairs manager Charlene Riley said they were happy to support the students and their hard work with a grant to cover their publishing costs.

"As a business that relies on the natural environment and operating in a sustainable way, we want to support local people that are also doing good for the environment," she said.

CREATIVE CHANGE: Yahl Primary School students with their book 'Who Will Help?'

"The Yahl Primary School story book was such a unique and creative idea and met both the nature and education objectives of our PINE Community Grants Program."

The students hoped the book would inspire everyone to look after nature, and said if it gets a lot of interest, there may be a softcover version to come.

'Who Will Help?' is available for loan from the Mount Gambier Public Library.

Kindling cutter's kind Christmas donations

CAROLINE HAMMAT

MILLICENT man 'the kindling cutter' is sharing his Christmas spirit this year with 30 local families.

During the year John Eldridge spends hours in his shed pulling apart wooden pallets, drying the timber, cutting it to length and splitting it into kindling before bagging it up for sale at the Somerset Hotel drive through bottle shop.

This year's kindling sales have exceeded $3,600 which, combined with $1,500 donations from friends, has been used to purchase 30 $150.00 Fosters Foodland vouchers for local families in need.

Along with the vouchers the families chosen will receive a Christmas novelty bag to help celebrate the festive season.

Mr Eldridge said he was grateful for the support he receives in helping those in need.

"Thanks to Amanda from the Somerset Hotel for providing one of the best locations to sell kindling in the South East," he said.

"Displaying bags of kindling in front of refrigerators is hard to beat.

"Buying a beer and a bag of kindling and sitting around a fire on a winter's night is great fun.

"Thanks also to the kindling buyers, and Bowman Earth Mover's and others who have helped source pallets for me."

Around 400 bags of kindling this year have been sold through the bottle shop, which is approximately three tonnes of pallets.

The inspiration behind Mr Eldridge's generous work is hearing a child say they had vegemite sandwiches for Christmas dinner.

"I thought that was not good enough," he said.

KINDLING CHRISTMAS: John Eldridge and Amanda Gordon, with the help of others in the community, have contributed over $5,000 in goods and vouchers to families in need this Christmas.

"I'd like them to have the same meal I do."

Manager of the Somerset Hotel Amanda Gordon said it was the third year they have sold the kindling and the hotel takes no commission for doing so.

"It's always a pleasure working with John to provide the kindling.

"It's a great service for the community that they can come and get kindling so easily.

"Every year we sell more and more, it's fantastic," Ms Gordon said.

The community minded retiree also volunteers with the Millicent Shares a Plate group helping prepare and cook a meal for those who need them.

Mr Eldridge said he finds helping others rewarding and encourages others in the community to volunteer their time to help out.

Each year the Mount Gambier Community Mayor's Christmas Appeal plays a critical role in ensuring that vulnerable and isolated people in our city are able to experience the joy of Christmas.

The Mount Gambier Community Mayor's Christmas Appeal supports agencies, including Uniting Care, ac.care, St Vincent de Paul and The Salvation Army, to provide food hampers, vouchers and gifts through the Christmas Cheer program.

Donations to the appeal can help ease the pressure on people in Mount Gambier who might find themselves struggling this Christmas.

Donations can be made through the following channels:

- By phoning (08) 8721 2555 with your credit card details on hand. Council staff will email you a tax invoice.
- In person at the City of Mount Gambier Customer Service counter - Civic Centre, 10 Watson Terrace.
- By sending a cheque made out to 'City of Mount Gambier' PO Box 56 Mount Gambier SA 5290 with advice that the cheque is a donation to the Community Mayor's Christmas Appeal, to enable a tax invoice to be issued.

Hemp a 'huge opportunity'

THERE will be a field day event in the region early next year to help Limestone Coast farmers understand how they might add hemp to their crop rotations.

The Industrial Hemp Variety Trial (IHVT) field days are the result of three years of study to determine best performing varieties and sowing times for the region.

Hosted in Maaoupe, the event would be one of nine across the country aiming to provide growers with independent information about the performance of dual-purpose (grain and fibre) industrial hemp varieties suited to specific geographic locations within Australia.

AgriFutures Australia emerging industries program senior manager Olivia Reynolds said the field days would bring farmers, processors, food retailers and commercial investors together to learn more about industrial hemp and the diverse opportunities it offered Australian agriculture.

"The global industrial hemp market is projected to reach $18.6 billion by 2027," she said.

"This is a huge opportunity for Australian agriculture to produce an environmentally sustainable, multi-purpose crop that can be used for everything from food to building materials."

Bordertown's Good Country Hemp owner Mick Andersen said the event would be perfect for cereal and grain growers, agronomists and others interested in the industrial hemp industry to learn about crop requirements, yields and varietal selection.

"There is nothing like walking through a hemp crop as part of a field day and having a good look at it, smelling it and feeling it because when you can see it for real, you can imagine it on your own farm," he said.

"Now hemp growers have runs on the board in the industry, other farmers are more reassured to have a crack at it themselves."

As part of the IHVT program, more than 10 different varieties of hemp sourced from international suppliers including Canada, France, Poland and local Australian suppliers are evaluated and Mr Andersen said this was helpful.

"We look at quite a few attributes of a variety when we assess them for profitability," he said.

"The IHVT is very important for us to ascertain not only which varieties to grow in our region but also the best regions to source our seed."

IHVT national coordinator Mark Skewes the field days would include a field walk where participants could view the condition of the different varieties and a presentation of results.

"Field day visitors will be able to see how the trial crop is growing, and the differences between the varieties and sowing times ahead of harvest," he said.

As part of the event there will be an optional agronomy training workshop hosted by AgriFutures IHVT agronomist John Muir, which Mr Skewes said would interest agronomists and growers who were seeking more in-depth information about how to grow industrial hemp.

Following on from the IHVT program, AgriFutures Australia is funding a $2.5 million Industrial Hemp Program of Research to assist with the growth of the industry.

Industrial hemp can only be grown under state or territory government permits, and while it contains very low tetrahydrocannabinol content (THC) it is high in protein and healthy essential fatty acids.

Since 2017 it has been legal to sell industrial hemp seed for human consumption.

The session will be held in Maaoupe on Wednesday, January 31, 2024.

Billions lost to illegal seafood

AHEAD of the festive season, the Federal Government is taking strong action to keep illegal, unreported and unregulated (IUU) seafood out of Australia, protecting our world-class locally grown produce.

A draft report outlines three policy proposals for consideration:

- Review Australia's import tariff codes and related data reporting requirements to provide a more comprehensive classification of Australia's seafood imports.
- Introduce a seafood traceability program applying to high-risk imports.
- Support the expansion of multilateral catch documentation schemes.

The report draws on findings from initial analytical work and feedback received through the earlier consultation phase.

Across the globe, up to $23.5 billion each year is lost to IUU fishing, representing approximately 20 per cent of all global fish catch.

Minister for Agriculture, Fisheries and Forestry Murray Watt said seafood import controls have an important role to play in curbing trade in IUU fishing products.

"IUU fishing is a global problem and one that we want to stamp out of Australia," Minister Watt said.

"It contributes to overfishing, undermines sustainable fisheries management, puts legitimate operators at a disadvantage and threatens marine ecosystems.

"While Australia already combats IUU fishing including through licensing and enforcement, monitoring control and surveillance, and regional and multilateral action, we do not have a national import control scheme to prevent IUU fishing product from entering the country.

"Despite some strong industry self-regulation, seafood supply chains are highly complex and it is likely IUU seafood is currently entering the country.

"This is why we committed at the 2022 election to prepare a framework that would help to address regulatory gaps and to make IUU fishing a less viable activity."

Between 2018 and 2022, Australia imported seafood from 133 countries, with an average annual import volume of 273,846 metric tonnes and an average value of $2.22 billion per year.

Minister Watt said stakeholders from across the country are invited to have their say on the draft report.

"Our focus is on improving data collection to better assess and mitigate IUU fishing risk in our imports, and promoting collaboration among governments, regional fisheries bodies and industry.

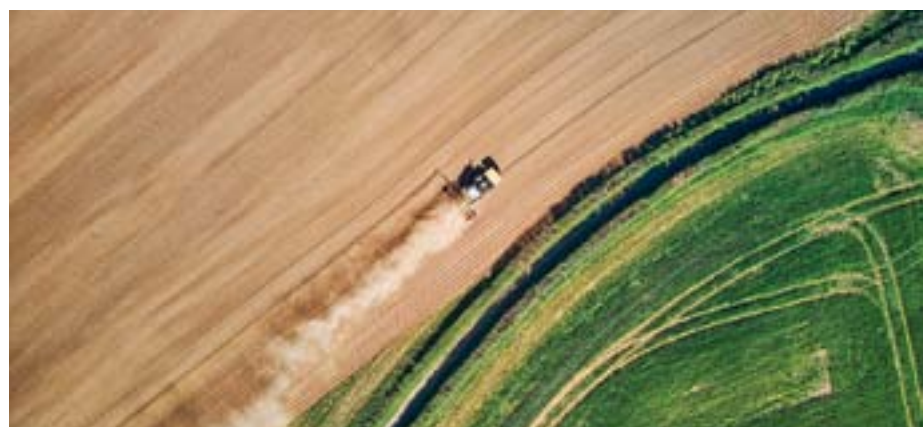

"I encourage interested stakeholders to have their say on the draft report. Your feedback is valuable and will inform the final report."

Consultation closes at AEST 5pm, Friday 16 February 2024. To view the draft report and to have your say, visit haveyoursay.agriculture.gov.au/iuu-seafood-imports

Gross value of ag production set to fall

THE value of Australian agriculture production is forecast to fall as increasing global supply and drier conditions impact farmers.

Acting executive director of ABARES David Galeano said the forecast for total agricultural production values in 2023-24 is $78 billion.

This is $16 billion lower than estimated production values for 2022-23 but would still be the third highest result on record.

"The gross value of production is forecast to fall in 2023-24 as drier conditions impact record-high crop production levels seen in 2022-23," Mr Galeano said.

"In total, Australian crop production values are expected to fall by $12 billion in 2023-24. Livestock production values are also forecast to decline reflecting recent price falls.

"Falling production values and incomes are also linked to declining global prices that are reflective of higher global supply.

"The past three years agriculture has seen record-breaking crop production because of higher rainfall.

"As we enter the El Niño period, we expect to see the national crop production fall from these record highs.

"Crop prospects for winter crops over spring have been mixed, and planting of summer crops in 2023-24 is expected to fall, reflecting below-average rainfall and low soil moisture levels during the early planting window.

"Drier conditions and lower prices mean average broadacre farm cash incomes are forecast to fall strongly in 2023-24.

"However, the past three years of high incomes have allowed broadacre farms to build up liquid assets, which should help cushion the forecast downturn."

Learn more about Red Cross

TYLER REDWAY

THE Australian Red Cross recently hosted an informative session at the Cave Gardens/Thugi which highlighted some of their key services such as the Aged Care Volunteer Visitors Scheme (ACVVS) and the organisation's transport.

Attendees of the session were given the opportunity to learn about the importance of each of the Red Cross' services and how they continued to serve those in need both locally and nationally.

- 1: Red Cross volunteer Ross Parkinson OAM and vice patron Libby Furner were keen to get some community feedback on the organisation.
- 2: Members of Red Cross Australia and the community banded together to give the Limestone Coast a better idea on how to use the important services which allowed people to give and receive blood, as well as other programs supporting those in need.
- 3: Volunteer Lorraine Phillips, The Haven member Kate McDonough and Red Cross transport officer Lynette Heiming caught up and discussed the needs and wants of the community when it came to the Red Cross' services.
- 4: Red Cross support officer Caroline Garandi, team leader Sharlom Kelley and Mount Gambier Library manager Georgina Davison discussed how it was important to be informed on the Red Cross and what can be offered to those in need.
- 5: Roxanne and Jaxon Pittard were interested to see how the inner workings of Red Cross Australia all tied together.
- 6: Aged Care Volunteer Visitors Scheme (ACVVS) support officer Emmanuel Raos, volunteers Yulema Perez and Willinton Claro and ACVVS lead Mary Vijendra hoped members of the community would take away some valuable knowledge of the Red Cross and its many services.

Real trees in our homes

melanie.riley@tbwtoday.com.au

HUNDREDS of families will enjoy the fresh smell of pine for the Christmas season after collecting their free tree at OneFortyOne's Christmas tree giveaway.

There were a total of 230 trees collected from the Blue Lake Sports Park pick up point alone over the two days.

OneFortyOne Gambier area supervisor, Jeremy Cookson said it was another very successful giveaway this year, and OneFortyOne plans to continue the tradition in the coming years.

"The community were really ecstatic getting their free trees and every year it seems to get better and better," he said.

"It's a great to see a smile on people's faces."

Coby and Baylee were excited to pick up their Christmas tree and could not wait to head home and start decorating it.

"I like the smell of the tree because it smells like pinecones," Coby said.

"My favourite thing about decorating our tree at home is putting the star on at the end."

Expect heatwaves

WITH temperatures rising across South Australia the State Emergency Service (SES) is reminding people to make sure they are having safe fun in the sun.

With an El Nino declared and a positive Indian Ocean Dipole underway, it is expected South Australians will endure hotter conditions and heatwaves this summer.

This was seen in the Riverland and northern parts of the state over the weekend and Adelaide recently experiencing its hottest day for the first half of November since 1897.

SES chief executive Chris Beattie said with century-old temperature records being broken it would be wise for people to plan and prepare for a very hot summer.

"Heatwaves can have significant consequences for our communities and they present significant risks to people and infrastructure," he said.

"Since 2005, SA has experience nine of its hottest 10 years on record.

"Heatwaves are known as a silent killer as our bodies often struggle to cool down in prolonged, extreme heat, especially when night-time temperatures also remain high."

Bureau of Meteorology meteorologist Jonathan Fischer said there was a higher likelihood of extreme heat days heatwaves for the sate this summer.

"This is the first summer since 2015/16 with the combined climate drivers of El Nino and a positive Indian Ocean Dipole, which tips the odds towards hotter than average conditions for SA," he said.

"We should all prepare for more days of extreme heat compared to recent years."

Heart Foundation (SA) general manager Marie Ludlow said people at the highest risk during heatwaves include older people and those with existing health conditions like high blood pressure, cardiovascular disease and other heart conditions.

"On hot days - because our blood is re-directed closer to the skin's surface to help maintain normal body temperature - our bodies work a lot harder to keep cool," she said.

"This increases blood pressure, making the heart work harder to keep more blood pumping around the body.

Dr Ludlow said sweat was the bodies way of keeping cool, but excessive sweating could lead to dehydration.

"While being overly hot can lead to higher blood pressure, dehydration can lead to a drop in blood pressure," she said.

"Both factors can have a detrimental effect on the heart."

For summer heatwaves the SES advises

- Prepare a cool room in your house with air conditioning, fans, curtains and blinds.
- Plan your days to avoid going out during the hottest part of the day.
- Locate a cool place in your area, such as a shopping centre or library, if you don't have air-conditioning.
- Check on your neighbours, family and friends regularly.
- Know the signs of heat related illness, such as dehydration.
- Ensure your pets have plenty of cool water and shade.
- At-risk people can register for the Red Cross Telecross REDi service by calling 1800 188 071.

The SES has created a range of helpful, downloadable checklists in 19 different languages including Pitjantjatjara and Yanunjarra at ses.sa.gov.au which can help people prepare themselves and their homes for heatwaves.

Keeping the farm safe

CRIME Stoppers South Australia and South Australia Police are shining a spotlight on thieves planning to target isolated and vulnerable farming properties across the South East during the upcoming holiday season.

Crime Stoppers SA chief executive Nigel Smart launched a campaign that encourages rural property owners and business to think about how they can prevent theft of livestock, tools, machinery and fuel.

"We know as many as four out of five interstate farmers say they've experienced some type of farm crime in their lifetime and South Australian farmers are likely to share similar experiences of repeated victimisation," he said.

"Trespassing, illegal shooting and hunting, burglary and theft are the most common crimes faced by those living on regional properties and with plenty of people across the region planning to go away for the holiday season we want to work with police and the community to make it as hard as possible for opportunistic thieves."

Limestone Coast Officer in Charge superintendent Cheryl Brown said it was important to report incidents of rural crime because it allowed police to understand the true extent of farm crime and specific areas targeted by thieves.

"Rural properties become prime targets for criminals over the holidays because they're more isolated than usual and have fewer people about – and opportunistic criminals will exploit that where they can," she said.

"We want landowners to understand how they can better protect their properties, and report crimes and suspicious behaviour so we have a more accurate understanding of areas being targeted and what types of property are being stolen.

"Patterns of offending suggest a high level of planning and organisation by a small group of repeat offenders who are probably responsible for a significant amount of the higher value losses in terms of livestock and farm equipment."

According to the Australian Institute of Criminology, crime in rural areas is increasing, with rural and regional crime research finding crime rates are greatest in highly accessible areas where properties tend to experience theft of farm machinery, vehicles or tools, or burglary; or very remote areas, where properties experience the highest levels of livestock theft, illegal hunting and fishing, theft of materials, and illegal dumping of waste. While the impact of "farm crime" is significant for the broader region and SA's economy, it also brings devastating financial, psychological and physical impacts on farmers, landowners and rural communities.

Mr Smart said Crime Stoppers planned to hold a series of free information sessions with local police to encourage farmers to adopt crime-prevention measures best suited for a regional setting in the region soon.

"It's important for farmers to accurately record livestock identification, remove keys from machinery, keep photos of valuable stock or other commonly stolen items to help with identifying them and install quality locking devices on gates, sheds, and equipment where possible," he said.

Crime Stoppers has produced a downloadable range of check sheets to help farmers and is distributing prominent farmgate signage with details on where and how to report crime through police and other local outlets.

Ending illegal logging

AUSTRALIA will take a major step towards preventing the trade of illegally logged wood, with work to expand the world's largest timber database.

It comes as Australia's Forestry Ministers gathered virtually recently for the latest forestry ministers' Meeting.

As a part of the federal government's move to improve Australia's illegal logging traceability and timber identification systems, a $1.2 million grant has been awarded to World Forest ID (WFID) to create a reference database for the science-based verification of species and origin of harvest. Federal minister for agriculture, fisheries and forestry Murray Watt said the information collected will support the industry, as well as consumers.

"WFID is a centralised, global and openly accessible database that can be used for timber testing and identifying species and origins of timber products," Minister Watt said. "Expanding the database to include key species traded into Australia will improve our ability to detect illegally logged timber and prevent it from entering the market.

"The project will expand the coverage of Australian-based testing services and involve Australian-based wood collections (xylaria) in hosting the samples."

Updates to the database have already commenced and are expected to be completed in second half of 2024.

For more information on WFID, visit their website at worldforestid.org

Cenotaph commemoration

CAROLINE HAMMAT

caroline.hammat@tbwtoday.com.au

FINE weather greeted those who attended last Tuesday's centenary commemoration of Millicent's Cross of Sacrifice.

The monument was originally unveiled in 1923 by the South Australian Governor of the day Lieutenant General Sir Tom Bridges.

At the time local schools were granted a holiday and 2,000 people attended the occasion.

100 years on the commemorative event was a much more subdued occasion with around 60 people attending.

Wreaths were laid on behalf of the Robe RSL sub-branch, Coonawarra/Penola RSL sub-branch, the Australian Defence Force and the Governor of South Australia.

Following the formalities a catered lunch was held for invited guests in the nearby RSL hall.

1: MENU ON DISPLAY: Lynnie Taylor and secretary of RSL Millicent sub-branch Richard Taylor read the original 1923 menu for the dinner served at the unveiling of the cenotaph.

2: REGIONAL MEMBERS: RSL sub branch presidents Fred Wasson from Robe, Bob Sandow of Mount Gambier and Peter Degaris of Coonawarra/Penola with Mount Gambier women's RSL Auxiliary member Ruth Sandow.

3: GPW JEEP: Graeme Morris who served in Malaya from 1957-1959 with ex serviceman Bruce Clayson and his 1942 Ford GPW.

4: HISTORY IN PRINT: Dieter and Jean Schuller read the 100 old menu from the Millicent Museum collection.

5: FAMILY MEDALS: President of the Lions Club Millicent Dave Taylor, with his wife Margy, wears his father's World War II and grandfather's World War I British medals and his own CFS 40 years service medal.

6: HEAR THEM: Ross Anderson and Andrew Cruickshank from the Mount Gambier RSL Blue Lake Highland Pipe Band with Alice Cruickshank.

7: CENTENARY LUNCH: Corporal Josh Clark from the 10/27 RSAR with Wattle Range Council CEO Ben Gower and Mayor Des Noll.

8: PIPERS PERFORM: Ross Anderson and Andrew Cruickshank from the Mount Gambier RSL Blue Lake Highland Pipe Band.

9: ADF WREATH: Laying a wreath on behalf of the Australian Defence Force is Corporal Josh Clark.

10: HONOURING SERVICE: Josie Skeer and Chris Skeer who served in Malaya from 1966-1968 as a national serviceman.

11: WITH HONOUR: President of the RSL Robe sub branch, Fred Wasson, lays a wreath at the cross.

SOPHIE CONLON

sophie.conlon@tbwtoday.com.au

WOOLSHED Street will be a hive of activity this Friday night as people flock to the Bordertown Christmas Street Party.

Event organiser Nat Moore said she was looking forward to the great atmosphere the night brought to the town.

"It is a really great community atmosphere," she said.

Ms Moore said a big part of the night would be the traditional Christmas Bike Parade and she was excited to see what the children would think up for decorations this year.

"This year's theme for the bike parade is Santa's helper," she said.

"So I encourage everyone to pop their thinking caps on and come up with something."

"You've got the reindeers who are helpers, Mrs Claus helps, we've got the elves who are helpers, the kids can make up whatever they think is right, but in saying that if they can't dress up to the theme they are welcome to just decorate their bike with a Christmas feel and join in."

The event will include late night shopping, market and food stalls, live entertainment, and a kids trek which Ms Moore said would take them around the event.

"So the kids can follow the map to receive trek prizes, businesses will have something in their shop and the kids will need to go to each shop and receive their little gift in their trek bag," she said.

With the party growing every year Ms Moore said it was a good chance for people to catch up.

"It is an opportunity for people to find out what is in their local town," she said.

"I encourage people to come down, check out what the town has to offer, check out the Christmas markets, it makes for a really nice evening out."

Ms Moore said Santa Claus himself would be making a special appearance with a special twist.

"I don't want to go into anymore detail, so make sure you come along on the night to see what's going on," she said.

The Bordertown Christmas Street Party will be held on Friday, December 15, from 5pm. Children entering the bike parade must meet near the Guiding Hand Bookshop at 5.15pm.

Rural great for the next generation of doctors

THE Rural Doctors Association of Australia has welcomed the federal government's commitment to fund new rurally-based Commonwealth Supported Places (CSPs) for medical students.

Association president Raymond Lewandowski said the initiative would be great for rural Australia and the medical students who take up the rural medicine training.

"Rural locations are such a great place for the next generation of doctors to train, and there is growing recognition of this by universities and medical students themselves," he said.

"Not only are there a myriad of incredible regional and rural locations in which these students can train, but the ability for students to access personalised, supportive and friendly training – provided by rural doctors and other health professionals with decades of experience – makes the training experience second to none."

Mount Gambier/ Berrin will see an influx of Flinders University medical students thanks to the $19.7 million funding injection.

Previously speaking to SA Today, Flinders University deputy dean Robyn Aitken said Mount Gambier/ Berrin would see double the number of medical students in town over the next few years.

Despite welcoming the funding, Dr Lewandowski said these placements must be supported by additional investment in junior doctor positions in regional and rural areas so the investment was not lost.

"If we want doctors to stay in rural communities we need to ensure we are offering the 'full package' and providing all the pieces of the medical training jigsaw puzzle – that is, the rural medical student places, rural positions for newly-graduated doctors, and then the rural postgraduate training positions," he said.

SIGN TO WATCH: Once the closed sign is removed the swimming lake will be ready for public use.

Lake opens Saturday

CAROLINE HAMMAT

caroline.hammat@tbwtoday.com.au

AS planned the Millicent Swimming Lake is on schedule to open from Saturday, December 16.

Wattle Range Council (WRC) began filling the lake last week after undertaking temporary patch repairs allowing the lake to open for a shortened 2023/2024 season.

The facility is currently being chlorinated and once the correct levels have been reached, the lake will be open for public use.

Council chief Ben Gower said it will be open when the sign saying it's closed is taken down.

"We will let the public know as soon as it's open for swimming," he said.

The lake will stay open for around six weeks and is scheduled to close Friday, January 26.

Major refurbishments will get underway soon after to repair the damaged and leaking surface of the lake and replace the underground filtration pipes to improve water flow and quality.

YOUR WEEKLY TV GUIDE

PICK OF THE WEEK

THE DOLL FACTORY SBS, Thursday, 9.30pm

Based on Elizabeth Macneal's eerie and violent Victorian London-era thriller, this six-part series is a sumptuous and potent adaptation. Featuring Derry Girls' Saoirse-Monica Jackson and Outlander's Nell Hudson, it's a female-led tale exploring desire and the world of art, with a spot of taxidermy and obsession adding to the intensity. Twin sisters Iris (Esmé Creed-Miles, Hanna) and Rose (Mirren Mack, Sex Education) paint porcelain dolls for a living, but their lives are being pulled into different directions with the arrival of two men. Tonight, in the penultimate double episode, Iris and Louis (George Webster, pictured with Jackson) grow closer, while Silas (Éanna Hardwicke) warns her away from him.

WHAT'S ON THE BOX?

LIVING WITH DEVILS ABC TV, Sunday, 7.30pm

Tasmanian filmmaker Simon Plowright forged a furry delight during the darkness of the pandemic lockdowns with his whimsical doco Quoll Farm. In it, he spent a year among the Tasmanian wilderness, witnessing the antics of an inquisitive group of quolls. Now, in this highly anticipated follow-up, the iconic Tasmanian devil (pictured) is under his lens. This love letter to Tassie is once again augmented with a gorgeous soundtrack from the Tasmanian Symphony Orchestra, with Plowright cohabiting for a year with the endangered marsupial as the threat of a transmissible cancer threatens to take out the species. Wonderfully intimate and educational, it's a fascinating peek into the often misunderstood species.

FREDDIE MERCURY AUCTION SPECIAL SBS, Monday, 8.30pm

"I like to be surrounded by splendid things... exquisite clutter," wrote iconic British singer Freddie Mercury in his memoir. Tune in for this fascinating, intimate peek into the life – and unusual belongings – of the flamboyant yet private Queen frontman. The singer's treasure trove of belongings were sold off by Sotheby's in London this year, having largely been left untouched since his death in 1991. In one of the biggest spectacles in the famous auction house's history, more than £40 million (that's around 76 million in Australian dollars) was spent. Mercury's collection included a silver moustache comb, the grand piano on which he composed 'Bohemian Rhapsody', glassware, paintings and costumes galore.

THE YEARLY WITH CHARLIE PICKERING 2023 ABC TV, Wednesday, 8.30pm

Whether you've been burying your head in the sand or you've followed every news thread this year like a hawk, there's fun and hijinks to be had for all in this biting and fun wrap-up of the year's headlines. It's an annual tradition for Charlie Pickering (pictured) to gather together a group of insightful and funny folks to try to make sense of the year that was and this offering promises laughs galore. Let's face it: there was a lot going on in 2023, but Pickering is here to take his pick of the most memorable. Expect mushroom gags and soccer silliness aplenty.

GARDENING AUSTRALIA ABC TV, Friday, 7.30pm

The crew puts the finishing touches on its 34th season with a Christmas-themed episode filled with festive ideas and stories to make you smile. In this final episode of 2023, it's nature's bounty that remains the greatest gift of all for Costa Georgiadis (pictured) and his enthusiastic team, though refreshing gift ideas and jolly educational segments are abundant. What would Costa give for Christmas? Besides his sunny and spirited demeanour, garden beds are it. Jane Edmanson explores a florist's paradise that's bursting with summer colour, Tammy Huynh creates living wreaths using beautiful plants and Clarence Slockee unearths the facts about the vibrant Christmas beetle.

O Come all Ye Faithful

O come all ye faithful
Joyful and triumphant O come ye O come ye to Bethlehem
Come and behold Him
Born the King of angels
O come let us adore Him
O come let us adore Him
O come let us adore Him
Christ the Lord

O come all ye faithful
Come let us adore Him
O come all ye faithful
Come let us adore Him

Sing choirs of angels
Sing in exultation
Sing all ye citizens of heav'n above
Glory to God
Glory in the highest

O sing hallelujah
Come let us adore Him
O sing hallelujah
Come let us adore Him

Yes Lord we greet Thee
Born this happy morning
Jesus to Thee be all glory giv'n
Word of the Father
Now in flesh appearing

O come all ye faithful
Come let us adore Him
O come all ye faithful
Come let us adore Him
O sing hallelujah
He alone is worthy
O sing hallelujah
He alone is worthy

Mary's Boy Child

Long time ago in Bethlehem
so the Holy Bible say Mary's boy Child Jesus Christ was born on Christmas Day

Chorus: Hark now hear the angles sing a new king born today
And man will live for evermore because of
Christmas Day
Trumpets sound and angels sing, listen to what they say
That man will live for evermore because of
Christmas Day

While shepherds watched their flocks by night, them see a bright new shining star
Them hear a choir sing the music seem to come from afar
Now Joseph and his wife Mary came to Bethlehem that night
Them find no place to born she child, not a single room was in sight

Chorus
By and by they find a little nook in a stable all forlorn
And in a manger cold and dark
Mary's little boy was born
Long time ago in Bethlehem
so the Holy Bible say Mary's boy Child Jesus Christ was born on Christmas Day
Chorus

Silent Night

Silent night, holy night
All is calm, all is bright
Round yon virgin, mother and child
Holy infant, so tender and mild
Sleep in heavenly peace
Sleep in heavenly peace

Silent night, holy night
Shepherds quake at the sight
Glories stream from Heaven afar
Heav'nly hosts sing Alleluia
Christ the Saviour is born
Christ the Saviour is born

Silent night, holy night
Son of God, love's pure light
Radiant beams from thy holy face
With the dawn of redeeming grace
Jesus, Lord at thy birth

Hark the Herald

Angels Sing

Hark! the herald angels sing,
Glory to the new-born King!
Peace on earth, and mercy mild,
God and sinners reconciled.
Joyful, all ye nations, rise,
Join the triumph of the skies;
With the angelic host proclaim,
Christ is born in Bethlehem.
Hark! the herald angels sing,
Glory to the new-born King!

Christ, by highest heaven adored,
Christ, the everlasting Lord,
Late in time behold him come,
Offspring of the favoured one.
Veiled in flesh, the Godhead see;
Hail, the incarnate Deity!
Pleased, as man,
with men to dwell,
Jesus, our Emmanuel
Hark! the herald angels sing,
Glory to the new-born King!

Hail, the heaven-born
Prince of peace!
Hail, the Son of Righteousness!
Light and life to all he brings,
Risen with healing in his wings
Mild he lays his glory by,
Born that man no more may die;
Born to raise the son of earth,
Born to give them second birth.
Hark! the herald angels sing,
Glory to the new-born King!

Away in a Manger

Away in a manger
No crib for a bed
The little Lord Jesus
Lay down His sweet head
The stars in the sky
Look down where He lay
The little Lord Jesus
Asleep on the hay

The cattle are lowing
The poor baby wakes
But little Lord Jesus
No crying He makes
I love Thee, Lord Jesus
Look down from the sky
And stay by my side
'Til morning is nigh
Bless all the dear children
In Thy tender care
And take us to heaven
To live with Thee there

Joy To The World

Joy to the world the Lord has come
Let earth receive her King
Let ev'ry heart prepare Him room
And heaven and nature sing
And heaven and nature sing
And heaven heaven and nature sing

Joy to the world the Saviour reigns
Let men their songs employ While fields and floods rocks hills and plains
Repeat the sounding joy
Repeat the sounding joy
Repeat repeat the sounding joy

Oh He rules the world with truth and grace
And makes the nations prove
The glories of His righteousness
And wonders of His love
And wonders of His love
And wonders and wonders of His love

Merry Christmas!

VOLVO XC60 IN FOCUS

BY DEREK OGDEN,
MARQUE MOTORING

What's in a name?

PLENTY for Volvo, the Sino-Swedish car maker with its new mid-size luxury SUV, the XC60, tagged with a string of descriptors to separate each model from one another.

Take, for example our test vehicle, the Volvo XC60 Ultimate B5 Bright: phew!

And that mouthful comes without mentioning vital specifications such as the powertrain – in this case 2-litre turbocharged, four-cylinder petrol engine, plus eight-speed automatic transmission and all-wheel drive.

'Ultimate' relates to the trim level, B5 to the engine, a turbocharged petrol motor enhanced by a standard 48V mild hybrid system to achieve higher fuel economy and lower emissions, while 'Bright' (or 'Dark') refers to core design elements.

While Volvo is now owned by Geely Automobile, a major automotive brand based in China, the XC60 exhibits sleek Scandinavian styling, efficient four-cylinder engines and quality cabin ambiance.

Range-topping Ultimate trim gets matrix LED headlights, 20in alloy wheels, adaptive dampers, air suspension, a head-up display, a powered passenger's seat, power-folding rear headrests and a panoramic roof.

While Volvo was initially slow to catch up, a move to a longer five-year warranty and fixed-price servicing puts the XC60 on a par with the opposition.

STYLING

Apart from the Volvo front grille and Thor's Hammer headlamp display, the XC60 Ultimate is pretty much out of the standard premium SUV catalogue design-wise.

For example, the vehicle shows off pleasing, if not striking, dimensions from all directions.

The Bright theme of the test vehicle is standard, keeping the same exterior elements as the core model while the Dark theme, offered at no extra cost, gives new Volvo vehicles a sportier appearance inspired by the former R-Design model by replacing the chrome accents with black elements and making way for a more aggressive stance.

INTERIOR

With its 'driftwood decor' inlay inspired by the natural forces of water, wind and waves, the XC60 is a genuine five-seater, with optional Nappa leather accented front seats including seat ventilation and optional ten-point massage.

A panoramic sun roof allows natural light to flood in, creating a feeling of space for everyone in the cabin.

A word about the gearshift.

Situated on the centre console it's hard to ignore this genuine work of art.

A product of Swedish crystal glass manufacturer Orrefors, according to Volvo, it's all about capturing light to produce a warm feeling for the user more used to freezing weather conditions.

Verdict: Tactile and easy to operate, it also works well in the Aussie sub-tropical environment.

INFOTAINMENT

Those out of touch with the latest tablet-style automobile info systems, may find the XC60 set-up a little testing to start with.

In keeping with the minimalist theme of the cabin the centrally positioned touchscreen is the key to control – buttons, knobs and dials are few and far between.

Persevere, people.

The upside is easy access to no-nonsense voice commands.

With Google on hand to supply helpful features, star of the show is undoubtedly an optional Bowers and Wilkins 1410W hi-fi audio system with 15 speakers and subwoofer tuned to cabin architecture to deliver impressive surround sound for all occupants.

ROAD TEST: The refreshed Volvo XC60 continues to hold its place high in the mid-size premium SUV market.

TEST DRIVE: A panoramic sun roof allows natural light to flood in, creating a feeling of space for everyone in the cabin.

ENGINES / TRANSMISSIONS

Since 2013, Volvo Cars petrol and diesel engines for most markets around the world have been made at their Skövde, Sweden, facility. Asian-market Volvo cars have had their engines produced at the Zhangjiakou, China, plant since 2016.

The latter is the case for the XC60 in Australia with a 2.0 litre turbocharged four-cylinder engine delivering 183 kW of peak power at 5400 rpm and 350 Nm of torque at 1800 rpm via an eight-speed automatic transmission to all four wheels.

SAFETY

Volvo has built its brand on being a leader in vehicle safety – it developed the three-point lap / sash seat belt and shared it around, for example – so it's no surprise that XC60 safety is five stars. Features include assisted cruise control, auto braking and parking, lane assist, blind spot alert and rear parking camera.

A head-up display delivers speed, turn-by-turn navigation, and more.

The brightness of the display adapts automatically to light conditions and can be set to suit personal preferences.

Settling in to any of the five seats on offer in the Volvo XC60 can be achieved with the minimum of fuss, none requiring a tall step up as in some SUVs.

Shoulder space and leg room also are up in class.

Firing the engine requires a turn of a centre-console situated switch, and it's the same process for shutting it down.

It's a repeat to shut off the motor.

Typically, of a Volvo, the XC60 offers comfortable, quiet and smooth riding, from the stop/ start city commute to motorway cruising.

The mild hybrid system unnoticeably doing its bit for added performance.

Expect the XC60 Ultimate B5 Bright MHEV to use close to 7.6 litres per 100 kilometres of premium unleaded petrol in the combined urban/ highway cycle while putting out 174g of carbon dioxide.

The car's active chassis with air suspension constantly adjusts ride height and adapts the shock absorbers to enhance stability and deliver a dynamic and refined ride with maximum energy efficiency at high speeds. And on demand, Off Road mode can increase ground clearance.

rear - chipped in with the benefit of 'B' mode, harnessing engine braking to feed off kinetic energy produced when the foot is off the brake.

Additionally, creep feature can help at low speed, for example in traffic queues or car parks.

When active, the car moves slowly without use of the accelerator pedal.

SUMMARY

While the XC60 is well advanced with present-day automotive technology, it's worth remembering that Volvo aims to go fully electric in Australia by 2026, four years before it does in the rest of the world.

While the award-winning luxury mid-size SUV deserves a look now, it may be worth waiting to greet the new era.

Ube Butter Mochi

Prep time: 10 mins
Cook time: 60 mins
Makes: 24 pieces

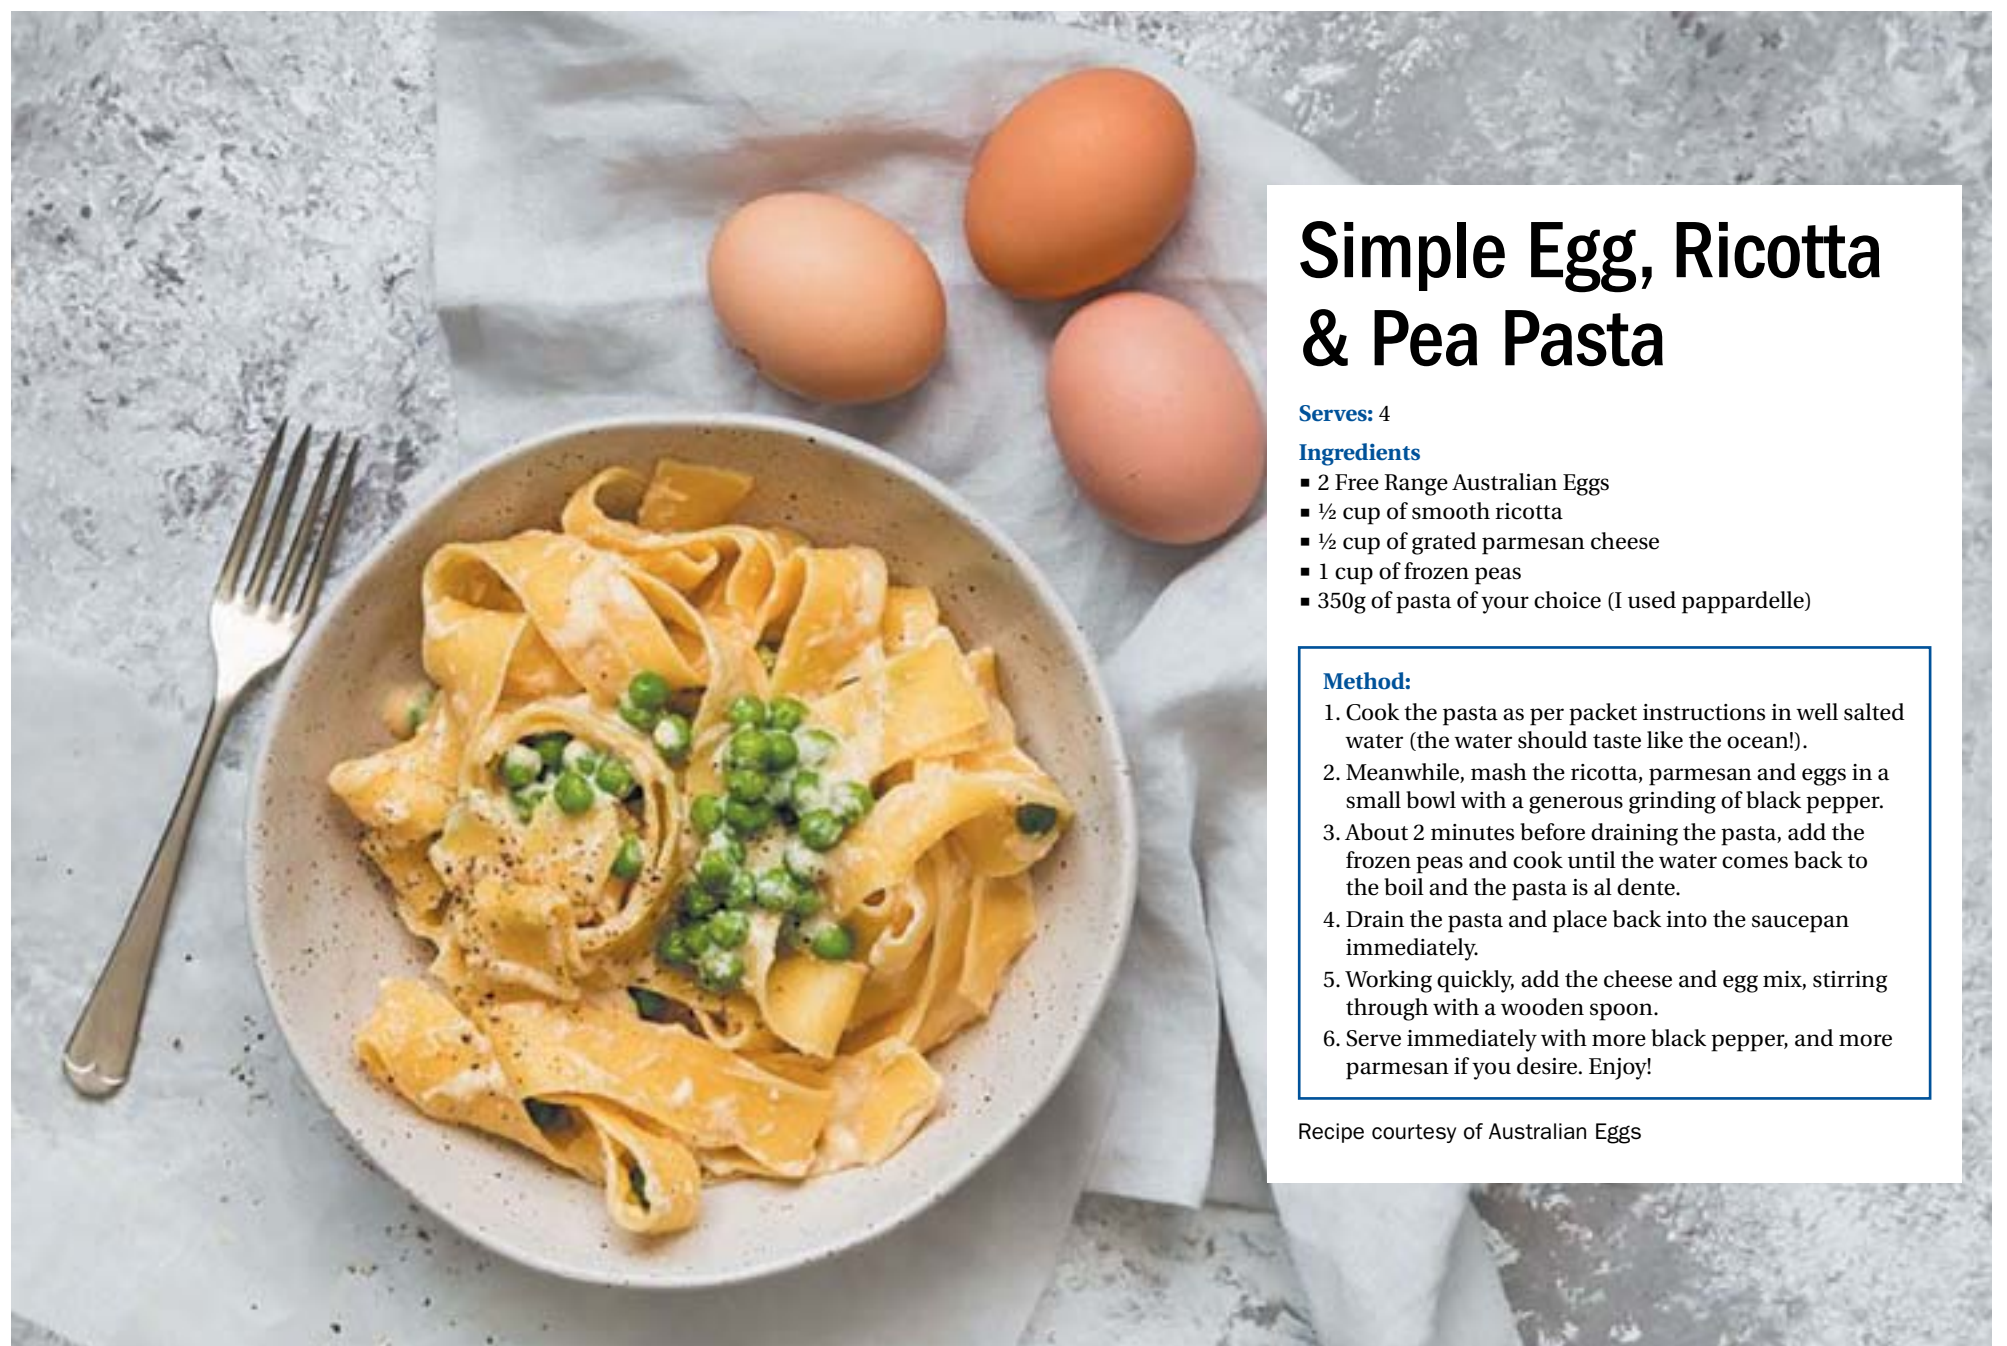

Ingredients

- 3 cups glutinous rice flour
- 2 cups sugar
- 2 tsp baking powder
- ½ tsp salt
- 2 cups coconut milk
- ½ cup melted butter
- 3 eggs
- 1 tsp ube extract

Method:

1. Preheat oven to 160°C fan-forced.
2. Combine all ingredients in a large bowl and mix well with a whisk until smooth and no lumps remain.
3. Line a large 40 x 25cm roasting tray with baking paper. Pour in the mochi mix and bake for 1 hour, or until golden and cooked through. It might puff up in the oven but don't worry.
4. Set aside to cool completely before slicing. The browned edges of your slice may appear green. This is a normal reaction caused by the ube and can only be reduced by baking at a lower temperature to avoid browning.

Simple Egg, Ricotta & Pea Pasta

Serves: 4

Ingredients

- 2 Free Range Australian Eggs
- ½ cup of smooth ricotta
- ½ cup of grated parmesan cheese
- 1 cup of frozen peas
- 350g of pasta of your choice (I used pappardelle)

Method:

1. Cook the pasta as per packet instructions in well salted water (the water should taste like the ocean!).
2. Meanwhile, mash the ricotta, parmesan and eggs in a small bowl with a generous grinding of black pepper.
3. About 2 minutes before draining the pasta, add the frozen peas and cook until the water comes back to the boil and the pasta is al dente.
4. Drain the pasta and place back into the saucepan immediately.
5. Working quickly, add the cheese and egg mix, stirring through with a wooden spoon.
6. Serve immediately with more black pepper, and more parmesan if you desire. Enjoy!

Your year ahead

As the sun moves into the sign of the Goat, this week's relevant prayer comes via Capricorn poet Matthew Arnold, born on Christmas eve: Calm soul of all things! Make it mine to feel, amid the city's jar, that there abides a peace man did not make, and cannot mar...

ARIES

(Mar 21 - Apr 20)

As a fire sign, patience isn't your forte, so it's necessary to find a way this week to be graceful around delays. Ditto family differences of opinion. The good news? Aries can do absolutely anything they put their mind to, especially if it adds to the general enjoyment, so get your creative on, Rams.

Best day:
Wednesday 20 December

TAURUS

(Apr 21 - May 20)

You're on the last of the hard pre-xmas yards, now it's time to start winding down. Realising that certain things won't get done - maybe a lot, but so what? Switching your settings to cruise control and putting your furry feet up with a glass of something sparkling while you design the ideal festivities.

Best day:
Friday 22 December

GEMINI

(May 21 - Jun 21)

Gemini's planet mentor Mercury back-peddalling in the sign of travellers on 23 December isn't anyone's holiday ideal, with its accompanying holdups, slowdowns and communication complications. How can savvy Twins have fun anyway? By expecting the unexpected, having Plan B up your sleeve and being ready to pivot.

Best day:
Wednesday 20 December

CANCER

(Jun 22 - Jul 22)

The heavenly helpline says it's time to aim difficulties into the too-hard basket. This week's astral advice is to deal with festive contingencies by sticking to what you're good at and what you know works. Let others handle the variations. Refuse to listen to unconstructive criticism, your own included.

Best day:
Tuesday 19 December

LEO

(Jul 23 - Aug 23)

The current tricky star-mix offers an abundant field of creative opportunities for your majesties to step in and take the lead in the midst of merry mayhem, delegating where necessary, of course. This week's most helpful mantra comes via Leo icon Madonna: It's not what I expected but nothing ever is.

Best day:
Thursday 21 December

LIBRA

(Sep 23 - Oct 23)

It mightn't be what you'd have ordered, but on the bright side, the combination of Mercury retrograde and season of unreason is perfect for racking up karmic flyby points by demonstrating Libran grace under pressure. The party circuit will benefit from your social skills and be infinitely grateful. Thank you, Venusians.

Best day:
Sunday 17 December

VIRGO

(Aug 24 - Sep 22)

Amid the hectic flurry of Mercury retrograde's re-activities: revising, renegotiating, rethinking and being reliable, this week carries the cosmic reminder for you of the important ones busy Virgos sometimes forget: to rest, relax and receive the much-deserved appreciation from others for all the effort you've put in.

Best day:
Saturday 23 December

SCORPIO

(Oct 24 - Nov 22)

This week's tidings of great joy are that apart from the odd hiccup and last-minute hunting, gathering and wrapping, 'tis the season to stop thinking go-go-go, start planning R & R. To get with the festive celebrating, jolly holiday, goodwill to all, friends and family, more the merrier, peace on earth program.

Best day:
Tuesday 19 December

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov 23 - Dec 21)

This week's celestial counsel for a cool yule? Mercury backsliding into your sign to complicate communications issues a strong warning to stay calm and avoid drama. And if you're travelling, double check to make sure you've included essentials. But even more important, to enjoy the festive ride.

Best day:
Thursday 21 December

CAPRICORN

(Dec 22 - Jan 20)

Your astral power point is this week's midsummer solstice on 21 December, when the year's longest, lightest day welcomes the beginning of Capricorn season: your annual cycle for tastefully cruising, schmoozing and networking festive get-togethers for contacts and connections to follow up in the new year.

Best day:
Saturday 23 December

AQUARIUS

(Jan 21 - Feb 18)

It's a curious fact that the season of goodwill seems to make people ferally frazzled and snappy. Your contrarian Aquarian assignment for the next fortnight is helping others enjoy whatever state of divine disorder they find themselves in, for which the festive deities will deluge you with unexpected blessings.

Best day:
Sunday 17 December

PISCES

(Feb 19 - Mar 20)

Pushy Mars is saying yes yes yes, while restrained Venus counsels doing less. Tuning into these contradictory but mutually supportive energies for when to act and when to rest is your key to balancing the leadup and wind down from the jolly holly event. Have a happy, humorous and heart-warming Piscean week.

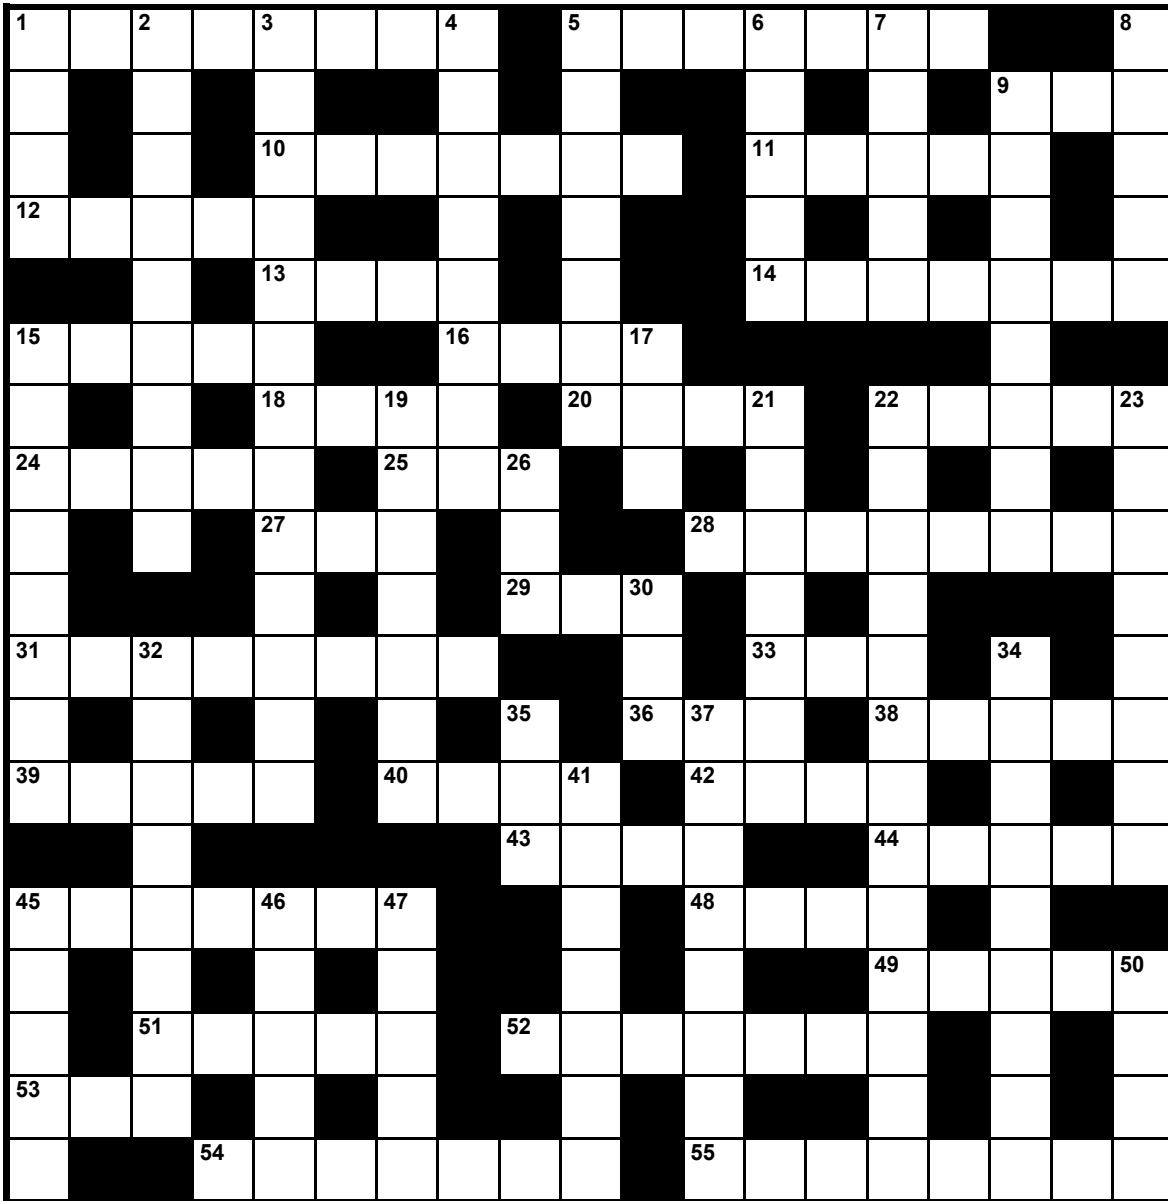

Best day:
Monday 18 December

SPENCE Dix & Co Property are proud to present "Aspen" – Culburra to the market place for the first time since it was cleared by the Twelftree family, in the late 1930's.

Approximately 401.09 Ha. or 991 Acres, adjacent the Culburra township, 8 kms. from Tintinara, Dukes Highway and Prosser Road frontage, making for very convenient access.

Healthy plains country with soil types ranging from red/brown loams to grey sandy loams, all over clay/limestone.

"Aspen" has been continuously cropped for a number of years, to wheat, barley, canola, beans and some lupins.

Fenced into 18 main paddocks, plus holding, with submersible equipped bore, mains back-up, and good rainwater storage.

Improvements comprise a charming solid stone 3 bedroom homestead, main with ensuite, office, good size formal lounge/dining, well equipped kitchen, feature polished timber floors, delightful sunroom. Extensions, and tasteful renovations were undertaken in the early 80's.

There is a combined 2 stand curved raised board Shearing facility/implement shed, fully enclosed, concrete floor and power, approximately 40x9m, 3 wide openings. Adjoining is a set of steel sheep yards, modern portable loading ramp, with further shedding, 3 large elevated Silos, + seed silos. A tightly held district, this property is an ideal add-on or appealing home base.

It will be offered by Auction in the Tintinara Sports complex on Wednesday 20, March at 2 p.m., unless sold prior. Inspection is highly recommended, contact Greg Window or Alastair Johnson for further details. ●

LIGHT UP YOUR WORLD

STATEMENT lamps are a popular trend in interior design that can add both functional lighting and aesthetic appeal to a space. These lamps are designed to stand out and make a bold statement, serving as a focal point in a room and creating a unique and memorable atmosphere.

One of the main benefits of statement lamps is their versatility in terms of design styles. Whether you prefer a sleek and modern look or a more traditional and ornate aesthetic, there is a statement lamp that can complement your design vision. For example, a geometric, minimalist lamp can create a contemporary feel, while a sculptural, organic lamp can add a touch of natural elegance to a space.

In addition to their aesthetic appeal, statement lamps can also serve a practical purpose by providing ambient or task lighting. For example, a large floor lamp can create a warm and inviting glow in a living room or bedroom, while a small table lamp can provide focused light for reading or working.

When incorporating statement lamps into your interior design, it is important to consider the overall color palette and design elements of the room. Statement lamps can be used to complement or contrast with other design elements, and can be used to create a sense of balance or visual interest in a space.

It is also important to choose a statement lamp that is proportional to the size of the room and other design elements. For example, a large, oversized lamp may overwhelm a small room, while a small, delicate lamp may be lost in a larger space.

Overall, statement lamps are a versatile and stylish choice for interior design that can add both functional lighting and aesthetic appeal to a space. Whether used as a focal point or to complement other design elements, these lamps can create a unique and memorable atmosphere that reflects your personal style and taste. ●

A lamp in a nursery can be useful when breastfeeding at night.

A lamp can add natural elegance to a space.

A lamp is a must in a cosy reading nook.

A metallic lamp adds a sleek texture to this bedroom.

Walk in Start - Prime Grazing Property

TDC Livestock and Property are pleased to offer to the market this 102ha or 252.04ac prime grazing property. A walk in start, this parcel of land has been well managed and well set up with ease of management in mind.

A central lane way offers access to all 8 paddocks and runs up the cattle yards which have all weather access. Water is supplied via a spring fed dam which is pumped to a poly tank and then reticulates to concrete troughs. The property also has added security of Glenelg River frontage. A timber framed open fronted shed allows the perfect place to store hay or park your machinery. The property offers great shelter, with large red gums scarred throughout the paddocks. A solid pasture base of rye grass and clover has benefited from the long term fertiliser history of 200kg/ha. Well located, being in close proximity to Dartmoor and with an annual rainfall average of 770mm, this property offers productivity and reliability.

285 Plunkett Terrace, Millicent

Rural Living at its Best

"Oldbury Farm" offers a stunning homestead situated on 84 highly productive acres less than 5 minutes from Millicent. The facade of the stone villa is breathtaking and the established garden is simply beautiful.

The home offers separate living and dining areas, three generously sized bedrooms in the main home with a fourth bedroom in the detached living quarters. The detached living also features a generously sized laundry with ample storage, and bathroom. "Oldbury Farm" is fenced into eight main paddocks all serviced by the central laneway and watered via 37mm poly line. Fencing consists of plain wires with pine posts and poly droppers. "Oldbury Farm" is a feed machine, with the highly productive black friable loam growing a bulk of rye grass, clover, chicory and lucerne.

A good set of sheep and cattle yards with under cover crush allows the opportunity to draw an income from the property. Horse lovers are also well catered for, with a 60m x 40m horse arena, full stables, tack room and yards also included in this magnificent property.

There is ample shedding on offer with a 6mx10m hay shed, 11mx18m high clearance shed with enclosed workshop and an open fronted 21mx9m high clearance machinery shed. Contact Tom or Mark today.

PARLIAMENT OF SOUTH AUSTRALIA
SOCIAL DEVELOPMENT COMMITTEE

Potential for a Human Rights Act for South Australia

Pursuant to section 16(1)(c) of the Parliamentary Committees Act 1991 the Social Development Committee is undertaking an inquiry into the potential for a Human Rights Act for South Australia. The inquiry will focus on: -

- the effectiveness of current laws and mechanisms for protecting human rights in South Australia and any possible improvements to these mechanisms;
- the operation and effectiveness of human rights legislation in other jurisdictions;
- the strengths and weaknesses of adopting a Human Rights Act in South Australia;
- the potential human rights protections in any act;
- the potential implications of any act for the making of laws, courts and tribunals, public authorities and other entities;
- Any other related matters.

Any person or organisation wanting to make a written submission or register an interest in presenting oral evidence to the inquiry, is invited to do so by Friday 16 February 2024. Please note, the Committee reserves the right to determine which witnesses will be invited to provide an oral submission and written submissions that address issues outside the terms of reference may not be accepted. Unless determined otherwise by the Committee, submissions are made publicly available on the internet.

Additional information on the Committee and making a submission is available at www.parliament.sa.gov.au/committees/sdc

Please address submissions and enquiries to:
The Secretary, Social Development Committee,
e-mail: sdc@parliament.sa.gov.au

Kingston holds on for victory

DESPITE rain early in the day, the weather cleared enough for all Southern Ports tennis senior games to be completed.

The match of the round was undoubtedly between Kingston and Frances/Lucindale Eagles, where the former claimed victory 13 sets to 11.

Elsewhere on the coast Beachport kept its winning ways in tact when defeating Naracoorte and the Robe Rebels pulled together a highly competitive team, stopping Lucindale Wombats in their tracks.

KINGSTON 13-120 d FRANCES/LUCINDALE EAGLES 11-106

After a slight rain delay the courts soon dried up with the help of some wind for the top-of-the-table clash between Kingston and Frances/Lucindale.

It certainly lived up to the hype with the former claiming a close win.

Flo Burgwin was a late withdrawal for Frances which meant Richard Pilmore got the call up in the men, as Angus McTaggart went across to fill Burgwin's spot.

The mixed doubles were an even affair and both teams won three each.

The Kingston men were too strong in the singles and walked away with four wins.

The Kingston women also impressed in the singles and won four matches.

A good game was had between Nicola Crane and Monica Van Dyke at number five.

After some lengthy rallies and over an hour on court, Van Dyke had some help from the net on match point to claim the honours.

After the singles Frances had some work to do as Kingston led 11 sets to seven.

Tarrant Fudge and James Crossling played an impressive doubles to take the win 9-2 over Matt Menz and Shaun Mules.

Suddenly the Frances men were making their comeback.

Craig Jones and Oliver Close also played an excellent game to beat Neville Hines and Lou Leidig 9-2.

However, Will Edwards and James Lehmann won one back for Kingston when they defeated Bob Williams and Rich Pilmore 9-3.

Frances also won the majority of matches in the women's doubles.

McTaggart and Sarah Hinge managed to account for mother-daughter duo Abby and Theresa Mules 9-6.

Kingston's Bianca Cunneen and Stacey Lehmann managed to put an end to the comeback when winning 9-1 in the top rubber against Nikki Gluyas and Jane Fitzgerald.

Kingston had already taken the win, but what a game was played between Nicola Crane and Jorja Mules against Monica Van Dyke and Hayley Crossling.

Van Dyke and Crossling held on at 8-8 to take the win 10-8 in an entertaining game to conclude the day.

Three-set winners for Frances included James Crossling, Craig Jones, Angus McTaggart and Monica Van Dyke, while for Kingston Bianca Cunneen and James Lehmann had three each.

ROBE REBELS 18-138 d LUCINDALE WOMBATS 6-104

Robe Rebels came out firing in wintery conditions against Lucindale Wombats.

The hosts won five of the six mixed doubles, with Robe's George Pretlove and Em Vasek having a close win (7-5) against Mark Bucket and Katherine Legoe.

The men's singles had Tim Legoe secure the only win for the Wombats when he defeated Tim Malone 6-3.

Robe's Andrew Brown made an impressive comeback after a few weeks off and he won his set 6-0.

The women's singles produced some tight games, with Robe winning four of the six.

The number six women's singles came down to the wire, with Lyndell Johns taking the win from Robe's Annabelle Wilkinson in a tiebreak.

Robe's men won all three doubles, while the Wombats snagged two wins in the women's doubles.

In the end the Rebels emerged easy victors, 18 sets to six.

BEACHPORT 15-137 d NARACOORTE 9-104

A strong start proved the difference when the Beachport Pirates hosted Naracoorte for Round 8.

Starting with the mixed doubles, the Pirates won five of the six possible sets.

Sid Malone and Poppy Moyle-Read took the first set of the day convincingly over Noah Lang and Shae Morrish, conceding only two games.

In a more evenly matched singles campaign, Naracoorte pegged a few sets back taking the score to 12 sets to six in Beachport's favour.

The Malone boys proved too good in their doubles match against Noah Lang and Jake Harris, taking the win 9-6.

In perhaps the match of the day, a blockbuster tiebreaker between Beachport's Emily Watson and Tamara Sutherland and Naracoorte's Harvey Koch and Samuel Birchard took the day's play nearly into twilight.

The final score for the day was a 15-9 set win to Beachport.

Three-set winners included Sid Malone, Poppy Moyle-Read, Tamara Sutherland, Ben Lang, Tim Loveday, Todd Watson and Robbie Bateman.

PENOLA 5-68 It LUCINDALE KOALAS 19-140

Penola hosted Lucindale Koalas for a tough loss on Saturday.

The Koalas come out strongly taking five of the mixed doubles, while Penola took the number six mixed with a 6-4 win.

The top order for the Koalas showed its strength but Penola held strong throughout the bottom order of both men and women's sides.

Penola's number-six man Manny Singh showed his strength defeating Koalas Jamie Boyington 6-0.

Both Penola's number five and six women took their singles sets comfortably.

The Koalas again showed their dominance in the doubles when winning all sets aside from the number six women's doubles.

At the end of it all the Koalas won 19 sets to five.

Looking ahead to Round 9 and the Robe Derby returns when the Rebels and Roosters fight it out for the Lewis Ling Cup.

While the Rebels are looking to be the likely winners, the Roosters should not be ruled out entirely.

With the rest of the matches at Lucindale, the Wombats will host top team Kingston and Naracoorte will have its work cut out for it against Frances/Lucindale Eagles.

The match of the round will have the Koalas and Beachport fight it out for third position.

Weather plays havoc

A TOUGH round of Southern Ports junior tennis played out on the weekend, with half the teams having to cancel due to heavy downpours in Naracoorte.

The Lucindale teams toughed it out in the rain and played on the more forgiving lawn courts.

Naracoorte Yellow 40 games defeated Lucindale Koalas 31. It was a tough day for tennis, with all players willing to play through the rain and made the most of it.

It was a close day, but due to illness the last bottom doubles could not be played.

Vander, Cody and Rebecca all had great wins in their singles, along with Vander and Cody playing well in the doubles and Rebecca and Rylan having a great match.

Fliss, Beau and Jimmy had a great day out and played some strong, hard-hitting tennis for clear wins.

Lucindale Roos 50 defeated Naracoorte Blue 37.

In some close matches in drizzly weather at Lucindale, the Roos got the win.

Although Naracoorte only won three matches, there were three tie-breakers that could have gone either way.

The Roos started well to win all their doubles matches. Max Lush and Harry Robinson had a close singles match, with Max just getting over the line 6-4.

The day ended with an epic win to Ashton Gale 12-10 in a tie-break over Charles Bruce.

Naracoorte Red v Kingston and Naracoorte White v Millicent/Beachport were both cancelled due to the weather.

The competition will now have a break and return at the beginning of February.

Close results in Division 3

JAMES MURPHY

james.murphy@tbwtoday.com.au

CLOSE results were the order in Round 9 of Division 3 tennis on Saturday.

As the penultimate round of Mount Gambier and District tennis before a seven-week hiatus, there is plenty of incentive to carry momentum into the Christmas break.

A top-of-the-table clash between Mount Gambier and Centrals did not disappoint, with the former claiming the honours by just three games.

It also came down to game count in the Uniting/Glencoe v Mil Lel fixture, with the combined team winning by 13 games.

The final fixture was a more one-sided result, where Glencoe defeated Moorak 10 sets to two.

Played at Glencoe, the hosts were in the box seat for most of the afternoon.

Of the six singles sets, Glencoe won five, with Brooke Hammond's 7-5 success over Caitlin Carrail the only win for Moorak.

The top men's rubber had Samuel Haase defeat Ryan Horrigan 6-2, while Toneya Carrail won the number one women's set 7-5 against Lisa Kanahs.

The doubles followed a similar script with just one set going the way of the guests.

However, the closest result came from the top men's doubles, where Haase and Will Maloney won in a tiebreak over Horrigan and Chris Tully.

At the end of the day, the win was enough to boost Glencoe into second place on the ladder.

Over at Gambier, the home team looked to maintain its top spot when hosting Centrals.

On the day the results were split evenly, with Gambier winning every men's set and Centrals claiming the women's matches.

The top men's rubber had Tim Benny in impressive form, accounting for Mitchell Duryea 6-0.

Jarrold Carey also tasted success with a 6-1 win over Mitchell van Riet.

A tighter battle unfolded between Angus Hopgood and Liam DeDonatis, with the former prevailing 7-5.

The closest women's singles match was in the top rubber, between Gambier's Melissa Attiwill and Centrals' Kirrilie Liebelt.

After a lengthy battle eventually Liebelt came away with a 6-4 victory.

RETURN: Gambier's Haylie Gregor in action during her Division 3 singles set.

In the number two match, Aimee Marshall defeated Lucy Clarke 6-2, while Centrals' Amber Kidman also won 6-2 against Haylie Gregor.

It was a similar story in the doubles sets, with all three men's matches won by Gambier while Centrals dominated the women's sets.

The closest result was a 7-5 win to Liebelt and Kidman against Attiwill and Gregor, while Carey and Hopgood had the closest win for the men, accounting for van Riet and DeDonatis 6-4.

The final fixture of the round was another close one in the Blue Lake city.

The combined Uniting/Glencoe hosted Mil Lel at Corriedale Park and at the end of play both teams had won six sets.

However, a couple of convincing wins to the hosts made all the difference and they claimed the honours on game count, 57-44.

Mil Lel dominated the men's singles, with all three matches going the way of the guests.

The closest of these was a tiebreak win to Brad Hann over Ryan Thomas.

Mil Lel was also impressive in the women's singles, winning two of three.

Eliza and Zara Cole both won their matches 6-0, while the top rubber was won by Uniting/Glencoe's Kate Fabian 6-2 against Kiersten Cole.

The doubles sets were a completely different story and the hosts turned it up to win four of the six and level the playing field.

The closest match was won by Mil Lel, with Ross Mackenzie and Hann winning their partnership 6-4.

Pictures: JAMES MURPHY

TOP EFFORT: Centrals' Amber Kidman won all three of her sets during Saturday's Division 3 contest against Gambier.

FOCUS: Centrals' Kirrilie Liebelt goes for a backhand during her winning singles set.

DAVID LEWIS

GREYHOUND RACING

GLENCOE-BASED trainer Dean Fennell, racing greyhounds at the Lake Terrace East-located Tara Raceway since its opening in January 1997, is confident Saint Tommy can measure up in next month's Carlin and Gazzard $10,000 Summer Classic over 512 metres.

Second only to the Group 3 Mount Gambier Cup in monetary value, the 2024 Summer Classic is a non-penalty event for all greyhounds whelped on or after January 1, 2022.

By Tommy Shelby, a winner of 31 races and more than one million dollars in prize money, out of Mepunga Prue, Saint Tommy is owned at Koroit by Peter Byrne, who also bred the black and white dog.

Fennell took over the training of Saint Tommy in October.

He has now won two races over 400 metres at Tara Raceway with the trainer yet to step him out over 512 metres.

"I was pretty happy with his most recent win when he clocked 23.12 seconds," Fennell said.

"From a Summer Classic age point of view he is certainly well placed given he was whelped in January 2022 and I certainly don't believe the 512 metres will be an issue."

Interestingly, it was back in 2019 that Fennell was involved with the Summer Classic winner Banjo Bad Boy.

He took over the training after the son of Banjo Boy x Banjo Bewdy had won his heat for Compton trainer Tracie Price.

A $21 chance, Banjo Bad Boy won the final in 30.13 seconds from Rose Ali and the 18-month-old Galactic Athena, who generated tremendous interest when winning a heat at only her second race start in a time of 29.61 seconds.

First run in 2015, the Summer Classic is a series relatively rich in short-term history,

UP TO THE TASK: Dean Fennell . . . confident Saint Tommy can measure up in the forthcoming Summer Classic. Pictures: SUBMITTED helped in no small way by the Robert Chuck and Steve Bartholomew owned and trained Galactic Athena who only a month later won the Mount Gambier Cup.

The inaugural Summer Classic was won by Cryer's Ricky, owned and trained by Margaret and Tom Cryer of Apsley.

Cryer's Ricky, who had gained a run in the final as a reserve, later contested the Mount Gambier Cup final won by Lots Of Yap.

Cryer's Ricky was from the first of two successive Spring Gun x Cryer's Midget litters that also included Cryer's Fred, Cryer's Jack, Cryer's Plugger and Cryer's Bob.

The following year, Menzel Boys, raced by Langhorne Creek owner-trainer Tony Hinrichsen – still a Tara Raceway regular – defeated Cairnlea Lewis in 30.01 seconds.

Menzel Boys, a son of Dyna Tron and Fighting Fury, the following month ran third in the Mount Gambier Cup to Mojito Mayhem – the greyhound scratched the previous year from the Summer Classic when eventual winner Cryer's Ricky gained a start.

In 2017, the Robert Halliday trained Hutch defeated Blitz And Bolt in the classic before reaching the Mount Gambier Cup final won by Fabregal three weeks later.

The following year Chuck and Bartholomew had combined with Galactic Athena's older half-brother Galactic Panther (Milldean Panther x Galactic Rumball) to narrowly defeat Dynamite Danger prior to running third behind Xtreme Caution in the cup final.

Other Summer Classic winners have been 2020 Sweet On Me (David Peckham), 2021 Justice For All (Tim Richards), 2022 He's All Purpose (Tim Richards) and 2023 Honey Rocks (Tracie Price), successful in the inaugural $10,000 classic.

Successful trip to Naracoorte for bowlers

MID-WEEK pennant bowls saw the Robe teams travel to Naracoorte and make the trip worthwhile, winning by three shots.

Robe 45 shots 6 points defeated Naracoorte 42-2.

Robbie Dahler, Josh Waddell, Errol Jennings and David Robinson defeated Ron Garton's team 27-19.

Jim Gray, Pam Robinson, Steve Farrell and Stephen Kennett were defeated by Robert Kirkland's team 23-18.

Friday pennant saw Robe host its nearest neighbour Kingston at the start of the second round of bowls, with the score much the same as the first encounter.

Robe 41 shots 2 points were defeated by Kingston 48-6.

Nesla Boundy, Carolyn McCusker, Kerry Pedlar and Valma Jennings had a great start, leading by five shots at lunch time, then had a lapse as Kingston came back and led by one on the 23rd end.

However, the team steadied with a four on the 24th end and defeated Chris Watt's team 23-21.

Robbie Dahler, Pam Robinson, Helen Dawson and Judy Birmingham had a close tussle in the morning, with the lead changing a few times, but after lunch the wheels fell off for Birmingham's team, only winning four ends and they were defeated by Heidi Gribbles team 27-18.

In the Open pennant on Saturday Robe hosted Port MacDonnell in both Division 1 and 2, with mixed results.

Division 1 Robe 86 shots 10 points defeated Pt MacDonnell 67-2.

Errol Jennings, David Robinson, Dean Burgoyne and Stephen Kennett led for all but two ends to defeat Tim Wrightson's team 34-22.

Jim Gray, Fleur Roachock, Peter Roachock and Harold Manton led by seven shots at the break, but only won two ends after and were defeated in a close contest by Adam Wilson's team 24-27.

Pat Lynch, Peter Gregory, Glenn Wright and Steve Farrell led all day to defeat Chris Richards team 28-18.

Division 2 Robe 69 shots 2 points were defeated by Port MacDonnell 81-10.

Robbie Dahler, Peter DeLaine, Barry Bennett and Adrian Birmingham led until the ninth end when they gave away a seven to be six shots down.

They recovered well to go on and defeat Kel Butler's team 27-18.

Josh Waddell, Kerry Butler, Dean Woodward and Gordon Brown were defeated by Ian Moulden's team 19-31.

Bill Cook, Ross Denning, Mark Giles and Deane Nankivell started with a five and then did not win another until the 11th end, when they scored another five.

From there they were more consistent until the 20th end when David Beaman's team surged ahead to win 23-32.

Thursday social bowls saw 19 players compete for the Robe Caledonian vouchers.

The winners on 55 points were Ian Bruce, Dean Woodward and David Robinson.

The women had a farewell afternoon tea for member Ann Moore on Thursday.

Moore has been an active member of the Robe Bowling Club for several years, holding various positions, but is going back to Mount Gambier to live.

The RBC Christmas party will be held Saturday, December 16, with members and partners welcome.

Twilight bowls will be played Wednesday and Thursday nights after Christmas.

RUNNERS-UP: John Drew and Philip Keatley.

Visitors claim prize

A 2-4-2 competition over 20 ends was enjoyed by 23 players at the Millicent Bowls Club last week in perfect bowling conditions.

Four visitors were made welcome, with Barry Hoban from Ascot Park Bowls Club, plus Andy and Jenny Hall, with Robert Cootes from the Beachport Bowls Club.

The winning pair was John Scudds and Hoban with a score of 33+16.

Runners-up with a score of 32+6 were John Drew and Phil Keatley.

Other winning teams for the day were, Rob Chambers/Dale Little 31+5, Steve Skeer/Eddie Hann 31+4, Ian Ross/Steve Carnellor 30+3, Jeanie Hall/Frank Cooper 30+5, Greg Depamphilis/Malcolm Wright 21+0, John Madden/Derek Bowering 19+0, AndyHall/David Reichelt 19+0 and David Botting/Jim Campbell 21+0, with two rinks having draws.

Players are reminded of the Open Fours to be played next Thursday, December 14.

WINNER: Barry Hoban. Absent - John Scudds.

Festive spirit alive

A FOUR-PERSON Ambrose attracted 57 women to the Mount Gambier Golf Club last Wednesday, incorporating the usual Christmas break-up celebrations.

The weather was ideal for golfing and the day commenced with a glass of bubbly/orange juice to put the women in the festive mood and on their way.

It was a shot-gun start, with non-golfers and golfers playing together and the scoring for the day was good.

The winning combination of Sue Szopory, Jill Johnson, Heather Teakle and Janina Morrison finished with 35 off the stick, which equated to 27.8 after their handicap of 7.2 was applied.

The score included birdies on the first and ninth holes, with a blemish of a bogey on the par 5 seventh.

Runner-up were the women from Port MacDonnell, Carol Smith, Maureen Howe, Chris Galpin and Pauline Paterson with 37 off the stick, with 29.3 after their handicap of 7.2 was applied.

It included a birdie on the ninth hole, plus one blemish of six on the seventh hole.

Speciality prizes included the nearest to the rope, won by golfer Di O'Donnell and non-golfer Janine Duke.

The second shot onto the par 3, sixth hole went to Libby Altschwager and team McIntyre, both with birdies.

The pro shot on the par 3, eighth hole for four balls was golfer Julie Hanel and non-golfer Beth Mahoney.

Nearest the centre marker was golfer Di O'Donnell and non-golfer Kerry McDonnell.

The long putting contest went to Lorraine Bruhn with an unbeatable shot of holing the putt.

Included in the presentations the Olympic Trophy was presented by sponsor Lorraine Bruhn to a happy winner, Betty McKechnie.

Receiving the Handicap Match-Play Championship cup from sponsor Ann Schrapel was a worthy winner Di O'Donnell.

Approximately 70 women enjoyed a sit-down meal presented by Gail Watson and her volunteer helpers.

A Fashion Parade by Redgum was run by Wendy Richardson, making use of eight local golfing models.

A great day to finish off the Christmas celebrations.

Just two more Wednesdays remain before club professional John Martin runs the women's competitions until the end of January.

All games will be in a Stableford format.

This week will be the very popular Ham/Turkey/Pudding Day.

It will be a Stableford event sponsored by Jeanette Braun.

Meanwhile, despite the forecast for stormy weather, 12 women braved the conditions on Saturday at the Mount Gambier Golf Club to compete in a Stableford event.

Blue Lake member Chris Morrison (32 handicap) registered 37 points, playing one under her handicap.

CHRISTMAS AMBROSE WINNERS: Janina Morrison, Sue Szopory, Jill Johnson and Heather Teakle. – Winners of Ambrose Competition on our Christmas Break-up.

She had pars on the par 3 sixth, 10th and 16th holes.

Runner-up was Helen Gregory (15) with a split of 42/46 for 88 off the stick.

She played to her handicap to score 36 points, with a birdie on the par 4 third hole.

Ideal conditions at Millicent

IN warm conditions, 14 women enjoyed a stableford round at the Millicent Golf Club last week.

Debbie Tincknell claimed the A Grade honours with 34 points after a count-back with Sue Agnew, also on 34 points.

Trudy-Anne Doyle was a comfortable winner in B Grade with 42 points, well clear of Annie Maclennan with 32 after a count-back.

Ball winners were Kirsty Bailey and Sue Ireland, both with 32 points.

The nine-hole competition played on the back nine went to Doyle for her 20 points.

Nearest the pin on the third hole went to Mary Winsler, while nearest the pin second shot on the 17th hole for handicaps 28-54 went to Lois Tilley.

Nearest the pin second shot on the fifth hole for handicaps 32-54 went to Doyle.

Nine-hole game with a twist

A NINE-HOLE stableford game with a twist was enjoyed by the women at the Blue Lake Golf Club last week before heading to Christmas lunch at The Apple Farm.

With only three clubs of choice to be used, a booklet of various "get out of jail" vouchers – ie ball in the bushes – and a short "putt putt" putter to be used on the ninth green, it was an entertaining game of golf, with the winners deserving of their prizes.

Karen Panagopoulos, Rose Case and Trudy Herbert finished first, second and third respectively, while Ronda Edwards was nearest the pin second-shot winner.

Dianne Allen claimed the closest drive to "Santa" and Gael Ford the happy wanderer.

Meanwhile, after temperatures were in the mid-30s on Friday, the change in temperature on Saturday accompanied by steady rain only attracted three women to take to the fairways for the stableford competition.

Top scorer Karen Koon was not deterred and off her 34 handicap, signed for 37 points.

Her splits of 17/20 included a wipe on the par 5 third hole, six three-pointers and a four-pointer on the par 5 17th.

Geraldine Scottb (24 handicap) scored 32 points, with splits of 17/15.

That included two three-pointers and a score on every hole, while Rosemary Martland also deserved a mention for seeing out the weather.

Club's spring series winds up

THE final race of the Mount Gambier Cycling Club Spring Series and the Glencoe Country Post and Bistro Super Series was held over 20km, beginning on the Overland Track, but finishing with a climb up the Eastern side of Range Hill.

The tough event attracted 14 riders, who signed on and met guest commissaire Rick Jordan.

The first group to depart consisted of Jen Buckland, Michael Dethmore and Martin Farmilo, followed four minutes later by Sandra Parsons.

Parsons was due to be joined by Molly Opperman, but a technological issue meant Opperman's bike was unable to change gears, so she did not start.

The third group to depart had to wait a further eight minutes and contained the largest contingent of riders, including Spek Peake, Mike Bakker, Ethan McKenny, John Cranwell and Chris Neave.

Matthew Opperman, Craig Andrae and Elmer Buckland waited another two minutes before they joined the chase and a further four minute back were Jami Buckley and Patrick Langsmith, some 16 minutes after the initial riders had taken off.

A reasonably strong south-easterly wind made for a quick start, with speeds reaching over 50km/h on the outward leg.

The groups generally managed to stick together to the turnaround marker, as having help from the group would be imperative to maintain speed on the return leg into the wind.

Notably Elmer Buckland's heart concern flared up and he chose to exit the race at the turnaround mark, while Bakker did not quite have the legs this weekend and lost touch with his group just before the turnaround.

McKenny was enjoying the tailwind so much he nearly rode well past the turnaround marker, having to work hard to catch back up to his group after overshooting.

As the riders made their way back along the Overland Track toward Range Hill Road, gaps began appearing as riders approached their personal limit and fell out of the draft created by the riders ahead in their group.

Jami Buckley powered away from Langsmith to try and chase down the groups ahead of him, while out in front Farmilo lost touch with the other two leading riders with 5km still to race.

Dethmore and Jen Buckland were the first to make the turn and begin the climb to the top of Range Hill, with Farmilo and Parsons close behind, but the rest of the riders far in the distance.

Even though the hill proved a difficult test for the earlier riders, they were still able to power up it enough to stay away from the chasing packs.

Dethmore crested the hill first and crossed the line ahead of Jen Buckland, with Parsons in third and Jami Buckley recording the fastest time.

Presentations for the race and the series were held at the Glencoe Country Post and Bistro, sponsors of the Super Series, where the podium placings were given vouchers, as well as Dethmore receiving the Christmas race trophy.

Andrae was rewarded for his consistency in racing with the overall series win, as well as the Super Series, with Peake and McKenny tying for second place in the Super Series.

There will now be a break from racing until the new year.

Incredible night of basketball as Saints soar

MEN
SAINTS 152 (J. Haggett 71, F. Bradley 43, A. Fuller 15) d ROOS 71 (J. Wilkinson 23, J. Watts 11, B. Noble 8, J. MacKenzie 8, O. Wilkinson 8)

RECORDS in local basketball flew out the windows of the Peter Seebomh Basketball Stadium last Wednesday night when Saints' Jack Haggett had a night to be remembered on the pine.

The men's South East Coast Basketball League scheduled game between Saints and Roos was played without several regular players suiting up due to the Tenison Woods College trip to the USA.

Saints, despite fielding a somewhat different line-up, quickly took total control of the game as Haggett and Frazer Bradley had the Saints' scoreboard ticking over at a rate of almost four points per playing minute in the opening ten minutes.

Saints then moved up another gear and lifted the scoring rate to 49 points in the next 10-minute stanza, resulting in a huge half time score of 81-30.

At that stage of the contest, Haggett had a personal tally of 32 points.

Roos, more resolute in their efforts, halted the run of the rampart Saints to some degree in the third quarter.

The impact was short-lived as Haggett and company moved back into over-drive to post a 45-point quarter and an unbelievable final score-line of 152-71.

Talented Frazer Bradley's impressive 43 points was over-shadowed to a degree by team-mate Haggett's possibly once-in-a-lifetime performance.

Jack Wilkinson led the scoring for Roos, returning 23 points.

BULLDOGS 104 (S. Berkefeld 30, Sa. Lock 25, B. Young 20) d COUGARS 97 (T. deWit 45, B. Ousey 28, C. Clayfield 8, J. McGregor 8)

In another scoring bonanza, where offence was clearly on top, Bulldogs accounted for Cougars in what was a close contest.

Simon Berkefeld is running into top form because of regular training and representing Lakers in the current Country Victoria Basketball League.

Lock brothers, Shaun and Sam, along with Ben Young provide the ideal support for Berkefeld, presenting an enviable depth of talent.

Cougars' fortunes have improved considerably with the return of Braiden Ousey to their line-up and the ongoing development of their juniors.

Toby deWit continued his role of the go-to player for Cougars and built a tally of 45 points, complemented by 28 from Ousey.

A 34-17 second quarter set the foundation for a Bulldogs win.

While Cougars finished strongly and out scored Bulldogs 34-23 in the final quarter, it was not quite enough to completely close the margin, but overall, a most entertaining contest.

PANTHERS - BYE

The women's games were postponed.

The SECBL competitions are now in recess and resume on Wednesday, January 24, 2024.

Double-header success

JAMES MURPHY

james.murphy@tbwtoday.com.au

THE Mount Gambier Lakers men have edged themselves within three per cent of ladder leader Horsham Hornets after a successful Round 10 road trip in the Country Basketball League.

Saturday night had a top-of-the-table clash between the Lakers and Hornets, which produced an eight-point win for the visiting team.

It was a rewarding outcome after going down to Horsham by a similar margin at home back in Round 5.

Little could separate the sides in the first half of the game, with scores locked at 12-all at quarter time.

A high-scoring term followed but it remained neck-and-neck with Horsham managing to enter half time one point clear, 39-38.

All signs pointed towards another thrilling half of basketball and the third quarter did not disappoint.

Once again nothing could separate the teams with both shooting 17 points, leaving the Hornets one up at the final change.

In the end the fourth term decided the game, as the Lakers found another gear to break away to victory.

Horsham's Austin McKenzie opened the ledger for the quarter with a two, but the Lakers responded with a pair of twos to seize the lead.

Intensity levels remained high but the Lakers slowly extended their lead from there, with the largest margin a 13-point buffer with 29 seconds left on the clock.

The Hornets finished well with a three and a two, with the final scoreline 78-70 in Mount Gambier's favour.

McKenzie top scored for the match, with the Horsham talent bagging 29 points.

As is often the case, it was a wide-spread contribution which helped the Lakers across the line.

Simon Berkefeld top scored with 20 points, while Shaun Lock (13), Toby de Wit (11), Duncan Reid (10) and Ben Young (10) also broke into double figures.

The win over the ladder leaders gave the men plenty of confidence heading into Sunday's meeting with Portland Coasters.

Last time the teams met it was also a close result, with the Lakers walking away with a four-point win on their home deck.

This time another tight battle ensued, with the guests prevailing by five points.

Portland had the jump on the first quarter and managed to establish a slim three-point advantage by the break.

That buffer was erased in the opening minutes of the second term, where the Lakers managed to edge their nose in front before the Coasters returned fire.

A three-pointer to Hayden Annett with 3:41 on the clock had the hosts out to a nine-point lead, but the Lakers responded well.

A strong finish to the half all but nullified that advantage and at the main break Mount Gambier trailed by a solitary point.

The momentum carried into the third quarter and Mount Gambier again seized the lead early before losing it again to a Portland resurgence.

At the three-minute mark scores were locked on 39 all.

Both teams traded blows from there until consecutive three-point bombs from Jack Wilkinson and Reid put the Lakers up by five with 4:30 left to play.

The Coasters refused to give up and again fought their way back in front, but a strong finish from Mount Gambier ensured the visitors would enter the final break with a three-point lead.

The fourth quarter followed a similar script as the rest of the game, with back and forth play keeping spectators on the edge of their seats.

It was not until the mid point of the term the Lakers had set up a lead they would not give up.

At the final buzzer Mount Gambier had won the quarter by two points to secure a five-point victory.

Berkefeld top scored for the Lakers again, this time with a game-high 27 points which made all the difference.

Reid and Young also shot double figures with 11 and 10 points respectively, while Nathan Hardingham was best for Portland with 21 points.

The weekend capped off the Lakers' year on a high note, prior to a bye next round and the Christmas/New Year break.

They will next take to the court in Round 12 on January 6.

Centrals notch up another mercy win

AFTER shutting out Central in the top of the first inning in Saturday night's Mount Gambier and District baseball game under lights at Blue Lake Sports Park, Federal was up and about.

The Demons opened their account with their lead off batter Jordan Johnson, who singled to right-field.

Riley Rolph was then hit by the pitcher, while Craig Nicholls also singled to load the bases.

Hamish Thomson then picked a walk which forced Johnson across the plate, while Rolph scored from Dean Searcy's hit into an infield error.

From then on unfortunately for the green and red it was all black and white.

Not until the top of the third did Central hit the scoreboard.

With two out Dave Harris doubled to centre-field, Dylan Chuck picked a walk, Harris scored on a wild pitch and Alex Ridding's triple scored Chuck.

In the next inning Josh Chuck singled, as did Sam Ruwoldt, while Jobe Harten's hit to second base resulted in a wild throw to score Chuck.

Colby Muller picked a base on ball, while Harris's high fly-ball to centre-field was dropped and scored Ruwoldt.

Still with bases loaded Koby Chant hit into a huge error at short stop and due to some intelligent base running, all three on bases scored.

In the top of the fifth inning Josh Chuck found himself at first once more after his hit to the infield was errored and then Ruwoldt beat the throw to first from the second sacker.

Chuck crossed the home plate on a wild throw from the Federal catcher and he was soon followed by Ruwoldt, who was batted in by Harris.

In the penultimate inning, two more runs were added when Josh Chuck again singled, Harten's fly ball was dropped by the centre-fielder and they were both batted in by Muller's triple.

It gave Central a 10-run mercy rule, but the two hours of play was not up so the game continued into the seventh inning.

The Magpies were not finished, as with a change of pitcher Dylan Chuck, Ridding and Koby Chant all received walks to load the bases.

Chuck was batted in by Dylan Gull's hit into a fielder's choice and Josh Chuck's third single of the game batted in Ridding to give Central a 14-2 win.

Central had seven base on ball, 13 safe-hits for 11 runs batted in and had 10 strikeouts, while making no errors.

Federal had two base on ball, one hit batter, three safe-hits for two runs batted in, picked up 14 strikeouts and made five errors.

LOOKING FOR AN OPTION: Tenielle Human top scored for the Lakers in both games over the weekend.

Tough weekend for Lakers

JAMES MURPHY

james.murphy@tbwtoday.com.au

IT was a tough weekend for the Mount Gambier Lakers women.

Competing in Round 10 of the Country Basketball League season, a double header on the road dealt the Lakers two losses.

A lack of depth cost them on Saturday night when facing a tough Horsham Hornets outfit.

With just five players available the Lakers were under the pump and did well to fall by only seven points in the end.

A similar story on Sunday in Portland had Mount Gambier's list bolstered somewhat, but another tight loss of eight points was dealt by the Coasters.

On Saturday the Lakers started strongly with a dominant first quarter.

They outscored the Hornets 23-11 to hold a handy lead at the change.

However, the tables turned in the second term and Horsham hit back with a 21-point quarter.

The Lakers were held to just 12 points for the term and at half time a slim three-point lead was all that remained.

The third quarter was a closer affair with only five points in it.

Again it was the Hornets who had the edge and heading into the final stanza it was a two-point game.

The final stanza was a duplicate of the third, with the same score from both teams.

Horsham shot 18 points to Mount Gambier's 13 and as a result the guests suffered their third loss for the season.

The Lakers looked to Tenielle Human and Mikaela Horrigan on the night, with 19 and 18 points respectively.

Emily Dawe also reached double figures with a tidy 10 points, but in the end the lack of depth hurt the side.

Increased numbers took some pressure off in Portland on Sunday, but it was still far from a full lineup for the Lakers.

This time every quarter was toughly contested, with the margin not growing by more than three points at any break.

Just one point was the difference in the opening term and the Lakers were down 14-13.

A 17-14 point quarter followed which extended the Coasters' lead to four.

The game remained there to be won but again in the third quarter the Lakers could not make inroads on the scoreboard.

They lost the term by three points before a strong finish had both teams shoot their biggest returns in the final stanza.

Portland scored 20 points to Mount Gambier's 19, with the final score a 67-59 win to the Coasters.

There was no real standout under the hoop for either team, with the Lakers' best output a 12-point effort from Human.

For Portland Millie Jennings topped the sheets with 16 points, while no other players made double figures.

The results put Mount Gambier in a precarious position, now sitting in fifth place with just three wins from seven games.

With a bye next round, the Lakers women will not return to the court until the new year, where they will need to buckle down if they are to stand a chance of playing finals.

Tigers hang on in tight contest under lights

IN a game of nip and tuck, Tigers finished victors in Friday night's Division 1 Mount Gambier and District baseball game under lights against South Indians.

South being first cab off the rank drew first blood when lead-off batter Ben Nash hit solidly to left-field and was batted in by Jesse Balshaw when he hit safely to centre-field.

Not to let the game get away from them early, Tigers' Jai Hillstone hit to third base resulted in a wild throw and he subsequently scored on a fielder's choice hit from Jarvi Mee.

The Indians doubled their score in their next at bat after Blake McAdam's hit dropped in front of the centre-fielder and Balshaw's hit into the infield only saw the throw across the diamond errored by the first baseman.

McAdam crossed the plate on a fielder's choice, closely followed by Balshaw from a another sacrifice fly.

Tigers were back in the game in the even dig.

Mitchell Thomson drew a walk as did both Matt Thompson and Kane Harrison to load the bases.

Jake Powell then power hit the ball to the fence at right-field scoring all three runners tying the game at four runs apiece.

Tigers added another in the bottom of the fourth to go ahead by one after Mee picked a base on ball and was batted in on Matt Thompson's safe hit to left-field.

Both teams failed to score in the next two innings, but then South clawed back the lead plus one more with the weather starting to set in.

Wade Chant got on board when his hit to shortstop created a wild throw and with two out, he crossed home plate on Ryan Placucci's double to left-field.

He scored when Deklin Joyce's hit to third base resulted in a wild throw.

With the weather further deteriorating the orange and black fought straight back.

Matt Thompson beat the first baseman to the bag.

Powell then picked up his third safe hit for the night, a double to centre-field, which scored Thompson.

Jake England's safe hit to left-field scored Powell to give Tigers back the lead by one.

With playing conditions now the worst they had been for the night, the ball became slippery, creating problems for both pitchers and fielders.

Both teams had trouble, making many fielding errors and pitchers unable to find the strike zone.

Tigers took full advantage of the conditions to go further ahead and set up a winning position.

Karl Ransom singled to centre-field and with two out, Matt Thompson on base from an infield error and Harrison hit by a wayward pitch, the bases were loaded.

All three scored when Powell's hit back to the pitcher was thrown way wild of the first baseman to give them a four-run advantage going into the last inning.

Balshaw's hit to shortstop was errored, while Joyce and Travis Lockwood both picked a walk to load the bases for South.

Walter singled to score Balshaw and both Joyce and Lockwood crossed the plate on a hit to left-field which landed safely.

Walter scored on another error after Wade Chant's safe hit, also to left-field, before side was out.

With the scores level, Tigers needed a run to save the game from going to extra innings with time still to play, but the conditions not so good.

South pitcher Placucci found this to be so as he walked Cameron Scott and hit Mee to give them two on and none out.

Ransom stepped up to the plate and hit his second consecutive safe hit to centre-field scoring Scott, which proved to be the winning run.

Tigers picked up eight base on ball, four hit batters, 10 safe hits for eight runs batted in and made 10 errors.

South picked three walks, nine safe hits for seven runs batted in and made only four errors

MIL LEL 10/247 and 1/19 d
PENOLA 10/186 and 10/79

Mil Lel turned its fortunes around on day two of its Barber Shield clash with Penola, after sitting at a poor 6/66 overnight to claim an outright victory.

Chasing a total of 186, Mil Lel's top order was decimated on day one of play, leaving it in a tentative position when play resumed on Saturday. William Rowland and Archer Virtanen took to the crease and began to turn the game on its head once more.

The Penola bowling attack simply could not make the required break, with both batsmen showing plenty of resolve, while keeping the scoreboard ticking over.

Rowland eventually fell to Lewis March for a much-needed 77 runs, but it left Mil Lel short at 7/165.

Virtanen also departed before the victory had been secured, trapped lbw for 41 off the bowling of March, with Mil Lel then at 8/175.

Just 12 runs were required for victory and Mil Lel did it with ease, as Jack Miller played a captain's role with 25 runs, ably assisted by Darcy Williamson who was out for 36.

Dale Bachmann was among the runs at number 11, unbeaten on 11.

It pushed the score up to 247 and placed the pressure back on the Penola bats.

The second innings for the Eagles was poor, as they recorded just 79 runs before being bowled out.

The only two highlights were the batting of opener Jack Mullan, out for 49 runs off 68 balls, along with Nathan Fulton in the middle order with 16.

No other Penola batsman reached double figures, with Mil Lel then chasing hard for an outright victory.

Mil Lel only needed 1.3 overs to achieve its outright victory, with Rowland contributing 16 runs off just seven balls and Virtanen run out on his first ball.

Williamson was also unbeaten on two.

Skeer calls time on career

"I wasn't as quick as I was last year," Skeer said.

"I started the weekend fairly quick, but so did everyone else.

"It was lap-record pace and I was on the edge of the top-10 group in qualifying.

"In the first race they cut it back to six laps and I just rode smart and finished seventh.

"I finished sixth in the second race which gave me fifth overall for the weekend.

"I was happy with that result for my final race meeting."

To claim a top-four position for the season was not lost on the young rider, after competing in the category since 2018 and finishing top 10 each season.

"I am not disappointed with that," Skeer said.

"It is the highest I have finished.

"I had the pace at a few rounds to finish higher up this season, but couldn't quite get it together.

"I was trying to find half a second and couldn't.

"I was frustrated, I was beating myself up and wasn't really getting quicker.

"That is when I realised I wasn't enjoying it as much.

"But I am happy with what I have achieved over the years.

"I think I have got the most out of racing I could and I have no regrets.

"I can't thank my sponsors enough for sticking around and supporting me my whole career.

"Overall it has been a fun ride."

With his bikes all-but sold, Skeer can now sit back and look at what he has achieved, both nationally and locally here at McNamara Park.

"I might not know what to do with myself now," he said.

"I might still go to the track and help out, but I won't have any bikes to race.

"I have always been competitive, so I might look at kart racing or motocross.

"At the moment I am just looking forward to chilling out."

Good turnout for great cause

THE Millicent Cancer Support Group hosted a Four-Ball Ambrose competition for golfers and non-golfers recently at the Millicent Golf Club, with 127 players taking to the course in perfect weather.

Volunteers from the Millicent Cancer Support Group cooked a barbecue to feed the hungry golfers throughout play.

A special guest was in attendance – Member for Barker, Tony Pasin.

He assisted the volunteers with the barbecue and was on hand to take photos of the players as they passed the clubhouse for the next hole.

The Millicent Cancer Support Group served snacks at the conclusion of play, followed by an auction conducted by Will Chay.

Local businesses and individuals were generous in supplying items for the auction and prizes for the winning teams.

The Fathers/Sons combination of Shane and Cade Kelly, along with Josh and Brayden Rowe were the winners of the Ambrose competition with a nett score of 52.5.

Bulldogs on top of Demons

EAST GAMBIER 9-D/235 d
SOUTH GAMBIER 10/77 AND 10/96

EAST Gambier made easy work of its Round 5 Barber Shield cricket clash with South Gambier, bowling out the Demons twice over the two days of play to secure an outright victory.

The Bulldogs were sent into bat and reached a solid 235 total on the opening day of play, then never had to pick the bat up again.

South began day two with a fairly fresh slate and 12 runs on the board, but was not able to find any momentum as the innings unfolded, with Alex Hentschke in impressive form with the ball as he blasted his way to a five-wicket haul.

Openers Jakob Opie and Sam Bradbrook stuck around and soaked up a few balls, but Opie was bowled by Liam Turley for 16, while Bradbrook was caught off the bowling of Hentschke for just six, off a steady 51 deliveries.

Hentschke clean bowled Noah Maxwell for just four runs, before Turley dealt with Jaggar Geary in the same manner for a duck.

Stephen Easterbrook was going along well after getting a start, but he was caught by Turley off Hentschke for 16 runs off just 12 balls.

Jed Sims was caught off Turley for a duck, while Robert Drenthen showed a bit more resolve, eventually caught by Hentschke off the bowling of Marc Roberts for 23 off 22 balls.

James Miller was caught off Hentschke for a duck, George Reichelt caught-and-bowled by Roberts for a duck, Axel Page bowled by Hentschke for six, leaving Adam Vause stranded at the wicket with the total at just 77 in the 28th over.

Hentschke finished with 5/47 off 12 overs, while Turley had figures of 3/19 off 10.

South was then sent back into bat and the script did not read much better.

This time the wickets were shared around by the Bulldogs, with just three double-figures scores on the South scoresheet as they attempted to deny East an outright win.

with the top order gone cheaply, it was Sims in the middle order who looked in better touch, facing 45 balls and sending five of those to the boundary for his 29 runs.

He was eventually caught by Ben Hentschke off the bowling of Emerson Marks.

Maxwell also made a better fist of it down the order, with 17 runs off 35 balls, bowled by Ben Hentschke.

Page was the final batter to reach double figures, but it meant little as the Bulldogs stormed to an outright win.

AND 1/39

AFTER a solid opening day of play in Round 5 of Barber Shield cricket, West Gambier claimed the win over North Sportsman's in comfortable fashion.

That was despite a half-century to Elliott Fisher at number three and a couple of other starts.

The going was steady for the Tigers, with Alex Hutton the first to fall after facing 20 balls for his three runs.

He was bowled by Bray Stephenson, on his way to three scalps.

Fellow opener Michael Johnston was next to go for a handy 27, also at a steady rate, taking 62 balls to compile.

Unfortunately for the Tigers, Nick McNerney lasted just eight balls for four runs and Nicolas Brown offered the same total.

Mitch Lewis came in and played a captain's knock, while Fisher worked his way to 52 runs.

He faced 107 balls to reach the milestone, before he was bowled by Justin DeJong.

North was then in trouble at 5/97, with the top order gone and plenty of runs still to find.

DeJong also took care of Declan Kenny, that was about it for North, with Josh Stafford left at the crease on four runs and the total at just 147 in the 57th over.

DeJong joined Stephenson with three wickets each.

North headed back into bat and faced 19 overs, with only Hutton losing his wicket for 14.

THE final round of the Australian Super-sport series at The Bend ended well for Furner motorcycle racer Dallas Skeer, with a fifth-place finish for the round, which gave him fourth overall for the season.

While it was another quality season of racing, the years in and demands of the sport have taken some toll on the young rider, with Skeer announcing this week he will retire.

"To finish fourth for the championship surprised me," he said.

"I had a crash in one race and finished out of the points in a couple from running off and losing positions.

"If I was consistent I possible could have finished top two.

"I was enjoying it on the weekend, but there were a few moments during the year where I wasn't really enjoying it at all.

"I don't know why that was, but something had changed.

"I had made my decision to retire, then at Tailem Bend on the weekend I was having second thoughts.

"I had a few offers to ride next year, but you can't keep going forever.

"I have a few things I want to do, I am 21 and want to set my life up for the future.

"Maybe after I have a year off I might miss it and want to come back."

While fifth place for the round at Tailem Bend was a good end to the season and his career, Skeer said he still struggled with motivation.

The first race was red flagged twice after accidents and he found it tough to regain his adrenaline one the green flag had again dropped, despite some decent pace early on the weekend.
