WORK is due to begin on Southend's first major public art project next month by South Australian mosaic artist Michael Tye.

The public artwork is inspired by long-time Southend resident, Alberto Galli, who died in 2021.

In 2018 the community were working on the town's 10 year plan when Mr Galli suggested a tribute to the early women of Southend.

Mr Galli, a 1950's Italian migrant, believed the town would not be where it is today without those women and wanted to acknowledge the importance of them in the town's early development.

Generous benefactors of the project are Mr Galli's two daughters and this support has been used to leverage arts grant funding.

A successful Rapid Response grant from Country Arts SA employed two shortlisted artists to create maquettes and submit a detailed design.

Around 36 Southend residents, both young and old, visited the Southend hall during a community consultation period held last September.

They were able to add their comments after viewing the maquettes and reading the artist's submissions.

Ruth Vander Hoek, as a member of the Southend Progress Association Committee driving the project, facilitated the community consultation process.

"I took notes as well, there was lots of wonderful conversation that went on from people, which was really great to hear," Ms Vander Hoek said.

Destined for Australia

SOPHIE CONLON

NEEMA Bisoka was one of five Tatiara residents to officially become an Australian citizen during the Australia Day celebrations in Wolsely last week.

A citizenship ceremony was held during the event and saw the group make a pledge to Australia and receive their citizenship certificates.

Ms Bisoka said she had immigrated from Congo to Australia in 2017 and had been living in the Tatiara region for about six years.

"I think is by the grace of God, I didn't choose to live in Australia but it is a destiny for me," she said.

She said becoming a citizen on Australia Day felt very good and agreed it was a bit overwhelming.

"Becoming an Australian citizen on Australia Day, I'll never forget this day because it's a special day for all the Australians and for me," she said.

Ms Bisoka's husband Bishweka John Balekage said this was the beginning of a new life for the couple.

Also becoming Australian citizens were Oluwafemi Itseh, Khadija, Christine Bornt and Farahnaz Afzali.

Seniors celebrate

THESE five women are cutting a cake for a senior citizens event only two of the five are named.

Myra Sapiatzer is the tall lady in the blue dress and Lil Roomes is far right, the remaining women are unknown.

The Millicent Museum would appreciate any assistance in naming this photograph in their collection.

If you can help please contact SEFHG researcher Colleen Hammat via the South East Family History Group.

Phone on 8733 1100 during opening hours or leave a message, or email info@sefhg.org.

Dead whale washes ashore in Rivoli Bay

LAST Friday a small whale carcass washed up on the beach in Rivoli Bay between Southend and Beachport.

National Parks and Wildlife Service (NPWS) Limestone Coast District Ranger Ross Anderson said the carcass is believed to be a beaked whale.

NPWS Rangers attended the whale carcass and collected a sample for further analysis by marine mammal experts.

"Dead whales and dolphins wash up on our coast reasonably often after dying at sea as they are washed ashore by prevailing westerly winds," Mr Anderson said.

Closer to the Beachport end of the bay the carcass was noticed by a group of walkers who checked for signs of life as the whale seemed to have washed ashore recently.

A member of the group estimated the marine mammal was around four metres in length. It was reported to authorities shortly after and WRC announced the next day via social media the carcass had been removed from the beach.

Trumpeter name found

JACK Pedler has been identified as the unknown band member who appeared alongside Sid Aberle, Fred Bateman and Barry Pedler in the January 10 edition of this paper.

A few different band names were suggested which included Pedler's Band, Bateman's Band, Aberle's Revellers Band and Pedler's Old Time Dance Band.

All band members played together and with other musicians at different times making it difficult to confirm the band name for this photo.

The Millicent Museum appreciate the assistance in identifying Jack and the band.

ENTERTAINERS: Pedler's Old Time Dance Band were Fred Bateman, Sid Aberle, Jack and Barry Pedler.

Manifesting Alberto's dream

CAROLINE HAMMAT
caroline.hammat@tbwtoday.com.au

WORK is due to begin on Southend's first major public art project next month by South Australian mosaic artist Michael Tye.

The public artwork is inspired by long-time Southend resident, Alberto Galli, who died in 2021.

In 2018 the community were working on the town's 10 year plan when Mr Galli suggested a tribute to the early women of Southend.

Mr Galli, a 1950's Italian migrant, believed the town would not be where it is today without those women and wanted to acknowledge the importance of them in the town's early development.

Generous benefactors of the project are Mr Galli's two daughters and this support has been used to leverage arts grant funding.

A successful Rapid Response grant from Country Arts SA employed two shortlisted artists to create maquettes and submit a detailed design.

Around 36 Southend residents, both young and old, visited the Southend hall during a community consultation period held last September.

They were able to add their comments after viewing the maquettes and reading the artist's submissions.

Ruth Vander Hoek, as a member of the Southend Progress Association Committee driving the project, facilitated the community consultation process.

"I took notes as well, there was lots of wonderful conversation that went on from people, which was really great to hear," Ms Vander Hoek said.

"These comments were fed to the panel who were appointed to select the artist to develop and carry this project through to fruition.

SCULPTURE SITE: The digital representation which shows the placement of the sculpture included in artist Mike Tye's original submission.

"It was something new and a bit exciting and following on from that I think the excitement has remained.

"Mike came down and actually looked at the site and it was obvious that he had sat in the site and absorbed it.

"He has met and talked to a number of people in the community."

The project cost is $50,000 and began with a $10,000 donation from the Galli family.

Since selecting Mr Tye as the successful artist a $15,000 Arts SA Public Art and Design grant has been secured and the rest of the funding has been donated by the community.

Grant writer for the project, Ruth Vander Hoek, said she was very appreciative of the mentoring and support received from Marilyn De Nys who is the Community Arts and Culture Leader for Country Art SA.

Late last year the steering committee asked the community to pledge donations toward the project.

"A lot of people said yes to the pledge request, including the two Lions Clubs of Millicent and Beachport," Ms Vander Hoek said.

"They were both very generous and we had generous people in the community as well."

Following Christmas Ms Vander Hoek sent out an email to those who pledged funds asking for it to be converted into donations.

"I was totally blown away, just about every pledge was turned into a donation within about five days over that busy time," she said.

"It showed clearly what amazing support there is within our local and wider community for this project.

Southend's sculpture will be in the form of a large arch spanning over four metres wide and almost two and half metres high.

According to the artist's submission the arch represents home, both an ancient home of Indigenous people and for others, a new home.

It acknowledges the women of pre-colonisation through a representation of a Boandik woman wearing a possum skin cloak and carrying a baby.

Mirrored on the other side of the arch is a mother and child which recognises the post war women who found a new home in Southend following WWII.

The floral pattern of the woman's dress represents the bright hope for their new home.

Imagery of Victorian lace at the top of the arch acknowledges early colonisation and, according to the artist, a time of great opportunities for some but great sadness for others.

The lace shows the creativity and skill of women, their patience and perseverance.

Other craft symbols show the skills passed down through generations of women, the passing on of knowledge and creating bonds which communities are built on.

As stated in his submission, Mr Tye said "This artwork provides a platform for celebrating women and raises the profile of women in general.

"Alberto's Dream has manifested into not only an artwork that holds positive messages about women but also adds a unique and elegant structure to the foreshore of Southend.

"The arch provides a frame through which to view the seascape whilst contemplating the role women play in creating community both within and across cultures."

Mr Tye's sculpture will be situated on a flat area close to the walking and bike path along Bridges Drive.

Life-changing experiences

CAROLINE HAMMAT
caroline.hammat@tbwtoday.com.au

FOR the second year Rendelsham's Noorla Yo-Long (NYL) has hosted the International Lions Youth Camp in South Australia.

This year's camp included nine young people between the ages of 15-20 from Australia, Mongolia, Italy and the United States.

The international participants arrived in Australia at the beginning of January and stayed with host families on the New South Wales east coast before making their way to Adelaide on January 18.

After meeting together as a group they spent several days on Kangaroo Island before arriving at NYL last Tuesday.

Since arriving in the Limestone Coast they have visited Naracoorte, Beachport, Southend, Millicent and experienced a range of activities.

Sixteen-year-old Munkh Nominkhangai (Ananda) is well travelled but Australia is the first English speaking country the Mongolian student has visited.

"My English has improved since I've been here, I've found myself thinking more in the language," he said.

Ananda said one of the highlights for him has been the people he has met.

"People will come up to you and strike up a conversation, it's usually uncommon in Mongolia.

"It's extremely nice and the people at camp are absolutely amazing.

"It's been a really amazing experience.

"I am glad I took this opportunity and stepped out of my comfort zone."

Ananda likes Australia so much he doesn't want to go back home and is already planning a return trip to work in one of the cities.

From Utah in the United States is 20 year old Cielo Delmar Thompson whose highlights have been the lighthouses visited with her host family on the NSW Central Coast and the Australian night sky.

"My second host family was up in Paxton and they lived in the woods, which was really cool and I got to see more wildlife there.

"I got to see the stars there which were really pretty, the stars look a bit different here than in the US, it's really cool."

Other highlights for the talented musician have been swimming on the beach on Kangaroo Island and seeing seals for the first time.

Luke Tammen has not travelled as far as his international counterparts but the 15 year old has made the journey from Baldivis in Western Australia.

Luke said although socialising was not his best attribute it was something he has been able to work on during the camp.

"I've managed to speak to other people and work with them for rope climbing," he said.

"I've learnt more communication skills and teamwork, because communication is key.

"It's been a fun experience."

Beryl Mahoney from the Lions Club of Mount Gambier is the liaison for the Lion's C2 zone and praised the district for their support of the camp.

"Even though they are not going to Mount Gambier this time the three Lions Clubs had a barbecue and raised over $1,000 that will pay for the paddleboarding.

"Lions all over our district have contributed money to help with running the camp activities to help keep the costs down for the young people."

C2 Youth camp and exchange camp director, Amber Cauchi was involved in last year's camp.

"Last year we were the guinea pigs, learning what did and didn't work," she said.

"We have put that into place this year and it has run so smoothly.

"Just getting to know that the kids do take awhile to warm up, it's not us, it's just the environment.

"We can step back and let them take the lead and form their own bonds and watch them do their leadership, trust and confidence activities.

The NYL camp has been a three year C2 project for Lions and it is hoped it will be approved for another three years.

Simon Westwood who is a camp liaison officer said

"The best thing about NYL is they are really supportive of what we are trying to do.

"They are really great people to work with and it's a fantastic facility to use."

TAKING ON THE CHALLENGE: Learning the ropes at Noorla Yo-Long's indoor climbing wall were Miles and Amber Cauchi, Blane Combarngo (NYL instructor), Luke Tammen (WA), Simon Westwood, Simone Cascio Palmieri (Italy), Beryl Mahoney, Cielo Delmar Thompson, Azjargal Sergelen (Mongolia), Batchimeg Boldbaatar (Mongolia), Munkh Nominkhangai (Mongolia), Rubee Wynne (NSW) and Noorla Yo-Long's Senior Constable First Class Geoff Yates.

Calls for wind farm decision

CHARLOTTE VARCOE
charlotte.varcoe@tbwtoday.com.au

COMMUNITY members are calling on the federal government to make a decision as to whether an offshore wind farm will be built on the shores of Port MacDonnell.

The proposal is to install turbines between eight and 20 kilometres off the coast of the popular fishing town, stretching from Nene Valley to Nelson.

The power is expected to feed into the national energy grid via Portland.

Port MacDonnell residents have spent the past year fighting against the proposal with more than 3200 submissions made during the community consultation phase.

Now, residents eagerly await Federal Minister for Climate Change and Energy Chris Bowen's response.

Initially, it was understood there would be some form of feedback prior to Christmas, however according to a federal Department of Climate Change, Energy, the Environment and Water spokesperson Mr Bowen was still considering feedback and stakeholder submissions before determining a final proposed area in the Southern Ocean region.

"It's important that we establish this job-creating industry while also balancing the needs of the community and take the time to do that properly," the spokesperson said.

Southern Ocean Care committee chairperson Chris Carrison said the committee was "extremely disappointed" they had not heard back from the Minister.

"We were under the belief there would be a decision made between eight to 10 weeks after the consultation closing," Mr Carrison said.

"We were wrong in our beliefs that a decision would be made at that time and the committee is anxious and disappointed."

He said although they were still eagerly awaiting a result, he was happy with the number of submissions recorded.

NO RESPONSE: The Port MacDonnell community is eagerly awaiting a response to whether there would be an offshore wind farm.

Picture: FILE

District Council of Grant Mayor Kylie Boston - who also travelled to Canberra to meet with Minister Bowen and express the communities concerns last year- said she was happy to have had the opportunity to meet with him, yet was also awaiting a result.

"The number of submissions is fabulous; it shows there is a good community behind it," Ms Boston said.

"It was indicated when they were down doing the consultation that they had a lot more submissions than what they had in other areas."

State Minister for Primary Industries Clare Scriven said in addition to the state government's submission she wrote to Mr Bowen in November to take the opportunity to "expand on the role of South Australia's iconic world-renowned" fisheries and rock lobster industry.

"The response from Minister Bowen indicates that he received over 3200 submissions about offshore renewable wind projects, which raised potential impacts on the fishing industry, environmental factors, potential impacts on marine life as well as the continued need for power" Ms Scriven said.

"He explained that he is carefully considering all information that has been provided."

"I am pleased that Minister Bowen is thoroughly examining the concerns raised, as such an important decision needs to be fully considered."

Member for Barker Tony Pasin also called for a decision to be made, stating he hoped Mr Bowen was "taking the concerns of the community very seriously".

"The lack of sufficient information and meaningful consultation has caused considerable distress for not only the community of Port MacDonnell but the wider Limestone Coast," Mr Pasin said.

"I will be speaking at the major rally planned for the first sitting day of Parliament in Canberra."

"People from across the country will gather on the lawns of Parliament House to protest against Labor's reckless renewable policy."

He said across the country Labor's plans to roll out offshore wind and other renewable projects had been delayed due to its "flawed consultation process" as well as its "lack of sufficient local community engagement".

"A pre-requisite for any major piece of infrastructure or development is meaningful social licence and I am certainly not seeing this from the local community," Mr Pasin said.

Soak it up - there's beers and barbecues

CAROLINE HAMMAT

THE South East was treated to several impressive displays of large inflatable kites last week including during the Wattle Range Council's (WRC) Giant Kite Festival held in Southend last Wednesday.

The free festival was the final event of the WRC Full Throttle in Wattle school holiday program and included a well attended kite making workshop for children.

Although the wind was down a little for the Southend event hundreds of spectators arrived to enjoy the colourful display on the beachfront.

Kites were marine themed and included brightly coloured octopus, giant sharks, a whale and even Spongebob Squarepants.

A diver proved popular and looked to be leading Donald Duck and Mickey Mouse on an 'underwater' adventure.

Member of the Adelaide Kite Flyers Association (AKFA), Neil Duke, has been flying kites for the best part of 40 years.

"We all start as kids with your little diamond kites, or the little delta kites, and then you just go on from there," he said.

"I was one of those that persisted."

Mr Duke said there were around 20 or more members of the club at Southend's festival with members coming from across South Australia and even interstate to join the fun.

In a festival situation, where space is limited, the kites are flown using a single pilot line with other kites attached to it.

At the very top of the line is the pilot kite used to guide the string of kites below.

"If they get tangled the first priority for us is to get the pilot untangled so that you can separate the lines, then you can sort the kites from there."

Mr Duke and his family also have inflatable ground displays which allow spectators to get up close and touch the displays with an inflatable car available to sit in.

Members of the AKFA were holidaying in Kingston which ensured the community were treated to several displays near the foreshore as members took to the sky during the week including Australia Day.

TAKING FLIGHT: Angus Pettingill with Winston who shows the kite he made during the holiday program workshop.

KITES TAKE FLIGHT: The inflatable kites attracted large number of visitors to the town during the display.

FAMILY FUN: Ballarat kite flyer Neil Duke and Tracy Bridges, with Charlene Duke in one of the family's inflatable ground displays and their string of kites above them.

MR KITE ENTHUSIAST: Member of the Adelaide Kite Flyers Association, Stephen Arthur, controlling his string of inflatable kites.

Regional medicine is calling

CHARLOTTE VARCOE

charlotte.varcoe@tbwtoday.com.au

THE head of the Mount Gambier and Districts Hospital emergency department is calling on doctors to consider moving to regional parts of the state.

Doctor Augustus Kigotho has spent the better part of the last decade working in regional areas across the country before settling in the Blue Lake City.

Dr Kigotho first arrived in Mount Gambier/Berrin in December 2020 as a senior staff specialist from Adelaide where he was the director of emergency medicine.

"I felt my needs in terms of job challenges, the satisfaction and having worked in rural and regional Australia for the past 10 years I felt this area gave me what I really aspired for as I practiced my emergency medicine," Dr Kigotho said.

"Once I was offered that position I was also helped get permanent residence which was icing on the cake and I must commend them and express my gratitude because they posted my permanent residency in the quickest time possible."

Originally from Kenya, Dr Kigotho said he migrated to Australia in 2003 and has since worked in various places.

"I did my training largely in Canberra and finished it in Ipswich and I have been in the regions since then," he said.

"One gold factor for Mount Gambier in attracting and retaining senior staff is that ability to sponsor permanent residence.

"I have managed to bring a specialist all the way from South Africa and packages can be offered in terms of attracting and retaining senior staff."

Dr Kigotho said the lifestyle of Mount Gambier/Berrin was also a big advantage.

"One thing is the traffic here, you can reach the hospital from any part of Mount Gambier within 10 to 20 minutes which is very attractive," he said.

"I come from a family of doctors, my grandfather was a clinician of the freedom fighters and he later died during the war for independence but that really shook me, learning that history it made me feel like I had to complete what he started."

Dr Kigotho said studying medicine in the city was different to the region with different traits and skills, tastes and interests.

"In terms of rural or regional Australia I find that it offers more diverse challenges for me as a doctor which are on the front line all the time," he said.

"In Africa I was in the surgical field so I have very advanced surgical skills, I have also done a lot of training in critical care so in the region I am able to apply those skills firsthand.

"If I were in metropolitan areas we have trauma cycles but in regional areas you are on the frontline."

He said he found it very satisfying and the cases seen in regional Australia allowed students to upskill and progress.

"It is more applicable in the rural areas than in metropolitan," Dr Kigotho said.

BIG THINGS FOR DEPARTMENT: Mount Gambier and Districts Hospital emergency department unit head officer Doctor Augustus Kigotho is encouraging young doctors to come to the regions.

"It is a mix of younger doctors coming to the regions but we are trying our best to attract the young doctors here by offering rotations for medical students so they experience rural practice of medicine.

"We also have interns who come here and our goal is to encourage them, coach them, mentor them and show them the other part of medicine."

According to Dr Kigotho, there were quite a number of students coming to the region but not enough.

"That is the challenge of recruitment and retention of medical personnel which is very challenging," he said.

"I use what is called the Three R approach, it is important to respect your colleagues, recognise them for their work and reward them for the work they are doing and ensure there is room for continuous professional development.

"That means easily providing them opportunities, taking leave and going for professional development and the other one is identifying their individual skills and letting them be free in application, if they are interested in research, put them in the research portfolio, if they are interested in ultrasound, put them in the ultrasound portfolio."

Dr Kigotho said consultants were also able to "follow their passion" while still practicing emergency medicine.

"That does provide some degree of satisfaction and connection with the young doctors they lead the young doctors they supervise," he said.

"That way they feel recognised and they are very enthusiastic in whatever portfolio they have been given with is motivational in its own right."

He said above all, the most important thing was ensuring there was a "psychologically safe" environment in which they functioned.

"Specialists have experience in emergency medicine and play a huge part in the overall organisation or running," Dr Kigotho said.

"The other thing is in terms of work-life balance, we do try to have as much of a balanced roster as possible but sometimes we are challenged, especially when people have left but we try our best to follow the quality guidelines in our rostering which helps to keep people satisfied with what is being done."

Looking forward, Dr Kigotho said there were a few things which came to mind including the community living longer resulting in more patients than before.

"They are becoming sicker and there are more acute cases presenting to the hospital," he said.

"To compound this problem we do not have enough general practitioners and there are fewer and fewer general practitioners in the community and getting appointments is more and more difficult.

"There are also very few specialists in town so getting to a specialist in town is impossible in an area like Mount Gambier."

He said the community would need to attract more general practitioners to look after patients with chronic diseases also rising.

"We have more and more people suffering from chronic diseases like diabetes, hypertension, heart problems and they are surviving longer so outside the hospital there needs to be a lot done," Dr Kigotho said.

"There has been a lot of positive political input to Mount Gambier with the emergency department extension unit which will make the model of care better.

"We are also including recliner chairs instead of the beds because you can have three or four recliner chairs in the same space where you have one bed which will increase the patient flow."

He said other areas progressing was having the site moved from a general service care provider department to an academic emergency department.

Reflections

As a new year begins and we celebrate Australia Day, there is much to reflect on as pressure increases on our Nation to change those values and traditions that have made Australia a great place to live in.

The daily news segment clearly reflects a Nation falling apart at the seams.

When we consider our status politically, socially, economically, morally and spiritually, much can be learnt from history itself.

A wise King Solomon once said "there is nothing new under the sun".

In other words, history repeats itself over and over again and it seems mankind struggles to learn from it. Taking the history of the Jewish Nation as an example, they would begin well by obeying Gods laws and values and enjoying the resulting blessings of peace, prosperity, safety and Gods favour.

But when they got proud and assumed they had gotten these good times by their own wisdom and strength, many disasters came upon them and their land which included foreign invaders robbing them of all they had.

Here in Australia, we also began well as a Christian Nation, basing our laws and values on the Bible and ten Commandments.

Many of the political leaders of that time openly recognized the importance of doing just that.

Over time these laws and moral standards of marriage, family, justice, discipline and social cohesion have been either weakened or totally removed by those who are intent on removing Christian beliefs from a so-called "enlightened society".

This modern society has come to accept the sacrifice of thousands of innocent unborn babies for the sake of convenience and sees nothing wrong with it.

I consider the most drastic change has been when the Nation voted to change the status of marriage to accept same sex unions, thereby saying to God, "your ways are no longer our ways.

The result of that disastrous decision is being seen today and maybe worse to come unless the Church and Nation as a whole return to where we started. As our Constitution states "we the people humbly rely upon the blessings of Almighty God."

Kate Dutton is here to stay with citizenship

tyler.redway@tbwtoday.com.au

THE District Council of Robe recently welcomed Kate Dutton as a new and official Australian Citizen during its Australia Day celebrations.

Ms Dutton first travelled to Australia 28 years ago from England after taking a redundancy package from her workplace due to a merger.

Ms Dutton's desire to travel was encouraged by her Australian housemates, who had also travelled extensively and shared their experiences with her.

Ms Dutton said the money from the package was enough for her to travel Australia for three months.

After two months of travelling, Ms Dutton met her current husband and entered a de facto relationship soon after.

From there, she continued to extend her holiday visa until she decided to move to Australia permanently.

Ms Dutton said her first impressions of Australia were a big difference in comparison to her home country.

"When I first arrived, I couldn't get over the happy and laid back atmosphere which all Australians seem to enjoy, it was a big difference from growing up in England," Ms Dutton said.

Ms Dutton said while it was her de facto relationship with her husband which prompted her to extend her holiday visa, the pandemic was also a factor in her decision to obtain full citizenship.

"I feel very lucky and proud, it has taken me a very long time because I first came here (Australia) 28 years ago," she said.

"I think Covid prompted me to get full citizenship as well as the desire to be able to vote."

Ms Dutton encouraged others who wished to become Australian citizens like her to take the opportunity to do so.

She said her experience in Australia also gave her the opportunity to start a family and continue exploring.

"I think the opportunities are open to everyone, if you want to get out there and grasp it, then it's readily available," Ms Dutton said.

"I love Australia, I have four wonderful children now and it has truly been a hell of an experience."

WARM WELCOME: English traveller Kate Dutton was welcomed with open arms on Australia Day as Robe's newest Australian Citizen.

Lightning storm sparks fires

CHARLOTTE VARCOE
charlotte.varcoe@tbwtoday.com.au

MORE than 10 fires have spread throughout the region over the week following a lightning storm.

The storm reported more than 3000 strikes across the South East, triggering a number of grass fires.

More recently, a fire was sparked at Willalooka and at Worrolong with the causes yet to be determined.

Country Fire Service (CFS) regional duty commander Jake Rich said generally when there was a lightning storm after not much rain commanders tended to expect fires.

“Once that lightning came through we were not overly surprised to see fires come up since then,” Mr Rich said.

“Generally the lightning hits grassland and they tend to start burning straight away and when they tend to strike overnight they will sit and smoulder for a few days depending on how warm it is and how much rain we get.

“It is not uncommon that after the lightning event, if it is mild conditions, you might not see anything but you can see fires pick up in about five days time.”

He said CFS staff continued to survey areas with aircraft for potential blazes.

“We have a look in areas and monitor any potential jobs that may come into us,” he said.

“From there, given the mild conditions they can just sit there and produce smoke so it is only when you get those temperatures and the humidity decreases that is when they pick up and start burning with a bit more intensity and pick up that smoke.”

Mr Rich said the fires from last week equalled less than 30 hectares in total and said the weather had been very odd over the past few weeks.

BE ALERT: CFS Crews have battled more than 10 fires over the week following a lightning storm.

“The weather has been very off, it is not standard for January but we are seeing things starting to warm up,” he said.

“We are always expecting fires during the fire season and when we get fires it is nothing new to us.”

Mr Rich said with lightning fires, it could “sit there for a considerable period of time”.

“We really encourage landowners to continue to check their properties to see if there are any trees smouldering after lightning storms,” he said.

Officially Australian citizens

CHARLOTTE VARCOE
charlotte.varcoe@tbwtoday.com.au

THREE new Australian citizens were sworn in on Friday during the District Council of Grant celebrations.

Freda Wayth was sworn in alongside Peter and Mereike Ellison in front of a full house at Casadio Park.

Ms Wayth came from New Zealand when she was 21 years old.

“I was a chef back then and I wanted to travel the world but I got stuck here,” Ms Wayth said.

“My life is here now, my family and friends are here and it is home.”

She said becoming an official Australian citizen was a happy moment for her while she continued to grow her own business and be a part of the community.

Mr Ellison came from the United Kingdom and has remained in Australia for 13 years.

Originally moving for work in construction and horticulture, Mr Ellison said it was very exciting to become a citizen alongside his wife.

The two said it meant a lot for them to become citizens alongside their children.

“The kids are all Australian citizens already so it is nice to be with them,” they said.

FROM GERMANY: Mereike Ellison was happy to be an Australian citizen alongside her husband.

FROM NEW ZEALAND: Freda Wayth was excited to become an Australian citizen.

FROM THE UNITED KINGDOM: Peter Ellison became an Australian citizen alongside his wife.

Welcome to Naracoorte

A long journey has ended in Naracoorte, but a new is set to begin for one of the town's newest citizens.

Don Oshani Wasundara Ekanayake was one of four residents who became Australian citizens on Friday after years of waiting.

“It was not so short of a journey, but it's worth it,” she said.

“It's well worth it.

“I came to Australia five years ago, and have been waiting for this moment.”

Originally from Sri Lanka, she came to Australia on her own five years ago to study, and quickly fell in love with the country.

“I started studying psychology, and on my way to it, I found it's [Australia] a lovely place to say and call my home.”

She said she had fallen in love with the country and had been welcomed by the community.

“It is so far away from home and I don't have any family members in this country, but I've never felt alone because it feels like a second home,” she said.

“It was not just about the test, there are so many things, we have to forfeit so many things and it was worth it.”

She hopes to now travel around Australia.

Also becoming citizens were Mohammad Mehdi Ali, Mohammad Hadi Ali and Mohammad Baqir Fedayee, from Afghanistan.

CITIZENSHIP: Mohammad Mehdi Ali.

EXCITED: Don Oshani Wasundara Ekanayake was thrilled to become an Australian citizen on Australia Day.

Workshops leading to China

COONAWARRA wine makers, grape growers and exporters are taking steps to get back into the Chinese market.

Many attended a series of workshops in preparation of the outcomes of the review of wine tariffs imposed on the South Australian industry by China.

As part of the state government's re-engagement strategy, close to 200 businesses from South Australia's wine sector will gain deep insights into the China market at workshops held in the Barossa, Adelaide Hills, Coonawarra and Riverland this week.

Delivered by a team of experts, the workshops provided the latest updates on the lucrative China market across topics including economics, wine market conditions, market access and entry, legal considerations and cultural awareness.

The workshops were facilitated by the Department for Trade and Investment in partnership with the South Australian Wine Industry Association (SAWIA) and the Department of Primary Industries and Regions, South Australia (PIRSA).

In October 2020, at its peak and one month prior to the start of tariffs, China was South Australia's largest wine export market, with exports valued at $946.5 million, accounting for 47.2 per cent of South Australia's wine exports globally.

For the year ending November 2023, wine export to China was valued at just $2.7 million with volume at 752.5 thousand litres.

Primary Industries and Regional Development Minister Clare Scriven said the government was hopeful that producers will be able to re-enter the Chinese market.

"South Australians are rightly proud of our world-class wineries and grape producers, and we are hopeful of a strategic re-entry into the China market," she said.

"I am pleased that the state government has worked with SAWIA to develop a series of workshops for the wine industry right across the state.

EXPORT WORKSHOPS: Coonawarra wine makers, grape growers and exporters are taking steps to get back into the Chinese market.

"These China Market Insight Workshops will cover topics including market conditions, change in consumers' preferences since the Covid pandemic, China wine industry preferences and distribution channels, and cultural awareness and many others."

Chief executive of the South Australian

Wine Industry Association Inca Lee said it was important for growers and producers to know and understand the Chinese market

"South Australian wine has made a deep impression on the Chinese consumer who value quality products, and we know this sentiment has not been diminished by the pause in our trading relationship," she said.

"Whilst we await the process currently underway by China to review tariffs imposed on Australian wine, it is important for our industry to maintain its knowledge of the China wine market.

"These workshops will provide a valuable opportunity to share the latest information to strengthen the position of South Australian growers, winemakers and wine exporters now and into the future."

Advocacy for the removal of restrictions on wine continues, with a review of wine tariffs by China currently underway.

The recent visit to China by Premier Peter Malinauskas attracted strong interest from Chinese importers and industry to re-engage directly with South Australian wine exporters once there is a resolution to the restrictions in place, and Prime Minister Anthony Albanese, Foreign Affairs Minister Penny Wong and Federal Trade and Tourism Minister Don Farrell have also been advocating for Australian producers on trips to Beijing.

Significant progress has been made at both state and federal levels to stabilise the relationship with China, who have already removed trade impediments on a range of Australian products since May last year, including coal, cotton, timber, barley, and oaten hay.

The workshops follow a tailored industry briefing delivered by the Department for Trade and Investment and Showcase SA in October last year, where the state's wine sector heard first-hand from the sector representatives who participated in the Premier's China visit.

Clean up on Eight Mile push

charlotte.varcoe@tbwtoday.com.au

THREE weeks after a large number of dead marine life washed ashore, residents are up in arms about the lack of clean up.

Earlier this month, a number of deceased wobbegong and Port Jackson sharks washed ashore near Eight Mile Creek with Primary Industries South Australia (PIRSA) claiming it was due to the freshwater rainfall lowering oxygen levels.

Residents living along the shoreline are now calling on the state government and the District Council of Grant to get into gear and clean up the rotting carcasses.

Living less than 500m from the shore near Deep Creek, resident Dale Button said the smell and potential occupational health and safety issues regarding the carcasses has prevented him from visiting the beach.

Mr Button said he believed the carcasses should have been taken away while PIRSA was collecting samples after the incident first occurred, stating his own son has stopped visiting the beach joining onto his property due to the smell.

"The handing it from one government department to another and back and forth is just out of control," Mr Button said.

"Someone has to take control and PIRSA is the one in my opinion.

"The stink is horrible, I am not going down to the beach because I do not know if I am going to get diseases from the fish and the smell is putrid."

Mr Button said he typically sat atop of a small hill each evening looking out over the ocean, with a beer in hand yet had not been there since the marine life washed ashore.

"I cannot go and sit on the beach and have a beer because of the stink down there," he said.

"There are 20-odd dead fish close to my

CALL FOR CLEAN UP: Dale Button - who lives along the Deep Creek shoreline - is calling for the State Government to clean up close to 20 rotting shark carcasses along the beach. Picture: CHARLOTTE VARCOE home and they are still there."

He said his son typically visited him with his grandchildren yet has since taken them to a different beach due to concerns around the rotting carcasses.

"You cannot have kids on a beach near that and I think the people responsible is PIRSA," Mr Button said.

"If this happened on the west-side of the Murray River it would have been cleaned up.

"Just because we live down here, they do not class us as part of South Australia and it is about time they lifted their game in Adelaide."

Member for Mount Gambier Troy Bell said he thought it was "extremely disappointing" the marine life had not been cleaned up.

He said he had received complaints from a number of local residents and campers regarding the smell and the potential for other diseases.

"If this occurred in a metropolitan area it would have been cleaned up on the same day or dealt with in some other way," Mr Bell said.

"There seems to be some confusion around whose responsibility it is and this way people get really sick and tired of departments passing the blame onto somebody else."

He said ultimately it did not matter who was responsible as long as the carcasses were removed.

"We may have future instances of these so there needs to be a plan put in place which can lead to the rectification of the beach line," Mr Bell said.

"There are people and dogs who enjoy that part of the coastline so to just let it sit there and rot away with the smell is pretty disappointing."

Mr Bell said he would also classify the rotting carcasses as an occupational health and safety issue for beach-goers and questioned the environmental impact on those who live close to the area.

"If this had occurred in a built-up area it would have been dealt with straight away," he said.

"Just because you live in a regional area or where there is less population that does not mean you do not deserve the same service as somebody in Adelaide, it just needs to be dealt with.

"There are a lot of people who visit our area and that is not the impression we want them to take away."

District Council of Grant chief executive Darryl Whicker said council was aware of the ongoing investigation as to the cause from PIRSA.

"We have not received any further communication and it is my understanding that it is going to take a coordinated state agency effort to undertake the clean up," Mr Whicker said.

"Council looks forward to being part of that conversation."

A state government spokesperson said when these types of events occur, PIRSA would work together with the "relevant council" to "investigate and where possible, determine the cause".

"PIRSA's primary role is to rule out exotic disease," the spokesperson said.

"Normally when a fish kill occurs, there is no need for the dead fish to be removed or cleaned up and the carcasses should be left to provide food for other organisms or to decompose as part of the ecosystem process. In most cases the carcasses will be gone within a few days.

"Local councils have the necessary equipment to clean up beaches and waterways following natural fish kills, should there be a need to do so."

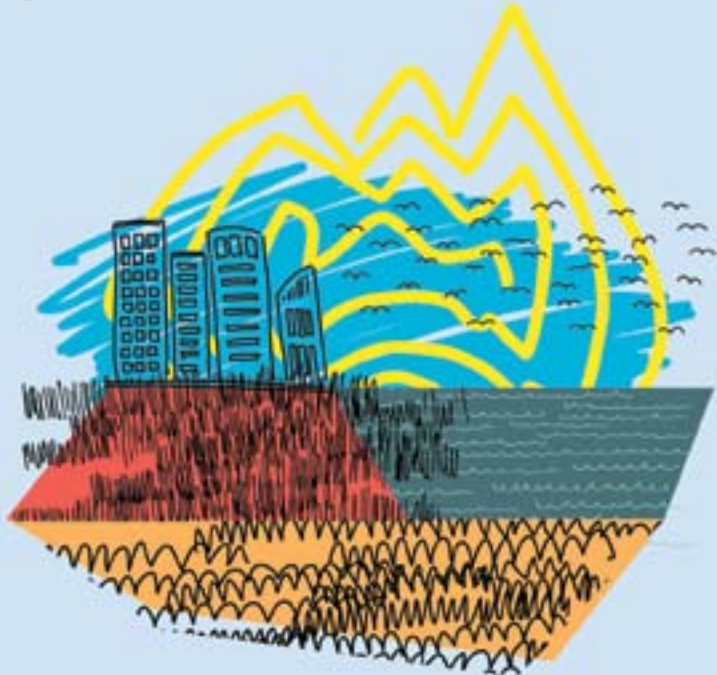

They said if a member of the public had concerns about the amenity of the beach following a natural event, they should contact their local council.

If they see a suspected fish kill, they are able to report it to Fishwatch on 1800 065 522.

Tupperware for a cause

MELANIE RILEY
melanie.riley@tbwtoday.com.au

A LOVE for a classic food storage brand and wanting to support people in need will see a Mount Gambier/ Berrin resident host a sale of all things Tupperware.

"I just love Tupperware!" was Raelene Smith's response to friend Margaret Pink when asked about her extensive collection of Tupperware pieces.

Raelene Smith began selling Tupperware in the 1970's and grew a love for it, but it was only recently that her collection began to grow.

Looking out for Tupperware any time she has been on holidays since May 2023, Ms Smith now has a collection of more than an estimated 2000 pieces.

She is now looking to decrease her collection for a worthy cause.

After a conversation with good friend Ms Pink, it was suggested that Raelene hold a fundraiser to decrease her collection.

Ms Pink suggested supporting the Royal Flying Doctors Service and Ms Smith agreed it was a great idea and got in touch with the Mount Gambier RFDS Support Group.

Ms Smith said after living in Alice Springs and Darwin years ago, she saw just how valuable the work of the Royal Flying Doctors Service is.

"They do amazing work," she said.

"Either one of us could need it tomorrow, you just never know when you might need it."

There will be some new items and plenty of vintage pieces available at the sale, with the oldest piece dating back to the 1970's.

"You can't get a lot of it now, because it's not available anymore," Ms Smith said.

Ms Smith extended her thanks to her partner Harold for letting her use half of his shed space for her Tupperware, and for building shelving for storage.

Part proceeds in support of Mount Gambier Support Group of the Royal Flying Doctors Service will be donated from sales made over the weekend.

Prices will start from $2, and donation tins will be out at the sale for those wanting to donate funds directly.

Check out the sale on Saturday and Sunday, February 3 - 4 at 18 King Grove, Mount Gambier, from 10-2pm.

KIDS & HEARING!

Ears, Ears, Ears - helps us hear, communicate, locate space and awareness. Ear health for a child impacts many aspects of their life. Learning difficulties at school can often be a consequence of poor hearing ability as they cannot hear, focus, and listen to learn.

Working with children (5 years and above) we test their hearing and refer them in the most appropriate direction. Often there is testing, referrals and rehabilitation we can assist with instantly.

Micro suction wax removal has proven to be a very safe, gentle, and effective method to deliver pure ear health. We help our clients with maintenance and advice from wax build up to itchy dry ear relief.

We work with our patients to help them understand the anatomy and functionality of the ear, so they leave the clinic feeling empowered and confident with the treatment plan.

Supporting ag careers

AUSTRALIA'S agriculture workforce reached new heights in 2023, experiencing an upward trend in employment across the nation.

The focus has now turned to 2024, with more improvements expected to roll out across the next 12 months. The ag sector is a vital source of employment in rural, regional and remote areas of Australia employing around 262,000 people.

Minister for Agriculture, Fisheries and Forestry Murray Watt said since the Jobs and Skills Summit in 2022, the Federal Government had been working closely with the agriculture industry to find solutions that addressed workforce issues that had been ongoing for years.

"The government has successfully worked with industry to identify opportunities to support ag careers through the Agriculture Workforce Working Group (AWWG), fee-free TAFE places, improving the Pacific Australia Labour Mobility (PALM) scheme, and more," Minister Watt said.

"The AWWG achieved agreement on principles that underpin labour hire licensing and contributed to key government processes including the Employment White Paper and Migration Review.

"It has also been pivotal in securing agreement to undertake a Food and Supply Chain Capacity Study that will help inform Australia's training, higher education, and migration systems to best meet industry needs.

"Training Australians is key to building the agricultural workforce, which is why we have provided funding for more than 13,000 fee-free TAFE places for agriculture courses with more than 11,950 enrolments in 2023.

"Our Cultivating the Next Generation project, done in partnership with AgriFutures, has investigated ways to encourage young people to consider how agriculture can provide a rewarding career beyond the classroom.

"Whether it's at the cutting edge of technology or driving sustainability, working on the land, in a lab or from an office, agriculture has something for everyone."

The Australian Government has also worked to further to expand and improve the PALM scheme. The PALM scheme is a temporary labour migration program between Australia and the Pacific and Timor-Leste.

"We are responsibly growing the scheme, with better support for our Pacific neighbours and employers to participate in the scheme and improved conditions for workers. "In 2023, we reached record numbers of PALM workers demonstrating the importance of this program to Australia's ag industry. "There are more than 38,145 PALM workers in Australia, with the majority working in agriculture (25,889 workers) and the meat processing (10,041) sectors.

"Expanding and improving the PALM scheme continues to help employers across Australia engage the right workers where and when they need them.

"A sign of the of the continued success of the program is that the fact that more and more employers continue to sign up to participate.

"I am excited about the future of agriculture and as we go into 2024, I look forward to building on last year's momentum and seeing what new ideas the newly established Agricultural Workforce Forum can uncover."

YOUR WEEKLY TV GUIDE

BOX?

THE DOG HOUSE AUSTRALIA 10, Thursday, 7.30pm

Is there a more heart-warming, feel-good show on TV? Only cat lovers might disagree with that appraisal but it's tough to not be charmed by this pooch-matchmaking reality series, made in conjunction with the Animal Welfare League NSW. There's nothing sweeter than seeing someone meet their new best friend or witnessing an abandoned dog learning to love again. Season four kicks off with more visitors looking to add a four-legged family member to their households, including couple Jasmine and Stewart, who meet a shy kelpie named Berry but find him a little tough to win over.

DARBY AND JOAN ABC TV, Saturday, 7.30pm

As laconic and laidback as a mystery series could be, Darby and Joan has proven a tremendous showcase for stars Bryan Brown (pictured) and Greta Scacchi, who play retired detective Jack Darby and English nurse Joan Kirkhope. The pair join forces to solve a range of baffling small town mysteries in rural Queensland. The premise is hardly groundbreaking, but the chemistry of longtime real-life friends Brown and Scacchi – as well as the stunning landscapes – that really makes this worth a watch. Tonight, even New Year's Eve turns into a crime to solve for Jack and Joan when a huge blaze breaks out in the pub.

AMBULANCE AUSTRALIA 10, Wednesday, 7.30pm

Taking us right into the heart of the Ambulance service as the extraordinary call-takers, dispatchers and paramedics respond to urgent, emergency situations, this docuseries is gripping viewing. These life-saving heroes use all their training and experience to make split-second decisions that can literally mean the difference between life and death and keep their calm as they encounter situations that are often emotionally fraught or physically dangerous. Tonight's episode sees paramedics coming to the aid of a seven-year-old boy who is gasping for air, responding to a multi-vehicle accident where rescue efforts are hampered by downed power lines and taking charge of a childbirth emergency.

PICK OF THE WEEK

GARDENING AUSTRALIA ABC TV, Friday, 7.35pm

Can you believe Gardening Australia will be celebrating its 35th season this year? A staple of the ABC's Friday night lineup, the infectious energy and glorious beard of host Costa Georgiadis (pictured) has ensured the past few seasons have been among the very best of the show, with a successful spin-off for kids (Gardening Australia Junior) launched last year. Season 35 kicks off with Costa heading north to tour the grounds of Queensland's incredibly popular Woodford Folk Festival, which have become a biodiverse wonderland. Elsewhere, Tammy Huynh lets us in on which plants landscape designers love the most and Clarence Slocklee checks out the brand new National Herbarium of NSW.

HYBRID SUV SNEAKS IN

BY DEREK OGDEN,
MARQUE MOTORING

HONDA has electrified its most popular vehicle.

And who would know? One of the world's biggest makers of internal combustion engines has been very quiet about the coming of the CR-V e:HEV RS.

The Honda CR-V has long been an SUV staple for families around the world.

Some 13.5 million units have been sold globally since the nameplate launched back in 1997.

Two decades on, in its sixth generation, it is still the brand's top-selling model in Australia.

A late-comer to the petrol/electric generation in Australia, the five-seater e:HEV RS features a 2-litre direct injection engine mated with a two-motor hybrid system putting out a combined 152 kW of power and 335 Nm of torque via an electronic Continuously Variable Transmission to the front wheels.

Honda says e:HEV RS, elevates the CR-V with a dynamic edge.

Its sporty appeal is amplified by body-coloured lower bumper and wheel arch trims, while piano black accents on mirror covers, rear spoiler, B and C-pillar trims further enhance its sophistication.

Inside, red stitching accents across the cabin, coupled with a distinctive black headliner, creates an ambiance of exclusivity and style.

Surprisingly, with running-cost economy to the fore - a key step in Honda's electrification strategy to realise carbon neutrality for all Honda products and corporate activities by 2050 - the hybrid system is limited to the flagship (most expensive) model.

Some compensation comes with the RS coming well equipped compared to the rest of the range.

Talking of cost, Honda Australia has adopted an agency sales model with fixed pricing that eliminates purchase-price haggling and shopping around, something Honda says it has received positive customer feedback on.

The 2024 Honda CR-V range straddles $44,500 to $59,900 drive-away.

The latter - the flagship Honda CR-V e:HEV RS hybrid - was on test.

The SUV comes under Honda's five-year unlimited kilometre warranty, with 24/7 roadside assist.

Service intervals are 12 months or 10,000 kilometres and capped.

STYLING

A more powerful, sporty silhouette is achieved by pulling the front pillars back, increasing both the nose length and the wheelbase adding to the overall length.

The 'nose job', however, seems a bit over the top but the maker says it provides functional contributions including visibility and aerodynamic performance.

VTi LX and e:HEV RS get Honda hallmark Berlina Black 19-inch five-circle spoke alloys, over the standard 17 or 18s, for added sporty flair.

INTERIOR

Honda says the interior of the all-new CR-V has more cabin and cargo space with seating to suit 'a broader range of customer lifestyles.'

Lateral support is the loss here, together with flatter and firmer seating.

On the upside, all CR-V models now come with rear seat sliders, allowing 190 mm of movement forwards and backwards.

This makes children easier to manoeuvre into position, or fit longer items in the cargo area.

Rear seat reclining offers 16 positions with an additional reclining angle of 10.5 degrees, helping prevent rear passengers from getting fatigued on long drives.

Access to the 589 litres of boot space comes via a power tailgate operated from an external switch. Fold the 60 / 40 seat backs and 1636 litres becomes available.

INFOTAINMENT

Focus is on a digital instrument display, 9-inch touchscreen audio system with wireless Apple CarPlay and wired Android Auto, plus front and rear illuminated USB charging ports for the driver and passengers.

ENGINE AND TRANSMISSION

The all-new CR-V features a new more powerful two-motor hybrid system, mated with Honda's 2.0-litre direct injection Atkinson cycle 4-cylinder engine.

The motors are now mounted side-by-side rather than in-line with the engine crankshaft as in previous generations.

The all-new E-CVT motor spins at 14,500 rpm and produces 135 kW peak power with 335Nm of torque.

The generator motor, which spins at 17,000 rpm, puts out 120 kW, and is dedicated to charging the battery pack.

The system's combined output is 152 kW.

SAFETY

The all-new CR-V maintains its position as a leader in active and passive safety technology, including improved Honda Sensing driver-assistance technology with a new front camera and radar system.

An updated Honda Advanced Compatibility Engineering body structure is designed to distribute crash energy more evenly throughout the front, side, and rear of the vehicle.

The CR-V gets 11 airbags all up, including a centre airbag to prevent front seat occupants' heads from crashing.

DRIVING

There is no argument with the treatment of the driver when it comes to getting behind the wheel of the CR-V e:HEV RS.

The front of the cabin has been designed with the driver front and centre, by improving the range of vision and adjusting how objects are viewed in the driver's frame.

Bonnet character lines run along the top of the inner sides of the front tyres, to enable the driver easily discover the tyre positions.

The A-pillar inner surfaces have been designed to run parallel to the direction of travel so the driver's line of sight is drawn to this.

To further improve forward vision when turning, side mirrors have been moved to create a wider gap between the mirror and the front side corner garnish.

Under way, the car is no 'bitumen burner' but is programmed to get the best out of the petrol / electric hybrid combination.

There is little obvious switch in systems, which includes the CVT.

Cabin noise is far from intrusive and a 12-speaker Bose sound system makes the best of cabin architecture.

Honda claims the hybrid CR-V returns 5.5 litres per 100 kilometres of fuel in the combined urban / highway, which turned out to be spot on for the test car in real time.

A bonus is the requirement of 91RON petrol.

The e:HEV is equipped with a toggle Drive Mode selector, which switches between Economy, through Normal to Sport, the last chipping in with Active Sound Control to match the sporty characteristics.

SUMMARY

Honda has produced a winner with the CR-V e:HEV RS, taking out the Car of the year award of a prominent Australian print and online media member for 2023, so it has the hand of experts at its back.

Thai-Style Panang Grilled Lamb Cutlets

“There’s something about lamb that just makes an occasion that extra bit special. Here, I’m taking lamb cutlets and pairing them with a punchy (and ridiculously easy) Thai panang curry sauce and tart pineapple and herb salad. Ideal for entertaining, it’s quick, simple and standout delicious: all the makings of a perfect get-together with loved ones.”

Prep time: 10 mins
Cook time: 20 mins
Serves: 4 - 6

Ingredients

- 12 Australian lamb cutlets or loin chops
- 2 tbsp fish sauce
- 1 tbsp vegetable oil, plus extra for grilling
- 400ml (14 fl oz) coconut milk
- 1½ tbsp finely shaved palm sugar
- 2 makrut lime leaves, destemmed
- 190g (6.5 oz) Thai red curry paste
- 1 tsp shrimp paste (optional)
- ½ tsp ground cumin
- 1 tsp ground coriander

Cheat’s panang paste:

- 2 tbsp roasted peanuts

Herb & pineapple salad:

- ½ small pineapple, skin and core removed, cut into small chunks
- 1 long red chilli, finely sliced
- 1 cup fresh Asian herbs (e.g. coriander/ cilantro, spring onion/scallions, Thai basil and/or mint)

Method:

1. To make the panang paste, use a mortar and pestle to pound the roasted peanuts until finely crushed. Then add the makrut leaves and pound again until finely crushed. Stir through the curry paste, shrimp paste (if using), plus the ground cumin and ground coriander.
2. To marinate the lamb, place the cutlets in a large bowl. Take 1 tablespoon of the panang paste and add it to the lamb cutlets along with ½ tablespoon of fish sauce. Mix until well combined and each lamb cutlet is coated in the paste. Set aside until you’re ready to grill (a few minutes is fine or you could also marinate overnight).
3. To make the curry sauce, heat the vegetable oil in a saucepan over medium heat. Add the remaining panang paste and cook, stirring, for 2 minutes or until fragrant. Stir through the coconut milk, the remaining fish sauce and palm sugar. Cover and reduce the heat to low. Gently simmer for 2 minutes to allow the flavours to infuse. Remove from heat and set aside until ready to serve (gently reheat before serving).
4. Heat a grill plate or charcoal barbecue until hot. Brush the grill plates with oil. Grill the lamb chops for 3-4 minutes each side (for medium) or until cooked to your liking (don’t forget to grill the fat cap, too). Transfer to a tray to rest.
5. For the herb & pineapple salad, add all the ingredients to a large bowl and toss together until combined.
6. Place the lamb chops on a serving platter, sprinkle over the herb & pineapple salad and serve with the panang sauce on the side.

Tips:

- If you want to make your spring onion fancy, finely slice batons of the spring onion and soak in water in the fridge for 10 minutes. It will make them cute and curly!

Your year ahead
Let's hear it for the upcoming Eastern new year of the mighty Wood Dragon, in which everything suddenly seems larger than life and takes on mythic stature. Stupendous successes, spectacular collapses and massive natural catastrophes are all traditionally predicted for this swashbuckling and heroic year.

ARIES
(Mar 21 - Apr 20)
Being passionate, direct and decisive, it's no surprise the confident Dragon's flash and dash corresponds to Aries in the western zodiac: so far, so fabulous. Just one caution, though, and it's significant: don't be so intent on your forward progress this year that you neglect to protect your rear.
Best day:
Tuesday 6 February

TAURUS
(Apr 21 - May 20)
Methodical, cautious Taurans aren't likely to go overboard, even in the daring and showy Dragon year, though they could become more flamboyant and dashing, take bigger risks, and venture way past their normal comfort zone. Biggest no-no this year? A dogmatic, inflexible, I-know-best attitude.
Best day:
Thursday 8 February

GEMINI
(May 21 - Jun 21)
The magical Dragon is full of vitality, constantly on the go, enthusing and inspiring everyone, surrounded by admirers. But unless this fiery year is contained and not dissipated, its grand plans can go up in smoke. Most rewarding focus for Geminis will be discipline and regularity.
Best day:
Saturday 10 February

CANCER
(Jun 22 - Jul 22)
The sometimes pompous and overbearing Dragon isn't sentimental, romantic or caring about whose sensitivities it offends. The good news is that its unsinkable buoyancy could lift and disperse this year's periods of Cancerian pessimism, while inviting your inner entertainer out to play.
Best day:
Sunday 4 February

LEO
(Jul 23 - Aug 23)
Majestic and dazzling, Dragon's a born leader: charismatic and demanding, whose presence and magnetism can attract spectacular good fortune. Or, for those Leos straying into its negative qualities of being headstrong, stubborn and willful, calamitous losses. For a successful year, best keep the ego in check.
Best day:
Tuesday 6 February

LIBRA
(Sep 23 - Oct 23)
Providing you can manage to stay stable and reasonably unspooked by the Dragon year's dramatic fireworks, your Libran skills of tact and diplomacy - negotiating, conciliating and resolving conflicts - are likely to be in big demand, and you, Venusians, premium peacemakers during this tempestuous year.
Best day:
Saturday 10 February

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov 23 - Dec 21)
The direct and forthright Dragon, like your Sagittarian self, operates best when devoted to a goal or working for a committed cause. So this year's set to keep your inner fires stoked on that special mission or project. Your personal challenge? Staying open to differing or opposing viewpoints.
Best day:
Monday 5 February

CAPRICORN
(Dec 22 - Jan 20)
The Dragon has high standards and thinks big - just like a Capricorn. But it's also imperious, impetuous and uncontrolled. So if you're tempted to splash out and take a big risk this year, know that while Dragon fortunes can be enormous, failures could be on a similarly grand scale.
Best day:
Wednesday 7 February

AQUARIUS
(Jan 21 - Feb 18)
Like Waterpourers, the Dragon's a natural pioneer, innovative and independent, but too headstrong and bent on doing things its own way to be sympathetic or nurturing, making this definitely a year for tempering Aquarian gusto with kindness and humility. Let boldness be your friend, but tread gently.
Best day:
Friday 9 February

PISCES
(Feb 19 - Mar 20)
Mutable Pisceans could easily get swept up in grandiose Dragon dreams. But be aware that the tidal momentum of this motivational, inspirational year can take you for a glorious ride, or dump you unceremoniously. That said, stay open to facing new opportunities and experiences with grace and determination.
Best day:
Thursday 8 February

VIRGO
(Aug 24 - Sep 22)
Not bothering with trivialities and small stuff, the daring and ambitious Dragon rushes in where angels fear to tread. So you may have already guessed that this makes for a year in which your sterling Virgoan virtues of attention to detail and perusal of the fine print will be absolutely invaluable.
Best day:
Wednesday 7 February

SCORPIO
(Oct 24 - Nov 22)
The Dragon is a powerful force, but not a subtle one - nor is it cunning, contained or particularly interested in keeping secrets. So, wily ones, if you can direct this tremendous and intense energy towards projects that benefit the greater good, this will definitely be a year to remember.
Best day:
Sunday 4 February

“HOW’S THE SERENITY?”

THE house comprises 4 bedrooms plus a generous office, a large open plan living and dining area, plus a north facing unroom/ playroom, all overlooked by a modern kitchen.

The original timber framed cottage was fully renovated in 2014, to incorporate an architecturally designed extension and remodelling of the existing rooms. The design reorientates the house to take advantage of the northern aspect, with glass louvres and a high raked ceiling creating a light filled flexible living area.

The design of the extension follows passive solar principles, including a paved outdoor living area shaded in the summer months with a deciduous glory vine. Up another level you'll find a secure in-ground swimming pool for your enjoyment.

The house is set on rising ground, surrounded by lawn and water-wise garden beds. The immediate garden includes many European trees, and the surrounding area benefits from extensive native tree planting over many years.

The main living area is heated with an effective slow combustion wood stove. The sun-room also features a reverse cycle air conditioner, and is the perfect spot for a children's play space. All living and bedrooms have ceiling fans, and the bedrooms and office are further cooled by a ducted evaporative system.

The main bedroom includes a generous built-in robe. Two more bedrooms have their own bathroom and a separate toilet, creating a quiet private zone for children or visitors.

To the east, opening off the living and dining areas, is a large timber deck with views to the paddocks beyond. With a sloping lawn, and easy-care garden beds, this is a perfect spot to watch a game of afternoon cricket or listen to the myriad bird calls from local parrots and lorikeets.

Included on this 11.3ha (27.9ac) property are two pastured paddocks that are perfect for grazing stock.

Ample shedding including a large workshop and machinery shed are also a great feature. An equipped bore supplies a 20,000 litre poly tank, providing water for house (toilet flushing only), and gardens. There is ample rainwater supplied to the house comprising storage of 2 x 20,000 litre poly tanks, and 1x 18,000 litre concrete tank. In addition, there is a 5,000 litre storage tank and another 20,000 litre poly tank at the workshop.

Great Location between Keith and Bordertown with easy access to school and bus pick up/drop off
This property is definitely one of a kind. ●

HANDY HOME TIPS

WE don't all have the money or time to do a major overhaul of our homes but there are a few things you can do to freshen things up without blowing the budget. If you are handy on tools, why not have a crack at some of these ideas to breathe new life into your place.

Enhance the entry
First impressions matter. Invest in a new front door or paint your old one, it can dramatically change the look of your home and enhance curb appeal. Try other easy DIY fixes like repainting the exterior trim, replacing the house numbers or installing new outdoor lighting.

Landscaping
Trim the grass and make sure all flowerbeds are freshly mulched and free of weeds. Prune overgrown shrubs, especially if they're hiding windows or blocking the entryway.

Gutters and fences
Reinforce sagging gutters and straighten crooked fences. Make sure the gutters are cleared of obstructions and the soil isn't washed out around downspouts. A quick power washing will brighten fences. Don't forget once you've done a bit of a freshen up, bringing some indoor plants into the house can really breathe life into it again, help to filter the air and fill empty spaces

Farm

Expand your business skills

MORE than 1300 of Australia and New Zealand's most progressive farmers have graduated from Rabobank's Business Management Programs over the past 25 years. And this year, more will have the opportunity to join their ranks, with applications now open for the 2024 intake of the programs.

Tailored for farmers at different stages in their career, the two programs on offer – the Executive Development Program for farm business owners or senior managers and the Farm Managers Program for up-and-coming farmers – are designed to equip participants with the latest in business management thinking.

Announcing the opening of applications for 2024, Rabobank regional manager Australia and New Zealand Mark Wiessing said both programs provide an excellent opportunity for leading producers to gather and learn from each other.

"There has never really been a better time to join one of the programs with like-minded producers from across the two countries and a range of different sectors," he said.

Mr Wiessing said many farmers through the course of 2023 have been dealing with the impacts of volatile commodity markets and variable climatic conditions, and it was even more important to remain focused on the "big picture" and have plans in place for the longer-term viability of the business.

"It is vital farmers have the opportunity to step back for a few days from the day-to-day operational side of the business to refresh the mindset and develop strategies to ensure the business remains resilient going into the future," he said.

The Executive Development Program (EDP), which will be held in Sydney, is delivered over two fast-paced week-long modules run over consecutive years covering topics including strategic planning, financial management, communication, governance, negotiation, global trends, sustainability/carbon emissions, innovation and risk. The first module will be held in August this year.

Mr Wiessing said the EDP participants' partners are also invited to join the program for the last two days of the second module, allowing them to work together on topics such as succession planning, resilience and human resource management.

EDP alumni and winner of the 2023 Dr John Morris' Business Development Prize – a prestigious trans-Tasman business prize awarded annually as part of the program – Sam Conway believes networking opportunities are one of the strengths of the program.

"It's one thing learning from a textbook, but the knowledge gained from networking opportunities and honest and frank discussions with peers is often invaluable," he said.

Mr Conway, from Gunnedah, is the chief executive officer of Boolah Farms, an integrated farm management, grain-handling and broadacre contracting business.

He established the collaborative farming model (known as 'Co-Farming') in 2020 with his wife Molly, and Stuart and Lyndall Tighe from Pallamallawa, and used the EDP as an opportunity to prepare a business plan and develop a strategy outlining why the business needed to grow, and how.

"It was such an impressive network of people participating in the course, all from various agricultural sectors – including industries I have very little exposure to," Mr Conway said.

"The learning environment contributed to discussions that were honest and open, and we soon realised many business impacts tended to be quite universal across all farm businesses – it was really eye opening and you could see the discussions adding value immediately."

While the content of the course was excellent throughout, Mr Conway said the robust discussions within the group on implementation, challenges and solutions was where the real value lay.

The Farm Managers Program, a week-long course developed for primary producers in the earlier stages of their career wanting to build management skills and increase their confidence and ability to influence business decisions, will be run in Victoria's Yarra Valley in mid-June, Mr Wiessing said.

"The Farm Managers Program really helps up-and-coming producers to get out of that day-to-day thinking and start to look at the business with a more strategic mindset around business planning, people management and financial analysis," he said.

With numbers on each course limited to maintain group dynamics, positions on the programs are set to be highly contested, with farmers selected to attend from a wide range of commodities and geographical regions across Australia and New Zealand.

Applications are open until 22 March 2024 for the Executive Development Program and Farm Managers Program as follows:

The Farm Managers Program, 16 to 21 June 2024 in Yarra Valley, Victoria.

The Executive Development Program, 25 to 30 August 2024 followed by the second module from 27 July to 1 August 2025, both in Sydney, New South Wales.

NFF welcomes new regional connectivity panel

THE National Farmers' Federation has welcomed the announcement from the Minister for Communications appointing the 2024 Regional Telecommunications Review panel, and the Hon Alannah MacTiernan as chair.

The review, undertaken on a triennial basis, is an important legislated process which helps improve connectivity outcomes for people rural, regional and remote Australian communities, the National Farmers' Federation (NFF) said.

Alongside chair MacTiernan, other panel members include Kristy Sparrow, the Hon Fiona Nash, Dr Jessa Rogers and Ian Kelly.

NFF Telecommunications and Social Policy Committee chair, Peter Thompson, welcomed the announcement.

"The NFF congratulates the panel members and the chair on their appointments and is pleased to see a number of faces familiar to the NFF," Mr Thompson said.

"We are confident the panel has the expertise to deep dive into regional connectivity issues, including the important role – and challenges – of connectivity for Australian agriculture."

Mr Thompson said the NFF looks forward to working with the panel in what will be a busy year for regional communications policy.

"2024 will be a busy year for regional telecommunications, with the Regional Telecommunications Review being undertaken, alongside work to reform the Universal Service Obligation and other key telecommunications issues.

"The NFF and its members are very much looking forward to engaging with these processes to deliver improved outcomes for not only our producer members, but regional communities more broadly."

REGIONAL CONNECTIVITY: The review is an important legislated process which helps improve connectivity outcomes for people rural, regional and remote Australian communities, the National Farmers' Federation (NFF) said.

Deadliest year in decades

NEW data from the RAA has shown that 2023 was the worst year in 25 years for deaths of cyclists, pedestrians and motorcyclists.

A total of 117 lives were lost on South Australian roads last year, which is the highest since 2010.

Fifty of those deaths were what is considered vulnerable road users - cyclists, pedestrians, motorcyclists.

That's the highest combined number of pedestrians, cyclists and motorcyclists lost since 1998 (when 52 were killed), and 61 per cent higher than the five-year average (2018-2022) of 31.

In metropolitan Adelaide, 33 vulnerable road users lost their lives in 2023, more than double the five-year average of 16.

RAA Chief executive Nick Reade said each life lost on our roads had a profound and tragic impact on the families, friends, emergency services workers and any survivors left behind.

"Last year it seemed we were hearing of another fatal crash every few days, and this data shows us just how alarming 2023 was, particularly in terms of our most vulnerable road users," he said.

"Each of these fatalities is more than just a number or a news report, they're a lost loved one that leaves a hole in a South Australian family, so we can't afford to simply put 2023 behind us and put it down to an aberration.

"Each life lost on our roads is avoidable, and through investment in infrastructure, vehicles, education and awareness campaigns, we know we can create improvement and hopefully reach the National Road Safety Strategy target of a 50 per cent reduction in lives lost by 2030.

"But right now we are not on track to meet that target, so we need to make changes for the better – as road safety advocates, governments and as individuals."

Mr Reade said while the introduction of safer roads, speed limits and vehicles had led to a gradual reduction in serious crashes in the last 20-30 years, this trend had begun to plateau even before 2023's alarming spike.

TOO HIGH: Fifty vulnerable road users - cyclists, pedestrians, motorcyclists - were killed on SA roads last year.

"Since the early 2010s, South Australian fatal crash numbers have not decreased anywhere near as much as during the period before 2010, which should not be happening, given what we now know about road safety," Mr Reade said.

"One of the most important factors is the mindset of South Australians who share the road each day.

"Typically distraction and inattention are the leading cause of fatal crashes, highlighting the need for drivers, riders and pedestrians alike to be fully focused when they're sharing the road."

Mr Reade also said RAA, along with the Australian Automobile Association and other motoring clubs across the country, had been advocating for more detailed crash data to be made public, to help road safety authorities analyse crash causes and target campaigns more effectively.

"We would like to see better availability of crash data to help us to understand why crashes are occurring and assist in focussing strategies and actions," Mr Reade said.

"For example we often don't learn the contributing factors of crashes – such as distraction and excessive speed – and it can take up to 18 months after the crash to receive detailed crash data for analysis.

"If this data was made public in a more timely fashion, we could better analyse driver behaviour, raise more awareness in the community and more effectively target campaigns – in the hope of improving outcomes and saving lives."

Boost for regional leaders as $2m pledged

THE State Government has pledged $2 million to support fostering future young leaders from regional communities in South Australia.

The Regional Leadership Development Program (RLDP) was established in 2022, delivered through South Australia's Regional Development Australia boards (RDAs), and designed to empower a broader cohort of leaders from regional communities.

Minister for Primary Industries and Regional Development Clare Scriven said the RLDP had demonstrated it could reach a large and diverse group of emerging leaders from across regional SA and provide them with valuable skills.

"Under the management of the RDA network, the popularity of the program in its first two years has been remarkable," Minister Scriven said.

"Designed to reach 420 participants it has reached more than three times this target (over 1300), significantly surpassing the demand that was anticipated.

"Particularly impressive was the high representation of women in the program.

"At 68 per cent of participants, the Regional Leadership Development Program has demonstrated that place-based and flexible training delivery can reach a new cohort of future leaders."

The State Government indicated the need for an invigorated leadership pool in regional SA was evident following the 2022 local government elections where 93 positions were filled uncontested, and a further 16 vacancies across 10 councils resulted in supplementary elections needing to be held.

Manager of Mypolonga Avocados Rebecca Turner said the course helped develop a greater awareness and understanding of the motivations behind people and behaviour, and taught practical ways about how to start encouraging others to draw out their bests.

"Inspiring people and drawing out the best in them is an essential part of being a good leader, especially in a small rural community where farmers often face many challenges that impact their mental health," Ms Turner said.

"Our community groups play an important role in connecting people, and are often the driving force behind community projects and activities.

"I've had the opportunity to start using what I've learned about governance to provide clear direction to guide a local community group into setting themselves up with a strong governance framework that facilitates healthy group dynamics."

More information about the Regional Leadership Development Program will be available at a later date.

KEEN: Players watch on as a bowl heads their way.

LEGEND: Long-time member Vic Dawson sends down his bowl.

Club welcomes the Crows

THE Robe Bowling Club welcomed the Adelaide Crows to the greens as one of their many activities scheduled for their first day of a competitive program.

The players come through in groups of eight, with four selected to compete against a Robe team that included Stephen Kennett, David Robinson, Pat Lynch, Errol Jennings and Vic Dawson.

The Robe team played 2 ends against each group and if the Crows team won they received 30 points and if they won an end, they received 15 points.

The only team to win an end was Jordan Dawson's team and the winning bowls were put down by new recruit Chris Burgess and live wire Lachie Murphy, both looking like they had played quite a bit of bowls before.

After the bowls club members ventured to Long Beach to watch the players go through boot camp training.

Wednesday a huge crowd attended to watch the Crows training at the Robe Football Club and to collect autographs and photos with the players.

Meanwhile, the mid-week pennant restart saw Robe travel to Mount Gambier RSL to play Red and had a close game, but went down by two shots.

Robe 48 shots 2 points were defeated by Mount RSL Red 50-6.

Robbie Dahler, Josh Waddell, Errol Jennings and David Robinson defeated Wayne Legutko's team 23-21 after being down 13-18 at lunch, but won seven of the last 10 ends.

Paul Truelove, Pam Robinson, Jim Gray and Steve Farrell were down 7-21 at lunch and won six of the last 10 ends, but could not catch up to Graeme Smith's team going down 25-29.

Social bowls on Thursday were sponsored by the Union Cafe.

Vic Dawson, Doug Baker and Ross Denning were the only two-game winners on 55 points.

Australia Day was a big day at the club for Robe2Recovery, with a big crowd gathering for lunch, drinks, bowls and a monster raffle.

Approximately $9000 was raised for a great cause.

The bowling club supplied the venue and $1000 from the bar takings.

The Robe2Recovery committee, with the help of businesses and accommodation houses in Robe, bring veterans to Robe for a holiday.

Saturday Open Pennant saw Division 1 travel to Millicent and Division 2 travel to Kingston, neither coming away with a win or even a point.

Division 1 Millicent Red 86, 12 defeated Robe 50-0.

Pat Lynch, Peter Gregory, Steve Farrell and Glenn Wright were defeated by Glen Jones team 26-20 in the closes match of the day.

Jim Gray, Fluer Roachock, Peter Roachock and Harold Manton were defeated by Strawb Masters' team 32-15.

Errol Jennings, David Robinson, Dean Burgoyne and Stephen Kennett were defeated by Wayne Ross's team 28-15.

Division 2 Kingston 86, 12 defeated Robe 59-0.

Robbie Dahler, Gordon Brown, Peter DeLaine and Adrian Bermingham were defeated by Gary Glasson's team 34-21.

CLOSE CALL: Crows Chris Burgess and Lachlan Murphy check out the bowls.

Rob Lawrie, Ross Denning, Mark Giles and Deane Nankivell were defeated by Rodney Willmont's team 27-14, both teams being close at the break, but not firing after to have big losses.

Bill Cook, Josh Waddell, Mark Murphy and Paul Truelove had a close game, going down 25-24 to Colin Bobridge's team.

After being 21-7 down at the break, they clawed their way back to be two up on the 24th end, only to have their shot bowl knocked out on the last end to go down by one shot.

Trophies are up for grabs

THE business of the 2024 trophy competitions for the women at the Blue Lake Golf Club about to resume after the events in the month of January were predominantly stableford formats.

The first of nine monthly medal stroke competitions will take place this week and results will also go towards qualifying for the club championships at the end of the year.

Last Wednesday's stableford competition produced a few count-backs in both divisions to establish placings.

The top score came from Division 1's Lee-Anne Medhurst.

Playing off a 24 handicap, consistency was the answer for her game, as she posted 39 points for the win.

Splits of 21/18 included three three-pointers, a par on the second hole on the outward nine, then another three three-pointers, plus pars on the 15th and 16th holes on the inward nine.

Handicapper Dianne Perryman (19 handicap) was another to score well, signing for 36 points with splits of 16/20.

Two three-pointers, a par on the fourth and unfortunately a few missed putts and a wipe on the eighth left a bit of work to be done on the inward nine.

Perryman was up to the task and produced pars on the 11th, 12th and 16th holes, each earning three points, which was good enough to combat a count-back with Ronda Edwards, also scoring 36.

Edwards (15) enjoyed splits of 18/18, helped with three-pointers on the second, fourth, 13th and 17th holes, with only one wipe on the eighth to mar an otherwise good scorecard.

Lee Anderson was pleased to be back in Division 2's placings, winning the top voucher after facing a three-way count-back from Johanna Gogan and Trudy Herbert, all with 33 points.

Anderson (44) had splits of 14/19 using her handicap strokes wisely.

DIVISION 1 WINNER: Lee-Anne Medhurst.

Having a three-pointer on the second hole, four three-pointers, a wipe on the fifth and an average of two-point scoring on the rest consolidated her win.

Second after the count-back was Gogan (36), who struggled on the outward nine to score 14 points, with a bit of too much red ink on her card.

Turning to the inward nine, a wipe on the 10th was counteracted by a four-pointer on the 14th and three-pointers on the 15th and 16th to have 19 points.

Third-placed Trudy Herbert (30) had splits of 15/18 that included three three-pointers and wipes on the sixth and 12th holes.

Nearest the pin second shot on the 16th hole winners were Perryman and Herbert.

Birdie prizes went to Edwards on the ninth and 13th holes, Bernadette Pedlar on the 12th and Lynda Nannings the 14.

Chip in ferret prizes went to Edwards on the ninth and 13th holes, plus Herbert on the 13th.

Meanwhile, 15 women vied for points in the first of five rounds of the Jetts Fitness Mount Gambier summer trophy played in stroke format.

DIVISION 2 STABLEFORD WINNER: Lee Anderson.

With the long course set-up, challenging pin placements and cool conditions, the winning scores were very acceptable.

Karen Panagopoulos claimed the win with a score of 90/20/70, two strokes under the scratch rating of 72.

In her outward 47 strokes she had pars on the second, fifth and ninth holes to consolidate her inward 43 points with pars on the 12th, 15th and 16th.

Rosemary Martland (86/15/71) and Josie Ashby (94/22/72) were not far behind.

Martland worked hard for 47 points on the outward nine, scoring pars on the fifth and ninth holes, but it was the outward 39 points that included pars on the 10th, 11th, 12th, 14th, 15th and 16th that was the highlight on her scorecard.

Ashby had splits of 46/48 from consistent scoring and pars on the fourth and ninth holes.

Kevin’s crack of dawn start

on the lure
GREYHOUND RACING

THERE is certainly no sleeping in for Kevin Finn, another of the good guys from Warrnambool who makes regular trips over to Mount Gambier – chauffeured by daughter Marita “Midge” Byron – to race his sole greyhound at Tara Raceway.

According to Finn, who turns 80 next month, he is up at 4.30 on the dot every morning to walk his one greyhound – currently Tamborine Girl, a daughter of Lightning Frank and Rixy Ya Pest.

“Generally I’m out walking for about an hour with her,” he said.

“And I’m a one-dog trainer by necessity given I have only two kennels, with the other one housing the lawn mower.

“I’ve been doing the early morning walks now for 15 years and at that time of the day I don’t encounter too many distractions.

“At 7am, though, I do go back to bed for a couple of hours, then I find I’m right for the rest of the day.”

Tamborine Girl found her way into Finn’s kennel as a giveaway after she had copped a 28-day suspension for a loss of concentration in a race at Warrnambool.

“With the intention of racing her at Mount Gambier, she passed a satisfactory trial at Tara Raceway in blinkers, the idea being that hopefully she might keep her mind on the job,” Finn said.

“Anyway, she didn’t look to do anything wrong in her races and even won a couple at Mount Gambier last year, so at the end of the year I once again ran her in a satisfactory trial, this time to have the blinkers removed.”

At the Mount Gambier Greyhound Racing Club’s opening meeting of this year on January

4, Tamborine Girl led all the way over 305 metres when defeating Arrow Bar Peanut in 17.93 seconds.

Boasting a 55-year involvement in greyhound racing, Finn’s initial interest came about when living opposite the old Warrnambool track at Botanic Park where he later won a couple of races with Kevlor Boy.

“My best dog ever would have been Miss Kouta, a daughter of Dashing Eagle and Artful, who won 14 races,” he said.

“She was raced by a syndicate of five – all mad Carlton supporters.”

Finn spent the last 25 years of his working life at Nestle.

He also spent 13 years, twice a week, on a voluntary basis at the Warrnambool trials.

While these days he is a one-dog trainer, there was a time when he was a little more involved – a local newspaper reporting in April 1989:

“The Finn kennel made the long trip to Horsham on Monday, April 11 when he led in a winning treble with his sprinters Indiana Raider, Garpete Park and Our Shiralee.

“Returning to Warrnambool on the Thursday night, punters rallied to send Garpete Park to the boxes a solid favourite in a 450-metre grade 5.

“Beginning smartly from the red box, Garpete Park outsped her rivals to lead all the way and bring up the kennel’s fourth win of the week.”

Then, of course, there is Finn’s wife of 59 years, Lorraine.

Last year at the Sandown Park Women in Racing night she won the Marg Thomas Award for the most outstanding female contribution to the sport.

At the time Warrnambool Greyhound Racing Club manager Craig Monigatti had said Lorraine was a special person to him and the club.

“She’s so reliable and you just know that what she’s taking care of in the shop is going to be organised and done,” he said.

“She doesn’t seek the limelight, but now it’s her turn to shine.”

Top pairs champions

THE Millicent bowls Club held its annual Championship Pairs for men and women on Sunday, with games leading up to the grand final played over 15 ends with a two and walk format, while the grand final was played to 18 ends.

For the women, the semi-finals were played between Ros Varcoe and Lyn Scudds, up against Adriana Ross and Sarah Ross.

The game was close and by the 15th end scores were all square, meaning another end had to be played.

Varcoe and Scudds took the final end to win their way into the grand final.

The second semi-final was contested between Mary Campbell and Faye Hill, up against Elaine Goode and Joy Warren.

Campbell and Hill won by nine shots to book their grand final berth.

In the grand final there was only a one shot margin between the two teams on the eighth end, with the Campbell team winning seven of the first 10 ends.

Varcoe and Scudds won the final seven ends to finish the game 24 shots to 14 and claim the championship title.

The men’s competition was not completed due to a large number of entrants and will be played on a date to be advised.

BALANCED EFFORT: North Sportsman's Elliott Fisher put in a good all-round performance in the Tigers' Big Bash win over South Gambier last week.

Big Bash finals are here

JAMES MURPHY
james.murphy@tbwtoday.com.au

THE 2023-24 Mount Gambier and District Cricket Association Big Bash competition wrapped up the home-and-away season last week.

The final minor round was contested last Thursday evening and the finalists are now locked in.

North Sportsman's will progress straight into the grand final after finishing top of the ladder, winning four of its five outings this season.

That has left East Gambier and Penola to battle it out in the semi-final, with the winner to progress to the decider against the Tigers.

The fight for third place was a tight one, with third to sixth position all equal on wins.

However, Penola's run rate was the better of its rivals and the Eagles secured the finals berth.

EAST GAMBIER 4/160 d WEST GAMBIER 9/115

The Bulldogs guaranteed their place in final when defeating West Gambier in last week's Round 5 of the local Big Bash.

After winning the toss, East elected to bat first and from there proceeded to set the winning score for the match.

The early wickets fell relatively cheaply, with openers Harrison Evans and Ben Hentschke out for 15 and seven respectively.

However, when Emerson Marks joined Jake Wight at the crease the runs started to pile up.

When Wight was finally dismissed – bowled by Sam Willis – he had 51 runs to his name and the Bulldogs sat at 3/96.

Marks was out shortly after for 22 runs, leaving the experienced duo of Alex Hentschke and Dion Stratford at arms.

They kept the runs coming and saw out the remaining overs, with Alex Hentschke's 43-not-out the second best score for the game.

Stratford scored 16 runs off 16 balls and when all was said and done East had set a modest target of 160.

West's bowlers shared the load as Kyal Chapman, Shane de Jong, Willis and Justin de Jong claiming one each.

Enter the Roos to the crease and their start was far from ideal.

Both openers were out for ducks, with Justin de Jong and Jake Blackwell sent packing before they could even begin.

The partnership of Willis and Jayden Prior was more rewarding and when the former was run out he had scored 38 runs, with the team total at 3/50.

Prior wrapped up his innings with 18 runs, while Jack Geddes faced just five balls and contributed a single run before he was out by lbw.

The rest of the innings had two more double-figure scores and while West was able to exceed the 100-run mark, its 115 runs were not enough to deny the Bulldogs the win.

Alex Hentschke and Marks had two wickets each in solid all-around performances.

The match also acted as West Gambier's annual Pink Stumps Day, raising funds and awareness for the McGrath Foundation.

NORTH SPORTSMAN'S 1/75 d SOUTH GAMBIER 10/74

A low-scoring affair at Marist Park had North Sportsman's take an easy win over a visiting South Gambier.

The Demons won the toss and chose to bat, but failed to stand up against the tough Tigers' bowling attack.

Opener Stephen Easterbrook top scored for South with 15 runs but after his dismissal, the next five wickets fell for a total of 18 runs.

Hanish Jalota was the next batsmen to make double figures with 10 and when he was caught off an Elliott Fisher ball, West was 7/49.

Jakob Opie also made 10 before he was bowled by Nick McInerney, while Noah Maxwell's was the final wicket to fall and left the Roos all out for 74.

McInerney and Fisher led the bowling with three wickets each, with the former returning impressive figures of 3/4.

Declan Kenny also had multiple with two.

The Tigers padded up and it did not take long for them to achieve their goal.

Opener Nicolas Brown was dismissed early for one run with the total at three, but his would be the only scalp claimed by the Demons.

Fisher then joined Alex Hutton at the crease and the pair did not look back from there.

North beat South's target in the 12th over, with Hutton finishing up with 19 runs, while Fisher's half century of 52 concluded the perfect captain's game from the young skipper.

If the Tigers maintain their current form in Sunday's grand final, they will be hard to beat.

PENOLA 0/98 d MIL LEL 7/94

The Eagles swooped into finals contention with a Round 5 win over Mil Lel on Thursday.

Played at McCorquindale Park, the hosts only needed 13 overs to chase down Mil Lel, while not losing a single wicket.

Mil Lel won the toss and batted first, but was not off to the best start.

A golden duck to Ty Dinnison and a four-run effort from Mason Brown had both openers sidelined with the total at 10.

The run rate picked up somewhat with Brodie Pfitzner and Will Rowland at the crease, although when the former was dismissed for 12 runs Mil Lel was 3/38.

Rowland went on to score a team-high 23 runs, while Darcy Williamson replaced Pfitzner and saw out the 20 overs.

Mitchell Douglas contributed 16 runs to the cause, while Williamson's unbeaten 22 was the only other score of note.

A four-wicket haul to Joshua Doyle was the best from the Eagles' bowlers, while Jack Mullan took two.

Mullan backed up his bowling performance when opening with the bat alongside James Alexander.

In the 13th over the duo had surpassed Mil Lel's score, with Mullan making 58 runs and Alexander finishing with 34.

Penola will now look for another strong performance when meeting the Bulldogs in this weekend's semi-final, with the winner to progress into the competition decider against North Sportsman's.

STEADY INNINGS: Nicolas Bald was a solid contributor for Naracoorte.

SOLID EFFORT: Mitchell Nitschke contributed 35 runs to the Millicent Black Hats' coffers.

ROBE ROOSTERS 7/246 d NARACOORTE WARRIORS 8/193

ROUND 11 of Millicent/Naracoorte cricket was set down for a one-day format, with some interesting results across the three games.

A century knock from Robe's Jaryd Dawson helped the Roosters claim the win over the Naracoorte Warriors, with his 142 runs coming off 121 deliveries.

Dawson returned to the lineup and wasted no time to find form.

He found the boundary at will, with 11 shots hitting the fence, while six cleared the infield for maximum result.

Dawson was well-supported throughout his innings, with fellow opener Zac Deane with 10 runs, while Jack Sneath (17) and Sam Heubner (29) also dug deep.

Unfortunately for Dawson, he was out on the last ball of the day for his only blemish in an outstanding innings.

With the ball, youngster Jock McClure claimed two scalps, including the prized wicket of Dawson.

Robe's 246-run total was always going to be tough to beat and the Roosters did not make it any easier early in the chase.

The pressure was on and Kieron Hicks became one of three Robbie Chappel scalps, clean bowled for just seven runs.

Jason McClure and Nicolas Bald kept the scoreboard ticking over, until Chappel sent the former back to the sheds for 22 runs, again hitting the stumps.

Chappel was proving to be a handful for the Naracoorte batsmen, again clean bowling his next scalp, Brad Redding, for 15 runs.

With the score at 3/80, the Warriors needed to dig deep and that came in the form of a partnership between Nicolas and Loren Bald, who took the score along to 153 before the latter was caught off the bowling of Adrian Thompson for 49 runs.

Nicolas Bald continued to play a steady hand, taking 87 balls to reach 33.

However, he watched as the incoming Lochlan Dolphin came and went without bothering the scorers, facing just one ball before Thompson bowled him out.

Nicolas Bald was the next to go, run out for 33 trying to push the run rate up.

However, at 6/161 it was a tall order.

Andrew Fitzgerald offered a glimpse of hope down the order with a handy 20 runs, but in the end the Warriors fell well short of the target, with the overs completed and just 193 runs on the board.

With the ball, Chappel claimed three wickets, while Thompson tidied up with two.

RENDELSHAM RAMS 6/162 d NARACOORTE TOWNIES 9/116

The Rendelsham Rams made the most of the toss win against Naracoorte Townies, electing to bat and setting a tough target to chase down.

The early wicket of Ayden Reid, caught off the bowling of Sam Hentschke for just three, caused few issues for the Rams as fellow opener Jacob Carger and the incoming Oskar Howell put on a half-century partnership before the latter was sent back to the sidelines for 15 runs.

ALL-ROUNDER: Jacob Carger contributed with bat and ball for the Rendelsham Rams.

Jake Wight came to the crease and played a solid supporting role, as Carger began to build a timely half-century, despite the wickets continuing to fall around him.

Wight soon fell victim to Anthony Munro, with the total just short of the century mark.

Some 20 runs later Carger was caught by Brodie Foster off the bowling of Brendon Smart, but not before the Rams were well on the way to a decent tally.

Carger played many of his shots along to the ground, with only two boundaries and one maximum.

Sam Telfer remained unbeaten at the end of the innings, with a timely 33 runs off 45 balls to take the total to 162.

Hentschke and Munro claimed two wickets each.

The Rams had to work hard to reach a decent total, which suggested the Townies might face the same problem.

However, a 45-run opening stand from Smart and Munro put the Townies in a solid position early.

Carger clean bowled Smart for a steady 14, while just one run later the incoming Harry Schroder headed back to the sheds with a duck next to his name, trapped lbw by Sam Bell.

Munro put together an impressive 39 runs, before he was sent back to the sidelines.

Foster stuck around for 18 balls for his solitary run, with Matt Smith and Rowan Ham left to pick up the pieces.

Smith was out for a run-a-ball 19, while Ham fell to a caught-and-bowled opportunity for Bell for 11 runs.

Bell repeated the dose for Hentschke, with a handy golden duck to end any hopes the Townies may have held.

In the end Naracoorte faced its full 40 overs, but could only muster 116 runs.

Bell was impressive with the ball, claiming four scalps, including Smart at the top of the order, Foster, Ham and Hentschke, all dangerous players.

MILLICENT BLACK HATS 9/134 d MOUNT BURR MOZZIES 10/72

There was plenty to be pleased about for Millicent Black Hats on Saturday, as they made short work of their one-day clash with the Mount Burr Mozzies.

The Black Hats won the toss and elected to bat, with the hope to apply scoreboard pressure.

The plan did not start as hoped, with openers Jacob Todd and Sam Hunt back on the sidelines for just four runs each and just nine total.

That changed when Jase Bateman and Mitchell Nitschke joined forces in the middle, with Bateman first to go for 15 runs, with the team half-century reached.

Nitschke looked in fine touch, reaching the boundary on five occasions on his way to 35.

The partnership of Ashton Lindner and Josh Mason was short lived, with Mason trapped lbw for a four-ball duck.

Lindner had faced 19 balls for just four runs before he was run out by Charlie Bevan and the Black Hats looked shaky at 6/72.

Fortunately down the order a few more double-figure scores emerged, with 17 to Alex Wesolowski and a timely 20 for Teej Lawlor to help the Black Hats to 9/134.

Mark Wright was best with the ball for Mozzies, claiming four scalps for just 25 runs off eight overs.

With the bat in hand, Mount Burr openers Bevan and Jaco Naube put on 21 runs before the former headed back to the sidelines with 11 next to his name.

Jack Muhovics joined Naube and the pair added a further 21 runs, before Muhovics was caught off the bowling of Hunt for just three runs.

A couple of ducks followed, to Jack Francis and Nathan Muhovics, which simply added more pressure to the middle to bottom order.

No other batsman reached double figures, as the Mozzies stumbled their way to 10/72 in the 31st over.

Hunt had a day out with the ball, with figures of 6/17 off eight overs.

Michael Gibson chipped in with three scalps.

Frontrunners looking strong

JAMES MURPHY
james.murphy@tbwtoday.com.au

THE second round of Limestone Coast Women's football was held at Blue Lake Sports Park on Sunday, with more comfortable wins this week.

There are now three teams with two wins and after just two weeks the ladder has started to take shape.

NORTH GAMBIER 9.8 (62) d KONGORONG 1.2 (8)

North Gambier kicked off the day with a 54-point triumph over Kongorong.

The Tigers look to be a frontrunner this season and their good spread of talent was on show again on the weekend.

A 13-point opening quarter set up a handy lead, before North added three goals in the second term to extend the margin.

The Hawks had a scoreless first quarter, but managed to hit the scoreboard in the second.

A goal and a behind would be the only impact Kongorong had for the match, both coming during the second quarter.

The Tigers continued to build on their lead in the third term and another two goals put them well and truly out of reach.

A 2.4 return in the final stanza wrapped things up and at the final siren there was 54 points between them.

After new recruit Chloe Newton impressed on her debut in Round 1 with 11 goals, it was Alice Tenyte who led the scoring this week.

She had five goals for the match, while Newton had two.

Stella Davis and Jasmyrn Plew-Jones had one each, while it was Grace Altschwager who received the best-on-ground honours.

Tess Andrews put in her usual hard work around the contest and her efforts earned her second best, while Tenyte, Georgia Gentile, Newton and Fiona Young also earned a mention.

For Kongorong it was captain Sarah Lucas who stood tall.

She was named best on ground after popping up around the ground and fighting hard to deny the Tigers easy forward entries.

Jasmin McKinnon was the only goalkicker on the day, while Jade Longbottom, Riley Buckingham and Sophie Longbottom also featured highly in the best players.

MILLICENT 12.11 (83) d NANGWARRY 1.1 (7)

Nangwarry made its debut in the Limestone Coast Women's Football League on Sunday.

The Saints had a bye in Round 1, but a fitting clash with its fellow Saints from Millicent was on the cards for Sunday.

It was not the fairytale start Nangwarry would have hoped for, with just one goal and a 76-point loss the result.

A four-goal opening term set Millicent on its way, while the second quarter was a more even contest.

A goal at both ends was added to the scoreboard, with Shandeen Balshaw scoring Nangwarry's first ever goal in the competition.

Unfortunately, that would be the only success for the game, with a behind during the same quarter bringing the Saints to their final score of seven.

Millicent added three-goals-five during the third term, boosting the lead to 50 points heading into the last.

Another big quarter followed with four goals and at the end of it all Millicent claimed an impressive victory.

Alannah Pratt put in a best-on-ground performance for the winning Saints, while Macy Burns and Lucy Pretty led the scoring with two goals each.

Chloe Gronn was another standout, while Sieanna Laslett, Lana Shepherd and Kelsie Wilkinson were also impressive.

For Nangwarry it was no surprise to see Balshaw at the head of the best players.

Skye Virtanen and Reese Balshaw were others who featured highly for the newcomers.

CASTERTON SANDFORD 5.16 (46) d KYBYBOLITE 1.2 (8)

Last year's minor premier Casterton Sandford continued its 2024 success, this time with a good win over Kybybolite.

The first half was an even contest and the Cats were up by eight points at the first change and only five at the main break.

They picked up the intensity in the third quarter and found plenty of opportunities up forward. However, an opening was left as the Cats kicked one-goal-four while holding the Tigers scoreless, leading by 15 points at the final change.

Another scoreless quarter followed for Kyby, but Casterton Sandford stepped things up.

They put in a game-high return of 23 points, finding the big sticks on three occasions.

At the end of it all the Cats claimed a 38-point win.

Madalene Cleary topped the scoresheets with two goals, while Emily Pitts, Carlie Smith and Elise Thurman had a goal each for the Cats.

Jamie Wachtel was the only player to find the big sticks for Kybybolite.

The best of the Cats was Holly Smith, while Milly Thomas, Smith, Pitts and Maddison Cotten also performed well.

Despite the loss, Amelia Frick, Dellie Brown and Sophie Owen were the top performers for Kyby.

MUNDULLA 6.8 (44) d SOUTH GAMBIER 0.2 (2)

Sunday's final game had reigning premier

Mundulla defeat South Gambier.

The northern Tigers slowly pushed out to a steady lead, with a goal in the first and another in the second quarter.

At half time Mundulla led by 14 points, before a three-point third quarter slowly edged it out to 17.

The 2023 champions raised the bar in the last term, over doubling their score to put through four goals and two behinds.

That resulted in a 42-point triumph and was enough to keep Mundulla at the top of premiership table by just under six per cent.

Goals were shared around on the day, with all eight coming off a different boot.

Kellsie Turner was one of those goal kickers and she was named Mundulla's best on ground.

Natalie Twigden and Zoe Hawker were also impressive, while Erin Horsnell and Kate Madden rounded out the best.

For South it was no surprise to see captain Jarrah Altschwager back at the top of the Demons' best players' list.

She was joined by Ella Guest, Taysha Marshall, Abby Thompson and Sophie Wight.

Tigers' pressure too much for Mil Lel

JAMES MURPHY

james.murphy@tbwtoday.com.au

NORTH SPORTSMAN'S 4/314 d MIL LEL 10/165

NORTH Sportsman's was never under threat on Saturday as it wrapped up the second day of its contest against Mil Lel with the Round 8 win.

The Tigers set an impressive target on Day 1 and while Mil Lel was steady at the crease, the runs were not coming quick enough.

The opening partnership made 31 runs before Ty Dinnison caught out in impressive fashion by Brad Robinson off a Declan Kenny delivery.

Dinnison made 12 runs, while fellow opener Nick Walters was in it for the long haul.

Walters saw out the day, finishing not out on 52 after facing 243 balls.

Those figures were credit to North's ruthless bowling attack, which restricted Mil Lel throughout the day.

Will Rowland joined Walters and when he was eventually caught off a Matthew Robinson ball he returned to the bench with 34 runs.

The total was at 2/73 with plenty of work to do, but unfortunately for the hosts Darcy Williamson's time at the crease was short.

He faced seven balls for two runs, before he was also caught out and replaced by captain Jack Miller.

Miller and Walters managed to boost the score and a 31-run effort from the skipper helped Mil Lel out to 129 before he was clean bowled by Kenny.

Archer Virtanen was up and down with a golden duck, judged lbw off Kenny, while Dale Bachmann managed 10 runs before he was caught out by Nick McInerney.

LONG HAUL: Nick Walters finished unbeaten against North Sportsman's on Saturday.

Toby Grigg was the next to fall, for four runs, while ducks to Craig Lock and Mitchell Little halted any momentum Mil Lel had hoped to find.

Craig Hicks' was the final wicket of the day, with his eight runs concluding the innings at 10/165.

Walters had the biggest score for the day, but it was far from enough to chase down the 314 runs from the Tigers the previous week.

Kenny had a day out with the ball, claiming 4/27, while Thomas Madigan's 2/5 and Isaac Mulraney's 2/33 were also impressive.

Alex Hutton and Robinson rounded out the wicket takers with one each.

GOOD HAUL: West Gambier's Sujith Nikethana claimed four wickets on Saturday.

Roos outright victory

JAMES MURPHY

james.murphy@tbwtoday.com.au

WEST GAMBIER 5-d/296 d SOUTH GAMBIER 10/114, 10/175

THE second outright win of the round was secured by West Gambier at Malseed Park on Saturday.

The Roos had South Gambier on the ropes, holding them at an overnight score of 1/28 after declaring at 5/296.

To the Demons' credit, they made West work for the outright and despite first-innings top scorer Stephen Easterbrook already sidelined on Day 1, fellow opener Sam Bradbrook impressed with the bat.

He opened Day 2 alongside Jakob Opie and the pair had South off to a good start.

When Opie was dismissed for 33 runs, captain Robbie Drenthen took to the crease.

Bradbrook continued to pile on the runs and he eventually finished up with 73 before he was caught lbw by Bray Stephenson.

The remainder of the order failed to make a reasonable impact, with the only exception Adam Kuhl's 21-run effort.

With a couple of wickets in hand the Demons only needed a dozen runs to send West back in to bat.

However, the tail order crumpled and when Drenthen was caught out by West wicketkeeper Jayden Prior, South was all out for 175 in the 40th over.

In the end just a handful of runs were needed to force the Roos back to the crease, but it was not to be.

With the ball West's Sujith Nikethana claimed an efficient 4/5 in a standout performance.

Stephenson also had multiple wickets with two for the day and three for the innings.

Other wickets came from Justin de Jong, Jack Geddes and Shane de Jong who had one each on Saturday.

The Roos now sit 13 points clear on top of the Barber Shield ladder with two minor rounds left to play.

They face fourth-placed Mil Lel this weekend in another two-day contest.

Bulldogs show plenty of bite

JAMES MURPHY

james.murphy@tbwtoday.com.au

EAST GAMBIER 10/92 d PENOLA 10/31, 10/32

AN outright victory to East Gambier came easily in the end when the Bulldogs dismissed the remaining Penola batsmen in efficient fashion on Saturday.

The Eagles were all out for 31 runs on Day 1, before East went out and made 92 on pitch which favoured bowlers.

Going back in to bat, an overnight score of 4/19 had Penola in a sticky situation heading into the second day and despite best efforts there was no recovering.

Not a single run was added before the first wicket fell, with Jack Schulz sent packing early in the piece, caught off an Alex Hentschke delivery.

Lewis March replaced him, but four runs later he was dismissed for three, deemed lbw off another Hentschke ball.

A five-ball duck to Tom Clayfield made matters worse and the Eagles were 7/23.

He was caught off Hentschke for his final wicket of the day.

Another three runs were added by Joshua Doyle before he was bowled by Liam Turley, while Zac Zema and Ned Skeer both added a single run before they were sent packing.

Youngster Eli Hunter was left at the crease unbeaten on five runs, after facing 78 balls.

When all was said and done the Eagles had beaten their first innings score by one run, all out for a meagre 32.

That was not enough to make the Bulldogs bat again and they claimed an outright victory for their impressive efforts.

Hentschke finished up with 3/3, while Marc Roberts had a solid 4/12.

Ben Hentschke and Turley had a wicket each, while Emerson Marks had three maiden overs to finish 1/0.

DUCK: Penola youngster Eli Hunter evades a bouncer during Saturday's short-lived batting innings.

The Bulldogs will now prepare for a tougher encounter when they host North Sportsman's in another two-day clash.

The Tigers come off a big win themselves and the match will be a good insight into what to expect in the post season.

WINNING RUN CONTINUES: To the cheers of her owners, the Jeremy Kenny trained mare Snaptof (no. 10) defied being run down and completed a hat trick of wins at Mount Gambier on Sunday, January 21.

Picture: JAMES MURPHY

Snaptof's stamina success

DAVID GILBERT

david.gilbert@tbwtoday.com.au

AT a time when the number of racehorses being trained at Millicent is very low, the shining light for the local racing community has been the efforts lately of a galloper getting towards the twilight of her career.

Up until the start of summer, the eight year old mare Snaptof had won just three races from 33 starts and her many owners were only becoming hopeful, rather than optimistic, of another victory.

While Snaptof had always been competitive in her races by going straight to the lead and giving her backers a great sight, she was often found wanting at the business end of her races, hence her 11 placings.

As of last December, that all changed and last Sunday week at Mount Gambier Snaptof made it a hat-trick of wins by taking out the 1418-metre BM58 handicap.

Previously, Snaptof had won at Mount

Gambier on December 1 before success at Naracoorte on December 29.

The mare has suddenly found plenty of stamina in those three wins which was again evident over the final 400 metres at Mount Gambier on January 21, when she ran to the lead at the top of the straight and defied a late charge from Private Jet and Artie's Aviator to win by a long head.

As a result, her trainer Jeremy Kenny now finds himself at the top of the Lime-stone Coast restricted trainer's premiership with half the season remaining.

Kenny was quizzed as to her new found will-to-win.

"Alana (Livesey, the apprentice jockey) has ridden Snaptof for her past three starts and has been riding her differently," he said.

"Originally, we tried to lead with her but Alana has been conserving her energy and holding her together as we have found that she (Snaptof) only has a 300-metre sprint.

"Also, putting the blinkers back on has made a huge difference."

There was plenty of excitement and back slapping amongst the mare's plethora of owners after the recent Mount Gambier success.

"Some of the owners are schoolmates who live in Adelaide and the majority are involved with the Millicent football club," Kenny explained.

Kenny has just the three horses in work with the wet track stayer Bear Arms back in work for another campaign.

"We will have a crack at the Millicent cup in late May with Bear Arms and I've got a little three-year-old filly who is nearly ready to race."

As for Snaptof, it may be time to head to the big smoke with her and her legion of owners/supporters.

"She now has a 62 rating and there is a 1400-metre 0-64 race at Morphettville Parks this Saturday which we are looking at," Kenny said.

TRACK REOPENED

The Millicent racecourse has been re-opened for track work following its closure a month ago.

A mini tornado ripped through the western side of Millicent causing damage to both the running rail and outside rail at the racecourse.

It was subsequently closed for an indefinite period, but has been recently re-opened.

"Our club consists of volunteers and we have repaired the running rail and outside rail sufficiently enough for track work to resume," Millicent Racing Club president John Payne advised.

Although it is still four months away, the racing club committee is making preparations for the annual Millicent cup race meeting.

It will again be conducted at Mount Gambier and is programmed for Sunday, May 26.
